HOYA HERITAGE

by Rory F. Quirk C'65, L'80

(partially excerpted from, "HOYA-SAXA: Georgetown Football 1874-1978", printed 1978, revised by GU's Sports Information Department in 2003)

Georgetown's football past is rich with upsets, stellar teams and bowl bids. Georgetown can rightfully boast of outstanding individuals whose names dotted the weekend sports pages and who propelled the Hoyas to national prominence: Al Exendine, the Carlisle All-American who brought the Pop Warner system and winning football to the Hilltop as head coach from 1914 to 1922 ... Johnny Gilroy, perhaps the premier college running back of his day, who led the nation in rushing in 1916 ... Lou Little, the Penn All-American who brought Georgetown to Eastern prominence in the '20s before moving on to Columbia, where he won long-overdue acclaim as one of the finest coaches in the history of the college game ... Jack Hagerty, All-East halfback and captain of Little's powerhouse, went on to star for the New York Giants before returning to his alma mater as head coach from 1931-1948 ... George Murtagh, another Georgetown and Giant standout, who returned as Hagerty's assistant ... Al Blozis, standout tackle on the 1941 Orange Bowl team and NCAA shot put champion ... Augie Lio, who played with Blozis, made All-American, and was named to the college Football Hall of Fame ... Maurice "Mush" Dubofsky, longtime Hagerty aide, who starred in the '30s, then returned as head coach in 1968 and 1969 before his death in 1970.

Aside from outstanding individuals, Georgetown can point to outstanding teams: the 1916 squad, which crushed nine consecutive opponents after an opening-game loss to Navy ... the 1925 team, arguably Georgetown's finest, which shut out seven opponents, smothered previously unbeaten Fordham before a stunned crowd at the Polo Grounds in New York and finished 9-1 ... the Hagerty powerhouses of 1938, 1939 and 1940. The 1938-39 teams won 15, tied one and held the opposition to 48 points over the two seasons. The 1940 team extended the unbeaten streak to 23 before losing to Boston College in a battle of unbeaten before a standing-room-only crowd at Boston's Fenway Park. BC edged the Hoyas 19-18 in a contest Grantland Rice characterized as one of the most exciting ever played.

Georgetown finished the 1940 season ranked 13th nationally and received a bid to the Orange Bowl to play unbeaten Mississippi State. The Hoyas outplayed the ninth-ranked Maroons on New Year's Day, but lost 14-7. The defeat marked the conclusion of Georgetown's finest hour as a college football power. The Hoyas finished unbeaten twice and lost just two of 26 games during that three-year period in which Grantland wrote:

"There can be no set system of ranking football coaches ... However, in my opinion, Jack Hagerty of Georgetown belongs high up on this list among the very best that football knows."

Then the war came. Georgetown continued to field representative teams in the early '40s before suspending the program in 1943. With the resumption of football in 1946, Jack Hagerty and his staff tried to pick up the pieces and the promise of the pre-war years. While there were occasional upsets and a 1950 Sun Bowl appearance, crowds dwindled, expenses rose, and Georgetown discontinued football. An institution that had been born in a cornfield in 1887 and had risen to the heights of 1940, died abruptly in 1951.

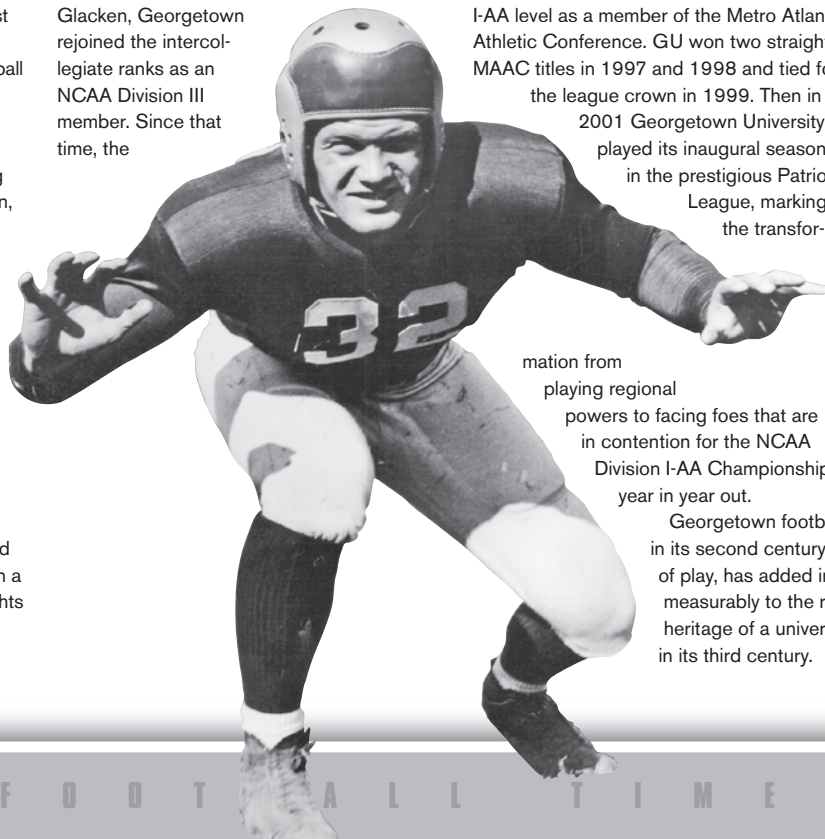

Thirteen years later, Georgetown students petitioned for the resumption of intercollegiate football on a low-budget, nonscholarship level. Their efforts were successful, and sparked the "club football" movement of the late '60s, which saw some 50 colleges that had previously abandoned football follow Georgetown back to the game on a nonscholarship basis.

In 1970, under the guidance of former Duke All-American Scotty Glacken, Georgetown rejoined the intercollegiate ranks as an NCAA Division III member. Since that time, the Hoyas have finished 10th (1974) and 7th (1978) in balloting for the Lambert Bowl, awarded annually to the best small-college team in the East. The 1978 team finished 7-1, the best showing by a Georgetown team since 1939.

In 1993, Georgetown opened a new chapter in its football history, as the Hoyas made the transition to the NCAA Division I-AA level as a member of the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference. GU won two straight MAAC titles in 1997 and 1998 and tied for the league crown in 1999. Then in 2001 Georgetown University played its inaugural season in the prestigious Patriot League, marking the transformation from playing regional powers to facing foes that are in contention for the NCAA Division I-AA Championship year in year out.

Georgetown football, in its second century of play, has added immeasurably to the rich heritage of a university in its third century.

AN OLD TRADITION RETURNS...

The 2003 Hoyas restarted an old Hilltop tradition by singing the Georgetown fight song after every victory. It was the idea of Georgetown President John J. DeGioia and then-head coach Bob Benson. The squad learns the song during preseason by having each position group sing off against another group with the loser earning extra conditioning the next day. Georgetown's first rendition of the song came at Lafayette on October 5, 2003. The Hoyas have continued the revived tradition ever since.

GEORGETOWN FIGHT SONG

"It's been so long since last we met

Lie down forever, lie down
Oh, have you any money to bet
Lie down forever, lie down!"

"There goes old... Georgetown
Straight for a... touchdown
See how they... gain ground
Lie down forever, lie down
Lie down forever, lie down!"

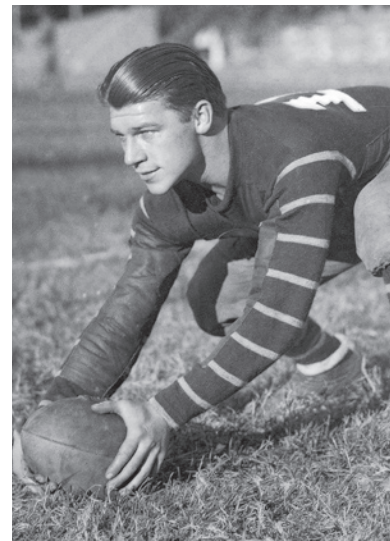

"Rah! Rah! Rah!
Hurrah for Georgetown
Cheer for victory today
'Ere the sun has sunk to rest,
In the cradle of the west
In the clouds will proudly float the Blue and Gray."

"We've heard those loyal fellows up at Yale
Brag and boast about their
'Boola-Boola'
We've heard the Navy yell,
we've listened to Cornell
We've heard the sons of Harvard tell
How Crimson lines could hold them
'Choo! Choo! Rah! Rah!',
dear to Holy Cross
The proud old Princeton tiger is never at a loss
But the yell of all the yells,
the yell that wins the day
Is the 'HOYA, HOYA SAXA!'
of the dear Old Blue
and Gray."

IN MEMORY OF JOE EACOBACCI (C '96)

The tragedies of September 11, 2001 took the life of a member of the Georgetown football community – former Hoya standout Joe Eacobacci. A four-year letterwinner and 1996 graduate of the College of Arts and Sciences, he was working as an energy trader for the investment firm, Cantor Fitzgerald, which was headquartered on the 105th floor of the North Tower of the World Trade Center in New York City.

Joe wore the Blue & Gray from 1992 to 1995 under head coaches Bob Benson and Scotty Glacken. He captained the squad as a senior, leading the Hoyas to a 6-3 record, in which they held their opponents to only 99 points, the lowest total by a Hoya defense over the last 25 years.

Benson, his coach from 1993-96, believed that Eacobacci's mark on Georgetown was inked not only on the gridiron, but also on the entire Georgetown campus.

"He had more friends than anybody and that was what made him a beautiful person," Benson said in an interview with Georgetown's student newspaper, The Hoya. "He would light up a room. He really could make people smile and bring enjoyment and pleasure to a room."

THE EACOBACCI FAMILY – ANN & MITCH EACOBACCI, ANDREA & TOM, AND DENISE & JOE

Joe is survived by his parents, Ann and Mitch Eacobacci, his older brother, Tom – a 1993 graduate of the McDonough School of Business and former football player, his younger sister, Michelle, and his girlfriend of many years, Denise Mauro.

The Eacobacci family and Georgetown University have set up a need based scholarship fund in Joe's name.

Beginning with the 2003 season, Georgetown's athletic department and the football program began honoring Joe every year by having a football student-athlete wear his former playing jersey No. 35.

The Eacobacci Memorial Jersey Award is presented to the player who shows extreme dedication to the Georgetown community and the football program.

At this past year's Gridiron Club Awards Banquet, it was announced that linebacker Stephen Smith would wear the No. 35 jersey for the 2007 campaign. He was presented with the Eacobacci Memorial Jersey Award by Joe's brother, Tom and 2006 jersey recipient, Alex Buzbee.

Smith will be the fourth Hoya to put on the Eacobacci Memorial Jersey, following Matt Fronczke (2003), Michael Ononibaku (2004, 2005) and Buzbee (2006).

JOE EACOBACCI WITH SISTER MICHELLE

LEGACY OF HONOR

The #35 jersey honors the life of an individual who created a difference in the lives of everyone who knew him. His passion, respect, and pursuit for excellence in every aspect of his life is a model by which all young men should try to lead their lives.

To be compared to such an outstanding individual has been an honor and a privilege. As the first to wear the number I felt a tremendous amount of pride to carry on the legacy that Joe left behind.

The Georgetown University football program has a great history preserved in the student-athletes that have come and gone before us. Its success is built on the backs of those, like Joe, who devoted themselves to something greater than themselves with the utmost dedication and sacrifice. Remembering the program's history and building upon it, starts with honoring individuals who have played key roles in creating its present success.

The #35 jersey is a constant reminder to the present athletes to remember and honor Joe along with all others that came before them.

Those wearing the #35 will always be in the Hoya spotlight. They will not only be recognized as elite athletes but as exceptional students and incredible human beings. They lead by example and present themselves with the utmost pride. Mike and Alex possess all the qualities expected by a #35 jersey award winner and more. I have had the privilege of playing with both individuals and was always amazed and still am with their talent and character. To be associated with such a great group of individuals is an honor I hold deeply to my heart.

Being presented with this award has impacted me on a very personal level and has constantly reminded me to live my life the best of my ability, seize opportunities, and take a few chances.

I can only begin to explain the amount of pride I took and still take in the having worn #35. I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Alex for this award and wish him the best of luck during the course of this season.

Go Hoyas!

- Matt Fronczke

MEMORIAL JERSEY RECIPIENTS

MATT FRONCZKE

Fronczke was the first player at Georgetown to wear the No. 35 jersey after it was dedicated to the memory of Joe Eacobacci. A native of Downers Grove, Illinois, Fronczke wore the jersey during the 2003 season, when he capped off a stellar four-year career. Known for his strength, Fronczke is considered one of the best athletes in the history of the program. He was a two-time captain, becoming the first Hoya player since 1986 to captain the team in consecutive years. He finished his career with 243 tackles, the third-best mark in program history. As a senior, he was third on the team with 85 tackles, earning second team All-Patriot League honors at safety. As a sophomore he led the team with 74 stops.

MICHAEL ONONIBAKU

2004 & 2005

Ononibaku was the second Georgetown player to don the No. 35 jersey and was the first to wear it in back-to-back years. A native of Amherst, Massachusetts, he graduated from Georgetown in May 2006 with a degree in finance and management and is considered one of the top players in program history.

Ononibaku finished his career ranked second all-time at Georgetown in sacks with 29, and sixth all-time in tackles with 212. He also served as a team captain during the 2005 season and was selected as a first-team All-American by the American Football Coaches Association. He earned All-Patriot League honors three time, being named to the first team in 2004 and 2005 and the second team in 2003.

ALEX BUZBEE

Buzbee is the third Hoya to have the honor of wearing the No. 35 jersey. A three-time

All-Patriot League selection, he ended his career third on the school's all-time list with 27.5 sacks. Buzbee sported the jersey for the 2006 season, in which he earned honorable mention All-America honors and First Team All-Patriot League accolades. As a senior, he led the Patriot League with 5.5 sacks and was in the top-10 in the league in both tackles (75) and tackles-for-a-loss (13). Buzbee also earned second team all-league honors as a sophomore and junior, highlighted by a league-leading 10.5 sack season in 2004, the fifth most in a single-season by a Hoya.

GEORGETOWN IN THE COMMUNITY

One of the aspects of life that Head Football Coach Kevin Kelly stresses to his players and to potential recruits are the opportunities they will have during their four years on the Hilltop.

Playing in the Patriot League at the Football Championship Subdivision Level, the Hoyas compete in one of the most respected conferences in the country.

Off the field, Georgetown football players have a world of opportunities in front of them.

“When we talk to our players and to recruits,” Kelly said, “we stress to them that if you come to Georgetown, there are tremendous opportunities to not only get a great education and play at a high level of football, but to immerse yourself on the campus and to make contacts for your post-graduate years that can’t be duplicated.”

Kelly’s words ring true to his players, who are among the most active groups of student-athletes on the Hilltop.

Throughout the year, there are numerous opportunities for players to interact positively with alumni, parents and friends. The networking and gathering of alumni, parents and friends that centers around both the home and away contests is a wonderful and warm feature of the program at Georgetown.

Pre- and postseason barbecues welcome the freshmen and bid farewell to the seniors. At home and away games, a “Hoya tent” or “tailgate,” where friends and family gather and cheer on the team, serves to confirm the tradition and pride associated with Georgetown University and its lacrosse program.

The Hoya football team has participated in the Hoya Dreams program, which brings student-athletes from Georgetown together with young children from the Georgetown University Hospital. Student-athletes will visit the hospital to read books, take part in Easter Egg hunts or bring the children to their games, where they can interact with players following their games.

During the summer, Georgetown football players have the opportunity to earn internships in a variety of different fields, whether it is working in the business sector in places like New York City or Washington, or to pursue positions within the United States government.

This summer, a number of Georgetown football players interned with companies such as Merrill Lynch and Smith Barney in New York, while several had internships on Capitol Hill.
