In 2012, she led the Lakers with 145 total blocks, 115 block assists, 30 solo rejections, and 1.28 blocks per set. All of those numbers were second-best in the GLIAC. A First Team All-GLIAC selection and a First Team Daktronics All-Midwest Region selection in 2012, Umoh was a defensive force early on - she totaled 10 block assists in her first collegiate match.

Rebekkah Rapin

2010 - Daktronics Honorable Mention
6-1 • MB • Saginaw, Mich.

Rebekkah Rapin is one of just five Lakers to ever earn multiple All-America honors and the eighth player in GVSU history to be a First Team All-America selection. She is one of just two players ever at Grand Valley State to be named First Team All-GLIAC three times in her career. Rapin also was named both the 2010 Daktronics and AVCA Midwest Region Player of the Year. The all-time career leader at GVSU in total blocks (525) and block assists (437), she ended her career ranked seventh in kills (1,364) and attacks (3,184) and eighth in hitting percentage (.317). In 2007, Rapin was the first-ever Laker to be named the Great Lakes Region Freshman of the Year.

2008 - Daktronics 1st Team
5-11 • MB • Newport, Mich.

Danielle Alexander is the fourth GVSU player to earn multiple All-America honors and ended her career with the most block assists (383) in school history. She was tabbed as the GLIAC and Midwest Region Player of the Year in 2008, while being an All-GLIAC First Team and All-Midwest Region selection twice. Alexander owns two of the top eight highest single-season block assist totals and her 445 career blocks is third most in GVSU history. On Oct. 21, 2008, she became the first Laker ever to be named the AVCA National Player of the Week. Alexander also was a two-time member of the GLIAC and Midwest Region All-Tournament Teams.

Meghan Moore

2006 - Daktronics 3rd Team
5-11 • MB • Alma, Mich.

Meghan Moore averaged 4.35 kills, 1.16 blocks, 5.11 points and 0.68 digs, while hitting .375, 13th best in NCAA Division II in her final campaign as a Laker. She ranked third in the GLIAC in hitting percentage, kills, points, and fourth in blocks. Moore was named GLIAC Player of the Week twice in 2006 and earned All-GLIAC First Team, Daktronics Great Lakes Region First Team and GLIAC All-Tournament Team honors. She recorded a block in every match and tallied double-digit kills in 28 out of 31 matches.

Carly Miller led the 2002 Lakers with 502 kills and a .326 hitting percentage and earned Daktronics All-Great Lakes Region First Team honors for the second year in a row. She was also named to the AVCA Great Lakes All-Region First Team, All-GLIAC First Team, and the GLIAC All-Tournament Team. In 2001, Miller was named the GLIAC Player of the Year and is the only Laker to ever earn All-GLIAC First Team honors all four years of her career. NCAA NATIONAL TOURNAMENT RECAPS

2000 Elite Eight (Sioux Falls, S.D.)

Grand Valley State (31-4) qualified for the NCAA Division II Championship for the first time in school history in 2000. The Lakers captured the GLIAC title for the first time since a co-championship in 1987.

GVSU hosted its' first-ever NCAA Great Lakes Regional Tournament and came away with the regional championship. In the process, the Lakers won a five-set battle with Northern Kentucky and then beat Northwood for the third time with a 3-0 sweep in the title match.

At the Elite Eight, Grand Valley State faced Hawaii Pacific, who was 25-0 going into the match. The Lakers fell to the eventual national champion, 3-0 (15-4, 15-13, 15-4), putting an end to the remarkable season.

Head Coach Deanne Scanlon was named AVCA Great Lakes Region Coach of the Year for the first time in her coaching career. Middle hitter Kathy Vis became GVSU's first-ever First Team All-American and also received Daktronics Great Lakes Region First Team honors. Setter Kristy Kale, Grand Valley State's all-time leader in assists (5,441) earned Second Team All-American and Daktronics Great Lakes Region First Team honors. Outside hitter Carly Miller was the third Laker to be named to the Daktronics Great Lakes Region First Team. The senior class had great success in its four years, compiling a 101-37 (.732) record from 1997-2000.

Carly Miller

2001 Final Four (Allendale, Mich.)

In 2001, the Lakers staked their claim as a national power by advancing to the NCAA Division II Championship Tournament for the second consecutive year.

In addition, 2001 not only saw the Lakers advance to the Final Four for the first time in school history, but Grand Valley State hosted the championship event in its own Fieldhouse Arena, where close to 2,000 spectators enjoyed some of the nation's premiere volleyball action.

The Lakers entered the season with little expected of them after losing two All-Americans to graduation. However, a team without any seniors turned in one of the best volleyball seasons in the history of the school by recording a 29-5 record.

A victory over Mercy College in the NCAA Elite Eight gave the Lakers their first-ever Final Four appearance. However, the loss to South Dakota State in the national semifinal ended the Lakers' season and 31-match home winning streak, just short of the ultimate goal of winning a national championship.

Grand Valley State not only excelled in the postseason as they recorded a school-record 22-match winning streak, but it also claimed the GLIAC North Division title with an 11-1 mark in the regular season.

Carly Miller became Grand Valley State's second AVCA First Team All-American. Miller also received the GLIAC Player of the Year award and was a five-time conference Player of the Week award recipient. Chara Fehsenfeld was a Verizon First-Team Academic All-American for her 3.98 GPA and her play on the court. Fehsenfeld and Traci Skrzypek were named All-Great Lakes Region while Nicole Bayle and Sabrina Bird earned Second Team and Honorable Mention All-GLIAC honors.

Head Coach Deanne Scanlon received the GLIAC Coach of the Year award for the first time in her career and Great Lakes Regional Coach of the Year award for the second consecutive season.

NCAA NATIONAL TOURNAMENT RECAPS

2002 Final Four (Canyon Tex.)

Grand Valley State continued its success in 2002 as it captured the program's third straight Great Lakes Regional Championship. The Lakers' 32-3 record was the best ever in school history.

For the third consecutive season, GVSU hosted and won the Great Lakes Regional Championship. The Lakers matched up with Northwood in the championship game and defeated them for the third time that season.

GVSU defeated Edinboro College, 3-0, in its first match in Canyon, Texas at the NCAA Championships. Grand Valley State then played Truman State and fell in the semifinals, 3-1 (30-27, 31-29, 26-30, 30-22).

That was the last match for four seniors as Carly Miller, Chara Fehsenfeld, Traci Skrzypek, and Lisa Cramer left Grand Valley State after leading the team to an unbelievable 119-19 (.862) record in four years. Once again, Miller earned AVCA First Team All-American honors, as did Nicole Bayle. Bayle and Miller also earned First Team All-GLIAC plaudits.

Fehsenfeld earned Verizon Academic First Team All-American honors for the second straight year. Fehsenfeld, Sabrina Bird and Traci Skrzypek were all named to the All-GLIAC Second Team. Head Coach Deanne Scanlon was named Great Lakes Regional Coach of the Year for the third consecutive season.

Nicole Bayle

2003 Final Four (San Bernardino, Calif.)

The Lakers earned their fourth consecutive Great Lakes Regional Championship title and fourth straight berth in the NCAA D-II National Championships in 2003. Grand Valley State finished the season with a 30-8 record.

For the first time in four years, GVSU was on the road for the Great Lakes Regional Tournament. The tournament was held by Northern Michigan in Marquette, Mich. The Lakers defeated both Indianapolis and Wheeling Jesuit, 3-2, to advance to the championship match. Grand Valley State won the regional title by defeating Northern Kentucky, 3-0.

Grand Valley State faced Nebraska-Kearney in the first game of the NCAA Championship, which was held in San Bernardino, California. The Lakers won, 3-0 (34-32, 30-26, 30-17), to advance to the national semifinals for the third straight season.

GVSU fell, 3-1 (21-30, 30-25, 29-31, 26-30), to North Alabama in the semifinals, while UNA went on to win the national championship. Senior setter Nicole Bayle earned AVCA Division II First Team All-American honors for the second consecutive year, while senior middle hitter Sabrina Bird was named to the AVCA Division II All-America Third Team.

2005 DIVISION II NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

GRAND VALLEY STATE HURDLES HOME-COURT DISADVANTAGE IN WIN (Originally published in The NCAA News on Dec. 19, 2005)

Competing for the Division II Women's Volleyball Championship on someone else's home court wasn't the best-case scenario for Grand Valley State.

The Lakers entered the finals knowing all about #1 Nebraska-Kearney's 66-match home winning streak, and they also anticipated a partisan Division II championship record crowd.

None of that deterred Grand Valley State from its mission of capturing the institution's first women's volleyball championship, though, as the Lakers downed Nebraska-Kearney in four games, 30-18, 30-27, 25-30, 30-24, at the Health and Sports Center December 3.

It was the first time Nebraska-Kearney (38-2) lost in its own gymnasium since November 8, 2002, when Metro State registered a 3-1 victory.

The 66-match home winning streak tied for the second longest in Division II women's volleyball history. Northern Michigan won the same number of consecutive home matches from 1992 to 1996. The University of New Haven holds the all-time record with 109.

"This is just incredible," said Grand Valley State coach Deanne Scanlon, whose team also broke Nebraska-Kearney's 33-match overall winning streak this season. "This team deserves so much. When we set our team goals back in August, they wrote 'GVSU National Champions.' That was the first team I've had to do that."

Grand Valley State (32-6) kept the frenzied atmosphere under control with its strong play from Tina Tromblay. All-American Tracy Kirk and Megan Helsen scored the winning point of the match by combining to block Nebraska-Kearney all-American Erin Gudmundson's kill attempt.

The Lakers, who became the first women's team at their institution to win a national title, built an 8-4 advantage and won the first game riding the strength of a .412 attack percentage.

In the second game, Grand Valley State led, 27-19, courtesy of strong play from Tina Tromblay. The 5-8 senior recorded a kill and served six straight points to break open the score.

Nebraska-Kearney rallied but fell by three points at the end of Game 2.

Grand Valley appeared poised for the sweep when it led, 10-4, in the third game, but the Antelopes gave their fans hope by winning the game, 30-25.

"I was proud of the way our women fought back," said Nebraska-Kearney coach Rick Squiers. "Things were clearly not going our way, but we hung in there. We had some chances in Game 4 but couldn't get it done."

The Lakers broke open a 22-22 tie in what turned out to be the final game of the season by outscoring Nebraska-Kearney, 8-3, down the stretch.

Grand Valley State, which had 12 team blocks, limited Nebraska-Kearney to a .084 attack percentage in the match. Meghan Moore's 17 kills and Kirk's 13 sparked the Lakers' offense, which also produced 10 service aces in the match.

Moore, Kirk, Helsen, Allyson Riley, and Jamie Ashmore of Grand Valley State were named to the all-tournament team. The Lakers' senior class finished their careers with a 121-24 (.834) mark.

The 2005 National Championship team had arguably more talent than any GVSU team in program history. 11 of the 15 players on the roster earned All-GLIAC honors at some point during their careers, while the 2005 Lakers had six players who were named All-Americans while at Grand Valley State.

2007 Elite Eight (Topeka, Kan.)

The Lakers made a return trip to the Elite Eight in 2007, their first since capturing the 2005 National Championship. GVSU won the Great Lakes Regional Tournament, hosting the event at GVSU Fieldhouse Arena.

Grand Valley State bounced Charleston in the opening round with a 3-0 sweep before exacting some revenge on SIU-Edwardsville, one of just three teams to have defeated the Lakers during the season. GVSU ousted the Cougars from the tournament with a 3-1 victory, including a dominant 30-14 win in the decisive fourth game.

In the championship match, Grand Valley State upended Lewis in a five-game thriller. After losing the first two games, GVSU rallied to win three straight and close out the Flyers, 3-2 (26-30, 28-30, 30-23, 30-24, 15-5).

To return to the Elite Eight, the #5 Lakers headed out west to Topeka, Kansas where they faced eighth-seeded West Texas A&M. GVSU secured a game one victory, 30-27, before the Lady Buffs won games two and three, 30-24 and 30-27. The Lakers forced game five with a 30-26 win, tallying 21 kills and a .447 hitting percentage.

Game five was an instant classic, as the game was tied 10 times and GVSU fought off three elimination points after being tied 14-14. In the longest match of the tournament, West Texas A&M ended up victorious, winning game five 22-20, and ending the Lakers' terrific season with a 33-4 record.

2008 Final Four (St. Paul, Minn.)

After cruising through the GLIAC Tournament with three consecutive four-set victories, Grand Valley State hosted the 2008 Midwest Regional Tournament in the GVSU Fieldhouse Arena and would face three opponents it already played - and defeated - earlier in the season.

The Lakers had little trouble with Northwood in the opening round, knocking off the Timberwolves, 3-0. GVSU dropped the opening set of the semifinals against Indianapolis before winning the final three sets and taking a 3-1 victory. In a repeat of the GLIAC Championship match, the Lakers met up with Saginaw Valley State for the regional title. The Cardinals took the opening set before GVSU rebounded and closed the match with a 3-1 win and the school's seventh regional championship in nine seasons.

Grand Valley State entered the NCAA Elite Eight for the seventh time in program history and faced Armstrong Atlantic in just the second-ever meeting between the two schools. The Lakers had little trouble with AASU as Grand Valley State recorded its 17th 3-0 victory of the year (25-19, 25-23, 25-17) to advance to the Final Four for the fifth time in school history.

Evoking memories of GVSU's 2005 run to the Division II National Championship, the Lakers were paired up with #1 Concordia-St. Paul in the semifinals. The Golden Bears were not only the top-ranked team in the country, but also the defending national champions, winners of 35 straight matches, and playing on their home court. This was looking similar to when Grand Valley State defeated Nebraska-Kearney on its home court in the 2005 National Championship match.

The result of the 2008 match, however, would not be the same. Concordia-St. Paul opened up an 8-0 lead in the first set and although the Lakers rallied to 18-15, CU held on for a 25-20 win. GVSU evened the match at one set apiece with a 25-20 victory in the second set. The Golden Bears closed out the match with wins in the third (25-17) and fourth sets (25-20) for a 3-1 victory. The following night, Concordia-St. Paul picked up its second straight National Championship with a five-set win over Cal State San Bernardino.

2010 Elite Eight (Louisville, Ky.)

The Lakers defeated Northwood (3-0) and Northern Michigan (3-1) in the quarterfinals and semifinals of the GLIAC Tournament before falling to Hillsdale, 3-2, in a five-set classic in the GLIAC Tournament Championship. GVSU returned to Hillsdale the following weekend for the Midwest Regional Tournament and experienced a different result.

Grand Valley State opened with a 3-0 sweep over Northern Kentucky that was actually tougher than it appeared, as two of the three sets were decided by just two points. The Lakers met up in the semifinals with Lewis, who GVSU defeated in a five-set thriller at the GLIAC-GLVC Crossover in mid-October. A 3-1 victory over Lewis pushed the Lakers into the regional championship match against Indianapolis.

The third GLVC team that Grand Valley State played in the regional tournament was certainly the toughest. Indianapolis won the first set, 25-15, before GVSU bounced back to win the next two sets, 26-24 and 25-16. A narrow fourth set (25-23) went to the Greyhounds and forced a pivotal fifth set that the Lakers ended up winning by a 15-9 score. With the win in the Midwest Regional Championship, Grand Valley State advanced to the NCAA Elite Eight for the eighth time - all since 2000.

Taking a 26-6 record into the Division II National Tournament in Louisville, GVSU ran into an outstanding Tampa team that entered with a 29-3 record and the #2 national ranking. It was the second meeting of the year between the two teams, as the Spartans swept Grand Valley State 3-0 in the teams' season-opening tournament.

Tampa again got the best of GVSU in the Elite Eight, as the Spartans won 3-0 (25-11, 25-14, 25-17) before advancing to the national championship match. The #2 Spartans fell to #1 Concordia-St. Paul in four sets, as the Golden Bears captured their fourth straight Division II National Championship. GVSU finished the 2010 campaign with a 26-7 record and its third Elite Eight berth in four seasons.

2014 Final Four (Louisville, Ky.)

GVSU swept its opening two matches at the GLIAC Tournament, topping Ohio Dominican and Saginaw Valley State by 3-0 scores to set up a championship battle with rival Ferris State. The Bulldogs upended Grand Valley State on the Lakers' home floor with a 3-1 victory to capture the tournament title. It was the third meeting of the season for the West Michigan rivals, but would not be the last.

As the Midwest Region's third seed, GVSU was the surprising host of the regional tournament. Playing in the friendly confines of Fieldhouse Arena, however, the Lakers swept Missouri S&T in the quarterfinals, avenging a midseason loss to the Miners. That victory caused a rematch - the fourth meeting of the year and second in six days - against Ferris State in the regional semifinals.

The Lakers used the homecourt advantage to its fullest, sweeping second-seeded FSU by scores of 25-22, 26-24, and 25-23 to advance to the regional championship match for the second year in a row. GVSU continued its 2014 regional dominance by sweeping fourth-seeded Rockhurst (25-14, 25-16, 25-19) to earn its ninth Elite Eight appearance. Grand Valley State was the only team in the country to not drop a set during the regional tournament.

GVSU returned to Louisville, Kentucky, the site of the 2010 Elite Eight, which was also the location of the Lakers' previous trip to the national tournament. Facing #12 Wingate in the quarterfinals, Grand Valley State held the Bulldogs to a season-low .073 hitting percentage and notched its fourth straight sweep (25-17, 25-21, 25-21) to move to the Final Four for the sixth time in school history.

The Lakers matched up with #4 Southwest Minnesota State in the semifinals and the Mustangs (the eventual national runner-up) were able to end GVSU's season with a 3-0 sweep (25-19, 25-23, 25-18). Grand Valley State closed the year with a 27-6 record and its first Final Four appearance since the 2008 season.
