

2019 RAINBOW WAHINE SOFTBALL RECORD BOOK

The Rainbow Wahine have played their home contests on campus since the program turned intercollegiate in 1985. The field, formerly known as Wahine Softball Field, was transformed into the current 1,200-seat stadium prior to the 1998 season and has since added a batting house in 2001 and training/hospitality room in 2009 to the complex. In 2014, new stadium field lights were installed and in 2015 a new video scoreboard replaced the original scoreboard. Also added in 2015 was custom padding for the backstop behind homeplate.

In 2018, the RWSS underwent its first major renovations since its construction in 1998. The renovation would not have been possible without the support of the Hawai'i State Legislature which provided $3.4M of appropriations toward the improvements.

2018 Renovations to the Rainbow Wahine Softball Stadium:

- Regraded field to install new artificial turf in the outfield and new skinned infield
- Upgraded fencing and custom padding around entire field
- New poles/safety netting for spectators, pedestrians, vehicles, and beach volleyball courts
- Higher poles/netting in the outfield to protect tennis courts
- Repainted entire stadium
- Upgraded ADA ramp
- Safety coating on walkways and stairs of stadium
- New flooring for dugouts
- New graphic banners facing outside the stadium under the bleachers
- Repainting/new fencing of rightfield batting house
- New storage shed built in the leftfield batting cage area
- New interior and perimeter fencing

The RWSS has hosted a variety of softball events, in addition to serving as the University's home facility.

Team USA has stopped by for exhibition contests on a few occasions in preparation for its gold medal run at the 2000 Sydney Olympics. Team USA swept a three-game set from the Women's pros Softball League (WPSL) All-Star Team and took a doubleheader from the Rainbow Wahine. The national team also made a brief training stop in Honolulu in 2007 en route to their World Championships.

The RWSS also serves as home to the Hawaii High School Athletic Association's state softball tournament as well as numerous other community events.

Since the RWSS was first constructed, UH has a 347-133 record at home.

In 1998, RWSS's first season of play, UH went 28-2 at home and 46-15 overall. In 1999 the team went 19-3 with a 35-23 overall record.

The RWSS has seen conference championship teams (2003, '07, '10, '12, '13). In 2007, UH fans were treated to one of the best seasons in school history with the team notching wins over several ranked teams at home, a majority coming during the four non-conference tournaments that Hawai'i hosted. The 'Bows earned home wins over Top 25 teams Nebraska, Auburn, DePaul, Oregon State, Baylor, California, and Fresno State. The team went on to advance to the NCAA Super Regionals in Knoxville, Tenn. for the first time in school and conference history.

In 2008, the 'Bows went 40-21 at the RWSS and hosted the WAC Tournament for the first time ever. Hawai'i finished with a solid 40-21 season going and making their eighth appearance in the NCAA's.

Then, in 2010, the Rainbow Wahine set the softball world afire winning both the WAC regular season and tournament titles; the NCAA Regional and NCAA Super Regional to advance to its first Women's College World Series. The 'Bows went 24-8 at home that season and went on to finish the season at 50-16.

In 2012, the 'Bows started on a school-record 21-game win streak and went 26-3 at home en route to its fourth Western Athletic Conference title and 10th appearance in the NCAA tournament. In 2013, the Rainbow Wahine went 28-7 in their home games en route to winning the Big West title and advancing to the program's 11th NCAA Tournament.

H NCAA WOMAN OF THE YEAR NOMINEES

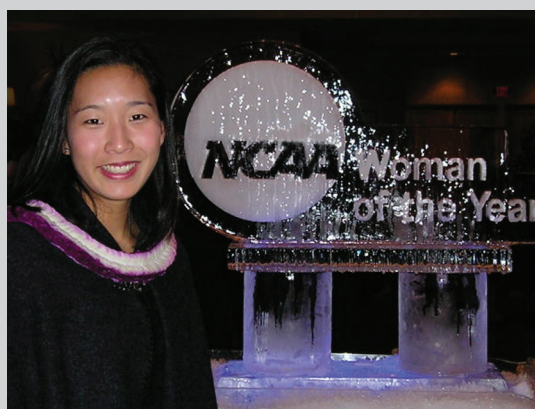

INDIANAPOLIS—The 2013 NCAA Woman of the Year was a celebration of the finest female collegiate student-athletes in the nation. University of Hawai'i softball great Kelly Majam was honored as one of the Top Nine Finalists for the prestigious award. Texas Tech track and field thrower Ifeatu Okafor won the Woman of the Year Award in front of a crowd of around 300 at the JW Marriott's White River Ballroom.

The Top 30 honorees and their families and friends were all included in the reception. The 30 had 10 representatives from each NCAA division (I, II, and III) from a range of sports. NCAA schools from all three of its divisions nominated a total of 455 individuals for the prestigious national award which honors graduating female senior student-athletes who have distinguished themselves during their collegiate careers.

A two-year team captain and four-year starter in centerfield for Hawaii's softball team, Elms never missed a start in four seasons. She helped to lead the Rainbow Wahine to three conference championships and three NCAA tournaments. She finished her career ranked ninth in NCAA history with 72 homeruns and currently holds several career and season records for University of Hawai'i softball program.

Elms earned all-conference honors all four years; was an NFCA all-Region player three seasons; was a conference scholar-athlete and an NFCA Scholar-Athlete for all four years. In 2013 she was named Big West Defensive Player of the Year, was a candidate for the 2013 NCAA Senior Class Award; and became just the third player in Rainbow Wahine softball history to be named All-America.

Before the new format of deciding the NCAA Woman of the Year, two-time All-WAC first team outfielder Tracie Uchima represented Hawai'i as the state nominee. Uchima finished her playing career in May 2005, but the accolades and honors for her work both on and off the field kept rolling in. She finished her career as one of the most decorated athletes to ever don a University of Hawai'i uniform. Here are some of the awards she received throughout her career.

▶▶ NCAA Woman of the Year, State Nominee

The NCAA Woman of the Year award is given to senior student-athletes who have distinguished themselves throughout their collegiate careers in the areas of academic achievement, athletics excellence, service and leadership.

▶▶ NCAA Sportsmanship Award, Western Athletic Conference Female Nominee

This award honors student-athletes who, through their actions in the competitive arena of intercollegiate athletics, have demonstrated one or more of the ideals of sportsmanship, including fairness, civility, honesty, unselfishness, respect and responsibility. Selections are made by the NCAA Committee on Sportsmanship and Ethical Conduct. Nominees must first be submitted to their conference. The conference then selects a male and female athlete who best exemplifies the high standards required for the award.

▶▶ WAC Stan Bates Award – Uchima became only the second female athlete and fourth athlete overall from UH to win the WAC's Stan Bates Award (previous winners were Angelica Ljungquist, Jason Elam, and Blaine Gaison). The award, named in honor of former WAC Commissioner Stan Bates, recognizes the top male and female scholar-athletes and celebrates their athletic and academic accomplishments.
