

THIS IS OAKLAND UNIVERSITY

OAKLAND UNIVERSITY

Preparing students for FUTURE SUCCESS

Oakland University is a nationally ranked university offering students a personal, high-quality, affordable education through a diverse combination of liberal arts, professional instruction, and cultural and social experiences.

Since its founding in 1957, Oakland has grown from 570 students to more than 18,000 in 2008. While the university has shown tremendous growth and change, the core mission has stayed the same: to deliver an undergraduate and graduate education that prepares students with a portfolio of skills and values necessary for success in the workplace and society.

Located in Rochester, Michigan, the university fosters collaborations with business and industry to help graduates meet the demands of a highly educated workforce.

Diverse programs, diverse opportunities

A campus that thrives on vision, challenge and hard work, we take seriously our responsibilities to provide a high-quality education to the residents of our community, state and nation.

Students may choose from 129 undergraduate degree programs and 99 graduate degree and certificate programs. Through core undergraduate curriculum requirements, students hone their skills and develop a greater awareness and understanding of the world we live in through exposure to a diverse learning environment, and through opportunities to study and live abroad.

Internships give students a head start

Oakland students are often rewarded with prestigious internship and co-op opportunities at leading organizations and corporate institutions including NASA, the Mayo Clinic and the Brookings Institute. Students also work with faculty mentors on significant research projects in partnership with many of the nearly 200 Fortune 500 companies, 400 foreign-based corporations and other businesses, educational institutions, hospitals and government entities located throughout Oakland County.

A hometown feel

More than 1,800 Oakland students live on campus and reap the benefits of an enriching, unparalleled living environment. With a variety of options available – from five residence halls and a family housing complex to the new University Student Apartments – students find the perfect fit to bring learning to new levels.

Capture the college spirit

OU is home to the Golden Grizzlies, participants in the 2006 NCAA Big Dance. The university supports more than 170 student organizations, which keep students actively involved in academic competitions, charitable activities and community events.

Recreational and cultural attractions

Oakland's state-of-the-art 250,000-square-foot Recreation and Athletics Center is complete with an indoor arena, natatorium and high-tech workout facilities. And, don't miss Oakland's famous Meadow Brooks: Meadow Brook Hall & Gardens, a 100-room historic house museum; Meadow Brook Music Festival, an outdoor summer amphitheatre; and Meadow Brook Theatre, which stages comedies, dramas, mysteries and musicals. The Oakland University Art Gallery sponsors a number of free exhibitions and lectures each year.

Nationally recognized

Thanks to the reputation it is gaining within the region and beyond, Oakland has been recognized by several national organizations. The Princeton Review named OU in its first edition of The Best Midwestern Colleges, 150 Great Schools to Consider. The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching categorizes Oakland as one of the country's 83 doctoral/research universities. U.S. News and World Report consistently recognizes Oakland in its annual report about America's Best Colleges.

OU PRESIDENT DR. GARY RUSSI

Dr. Gary D. Russi President, Oakland University Southwestern Oklahoma, '69

Gary Russi has served as Oakland University's president since 1996, and he held the position of interim president from 1995 to 1996. Under his leadership Oakland completed its first strategic plan, 1995 - 2005. The 10-year plan paved the way for Oakland's unprecedented growth - in stature and size - and is helping the university realize its 2020 vision.

In April 2005 Russi announced the university's first-ever comprehensive campaign, "Innovation and Opportunity - The Campaign for Oakland University," with a goal of raising $110 million by 2010. The campaign is designed to propel the university to the next level in providing a comprehensive liberal education, raising funds for professorships, scholarships, research endowments, academic programs and improved facilities. The university has raised more than $100 million toward its goal through September 2008.

Oakland University is a top-rated academic institution that is widely recognized as a university on the rise. With a steadily growing student population which topped 18,000 in fall 2007, Russi has worked with the Oakland community to maintain the highest caliber of academic quality and to build an infrastructure that retains the best features of a small campus setting while offering a large array of programs and services.

With Russi's support, OU has forged numerous partnerships and alliances in Michigan - and throughout the world. Together with business and industry, local health care organizations, corporations, and educational institutions, these collaborations are creating opportunities for achievement and growth.

Under Russi's leadership, Oakland has introduced more than 56 new academic degree programs since 1995 and full-time faculty has grown to more than 500. These new programs and faculty members have drawn a greater number - and an even more talented group - of students to the university. Average high school GPAs and ACT scores of incoming freshmen continue to rise.

Russi's commitment to experiential learning with flexible class schedules, high quality facilities and classroom technologies, and a wide array of student services and research opportunities is helping Oakland grow into a distinctive university focused on delivering a unique and progressive undergraduate and graduate education.

In addition, during Russi's tenure, Oakland has invested - often with state support - more than $190 million to enrich environments for teaching, researching, learning, and living. Capital improvements include a $43-million Science and Engineering Building, a $37-million Recreation and Athletics Center, the $17.5-million R. Hugh and Nancy Elliott Hall of Business and Information Technology, the $32-million Carlotta and Dennis Pawley Hall, $21-million new student apartments and numerous building and facilities upgrades. This trend will continue with the Campaign for Oakland University's goal of further capital enhancements to support the university's growth.

In 1998, Oakland University moved to NCAA Division I competition and adopted a new mascot identity, the Golden Grizzlies. Recognized as a conference leader in student-athlete graduation rates, Oakland has earned 16 regular season Summit League championships (formerly Mid-Continent Conference) and 37 league championships in its first nine years of Division I competition.

Russi joined Oakland University in 1993 as vice president for academic affairs where he was responsible for all academic programs, academic support services, research and several university wide administrative services. In 1995 he assumed the role of interim president. He held both positions until he was named president in 1996. Russi is also a professor of Health Sciences.

Prior to joining Oakland, Russi was vice president for research and strategic planning at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa where he served as the university's chief research administrator and promoted institutional direction and support for faculty research endeavors. While there he was instrumental in focusing university staff resources and budgets to strengthen faculty research. Russi was also very involved there, as he is at Oakland, in supporting and promoting undergraduate student research projects. As vice president for research and strategic planning, Russi also led and managed the application of state-of-the-art information technology in the university's administrative, educational and research activities.

Russi's administrative career at Drake University began in 1973 as a project coordinator in development and fund raising where he authored, co-authored and/or managed 42 funded grant or contract projects ranging from $200 to $900,000. From there he progressed through a variety of administrative positions, including department chair for the Clinical Externship Program, director of university planning, vice provost for planning and budgeting, and executive assistant to the president.

Russi participated in the American Council on Education (ACE) Fellows Program in Academic Administration from 1982-1983 where he served as special assistant to the executive vice president and provost of the University of Nebraska.

Russi's teaching and research experience began at Southwestern Oklahoma State University where he was an undergraduate research assistant in chemistry from 1967-1969. His professional teaching and research career began in 1969 when he joined Kansas University as a teaching/research assistant in pharmacology and toxicology. During his tenure at Drake University he held the positions of assistant professor, associate professor and professor of pharmacology and toxicology.

From 1973 to 1984, Russi published 18 abstracts and articles in professional journals. Between 1970 and 2006, he co-authored eight scientific articles, dissertations and abstracts. And from 1973 to 1991, he completed 13 invited scientific book reviews.

Russi has achieved numerous honors and awards for his many achievements, including the Executive of the Year Award, Mayor's Business Council, City of Rochester Hills (2008), Quality People, Quality County Award, Oakland County (2008), Lifetime Achievement Award from Sunrise Pinnacle Awards (2008), Honorary Alumni Award (2007) from Oakland University, Who's Who in Education, Crain's Detroit (2005), State of Michigan Commission on Higher Education and Economic Growth (2004), George Wibby Athletic Award from Oakland University (2002), Mentor for the American Council on Education Academic Administrator Fellow (2000), Distinguished Alumni Award from Southwestern Oklahoma State University (1998), Honorary Member of Golden Key National Honour Society at Oakland University (1993 to present), Merck Research Award at Southwestern Oklahoma State University (1969) and Rho Chi Society Undergraduate Research Award at Southwestern Oklahoma State University (1969).

Russi currently serves as co-chair of the Oakland County Business Roundtable and vice chair of Oakland County Automation Alley. He is a member of the Citizens Research Council of Michigan and the Detroit Renaissance Board of Directors, and serves on the Board of the Oakland County Health Initiative.

Russi earned his bachelor of science degree in pharmacology from Southwestern Oklahoma State University and his doctor of philosophy degree in pharmacology and toxicology from the University of Kansas.

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR TRACY HUTH

*tracy*HUTH Athletics Director Second Year Oakland, '85

When one thinks of Oakland University athletics, one of the first names that comes to mind is that of second-year Director of Athletics Tracy Huth. After all, Huth has been involved with Oakland University athletics as a student-athlete, coach, and administrator since the 1980-81 academic year.

Huth was appointed Director of Athletics in October 2007 after serving as the interim director for one year, and immediately put in motion an ambitious plan to enhance the overall Oakland University athletics experience, both for student-athletes and fans alike. The result thus far has been a more fan-friendly atmosphere at all OU events, and increasing student-athlete success both athletically and academically.

During his first year as OU's Athletics Director, Oakland placed more student-athletes on The Summit League Academic All-League teams than any other institution, and Golden Grizzlies teams captured league titles in men's and women's soccer and men's and women's swimming and diving; and saw the school's first individual league champion in track and field. The OU basketball programs were the only teams in The Summit League to beat ranked opponents, and Oakland University also played host to The Summit League women's soccer and men's and women's swimming and diving championships. In the coming year, OU will host the men's soccer championship and will once again host the men's and women's swimming and diving championships.

Prior to making the move into the athletics director's office, Huth served over nine years as an Associate Athletics Director and Assistant Athletics Director, including a one-year stint OU's Senior Associate Athletics Director where he was in charge of supervising the department's operations. While an assistant director, Huth's primary responsibilities were in the areas of program supervision, student-athlete services, and compliance.

During his time as a departmental administrator, Huth has been involved in several league and national committees. In March 2006, Huth was appointed to a four-year term on the NCAA Swimming & Diving Committee. He has also served on the NCAA's Academic/Eligibility/Compliance Cabinet (2001-05) and served as the tournament manager for the first and second-round games in the 2006 NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament hosted by Oakland at the Palace of Auburn Hills. Huth currently serves as a member of The Summit League Joint Council, the league's Budget Committee and Competition Committee, and also chairs the Men's & Women's Swimming & Diving Sport Committee.

The strides made by the athletics program during Huth's tenure should come as no surprise to anyone familiar with his track record as a coach. Huth spent 11 years as the head coach of OU's women's swimming and diving program, establishing the Oakland program as the premier program in the country at the Division II level. His teams finished in the top three nationally in nine consecutive seasons, winning five consecutive national championships and three consecutive second-place finishes from 1990-97. Huth was named the NCAA Division II Coach of the Year three times for his team's accomplishments.

Only Kenyon College (17 consecutive Division III titles from 1984-2000) and Truman State University (six consecutive Division II titles from 2001-06) have posted more consecutive national championships in women's swimming and diving, while only Texas (five consecutive Division I titles from 1984-88) and Stanford (five consecutive Division I titles from 1992-96) have matched the total of five straight, which stood as a Division II record until 2006.

Huth began his coaching career at Oakland in 1985 as an assistant coach with the men's swimming and diving program, a position he held for two years before taking the reins of the women's program. Huth remained as the women's head coach until 1998, when he stepped down to focus on his position as Assistant Athletics Director as OU made the move to Division I.

But before Huth became well-known as the highly-successful coach of OU's women's swimming program, he earned recognition as one of the top swimmers in the nation.

Arguably the most accomplished student-athlete in OU history, Huth earned a rare 24 All-America honors, claiming 13 individual national championships. Huth was a four-time national champion in both the 200- and 400-yard individual medley, and was named NCAA Division II Swimmer of the Year three times. He remains the only swimmer in NCAA history to have won both the 200 and 400 IM four times.

In 2002 Huth had the unique honor of being selected to the Oakland University Lepley Hall of Honor for a second time. He and is the only member to be enshrined twice. Originally named to the Hall in 1990 for his swimming accomplishments as a student-athlete, his second honor was in recognition of his coaching accomplishments.

Huth earned his bachelor's degree in secondary education from Oakland in 1985, and in 1996, Huth earned his master's degree in sports administration from Wayne State University. He currently resides in Clarkston and has two children, Kara (a freshman at OU and member of Images) and Chance.

Olivet, '84

Joe Impellizzeri is in his second year as the Associate Director of Athletics for Development at Oakland University. Impellizzeri is responsible for securing private gifts and managing donor relations.

Before joining Oakland, Impellizzeri spent five years as a Director of Resource Development for the United Way for Southeastern Michigan. Most recently, Impellizzeri was responsible for raising nearly $8 million to fully fund the start-up and first three years of operations of United Way 2-1-1. During his tenure at United Way Impellizzeri also increased the overall revenue from leadership and major gifts five percent, from $12.9 million to $13.5 million.

Prior to his time at United Way, Impellizzeri spent four years at the College for Creative Studies in Detroit, the last two as the Vice President for External Relations, leading a fundraising effort that resulted in a record $2.96 million in 2001.

A native of Fraser, Michigan, Impellizzeri earned a bachelor's degree in history and political science from Olivet College in 1984. While at Olivet, Impellizzeri was a three-year member of the Comets' baseball team. In 1995, Impellizzeri earned a master's in sports management and sports administration from Ohio State University. Impellizzeri resides in Macomb Township, Michigan with his wife Heidi and their three daughters, Audrey, Katherine and Sarah.

Assistant Athletics Director
Student-Athlete Services
Concordia, '95

Holly Kerstner joined the Oakland University athletic department staff in 2006 as the Assistant Athletic Director for Student Athlete Services, a position created to help student-athletes succeed in the classroom as well as in competition.

Kerstner will oversee the Grizzly Center for Graduates and Champions, the new academic center for student-athletes which will provide tutorial support and other resources to assist them in the classroom. She will also serve as the administrator of the Grizzly tennis, volleyball and softball teams. Additionally, Kerstner will oversee the Lifeskills program which aids student-athletes in making the transition between university life and post-graduation responsibilities.

Prior to joining the Grizzly staff Kerstner served a four-year stint at Radford University as the Director of Student-Athlete Support Services. She oversaw all academic services, including the tutorial center and advising. Kerstner was also the Student Athlete Advisory Committee advisor at Radford.

Kerstner spent four years at the University of Detroit as the Director of Advising and Academic Services before moving along to Radford. Her duties included admitting, advising and counseling student-athletes, as well as conditionally admitting students and overseeing the learning center.
