2016-17 BOSTON UNIVERSITY MEN'S ICE HOCKEY

www.GoTerriers.com

With the sting of a first-round exit in last year's NCAA tournament in the back of their minds, the Boston University Terriers and fourth-year head coach David Quinn are eager to get back on the ice and make a deep postseason run in 2016-17.

Despite graduating three of their top four scorers this past spring, the Terriers bring back 13 of their top 20 point-getters along with one of the most highly touted freshman classes in recent history.

Five members of the Class of 2016 signed professional contracts after their four years at BU with three of them inking NHL entry-level deals. In that group was Danny O'Regan, who scored a team-best 44 points last season to finish his stellar career with 154 points, the most by any Terrier since Chris Drury.

The top five returning scorers are all from the sophomore class, as several members of last year's incoming group quickly adapted to college hockey to become contributors on both ends of the ice.

The freshman class brought in by Coach Quinn and his staff for this season has been regarded as potentially one of the best ever. The class boasts five picks from the 2016 NHL Entry Draft, three of whom were selected in the first 19 picks. Sophomore defenseman Charlie McAvoy was also selected in the first round of this year's draft, making the Terriers only the second collegiate team to ever have four players chosen in the first round of an NHL Draft.

Senior defenseman Doyle Somerby will captain the 2016-17 Terrier squad, taking the reins from two-year captain and fellow blueliner Matt Grzelcyk. He will be joined by junior forward Nikolas Olsson and sophomore forward Jakob Forsbacka Karlsson, who each earned the right to don the 'A' on his jersey this season.

FORWARDS (9 returning, 6 lost, 6 new)

Forsbacka Karlsson, who is coming off a 30-point season in which he was named to the Hockey East All-Rookie Team, is the team's leading returning scorer. He will be counted on to elevate his impressive two-way game and quickly become a leader for the freshmen to look up to.

Classmate Jordan Greenway also put together a strong rookie year with 26 points on the strength of 21 assists and has shown all the signs of becoming a dominant player in year two.

Like Forsbacka Karlsson and Greenway, fellow sophomores Bobo Carpenter (12g, 4a) and Ryan Cloonan (4g, 10a) played every game last season, and will continue to be important contributors up front.

Olsson, whose season was cut short due to a shoulder injury last year, is ready to bring his physical style of play back to the lineup and be a key cog on whichever line he plays on.

Also in the mix at forward are seniors Nick Roberto (DNP in 15-16) and Tommy Kelley (1-2—3 in 24 GP), junior Chase Phelps, who appeared in all but two games last season, and sophomore Oskar Andrén. Roberto put up 30 points (11g, 19a) during his first two seasons and is suddenly an important veteran for this unit. Andrén joined the team in January and he and Phelps each registered five points.

Joining BU's nine returning forwards will be six new additions to the offensive attack, two of whom were linemates with the U.S. NTDP and taken in the first round of the 2016 NHL Entry Draft. Clayton Keller (Arizona, seventh overall), a playmaker that also possesses the ability to finish, and Kieffer Bellows (N.Y. Islanders, 19th overall), a pure scorer who was one of only four players to ever record 50 goals in a season for the NTDP, should make immediate contributions.

They will be joined by Nashville fifth-round pick and Avon Old Farms standout Patrick Harper, as well as Gabe Chabot, Patrick Curry and Johnny McDermott, who will all have the opportunity to contribute to the Terriers' success in 2016-17.

DEFENSEMEN (6 returning, 2 lost, 2 new)

The Terriers' defensive corps should absolutely be a strength this season and be in the discussion as one of the best units in the country. After losing two blueliners from 2015-16, the rest of the group brings back plenty of experience and is bolstered by a pair of first-round draft picks.

After posting a career high 13 points and blocking a team-high 77 shots in 2015-16, Somerby will captain the group with high expectations. The 6-5 blueliner has made great improvements each season and is set on making his final season at BU his best.

Other upperclassmen joining Somerby are juniors Brandon Hickey, John MacLeod and Brien Duffley, who all have been important contributors since arriving in 2014. Hickey will look to rebound offensively after following up a 17-point freshman campaign with just eight points as a sophomore.

After making a statement as a freshman at BU (3g, team-high 22a, +10 rating), McAvoy was selected 14th overall by the Boston Bruins in this summer's NHL Entry Draft. Three picks later, incoming freshman Dante Fabbro was selected at No. 17 by Nashville. McAvoy is poised for an even better sophomore year and Fabbro will be a difference maker after being named the best defenseman in the BCHL last season.

Chad Kryz, son of former BU captain Mark Kryz, was selected by Chicago in the second round and his skating and puck-moving skills that were honed at the NTDP will be immediate assets for the Terriers.

Sophomore Shane Switzer will also stiffen the d-corps depth chart after appearing in six games as a rookie.

GOALTENDING (2 returning, 1 lost, 1 new)

Connor LaCouvée returns in net for the Terriers and will have an opportunity to take over the starting role. During a sophomore season in which he split time with senior Sean Maguire, LaCouvée posted an 8-4-4 record with a 2.92 goals-against average and a .897 save percentage.

He is expected to receive a strong push for the job from freshman Jake Oettinger, who excelled with the NTDP and is one of the top netminders eligible for the 2017 NHL Entry Draft.

Also returning in between the pipes is sophomore Max Prawdzik, who served as the team's third goalie as a freshman.

DAVID QUINN
HEAD COACH
4TH SEASON

2015 New England Coach of the Year
2015 Hockey East Coach of the Year
2015 Spencer Penrose Award Runner-Up

Career Record: 58-42-14 (3 seasons)

One of the most respected hockey coaches in the country, David Quinn enters his fourth season as the head coach at his alma mater, Boston University.

Quinn has led the Terriers to back-to-back appearances in the NCAA tournament (2015, 2016) and orchestrated the biggest turnaround in BU hockey history in 2014-15, including Hockey East and Beanpot titles and a spot in the national title game.

During the 2014-15 campaign, the Terriers enjoyed an 18-win improvement from previous season, marking the fifth-best turnaround in NCAA men's hockey history. BU posted a 28-8-5 record with the .744 winning percentage ranking second in the country. After leading BU to its 30th Beanpot crown, Quinn guided the Terriers to the Hockey East regular-season and tournament titles before earning the No. 3 overall seed in the NCAA tournament.

Quinn became just the fourth men's coach ever to win his first three NCAA tournament games, as the Terriers won the NCAA Northeast Regional before defeating top-ranked North Dakota in the Frozen Four to reach the NCAA title game. He was named runner-up for the Spencer Penrose Award, given annually to the top Division I coach in the nation, and was selected as both the Hockey East and New England Coach of the Year.

In each of the past two seasons, Quinn has coached a pair of Terriers to All-America status. Matt Grzelcyk earned first-team honors in both 2015 and 2016 while Danny O'Regan closed out his career this past spring with second-team accolades. Jack Eichel, a first-team All-American in 2015, became just the second freshman to capture the Hobey Baker Award, given annually to the nation's top player.

The former BU associate head coach and Colorado Avalanche assistant was named the 11th head coach in the storied history of BU hockey on March 26, 2013. Since returning to campus, Quinn and his staff have strengthened the future of the program by securing commitments from some of the very best prospects in North America.

At the 2016 NHL Entry Draft in Buffalo, the Terriers tied an NCAA record with four players being selected in the first round (Clayton Keller, Charlie McAvoy, Dante Fabbro, Kieffer Bellows).

Quinn, who played at BU from 1984-88, replaced his former head coach and mentor, Jack Parker. An All-Hockey East and All-New England defenseman at BU and a co-captain during his senior year of 1987-88, Quinn came back to campus in 2004 to become the team's associate head coach, a role he served in for five seasons.

Quinn's recruiting efforts were instrumental in helping build BU's 2009 national championship team. During his time as associate head coach, he worked primarily with the team's defensemen, turning the unit into arguably the best in the nation. All six of the defensemen from the 2009 title squad have reached the National Hockey League.

After helping the Terriers reach the pinnacle of college hockey, Quinn left to join the Avalanche organization as the head coach of its American Hockey League affiliate in Cleveland, the Lake Erie Monsters. He compiled a 115-94-7-20 record in three seasons with Lake Erie and guided the Monsters to their first-ever playoff berth in 2010-11. He was named an assistant coach on former BU teammate Joe Sacco's staff at Colorado prior to this season.

Quinn's coaching career, which began as an assistant at Northeastern University at 1994, has also been highlighted by several successful stints with USA Hockey. Prior to serving as the Terriers' associate head coach, he spent two years as head coach of the Under-17 Team.

Playing against older opponents, the U17 team qualified for the North American Hockey League playoffs for only the third time in program history, finishing with a record above .500 for the first time ever. The squad owned a 10-3 record in international play, including a first-place finish at the Four Nations Cup in Magnitogorsk, Russia, and at the Under-18 Four Nations Vlado Druzilla in Piestany, Slovakia, where the team played up an age group. For his accomplishments, USA Hockey named Quinn as the 2003 USA Hockey Developmental Coach of the Year.

Quinn's coaching career began prematurely, as it was thought he would enjoy an excellent playing career both on the international and professional levels. A member of the U.S. National Junior Team that captured the bronze medal at the 1986 IIHF World Junior Championship, Quinn made himself a strong candidate for the 1988 and 1992 U.S. Olympic Men's Ice Hockey Teams. In addition, he was the 13th player selected in the 1984 NHL Entry Draft when the Minnesota North Stars made him their first-round selection.

However, his hopes for an Olympic Team berth and a career in the NHL came to an end prior to his senior year at BU when he was diagnosed with a blood disorder called Christmas Disease that ultimately ended his hockey-playing career. After trying to play two seasons of professional hockey, he took the assistant position at Northeastern, where he was responsible for recruiting, off-ice conditioning, scouting and video coordination.

In July 1996, Quinn was named the top assistant coach and head recruiter for the University of Nebraska Omaha. There he helped establish the school's first Division I men's ice hockey program, which began playing during the 1997-98 season.

Quinn then joined the USA Hockey National Team Development Program in Ann Arbor, Mich. The program, designed to prepare student-athletes under the age of 18 for participation on U.S. National Teams and to develop their future hockey careers, focuses its efforts on high-caliber participation on the ice and creating well-rounded individuals off the ice.

Quinn served as an assistant coach for the U.S. National Team at four IIHF World Championships -- two with the men's team (2007, 2012) and two with the women's squad (1999, 2000). He helped the women earn the silver medal at both tournaments and also served as an on-ice assistant at the 2001 U.S. Women's Olympic Trials and as a boys' coach at the 1995 and 1996 USA Hockey Select Festivals. His involvement with the USA Hockey coaching ranks began in 1995, when he served as a member of the coaching staff for the U.S. Women's Select Camp.

A native of Cranston, R.I., Quinn earned a bachelor's degree in sociology from BU in 1989.

ALBIE O'CONNELL ASSOC. HEAD COACH 3RD SEASON

After spending a decade as a Division I assistant coach throughout the Northeast, former Terrier captain Albie O'Connell (CAS '99) returned to Boston University in 2014 to serve as an assistant under head men's ice hockey coach David Quinn. He was promoted to associate head coach prior to the 2015-16 season.

O'Connell came back to Commonwealth Avenue following three-year stints at both Northeastern and Harvard. He spent one season each at Holy Cross and Merrimack after a two-year appointment at Niagara. The Watertown native's coaching career began at Berkshire Prep School in 2002 before he joined the collegiate coaching ranks the following year at Colby.

O'Connell played in two Frozen Fours (1996, 1997) and helped the Terriers reach the national championship game and claim a Hockey East title as a sophomore. He and his fellow members of the Class of 1999 are one of only four BU classes to win four Beanpots. In 149 career games, O'Connell totaled 108 points (42g, 66a) during his four years playing for Coach Jack Parker. As a senior captain, he led the 1998-99 squad in scoring with 39 points (9g, 30a).

Over the past several seasons, O'Connell has become one of the top recruiters in the country, attracting quality student-athletes to the Hockey East, ECAC Hockey and Atlantic Hockey institutions for which he's worked.

At Harvard, O'Connell worked primarily with the Crimson's defensemen and special teams. In his first season there, he directed the nation's top power-play unit, which operated at a 27.3-percent success rate, and helped the Crimson advance to the ECAC championship game.

During his three years at Northeastern (2008-11), O'Connell served as recruiting coordinator and helped the Huskies post 55 wins after the team recorded just 22 wins during the previous three-year span. The Huskies reached two Beanpot finals, two Hockey East semifinals and the 2009 NCAA tournament while O'Connell was on the staff.

At Merrimack in 2007-08, O'Connell worked primarily with the forwards and the power play while assisting in all aspects of the program. Under his guidance, the Warriors nearly doubled their goal scoring in the 2007-08 season and improved by nine wins.

O'Connell spent the 2006-07 season at Holy Cross after a two-year stint at Niagara. In addition to coaching in the collegiate ranks, O'Connell has also coached extensively with USA Hockey since 2003. During his year at Berkshire, he also served as the school's assistant dean of students and the student activities director.

A fifth-round draft pick of the New York Islanders in 1994, O'Connell played professional hockey for the Pensacola Ice Pilots (East Coast Hockey League) in 1999-2000, Basingstoke Bison (British National League) in 2000-01, Atlantic City Boardwalk Bullies (ECHL) in 2001-02 and Cardiff Devils (BNL) in 2001-02. In 127 pro games, O'Connell posted 54 goals and 78 assists for 132 points.

O'Connell graduated from BU in 1999 with a bachelor's degree in history.

SCOTT YOUNG ASSISTANT COACH 2ND SEASON

Former Boston University, Olympic and National Hockey League standout Scott Young was promoted to assistant coach on head coach David Quinn's staff in September 2015. He returned to Commonwealth Ave. in 2014 to become the director of men's ice hockey operations for the Terriers.

Young, who retired from the NHL in 2006, was the head coach at St. Mark's School - his alma mater - in Southborough for four seasons from 2010-14. He vastly improved the program by leading the Winged Lions to three winning seasons, including their first back-to-back winning seasons in a dozen years.

An inductee in both the Massachusetts Hockey Hall of Fame and the St. Mark's Athletic Hall of Fame, Young is one of three Terrier hockey alumni to participate in three Olympiads (1988, 1992, 2002) for Team USA and he captured a silver medal with the 2002 squad in Salt Lake City. He also was a member of the U.S. squad that claimed the gold medal at the inaugural World Cup of Hockey in 1996.

The 1986 Hockey East Rookie of the Year, Young was a standout at right wing for the Terriers under Coach Jack Parker, totaling 65 points (31g, 34a) in 71 games over the course of two seasons. After taking his junior year off to compete in his first Olympics, Young turned professional upon his return from the Calgary Games when he signed a contract with the Hartford Whalers, the team that selected him 11th overall in the 1986 NHL Entry Draft.

Young went on to have an accomplished 17-season NHL career, winning the Stanley Cup twice - first with Pittsburgh in 1991 before raising it once more with Colorado five years later. The only Terrier to win the Cup with two different NHL organizations, Young played for seven NHL franchises and appeared in 1,181 career games, scoring 342 goals and 414 assists for 756 career points.

A Clinton, Mass., native, Young participated in three World Junior Championships (1985, 1986, 1987) and was named to the All-Tournament Team in 1987. The 1986 squad earned Team USA's first-ever medal at World Juniors, as Young, David Quinn and Mike Kelfer represented BU on that bronze-medal team. USA Hockey also tabbed Young for three World Championship teams (1987, 1989, 1994).
