

The Boston University Boathouse holds one of the most ideal locations on the Charles River for both our athletes and spectators. The boathouse is within walking distance of campus, situated directly across the river from the George Sherman Student Union. Our dock marks the starting line of the Head of the Charles, one of the premier regattas in North America. The boathouse commands both a scenic view of the river and the Boston skyline. Its location also gives our teams an excellent opportunity to view the nation's top crews and coaches in action. The finish line to the 2,000-meter racecourse is only 500 meters downstream.

The DeWolfe Boathouse is named after the grandparents of Richard B. DeWolfe (MET '71) a former Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Boston University and major benefactor to the college and the boathouse campaign. In July of 1998, the demolition of the original structure took place. The award-winning building was completed in the fall of 1999, just in time to welcome the class of 2003. The new boathouse is now one of the premiere rowing centers in the country. The facility is state-of-the-art in design and function. The main floor contains a large workout area, which includes 24 ergometers, numerous plyo balls, exercisers, stretching machines and arm weights. Also on this level are spacious locker rooms for men and women, coaches' offices, and a team meeting/trophy room. The ground floor includes six boat bays and repair shop. The outdoor balcony affords our crews, parents, alumnae, and friends the best view in Boston!

Our fleet of boats now includes five racing eights, five training eights, two racing fours, two training fours, three singles and eight pair/doubles. Our athletes have access to a 16-person tank room conveniently located on West Campus, adjacent to the team workout room and the varsity weight room. The training room and academic support center are also located in this complex.

2006 Team at the National Championships

The coaches at Boston University support our athletes' pursuit of rowing and coxing at the elite level. Our emphasis on small boat rowing, our encouragement of participation in national team testing and our extra attention to assist in preparation for selection serve to develop the athlete for international competition. Several of our current athletes are submitting test results in hope of being invited to the U23 selection camp for their countries this coming summer.

Also, it's not unheard of for a walk-on to not only succeed at the college level but at the U23 and National Team level. One third of the US Olympic Team is normally comprised of young women who never rowed before college. Walk-ons, who show real promise in their college years, will be given the encouragement and direction needed to pursue rowing dreams beyond college.

Listed here are some of our former athletes who have achieved success on the national and international level.
