JOE CALLERO

HEAD
COACH

Second Season • Central Washington, 1986

151-149 (11 Seasons) •
12-19 (Cal Poly)

After orchestrating one of the top single-season turnarounds in the 17-year Division I history of the Cal Poly men's basketball program, head coach Joe Callero returns for his second season at the helm of the Mustangs during the 2010-11 campaign. Callero's initial 2009-10 season yielded a 12-19 overall record and Cal Poly's 5-2 start in conference play was the program's best beginning as a member of the Big West. Predicted to finish last in the standings, Cal Poly instead clinched the No. 6 seed for the 2010 Big West tournament. The Mustangs capped Callero's initial season by winning the program's first Big West Tournament game in three seasons, a 73-69 opening-round triumph versus UC Irvine. Individually, guard Lorenzo Keeler became the first Mustang in three seasons to earn All-Big West first team praise. Forward David Hanson earned all-conference honorable mention consideration while guard Kyle Odister was selected to the Big West All-Freshmen Team.

Named head coach of Cal Poly on April 3, 2009, Callero has developed a penchant for revitalizing college basketball programs. As head coach at Seattle (2001-09), Callero guided the Redhawks to 75 victories during his final four seasons and successfully directed the program through its transition to the Division I level. Callero's final 2008-09 season with the Redhawks produced a 21-8 campaign and the program's highest winning percentage in 45 seasons. Additionally, the 2008-09 Redhawks finished No. 131 out of 347 programs in the final Sagarin Ratings.

Under Callero, Seattle finished the 2006-07 campaign with a 20-9 record, a Great Northwest Athletic Conference title and the program's first berth in the NCAA Division II Tournament in 38 years. During just his second season at Seattle, Callero directed the Redhawks to a 16-11 finish that was the program's first winning campaign in nine seasons and a 10-victory improvement upon the previous year.

Prior to his tenure at Seattle, Callero guided Division III University of Puget Sound to a combined 22-25 record during the 1999-00 and 2000-01 seasons. The Loggers finished 14-10 during his final season to secure the program's first winning campaign in nine years.

Before pointing the Puget Sound program in a winning direction, Callero served the 1998-99 season as an assistant coach at USC. During his one season, Callero assisted the Trojans to a National Invitational Tournament appearance.

A prominent figure on the northwest basketball scene for more than two decades, Callero compiled a 130-49 mark during two three-season stints at Highline Community College (1989-92, 1995-98) and, before departing for USC, helped guide the Thunderbirds to successive Northwest Athletic Association of Community Colleges championships. Callero twice earned conference Coach of the Year praise after Highline posted a combined 63-2 mark during the 1996-97 and 1997-98 campaigns. Callero coached Brian Scalabrine while at Highline and recruited the current Chicago Bulls forward to USC.

Between his successful stints at Highline, Callero served as the head coach and as a guidance counselor at Sumner HS (1992-95). Under Callero, Sumner posted its first victorious campaign in six years.

A 1986 graduate of Central Washington with a bachelor's degree in psychology, Callero helped guide the Wildcats to consecutive NAIA National Championship appearances during each of his two seasons. The point guard and captain of Central Washington's 1985-86 team received his master's degree in education from Seattle in 1991. One of 16 children, Callero is a graduate of Enumclaw HS.

Callero, his wife, Erika, and daughter, Malia, reside in nearby Arroyo Grande.

MARK AMARAL

ASSOCIATE

Second Season • College of Idaho, 1990

Also the Cal Poly men's basketball program's recruiting coordinator, associate head coach Mark Amaral is in his second season as a member of head coach Joe Callero's staff. Amaral is also charged with game scheduling, Cal Poly's offensive structure and scouting.

"Mark is one of the most well-rounded assistant on the west coast," Callero said. "He has great recruiting experience and his contacts range across the western United States. Mark is also an excellent game coach who puts a strong emphasis on the offensive end."

A former assistant coach with UC Santa Barbara (2000-07), Amaral returned to the central coast following a two-year stint at Colorado State (2007-09) where he served as the program's recruiting coordinator and helped fine-tune the post players.

During his seven seasons as an assistant coach at UC Santa Barbara, Amaral – who also served as the program's recruiting coordinator – helped the Gauchos capture their first Big West Conference Tournament championship in 2002 (UC Santa Barbara repeated the feat in 2003). Amaral's responsibilities at UC Santa Barbara also included the development of back-court players and the scouting of opponents.

Prior to joining UC Santa Barbara, Amaral served as the head coach at Peninsula College (1997-00) in Port Angeles, Wash. Charged with resurrecting a basketball program that had been dormant for 17 years, the Pirates finished 11-16 during Amaral's initial 1997-98 season. Peninsula College quickly improved to 19-9 during his second season before winning a program-record 28 games and capturing the Northwest Athletic Association of Community Colleges Northern Division title in his third year. For his efforts during the 1999-00 campaign, Amaral earned NWAACC Northern Division Coach of the Year praise. In addition to his coaching duties at Peninsula College, Amaral also served as a physical education instructor and a community and high school relations coordinator.

A two-year performer at West

Valley College in Saratoga, Calif., under current Cal State Fullerton head coach Bob Burton, Amaral played his final two collegiate seasons at the College of Idaho. While at the College of Idaho, Amaral assisted the Coyotes to a pair of quarterfinal appearances at the NAIA National Championship.

During 23 seasons as either a collegiate player or coach,

Amaral's teams have reached the postseason on 15 occasions.

A native of Santa Clara, Calif., Amaral received his bachelor's degree in business and marketing from The College of Idaho in 1990. He completed a master's degree in physical education from Idaho State in 1994.

Amaral and his wife, Chris, have two sons, Tanner and Landon.

ASSISTANT

OMAR LOWERY

Second Season • Concordia (WI), 2002

Omar Lowery, charged with scouting reports, film exchange, recruiting and the strengthening Cal Poly's post play and rebounding, is in his second year as an assistant with the Cal Poly men's basketball program.

"Omar is one of the most well-respected and connected recruiters in Texas, Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin," Mustang head coach Joe Callero said. "His ability to identify quality student-athletes has opened new doors for the Cal Poly basketball program."

Lowery arrived on the central coast following three seasons at Texas State (2006-09) where he helped recruit seven total players ranked among the top-40 Texas high school prospects. With Lowery on the Bobcat bench, Texas State steadily increased its win total each season.

Prior to his tenure with Texas State, Lowery was a graduate assistant coach at Eastern New Mexico University. In addition to serving as a physical education faculty member at the university, Lowery's duties with the Greyhound program included on-court coaching, recruiting and the scouting of opponents. Lowery has also served as a varsity assistant coach at Hale HS (2001-02) in West Allis, Wisc., and Marquette HS (2002-03) in Milwaukee.

As a collegiate player, Lowery competed for two seasons at South Plains College (Levelland, Texas) before transferring to Concordia University (Mequon, Wisc.) where he earned All-Lakeshore Conference first team praise. Concordia made its first postseason appearance with Lowery in the lineup, qualifying for the 2000 NCAA Division III Tournament.

Lowery, who taught kindergarten through eighth grade in the Milwaukee public school system (2001-03), graduated from Concordia in 2002 with a bachelor's degree in physical education. He completed his master's degree in sports administration from Eastern New Mexico in 2006.

ASSISTANT

MITCH FREEMAN

Second Season • Washington State, 2004

Assistant coach Mitch Freeman is in his second year as a member of head coach Joe Callero's staff. Freeman, who also served a highly-successful stint under Callero at Seattle University, is charged with scouting and game preparation, directing the program's admissions and academic progress, strengthening Cal Poly's defense and maintaining recruiting contacts in the Pacific northwest and on the west coast.

"Mitch is as hard working and as competitive as any assistant coach in college basketball," Callero said. "He earned a full-time position at Cal Poly by showcasing relentless work ethic and loyalty during four years at Seattle. His international contacts as well as attention to detail in all areas make him a key part of our staff."

During his four-year tenure at Seattle (2005-09), Freeman helped the Redhawks to 75 victories and the program to a successful transition to the Division I level. During Freeman's final 2008-09 campaign, the Redhawks posted a 21-8 record and the program's highest single-season winning percentage in 45 seasons.

Freeman began his coaching career during the 2004-05 season as the varsity boy's assistant at Marysville-Pilchuck HS (Marysville, Wash.). During his one season, Freeman helped the program reach the Washington district playoffs. His overall duties with the program included the improvement of guard play, coordinating off-season conditioning sessions, scouting the opposition and video editing.

A 2004 graduate of Washington State with a bachelor's degree in kinesiology and an emphasis in health and fitness education, Freeman served as a student assistant with the Cougar program (1999-04). Under Dick Bennett, Freeman assisted with video exchange and other administrative duties.

Freeman, who completed his master's degree in education administration from Grand Canyon University in 2008, spent three years teaching in both the Seattle and Marysville school districts.

Freeman and his wife, Nicole, reside in San Luis Obispo.

Second Season • Washington State, 2008

After serving in the same capacity under head coach Joe Callero at Seattle University for a season, Mitch Reaves is in his second campaign as Cal Poly's Director of Basketball Operations.

With the Mustangs, his duties include coordinating travel for both the coaching staff and team, maintaining the program's master calendar and equipment inventory and scheduling summer camps and clinics.

"Mitch is the absolute glue for our staff. His organizational skills and passion make for a smooth atmosphere in both the office and at practices," said Callero of Reaves. "He will make a super full-time assistant in the very near future."

Prior to arriving at Seattle for the 2008-09 campaign, Reaves served as a team manager with Washington State (2005-08). With the Cougars, Reaves maintained the program's recruiting database and correspondence with potential recruits, assisted with film exchange and video operations and coordinated team activities.

Reaves received his bachelor's degree in sports management with a concentration in business administration from Washington State in 2007.

He is the former coordinator of member services for the Win the Tip! Basketball coaches network where he was in charge of updating new members, maintaining member profiles on the organization's Web site, planning coaching retreats and authoring weekly e-mail updates.

On the court, Reaves has served as a summer camp coach at Washington State (2006-07) and UCLA (2006).

ERIC ESPARZA

RELATIONS

Fifth Season • Cal State Stanislaus, 1996

Now in his fifth year as the Cal Poly men's basketball team's director of community relations, Eric Esparza oversees the program's civic outreach endeavors as well as assisting with travel plans and video scout work.

"Eric is a tremendously reliable and knowledgeable coordinator and his understanding of the central coast community has really helped our program grow," head coach Joe Callero said.

An administrative assistant during his first three years with the Mustangs, Esparza served as the associate head coach at Columbia College (Sonora, Calif.) prior to arriving at Cal Poly. Also a former assistant coach at Oakdale (Calif.) HS, Esparza is a 1996 graduate of Cal State Stanislaus.

Esparza and his wife, former Cal Poly standout tennis and basketball player Paige Billingsley, have two children.

BEN DORAN

Student Manager

A native of Sebastopol, Calif., and 2009 graduate of Analy HS, Ben Doran is in his second season as a student manager with the Mustang men basketball program. Doran earned three letters in basketball at Analy and one in football, in addition to playing club rugby. A sophomore majoring in business administration, Doran plans to graduate in 2013.

JEREMY JAUREGUI

Student Manager

Now in his second season as a student manager with the Cal Poly men's basketball program, Jeremy Jauregui is a junior majoring in journalism. A 2008 graduate of Righetti HS (Santa Maria, Calif.) where he earned four letters in golf, Jauregui is a native of Santa Barbara, Calif. He has plans to graduate from Cal Poly in 2012.

NIROMAL PERERA

Student Manager

A freshman majoring in economics, Niromal Perera is in his first season as a student manager with the Mustang men's basketball program. A 2010 graduate of De La Salle HS in Concord, Calif., Perera was a three-year starter for the Spartans in tennis. Perera plans to graduate from Cal Poly in 2014.

ALEX WILLIAMS

Student Manager

Alex Williams is in his second year as a student manager with the Cal Poly men's basketball program. A native of Fresno, Calif., Williams graduated from Clovis West HS in 2008 after earning four letters in golf. Williams is a junior mechanical engineering major with plans to graduate in 2013.

CHRIS GIOVANNETTI

Media Relations

Chris Giovannetti is in his fifth year as the assistant director of media relations with Cal Poly. In addition to his duties publicizing the men's basketball team, Giovannetti also works with the university's men's soccer, softball and women's tennis programs.

Giovannetti arrived on the central coast after serving as the Sports Information Director at Menlo College and working with the school's 13 varsity programs for the 2005-06 season. Prior to accepting the position at Menlo, Giovannetti completed a one-year internship at California where he worked with the department's softball, field hockey and women's gymnastics programs, in addition to assisting with football and men's and women's basketball game-day operations.

A 2004 graduate of San Jose State with a B.S. in Journalism, Giovannetti competed in rugby for the Spartan program. Giovannetti is a native of Fairfield, Calif., and currently resides in nearby Avila Beach.

KRISTAL SLOVER

Athletics Trainer

Now in her 18th year as a trainer at Cal Poly, Kristal Slover is also in her ninth year as the department's head athletics trainer. During her tenure at Cal Poly, Slover has helped lead the successful Cal Poly Sports Medicine program by directing all student athletics trainers and serving as a guest lecturer for several classes and labs at Cal Poly and nearby Cuesta College. She also serves as the registration chair for the Far West Athletic Trainers Association's Annual Symposium.

Slover also works with Cal Poly's women's soccer program. A graduate of Cal State Fullerton, Slover and husband, John, have two daughters: Janna Marie Slover (9) and Kacie (6).

DAVID WOOD

Strength and Conditioning

David Wood is in his second season as the Cal Poly's strength and conditioning coach. An assistant strength and conditioning coach for seven months prior to his promotion, Wood's primary focus is the implementation of strength, speed, agility and conditioning programs for all 20 of Cal Poly's varsity programs.

Prior to rejoining Cal Poly, Wood served as a strength and conditioning graduate assistant at UAB while working on his master's degree. While at UAB, his primary responsibilities consisted of overseeing strength and conditioning programs for the men's and women's tennis teams. Wood also worked with the development and implementation of programs for football, softball, baseball, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's soccer and volleyball. Wood also served as an intern at Cal Poly in 2005. He earned his undergraduate degree at Cal Poly in kinesiology in 2005.

SHANNON STEPHENS

Academic Services

Shannon Stephens is in his sixth year as Cal Poly's assistant athletic director for academic services. In his capacity, Stephens provides academic advising to student-athletes, monitors student-athlete progress toward degrees and ensures that each student-athlete meets NCAA academic requirements.

A four-year righthanded letterwinner at Cal Poly (1992-95), Stephens pitched for four years in the Florida Marlins organization (1995-98). Following his professional tenure, Stephens coached at Division II Cal State Dominguez Hills (1999-01) and in Oskarshamn, Sweden during the summer of 1999.

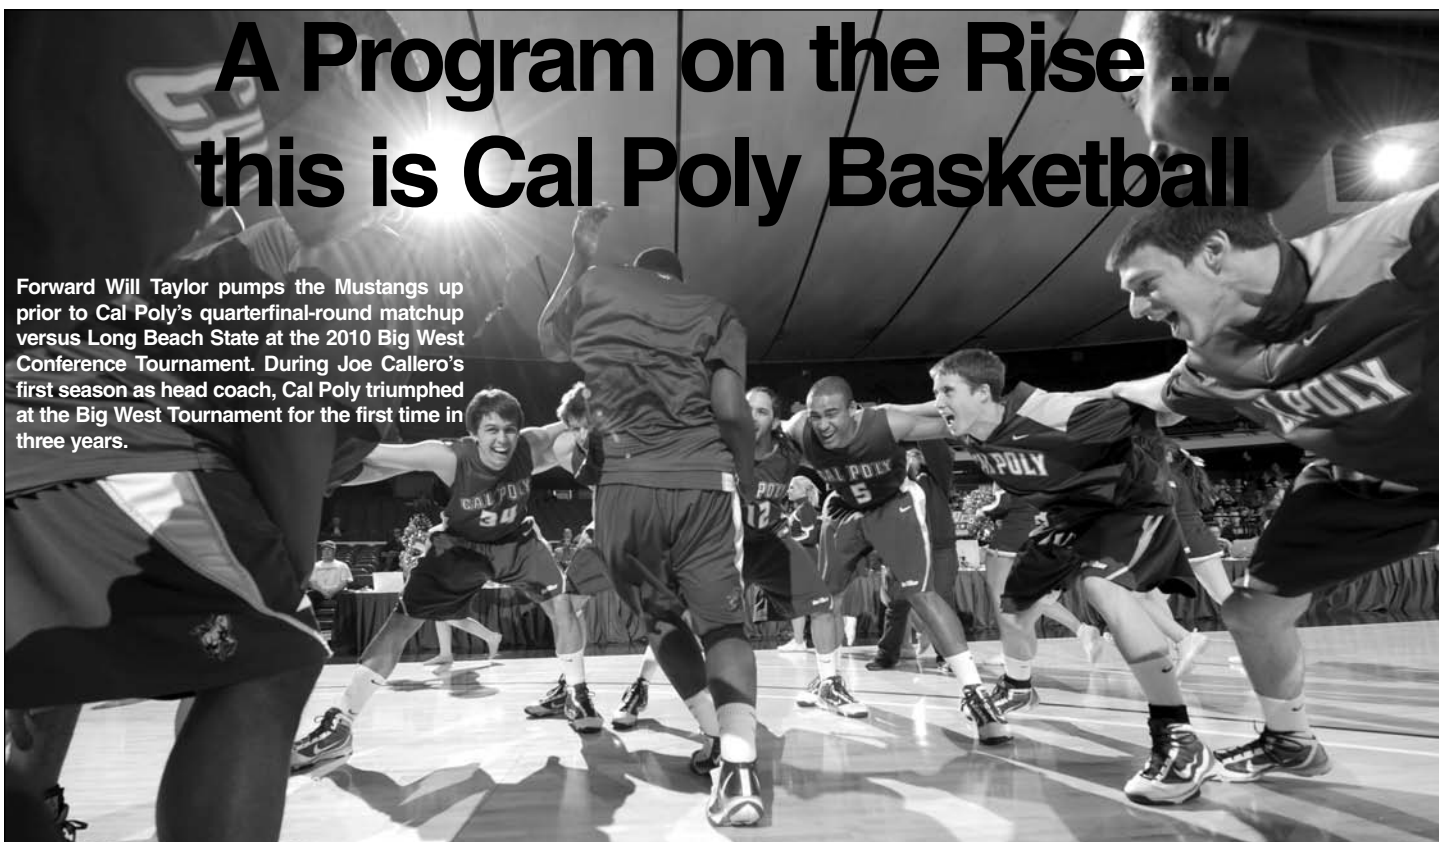

Prior to arriving at Cal Poly, Stephens spent three years at UCLA (2001-04) as an academic counselor.

Stephens and his wife, Lisa, have two sons.

A Program on the Rise ... this is Cal Poly Basketball

Forward Will Taylor pumps the Mustangs up prior to Cal Poly's quarterfinal-round matchup versus Long Beach State at the 2010 Big West Conference Tournament. During Joe Callero's first season as head coach, Cal Poly triumphed at the Big West Tournament for the first time in three years.

Assistant athletic director for academic services Shannon Stephens assists forwards David Hanson and Jordan Lewis in Cal Poly's academic study center.

Athletic and Academic Excellence

Under the guidance of head strength and conditioning coach David Wood, guard Shawn Lewis undergoes a conditioning session in Cal Poly's weight room.

Forward Jordan Lewis assists a camper with ball-handling drills during Cal Poly's annual Winter Basketball Clinic.

Head coach Joe Callero and forward David Hanson address the central coast media during October's Big West Conference Central Coast Media Day. Having garnered instant respect during Callero's inaugural 2009-10 season, Cal Poly was selected to finish fifth in the final 2010-11 Big West standings.

- I chose Cal Poly because I loved the college atmosphere and it felt like a place I could fit in.
- The most memorable basketball experience I've had at Cal Poly has been our last-minute victory against UC Santa Barbara at home last season. The stands were sold out and it was so loud I couldn't hear.
- I enjoy playing in front of the Cal Poly fans because they are loud, get into the game and give us the advantage.
- The most important lesson I've learned as a member of the Cal Poly program is to act with maturity and carry yourself in a proud manner.
- I chose biology as my major because it was a subject that I could apply to my everyday life and one that is always advancing.
- The most exciting arena or gym I've ever competed in has been Wisconsin's Kohl Center. It was massive, similar to a professional arena.
- The person who has influenced my game the most has been my dad, Scott. He taught me how to play with intelligence and strength.
- My first memory of basketball is playing in a YMCA league during kindergarten.
- The reason I began playing basketball was that I loved the joy and freedom it gave me and I couldn't put the ball down.
- My favorite superhero as a child was Batman. When I was young I would dress up as him - with the cape - and run down the aisles of the supermarket.
- If you visit my hometown of Terra Linda, Calif., the one place you need to visit is La Hacienda. They serve the best burritos in the world.
- One activity that I've been involved in that might surprise people is that I went to circus camp during elementary school.
- The most rewarding thing I've done in my life has been working at a summer camp for children.

Head coach Joe Callero directed Cal Poly to a five-victory improvement during his inaugural 2009-10 season at the helm of the Mustang program. After finishing in sixth place in the final Big West standings, Cal Poly opened the conference tournament with a 73-69 victory against UC Irvine – the program’s first postseason triumph in three years.

TEN FOR 2009-10

Ten Numbers that Defined Joe Callero's First Season as Cal Poly Head Coach

3,032

Sellout attendance figure for Cal Poly's 60-57 home victory against NCAA Tournament participant UC Santa Barbara inside Mott Gym on Feb. 27. The victory was Cal Poly's first against the rival Gauchos since 2007.

Points scored by guard Shawn Lewis during his junior campaign. Entering the 2010-11 season, Lewis needs just 153 points to become the 16th Mustang in Cal Poly history to register 1,000 for his career.

102

Point total during Cal Poly's Feb. 20 ESPN BracketBuster triumph at Hawai'i, the program's loftiest point total since downing Long Beach State, 103-88, on Feb. 8, 2001.

38

Career-high single-game point total produced by guard Lorenzo Keeler during a 95-81 conference-opening victory at UC Irvine on Jan. 4. Keeler, who finished fifth among Big West scorers with 16.2 points per game, earned all-conference first team praise as a senior last year.

32

Consecutive free throws made by Lorenzo Keeler between Feb. 17 and March 6. Keeler, who set a new Cal Poly standard for free throw shooting excellence, was a perfect 16-for-16 at Hawai'i during his stretch. Keeler, whose 86.2 percent mark ranked as the ninth-highest single-season figure in program history, retired as the second-most proficient foul shooter in Mustang history with an identical 86.2 percent career mark.

13

Games Cal Poly played decided by six or fewer points, including eight of the final 10 matchups. The Mustangs produced a 7-6 mark in games decided by six or less points.

Games, out of the initial seven Big West Conference matchups, during which Cal Poly triumphed. Cal Poly's 5-2 start was its best to a Big West campaign in program history.

Seasons since Cal Poly had previously won a Big West Tournament game. Cal Poly's 73-69 opening-round elimination of UC Irvine on March 10 was the program's first postseason triumph since advancing to the 2007 championship game.

Seasons walk-on center Ryan Darling spent as a student-manager before earning a Cal Poly jersey prior to the 2008-09 season. As a senior last year, Darling appeared in a career-high 26 contests, started three games, and placed a highlight end to his fairytale tenure by scoring a career-high 10 points and snatching a collegiate-high 12 rebounds to spark Cal Poly's 72-69 triumph versus UC Davis on Jan. 10.

.929

Cal Poly free throw percentage (13-for-14) during a March 11 loss against Long Beach State at the Big West Tournament. The mark ranked as the second-highest single-game team figure in program history for Cal Poly, which led all Big West programs with a 72.9 percent free throw mark.

Lorenzo Keeler hit a three-pointer 42 seconds into action and Cal Poly never looked back as the Mustangs improved their all-time ESPNU BracketBuster record to 3-1 with a 102-89 triumph at Hawai'i.

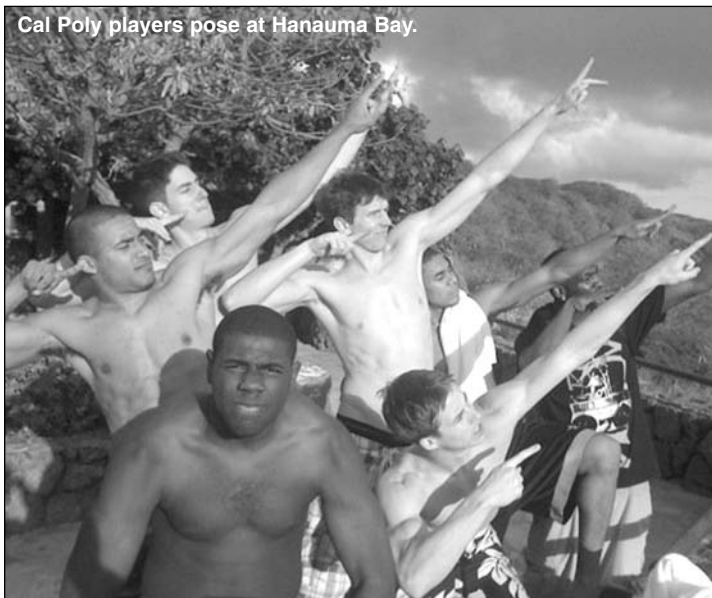

Keeler finished with 31 points and four assists while David Hanson added 18 points and Shawn Lewis 17 for the Mustangs, who enjoyed extensive opportunities to tour the islands before registering their highest point total in nine seasons during the stroll past Hawai'i.

Cal Poly, which defeated Hawai'i for the first time, opened up a 23-point advantage at 49-26 late in the first half on a jumper by Keeler and settled for a 51-30 lead at the break as Keeler scored a layup with four seconds to go. Hawai'i made a run at the Mustangs in the second half, closing the gap to eight points at 54-46.

Cal Poly, however, went on a 19-7 run to reestablish control of the game, leading 83-63 with five minutes, 41 seconds to go on two free throws by Keeler. Hawai'i would get no closer than 10 points the rest of the way as the Mustangs made 14 of 16 free throws in the final three minutes.

Keeler made all of his 16 free throws en route to his third 30-point game of the season. Kyle Odister added 15 points while Jordan Lewis contributed 12 for Cal Poly.

Mike Burris (right) was a member of the 1980-81 Cal Poly squad that reached the national semifinals of the NCAA Division II Tournament, a feat that remains the program's best postseason showing at any level. The memory of Burris, who passed in 1985, will be honored, along with the 1980-81 team's achievements, prior to Cal Poly's Nov. 6 exhibition versus Cal State East Bay.

REMEMBERING CAL POLY'S 1980-81 FINAL FOUR SQUAD

In conjunction with the first home game of the 2010-11 season – a Nov. 6 exhibition against Division II Cal State East Bay – the Cal Poly men's basketball team will celebrate the 30th anniversary of the program's 1980-81 squad that reached the NCAA Tournament Division II national semifinals.

Under the direction of head coach Ernie Wheeler, the 1980-81 Mustang squad finished California Collegiate Athletic Association play with a 10-4 mark before defeating Bloomsburg State (71-43) and Clarion State (84-61) during the NCAA Tournament East Regional at West Long Branch, N.J.

After returning to Mott Gym and dealing New Hampshire College a 77-73 defeat during the tournament's quarterfinal stage, the Mustangs were edged by eventual national champion Southern Florida at Springfield, Mass., 54-51. Cal Poly, however, returned the following evening and secured a national third place finish with a 62-61 win against Wisconsin-Green Bay.

The 1980-81 Mustangs (24-8) still hold the program record for single-season victories.

On Saturday, Jan. 30, 1993, the Cal Poly basketball team retired the only two jerseys in program history when the No. 32 top of Hank Moroski (1946-50) and the No. 40 shirt of Mike LaRoche (1965-69) were honored during a halftime ceremony.

Moroski averaged 13.2 points per 93 games and led Cal Poly in scoring during each of his four seasons. A four-time All-California Collegiate Athletic Association selection, Moroski twice led the league in scoring and his 1,224 career points rank as the seventh-highest total in program history. Moroski is a charter member of the Cal Poly Athletics Department's Hall of Fame.

A three-time All-CCAA honoree during his Cal Poly career, LaRoche was named to the All-West Coast team following the 1966-67 and 1967-68 seasons. His 23.9 points-per-game scoring average during the 1966-67 campaign remains the loftiest figure in program history.

LaRoche, who owns Cal Poly's career scoring average of 21.4 points per game, also ranks fourth in program history with 1,500 career points – despite appearing in just 70 games over the span of three seasons.

After his playing days at Cal Poly, LaRoche signed a professional contract and appeared briefly with the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association. He was inducted into the Cal Poly Hall of Fame in 1991.

Mike LaRoche, left (40), and Hank Moroski are congratulated after their uniforms are retired. Joining the two honorees are Don Morris and former Cal Poly Athletics Director John McCutcheon

MEDIA POLICIES

LOCATION: The Cal Poly athletics media relations office and media workroom are located on the first floor of Mott Gym in room 123.

DIRECTIONS AND PARKING: Mott Gym is at the east end of the Cal Poly campus. Take US-101 to the Grand Avenue exit and follow Grand to campus. Enter into campus and make a left into the parking garage below the Performing Arts Center. Please contact Assistant Media Relations Director Chris Giovannetti (contact information below). The main entrance to Mott Gym is located near the parking structure side of the building. Parking passes will be made available at the will call entrance.

MEDIA CREDENTIALS: Credentials are only issued to accredited members of the media. Because of limited space at press row, please make all credential requests at least 24 hours prior to the scheduled first serve time. All credential requests can be made to Chris Giovannetti. Media passes will be available at the main entrance to Mott Gym near the parking structure side.

INTERVIEW POLICY: All non-game day interviews with coaching staff and student-athletes should be made through Chris Giovannetti with at least 24 hours advance notice. Arrangements for telephone and in-person interviews will be scheduled for a time that is mutually agreeable and fits the student-athletes' academic schedule. The student-athlete will only conduct telephone interviews via return call. The post-game press conference with Mustang head coach Joe Callero and selected players is conducted in room 201 of Mott Gym. Media requesting to talk to opposing coaches and student-athletes should make arrangements with that school's media relations representative, when possible.

PRESS ROW SERVICE AND PHONE NUMBER: Pre-game releases, rosters, statistics, media guides and programs are available in the media room prior to each contest. Box scores are distributed during each media timeout and play-by-play sheets are available at the end of the first half. Final statistical books will be available at the conclusion of each game. The press row phone number is (805) 756-6751.

PRESS CONFERENCES: Every Monday at 2 p.m. during the academic year, the Cal Poly media relations office hosts a press conference in room 201 of Mott Gym. Select head coaches and student-athletes will be scheduled to speak with priority given to in-season sports. Video of every press conference is available at gopoly.com following each session.

INTERNET AND PHONE LINES: Mott Gym is hardwired for Internet access in multiple locations along press row. Any preset wireless connection must be deactivated for access. Two complimentary phone lines are available at press row for visiting radio while a fax machine is accessible in the media relations office. Please inform Chris Giovannetti of any fax requests prior to each game. Extra phone lines may be installed by calling Cal Poly telephone services at (805) 756-2671.

MEDIA WORKROOM: Media members needing a workspace following any game can set up in the area provided in the media relations office. Please alert Chris Giovannetti to make arrangements. The room is hardwired for Internet access.

TWITTER: Brief updates of all Cal Poly Athletics Department news items are available via Twitter.com. Follow Cal Poly at CPMustangs.

SHIPPING ADDRESS: The Cal Poly Athletics Media Relations can be reached at Mott Gym, 1 Grand Avenue, Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, CA 93407-0388.

BIG WEST MEN'S BASKETBALL: Each week, the Big West Conference produces a release detailing the league's latest news, notes and statistics. Mott Gym

The Home of Cal Poly Basketball

Completed in 1960, Mott Gymnasium plays host to Cal Poly's women's and men's basketball, volleyball and wrestling programs. In 1998, Mott Gym was upgraded with chairback seats while additional seating was installed at both the east and west baselines to provide the facility with an arena-style atmosphere. The Cal Poly Athletics Department further cemented its commitment to providing Mustang programs with a superior home-court advantage in 2007 by installing a new $400,000 floor.

Named after Robert A. Mott, a physical education faculty member and department head from 1946-78, Mott Gym houses the Cal Poly Athletics Department offices, coaching offices, media relations office, athletics training room and weight room. While employed at Cal Poly, Mott also served as head coach of the Mustang baseball and men's basketball programs before being named physical education department chair following World War II.

The Mustang Maniacs, Cal

Poly's student supporter group, are a regular fixture at all home athletics events, as is Cal Poly's band, The Pride of the Pacific.

For basketball, Mott Gym's capacity is 3,032.
