NOTABLE

- With a stellar 2021 campaign in the history books, the reigning Canada West Champion Spartans have their sights set on securing their first U SPORTS Championship since 2013.
- The Spartans, who were recently ranked second in the Canada West preseason coaches' poll, will be stacking up against Victoria (sixth) and UBC, who was ranked first in the poll.
- TWU's total record across all conference, playoff, and national matches ended at 16-1-1, with their only loss being the U SPORTS Championship match against MacEwan. TWU's only draw was a 0-0 match with UBC on Oct. 16th, 2021.
- The Spartans haven't lost to Victoria since Oct. 20th, 2018. Since then, TWU has won six consecutive matches against the Vikes. The Spartans own an all-time record of 27-18-5 against Victoria.

Your full 2022 team-by-team season preview

CALGARY - Western Canada's best university women's soccer players are set to hit the pitch Friday, the start of a new road to the Canada West Championships. Ahead of the action, coaches from across the conference have weighed in on who they think will hoist the CW trophy. UBC earned the top spot this year, coming off a season where they fell just short to Trinity Western in the 2021 CW Final. The team boasts the top returning scorer and one of the best defences in the league.

The defending champs, Trinity Western Spartans, take the second spot in the poll after posting an undefeated conference record last season. The team has won gold in three of the past four seasons and will be seeking its 10th total Canada West title.

Rounding out the top three are the MacEwan Griffins, a gutsy team that won its first-ever U SPORTS Championship banner last season, after earning bronze in the conference playoffs.

It all gets underway Friday, when the Spartans will begin their title defence at home against Victoria at 7 p.m. PDT. At that same time, fans will get their first glimpses of UBC at Fraser Valley. MacEwan will host crosstown rival Alberta at 6 p.m. MDT, while Regina and Saskatchewan will host Manitoba and Winnipeg, respectively, both at 7 p.m. CST.

BIOGRAPHY:

Nikki Stephenson is the newest member of the Canada West Hall of Fame, the conference announced Tuesday. The soccer striker attained the ultimate goal of a Canadian university athlete not once, but three times in her five-year career at Trinity Western. She wore four national gold medals around her neck, as one came in a red shirt (injury) year.

Stephenson's star status as a Spartan was evident from the first beat. She took over the Canada West soccer scene, leading the conference in goals (12) and points (18) in her rookie season. Stephenson went on to earn the CW Rookie of the Year and esteemed Player of the Year awards, the latter of which is a rarity for a first-year athlete. The national governing body also recognized the Spartan as the U SPORTS Rookie of the Year.

Her dominant play continued into the postseason, where the CW and U SPORTS first-team all-star took home a U SPORTS tournament all-star nod.

Stephenson cemented her all-star status in the following seasons, with another selection to the CW team. She helped the Spartans repeat as national champions, a feat much easier read than done.

A captivating player to watch, Stephenson went on to win yet another national title with Trinity Western before hanging up her collegiate cleats in 2014.

"Nikki was one of the most impactful and dangerous players our program has ever had in its 25 plus years. Her ability to threaten teams with both her pace, power and sheer will to win was so special. She took her athleticism and pace and turned it into becoming a very dynamic and gifted soccer player. Throughout her career, she continued to grow into a player that could change the outcome with a special finish, a great run and cross, or just her overall competitiveness. She truly is one of the greats of our program's success. She possessed a drive and hunger and an explosiveness that brought her individual accolades throughout her career, and more importantly led to the Spartans becoming a formidable force throughout her career and beyond. It was very special to watch her grow into a complete player, but also to see her grow personally and to become an impactful part of our program's history on and off the field," said Stephenson's coach Graham Roxburgh.
