One of the top offensive threats in program history, Mark Fidler led BU's 1978 national championship team in both points (65) and goals (30) as a freshman en route to being named the 1978 ECAC Rookie of the Year. Fidler scored in the opening minute of the NCAA title game against archrival Boston College and then added another tally early in the third to put the game out of reach and earn him a spot on the All-Tournament Team.

A member of the 1978 and 1979 Beanpot championship squads, Fidler ranks eighth all-time at BU in points with 178 (77g, 101a), as he added 40-, 39- and 34-point seasons following his legendary rookie campaign. He became the first player in program history to lead the team in points all four seasons, a feat that was matched soon after by John Cullen.

CELEBRINI

HOBEY BAKER AWARD WINNERS

Character Builds Excellence

Since 1981, the Hobey Baker Memorial Award has been presented to college hockey's finest player. Below is a list of the previous winners, along with the Terriers who finished in the top 10. The first Terrier to win the award was Chris Drury in 1998. Matt Gilroy was the recipient in 2009 and led BU to the NCAA title the next day. Jack Eichel became the third Terrier and just the second freshman ever to win the award in 2015. This past season, Macklin Celebrini became the fourth Terrier (and fourth freshman) to claim the prestigious award. Harvard is the only other Eastern school to have four Hobey winners.

Denver 2, BU 1 (OT)

Left: The Terriers get ready to board a United plane on their way to Colorado in 1953 for their third NCAA tournament appearance.

The Terriers celebrate one of their goals in a 4-1 victory over Wisconsin in the 1972 national semifinals. BU went on to shut out Cornell, 4-0, in the championship game to become the first eastern school to win back-to-back national titles.

Co-captains Jack O'Callahan and Brian Durocher raise the 1978 national championship trophy following BU's 5-3 win against Boston College. (Daily Free Press)

The final horn sounds on the Terriers' 6-2 victory over Maine in the 1995 NCAA title game in Providence, R.I.

BEANPOT HALL OF FAME

In February 1995, to help commemorate Boston Garden's final year and the final Beanpot Tournament at the historic venue, the All-Boston Garden Beanpot Team was announced. A committee of five representatives from each of the four schools, the media and the Boston Garden staff selected the players. The original team comprised of 13 former players who helped define the great tournament. Since then, the Beanpot Hall of Fame has grown to 65 members, including 19 former Terriers. Below is a list of the Beanpot Hall of Famers and their induction year.

TERRIERS AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES

When hockey fans think of the Olympic Games and Boston University's involvement, their thoughts automatically turn to 1980 and Lake Placid, N.Y., where four former Terriers served as catalysts for the U.S. "Miracle on Ice" team that won the gold medal. The memory of Mike Eruzione, Jim Craig, Jack O'Callahan and Dave Silk embracing each other after the gold medal game will forever be engraved in our memories.

However, Terriers have been involved in Olympic hockey competition dating back to 1936. While Jesse Owens was drawing international attention on the track, two former Terriers were winning a bronze medal in hockey.

Below is a list of former Terriers who were involved in Olympic competition, including those who participated for the Canadian, Japanese, Dutch, Italian and Chinese Olympic Teams.

Five former Boston University hockey players have earned one of the highest honors an athlete can receive — an Olympic gold medal. The first Terrier who was on a U.S. Olympic gold medal-winning hockey team was Dick Rodenhiser. Rodenhiser, who won a silver medal in Cortina, Italy, in 1956, came back to win the gold in Squaw Valley, Calif., in 1960. Twenty years later, in 1980, "The BU Four" helped to make history in Lake Placid.

TERRIERS AT WORLD JUNIORS

Scott Young represented Team USA in three World Junior Championships in 1985, 1986 and 1987.

Over the years, 63 Boston University hockey players have been members of the United States team that has participated in the International Ice Hockey Federation World Junior Championship (Under-20). Eleven other Terriers have competed for other countries. Below is a list of those players, and the years in which they played.

- BU coach Jack Parker was the head coach of the U.S. National Junior Team in 1996. That year, the competition was hosted in Massachusetts and the team finished in fifth place with a 3-3-0 record. Former Terrier John Hynes served as the 2008 U.S. head coach.
- Scott Young is one of just 16 U.S. players who have participated in three World Junior Championships.
- Terriers have combined to earn 34 medals at World Juniors:
- In 1986, Mike Kelfer, David Quinn and Young were members of the first U.S. team to ever medal at the event, claiming the bronze.
- Rich Brennan, Scott Lachance, John Lilley, Mike Prendergast and Keith Tkachuk were on the 1992 team that won the bronze medal with a 5-2 record.
- Adrian Aucoin (1993) and Dante Fabbro (2018) each won a gold medal with Canada.
- Dan LaCouture and Tom Poti were on the 1997 team that won silver with a 4-1-1 mark. At the time, it was the best finish ever by a U.S. team. In 2004, the U.S. earned its first World Junior title, posting a perfect 6-0 record.
- David Warsofsky became the first Terrier to ever earn a World Junior gold medal for the U.S. in 2010.
- Charlie McAvoy, Kieffer Bellows, Jordan Greenway, Clayton Keller, Patrick Harper and Jake Oettinger won gold with Team USA in 2017, defeating Canada and Fabbro in the title game in Montreal.
- Logan Cockerill and Joel Farabee earned silver medals in 2019 while Charlie Coyle earned a bronze in 2011, as did McAvoy, Brandon Fortunato and Chad Krys in 2016.
- In his second World Juniors appearance in 2021, Trevor Ziegas became the first Hockey East player to win MVP honors after leading Team USA to the gold medal.
- After winning bronze in 2023, Lane Hutson led Team USA to gold in 2024 with a victory over Tom Willander and host Sweden in the title game.
- Young was named to the All-Tournament Team in 1987, while Lachance (1991), Keller (2017), McAvoy (2017), Ziegas (2021) and Hutson (2024) earned the honor as well.

Since 1969, 203 players who have donned the scarlet and white Boston University sweater have been drafted by National Hockey League organizations. The Terriers have had the second-largest number of draftees of any school, trailing only Minnesota. The number drafted is the most of any Hockey East school.

Twenty-five Terriers have been drafted in the first round. Included in this list is Rick DiPietro (pictured below), who played for the Terriers during the 1999-00 season. In the 2000 draft, DiPietro became the first goalie to go number one overall when the New York Islanders made him their top choice.

In the 2015 Entry Draft, Jack Eichel was selected second overall by the Buffalo Sabres.

The Terriers made history in 2016 with four players taken in the first 19 picks, setting a new NCAA record.

They made more history in 2024 by becoming the first school to produce two No. 1 picks after Macklin Celebrini was taken first overall by the San Jose Sharks.

On the following pages is the list of Terrier players who have been drafted over the past 51 years.

40 CONFERENCE TITLES - 22 REGULAR SEASON, 18 TOURNAMENT

MIKE GRIER & MACKLIN CELEBRINI

TERRIERS IN NHL FRONT OFFICES

Boston University has not only produced over 95 National Hockey League players, but countless alumni have gone on to success in front offices across the league. No other school has more alumni serving as NHL head coaches or NHL general managers than BU. In addition, BU was the only school to have an alumnus serve as a head coach in the NHL, AHL and ECHL during the past three seasons.

Peter Ahola - European Scout - Vegas Golden Knights
 Ron Anderson - Senior Advisor, Player Recruitment - Chicago Blackhawks
 Chris Bourque - College Free Agent Scout - Toronto Maple Leafs
 Bob Deraney - ECHL Head Coach - New York Islanders
 Chris Drury - President/General Manager - New York Rangers
 Paul Fenton - Senior Advisor to the General Manager - Florida Panthers
 Mike Grier - General Manager - San Jose Sharks
 John Hynes - Head Coach - Minnesota Wild
 Jeff Kealty - Assistant General Manager/Director of Scouting - Nashville Predators
 Chris Kelleher - Assistant General Manager - Minnesota Wild
 Scott Lachance - Head of US Scouting - New Jersey Devils
 John Lilley - Director of Player Personnel & Amateur Scouting - New York Rangers
 Pete MacArthur - ECHL Head Coach - New Jersey Devils

REMEMBERING BROWN ARENA

For over 33 years, Walter Brown Arena provided an incredible home-ice advantage for Terrier men's ice hockey. The Terriers went 362-129-37 in 528 games played from the arena's opening night against Yale on Nov. 27, 1971 until Jan. 2, 2005, when BU welcomed Minnesota for the final regular-season game at Walter Brown before the opening of Agganis Arena the next night. The Terriers improved on that incredible .721 winning percentage on Dec. 30, 2022, when BU hosted Harvard for the men's team's first regular-season game at Brown Arena in almost 18 years. Domenick Fensore sent the sold-out crowd home happy, as his goal with 31.8 seconds remaining in overtime gave the Terriers a 2-1 win over the Crimson.

JACK KELLEY was the architect of the Boston University hockey tradition both on and off the ice. An outstanding player for the Terriers from 1949-52, he returned to his alma mater in 1962 to take over a program that had won just 17 total games during the previous two years. During the next 10 seasons, Kelley compiled a 206-80-8 record for a .714 winning percentage. His 1970-71 and 1971-72 teams won back-to-back NCAA titles with a combined record of 33-5-2. On November 27, 1971, Kelley was the Terriers' head coach when BU played Yale in the inaugural game of Brown Arena. He went on to coach the Terriers through the 1971-72 season and compiled a 12-1-1 career record at Brown Arena.

"I remember wondering if the Arena was ever going to be built. Once it was built, though, all the frustrations and disappointments we went through were worthwhile. We used to play and practice at the old Boston Arena, and we would have to take cabs and buses to get there. And, we would have ice time at all different hours. Now, we had our own rink on campus. I remember the first game and the facility wasn't completed, but we were in there. A lot of people paid a heckuva price to get the rink, but it was the players who created the legacy that is there now."

DONALD "TOOT" CAHOON is one of two people (Buddy Powers) who has played at Brown Arena, brought a team there as an opposing coach and been an assistant on the Terrier coaching staff. As a player, he was on the ice against Yale in that first game in 1971. He was credited with the first game-winning goal and first hat trick at Brown Arena. He was Jack Parker's first full-time assistant coach, serving from 1974-79 then again in 1987-88 and during the 1990-91 season. As the head coach at Princeton from 1992-99 and the coach at UMass from 2000-01

"I remember how special we all felt that first time we went into Brown Arena. I remember living in West Campus and being able to take an elevator from the dorm to the rink. In the middle of the winter, I was able to wear shorts and a t-shirt to practice because I didn't have to go outside. I also remember hanging the banners from the ceiling. We couldn't do it at Boston Arena, and now that we had our own rink, we could hang the banners and show the tradition of BU hockey. Later, bringing teams in there, those banners and the crowds were intimidating. The first Princeton team I brought in there, I told them to forget about the banners. This is just another rink, and BU is just another team. We got beat badly (7-2). Then, there are the deafening crowds. You can't hear yourself think. Two of the games that I remember the most were the 1991 NCAA games against Michigan. Jack (Parker) could not coach that game because of a one-game suspension from the NCAA. So, I was the head coach and everyone pitched in and was great and we beat them, 4-1. The next night, Jack was back on the bench, and we beat them, 8-1. Even before he went into the locker room to talk to the guys, he came over to me and kidded 'I just wanted to put you in your place. I am twice as good as you are.' Brown Arena has been a terrific place. I will always have a special feeling for it and I am proud to be among the group of alumni who have been part of the tradition."

JACK PARKER never played at Brown Arena, as his home rink was Boston Arena during his Terrier playing days. He did, however, coach 496 games at Brown Arena as the Terriers' head coach. His record was 343-118-35 for a .727 winning percentage.

"What I will always remember about Brown Arena is the noise in the building. It is one of the all-time great buildings that generate enthusiasm. Our players loved to hear the noise, and it kept them going. It was a real great advantage for our team. Over the years, it was a real showcase for us. I remember playing Michigan State in Tony Amonte's first year (1989-90), and we beat them (6-4). After the game, (State coach) Ron Mason came up to me and said he couldn't believe how noisy the building was. The one game I will always remember is the 1995 North Dakota game. That was the game that Travis (Roy) was injured. His number (24) is now hanging from the ceiling as the only number we have ever retired, and it will be there forever. Any BU-BC game at Brown Arena was also special because of the electricity in the building. It really captured the rivalry. We have created this same excitement in Agganis Arena."

MIKE ERUZIONE played at Brown Arena for four years before he went on to captain the 1980 U.S. Olympic gold medal-winning hockey team. During his four-year Terrier career, he played 46 games at Brown Arena and his teams compiled a 40-5-1 record for a .880 winning percentage. His first three years, his record at home was 32-1-0.

"I remember putting on the game jersey the first time and skating onto the ice and feeling that it was a dream come true. When I was in high school, I would drive by Brown Arena and think what it would be like to play here but never thought I would be good enough. My first impression was walking into the locker room the first time and seeing the director's chairs with everyone's names on them. The crowds were deafening. BU hockey was a powerhouse during the early Seventies, having won the 1971 and 1972 national titles. This was where you wanted to play. Since my family lived so close, they could come see me play, but I needed 15-20 tickets for every home game. That's why I tried to be close to the guys from Canada. They didn't need their tickets, and they would give them to me. I think the games that were extra special were the ones against BC and Harvard. One night, we were playing BC, and I think the final score was 8-7. Ricky (Meagher) would score for us then (Joe) Mullen would score for them. And, it went that way all night. The problem was that I was assigned to cover Mullen that night. I miss the noise of the crowd, but Agganis Arena is unbelievable."

MIKE SULLIVAN played at Brown Arena from 1986-87 through 1989-90. The Terrier captain his senior season, his four-year record at home was 38-24-6 for a .603 winning percentage. With an older sister and brother having gone to BC, and his graduating from BC High School, it seemed certain that Mike would attend Boston College. Instead, he chose Boston University. After graduating, he began an 11-year career in the NHL. He then spent a year coaching the Providence Bruins before being elevated to the head-coaching position with the Boston Bruins in June 2003. The youngest head coach in the NHL, Sullivan guided the Bruins to a 41-19-5 record and a berth in the playoffs. In 2016 with Pittsburgh, he became the first Terrier to win the Stanley Cup as a head coach.

"My initial memory of Brown Arena was how vibrant it was. The crowd was loud, the band was great and there was a huge student turnout. I think one of the games I remember most was the one I came to when I was being recruited. I brought my girlfriend, who is now my wife (Kate) and we were sitting in the section just below the band. BU was playing Northeastern that night, and the NU goalie was trying to clear the puck out of its end. The puck came over the glass and hit my girlfriend in the shoulder. I felt that was a sign that I should come here. I think one of the first things I remember are the director's chairs. I thought how special it was that each guy would have a director's chair with the BU logo on the front and his names on the back. I still have my chair at home. I remember the camaraderie that existed here. We used to love to come down for practice and just hang out afterward as a team. In 2003-04, I came back for a few games, and the atmosphere hadn't changed. I don't think there is a college rink in the country like it, and I love the fact that I was part of it."

BERNIE CORBETT has experienced Terrier hockey at Walter Brown Arena from a variety of perspectives. First as a Pee Wee hockey-playing fan and devoted season ticket holder attending games with his family from 1971-78. Next as the Terriers' varsity hockey manager viewing the games from the bench and later charting the games from the press box. Most recently, for the past 39 seasons Corbett has had the privilege of calling the games as the radio "Voice of Terrier Hockey."

"When I think of the Walter Brown Arena experience the things that immediately come to mind are tradition and passion. The Arena has personified the long-time success of the program. I've always thought the banners alone have been worth a goal a game. The passion of the fans is palpable. There has been no better home-ice advantage in college hockey. The old barn can really rock. The most vivid memory I'll take with me is the 'curtain call' that the team took, returning to the ice for a victory lap after the deciding third game of the 1990 NCAA First Round series victory over North Dakota. The fans simply refused to leave until captain Mike Sullivan brought the boys back for a twirl. The tradition of the program and passion of the fans have helped to make a smooth transition to Agganis."
