IMPORTANT NOTE: All of the following information in this record book has at least one source of verification. However, due to the lack of reliable computerized records prior to the 21st century, there may be gaps or discrepancies within. If you have any information that would help add to the volume of this record book or fill in any gaps, your assistance would be greatly appreciated. Please contact Oglethorpe's sports information office at dmanget@oglethorpe.edu.

Further, due to rules and restrictions on allowable contests, season length, etc. within the NCAA, this record book focuses primarily on Oglethorpe's NCAA Division III era, which began in fall 1988. Oglethorpe previously competed intermittently in the NAIA and NCAA, but any records set prior to 1988 will not be reflected unless otherwise noted.

Coaching History

Rob King
Head Coach

Rob King joined Oglethorpe’s athletics staff as head women’s soccer coach in January 2022. A multitime conference champion at the NCAA Division I level and national champion and national coach of the year at the Division II level, King brings with him a coaching record filled with success.

Notable Past Seasons

2022: King, in just his first season with the Stormy Petrels, led the program to unprecedented success. The team won its first Southern Athletic Association game since 2019 with a 1-0 victory at Birmingham Southern, also marking the program’s first-ever win over the Panthers. With only four league losses, King’s team posted its fewest conference losses since 1999. In seven SAA games, the team conceded only eight goals, and only twice did the Petrels allow a team to score more than one goal.

2023: The team finished 6-5-4 overall and 2-4-1 in the SAA. This was its highest win tally since 2019, and its four conference defeats matched the 2022 season as its lowest loss tally in conference play since 1999. The two conference wins marked the first time the program won two conference games since 2006 and matched the most since 2000. The season concluded with a scoreless draw at Hendrix in the quarterfinals of the SAA tournament, the first time Oglethorpe did not suffer defeat in the opening round of the conference tournament since the formation of the league in 2012.

King’s team had several notable postseason award winners, including Ella Price who became the first player in program history to be named the SAA newcomer of the year. Harlow Cregar (second team), Haley Lowell (honorable mention) and Mackenzie Jones (honorable mention) also were named all-conference.

Prior to Oglethorpe

King comes most recently from Young Harris College where in four seasons he established the women’s soccer program into a conference and national contender within the Peach Belt Conference. Under his tenure, King led the team to its first ever Peach Belt Conference tournament semifinal appearance, and in the classroom, the team won the athletic department's Adidas Promo Award for highest team grade-point average.

From 2001 to 2015, King served Kennesaw State University in nearby Kennesaw, Georgia, as head women's soccer coach and ultimately assistant athletic director. In just his second season at Kennesaw State, and the second season of the program itself, King led the team to the NCAA Division II national championship, topping Franklin Pierce 2-0 in the final.

King won national coach of the year that season after leading the team to a 25-1 record, and the program won its last nine games without conceding a goal.

Kennesaw State transitioned to NCAA Division I in 2009, during and after which time King won multiple Peach Belt Conference titles, Atlantic Sun Conference titles, and participated in a pair of NCAA Division I national tournaments. Along the way at Kennesaw State, King has mentored several all-Americans for both academics and athletics and developed multiple Division I and II head coaches.

King earned a promotion to assistant athletic director at Kennesaw State in 2004. Charged with leading two special projects, he brought together community, corporate and nonprofit funding partners to design and build the $25 million Fifth Third Bank Stadium. Simultaneously, King wrote the bid to bring the 2011 NCAA Division I Women's College Cup to Kennesaw and for two years guided each component of the project.

Prior to Kennesaw State, King served as head women's and men's soccer coach at University of Montevallo in Montevallo, Alabama, from 1995 to 2001. There, he led the men's program to the 1999 Gulf South Conference title, and both teams were runners-up multiple times during the six-year span. King was the Gulf South Conference Coach of the Year in 1999 and was a 2020 University of Montevallo Athletics Hall of Fame Inductee.

King started his coaching career at Martin Methodist College in Pulaski, Tennessee, in 1992, and his men's team won the 1993 NSCAA national championship.

Conference History

Southern Athletic Association (SAA), 2012-present

Oglethorpe in the SAA: Oglethorpe became a founding member of the Southern Athletic Association when the league was formed in 2012. During its time in the league, the Stormy Petrels have boasted numerous regular season championships and postseason championships.

About the SAA: The Southern Athletic Association is committed to fostering athletic competition and cooperation among academically selective, residential liberal arts colleges located in the southeastern region of the United States. The geographic focus will result in reduced travel time and fewer missed classes, while still allowing for a strong conference of like-minded institutions, all of which integrate competitive athletics into the whole of the student's educational experience.

SAA Membership: The SAA is a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division III. The SAA core members include Berry College, Centre College, Millsaps College, Oglethorpe University, Rhodes College, Southwestern University, Trinity University and the University of the South.

Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC), 1991-2011

About the SCAC: The Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC) was founded and began operation on September 1, 1962, as the College Athletic Conference (CAC). Following membership changes throughout the 1970s and 1980s, the conference went through restructuring and renaming, eventually becoming the Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference in 1991 with the addition of Oglethorpe that same year.

Oglethorpe competed in the SCAC for 21 seasons.

Departing the SCAC: After the conclusion of the June 7, 2011 SCAC Presidents' meeting, the conference announced that seven of its twelve member institutions would be leaving to form a new conference effective at the conclusion of the 2011-12 academic year.

The schools departing included founding CAC/SCAC members Centre College, Sewanee-The University of the South, and Rhodes College, in addition to Birmingham-Southern College, Hendrix College, Millsaps College, and Oglethorpe University.

The SCAC conducted a four-team soccer tournament (top two teams from each division) to decide the league champion in 1991 and 1992. The league went to round-robin play in 1993. The team with the best regular season record was declared the league champion. The SCAC re-instated a conference postseason tournament with the 2011 season.
