

Game notes – North Carolina State at Marshall – Sept. 22, 2018

The game captains were senior receiver Tyre Brady and junior receiver Obi Obialo on offense, and senior linebacker Chase Hancock and junior safety Malik Gant on defense.

Saturday's attendance of 32,349 was the 12th-largest in Joan C. Edwards Stadium history.

Marshall and North Carolina State met for the fifth time. NC State has won all five meetings. Saturday was the first time the teams have met outside of Raleigh, North Carolina.

Marshall quarterback Isaiah Green connected with receiver Marcel Williams for an 82-yard touchdown in the second quarter. It was Green's longest pass of his career and the longest reception of Williams' career. The pass play is the longest by the Herd offense this season, tied for the 16th-longest pass play in program history and the 25th pass play of 80-plus yards in MU history.

Marcel Williams' touchdown reception was the third of his career and first of the season. His previous career long was 59 yards. The touchdown reception was his first since Oct. 28, 2017 against Florida International.

Senior running back Keion Davis set a new single game best for receptions (six) and receiving yards (99), and had a career long reception (31 yards).

Davis finished with 203 all-purpose yards, the second-highest total of his career.

The forced fumble by sophomore linebacker Jaquan Yulee was the third of his career.

Senior linebacker Artis Johnson scored a non-offensive touchdown for the second time in his Herd career.
