CAL POLY SOFTBALL MEDIA GUIDE

Bob Janssen Field

The Home of Cal Poly Softball

The Cal Poly softball program enters its ninth season at Bob Janssen Field in 2009. Named for the San Luis Obispo native dedicated to promoting youth sports and recreation within the central coast community, the Robert H. Janssen Foundation contributed $250,000 toward the construction of the project in order to support both the Mustang softball program and local youth sports programs.

Located adjacent to Robin Baggett Baseball Stadium and comprising half of Ozzie Smith Plaza, Janssen Field is part of the 47-acre Sports Complex, an area that includes multipurpose fields for use by the general student population.

Janssen Field features 426 permanent chair-back seats. With the inclusion of bleachers, Janssen Field seats 1,000 spectators, making it the largest venue among the eight Big West Conference member programs. On March 25, 2007, a complex-record 1,532 fans packed Janssen Field to watch Cal Poly battle nationally-ranked UCLA (top photo). The lighted complex also includes enclosed batting cages and practice areas for both teams, an on-site clubhouse for the Mustangs (above), restrooms and a concession stand.

Janssen Field measures 205 feet down the right- and left-field foul lines and 220 feet to straightaway center field. The outfield fence measures six feet

The first game at Janssen Field was played March 3, 2001, with Cal Poly defeating UC Riverside, 8-0. Entering the 2009 campaign, Cal Poly is 108-65 (.624) at Janssen Field.

2009 Season Outlook

During the 2009 campaign, fifth-year Mustang head coach Jenny Condon will rely on one of the most-experienced lineups in program history to assist in Cal Poly's return to the top of the Big West Conference table. Titlists in 2007, Cal Poly (24-22, 12-9) dipped into a third-place tie with Cal State Northridge last season. However, not only do the Mustangs return seven position starters, three pitchers, the top-four leading hitters and 85 percent of their total offense from last season's squad, the starting infield from Cal Poly's 2007 NCAA Tournament side remains intact.

Undoubtedly highlighting Cal Poly's returning corps is the aforementioned infield unit of junior first baseman Krysten Cary, senior second baseman Stephanie Tam, senior shortstop Melissa Pura and senior third baseman Cristen Lee who, during the previous two seasons, have collectively started 99.2 percent of Cal Poly's games. The familiarity doesn't end there. Condon may have juggled 21 separate starting lineups last season, but the 2009 Mustangs feature five players who each started all 46 games a season ago. That list also includes sophomore catcher Stephanie Correia, who played all but 15 innings behind the plate last year and recorded a .979 fielding percentage.

With the infield solidified, Condon can turn her attention toward how best to utilize Cal Poly's contingent of interchangeable parts. When not in the circle, senior righthander Jenna Maiden is expected to start in center field. Sophomore lefthander Anna Cahn started 18 games in the circle in 2008 and served as Cal Poly's designated player when not pitching. Each of Cal Poly's four incoming freshman – Kendal Hennings, Capri Ruiz, Nicole Lund and Nora Sobczak – have the capability of filling multiple positions. When Cal Poly opens its 15th season of Division I competition against San Diego State Feb. 6, right field will be the only vacated position from the 2008 campaign.

Once again, Cal Poly boasts of one of the nation's most-competitive schedules. Nearly half (21) of Cal Poly's 51 non-conference games will be contested against programs that qualified for the 2008 NCAA Tournament. Cal Poly, however, will be the only Division I program to contest its complete schedule in a single state. Selected to finish in a third-place tie with central coast rival UC Santa Barbara in the Big West standings following a preseason vote among the conference's head coaches, Cal Poly wastes no time in attacking the league schedule. UCSB, Long Beach State and Cal State Fullerton – the three programs either slotted even with Cal Poly or above the Mustangs in the preseason poll – are the initial three opponents against which the Mustangs begin their Big West schedule.

Below is a position-by-position and player-by-player breakdown of the 2009 Mustangs, with accompanying insight from Condon.

Around the Horn

NOTES AND QUOTES

Characterized by Condon as "our general in the field," senior shortstop Melissa Pura ranks as not only one of the top hitters in the Big West, but in Cal Poly history, as well. The program's all-time leader with 27 home runs, Pura needs only three RBI and 13 doubles this season to break Lisa Modglin's career record in each category. Behind a .991 career fielding percentage, junior first baseman Krysten Cary – the 2007 Big West Co-Freshman Field Player of the Year – ranks as one of the finest fielders in Mustang history. A career .977 fielder in her own right, senior third baseman Cristen Lee assumed Cal Poly's leadoff duties last season and rewarded the program with a career-best .277 batting average. Completing an infield that features a collective .972 career fielding percentage, senior second baseman Stephanie Tam ranked as one of Cal Poly's most-productive hitters last season after compiling a Big West-best 13 sacrifices and leading all Mustang starters with just one strikeouts per every 11 at-bats.

While cracking into such a stalwart infield may be a difficult task, freshman Kendal Hennings has experience at each position. Additionally, fellow first-year Mustang Nicole Lund has been cited as a potential reserve at both corner infield slots.

CONDON ON CARY

"Krysten enjoyed a great fall. She may have struggled a bit at the plate last year, but has made some adjustments. She's also gotten quicker defensively in getting to balls and making throws. Overall, Krysten works harder than anyone on the team."

CONDON ON TAM

"Not only has Stephanie worked extremely hard defensively, she's become much more consistent offensively, as well."

CONDON ON PURA

"What more can you say about Melissa. She's a threat offensively and one of the top hitters in the history of the program. Her leadership is a huge asset."

CONDON ON LEE

"Defensively, I place her against any third baseman in the country. Offensively, she'll continue to be our leadoff hitter. Cristen has continued to improve and is steadily hitting for more power."

CONDON ON HENNINGS

"Kendal's biggest asset is her versatility. She's played every infield position and we've had her working in the outfield. We look for her to probably remain in the outfield, but she's first up for every infield position. She's smart and has great hands. She can step in anywhere and we won't miss a beat."

CONDON ON LUND

"Also very versatile, Nicole could play either of the corner infield positions or in the outfield. She's also got power at the plate."

NOTES AND QUOTES

With 33 and 41 starts last year in left and center field, respectively, seniors Jessica Rogers and Jenna Maiden rank as the incumbents at each position. Freshman Nora Sobczak has been tipped by Condon to assume right field duties following the departure of two-time All-Big West honoree Sarah Iwata. Sobczak will also be counted as one of Cal Poly's infield reserves. An All-Big West second team selection in the circle two seasons ago, Maiden is expected to see more pitching time during her senior campaign, potentially opening a place for freshman Capri Ruiz.

CONDON ON ROGERS

"We look for Jessica to anchor the outfield and be a threat on the basepaths. Her experience in the outfield will be our biggest asset and she'll help the freshmen get more comfortable in playing the position."

CONDON ON MAIDEN

"Offensively, Jenna enjoyed the best fall season of her career. Her pitch selection was great, she hit for power and to every field. We look for her to not only carry the load in the outfield, but in

NOTES AND QUOTES

Cal Poly takes the field this season with one of the most varied pitching rotations in the Big West, if not all of Division I. With three of four starters returning from a 2008 rotation that yielded the fewest hits and walks among conference staffs and finished second with a .263 ERA and a .246 opposing batting average, Cal Poly features a pair of lefthanders in junior Helen Peña and sophomore Anna Cahn and a righthander in senior Jenna Maiden. An added bonus: both Cahn and Maiden bat while pitching and the pair finished, respectively, as the second- and third-leading hitters in Cal Poly's lineup last year. While Maiden should feature as Cal Poly's center fielder when not in the circle, Cahn is expected to serve as the program's designated hitter when not pitching. Gone from the Mustang rotation is righthander Robyn Kontra, who went 8-1 last season with a 2.44 ERA and departed the program ranked second

NOTES AND QUOTES

Having started all 46 games and played 95 percent of Cal Poly's defensive innings during the 2008 season, sophomore Stephanie Correia entrenched herself as Cal Poly's starting catcher. A two-year understudy at the position, junior Sara Kryza appears the natural backup, but is a strong candidate for designated player duties as well, given her 2008 batting averages in pinching hitting situations (.286) and with two outs (.444). Freshman Capri Ruiz, who hit .564 during four seasons at Capistrano Valley Christian HS, also remains an option behind the plate.

Big West Conference Coach of the Year

The engineer behind the Cal Poly program's emergence as one of the top teams within the Big West Conference and as one of the most-competitive programs within Division I softball is fifth-year head coach Jenny Condon. Since Condon arrived in San Luis Obispo prior to the 2005 campaign, Cal Poly has won 62 percent of its overall contests, 68 percent of Big West Conference games, failed to suffer a losing season and, in 2007, produced both the program's first Big West championship and NCAA Division I Tournament berth.

The 2008 campaign proved to be yet another solid effort for Cal Poly, with opened the year with a 5-1 victory against eventual Women's College World Series runner-up and second-ranked Texas A&M and closed the season with a 24-22 overall mark and a 12-9 Big West record that ensured Cal Poly would finish as one of the top-three teams in the conference standings for a fourth-straight campaign. In between, Cal Poly posted eight additional victories against programs that qualified for the previous season's NCAA Tournament and defended Bob Janssen Field with a single-season program-record 14-3 (.824) mark. Individually, shortstop and All-Big West first team selection Melissa Pura headlined a group of seven total Mustangs who garnered all-conference praise.

By any standard, Cal Poly's 2007 campaign proved to be the most successful in program history. Aside from capturing the Big West title and securing the program's first postseason berth at the Division I level, the Mustangs established single-season records total victories (39) and overall (.696) and Big West (.778) winning percentage. After dealing defeats to No. 12 Washington, No. 6 Northwestern and No. 9 Stanford, Cal Poly opened Big West play with eight-straight victories and, on April 10, came within a single vote of cracking into a top-25 poll for the first time since 1997. The Mustangs, who led the conference race wire-to-wire, closed the regular season by winning five of their final six games and a 3-2 victory against Pacific May 11 not only secured the Big West crown, but provided Condon her 100th career victory. Cal Poly entered the postseason 24 games over a .500 winning percentage for the first time during their Division I tenure. Headlined by Big West Player of the Year selection Lisa Modglin – who also doubled as Cal Poly's first NFCA All-America pick in nine years – Cal Poly placed a program-record eight Mustangs on the 2007 all-conference team. For her efforts, Condon's peers voted her Big West Coach of the Year for the second time in three seasons.

A standout player in the collegiate and international arenas, Condon's influence at Cal Poly was felt instantly as her inaugural 2005 squad posted a 35-16 mark. The Mustangs went 15-6 in Big West play and the second-place finish was, at the time, the best showing in program history. Cal Poly's 27-23 record in 2006 was backed by a 11-7 Big West mark that guaranteed a third-place finish. The record solidified the program's first back-to-back winning campaigns since the 1996 (23-19) and 1997 (37-17) seasons.

Under Condon, Cal Poly players have enjoyed three selections to the Louisville Slugger/NFCA Division I All-West Region teams while eight Mustangs have been named to the All-Big West first team.

Condon began her coaching career at UNLV in 1994, assisting the Rebels to a third-place finish at the 1995 Women's College World Series. She relocated to Northwestern in 1997 before beginning a two-year stint with Oregon State in 1998. The following season, the Beavers recorded a school-record 47 wins and advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in program history. Head coach Kirk Walker's staff earned Speedline/NFCA Pacific Region Coaching Staff of the Year honors.

CONDON by the Numbers

- .667 Winning percentage in Big West Conference games during first four seasons, a figure that ranks sixth among the 39 coaches in conference history.
- 4 Consecutive winning seasons, a first for Cal Poly during the Division I era.
- 8 All-Big West first team selections earned by Mustangs during initial four seasons. Cal Poly had claimed just 11 during its initial eight Big West campaigns.
- 39 Games won by the 2007 Mustangs, a single-season program record during the Division I era.

Condon spent the 2000 campaign with UNLV before returning to Corvallis in 2001. She served four additional seasons at Oregon State until accepting the Cal Poly head coaching position Aug. 25, 2004.

Condon competed collegiately at Iowa State and completed one of the most-prolific Cyclone careers in 1990. A 1989 NFCA All-America second team selection, four-time All-Big Eight honoree and three-time academic all-conference pick, Condon remains Iowa State's all-time leader for hits (216), runs (120), triples (24) and batting average (.351). The outfielder was inducted into the Iowa State Hall of Fame in 2003. A native of Edina, Minn., Condon earned a bachelor's degree in education from Iowa State in 1991 with a minor in health.

Condon began a two-year stint with USA Softball in 1994 by helping the Americans capture the 1994 International Softball Federation World Championship in St. John's, Newfoundland. A year later, the United States won the Pan-American Games gold medal in Mar del Plata, Argentina.

Claire Sua-Amundson

Assistant Coach // Fourth Season UCLA, 2005

Former UCLA standout Claire Sua-Amundson begins her fourth season as a member of head coach Jenny Condon's coaching staff in 2009.

One of the top hitters in UCLA and Pac-10 Conference history, Sua-Amundson's name dots the Bruin record book. Entering the 2009 season, she ranks fourth all-time in home runs (50) and RBI (156), sixth in games played (240), eighth in at-bats (729) and 12th in hits (237).

A .325 career hitter who started all 240 games she appeared in at first base, Sua-Amundson enjoyed her top season as a Bruin in 2003, belting 17 homers and collecting 51 RBI in earning NFCA All-America, NFCA All-Pacific Region and All-Pac-10 first teams honors. The following season, Sua-Amundson was selected to the all-region and All-Pac-10 second teams after batting .297 with 10 homers.

Sua-Amundson enjoyed an immediate impact upon the UCLA program, recording 56 RBI during her 2001 freshman campaign to merit All-Pac-10 second team honors. She upped the total to 58 as a sophomore in 2002 to repeat as an All-Pac-10 pick and added both third team All-America and all-region honors to her resume.

During Sua-Amundson's tenure, UCLA captured Women's College World Series titles in 2003 and 2004. Her fifth-inning solo home run against California in the 2004 championship game broke up a no-hitter and helped propel UCLA to a 3-1 victory. Sua-Amundson was named to the 2001 WCWS All-Tournament Team after batting .333 with six RBI during the competition.

UCLA appeared in the WCWS during each of Sua-Amundson's four seasons.

Sua-Amundson graduated from UCLA in 2005 with a degree in history and served as an assistant coach during the same season.

A native of Cooper City, Fla., she married Matt Amundson Aug. 25, 2007. The couple resides in nearby Shell Beach.

Ani Nyhus

Pitching Coach // Third Season Oregon, 2005

Former Canadian Olympian, University of Oregon standout and Junior College Player of the Year selection Ani Nyhus returns for her third season as an assistant on Jenny Condon's staff and as Cal Poly's pitching coach.

Nyhus' influence upon the Mustang pitching staff was felt immediately during her initial season in 2007, as Cal Poly lowered its team ERA 82 points from the previous season and struck out 82 more hitters. As a result, three of Cal Poly's four pitchers garnered All-Big West Conference consideration. Last season, Cal Poly's 2.63 team ERA and .246 opposing batting average each ranked as the second-lowest figures among Big West rotations. Accordingly, the Mustangs yielded conference lows for hits (296), doubles (41), homers (21) and walks (83).

As a collegian at Oregon, Nyhus earned NFCA All-America third team and All-Pac-10 Conference first team honors in 2004 after posting a 25-12 record and a 1.54 ERA. The win total remains the second-highest in Oregon single-season history and Nyhus added 202 strikeouts to her resume for the Ducks, who reached the championship game of the Florida State Regional. Nyhus, who no-hit Utah State during the 2004 campaign, earned all 10 of Oregon's Pac-10 victories and shut out six ranked opponents. Her 1.67 ERA remains the eighth-best mark in program history.

Nyhus began her collegiate career at Central Arizona College. As a sophomore, Nyhus struck out 378 batters and posted 40 victories to earn Junior College Player of the Year, All-America, all-region and All-Arizona Community College Athletic Association honors as the Vaqueros finished 70-4 and captured the National Junior College Athletic Association championship. Nyhus collected 34 victories as a freshman in 2002 as the Vaqueros went 63-2. Along with her single-season bests, Nyhus owns CAC career records for total victories (74) and strikeouts (627).

A native of Prince George, British Columbia, Nyhus pitched for the Canadian National Team that went 3-4 at the 2004 Athens Summer Olympics. She was a national team member from 2002-04. Additionally, Nyhus compiled a 2-1 mark for Canada at the 2003 U.S. Cup.

Lisa Modglin

Volunteer Assistant // First Season Cal Poly, 2007

Named to both the Louisville Slugger/NFCA All-America first team and as the Big West Conference Player of the Year during her 2007 senior season, four-year Mustang standout Lisa Modglin begins her first season as a volunteer assistant with the Cal Poly softball program in 2009.

Arguably the greatest player in Cal Poly softball history, Modglin's 2007 senior season not only ranked as the top offensive campaign by any Mustang, but helped rewrite the Big West record book. Cal Poly's first All-America selection in 10 seasons, Modglin led all Big West players with 81 hits, 16 home runs, 157 total bases, a .924 slugging percentage, a .580 on-base percentage and established a new single-season conference record by batting a .476.

Modglin's final season merely reinforced an already dominant career. Entering the 2009 campaign, Modglin – a two-time All-Big West first team selection – ranks first in Mustang history with 236 hits, 152 runs, 105 RBI, 41 steals, 43 doubles, 17 triples, 379 total bases, 82 extra-base hits, .593 slugging percentage and second with a .369 batting average.

Following her standout career, Modglin signed a professional contract with the New England Riptide of National Pro Fastpitch. During the 2008 season, Modglin finished second among Riptide players with 23 RBI and third with a .308 batting average.

Cal Poly Holds Winning Serve during 2008 Season

A year removed from securing both the program's first Big West Conference title and NCAA Division I Tournament invitation, the 2008 Cal Poly softball team may have failed to replicate its historic feats, but the Mustangs still posted a notable slew of achievements. Behind a 24-22 overall mark, Cal Poly's fourth-consecutive winning season under head coach Jenny Condon marked the first time the program had achieved such a distinction since transitioning to the Division I level prior to the 1995 campaign. With a 12-9 Big West mark, Cal Poly staked a claim as one of only two Big West programs to have finished within the top-three teams in the conference standings during the previous four years. With one of the most-competitive schedules among Division I programs, Cal Poly claimed five victories against opposition that qualified for the 2008 NCAA Tournament, including Women's College World Series runner-up Texas A&M, which the Mustangs defeated on opening day, 5-1.

The following sections illustrate the highlights and storylines from the Cal Poly program's memorable 2008 campaign with accompanying statistics on pages 36-37.

IMPRESSIVE WINS DOT CAL POLY'S SCHEDULE ONCE AGAIN

Cal Poly's 2008 schedule included 19 total games against programs that qualified for the NCAA Tournament and the Mustangs posted a respectable record against their formidable foes. After opening the season Feb. 8 with a 5-1 defeat of No. 2 Texas A&M, Cal Poly received a complete-game three-hitter from then-freshman Anna Cahn Feb. 22 to down perennial Pac-10 Conference power California, 3-1. The victory was Cal Poly's first against the Golden Bears since March 25, 1998. A walk-off home run from second baseman Stephanie Tam – her first of the season – lifted Cal Poly to a 5-4 victory against postseason participant Princeton March 15. Cal Poly began its Big West schedule with a three-game whitewashing of Cal State Fullerton, which, despite finishing fourth in the conference standings, was awarded an NCAA Tournament invitation. During the second-longest game in Cal Poly history, Tam's lone triple of the year set up shortstop Melissa Pura's game-winning sacrifice fly as the Mustangs edged Cal State Fullerton in 14 innings, 1-0, March 29. Cal Poly also downed No. 15 and eventual Big West champion Long Beach State, 4-3, April 12. Conversely, Cal Poly recorded seven one-run losses during the 2008 season. Four of the those defeats, however, came against nationally-ranked opposition in Fresno State, DePaul and twice against Oklahoma.

PURA PRODUCES ANOTHER SOLID CAMPAIGN

Melissa Pura began her junior season as one of 50 players named to the USA Softball National Collegiate Player of the Year Watch List and ended the campaign with both her second-successive spot on the All-Big West first team and inclusion on the NFCA Division I All-West Region second team. In between, the program's incumbent starting shortstop compiled one of the more notable offensive campaigns in Cal Poly history, leading all Mustangs and ranking among the top-10 Big West performers for batting average (.323), homers (6), triples (3), walks (22) and both slugging (.548) and on-base (.449) percentage. Pura, who also paced Cal Poly with 40 hits, 22 RBI, 68 total bases, nine multi-hit games and six multi-RBI games, swatted a two-run homer against No. 9 Oklahoma Feb. 17 to become the Mustang career leader. Pura, who played all 306.1 innings for Cal Poly at shortstop, needs just three RBI and 13 doubles in 2009 to overtake Lisa Modglin as Cal Poly's career leader in both categories.

FRESHMEN DEBUT WITH APLOMB

Boding well for future Cal Poly campaigns, lefthander and designated player Anna Cahn and catcher Stephanie Correia each enjoyed memorable first-year campaigns. Named to the All-Big West second team as a utility player after batting .290 with 36 hits and 21 RBI, Cahn proved just as scintillating in the circle, earning all-conference honorable mention praise after posting a .235 opposing batting average and a 2.51 ERA. Taking over catching duties from 2007 All-Big West second team selection Jackie Gehrke-Jones, Correia posted a .979 fielding percentage and finished second among all Mustangs with 21 RBI and six doubles.

SENIORS SAY GOODBYE

The Mustangs graduated just two players from their 2008 roster, but designated player and outfielder Sarah Iwata and righthander Robyn Kontra completed their Cal Poly careers as two of the more notable players in program history. The 2005 Big West Freshman Pitcher of the Year, Kontra – who went 8-1 during her senior season and finished fifth among Big West pitchers with a 2.44 ERA – retired second in Cal Poly history with 52 victories and 18 shutouts, third with 288 strikeouts and 54 complete games and fifth with a 2.13 ERA. Iwata, selected to the 2007 All-Big West first team, scored a team-best 30 runs in 2008 and departed Cal Poly first all-time with 87 walks, second with 40 doubles, third with 15 homers and seventh with 74

BOB JANSSEN FIELD AGAIN

For the fourth time in as many seasons under Jenny Condon, Cal Poly posted a winning record at Bob Janssen Field, but in 2008 surpassed all previous endeavors. Cal Poly's 14-3 (.824) home record in 2008 established a new single-season mark for winning percentage while the victory total was the program's highest since the 2005 campaign. Though an 8-7 victory by Cal State Northridge April 19 snapped a program-record 11-game winning streak at Bob Janssen Field, Cal Poly still outscored its opponents last year, 78-43, while the Mustang starting rotation limited opposing hitters to a .202 batting average. Cal Poly, which went 9-3 in Big West contests at home last year, is 50-25 (.667) at Bob Janssen Field under Condon. Since the venue opened during the 2001 campaign, Cal Poly owns a 108-65 (.624) record at the complex.

2008 ETC.

The Cal Poly starting rotation yielded conference lows for hits (296), doubles (41), homers (21) and walks (83) allowed and ranked second among Big West staffs with a 2.63 ERA and a .246 opposing batting average ... as a team, Cal Poly hitters struck out a conference-low 197 times, were hit by a Big West-low 21 pitches and grounded into just three double plays ... the Mustangs ranked 34th among Division I programs with 0.24 triples per game ... during an 18-3 decimation of Colorado State March 16 at Sacramento State's Capital Classic, Cal Poly established new program records for total runs and single-inning runs (15, first inning) ... Cal Poly's 1-0, 14-inning victory against Cal State Fullerton March 29 was the second-longest game during the program's Division I era and lengthiest since defeating Long Beach State by the same score in 17 innings April 17, 2004 ... an 11-2 defeat at Pacific April 26 marked the first time under Jenny Condon that Cal Poly had suffered a run-rule loss to a Big West opponent ... UC Santa Barbara's three-game sweep of Cal Poly April 5-6 marked just the second time since the start of the 2005 campaign that the Mustangs had been whitewashed during a conference series ... Anna Cahn was named Big West Pitcher of the Week Feb. 25 and to Fresno State's Bingham Toyota Classic All-Tournament Team March 9 ... Jenna Maiden was named Big West Player of the Week March 17 ... Cal Poly enjoyed a conference-best six selections to the Big West Academic All-Conference team; only UC Riverside had as many as five.

Mustangs in the Community

A year after raising $2,400 for the San Luis Obispo Chapter of the American Cancer Society during the program's initial 2007 StrikeOut Cancer Day, the Cal Poly softball team matched the total at the second-annual event on May 3, 2008.

StrikeOut Cancer is an annual initiative sponsored jointly by the American Cancer Society and the National Fastpitch Coaches Association. Since beginning the program six years ago, the NFCA has raised thousands of dollars to support the fight against cancer.

Fans who have made a minimum $20 donation to the American Cancer Society during each of Cal Poly's StrikeOut Cancer Days have received commemorative pink t-shirts celebrating the event. During last year's doubleheader against UC Davis, the program distributed more than 100 t-shirts. Raffle tickets for prizes donated by the Mustang softball and baseball programs have also been sold in an effort to raise funds.

During each event, Cal Poly players have shown their support by wearing pink ribbons inscribed with the name of an individual they knew that had been affected by cancer. For each event, the program has invited a cancer survivor to throw out the ceremonial first pitch. During the inaugural 2007 event, former Cal Poly student-athlete Bailey Brown performed the honors. Last season, Jeremy Pura – the father of Mustang senior shortstop Melissa Pura – opened the event.

"Because the program continues to enjoy successful StrikeOut Cancer Days, we plan to continue the event each year and raise more money and awareness along the way," said Mustang head coach Jenny Condon, whose program has totaled more than $5,000 during the previous two seasons. "We would like to thank everyone who has helped promote the event and everyone who has donated to the cause. The local chapter of the American Cancer Society continues to be grateful."

Cancer survivor Jeremy Pura, father of Mustang shortstop Melissa Pura, threw out the first pitch prior to Cal Poly's second-annual StrikeOut Cancer Day on May 3, 2008. The Cal Poly program has raised $2,400 during each of its two StrikeOut Cancer Day events.

Welcome to San Luis Obispo

Unmatched beauty that comprises miles of sandy coastline and rocky ocean outcroppings, world-class wineries and rolling hills, historic landmarks and celebrated shopping and dining opportunities that stretch from coffeehouses to diverse and award-winning cuisine are all factors that make San Luis Obispo one of the most breathtaking and impressive places to reside within the United States.
