QUICK SNAPS

- Montana's top-10 road swing continues this week with another ranked-vs-ranked matchup against No. 5/7 Weber State. The Griz lead the all-time series against the Wildcats 40-15, but have three of the last four meetings. UM fell at No. 2/3 Sac State last week.
- Montana returns 18 starters, 9 on offense, 9 on defense, with 38 returning lettermen from 2021. The Griz also return 7 All-Big Sky performers, including Newcomer of the Year and unanimous All-American Justin Ford and Buchanan Award finalist Patrick O'Connell.
- Montana also returns 75% of its rushing production from, not just 2021, but the last three seasons, dating back to the 2019 campaign that saw Marcus Knight break school records for scoring and cross the 1,000 yard barrier.
- Montana still fields a young team in 2022. Just 28 of the team's current 100 players on the roster check-in as upperclassmen, meaning 72 enter the season listed as freshman or sophomores, more than 61% of the roster.
- At 113-31 and 65-16 in conference play in his 11 years at Montana, head coach Bobby Hauck is UM's winningest coach of all time and the second-winningest coach in Big Sky history. He needs just 11 victories to break the win record set by former Northern Arizona head coach and long-time UM assistant Jerome Souers.

GRIZ RETURN TO THE ROAD FOR ANOTHER TOP-10 SHOWDOWN

The October Gauntlet continues for Montana this week with another top-10 showdown on the road in Ogden, Utah, with the No. 10/11 Griz squaring off against the No. 5/7 Weber State Wildcats.

It's do-or-die time for Montana as the tail end of the regular season rapidly approaches as the Grizzlies look to rebound from a pair of gut-wrenching losses over the past two weeks.

At 5-2 overall and 2-2 in league play, Montana's goals are still ahead of it as the business end of the year approaches.

Weber State will also be looking for a bounce-back after suffering its first defeat of the season in Bozeman last week to put the Wildcats at 6-1 on the year and 3-1 in conference play.

It will be another battle of similarly matched opponents at Stewart Stadium, too, with Weber and Montana each possessing one of the top three overall offensive and defensive units in the conference. And like Sacramento State, the Griz are looking to shake a Wildcat monkey off their backs, with UM having lost three of the last four matchups to WSU dating back to 2015.

Kickoff from Ogden is set for 1 p.m.

GRIZ IN THE POLLS: Montana remained among the top 10 teams in the nation this week after the overtime loss at Sac State, checking in at No. 10 in the AFCA coaches poll and No. 11 in the Stats Perform media poll.

The Griz entered last week at No. 7 in both polls and dropped slightly after falling to the No. 2/3 Hornets, who are one of only three undefeated teams left in the FCS.

SCOPE THE SAGARINS: Montana checks in as the fifth-highest-rated FCS team in this week's Sagarin Ratings at No. 91 among all Division-I college football programs. Sac State leapfrogged the Griz to take the top spot among FCS teams at No. 74.

Weber State slots in one place ahead of the Griz this week at No. 88, with NDSU in third and South Dakota State in second.

Between Montana at No. 91 and Montana State at No. 99 sit two Power Five teams in Georgia Tech and Northwestern, and Group of Five teams Coastal Carolina, Navy, Ohio, Southern Miss, and San Diego State.

The Sagarin Ratings calculate strength of schedule into its ranking of all D-I teams, and factor in the Big Sky Conference's tiebreaker process.

KEEP DRIVING: Montana put together its two longest scoring drives of the season at Sac State, the first for 15 plays capped by a Marcus Knight 2-yard TD, and the last for 13 plays capped by a 2-yard run from Nick Ostmo. The Griz have had eight total 10-plus play drives so far this season.

TURNOVER MARGIN: Montana won the turnover battle decisively at Sacramento State with three interceptions and one fumble recovery to go +4 on the all-important differential chart. The Griz are now +5 on the season with 13 total takeaways and eight giveaways, and have capitalized on their gains, leading the points off turnover battle 45-25.

UM is third in the Big Sky and tied at No. 9 nationally in turnover margin. Idaho sits at No. 2, and UC Davis is tied for third.

GET OFF THE FIELD: This week's matchup in Ogden will feature the Big Sky's two most efficient defenses on third down battling it out. Weber State ranks No. 8 nationally in third-down D, allowing opponents to convert just 32 of 113 attempts, while Montana ranks No. 11 having allowed 34 of 114 third-down plays.

MOVE THE CHAINS: Offensively, Montana converted a season-high 10 of 20 third downs en route to 26 total first downs – evenly balanced between the pass and the rush at 12 each.

The Griz have converted the second-most third downs in the league this season at 46 of 100 attempts.

SPECIAL TEAMS: Punter Patrick Rohrbach was named to the Jerry Rice Award Watch list last week for FCS freshman of the year (at any position). The Kalispell native is averaging 45 yards per punt, has dropped 14 inside the 20 and boomed nine 50-plus yards. He's got the 4th best average in the nation and the best in the Big Sky, while the Grizzly punt coverage team is the second-best in the nation, allowing a net punt average of 41.93.

#PAT4BUCK: Patrick O'Connell continues to be one of the favorites to win the Buck Buchanan Award after finishing third in the voting as a junior. The Big Sky Preseason Defensive MVP leads the league in sacks and is third nationally with 7.5 on the season. He also leads the conference and is tied for eighth nationally in tackles for loss with 11.5.

O'Connell needs just two more sacks to pass Andy Petek's career total of 29 to move into the top-five Grizzlies ever in that category and two more TFLs to move into the top seven.

LEVI RISING: Junior linebacker Levi Janacaro has been putting up the best numbers of his career in past three weeks for the Griz, highlighted by a personal best 12 tackles (six solo) at Sac State last week.

With nine stops against Idaho State, 11 against Idaho, and 12 last week (each a new career high), the Missoula Big Sky product has been one of the team's top two tacklers in each of those games. He's now among the top-20 tacklers in the Big Sky and has the fourth-most stops on the team this year at 46 stops, with the third-most TFLs at 6.5 – the seventh-most in the league.

ROBBY'S RECORD: Already Montana's all-time leading tackler, senior safety Robby Hauck continued to add on to his school record tackle total with 7 stops at Sac State, bringing his career mark to 426.

He needs 48 more to break Ronnie Hamlin's Big Sky record of 473 career tackles and has four more regular season games to do it, averaging 9 per game. With 62 stops this year, Hauck is fourth in the conference in total tackles.

LEADING THE LEAGUE: With the help of the players listed above, Montana is leading the conference as a team in sacks and tackles for loss this week, checking in at No. 3 nationally in TFLs with 61 and No. 8 in team sacks 23.

FORD'S NO FLY ZONE: Justin Ford added to his impressive interception total last week with his first pick of the season against Sac State, bringing his career mark to 10 in less than two seasons.

Ford led all of college football with nine interceptions in 2021 to earn unanimous All-America honors and a place on the Senior Bowl Watch List. It's a good reason why opposing coaches have avoided his side of the field line the plague this year.

Montana's seven opponents this season have thrown the ball 234 times against the Griz. Exactly 11 of those have been thrown in Ford's direction, with only four being completed – a mark of respect for the senior's ability.

His total of 10 ties him with five other Grizzlies on the all-time INT list. Shann Schillinger, Keith Burke, Kent Clausen, Gregg Dunn, and Robin Peters all had 10 as Grizzlies.

RUN THE DANG BALL: Montana's offensive line plowed the way for the Griz to rush for 200 yards against Sacramento State. It marks the fifth time this season and the second in the last three weeks the Griz have rushed for 150-plus yards in a game. Montana has also out-rushed its opponent in five of the seven games this year.

BOBBY'S RECORD(S): Bobby Hauck is now 8-3 against Sac State in his career at Montana, with Troy Taylor the only Big Sky coach to beat him more than twice, taking the last three matchups.

Hauck remains the winningest Grizzly coach of all time and is on his way to becoming the winningest coach in Big Sky history, with only four teams having beaten him more than once in his time at UM.

• Now with 113 victories as UM's head coach, Hauck needs just 11 more to break Jerome Souers' Big Sky record 123 overall wins.

• With 65 wins in Big Sky play, Hauck needs four more wins to pass Nevada Hall of Famer Chris Ault's Big Sky total of 68, 10 more to pass Tim Walsh's total of 74, and 22 more to pass Souers' total of 85 wins in conference play.

INJURY BUG: UM quarterback Lucas Johnson missed the majority of last week's game in Sacramento with injury. It marked the third-straight season that Montana has been without its starting QB against the Hornets – each game a loss for the Grizzlies as well.

In 2019, Dalton Sneed went down mid-game in Sacramento. In 2021 Kris Brown got his second-straight start filling in for an injured Cam Humphrey in Missoula, and Johnson went down in the second quarter of 2022's matchup.

Johnson's absence in Sacramento marks yet another year the Griz have not had the full services of their starting QB. Since 2013, Montana has only had one season (2018) where a Grizzly QB has not left a game with injury.

BYE WEEK BLUES BOUNCE-BACK BOUNCED: Montana lost to Idaho following its bye week to move the Grizzlies to 2-6 since 2015 in games played after the open week on the schedule. Following the loss to Sacramento State, the Griz now have a 5-3 record two games removed from the bye.

NIGHT-MARES: Montana's 8 p.m. kick time loss at Sac State added to its night game road woes. The Griz now have a 1-13 road night game record since 2011 in games starting after 6 p.m. local time. The Grizzlies are also now 0-3 since 2011 in night games played at Sacramento.

On the flip side, Montana has had considerable success under the lights at Washington-Grizzly Stadium with a 10-2 night game home record since 2011.

UM's last win at night on the road came in 2013 at North Dakota, a 55-17 win at the Alerus Center that kicked at 6 p.m. Central Time.

BAD BLOCK PARTY: Montana had two field goal attempts blocked at Sac State. The last time the Grizzlies had a field goal blocked was also a night game on ESPN2 at Eastern Washington in 2021.

• Another filed under "last time it happened": Sac State running back Cameron Skattebo rushed for 111 yards against the Griz – the most of any opponent this season. The last Grizzlies to run for 100-plus was Palmer Latrele for James Madison in the 2021 FCS quarterfinal – currently one of the top-20 rushers in the Sun Belt Conference.

• Montana picked of three Sac State passes from Jake Dunniway last week. The last QB to throw three INTs to the Griz? Washington's Dylan Morris in 2021.

MORE FIRSTS: Montana lost its first game of the season last week when the Griz scored first (the 15-play drive capped by Knight's 2-yard TD), with the Griz becoming the only team this year to score first against the Hornets. It was also Montana's first loss when winning the turnover battle.

SERIES VS THE WILDCATS: Montana leads the all-time series with Weber State by a wide margin at 40-15 since 1962, going 18-8 in games played in Ogden during that time.

Like the Hornets, however, the Wildcats have been a program on the rise under head coach Jay Hill since the Utah native took the program over in 2014. Hill has gone 3-1 against Montana in his time at the helm of Weber State, but has split meetings with Hauck as UM's head coach. Both of those matchups occurred in 2019 when Montana beat the then third-ranked Wildcats 35-16 in Missoula before dropping an FCS quarterfinal game 17-10 in a blizzard in Ogden.

LAST MEETING: Rain, snow, wind, and fog - the Montana Grizzlies battled both the Wildcats and the winter elements in Ogden, falling 17-10 in a defensive standoff that saw the Grizzlies give up five turnovers while at the same time allowing WSU just 113 yards of total offense in the FCS quarterfinal.

In his final game as a Grizzly, quarterback Dalton Sneed left it all on the field against Weber, but gave up five interceptions and took six sacks in trying to battle the elements and Wildcat defensive front that was able to apply plenty of pressure.

But in a game featuring two of the best special teams units in the country, it was only fitting that a blocked punt would be the deciding factor as the game rested on a knife edge heading into the final period with WSU holding a 10-7 lead. With nine minutes to play Weber State scored what would be the game-winning touchdown on a blocked punt to build a lead that proved to be insurmountable for the Grizzlies, despite an attempted rally.

Montana's historic season closed with a 10-4 record in the quarterfinal round of the playoffs (a place it hadn't reached since the 2009 season. The Wildcats advanced to the FCS semifinal, where they lost to the second-ranked James Madison Dukes on their home turf.

SCOUTING THE WILDCATS: Weber State enters this week's showdown with Montana at 6-1, on the heels of their first loss of the season – a bizarre, back-and-forth battle in Bozeman where WSU spotted the Bobcats eight points on four, yes four, safeties, to set a new FCS single-game record. Each of those safeties came from errant long-snaps over Wildcat punter Jack Burgess' head, giving MSU the go-ahead points in a 43-38 win over WSU.

Weber had built a 24-9 lead in the game, scoring early on a 100-yard kickoff return from Abraham Williams and shortly after on a 91-yard punt return from Hudson Schenk – highlighting the WSU special teams, a hallmark of Hill-led Wildcat squads.

Regardless of last week's outcome, WSU brings three of the top-12 rushers in the conference into Saturday's game, with Damon Bankston averaging more than 60 yards per game rushing, and former Big Sky freshman of the year Josh Davis averaging 56, despite missing the last two contests due to injury.

The Wildcat stable of running backs will have to contend with Montana's rushing defense, however. Kent Baer's unit leads the league and is top-10 nationally in stopping the run, allowing an average of just 91 yards per game.

Quarterback Barron Bronson has been steady for the Wildcats as well, averaging 226 yards through the air with the sixth-best passing efficiency in the conference at 145.8.

Including a big win over FCS in-state rival Utah State, Weber's defense has been stout this year as the top-scoring D in the league, allowing just 15.6 points per game. The Wildcats also lead the Big Sky in defensive efficiency at 91.3, giving up just six touchdowns and 1292 total yards, with Montana right behind them at 110.8 efficiency, six TDs, and 1423 yards given.

A big and physical defense, D-end Nu'u Sellesin and linebacker Jack Kelly are both top-seven in the league in sacks (a category led by Patrick O'Connell). Cornerbacks Anderson Maxwell and Eddie Heckard are both top-four in the conference in passes defended, with Anderson putting up 2019 Justin Ford-like numbers with five picks in seven games.

HEAD COACH BOBBY HAUCK

was the highest in the FCS at the time, and he led UM to three perfect seasons in Big Sky play with a 47-6 league record, winning at least a share of the Big Sky title in each of his seven seasons.

He is a three-time Big Sky Conference Coach of the Year and was named the D1-AA (FCS) Region 5 Coach of the Year in 2006. He was also a finalist for the Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year award in 2009.

Under Hauck, the Grizzlies have also excelled in the classroom. From 2003-2009, Montana placed 104 football players on Academic All-Big Sky teams, the most, or second most in the league each year. In each of those seasons, football student-athletes also graduated at a higher rate than their campus counterparts, including a remarkable 90 percent rate in 2005.

In 2018 Hauck's Grizzlies posted the two highest grade point averages in program history, including a combined 3.07 term GPA in the fall. That semester, the Grizzlies also posted five perfect 4.0 GPAs, 20 players made the Dean's List, and 24 were named to the Academic All-Big Sky team.

The UM alum returned to his native Montana in 2017 after five seasons as the head coach at UNLV, and three seasons serving as the Associate Head Coach and Special Teams Coordinator at San Diego State.

He began his coaching career with the Grizzlies in 1988 after earning a bachelor's degree in business and physical education at Montana in 1987.

"It is an honor and a privilege to be able to come back home to a place that is so important to me. I am grateful for the opportunity to continue the tradition of excellence at the University of Montana. I am absolutely committed to success both on and off the field. I cannot wait to see what the future holds, and look forward to being a strong advocate for the University as a whole," said Hauck.

From 2010-2014 Hauck served as head coach and special teams coordinator at UNLV. As head coach, he led the Rebels to the Heart of Dallas Bowl in 2013 - their only winning season since 2000, only the fourth bowl game in UNLV history, and the first to be played on New Year's Day.

In 2015, Hauck accepted the role as special teams coordinator at San Diego State under legendary head coach Rocky Long.

Hauck was born in Missoula and raised in Big Timber, Montana. He graduated from UM with a B.A. in Business and Health and Physical Education, and UCLA with a M.S. in Education Admin.

He is married to wife Stacey, with daughters Alexandra, Elise, and Sydney, and son Robby.

Bobby Hauck became the 37th head football coach at the University of Montana on Nov. 30, 2017. He was formally re-introduced to Griz nation a day later on December 1, 2017, in a press conference at the Washington-Grizzly Stadium Club.

2022 will be his sixteenth year as a college football head coach, his 11th overall year at Montana, and the fourth year of his second stint as Grizzly head coach. In his first tenure at UM from 2003-2009 Hauck won more games than any other coach in FCS football, led the Grizzlies to three national championship appearances, and won seven-straight Big Sky Conference championships.

In 2018 Hauck became the winningest coach in Montana history, surpassing the great Don Read with 86 wins in eight seasons. Hauck is also the winningest coach in Big Sky history (by win percentage) and is the fastest coach in league history to reach the 40, 50, 60, 70, and 80-win plateaus. He also picked up his 100th overall win and his 50th Big Sky win in 2018.

In his first stint at UM, Hauck's Grizzlies outscored their opponents 3,079-1,795 in his 97-game tenure. He also coached 37 first-team All-Big Sky selections. His 82 percent winning average

THE #37 TRADITION - GRIZZLY LEGACY

Grizzly football jersey #37 began its legacy in 1983. Griz fullback and Plentywood native Kraig Paulson began the tradition of passing #37 on to a younger player who hailed from the state of Montana. Paulson was known for his hard-nosed play and workman mentality. So the tradition began. Number 37 has come to represent the Spirit of Montana... hard work, dedication to the team, and tough play on the gridiron.

SEASON NOTES

HILL NAMED WEEK 1 PLAYER OF THE WEEK: After leading the charge in a Montana season-opener shut-out, Grizzly junior linebacker Braxton Hill was named the Big Sky Defensive Player of the Week after week 1. Making his first career start in maroon and silver, Hill, from Anaconda, was one of Montana's main catalysts on defense, racking up a career-high 10 tackles, 1.5 tackles for loss, and getting in on a half sack.

Hill was one of many shining stars on a Grizzly defense that dominated Northwestern State. The unit held the Demons to just 19 rushing yards and 212 yards of total offense while allowing the visitors to cross into Montana territory just three times.

Hill made his debut as a starter Saturday after making 22 appearances in his first two seasons. In his last game at James Madison, he logged his previous career-high with eight tackles and a sack. He also received an honorable mention for the FedEx Ground FCS National Defensive Player of the Week.

WEEK 1's OTHER STARS: On offense, Montana nominated another first-time starter for player of the week in quarterback Lucas Johnson. In his Grizzly debut, the senior was a true dual threat, completing 15 of 24 passes for 208 yards and four touchdowns. He also led Montana in rushing with 7 carries for 76 yards, averaging nearly 11 yards per carry.

His 284 yards of total offense on 31 plays were also the second-most for a winning QB in the Big Sky that week and were the most average yards per play among Big Sky QBs.

On special teams, junior linebacker Levi Janacaro was threatening all day and finally broke through in the second quarter to block a Northwestern State punt that was then scooped up by his Big Sky high school teammate Tyler Flink and returned for a Montana special teams touchdown.

Janacaro was a menace on both special teams and defense, totaling 6 tackles, one TFL, a forced fumble, and a pass breakup in addition to his block.

STREAKS ALIVE: Montana extended its winning streak in both home-openers and season-openers last week, both streaks that rank among the tops in the FCS. The Griz now hold the fourth-longest active home-opener streak in the country at 19 games after Arkansas State lost at home on week one. Only Harvard, NDSU, and North Dakota have longer streaks, with Harvard yet to play at home this year. UM is now 32-4 all-time in the first game of the year played at Washington-Grizzly Stadium.

ACTIVE FCS HOME-OPENER WIN STREAKS

36 North Dakota - 1986-2022
25 North Dakota State - 1999-2022
21 Harvard - 2001-2022
19 Montana - 2004-2022

After upsetting Washington in 2021, Montana has also now won eight-straight season-openers, which ranks as the subdivision's second-longest streak behind Dartmouth's 12-straight wins.

ACTIVE FCS WIN STREAKS IN SEASON-OPENERS

12 Dartmouth
8 Montana
7 North Dakota State, Princeton
6 Villanova
5 Towson, Columbia

Montana has not lost a season-opener since 2014 at Wyoming, and before that had not lost since 2011 at Tennessee.

Since Hauck returned to Montana in 2018, the Griz have won their home opener by a combined score of 235-50, and have not allowed an opponent to score more than 10 points in the last three seasons.

EARLY DEFENSIVE EFFORTS: Montana produced one of the most dominant defensive performances of the last decade on week one and followed it up with another on week two.

The 47-0 shutout of Northwestern St. was just the second time Montana kept an opponent completely scoreless since 2011 when the Griz beat Idaho State 33-0. The last time UM pitched a shutout was 304 days before the NSU game – a 35-0 whitewash of Northern Colorado on Nov. 6, 2021.

With a near-shutout against South Dakota on week two, the Griz were just shy of making more team history. You have to go back to 1947 to find the last time Montana started a season with two shut-outs, blanking Eastern Washington and Portland 21-0 each that season.

The Grizzlies went nearly 144 minutes this season without letting their opponent on the scoreboard, nearly seven and a half quarters of shutting teams out. That translates into nearly two and a half hours of play without letting a team on the board.

COACH TO CURE: Head coach Bobby Hauck and his staff are helped lead a national effort to #TackleDuchenne on Sept. 24, joining in the American Football Coaches' Association's Coach To Cure MD program, An initiative of Parent Project Muscular Dystrophy (PPMD).

Now in its 15th year, Coach to Cure MD uses the power of football to raise awareness and money to fund research for a cure for Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy. To do that, Hauck and the Grizzly staff wore Coach to Cure MD patches on their sleeves during the game.

Fans can join the cause by using the hashtag #TackleDuchenne on social media, and can donate $25 to the Coach to Cure MD mission by texting the word CURE to 501501.

Hauck appeared in a nationwide PSA promoting the program earlier this season.

BUZZ THE STADIUM: Griz fans were treated to a flyover during homecoming. The Montana National Guard flew a pair of CH-47F Chinook Helicopters over the stadium during the national anthem.

after his performance against Northwestern State.

O'Connell had a monster day for the Grizzly defense at Indiana State, logging nine tackles, three for a loss, and two-and-a-half sacks. The first of those sacks forced a fumble that was scooped up by fellow Grizzly Kale Edwards and returned 20 yards for Montana's first touchdown of the day and the third score for the UM defense this season.

O'Connell's 2.5 sacks and three TFLs were the most of any defender in the conference that week and matched his career high set against Western Illinois in 2021.

FIRST DOWNS: Ryan Simpson and Colter Janacaro scored their first career touchdowns at Indiana State. Simpson, a sophomore, was targeted three-straight times and finally came away with the touchdown catch on the first play of the fourth quarter. Janacaro, a redshirt freshman, capped Montana's scoring with a two-yard rush in the final two minutes.

Receiver Aaron Fontes made a highlight reel play and nearly scored his first touchdown in a career day for the sophomore. The Oxnard native had a game-high 93 receiving yards that was capped with a 22-yard completion to the two yard line, hurdling a defender before being knocked out of bounds at the two.

Defensive end Kale Edwards also had a big day, picking up his first career touchdown on his first career fumble recovery for Montana's first score of the day at ISU.

HAPPY HOMECOMING: Montana now holds a 67-33-1 all-time record on homecoming and is 32-4 in homecoming games played in Washington-Grizzly Stadium since 1986. The Griz have won eight of their last nine homecoming games.

That one loss in those last nine? It came against the very same PSU Vikings in 2018 when the visitors slotted a last-second field goal to spoil the festivities 22-20.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED: Despite Montana defeating two Missouri Valley teams this season, the annual Big Sky/MVFC Challenge Series ended in a draw this year at three wins apiece. The Big Sky has not won the series since its inception in 2018, but the Griz have gone 5-1.

After beating Indiana State, Bobby Hauck is now 8-3 all-time at UM against teams that are current members of the MVFC.

HOOSIER HEADLINES: Montana beat Indiana State in the team's first regular season game played in the Eastern Time Zone since 2003 on week three. The Griz traveled to Orono to face the Maine Black Bears in the 2003 season opener, a 30-20 win and the first at UM for Bobby Hauck.

It was also just the second time UM has faced a team from Indiana, with Valpo being the first in 2017 at Washington-Grizzly Stadium.

MORE PLAYERS OF THE WEEK: Montana doubled up on Big Sky Player of the Week honors after the win over Portland State with record-breaker Robby Hauck earning defensive honors for the second time in his career and quarterback Lucas Johnson earning his first weekly award as a Grizzly.

Hauck cemented his place in the Montana history books this week, breaking Buchanan Award winner Dante Olson's school record for the most tackles in program history. The senior posted seven stops against the Vikings to bring his career total to 402 tackles, breaking Olson's previous record of 397. He also brought the pressure on a quarterback hurry that led directly to an interception for cornerback Jayden Dawson.

He's now on pace to break the Big Sky Conference record for career stops set by Eastern Washington's Ronnie Hamlin between 2011 and 2014.

Hauck's special day against PSU was made even better with a big defensive play at the end of the first half, returning a missed Viking field goal a full 100 yards for his first career touchdown. He also received an honorable mention for the Stats Perform FCS Defensive Player of the Week.

Offensively, Johnson guided Montana to its highest scoring output of the season to date, with the Griz putting up 53 points and just under 400 total yards of offense against the Vikings. Johnson was deadly accurate, especially in the first half, where he didn't miss, going 14-14 passing. The senior finished the day 20-26 for 221 yards and two TDs in the air.

The dual-threat QB added 10 more yards and another touchdown on the ground for a personal haul of 231 yards and three scores.

At the quarter mark of the season, Johnson lead the Big Sky in total offense this week with 1,021 yards through the air and on the ground. That's an average of 255.3 per game which, if the season ended then, would be a top-10 all-time mark at Montana.

Hauck was named co-Defensive Player of the Week with Sacramento State's Armon Bailey. Special teams honors went to Northern Colorado's Elijah Dotson.

The pair were the third and fourth Big Sky Player of the Week recipients for UM to date on the season, with Braxton Hill earning defensive honors after week one and Patrick O'Connell earning defensive honors week three.

SAFETY FIRST: Montana has forced two safeties so far this season, one coming from a tackle in the end zone from Braxton Hill against South Dakota and one credited to the team after PSU QB Dante Chachere slipped while avoiding a sack.

The last time the Griz forced two safeties in one season was 2011 when Ben Hughes got one at Tennessee while the other was credited to the team as well.

Montana also gave up an uncharacteristic safety to Portland State when a snap slipped through the fingers of punter Patrick Rohrbach. You have to go back to 2010 to find the last time the Griz gave up a safety when Andrew Selle was stopped in the end zone recovering a fumble against Western State for what would be the Mountaineers' only points of the day in a 73-2 drubbing by UM.

SCOPE THE SAGARINS: Montana entered the Idaho week as the No. 1 FCS team in the nation according to the Sagarin Ratings, which ranks each Division-I team regardless of subdivision in USA Today, and play a part in the Big Sky Conference's tiebreaking process.

The Griz come in at No. 72 in the week's ratings at 68.88, ahead of notable programs like Nebraska (74), Navy (76), NDSU (77), Arizona (79), Sacramento State (82), SDSU (85), Weber State (90), and Montana State (118).

PLAYER OF THE WEEK REWIND: Prior to the bye, Montana earned its fifth Big Sky Player of the Week award in as many weeks of action following the win at Idaho State. Freshman punter Patrick Rohrbach was named the league's special teams player of the week after a career day in Holt Arena.

The Kalispell native averaged 52.75 yards on four attempts with a long of 68 yards to flip the field for the Grizzlies in Pocatello.

He's been the catalyst in Montana's punt coverage, which once again is one of the tops in the FCS in winning the all-important field position battle. The Griz enter this week's contest against Idaho with the third-best net punt average in the nation at 41.55 yards per attempt. Rohrbach is averaging 44.1 yards per attempt, meaning UM's opponents are being held to just over 2.5 yards per return.

GOOD KNIGHT: Marcus Knight found the end zone yet again at Idaho State to bring his career total to 26 rushing touchdowns. The junior is now two away from breaking Jeremy Calhoun's career total of 27 rushing scores and moving into fifth place on UM's all-time table.

Knight has his work cut out for him if he wants to keep climbing the ladder, currently needing 15 more to pass Jordan Canada's career total of 40 and cement his place in the upper echelon of all-time Grizzly rushers.

• Knight had a banner day in his last outing with 103 yards rushing against Idaho State, his first 100-yard day since Nov. 2, 2019, at Portland State when he went for 106.

• Prior to the ISU game, Montana's last 100-yard rusher was Xavier Harris, who went for 119 against Dixie State in 2021.

• Running back Nick Ostmo also had a big day at Idaho State, rushing for a career-high 93 yards. He was just eight yards shy of giving Montana two 100-yard rushers against the Bengals, a rarity for any college football team.

The last time Montana had two backs go off for a hundred in a single game? 2013 when Travon Van and Jordan Canada pounded out 136 and 106, respectively, against Portland State. Prior to the season, running back coach Justin Green drew comparisons between this year's corps of backs and the Van/Canada vintage from nearly a decade ago.

"This is probably the deepest we've been since Travon Van and Jordan Canada," said Green. "Those guys were really, really, good football players, and we were able to find ways to get them on the field. So, I expect the same for this group."

FLOWERS POWER: Malik Flowers, who has hardly been given a chance to touch the ball on kick returns this season, but he still became Montana's all-time leader in return yards in the Idaho game with 2,170 to his name following the contest, breaking Rob Schulte's career record of 2,129.

Flowers is one of only four players in Big Sky Conference history to rack up more than 2,000 kick return yards and currently has the third-best return average in league history among players with 50-plus attempts at 28.2.

MORE #PAT4BUCK: Patrick O'Connell continued to make a strong case for the Buck Buchanan Award against the Vandals with eight tackles, two TFLs, a half-sack, a QB hurry, and an interception that he returned 42 yards, eventually leading to a UM touchdown.

WELNEL WOWS: Fellow linebacker Marcus Welnel posted a career and game-high 16 tackles against Idaho, with three TFLs and one sack.

QUITE THE JOURNEY: Redshirt freshman Journey Grimsrud earned his first career start on Saturday, filling in for Liam Brown at right guard.

A prototypical small-town, hard-nosed Montana kid, Grimsrud came to Missoula as a defensive lineman from Huntley Project High School, where he was a two-way All-State pick on both the O and D front.

At the start of fall camp he made the switch to the offensive line and has been a staple on the two-deep all season, making his first career start as a freshman against the Vandals.

SOLD OUT: Montana packed its second-straight sellout crowd into Washington-Grizzly Stadium for the UM/Idaho game, with 26,314 in attendance – the fifth-largest crowd in stadium history. 26,087 fans attended UM's homecoming win over Portland State on Sept. 24.

Tickets are selling fast for a third and fourth-straight sellout in Montana's final two home games of the season. Montana educators are invited to attend the UM/Cal Poly game on Nov. 5 at a discounted price to help pack the stands yet again.

PRESEASON NOTES

BULKED UP: The Grizzly starting five on the offensive line check in at an average of 305 pounds this week, with a combined weight of 1,523 pounds. Guard Hunter Mayginnnes entered camp as the heaviest guy on the team at 325, with Brown close behind at 310.

Montana's young guys on the O-line made the biggest gains in the offseason, however. Redshirt Freshman Declan McCabe gained the most weight since last fall with 39 pounds of added heft. Backup center Kukila Lincoln, also a redshirt freshman, was the second-biggest gainer on the squad at 33 pounds.

LINEBACKER U: All-everything senior linebacker Patrick O'Connell of Kalispell leads a homegrown linebacker group that features ten players from the state of Montana in the fourteen-man room. Those 10:

Marcus Welnel - Helena
Geno Leonard - Missoula
Carson Rostad - Hamilton
Asher Croy - Bozeman
Braxton Hill - Anaconda
Levi Janacaro - Missoula
Marcus Evans - Helena
Ryan Tirrell - Missoula
Tyler Flink - Missoula
Patrick O'Connell - Kalispell

Stats Perform named Montana "Linebacker U" in 2021 for a decade of success at the position.

Since 2010, three former Grizzly 'backers Caleb McSurdy, Jordan Tripp, and Brock Coyle have gone on to play in the NFL. Tripp and Coyle were both Montana-bred players, with Tripp a native of Missoula and Coyle hailing from Bozeman.

Josh Buss was an All-American later in the decade, and Dante Olson won the Buck Buchanan Award for the best defensive player in the FCS in 2019 before a stint with the Philadelphia Eagles. O'Connell was a finalist for the Buchanan Award as a junior in 2021, and is on the 2022 watch list for the same award.

DOMINANT D: Montana is coming off one of the best defensive team performances in program history in 2021. With three UM defenders on the Buchanan Award watch list this year, stands reason the Griz should be equally dominant.

Coordinator Kent Baer's unit produced 88 turnovers last year, while surrendering an average of just 16.3 points per game, the program's lowest allowed since 2007. The 2021 Grizzly defense was also third in the nation against the rush last year, allowing teams to run the ball for an average of just 84.3 yards per game.

RETURNING RUSHERS: Montana returns 75% of its rushing production from, not just the last season, but the last three seasons, dating back to the 2019 campaign that saw Marcus Knight break school records for scoring and cross the 1,000-yard barrier.

The team's top three individual rushers from the last three seasons are each set to return in 2022. Lead by Knight, the UM running back room also returns 2021's leading rusher Xavier Harris, Nick Ostmo and Isiah Childs, with support from Malik Flowers and Junior Bergen.

ONE HISTORIC WIN: Montana picked up one of the most historic wins in program history one year ago this week, beating the

No. 20 Washington Huskies 13-7 in Seattle for the first win over UW since 1920. Montana and Washington were both members of the former Pacific Coast Conference from 1924-1950.

The Grizzlies became just the sixth FCS or 1-AA team to knock off a ranked FBS or 1-A team since 1983 with the 13-7 win at Washington. It had been five years since North Dakota State upset No. 13 Iowa in Kinnick Stadium as the last FCS team to beat a ranked opponent in 2016.

Eastern Washington is the only other Big Sky team to pull off the ranked upset when it beat No. 25 Oregon State in 2013.

Speaking of Oregon State: At UW, the Griz became the first non-FBS team to hold a Pac-12 opponent below 10 points since Grambling State beat the Beavers 23-6 in 1985. In one to watch, Montana State plays Oregon State on week three of the 2022 season.

THREE GRIZZLIES ON THE 2022 BUCK BUCHANAN AWARD WATCH LIST

THREE GRIZ NAMED TO BUCHANAN AWARD PRESEASON WATCH LIST

Montana has a long history of producing some of the top defensive players in the FCS, with nine finalists and three Buck Buchanan Award winners since the turn of the century, including two in the last six seasons.

This year, three more Grizzlies are favored to join that list of the nation's elite defenders, with Patrick O'Connell, Justin Ford, and Robby Hauck each being named to the Buchanan Award preseason watch list, FCS news outlet Stats Perform announced Thursday.

The Montana standouts are three of 35 players named to the list for the national defensive player of the year. The Grizzlies tied North Dakota State with the most players on the watch list, and had the most selections in the Big Sky.

O'Connell led the Big Sky in sacks last season, finished third in the voting for the Buchanan Award as a junior and was on hand at the awards banquet in Frisco, Texas, on the eve of the national championship game.

Ford intercepted the most passes in D-I football in 2021, finished right behind him at No. 4 in Buchanan Award voting.

Hauck was a finalist for the Jerry Rice Award that goes to the nation's top freshman in his first year at UM and has consistently ranked as one of the leading tacklers in the FCS ever since.

All 15 FCS conferences are represented on the watch list, which includes 2021 Buchanan Award recipient Isaiah Land of Florida A&M, 2020 Buchanan Award recipient Jordan Lewis of Southern and 13 other past finalists.

More players can join the watch list during the regular season, and afterwards a national media panel will select the winner. First awarded in 1995, Grizzlies Kroy Biermann (2007), Tyrone

Holmes (2015), and Dante Olson (2019) have each won the Buchanan

O'Connell was named the Big Sky's preseason defensive MVP and earned preseason All-America honors earlier in the summer after a stellar junior year. The former walk-on posted 105 tackles and was the Big Sky regular season leader in sacks as a junior with 14. For his efforts, the Kalispell native finished third in the voting for the Buck Buchanan Award that goes to the top defender in FCS football.

A consensus All-American, he was a first-team All-Big Sky pick and was named the team's Steve Carlson MVP and co-recipient of the Doug Betters Golden Helmet Award.

Ford earned preseason All-America honors as well after leading all divisions of college football in interceptions with nine in 2021, going on an unprecedented streak of eight-straight games with a pick. He also logged a pair of touchdowns on interception returns and a fumble return for a touchdown against Montana State.

His nine interceptions were the most in a single season ever by a UM cornerback and were tied for the third-most single-season INTs in program history. He was one of three defenders to be named Defensive team MVP by the UM coaches after the season.

In addition to his prolific haul of INTs, Ford posted 41 tackles (29 solo), a pair of TFLs, a sack, 11 pass breakups, and led the team in pass deflections with 20.

Another preseason All-American, Hauck is poised to shatter the all-time tackles record at Montana, entering his senior year sitting at No. 3 on UM's career tackles list with 364 and chasing former Grizzly Dante Olson's school record of 398 stops. He's also on track to break EWU's Ronnie Hamlin's Big Sky record of 473 tackles.

He earned All-America honors in 2021 after posting his second-straight season with over 125 tackles, missing his 2019 career-high of 129 by a single stop last year at 128. A star in the classroom and on the field, he is poised to become just the third, three-time Academic All-American in program history.

BIG SKY-BEST FOUR GRIZZLAND ON STATS PERFORM PRESEASON ALL-AMERICA TEAMS

The Montana Grizzlies placed a Big Sky-best four players on one of three preseason All-America teams released Monday by FCS news outlet Stats Perform.

Linebacker and 2021 Buchanan Award finalist Patrick O'Connell, cornerback Justin Ford, and kick returner/wide receiver Malik Flowers each earned a place on the first team, while safety Robby Hauck landed on the second team.

The Stats Perform Preseason All-America team was compiled by FCS analyst Craig Haley. All 15 FCS conferences and 57 schools are represented among the 105 All-Americans, which included 56 players who were postseason All-Americans previously.

Montana was picked to win the Big Sky title race for the first time in a decade in both the preseason media and coaches poll at the Big Sky kickoff in July.

GRIZZLY QUINTET NAMED PRESEASON ALL-AMERICANS BY HERO SPORTS

Early accolades continue to pile up for Montana, with HERO Sports placing five Grizzlies on its Preseason FCS All-America team Thursday, the most selections of any team in the Big Sky Conference.

Patrick O'Connell, the league's preseason Defensive MVP, earned a place on yet another All-America first team, as did cornerback Justin Ford and safety Robby Hauck.

Prolific return man and wide receiver Malik Flowers landed on Hero Sports' special teams second squad, and junior defensive tackle Alex Gubner earned a place on the third team list.

All five have been picked on multiple preseason teams in the buildup to the 2022 kickoff, and for good reason. Montana was picked to win the Big Sky Conference title race in both the media and coaches' preseason polls earlier in the summer. Expectations for the program are also high around the country, with the Griz being picked No. 2 in preseason polls.

JUSTIN FORD NAMED TO SENIOR BOWL WATCH LIST

Montana All-America cornerback Justin Ford was once again recognized as one of the top players in the country, earning a place on the watch list for the 2023 Reese's Senior Bowl, the nation's most prestigious college all-star game.

Out of 484 total players named to the watch list, Ford was one of only two players from the Big Sky Conference to be listed, with just 29 players from the Football Championship Subdivision earning a spot.

Throughout the season, Senior Bowl staff will pare down the list to roughly 200 players that will earn an invite to the event and compete on one of two teams for pro coaches and scouts.

Held annually in Mobile, Alabama, the Reese's Senior Bowl is the most prominent event in the buildup to the NFL Draft. Last year 106 total players from the Senior Bowl were selected in the draft, with 36 taken in the first three rounds, representing 41 percent of the entire draft.

Should Ford earn the invitation, he will be just the third Grizzly to ever attend the Senior Bowl and the first since 2014, when Jordan Tripp attended. Scott Gragg was Montana's only other representative at the game in 1994.

The 2023 Senior Bowl is set for Feb. 4, 2023, and will be broadcast live on the NFL Network from Hancock Whitney Stadium on the campus of the University of South Alabama. Senior Bowl practices are broadcast live on the ESPN family of networks, with the NFL Network airing a daily recap of practices in primetime.
