Hofstra University provides a dynamic college experience tailored for engaged and ambitious individuals. Students find pride and purpose at Hofstra, through small classes, a faculty whose primary concern is teaching, cutting edge technology, extensive library resources, internships, and active and compelling educational programs that appeal to their interests and abilities. The Hofstra community is driven, dynamic and energetic, helping students find and focus their strengths to prepare them for a successful future.

In its relatively short 78-year history, Hofstra has established itself as a world-class institution of higher education and cultural enterprise. Each academic year, the Hofstra campus and the programs offered grow and change to meet the demands of our students and our community.

Hofstra opened in 1935 as a commuter school with all classes and offices housed in one building. Since those early days, Hofstra has evolved into an international institution with a student body hailing from all 50 states and 66 countries around the world. The beautiful campus is an accredited arboretum with 115 buildings on 240 acres. There are approximately 3,800 students living on campus, and Hofstra offers them and all students an extensive array of academic and social activities. Additionally, Hofstra's close proximity to Manhattan means that students have easy access to the wondrous cultural, social and career offerings of the city.

While the campus and its offerings have changed, what has remained consistent throughout the years is the sense of community on campus, the eagerness of our students to learn and the commitment of the Hofstra faculty and administration to provide a challenging education that encourages the pursuit of lifelong learning.

The Colleges and Schools of the University are: Hofstra College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Honors College, Frank G. Zarb School of Business, Lawrence Herbert School of Communication, School of Education, School of Engineering and Applied Science, School of Health Sciences and Human Services, Maurice A. Deane School of Law, Hofstra North Shore-LIJ School of Medicine at Hofstra University, School for University Studies and Hofstra University Continuing Education. Hofstra offers six undergraduate degrees in 140 different areas of study. Eleven graduate degrees are also offered with approximately 150 programs of study to choose from. The University offers three first professional degrees and 14 dual degrees as well.

Hofstra joined with North Shore-LIJ Health System in establishing a medical school on the University campus in October 2007. The new school, which welcomed its first class in July 2011, is the first allopathic (MD) medical school in Nassau County and the first in New York State since 1963.

On October 16, 2012, Hofstra hosted its second Presidential Debate, held in the "town hall" format, between President Barack Obama and former Massachusetts Governor Mitt Romney. Hofstra also hosted the third and final presidential debate of the 2008 election cycle, between then Senator Barack Obama and Senator John McCain, on October 15, 2008. The debate was a transformational moment for the University, highlighting the achievements of our students and faculty and their engagement in the political process. Leading up to the first debate, students and the entire community were engaged by the year-long Educate '08 program – almost 150 lectures, conferences, and events focused on the issues, history and politics of the presidency – followed by Define '09, which looked at the first year of the Obama presidency. The University continues to host important political events, such as the New York State Gubernatorial Debate in 2010 and a visit from Newark, NJ, Mayor Cory Booker to kick off the Debate 2012 - Pride, Politics & Policy program.

Hofstra opened its School of Engineering and Applied Science in September 2012. The new school features a co-op education program that will partner with a network of industry leaders to offer students substantial work experience before they graduate. The School of Engineering and Applied Science will combine and expand the University's existing Engineering and Computer Science departments to develop a curriculum that emphasizes high-tech research, practical work experience and inter-disciplinary study, integrating resources from other parts of the institution, including the Hofstra North Shore-LIJ School of Medicine and the Frank G. Zarb School of Business.

Hofstra's Herbert School of Communication is one of the largest, most advanced non-commercial television facilities in the East. Students take classes and work in a sophisticated television production/post-production facility with two broadcast-quality studios and control rooms; two advanced online video edit suites; two Avid non-linear digital editing systems and several cuts-only video work stations. Two satellite dishes are available with one dish providing special news feeds for the broadcast journalism room, which also has access to Associated Press, Lexis-Nexis and Dow Jones services. In addition, the facility is capable of broadcasting student-produced programming to the entire campus on our own cable channels. Also located here is the University's radio station (WRHU/88.7-FM), audio production studios, a film/video screening room, film editing rooms, a computer laboratory, a speech performance studio and a large dance studio.

Hofstra's C.V. Starr Hall offers academic facilities that are among the most technologically advanced in the nation. Every seat in every classroom allows students direct access to the Internet and Hofstra network, including the resources of Hofstra's Axinn Library.

Hofstra's growing computer facilities offer extensive high-tech training opportunities. There are computer terminals throughout the campus for student and faculty use, with more than 750 PC, Macintosh and UNIX workstations available in labs and classrooms.

Hofstra hosts more than 500 cultural events annually, bringing thousands of scholars, dignitaries and other participants to campus. More than 200 musical and dramatic performances take place on campus each year.

The Hofstra Museum, which houses one of the largest art collections in the metropolitan area, coordinates approximately eight exhibitions annually and offers exhibition areas and an extensive outdoor sculpture collection, with 750 pieces. The Hofstra Museum is accredited by the American Association of Museums – one of only 94 universities in the nation and one of six in New York to hold that distinction.

Hofstra also has six theaters, a student newspaper, a lively student center, a recently renovated recreation center and numerous athletic facilities, including the 13,000-seat James M. Stuart Stadium and the 5,046-seat David S. Mack Sports and Exhibition Complex. Hofstra also has an indoor, Olympic-sized (eight lane, 50-meter) swimming pool, one of the largest such facilities in the New York metropolitan area.

The Hofstra athletics program competes on the NCAA Division I level and is a member of the Colonial Athletic Association. The University sponsors 17 intercollegiate programs – eight men’s sports and nine women’s sports. Hofstra has men’s teams in basketball, baseball, lacrosse, golf, tennis, wrestling, soccer and cross country. Women’s sports include basketball, volleyball, softball, tennis, soccer, field hockey, lacrosse, cross country and golf.

Hofstra’s academic programs are accredited by numerous national agencies and the University is one of only 280 schools, out of more than 3,600 colleges and universities nationwide, with a chapter of the national honor society Phi Beta Kappa. Of Hofstra’s 1,135 faculty members, 517 are full time and 93 percent hold the highest degree in their fields. The average undergraduate class size is 21 students, while student-faculty ratio is 14-to-1.

Hofstra University is 100-percent program accessible to persons with disabilities, and has been cited as a national model for this achievement.

NATIONAL RECOGNITION

For the fourth straight year, Hofstra has been selected as one of Chronicle of Higher Education’s “Great Colleges to Work For” receiving recognition for having an innovative and high quality teaching environment as well as clear requirements for tenure. Hofstra has also been named to the 2012 President’s Higher Education & Community Service Honor Roll for exemplary commitment to service and civic engagement on and off campus.

Hofstra continues to be recognized by U.S. News & World Report, Princeton Review, Fiske, Washington Monthly, and Forbes on each of their Best College lists. The University was ranked in Tier One in US News & World Report at number 134, an improvement of 17 positions since the 2006 edition. Princeton Review has also recognized Hofstra for the 3rd year in their “Guide to Green Colleges”, which profiles colleges and universities committed to sustainability inside and outside the classroom.

U.S. News & World Report has once again ranked The School of Education, the Frank G. Zarb School of Business, and the Maurice A. Deane School of Law as Best Graduate Schools, as well as recognized Hofstra’s graduate online programs in business, information technology, and education as top 100 programs. The Frank G. Zarb School of Business was also ranked among the top 75 M.B.A. programs by Forbes magazine, one of the top 5 Largest M.B.A. programs by Crain’s New York, and the undergraduate business program was ranked 117th in the country by U.S. News & World Report. The undergraduate engineering program was ranked at 57 in U.S. News & World Report ranking of non-doctoral engineering programs.

LENA MALINOWSKI WAS INDUCTED INTO THE HOFSTRA ATHLETICS HALL OF FAME IN 2013, BECOMING THE FIFTH VOLLEYBALL STUDENT-ATHLETE TO EARN THAT HONOR

Kristina Hernandez is in her sixth season as the head coach of the Hofstra Volleyball program. She was named to the post on March 27, 2008, following a four-year stint at Loyola (MD).

In her five seasons with the Pride, Hernandez has recorded a record of 76-88.

Hernandez led Hofstra on a thrilling run in 2012 as the Pride won three matches in three days at the Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) Championship to earn its first NCAA Tournament berth since 2006. Hofstra, which won seven straight matches heading into the NCAA Tournament, won 21 matches in 2012. It marked the most wins by Hofstra since the 2006 squad won 24 matches en route to an appearance in the second round of the NCAA Championship.

A pair of players – star sophomore outside hitter Kelsie Wills, who was a first team All-Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) selection, and senior setter Catalina Charry, who garnered All-CAA second team honors, led the team in 2012, but Hernandez also received contributions from every player in the rotation. Included in that group was libero Kylee Maneja, who graduated as Hofstra’s all-time leader in digs.

Hofstra improved a bit more in 2011 under the leadership of Hernandez as the Pride won 14 matches. Hofstra got off to a great start in 2011 as the Pride started off 7-0, which ranks as the third-best start in the illustrious history of the Hofstra Volleyball program. Following the season, the Pride had a pair of players honored by the CAA as Maneja was named to the All-CAA Third Team, while Wills earned CAA All-Rookie honors.

In 2010 Hernandez guided an injury-riddled Pride squad to 10 victories as Hofstra played without the services of Anissa Whitney for the entire season and saw Taylor Moore miss the majority of the season as well.

Hernandez saw her 2009 team win 13 matches and battle for a spot in the CAA Championship until the final weekend before falling just short. Senior Monica Knight led the league in kills and was a second team All-CAA selection, while Whitney was a third team all-league pick.

Following a successful first campaign with the Pride, in which the team posted an 18-14 mark and earned a spot in the CAA Championship semifinals, Hernandez was recognized on a pair of occasions for her work in the volleyball community. In February 2009 Hernandez was named an inaugural American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) “Thirty Under 30” award recipient. The AVCA created this award to honor thirty of the up-and-coming volleyball coaches under 30 years of age in the sport at all levels of the game. Hernandez would follow that up in May 2009 when she was named an assistant coach with the USA Volleyball Women’s Junior A2 squad that competed in an international-style competition in July in Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

Hernandez completed a remarkable turnaround of the Loyola Greyhound volleyball program as she took over a squad in 2004 that had won just five matches the previous season and immediately doubled their win total in her first campaign and by her fourth season the team won 22 matches. That win total was the most for the Loyola program since the 1992 squad set a school record with 25 victories and was the second-most in the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference (MAAC) that season.

A strong recruiter whose 2007 team featured 14 players from seven different states, Hernandez guided the Greyhounds to 13 conference wins in 2007. It marked the most-ever for the program, which had never won more than seven conference matches in a previous season in the MAAC. In fact, the 20 combined conference wins over her last two seasons for the Greyhounds were more than the program had won in the previous six seasons combined.

During the 2007 campaign Loyola finished in the top three in the MAAC for the first time since 1997 and had three different players earn postseason accolades from the conference. With the conference’s rookie and setter of the year, as well as an All-MAAC first team member and two All-MAAC second team honorees, it was the first time since 2002 that Loyola had players named to the All-MAAC teams. The team would also set school records for winning percentage and consecutive home and road wins. In addition, the team established new school marks for kills, assists, digs and total blocks in a season (rally scoring format).

Turning around a program which didn't have a recent winning tradition never seemed to faze Hernandez, who guided Loyola to back-to-back winning seasons for the first time since the program won 12 matches in 1996 and 14 in 1997.

A 2003 summa cum laude graduate of North Carolina A&T, Hernandez played setter for the Aggies, was the team's rookie of the year as a freshman and earned Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC) All-Academic honors from 2001 to 2003.

Hernandez has also expanded her coaching horizons away from the Hofstra campus. A veteran of the USA Volleyball Summer Program, Hernandez has served as a court coach with the USA Volleyball High Performance tryout camp in each of the past seven years and has been a lead tryout coach for the last three years. In 2007 she took part in the USA High Performance Championships in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, where she served as a coach for the USA Youth National A2 team. In 2008 Hernandez served as an assistant coach with the USA Volleyball High Performance Youth A2 squad in Tucson, Arizona, while in 2009 she was an assistant with the USA Volleyball Women's Junior A2 squad. In 2010 Hernandez served as the head coach for the Women's Junior Continental Team with USA Volleyball High Performance Camps. In 2012 Hernandez was the assistant coach for the Youth National A2 program and served as a head coach with the USA camp in Oklahoma.

In 2004 Hernandez got her first taste of collegiate coaching, as she was a volunteer assistant coach with the St. Mary's College (CA) volleyball team.

Also active in the club community, Hernandez was the associate club director for the TCA Baltimore Volleyball Club, for which she served as the head coach of the 16-1's team. In addition, after graduating from college Hernandez worked as a head coach with the Golden Bear Junior Olympic Club in Berkeley, California.

Hernandez was the MAAC representative on the American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) Division I Head Coaches Committee in 2006 and 2007. She has also increased her knowledge of the sport by serving as an intern in 2003 with USA Volleyball and its Beach Volleyball, Disabled, Grassroots and Education Program.

EMILY MANSUR
ASSISTANT COACH

Emily Mansur is in her first season as an assistant volleyball coach at Hofstra in 2013.

Mansur, a graduate of Iona College, joins the Hofstra staff after spending the previous season as an assistant coach of the professional-level Lusofona Volleyball Club. She returns to the college game with extensive experience coaching club teams as well as serving as an assistant coach for one season (2006) at Marist College.

Mansur most recently was an assistant coach for two Lusofona Volleyball Club teams based out of Lisbon, Portugal. Of the two, one was a professional level team in which she was responsible for developing the team's setters. She was also the assistant coach for Lusofona's 18's team, which qualified for the Portuguese Final Four. In addition to leading the practices for setters and middles, Mansur also assisted players trying to attract the attention of professional teams.

Prior to coaching in Portugal, Mansur worked in the corporate world as the general manager and compliance officer at Multitransfers LLC from 2007 to 2012.

Mansur began her coaching career at Maris in 2006 where she took part in practice and conditioning plans, assisted in scouting of opponents and in-game strategy and was also responsible for game filming.

A two-year captain for the Gaels from 2003 to 2004, Mansur was a four-year starter as a right side and outside hitter, and setter. She was named to the all-conference first team in the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference (MAAC) in 2003 and 2004 while earning the MAAC Setter of the Year Award in 2004. Mansur has also played on many club teams including those based out of New York, Brazil, and Germany. Most recently, she played for the Creole Volleyball Club in New York City in 2004, 2005, 2008 and 2012.

Mansur, who is fluent in Portuguese and English, graduated from Iona in 2005 with a degree in psychology.

COLTON REINHOLTZ
ASSISTANT COACH

Colton Reinholtz is in his first season as a member of the Hofstra Volleyball staff.

Reinholtz, a 2013 graduate of the University of Utah with a degree in Park, Recreation, and Tourism, joins the Hofstra staff after previously coaching several club teams, a high school team, and serving as a volunteer assistant for the Utah State volleyball team.

Most recently having been a volunteer assistant at Utah State, Reinholtz assisted in running practices and conditioning drills, and also played a part in reviewing prospective recruits' films and assisting in their official campus visits. Additionally, Reinholtz was also the Head Junior Varsity Volleyball Coach at Brighton High School in Cottonwood Heights, UT, where he was responsible for all aspects of the program including creating practice and game plans.

In the club volleyball circuit, Reinholtz has been a head coach and an assistant. While the head coach of the Mountain West Volleyball Club team, he was in charge of instructing youth players on the fundamentals during practices and tournaments. As an assistant on the Color Country Volleyball Club team, he assisted in creating practice plans for the 18's team while also being active in improving players' skills.

Reinholtz, a setter, started his collegiate career at Southern Utah University, where he was a team captain. He then moved on to Utah and maintained his roles as both captain and setter there as well.

VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT COACH

Dr. Jason Davidow is in his second season as a volunteer assistant coach with the Hofstra Volleyball team.

Davidow, an assistant professor in the Department of Speech-Language-Hearing Sciences at Hofstra, graduated from UC-Santa Barbara with a degree in psychology in 1998. He earned his master's in communication sciences and disorders from the University of Georgia in 2002 and then received his Ph.D. in communication sciences and disorders from Georgia in 2007.

Davidow played volleyball at UC-Santa Barbara from 1993-95 and earned academic all-conference honors in 1994-95.

From 2003 to 2007 he was a setter on the club volleyball team at Georgia. He twice earned all-tournament honors at the NIRSA Collegiate Volleyball Sport Club Championships.

Davidow is also active in the adult club volleyball scene. He currently plays with Club Metropolis on Long Island.

The Hofstra Volleyball team heads into the 2013 campaign on the heels of the program's seventh appearance in the NCAA Tournament as the Pride went on a thrilling late season run to capture the Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) crown and advance to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since the 2006 season.

Led by junior outside hitter Kelsie Wills, who rewrote the record books during her outstanding sophomore season, Hofstra will look to ride their recent wave of success to another CAA title and an appearance in the NCAA Championship. A group of eight returnees who experienced the thrill of winning a conference championship, along with seven talented newcomers, will hope to lead Hofstra back to the promised land.

Here is a position-by-position look at the 2013 Hofstra Volleyball team.

OUTSIDE HITTER

KELSIE WILLS

JOVANA BARISIC

Easily Hofstra's strongest offensive area on the squad; the outside hitter position will see the Pride showcase three returnees with the ability to change a match at any time.

Leading the way on the outside is Wills (Matamata, New Zealand), who carried Hofstra offensively a season ago. A first team All-CAA selection, along with the CAA Championship Most Outstanding Player, Wills recorded a team-best 581 kills and also added 293 digs, 72 blocks and 26 assists. Wills 581 kills in 2012 rank as the third-most in a single season in program history and she heads into 2013 nearing the 1,000-kill plateau as she has 935 through just two seasons.

Joining Wills on the outside will be junior Emily Burke (Staten Island, NY) and senior Jovana Barisic (Belgrade, Serbia). Burke had a breakout sophomore season as the talented New York native exploded for 234 kills after tallying just 12 in her rookie year. Burke ranked third on the team in kills in 2012, becoming a strong offensive weapon in her second season in a Pride uniform.

A transfer from Memphis, Barisic notched 46 kills in 2012, her first season as a member of the Pride. She appeared in 15 matches a season ago and will look to expand on her role in her senior season.

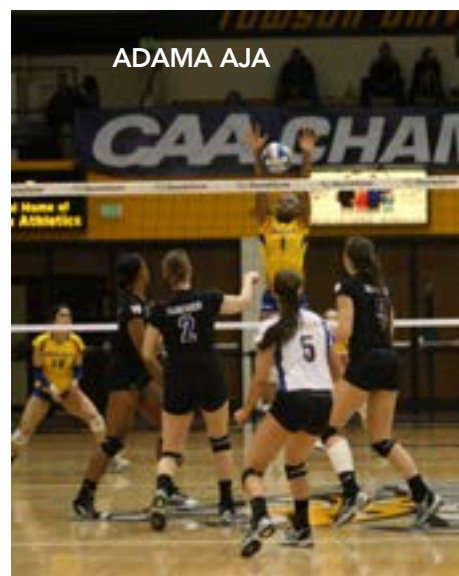

EMILY BURKE

MIDDLE BLOCKER

Two returnees and two newcomers will anchor the middle blocker spot for Hofstra in 2013 as the Pride hope to see this position develop as far as it did in 2012.

Junior Adama Aja (Columbia, MD) was Hofstra's most pleasant surprise in 2012 as she become the Pride's most consistent defensive player and also contributed offensively as well. After playing in just five matches as a freshman, Aja appeared in 34 matches in 2012 and compiled 147 blocks (146 block assists) and added 93 kills. She ranked first on the team in blocks and was sixth in kills. Her 146 block assists ranks second all-time in a single season in Hofstra history.

A newcomer, freshman Nuria

Lopes da Silva (Lisbon, Portugal), hopes to gain playing time at the middle blocker position as well. A member of the Portugal National team, Lopes da Silva joins Hofstra after a pair of seasons at Universidad Catolica de San Antonio in Murcia, Spain.

Senior Sara Campolina (Esmeraldas, Brazil) had a strong 2012 campaign for Hofstra as she played in all 35 matches and chipped in with 144 kills, 108 blocks, 28 assists and 19 service aces. She ranked second in blocks and fifth in kills.

Completing the middle blocker position is freshman Veronika Kostova (Hamburg, Germany), who helped Pascalgymnasium to a first place finish at the German Schools Championship in 2011 and 2012.

RIGHT SIDE

The right side position for the Pride will see three players in action – Lopes da Silva, Barisic and sophomore Kaitlyn Krause (Farmington Hill, MI). All three should also see the court at other spots as well.

Krause transferred to Hofstra from Dayton, where she was a member of two NCAA Tournament teams and played in 10 matches in 2012.

SETTER

One of two spots in Hofstra's lineup with huge shoes to fill is the setter position. Catalina Charry graduated after a solid two-year career with the Pride and Hofstra will need strong play from this position to have any hopes of repeating as conference champions.

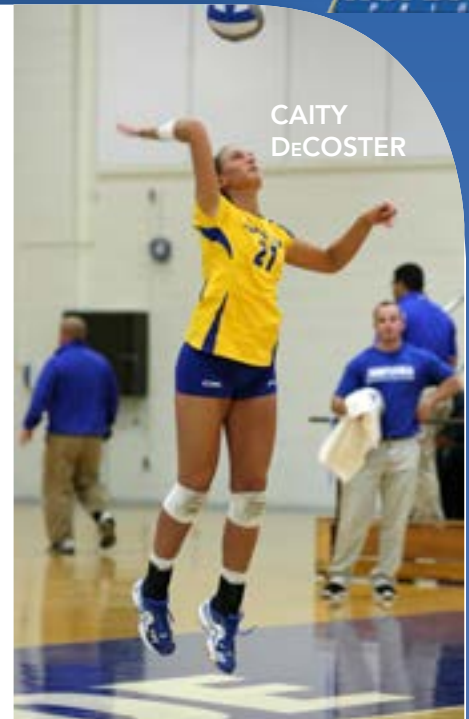

CORRINA DELGADILLO

Krause looks to be the leading candidate to earn the starting nod following her two seasons at Dayton and a stellar scholastic campaign at North Farmington High School. A member of Prep Volleyball's

Senior Aces "150" list, Krause was an all-state honorable mention selection in 2009 and 2010.

Freshman Hannah Klemm (Berlin, Germany) and junior Jordan Clingan (Carbondale, CO) could also see time at setter for the Pride.

Klemm helped lead her team to Berlin championships from 2008 to 2011, while Clingan is in her second year with Hofstra after being named all-league three times as a member of the Roaring Fork High School volleyball team.

LIBERO

The second of the two positions in the Hofstra lineup that is up for grabs due to the graduation of Kylee Maneja, the program's all-time leader in digs.

A slew of players could see time in this role as freshman Sophia Black (Seattle, WA), sophomore Corrina Delgadillo (West Allis, WI), senior Caity DeCoster (Crystal Lake, IL) and freshman Hannah Gomes (Belo Horizonte, Brazil) all have the ability to contribute at the libero spot and are vying for playing time.

Of the four that could see time for Hofstra at libero, only Delgadillo and DeCoster have previous experience in a Hofstra uniform with Delgadillo picking up 239 digs and 28 service aces as a freshman last season, while DeCoster played in three matches in 2012.

Black was a three-time team most valuable player and All-King County selection as a junior and senior at Garfield High School and Gomes earned top player honors at the 2012 Belo Horizonte Olympics.

SCHEDULE

Hofstra will host a pair of tournaments this season, including the season-opening Hofstra Asics Invitational. In addition, the Pride will travel to tournaments at Harvard and Temple.

The always challenging CAA slate gets even tougher in 2013 as Charleston joins the conference and was the preseason pick to win the league after advancing to the second round of the NCAA Tournament in 2012.

The CAA Championship will be held on the campus of the regular season champion on November 22-24.

enjoyed a successful tenure as the director of athletics at Colorado State University from 2001 to 2003.

During Hathaway's career, he has always made the academic success of student-athletes a top priority. In the classroom, more than 50% of UConn's 650 student-athletes achieved a 3.0 "B-or better" semester grade point average during the spring and/or fall semesters of the 2010 calendar year, including 16 who earned a perfect 4.0 grade point average. In addition, the Division of Athletics consistently maintained a 99 percent academic retention rate among its student-athletes.

The University of Connecticut was saluted for its community service efforts by the National Consortium for Academics and Sports (NCAS) three times under Hathaway's watch for its community service efforts. UConn was also honored by the NCAS in 2006 and 2007 for its efforts to assist former student-athletes in earning their college degree.

Hathaway's leadership positions have extended beyond the campus. He recently completed a five-year term as a member of the prestigious NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee, representing the BIG EAST Conference, serving as chair in 2011-12. As a member of the 10-person committee, Hathaway took part in the selection and administration of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championship and the administration of the CBS/Turner television contract.

During his tenure at both Colorado State and UConn, he was a member of the NCAA Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet. On the conference level, Hathaway was the chair of the BIG EAST Athletic Directors Executive Committee through November of 2009. He is also past chairman of the BIG EAST Championship and Competition Committee as well as the league's Finance Committee, and also served on the Television Committee. Hathaway is a past member of the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association Board of Trustees and the Executive Committee of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA). In 2004 The Sporting News named Hathaway to its "Power 100 List" - comprised of the 100 most powerful people in sports.

During his time at the University of Connecticut, private fundraising averaged more than $13 million a year. Hathaway was also responsible negotiating several key revenue and partnership agreements, securing major gifts, and guiding the building of two Jeffrey A. Hathaway is entering his second year as the Vice President and Director of Athletics at Hofstra University in 2013-14.

Hathaway, formerly the Director of Athletics at the University of Connecticut and the chairman of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee, was introduced by Hofstra University President Stuart Rabinowitz on May 15, 2012.

"In collegiate athletics, the name Jeff Hathaway means success on any number of levels: in the classroom, on the playing field, in the boardroom, with donors and the media. Most importantly, Jeff's focus on excellence, ethics, leadership and academics will allow the Hofstra Pride athletics program to move to the next level of excellence," said Rabinowitz. "His tenure at the University of Connecticut was one of unprecedented growth, and under his leadership, we look forward to ushering in a new era of Hofstra Pride athletic success."

"I am excited to join the Hofstra University community and to have the opportunity to provide leadership and serve the student-athletes, coaches and staff in this outstanding athletics program," commented Hathaway at his introductory press conference. "I particularly would like to thank President Stuart Rabinowitz for allowing me to become part of the Hofstra University family. Throughout my career I have been part of programs that have competed against Hofstra and I have seen firsthand the success the Pride has had over the years. My primary focus will be on the academic achievement of our student-athletes and providing them the opportunity to participate and achieve in their academic and athletic endeavors as we prepare them for their lives after graduation from Hofstra."

In his first year at Hofstra, Hathaway oversaw a department that produced four Colonial Athletic Association championship and NCAA Tournament teams, as well as two other teams that reached the conference championship game. In addition, Hofstra Athletics saw three student-athletes earn Academic All-America accolades and five garner CAA Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors. On of those Academic All-Americans, Joe Burg, also was a finalist for a Rhodes Scholarship in 2012, becoming just the second Hofstra student to ever earn the distinction.

The Pride not only flourished on the fields and in the classroom, but also in the area of athletic development. The Hofstra Pride Club enjoyed a banner year with $1.1 million in cash funds raised, a 13% increase over 2011-12, and a 16% increase in annual funds.

In 2013 Hathaway was named to the NCAA Division I Leadership Council, continuing his long tradition of service on a national level.

Hathaway guided the University of Connecticut (UConn) Division of Athletics through an unprecedented period of academic and athletic achievement during his eight years as director of athletics from 2003 to 2011. At the same time, he became an influential leader for college athletics on both the national and conference level.

Hathaway played a vital role in UConn's success story for nearly 20 years as he was the executive associate director of athletics at the school from 1990 to 2001. In his two years away from the Storrs campus, Hathaway

LEED certified athletic facilities, UConn's first, which received recognition from the University and from the Connecticut Real Estate Exchange.

Hathaway led a head coaching staff that is one of the most experienced in the country. At the conclusion of Hathaway's tenure, UConn had 12 head coaches that had been in their current position 10 or more years as of the 2010-11 academic year.

In Hathaway's final year with UConn, the Huskies experienced great athletic success. The men's basketball team won its third NCAA Division I Championship while the football team played in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. In addition, the women's basketball team played in the NCAA Final Four for the fourth consecutive season and set a college basketball record for most consecutive wins with 90. The UConn baseball team made history with its first-ever appearance in NCAA Super Regional play. The men's soccer, women's soccer and field hockey teams participated in NCAA tournaments while representatives from men's and women's track and field and women's diving also took part in NCAA action.

Hathaway originally came to Connecticut in November of 1990 as senior associate athletic director. In that role, he oversaw the day-to-day operations of the Division of Athletics and served as a program administrator for several sports.

During Hathaway's tenure at Colorado State, he oversaw a 15-sport program – nine women's teams and six men's. Hathaway was an extremely successful fundraiser during his time in Fort Collins. The school drew national attention for a $15.2 million gift for football stadium renovations and expansion.

Prior to joining UConn, Hathaway served in a number of capacities at his alma mater, the University of Maryland, from 1982 to 1990, including assistant athletics director for marketing and communications, acting assistant athletics director for business affairs, athletics business manager and men's basketball trainer.

Hathaway earned his degree in athletic administration from Maryland in 1981. He later received a master's degree in general administration from Maryland and is currently continuing work on a PhD in the Department of Educational Leadership at the University of Connecticut.

Hathaway and his wife, Paula, have two children – Meghan (22) and Michael (18).

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING ABOUT JEFFREY A. HATHAWAY

PHILIP E. AUSTIN, President Emeritus, University of Connecticut

"I had the pleasure of working with Jeff Hathaway through my tenure as president of the University of Connecticut. He was a valuable member of our senior leadership team and led the athletic program to its most successful era. Jeff is committed to not only athletic excellence but also academic excellence, integrity and the overall welfare of student athletes."

JOSEPH R. CASTIGLIONE, Vice President for Intercollegiate Athletics, University of Oklahoma

"From our days in college to the many years as colleagues in the profession, I have always known Jeff Hathaway to be a man of character. He has a tenacious work ethic, an innate ability to establish the right vision, mission and values for the organization he leads and a collaborative style to appropriately involve all stakeholders in the process of setting goals and creating the means to achieve them. At the heart of it all is a passionate commitment to creating the best possible environment for student athlete success. Hofstra University made a wonderful decision in hiring Jeff."

MARK EMMERT, President, National Collegiate Athletic Association

"Jeff did a tremendous job as a member and later chair of the Division I Men's Basketball Committee. His efforts directly contributed to lifelong experiences for thousands of student-athletes. I'm confident that he will bring the same dedication and passion to the athletic program and the student-athletes of Hofstra."

JIM NANTZ, CBS Sports

"I have known Jeff Hathaway a long time and there is no one I respect more in college athletics than Jeff Hathaway. This is a big day for Hofstra University and the future of Hofstra has been placed in good hands. Jeff is a high-achieving, high-quality person that I have gotten to know well during his tenure as the Chair of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee. Jeff's success as a leader speaks for itself. He has the Midas touch!"

MIKE SLIVE, Commissioner, Southeastern Conference

"I have known Jeff Hathaway for many years and had the pleasure of serving with him on the NCAA Men's Basketball Committee. Jeff's extensive experience, his enthusiasm and his energy makes him a leader no matter what room he is in. His commitment to assisting young men and women in getting an education while participating in college sports make him an outstanding choice as Hofstra's new athletics director."

MIKE TRANGHESE, former Commissioner, Big East Conference

"Jeff is an outstanding administrator who will provide Hofstra with great leadership in the future. He has long been a leader in collegiate athletics and Hofstra will do well with Jeff at the helm."

TOM YEAGER, Commissioner, Colonial Athletic Association

"Jeff Hathaway is one of the brightest, creative and competent administrators in college athletics. Everyone in the CAA is excited about his joining our team and we look forward to his contribution to the continued success of the Hofstra program and the CAA."

KEVIN WHITE, Vice President/Director of Athletics, Duke University

"Hofstra literally hit the proverbial lottery! Hiring Jeff Hathaway as vice president and director of athletics – a highly seasoned athletic director who is clearly one of the most skilled and talented administrators within the NCAA – is nothing short of an immeasurable leadership acquisition!"

ABOUT LONG ISLAND...

Long Island has a rich history as an active, vibrant community, a summer playground, and home to some of New York's most prominent families.

FIVE DISTINCT REGIONS MAKE UP LONG ISLAND:

- North Shore, otherwise known as the Gold Coast, with dozens of historic sites dating back to colonial days and Gatsby-era mansions.
- South Shore, the Island's spectator sports and entertainment center, with world-famous Jones and Fire Island Beaches, and home to the New York Islanders.
- Central Suffolk, with beautiful forests and natural inlets, the world's largest factory outlet center and a huge water park.
- North Fork, with an array of vineyards, waterfront ports and farm stands.
- South Fork, widely known as "The Hamptons," with its pristine beaches and exclusive villages.

You can catch a Hofstra shuttle bus to Jones Beach – a state park with six miles of gorgeous coastline, a boardwalk, swimming pools, golf and outdoor concerts.

WITH EVERYTHING FROM :

- museums, historical sites and lighthouses,
- to sophisticated malls, designer outlets and shopping villages,
- to wineries and farm stands,
- to family fun parks, aquariums and zoos,

...there is plenty to do on Long Island!

ABOUT NEW YORK CITY...

Hofstra is located only 30 miles from New York City – the capital of culture and finance. You can visit Carnegie Hall, South Street Seaport, Hard Rock Café, Grand Central Station, Central Park, NBC Studios in Rockefeller Center, Little Italy or Chinatown.

- Study the world's finest sculptures and paintings at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.
- Go and cheer along with the crowd at a Yankees, Mets, Rangers or Knicks game.
- Wave at the TV cameras in the street-level studios of FOX, CNN, NBC, CBS or ABC.
- Walk through the financial capital of the world at the New York Stock Exchange on Wall Street.
- Take the subway to Coney Island for a Nathan's hot dog and a ride on the Cyclone, the last of the great wooden rollercoasters.
- Get half-priced tickets to Broadway's finest shows at the TKTS booth in a new, glittering Times Square.

Hofstra University is committed to the pursuit of academic and athletic excellence. The University views participation in intercollegiate athletics as benefiting the student-athlete in an educationally enhancing experience beyond any other opportunity available. Hofstra also realizes the time commitment made by student-athletes and has committed the facilities and resources to support all students.

The University Tutorial Program (UTP) provides free tutoring in every subject area to any Hofstra student. Students are able to obtain up to 1 1/2 hours of individual tutorial assistance per week for up to three courses. They are also able to utilize the various help labs on campus, which specialize in providing assistance in writing, business and QM, and biology and chemistry. In addition to this service, student-athletes are assigned an academic advisor, through the Center for University Advisement, who helps address the various needs of student-athletes. The academic advisor emphasizes four areas in their efforts to ensure the academic success of Hofstra's student-athletes.

Area one is academic counseling. Services are provided in the areas of academic planning, career planning, personal counseling, and campus and community referrals. The advisor also meets with prospective student-athletes, at the coach's request, to share the many benefits of a Hofstra University education.

Area two is academic advising. The academic advisor serves as the primary advisor for first-year and undecided student-athletes, and also assists upperclassmen who have declared a major.

Area three is academic monitoring. The advisor monitors the academic progress of student-athletes to ensure compliance with Hofstra University, NCAA and conference regulations. The advisor's regular communication with the faculty and coaches provide opportunities for early intervention should academic difficulties arise.

Area four is study halls. The University Tutorial Program supports athletic study halls by providing tutors in various subjects as necessary. The academic advisors also assess the needs of individual student-athletes to provide the most effective study environment. The assessment tool administered by the Center for University Advisement is also used to provide various enrichment seminars for the student-athletes such as time management, writing skills, campus resources, and surviving the college transition.

In 2010 The Fried Family Student-Athlete Development Center was opened on the second level of the James M. Shuart Stadium Building. The center houses the offices of the Student-Athlete Services Staff, as well as a large computer lab with printer access for use by Hofstra student-athletes, a quiet study area with wireless internet access and two group study/tutor rooms with power point access and white boards.

Through a comprehensive athletic training program, Hofstra University student-athletes are provided excellent health care during their time at the University. A coordinated effort between the University Health and Wellness Center, the Athletic Department and outside health care providers ensures every student-athlete the best medical attention possible.

University student-athletes have direct access to a myriad of health care services. Managing the coverage of every practice and competition event is Hofstra University's athletic training staff, which is led by ninth-year Head Athletic Trainer Evan Malings and features six full-time athletic trainers and numerous student athletic trainers. The athletic trainers provide injury management, rehabilitation and treatment to the entire Athletic program. Utilizing three state-of-the-art athletic training rooms, these professionals work tirelessly to ensure the safe participation of Hofstra's student-athletes and to return injured athletes to play quickly and safely.

Supporting the athletic trainers is team physician Dr. Michael Yorio. Dr. Yorio, a physician with Pro Health Care, Inc. in Lake Success, New York, is in his third year on Hofstra's medical team. Yorio is an internist with specialized training in sports medicine. He earned his undergraduate degree at Villanova served as a sports medicine fellow with the University of Maryland Orthopedics. Prior to that, he was a resident physician in internal medicine at Carolinas Medical Center in Charlotte, North Carolina.

University, and received his medical degree from the SUNY Health Science Center in Syracuse. Yorio previously

Yorio was named the Director of Player Medical Services for the 2008 U.S. Open Tennis Tournament in Flushing, New York, and is on the medical staff for the New York Islanders. He also worked as a team physician for the University of Maryland from 2003 to 2005.

Hofstra University sponsors a fully accredited, highly competitive undergraduate degree program for athletic training majors, in which Hofstra student athletic trainers participate in all aspects of the health care system.

Volleyball

The Pride Volleyball team calls the Hofstra University Volleyball Venue at the David S. Mack Physical Education Center its home. The building, which was called the Physical Fitness Center, was renamed in 2010.

Built in 1970, the Physical Education Center has established itself as a showcase for volleyball in the metropolitan area. The 1,200-seat arena hosted Hofstra's NCAA Tournament first round match in 1995 and has hosted regional and national United States Volleyball Association events, including the 1983 exhibition between the United States Olympic team and the Japanese Olympic team. Hofstra's Physical Education Center also served as the 1987 home of the New York Liberties of Major League Volleyball and as the training site for the 1989 United States Maccabiah teams. It also is the home to various high school championships.

The arena was refurbished in 1978 with a new ticket lobby and refreshment area. In 1991 new scoreboards were added, replacing the four-sided scoreboard that had served Long Island sports fans at the Island Garden in Hempstead and at the Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum, adjacent to the University.

The Physical Education Center was resurfaced for the second time in 1995 with a wooden Thrust-A-Pad floor, which covers the entire 40,000-square-foot building and gives Hofstra the second largest indoor wooden facility on the East Coast. The floor has been placed over the old synthetic surface and adds greater flexibility, thereby decreasing the chance of leg injuries. The building is also outfitted with multiple Senoh Systems, the finest volleyball apparatus available.

After the Mack Sports Complex was constructed, the Physical Education Center became a volleyball-only venue and received a new scoreboard that features space for in-match statistics to be displayed. The arena was also decorated with banners commemorating Hofstra's NCAA Tournament appearances, and in 2009 the main court was completely redone, including new logos painted on the floor.

The Physical Education Center has been home to five professional teams in its existence: The New York Nets (American Basketball Association), the New York Knicks Summer League team (National Basketball Association), the Long Island Knights and Surf (United States Basketball League) and the New York Liberties (Major League Volleyball). In addition, the building has hosted concerts, banquets, trade shows, conferences, commencement exercises and scholastic sporting events for the Long Island community.

A memorial award established by former Head Coach Fran Kalafer in 2005, in honor of her mother Ruth Kalafer, The Fighting Spirit Award is given annually to a volleyball student-athlete that displays the most “fighting spirit” during the course of a season. Kalafer will make a donation, in the name of the recipient, to the Leukemia Foundation each year.

In addition, the team partners with 1 in 9: The Long Island Breast Cancer Coalition to host the Spike Out Breast Cancer Volleyball Tournament each spring.

For more information, call (516) 463-4928 or email: hernandezvbcamps@gmail.com

The Hofstra University Volleyball program believes it has a responsibility to the Long Island community. Throughout the academic year, the Hofstra Volleyball staff and student-athletes attempt to be highly visible in the area.

Several times each year, the Pride conduct youth volleyball clinics. These player clinics reinforce the fundamentals of the game taught by their own coaches. Hofstra players have also been involved with the Special Olympics, which have taken place in past years on the Hofstra campus. Hofstra is also active with Big Brothers Big Sisters of Long Island.

The volleyball team is also involved in charitable causes, including the annual Spike Out Breast Cancer Tournament held at Hofstra each spring and the Light the Night Walk that benefits the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. The team is also involved in hosting the Think Pink Volleyball Tournament, a high school event takes place in the fall.

The team also takes part in food drives in conjunction with Hofstra's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) and partners with organizations such as Long Island Cares and The Interfaith Nutrition Network (INN).

This past year, members of the volleyball team took part in the Cradle of Aviation Museum's Annual Chocolate Expo, as well as several Reading With Pride initiatives at local elementary schools.

Last fall Pride student-athletes also were active in the community following Super Storm Sandy, which devastated many areas on Long Island. Team members assisted in rebuilding efforts in many ways, including clothing, food and supply drives as well as assisting in the cleanup of affected areas.

With nearly three decades of success athletically and academically, the Colonial Athletic Association has built a reputation as one of the nation's top collegiate conferences.

The CAA encompasses many of the nation's largest metropolitan areas with a geographic footprint that stretches from Boston to Charleston, S.C. The conference has produced 16 national team champions in five different sports, 33 individual national champions, 13 national players of the year, 12 national coaches of the year and 13 Honda Award winners. Just as impressive, however, are the honors accumulated away from competition, which include five Rhodes Scholars and 23 NCAA post-graduate scholars. In 2012-13, more than 1,900 of the league's 4,000 student-athletes received the Commissioner's Academic Award after posting at least a 3.2 grade point average while lettering in a varsity sport. The conference had 23 teams in 15 different sports receive NCAA Public Recognition Awards based on the latest Academic Progress Report released in 2013.

The landscape of the conference stretches along the majority of the East Coast, and includes several of the nation's top media markets – New York (1), Philadelphia (4), Boston (7), Washington, D.C. (9) and Baltimore (25). The number of television homes in the CAA market exceeds 20 million.

The CAA conducts championships in 22 sports. Male athletes compete for championships in baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, lacrosse, soccer, swimming & diving, tennis and track & field. Female athletes battle for conference titles in basketball, cross country, field hockey, golf, lacrosse, rowing, soccer, softball, swimming & diving, tennis, track & field and volleyball. In 2012-13, 27 teams earned NCAA Tournament berths and 43 student-athletes received All-America honors in 14 different sports.

The conference has made its presence known nationally in men's basketball with two teams – George Mason (2006) and VCU (2011) – advancing to the NCAA Final Four over the past seven years. CAA teams have combined to win 41 games in postseason play since 2006, including 14 victories in the NCAA Tournament. The CAA has posted at least one NCAA Tournament win in six of the past eight years, including the last four in a row. The conference has seen five or more teams reach postseason play in four of the last five seasons.

In women's basketball, 2013 CAA champion Delaware defeated West Virginia and North Carolina to become the 12th CAA team to reach the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament.

Behind the play of Honda Award winner Elena Delle Donne, the Blue Hens finished the season ranked #13 in the final USA Today Coaches Top 25 poll. Drexel captured the WNIT championship with a 46-43 victory over Utah and James Madison reached the quarterfinals of the WNIT. CAA teams have gone 20-9 in postseason play over the past two years.

The conference also excels in many other sports. CAA squads have combined to win 10 field hockey national titles since the championship began in 1981. Three men's soccer teams earned NCAA Tournament berths last season and each current member of the conference has reached the NCAA Tournament since 2006. In softball, Hofstra reached the NCAA Super Regionals in 2012 and the CAA placed two teams (Hofstra and James Madison) in the NCAA's for the first time last season. At least two women's soccer teams have reached the second round of the NCAA Tournament three times in the past six seasons. William & Mary's men's cross country squad has made the NCAA Championship in 12 of the past 14 years and the women's team had two runners (Elaina Balouris and Emily Stites) earn All-America honors in 2012. Delaware and Towson have each reached the Final Four of the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Championship. The CAA sent three teams to the NCAA Baseball Championship in 2013 and has had at least 11 players selected in nine of the last 11 Major League Baseball drafts. The conference also had individuals earn All-America honors in women's lacrosse, track and field and swimming & diving last season and had players nationally ranked in tennis and golf.

CAA member institutions are committed to excellence in the classroom. The Colonial Academic Alliance was created in 2002 by the league's presidents with a goal of expanding their partnership to all aspects of university education and life outside of intercollegiate athletics. Among the programs that have been established are an undergraduate research conference, coordination of study abroad programs, visiting faculty programs and a recent partnership with NBC Learn to provide educational videos to over 8,500 public schools across the United States.

CAA schools are also very active in community service projects. The CAA Blood Challenge, which is held each fall, has raised more than 36,000 units of blood over the past 11 years. The first-ever CAA Food Drive Challenge last winter resulted in over 9,500 pounds of donated food.

Commissioner Thomas E. Yeager has guided the CAA since its inception. The conference traces its roots back to 1983 when two of its current members- James Madison University and the College of William and Mary - were aligned with East Carolina University, George Mason University, the United States Naval Academy and the University of Richmond as a basketball league (ECAC South). During the next two years, the league added 11 sports, acquired two new members (the University of North Carolina at Wilmington and American University) and decided to form a new conference. The transformation from ECAC South to CAA took place on June 6, 1985.

Old Dominion University joined the CAA in 1991 and was followed by Virginia Commonwealth University in 1995. The conference added the University of Delaware, Drexel University, Hofstra University and Towson University in 2001. Georgia State University and Northeastern University became members of the conference in 2005 and the College of Charleston began its first year as a CAA member on July 1, 2013. Elon University will join the conference beginning in 2014-15.

Press Credentials: Members of the media should request credentials from the Athletic Communications Office at least 24 hours prior to each match. These credentials can be picked up at the scorer's table prior to the start of the match or between sets. Parking is available in the lots on the north end of the building.

Photo Passes: Photography credentials will be issued to certified photographers of daily newspapers, magazines and television stations. Credentials will not be granted to freelance photographers.

Game Services: Media members are asked to pick up their match information packages (media guides, programs, notes) at the scorer's table prior to the start of each contest. A complete NCAA box score (final stats and play-by-play) will be distributed approximately 10 minutes after each match.

Interview Policy: Hofstra Head Coach Kristina Hernandez and student-athletes will be available after all contests. Interview requests on non-match days should be directed through Stephen Gorchov in the Hofstra University Office of Athletic Communications. Interviews on match days will be limited to after the match only. Home or cellular phone numbers of student-athletes and coaches WILL NOT be given out.
