Back to Wilmington

The Thundering Herd returns to Wilmington for the second consecutive season to compete in the Hughes Bros. Challenge. A season ago, Marshall went 3-1 in the event (Defeated Iona 9-8 (10), Lost to Indiana State 4-1, Defeated Iona 8-3, Defeated UNCW 1-0).

Schedule Change

Note that due to Butler being unable to travel to Wilmington, the Hughes Bros. Challenge will now be a competition between three teams. The Herd was originally scheduled to face UNCW twice, but will now additionally square off against Bowling Green twice as well.

Scouting the Falcons

Marshall meets its former Mid-American Conference foe for the 58th time in history (13-44) and for the first time since 2003, when Marshall took the road and won 3 of 4 games in northeast Ohio. The Falcons are the first of three MAC schools the Thundering Herd will play this season (Akron, Ohio). The Falcons enter the weekend 0-3, having been swept in Nashville by Lipscomb.

Scouting the Seahawks

Last year in the Hughes Bros. Challenge, Marshall knocked off the host Seahawks 1-0 with a 6th inning run being the difference. The 2019 meeting was the first in school history between the two sides. UNCW is 3-2 entering the weekend after a mid-week loss at Coastal Carolina.

New 2021 Stadium

On September 11, 2019, Marshall University purchased the Flint Group pigments property in Huntington from the Huntington Municipal Development Authority (HUMDA). The land will be used to construct the Thundering Herd's long-awaited on-campus new baseball stadium, which is set to open in Huntington in March of 2021. On Saturday, October 25, 2019, ground ceremoniously broke for the start of construction on the field.

What They're Saying About It

"This is another step in an exciting path that will lead us to hearing the crack of a bat in the middle of town. Marshall University is the heartbeat of our city, and I am personally thrilled to be in a position to see that the promise made 50 years ago to Coach Jack Cook comes to fruition. Marshall and the City of Huntington are one team."
- Huntington mayor Steve Williams.

"This is the final step to move forward with an initiative that is long overdue. I want to thank Huntington mayor Steve Williams, Marshall president Dr. Jerry Gilbert and HUMDA for their support along the way. Now the hard part starts. I challenge all of our loyal Marshall fans to step up and help us bring this dream to fruition."
- Marshall AD Mike Hamrick

"I am elated that this day has come. The promise of a baseball stadium for Marshall University is becoming reality. Thank you to Mayor Steve Williams and the City of Huntington, and to Mike Hamrick and all our loyal donors who will make this possible. Now that we've completed this crucial first step and have the land, let's build a baseball stadium!"
- Marshall President Dr. Jerry Gilbert

JEFF WAGGONER

HEAD COACH

2016 KEITH LeCLAIR C-USA COACH OF THE YEAR

14TH SEASON CLEVELAND STATE

In 13 seasons, 36 Marshall players/signees have been given a chance to play at the professional level under Head Coach Waggoner, including major leaguers Dan Straily (2009, 24th round – Oakland A's), Kevin Shackelford (2010, 21st round – Milwaukee Brewers), Aaron Blair (2013, first supplemental round – 36th overall – Arizona Diamondbacks) and JD Hammer (2016, 24th Round – Colorado Rockies).

2016 was a record season for Marshall under the instruction of Coach Waggoner. The Herd won a program record 34 wins, including a win over 17th-ranked Florida Atlantic. Marshall also set a program record 21 wins in Conference USA play. Marshall boasted its highest RPI of 60. Coach Waggoner received the Keith LeClair Coach of the Year award from C-USA. The Thundering Herd lineup featured three C-USA All-Conference first team players (Chase Boster, DJ Gee, Tommy Lane), one C-USA All-Conference second team player (Corey Bird) and a member to the All-Freshman team (Joshua Shapiro). Lane was selected as the Newcomer of the Year for Marshall. The Herd also found success in the classroom with a 3.01 GPA during the fall semester.

The 2016 MLB amateur draft featured four players from the Herd, second most in a single draft. Corey Bird was drafted by the Miami Marlins in the seventh round with the 203rd overall pick. Burris Warner was the second player drafted in the 22nd round to the Detroit Tigers. JD Hammer followed in the 24th round to the Colorado Rockies. Parker Danciu rounded out the group in the 39th round to the Atlanta Braves.

Waggoner's 2014 and 2015 seasons produced All-Conference performers, with Boster earning All-Conference USA second team honors in 2015. Bird was chosen to the All-Freshman team in 2014.

After the 2013 season, Waggoner saw two Thundering Herd players selected in the Major League Baseball Draft. A total of 12 players were selected over the last three seasons, while 26 of his student-athletes have received an opportunity to play professional baseball under his tutelage. Aaron Blair (first supplemental round - 36th overall - to the Arizona Diamondbacks) and Isaac Ballou (15th round to the Washington Nationals), the 2013 draftees, became the 14th and 15th members of the Herd to be selected after serving on one of Waggoner's teams.

One year prior, pitchers Joe Church (17th round to the San Diego Padres) and Mike Mason (24th round to the Colorado Rockies) were selected.

Waggoner's last three teams have produced All-Conference performers, with Blair and Ballou garnering All-Conference USA first team honors in 2013 after Blair and Sergio Leon were named All-Freshmen in 2011 and 2012, respectively.

The 2011 season featured eight players who would go on to be drafted by MLB teams and two players who were signed as free agents. Greg Williams (Texas Rangers), Mike Mason (Texas Rangers), Joe Church (Los Angeles Angels), Isaac Ballou (Pittsburgh Pirates), Kenny Socorro (Chicago Cubs), Arik Sikula (Toronto Blue Jays), Shane Farell (Toronto Blue Jays), Rhett Stafford (Oakland Athletics) were each drafted in the 2011 MLB, marking the most drafted players in a season in Marshall baseball history. Victor Gomez (Atlanta Braves) and Ian Kadish (Toronto Blue Jays) were also picked up by big league teams as free agents.

Along with the most drafted players in a season, Waggoner's club had four players earn Conference USA honors. Kenny Socorro was selected to the All-Conference USA team as an infielder and freshman, Aaron Blair, was named to the Conference USA All-Freshman team. Kyle Blank and Arik Sikula both earned academic recognition through the conference, after being picked to the Conference USA All-Academic team.

In the 2010 Major League Baseball Amateur Draft, Kevin Shackelford, Ryan Kiel and Aaron Blair were selected. Other notable players drafted include Steven Blevins, Tommy Johnson and Nate Lape in 2008, while Eddie Rush and Dan Straily were picked in 2009.

In 2008, during his second season at Marshall, Waggoner led the Herd to 30 wins, the second most in program history. The Herd notched a 30-30-1 overall record and finished sixth in C-USA, with a berth in the 2008 Entergy C-USA Baseball Championship tournament hosted by Tulane.

Prior to the 2010 campaign, the Herd placed three players (Blevins, Lape and Gomez) on All-C-USA teams, while two (Lape and Gomez) were named to all All-Mideast Region squads. Adam Yeager, Gomez and Lape all played summer ball in the prestigious Cape Cod Baseball League.

In his first season with the Herd, Waggoner led the squad to a 21 wins that included 15 victories at home. The Alliance, Ohio, native helped lead Marshall to series wins against both Memphis and Houston.

Waggoner lettered two years as a catcher at Cleveland State University, and graduated with a sport management degree in 1998. He played two years at Crowder College in Neosho, Mo., prior to transferring to Cleveland State. Waggoner received his master's degree in Educational Psychology from the College of Saint Rose in 2001.
