ADELAIDESTREETFIELD

Building a winning tradition begins with success at home, which the Redbird soccer program has had plenty of. Illinois State has posted winning home records 21 out of 27 seasons since its inaugural season in 1996, including 17-straight from 1998 to 2014. The 'Birds own a remarkable 141-62-22 all-time mark at the facility.

Nestled between Marian Kneer Softball Stadium and Duffy Bass Field in the northwest corner of campus, Adelaide Street Field received a new natural grass playing surface before the 2013 season.

The facility houses metal bleachers that can seat 1,000 fans, a full-service press box and a clubhouse that includes restrooms, a concession stand and an officials' locker room. Three parking lots, which are within walking distance of the facility, offer more than 800 spaces for spectators.

Adelaide Street Field has been the site of two Missouri Valley Conference Soccer Championships in 2014 and 2016. The Redbirds were both regular season and tournament champions in each of those seasons.

Founded in 1857, Illinois State University was the first public university in the state and is one of the Midwest's oldest institutions of higher education. It is a residential university that emphasizes undergraduate study. Abraham Lincoln drew up the legal documents to establish the university.

The original name of the school was Illinois State Normal University, reflective of its primary mission as a teacher training institution (at that time called a normal school). In 1964, as the institution began expanding and moving toward a full liberal arts curriculum, its name was changed, first to Illinois State University at Normal, and then by 1968 to Illinois State University.

Teaching is at the root of Illinois State's heritage and that tradition grows through the efforts of the outstanding faculty in all six of Illinois State's colleges. More than 92 percent of Illinois State's classes are taught by full-time faculty, most of whom have the highest degree in their academic area.

Illinois State is located in the twin-city community of Bloomington-Normal, and is centrally located 137 miles southwest of Chicago, 164 miles northeast of St. Louis and 178 miles west of Indianapolis. Interstate highways 74, 55, and 39, U.S. Route 150, and Illinois Route 9 intersect in Bloomington-Normal, creating a transportation hub.

RACHEL TEJADA - 2014

Tejada cemented herself into the Valley record books as the only player to earn four MVC Player of the Year honors. She led the MVC in goals (20), assists (11) and points (51). In six Valley contests she scored five goals and dished out four assists – both league highs. She broke Redbird Annie Wayland's MVC goals record with her 60th-career tally vs Western Michigan. She also broke the MVC assist record in 2014. A NSCAA Second-Team All-American, Tejada closed her career with 190 points, ranking 25th all-time among Division I players, and she finished her career as the active leader in points and goals among Division I players. Tejada ranked third in the nation in both goals and points and led Illinois State to its first NCAA Tournament win in 2014.

NORA MAGUIRE - 1996
(3-16-1), (1-2-0 MVC)

The first head coach in program history, Maguire led the Redbirds for their inaugural campaign in 1996.

PETE KOWALL - 1997-2006
(104-60-20), (41-13-7 MVC)

Kowall helped put Illinois State soccer on the map, establishing the Redbirds as one of the premier mid-major programs in the country. Still the winningest coach in program history, and the only Redbird coach to reach 100 wins with the program, he guided Illinois State to its first NCAA Tournament appearance in 2003 as the Redbirds held off Creighton in penalty kicks in the MVC Tournament final. Kowall also led Illinois State to its first four Missouri Valley Regular Season titles (1998, 1999, 2001, 2003) which included the first MVC double in program history in 2003. The Redbirds reached double-digit wins in seven of his ten seasons with the program during a streak from 1998 to 2004. The Redbirds posted a 41-13-7 mark in MVC play during Kowall's tenure, including a staggering 31-4-3 record from 1998 to 2003. Under Kowall's tutelage, a Redbird won MVC Player of the Year on three occasions. In 2001 Annie Wayland was the first Redbird to win MVC MVP while Heather Forsyth became the first Redbird to receive multiple MVC Player of the Year awards with her honors in 2003 and 2005.

DREW ROFF - 2007-2014
(98-50-11), (38-7-3 MVC)

Roff carried on the Redbird legacy of success, making an immediate impact on the program from the start of his tenure. The Redbirds posted a 10-4-4 campaign in his first year at the helm of the program en route to the Missouri Valley Regular season championship, the first of three-straight regular season titles for the Redbirds. With the 2007 title, Roff became the first head coach in league history to guide their team to an MVC Regular season crown in their first year at the helm of the program. Roff went on to build a four-year MVC dynasty that saw Illinois State make four straight NCAA Tournaments over his final four years with the program. Perhaps the highlight of Roff's tenure at Illinois State came in 2014, during arguably the most successful season in program history. Illinois State posted a school-record 16-6-0 record (6-0-0 in MVC) in 2014 and swept MVC titles to appear in the NCAA Tournament, where the Redbirds became the first team in league to win a game in the NCAA Women's Soccer Tournament with a 3-2 win at South Florida. In all, he led Illinois State to six MVC Regular season championships, four MVC Tournament titles and four NCAA Tournament appearances. The Redbirds were the first MVC team to advance in the NCAA women's soccer tournament as they moved by Louisville in penalty kicks during the 2013 campaign. Their win over the Bulls in 2014 secured back-to-back appearances in the second round of the NCAA Tournament. Roff also oversaw one of the greatest careers in MVC history as Rachel Tejada re-wrote the school and league record books. Under Roff, Tejada was the first four-time MVC Player of the Year in league history. She graduated as the all-time leader in program and league history with 74 career goals, 42 assists and 190 points. Roff also coached three MVC Defensive Player of the Year honorees and one MVC Goalkeeper of the Year during his time at Illinois State.

ERIC GOLZ - 2015-2016
(20-16-5), (8-3-1 MVC)

In a short time with the program, Golz strengthened the Redbird brand of success, leading Illinois State to an historic campaign in 2016. The Redbirds posted their fifth MVC Double in program history during the 2016 campaign with a 14-6-3 overall record and 5-0-1 unbeaten mark in MVC play. 2016 saw Illinois State record the longest unbeaten streak in program and Missouri Valley Conference history, as the Redbirds went 15 matches without a loss. The streak kicked off with a 2-0 Sep. 11 home win over North Dakota and was ultimately snapped with a 3-1 loss to No. 14 Duke in the NCAA Tournament Nov. 18. But the loss to the Blue Devils was not before Illinois State secured a third all-time appearance in the second round of the NCAA Tournament as the Redbirds moved by Michigan in penalty kicks to open NAAs. ISU's three appearances in the second round still accounts for the only three second-round appearances by MVC Teams in the NCAA Women's Soccer Tournament.

BRAD SILVEY - 2017-2021
(41-41-8), (19-14-3 MVC)

Silvey led the program during a five-year tenure from 2017 to 2021, highlighted by a strong 14-6-0 (6-1-0 MVC) 2019 campaign for the Redbirds. The 2019 Illinois State squad tied the program's record nine-game winning streaks set previously in 2013 and 2014, while also setting the record for most consecutive shutouts, not allowing a goal for a period of five games from Sept. 28 to Oct. 20. Senior Kate Del Fava shined in 2019 under Silvey as she broke out offensively to record MVC-highs in goals (17), points (39) and game-winning goals (six). Del Fava went on to be the 10th MVC Player of the Year in ISU history and was joined by teammates Alissa Ramsden and Haley Smith on the All-MVC First Team.

#13 JULIE HEIDECKE - 1979-1998

On April 29, 1998, Illinois State soccer player Julie Heidecke was involved in an car accident that tragically ended her life. In her one season with the Redbirds, Heidecke's personality and demeanor inspired teammates and coaches.

As a result, former head coach Pete Kowall, the Julie Heidecke Foundation and Illinois State Athletics established an award in her memory to recognize a Redbird soccer player following Heidecke's path in commitment, spirit, determination, leadership, sportsmanship, academics, morality and concern for others.

Additionally, the Julie Heidecke Tribute Tree was planted in her honor at the entrance of Adelaide Street Field and her #13 jersey was retired. Each year, the Illinois State Soccer program honors the newest recipient of the Heidecke Award with a ceremony under the tribute tree.
