University

THIS IS Hofstra University

In its relatively short history, Hofstra has established itself as a world-class institution of higher education and cultural enterprise. Each academic year, the Hofstra campus and the programs offered grow and change to meet the demands of our students and our community.

Hofstra opened in 1935 as a commuter school with all classes and offices housed in one building. Since those early days, Hofstra has evolved into an international institution with a student body hailing from 45 states and 61 countries around the world. The beautiful campus is an accredited arboretum with 113 buildings on 240 acres. There are approximately 4,200 students living on campus, and Hofstra offers them and all students an extensive array of academic and social activities. Additionally, Hofstra's close proximity to Manhattan means that students have easy access to the wondrous cultural, social and career offerings of the city.

What has remained consistent throughout the years, however, is the sense of community on campus, the eagerness of our students to learn and the commitment of the Hofstra faculty and administration to provide a challenging education that encourages the pursuit of lifelong learning.

The Colleges and Schools of the University are: Hofstra College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Frank G. Zarb School of Business, New College of Hofstra, School of Communication, School of Education and Allied Human Services, School of Law, School for University Studies, University College for Continuing Education, Honors College and Saturday College. Bachelor's degrees are offered in 140 areas of study. Graduate degrees are offered, including Ph.D., Ed.D., Psy.D., Au.D. and J.D. degrees, advanced certificates and professional diplomas, in more than 150 programs of study.

Recently, the University celebrated the opening of Hagedorn Hall, the new home of our School of Education and Allied Human Services. In 2001 Hofstra University Honors College welcomed its first class. This new division of the University proved to be an immediate success, not only with University faculty and administrators, but among the 93 inaugural students. Every fall since, the number of entering freshmen has increased substantially.

Hofstra's School of Communication is one of the largest, most advanced non-commercial television

Hofstra's growing computer facilities offer extensive high-tech training opportunities. There are computer terminals throughout the campus for student and faculty use, with more than 750 PC, Macintosh and UNIX workstations available in labs and classrooms. The University was ranked 14th in Forbes' list of Most Connected Campuses in 2004, up from 18 in 2003.

Hofstra hosts more than 500 cultural events annually, bringing thousands of scholars, dignitaries and other participants to campus. More than 200 musical and dramatic performances take place on campus each year.

The Hofstra Museum, which houses one of the largest art collections in the metropolitan area, coordinates approximately 12 exhibitions annually and offers exhibition areas and an extensive outdoor sculpture collection, with more than 65 pieces. The Hofstra Museum is accredited by the American Association of Museums – one of only 94 universities in the nation and one of six in New York to hold that distinction.

facilities in the East. Students take classes and work in Dempster Hall, a sophisticated television production/post-production facility with two broadcast-quality studios and control rooms; two advanced online video edit suites; two Avid non-linear digital editing systems and several cuts-only video work stations. Two satellite dishes are available with one dish providing special news feeds for the broadcast journalism room, which also has access to Associated Press, Lexis-Nexis and Dow Jones services. In addition, the facility is capable of broadcasting student-produced programming to the entire campus on our own cable channels. Also located here is the University's radio station (WRHU/88.7-FM), audio production studios, a film/video screening room, film editing rooms, a computer laboratory, a speech performance studio and a large dance studio.

Hofstra's C.V. Starr Hall offers academic facilities that are among the most technologically advanced in the nation. Every seat in every classroom allows students direct access to the Internet and Hofstra network, including the resources of Hofstra's Axinn Library.

Hofstra also has seven theaters, a student newspaper, a lively student center, a recreation center and numerous athletic facilities, including the 15,000-seat James M. Shuart Stadium and the 5,124-seat David S. Mack Sports and Exhibition Complex. Hofstra also has an indoor, Olympic-sized (eight lane, 50-meter) swimming pool, one of the largest such facilities in the New York metropolitan area.

SIMON RIDDIOUGH Women's Soccer Coach

Simon Riddiough was named the second head coach in the history of the Hofstra Women's Soccer program when he was promoted to the position following JoAnne Russell's retirement at the conclusion of the 2005 season. Riddiough has been a member of the Hofstra Women's Soccer staff for 10 years, including the last four as an associate head coach. Riddiough joined the coaching ranks in 1996 after spending two years as a graduate assistant in the Hofstra Sports Facilities Department, pursuing a master's degree in counseling.

Riddiough, a 1994 Hofstra graduate with a degree in physical education, was a four-year letterman and captain on the Flying Dutchmen soccer team from 1990 through 1994. He was an All-New York Region performer in 1993 and 1994, and an All-East Coast Conference pick in 1993. Riddiough was also a member of the all-region academic squad. In his Hofstra career he recorded 13 goals and 15 assists.

A hard-nosed defender as a player, Riddiough has helped develop the Hofstra Women's Soccer program into one of the top defensive teams in the nation in recent seasons. The Pride ranked third in the nation in team defense in 2003 (0.45 goals per game), while tying for the fewest goals allowed in the entire country (nine), and also ranked 16th in the nation in 2002 (0.69 goals per game). In 2005 Hofstra allowed only three goals in 11 conference games on its way to winning the CAA championship and earning its first-ever NCAA Division I tournament appearance.

Riddiough played with the Greek American Atlas from 1995 through 1997 and won a USYSA Region I championship with the club. He also appeared in the quarterfinals of the U.S. Open Cup with the Greek American Atlas. In 1998 and 1999, Riddiough played with the New York Freedoms of the United Soccer League and played on the 1999 PDL Northeast Division championship squad that placed third in the nation. In 2001 Riddiough played with the Long Island Rough Riders of the A-League.

In addition to his playing experience, Riddiough has been a head coach for the Eastern New York Youth Soccer Association Girls Under-17 team, which serves as part of the New York Olympic Development Program (ODP), since 2000. In 2005 he helped coach the team to the ODP National Championship. He also previously coached several Long Island Select teams from 1996 to 1999 and served as a director for Noga Soccer Camps since 1991. In June 1992 he coached the New Hyde Park Girls Under-19 club to the New York State championship.

Riddiough, a native of Barnsley, England, and his wife, Heather, a former two-sport athlete at Hofstra, reside in Massapequa Park, New York.

ASSISTANT Coaches

LINDA HAMILTON
Assistant Coach

Linda Hamilton, a member of the 1991 United States World Cup championship team, was hired as Simon Riddiough's first assistant coach in April 2006.

Hamilton joined the Pride after serving as the head coach of the Richmond Strikers Under-17 Girls Soccer Club in Virginia since 1997. She also was the first head coach in the history of the Old Dominion University women's soccer team, starting the program in 1994 before resigning after one season to play full-time for the United States National Team.

Hamilton, who made the U-19 National Team at age 15, moved up the full National Team in 1987 at age 17 along with Mia Hamm, Julie Foudy, Kristine Lilly and Joy Fawcett. Hamilton played in 82 games as a defender and marking back for the United States National Team. She was a starter on the 1991 team that won the World Cup Championship, as well as a starter for the 1995 bronze medal World Cup squad.

She has been awarded a medal of honor from the United States Soccer Hall of Fame, and is an executive committee member of the United States Soccer Federation and the United States Soccer Foundation board of directors. She was also the first player inducted into the Georgia Hall of Fame

During her collegiate playing days, Hamilton was a four-time All-American at both North Carolina State (1987, 88, 89) and North Carolina (1990). She was a four-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection and the ACC Player of the Year in 1988. Hamilton was a part of ACC championship teams in 1988 (NC State) and 1990 (UNC), and was a member of the North Carolina national championship squad in 1990.

Hamilton has also been actively involved in charity work, serving as director of development for Easter Seals Virginia for the last year, after previously serving in a similar capacity for the National Multiple Sclerosis Society from 2002 to 2005.

Hamilton earned a bachelor's degree in communications from the University of North Carolina. She also holds a United States Soccer Federation "A" Coaching License.

GARY BOOK
Assistant Coach

Gary Book enters his first season as an assistant coach on the Hofstra Women's Soccer staff and is in his second year at Hofstra. Book also serves as an assistant with the men's soccer team, joining the program in 2005 when he helped the Pride to a second consecutive Colonial Athletic Association championship and NCAA Tournament appearance. Book came to Hofstra after 13 seasons as an assistant coach at St. John's University, where he helped the Red Storm achieve unprecedented success.

Book was an assistant coach on the 1996 squad that captured the first national championship in St. John's history in any sport. His teams also qualified for the NCAA Tournament in all 13 seasons, while reaching the Sweet 16 nine times and the Final Four three times. In addition, St. John's captured five Big East regular season championships and six Big East Tournament titles during his tenure.

Book is also currently the technical director of the Long Island Junior Soccer League, where he is responsible for facilitating the soccer education process of over 150,000 soccer players in the Long Island area. He also holds the post of regional technical director for the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) and is a NSCAA national staff coach.

Since 1990, Book has served as the chief executive officer of NOGA soccer, a Long Island-based soccer services company that is one of the largest in the country in its field.

STEVE SCHOEN
Volunteer Assistant Coach

Steve Schoen enters his sixth season as a volunteer assistant coach with the Hofstra Women's Soccer program, where his primary responsibility will be coaching the Pride's goalkeepers.

Schoen came to Hofstra after serving as the goalkeeper coach at Sachem High School for two years and as an assistant coach at Longwood High School for four years. He has also been the head coach for the Longwood High School summer team for three years. His coaching experience extends beyond high school, as he has been involved with several Long Island Select teams, including the Girls Under-14 and Under-13 teams, as well as the Longwood Tigers Girls Under-17 team.

A letterwinner in soccer at Clemson University, Schoen recorded 56 saves for the Tigers in 1971. Schoen pursued a professional career after college and attended training camps with the New York Cosmos and Chicago Sting in the now defunct North American Soccer League.

A native of Middle Island, New York, Schoen holds an NSCAA National Coaching License.

2006 HOFSTRA UNIVERSITY Women's Soccer Outlook

The Hofstra Women's Soccer program broke new ground in 2005, winning its first conference championship and advancing to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in the history of the program. The goal of the 2006 team is to keep building on top of that newly-broken ground.

For the first time, though, the program will have a new architect in charge of the construction. Head Coach Simon Riddiough was promoted after the retirement of JoAnne Russell, who started the Hofstra Women's Soccer program in 1993 and was the only coach the team had ever had. Riddiough, though, spent 11 years as an assistant coach under Russell and had gradually assumed more and more responsibility during that time, leaving him far more experienced than a typical first-year coach.

Riddiough and new Assistant Coaches Linda Hamilton, a member of the 1991 United States World Cup championship team, and Gary Book will have a little bit of reconstruction to do after the graduation of six senior starters and a rash of offseason injuries. The Pride has lost all five of its starting midfielders from last season's team, including 2005 CAA Rookie of the Year Edel Malone to a summer injury, as well as its four-year starting goalkeeper in Becky Wachsberger. Starting forward Carol Leurini also suffered a knee injury over the summer and will likely not be able to return until mid-October, leaving her as a strong medical red-shirt candidate, while projected starting center back Kristine Suapengco will miss the season with a knee injury of her own.

Hofstra still has plenty of talent returning, led by NSCAA All-America defender Sue Weber, the first All-American in Hofstra Women's Soccer history. The midfield will be anchored by two-time first team All-CAA selection Marie Curtin, the 2004 CAA Rookie of the Year. Jacki Pollaro, the 2003 CAA Rookie of the Year, will also help anchor the defense after taking a medical red-shirt last fall.

Following is a position-by-position look at the Hofstra Women's Soccer team heading into the 2006 season:

Goalkeeper

It has been a long time since the Pride has had to break in a new goalie, as Becky Wachsberger started every game over the last four years, shattering school records for wins, shutouts, and goals against average. The task this year will likely be given to either sophomore Krystal Robens, who began her Hofstra career as a field player but red-shirted last year as she converted to a goalkeeping position, or incoming freshman Krysten Farriella, who helped Sachem North High School on Long Island to three straight Suffolk County championships. Farriella also has experience playing for the Long Island Lady Riders, which gave her the chance to compete against older players. Fellow juniors Alex Steinberg and Amy Ferriso will add to the competition in net this fall.

Defense

Hofstra has developed a reputation as one of the top defensive teams in the Northeast in recent seasons, and this year's squad should continue that run. The return of Weber at one of the two center back positions alone would be enough to give the Pride a formidable defensive unit. Weber was one of only nine defenders to earn All-America honors from the NSCAA last year, after helping the Pride allow only three goals in 11 conference games.

Weber played alongside Curtin at center back last season, with both earning first team All-CAA honors. However, Curtin is expected to move up to midfield this year, opening a spot up in the back four. Junior Kristine Suapengco was originally pegged for that role, but will miss the season with a knee injury. Senior Bree Best, the only senior on the roster this year, could also step into a center back role this season, while sophomore transfer Elizabeth Guise, who played last season at Virginia Tech, will also look to earn playing time in the central defense.

At the outside back position, sophomore Jess Crankshaw stepped in as a freshman last year and played every minute of every game. A shifty player in the open field with deceptive quickness, Crankshaw also possesses a strong leg and can also be looked upon to take corner kicks and direct kicks. Pollaro red-shirted last fall with a back injury but should step into a starting role this year. Pollaro was part of a defensive unit in 2003 that allowed only nine goals, tying it for the fewest in the country. Sophomore Reyna Garcia could also contribute on the back line after walking on last fall.

Jess Crankshaw

W O M E N ' S

S o c c e r

Marie Curtin

Midfield

Hofstra lost four starters off last season's team, including leading scorer Chrissy Arnone (10 goals) and second team All-CAA selection Amber Albrecht. Arnone and Nina Nanavrakis played on the outside last year, while Albrecht and Malone played in the center in front of defensive midfielder Ashley Shaban.

The fifth member of last season's midfield unit will also not return as Malone suffered a season-ending knee injury over the summer, taking away the Pride's most creative attacking player. Malone had eight goals and five assists a year ago, and scored the game-winning goal on a 30-yard blast in the CAA Championship game.

Curtin is expected to move up to the midfield this year after starting at center back for her first two seasons. She did play center midfield at times last season, though, and has played in the midfield for the Irish National Team, so she has plenty of experience in that role. Curtin takes most of the Pride's free kicks and has a powerful leg which should make her a scoring threat from anywhere in the attacking third. Curtin is expected to be joined in the center midfield by another member of the Irish National Team, freshman Diane Caldwell.

The outside positions were left vacated by Arnone and Nanavrakis, although junior Larkin Hargraves, who scored two goals last season, has the experience and talent to step into one of those positions. Transfer Sara Gulley, a former NSCAA High School All-American who played last season at Clemson, is expected to be a key addition at outside midfield, and can move up to forward as well.

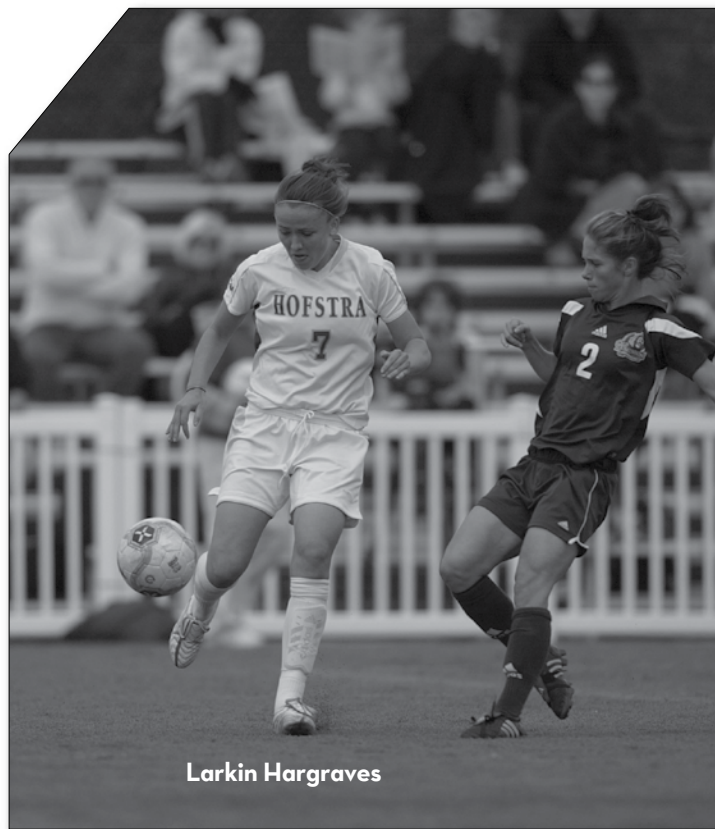

The defensive midfield role, which was filled by the graduated Ashley Shaban for the last two years, is expected to go to sophomore Kariena Richards. Richards, a tough, hard-nosed defender who is strong in the air, could also play in the back four if needed, where she saw most of her time as a reserve last year. Senior Marissa Palmieri and sophomore Nicole Bisco could also contribute in the midfield this season, along with freshmen Brianna Palmer and Erika Fierres.

Forward

Junior Carol Leurini (eight career goals) was expected to be the starter this season with sophomore Kacey O'Driscoll backing her up. Leurini, though, suffered a knee injury over the summer that will have her out of the lineup until at least October and possibly for the entire season, while O'Driscoll elected to return home to pursue a law degree in her native Ireland. Gulley or Hargraves could move up from the midfield to play forward, while senior Yumi Toyomasu, who walked on to the Pride last season, could also see action up top. Freshman Jill Lipari will also get a long look in preseason at the forward spot.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS Jack Hayes

Jack Hayes is in his third year as director of athletics at Hofstra University in 2006-07. Hayes was appointed by Hofstra President Stuart Rabinowitz as the University's new director of athletics on October 4, 2004. Hayes came to Hofstra after serving as an associate director of athletics at the University of Connecticut for three years.

Hayes, the eighth director of athletics at Hofstra, oversees Hofstra's 18 Division I teams, an athletic administration of more than 70 professional staff, and 430 student-athletes.

Hayes' proven expertise in enhancing academic and athletic success of student-athletes, strategic planning, fundraising, marketing, university relations, facility enhancement, budgetary management, and NCAA compliance will complement Hofstra University's athletic department in its quest to further enhance its athletic program, and assist Hofstra's student-athletes both on and off the field.

2005-06 was a banner year for Hofstra Athletics as the Pride won Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) championships in men's soccer, women's soccer, wrestling, softball and men's lacrosse and competed in NCAA Tournaments in each sport. In addition, the men and women's basketball teams were selected to play in the National Invitation Tournament (NIT). In his first year (2004-05) as Hofstra's athletics director, the Pride captured three CAA championships and advanced to postseason play in four sports – men's soccer, wrestling and softball took part in the NCAA Tournament, while men's basketball participated in the NIT.

Hayes has placed a significant emphasis on fundraising during his first two years. Pride Club membership reached all-time highs, both in terms of the number of contributors and funds raised. Resources generated through fundraising efforts have been used to enhance programs and facilities available to student-athletes. Recent initiatives include the renovation of the study lab in Margiotta Hall and a new academic study area in the Physical Fitness Center.

Hayes came to Hofstra University with more than 14 years of athletic administration experience, including management positions at four Division I institutions. The three years prior to taking his current position were highlighted by leading the University of Connecticut Division of Athletics fund-raising efforts, where his responsibilities included managing the operations of the UConn

Athletic Development Fund, implementing policies and procedures for the annual giving program, assisting with the cultivation and solicitation of major gift prospects, coordinating capital project campaigns, overseeing special events, and managing the athletic ticketing operation. While at UConn, he served as a senior staff member for a $40 million program that supports 24 sports and 650 student-athletes.

From 1998 to 2001 Hayes served as director of athletic administration at Fordham University, where he was responsible for the comprehensive internal operations of the athletic department, including fiscal management, facilities management, staff training and development, ticket operations, and NCAA compliance initiatives.

Prior to his tenure at Fordham, Hayes served as assistant director of athletics at St. John's University, where he managed the fiscal operations of the athletic department and supervised the business office. Hayes began his professional career in college athletics at Fairfield University, where he served as assistant director of athletics. He oversaw the addition of four sports programs at Fairfield University – football, women's rowing, women's lacrosse and women's golf.

Hayes received a master's degree in education in 1992 with a concentration in sport management from the University of Connecticut. He holds a bachelor's degree (1989) from Providence College, where he was a member of Providence's lacrosse team. He was also awarded a certificate of completion in 2001 from the Sports Management Institute, Consortium of the Universities of Michigan and Texas.

A native of Providence, Rhode Island, Hayes graduated from the Providence Country Day School where he lettered in football, basketball and lacrosse. He was inducted, as a member of his high school basketball team, into the Providence Country Day Athletic Hall of Fame in October 2004. He resides in East Northport, New York, with his wife Bridget, daughter Katie (4) and son Matt (1).

HOFSTRA SYMBOLS and Heritage

The Symbols of Hofstra University

The Shield Logo

In 2005 Hofstra introduced a new logo as part of a University-wide re-imaging. Both the University's logo as well as the Pride logo were designed by advertising agency Powell New York, a full-service branding and marketing agency, noted as one of the ten firms to watch in 2005 in Advertising Age.

The new University logo features an "H" within a shield design. Hofstra University has always been known for both a tradition of academic excellence and a willingness to evolve to meet the needs of students and the greater society. This shield represents the University's commitment to our heritage and a tradition of academic excellence, while the dynamic representation of the H within the shield embodies the evolutionary, changing nature of the University. Hofstra University has both honored its traditions and heritage while embracing changing disciplines, using new technology and remaining relevant to scholarly pursuits and the demands of industry.

The Seal

The Hofstra seal was designed from the royal Dutch emblem by art instructor Constant Van de Wall. The seal is modeled on the coat of arms of the House of Orange-Nassau. The round seal includes the coat of arms, flanked by lions on either side. A lion also stands in the center of the coat of arms, holding a sword in its right claw and a bundle of seven arrows, which represent the seven provinces of Holland, in its left. The seal also carries the motto of the House of Orange-Nassau in Old French: "Je maintiendray" (I stand steadfast). In 1988 one of the two lions on the seal was officially replaced with a lioness. The Hofstra seal is still in use today, though not as a logo. The seal will be affixed to formal documents, and used for official purposes such as commencement, convocations, and official University functions.

The Pride

As of July 1, 2005, our athletic teams are officially known as the Pride, providing our teams with a strong, consistent image that resonates with the Hofstra community. The new Hofstra Athletics logo consists of a graphic mark of a male and female lion in powerful, synchronized motion with the word mark of the Hofstra Pride or the specific sports team. This logo will be the only one used by Hofstra Athletics.

The Hofstra Pride refers to a pack of lions, male and female, which work together towards a common goal and symbolize determination and strength. The Pride conveys both the teamwork and togetherness that is a trait of lions living in prides, who have a close bond and work together for the good of the entire group. The teamwork evident in prides is a trait of Hofstra's student-athletes, who support each other in furtherance of a common goal, while working tirelessly to represent their teams and, in turn, the University. Lions also possess speed, tenacity, and agility, and are relentless in their pursuit of a goal, which are traits our student-athletes demonstrate both on and off the field.

The first consistent use of the word "Pride" relating to athletics was in 1989 when the University's athletic booster club was founded and called itself The Pride Club, which at the time simply referred to the pride that alumni and fans had for our teams. The Pride identity has progressed over the past decade in a more specific fashion than just the expression of a feeling. After one lion on the Hofstra seal was changed into a lioness to symbolize gender equity, the University mascots -- Kate and Willie Pride, a lioness and lion -- were introduced.

Hofstra's Dutch Heritage

Ties to Dutch heritage and the Netherlands began with William S. Hofstra, after whom the school is named and on whose property the University was started. William Hofstra died in 1932 and when his wife, Kate, died 16 months later, her will provided that their house, 15-acre estate, and bulk of her inheritance were to be used for a "public, charitable, benevolent, or scientific purpose" as a memorial to her husband.

The idea for a college came from Truesdel Peck Calkins, former Hempstead superintendent of schools, who was then with New York University.

He suggested that NYU might offer extension courses on the Hofstra property. Hofstra opened in September 1935, as a two-year extension branch of NYU; its official name was "Nassau College – Hofstra Memorial of New York University at Hempstead, Long Island."

When the doors opened, the sole building on campus was Hofstra's mansion, which he had affectionately named the Netherlands after his homeland, and all classes were held there. The mansion, which houses administrative offices, is now the center of Hofstra's 240-acre campus, and has been renamed Hofstra Hall.

LONG ISLAND and New York City

About Long Island...

Long Island has a rich history as an active, vibrant community, a summer playground, and home to some of New York's most prominent families.

Five distinct regions make up Long Island:

- North Shore, otherwise known as the Gold Coast, with dozens of historic sites dating back to colonial days and Gatsby-era mansions.
- South Shore, the Island's spectator sports and entertainment center, with world-famous Jones and Fire Island Beaches, and home to the New York Islanders.
- Central Suffolk, with beautiful forests and natural inlets, the world's largest factory outlet center and a huge water park.
- North Fork, with an array of vineyards, waterfront ports and farm stands.
- South Fork, widely known as "The Hamptons," with its pristine beaches and exclusive villages.

You can catch a Hofstra shuttle bus to Jones Beach – a state park with six miles of gorgeous coastline, a boardwalk, swimming pools, golf and outdoor concerts.

With everything from museums, historical sites and lighthouses, to sophisticated malls, designer outlets and shopping villages, to wineries and farm stands, to family fun parks, aquariums and zoos, there is plenty to do on Long Island.

About New York City...

Hofstra is located only 30 miles from New York City – the capital of culture and finance. You can visit Carnegie Hall, South Street Seaport, Hard Rock Café, Grand Central Station, Central Park, NBC Studios in Rockefeller Center, Little Italy or Chinatown.

Study the world's finest sculptures and paintings at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Go and cheer along with capacity crowds at a Yankees, Mets, Rangers or Knicks game.

ACADEMIC Support

Hofstra University is committed to the pursuit of academic and athletic excellence. The University views participation in intercollegiate athletics as benefiting the student-athlete in an educationally enhancing experience beyond any other opportunity available. Hofstra also realizes the time commitment made by student-athletes and has committed the facilities and resources to support all students.

The University Tutorial Program (UTP) provides free tutoring in every subject area to any Hofstra student. In addition to this service, the UTP has an athletic component that addresses the academic needs of student-athletes. The UTP academic counselor administers this athletic component. The UTP emphasizes four areas in their efforts to ensure the academic success of Hofstra's student-athletes.

Area one is academic counseling. Services are provided in the areas of academic planning, career planning, personal counseling, and campus and community referrals. The counselor also meets with prospective student-athletes, at the coach's request, to share the many benefits of a Hofstra University education.

Area two is academic advising. In an effort to ease the demand on the Office of Advisement, the UTP academic counselor also advises first-year and undecided student-athletes.

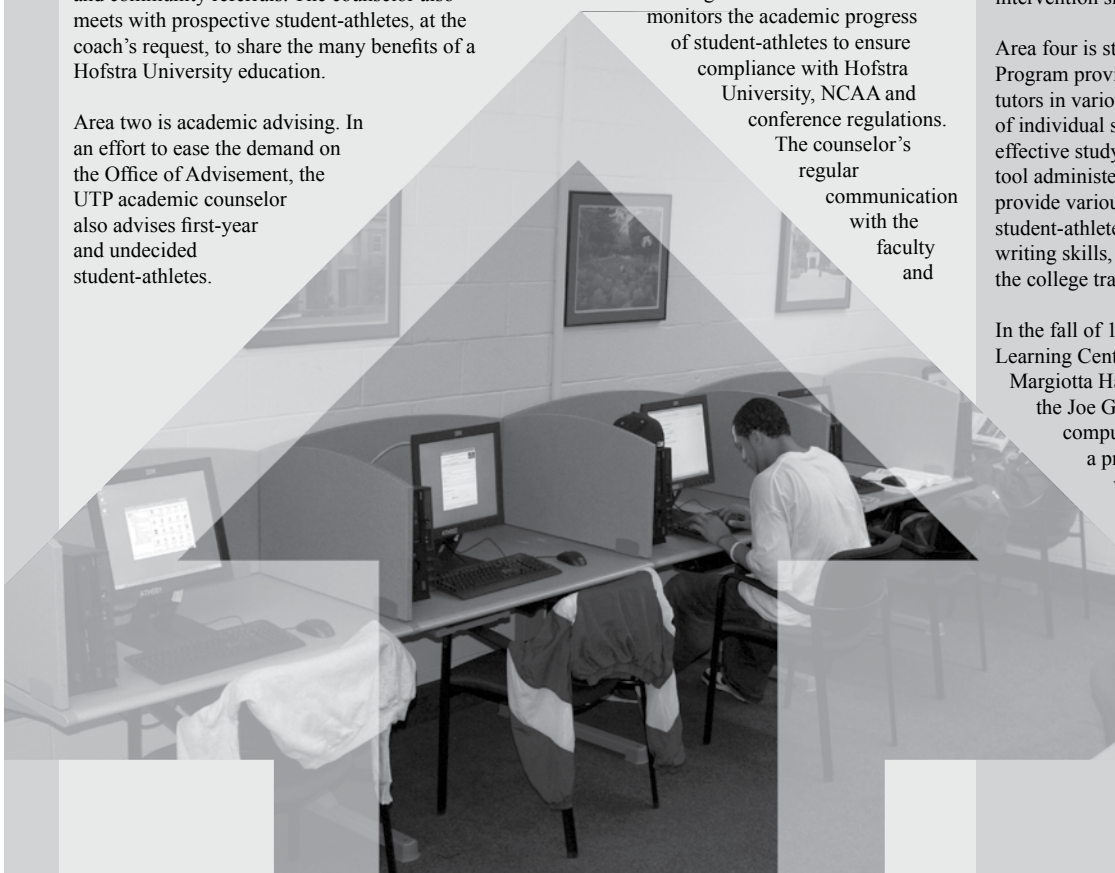

Area three is academic monitoring. The UTP counselor monitors the academic progress of student-athletes to ensure compliance with Hofstra University, NCAA and conference regulations. The counselor's regular communication with the faculty and coaches provide an opportunity for early intervention should academic difficulties arise.

Area four is study halls. The University Tutorial Program provides all athletic study halls with tutors in various subjects and assesses the needs of individual student-athletes to provide the most effective study environment. The assessment tool administered by the UTP is also used to provide various enrichment seminars for the student-athletes such as time management, writing skills, campus resources, and surviving the college transition.

In the fall of 1999, the Pride Teaching and Learning Center opened on the second floor of Margiotta Hall. Funded in part by proceeds from the Joe Gardi Golf Open, the state-of-the-art computer lab and learning center features a projection system and 18 computer workstations, which are connected to the University network for easy research access to the Internet. The Pride Teaching and Learning Center was refurbished in 2005 with new furniture and computers. In addition to the Teaching and Learning Center, a new study area was created in the Physical Fitness Center.

SPORTS MEDICINE/Athletic Training

Through a comprehensive athletic training program, Hofstra University student-athletes are provided excellent health care during their attendance at the University. A coordinated effort between the University Health and Wellness Center, the Athletic Department and outside health care providers ensures every student-athlete the best medical attention possible.

University student-athletes have direct access to a myriad of health care services. Managing the coverage of every practice and competition event is Hofstra University's athletic training staff, which is led by third-year Head Athletic Trainer Evan Malings and features nine full-time athletic trainers and numerous student athletic trainers. The athletic trainers provide injury management, rehabilitation and treatment to the entire Athletic program. Utilizing three state-of-the-art athletic training rooms, these professionals work tirelessly to ensure the safe participation of Hofstra's student-athletes and to return injured athletes to play quickly and safely.

Supporting the athletic trainers is team physician Dr. Damion Martins. Dr. Martins, a physician with Pro Health Care, Inc. in Lake Success, New York, is in his fourth year on Hofstra's medical team. Martins experience in the sports medicine field includes serving as team physician for the University of Maryland, University of Maryland-Baltimore County and Coppin State athletic departments. He was also on the medical staff of the National Football League's Baltimore Ravens.

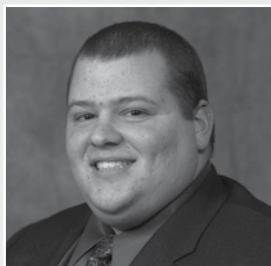

Hofstra University sponsors a fully accredited, highly competitive undergraduate degree program for athletic training majors, in which Hofstra student athletic trainers participate in all aspects of the health care system.

HOFSTRA UNIVERSITY Soccer Stadium

The Hofstra Men's and Women's Soccer Teams play at the recently constructed Hofstra University Soccer Stadium, located on the University's north campus, adjacent to the Hofstra Physical Fitness Center. The Stadium, constructed in 2003 through a partnership with the New York Jets, features a 120-yard by 74-yard FieldTurf surface, stadium lighting, metal bleachers the length of the field, the Gorman Memorial Gateway and the Hofstra Soccer Walls of Honor.

"We are very pleased to be able to add to our campus a first-rate soccer facility with lights and seating for approximately 1,600 spectators," said Hofstra President Stuart Rabinowitz. "This facility will enhance our soccer programs, and will also permit us to host exhibitions and other community contests. We are most grateful to the New York Jets for their generosity in making this facility possible."

The FieldTurf system, which was installed by Landtek of Amityville, New York, replicates a natural grass surface, but offers the durability and cost benefits of synthetic fields. FieldTurf is a safe alternative, resulting in a documented reduction of sports injuries. The sand and rubber infill system is the biggest technical development that the sport surfacing industry has seen in the last 25 years. This patented technology sets FieldTurf apart from all other sports surfaces.

In June 2001 the Federation Internationale de Football Association (FIFA), the worldwide governing body for the sport of soccer, gave its official recommendation to the artificial grass FieldTurf installation at Boston University's Nickerson Field for international competition and domestic league play. The historic ruling, the first and only certification of an artificial surface in the world at this time, means that venues with FieldTurf can be used for all preliminary competition matches for the FIFA World Cup and Olympic Football Tournaments as well as for professional league play. There have been more than 500 FieldTurf installations worldwide in recent years.

The facility is lit with a system from the Iowa-based Musco Lighting Company. Musco is recognized as a world-class leader in sports lighting with lighting systems installed around the globe. A leader in developing sports-lighting technology – including solutions for permanent and temporary lighting, and sports facility management – Musco offers innovative systems, a comprehensive package of services, and decades of experience.

Working with organizations such as Amateur Softball Association, Babe Ruth League, Disney, England and Wales Cricket Board, Little League Baseball®, Major League Baseball, NASCAR, and the NBA, Musco has played a key role in developing guidelines for safe, efficient sports facilities. Musco is a Major Partner with the National Recreation and Park Association (NRPA); provides the Official Sports-Lighting System for Little League Baseball and was selected to light Disney's Wide World of Sports Complex — a state-of-the-art 200-acre complex with facilities for more than 30 sports.

The facility is outfitted with a seating system from the Southern Bleacher Company of Graham, Texas. Since 1946, Southern Bleacher has set the standard of excellence in the design and manufacturing of sports stadiums and entertainment venues. Southern Bleacher products grace professional baseball diamonds and soccer fields, college campuses, school districts, NASCAR tracks and rodeo arenas across the United States.

THE COLONIAL ATHLETIC Association

Coming off one of the most successful seasons in its 21-year history, the Colonial Athletic Association continues to enhance its reputation as one of the nation's top collegiate conferences.

With a geographic footprint that stretches from Boston to Atlanta, the CAA encompasses five of the nation's nine largest metropolitan areas. On the playing field, the conference has produced 16 national team champions in five different sports, 33 individual national champions, 12 national players of the year, 11 national coaches of the year and 12 Honda Award winners. Even more impressive, however, are the honors accumulated away from competition, which include five Rhodes Scholars and 19 NCAA post-graduate scholars. In 2005-06, the CAA had 11 ESPN The Magazine Academic All-Americans and more than 1,500 of our 4,000 student-athletes posted at least a 3.2 grade point average while lettering in a varsity sport and received the CAA Commissioner's Academic Award.

The landscape of the conference stretches along the majority of the East Coast, and includes six of the nation's top 25 media markets – New York (1), Philadelphia (4), Boston (5), Washington, D.C. (8), Atlanta (9) and Baltimore (23). The number of television homes in the CAA market exceeds 19 million.

The CAA conducts championships in 21 sports. Male athletes compete for championships in baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, lacrosse, soccer, swimming & diving, tennis, track & field and wrestling. Female athletes battle for conference titles in basketball, cross country, field hockey, golf, lacrosse, soccer, softball, swimming & diving, tennis, track & field and volleyball. The CAA will also begin sponsorship of a 12-team Division I-AA football league in the fall of 2007.

The conference made its presence known nationally in men's basketball, with four teams advancing to post-season play for the second year in a row. George Mason became the first mid-major program since 1979 to reach the Final Four, knocking off powerhouses Michigan State, North Carolina, Wichita State and Connecticut along the way. The Patriots were ranked #8 in the final ESPN/USA Today Top 25 poll, which was the highest ever for a CAA team. UNC Wilmington claimed its third league title in the past five years before dropping an overtime decision in the NCAA Tournament. Old Dominion became the first conference team to reach the final four of the NIT, defeating league member Hofstra in the quarterfinals. Drexel was the first CAA squad to make the final four of the NIT Pre-Season Tip-Off Tournament, where it dropped close decisions to national powers Duke and UCLA. The CAA was ranked eighth out of 31 conferences in the final RPI with six teams among the top 88 in the country.

In women's basketball, the CAA had a league-record four teams earn post-season berths and was ranked #8 in the final RPI. Perennial power Old Dominion, which claimed its 15th consecutive conference title, has a storied history that includes three national championships (1979, 1980, 1985) and a national runner-up finish in 1997. Delaware, James Madison and Hofstra received berths in the 2006 WNIT.

The conference also excels in many other sports. CAA squads have won 10 field hockey national titles since the championship began in 1981 and Old Dominion advanced to the national semifinals in 2005. In baseball, James Madison's Kellen Kulbacki was chosen as the Co-National Player of the Year and the league had 28 players chosen in the 2006 Major League Baseball draft. The CAA is annually ranked among the nation's top 10 conferences in men's and women's soccer, and traditionally sends multiple teams to the NCAA Tournament. Hofstra's men's lacrosse team was ranked #2 in the nation last season and tied an NCAA record with 17 victories while CAA women's tennis players Megan Moulton-Levy of William & Mary and Tatsiana Uvarova of VCU both earned All-America honors after facing off in the quarterfinals of the NCAA Championship. In 2005-06, 21 league teams earned NCAA Tournament berths in 16 sports. There were 37 CAA student-athletes who earned All-America honors.

CAA member institutions are committed to excellence in the classroom. The Colonial Academic Alliance was created in 2002 by the league's presidents with a goal of expanding their partnership to all aspects of university life outside of intercollegiate athletics. Among the programs already established are an undergraduate research conference, coordination of study abroad programs and granting visiting academic status to student-athletes traveling to an away contest so that they have access to libraries, academic resource centers and computer labs.

In 2002, two faculty members from CAA institutions were awarded academia's most coveted distinction – the Nobel Prize. John B. Fenn, a research professor in the Department of Chemistry at Virginia Commonwealth University, received the Nobel Prize for chemistry, and Vernon Smith, a professor of economics and law at George Mason University, shared the Nobel Prize in economic sciences.

Commissioner Thomas E. Yeager has guided the CAA since its inception. Long-time members George Mason University, James Madison University, the University of North Carolina at Wilmington, Old Dominion University, Virginia Commonwealth University and the College of William & Mary were joined by the University of Delaware, Drexel University, Hofstra University and Towson University in 2001. Georgia State University and Northeastern University became members of the conference on July 1, 2005.

The CAA traces its roots back to 1983 when three of its current members- George Mason, James Madison, and William and Mary - were aligned with East Carolina University, the United States Naval Academy and the University of Richmond as a basketball league (ECAC South). During the next two years, the league added 11 sports, acquired two new members (UNC Wilmington and American University) and decided to form a new association. The transformation from ECAC South to CAA took place on June 6, 1985. Old Dominion became a member of the CAA in 1991-92 and VCU joined the conference prior to the 1995-96 season.

From all-star athletes to Nobel Prize winning faculty, the CAA takes great pride in producing performers who stand out both on the playing field and in the classroom.

THE GORMAN MEMORIAL Gateway

The Gorman Memorial Gateway, named in honor of former Hofstra Soccer player Frank Gorman, who died tragically on January 5, 2003, will be officially dedicated on Sunday, September 17, 2006.

The Gorman Memorial Gateway project included a gated entrance to the Hofstra Soccer Stadium and ticket windows, as well as a Hofstra Men's and Women's Soccer Walls of Fame, the Sergio Villanueva Memorial Garden and a picnic area behind the east side goal. Future plans include alumni bleachers located behind the east goal.

Donors to the Gorman Memorial Gateway Fund have their names inscribed on a plaque at the Gateway entrance to the Hofstra University Soccer Stadium.

For more information, please contact Mark Cox, Associate Athletic Director for External Affairs at (516) 463-6144.
