The Gateway Conference

The Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference enters its sixth year of existence and third season of its operation of a seven-school NCAA I-AA football division.

The Gateway Conference was founded, as a women's athletic organization, by ten midwestern universities with similar academic and athletic interests in 1982.

The conference is comprised of schools which are members of two different conferences for men's athletics and is spread out over five states. Six Gateway members belong to the Missouri Valley Conference: Bradley University, Drake University, Illinois State University, Indiana State University, Southern Illinois University and Wichita State University. Four others belong to the Association of Mid-Central Universities (AMCU): Eastern Illinois University, University of Northern Iowa, Southwest Missouri State University and Western Illinois University.

The Gateway sponsors championships in nine women's sports and one men's sport, football. The women's sports include cross-country, volleyball, basketball, indoor track and field, swimming and diving, golf, tennis, softball and outdoor track and field.

On August 21, 1985, the Gateway Conference President's Council voted to add a I-AA football division, for six of its members, to their previously all-women's athletics organization. Forming the football division were Eastern Illinois, Illinois State, Northern Iowa, Southern Illinois, Southwest Missouri and Western Illinois. This move marked the first time in college annals that men's football was added to a women's conference.

In June 1986, Indiana State University enrolled as the seventh member of the Gateway Conference football division.

Patty Viverito has governed the Gateway Conference since its birth. In fact, Mrs. Viverito became the first woman commissioner to govern a conference associated with men's athletics last summer when the football division was formed.

The conference has made great strides since its inception and I feel we will grow even stronger," Commissioner Viverito commented. "The ten members are so committed to women's athletics that their well-established programs will get even stronger. In addition, I look forward to the added excitement and challenge that football will bring to this fine conference. The national prominence of football will also help to increase the visibility and enhance the prestige of our women's program."

INDIANA STATE UNIVERSITY

PRESIDENT Dr. Richard Landini

Presently in his 12th year as President of Indiana State University, Dr. Richard Landini has been a strong supporter of all of the University's athletic programs.

Working with representatives of the Athletic Department, he was advocate of ISU's membership in the Missouri Valley and Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conferences. His concern for the academics of athletes has been evidenced by his active involvement in policy making by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. In 1983 he helped draft the NCAA rule which states that a student athlete must make satisfactory progress toward specific degree requirements.

Landini earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in literature from the University of Miami in 1954 and 1955. After earning his Doctor of Philosophy degree (1959) at the University of Florida, he served on the faculty and administrative staff of Arizona State University for 11 years (1959-70). In 1970, he was appointed academic vice-president and professor of English at the University of Montana. He is ISU's eighth president, succeeding Dr. Alan C. Rankin in 1975.

Dr. Landini and his family reside in historic Condit House on the University campus.

Indiana State University, founded in 1865, serves the community, state and nation through undergraduate and graduate instruction, research and public service.

Over 170 undergraduate and graduate programs are offered through the College of Arts and Sciences and the Schools of Business; Education; Graduate Studies; Nursing; Health, Physical Education and Recreation; and Technology. With 12 associate degree programs and 82 baccalaureate programs there are majors in almost every arts and science discipline and in dozens of pre-professional fields. Business, technology, communication and criminology are among the most popular majors. The School of Graduate Studies offers 62 master's degree programs, 10 specialist programs and seven doctoral programs.

Indiana State University's enrollment is 11,500 students. They come from 50 states and 113 foreign countries. The ISU faculty numbers over 750. The average class size ranges between 20 and 30 students, and many freshmen are taught by professors with doctoral degrees. As an example, the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences has chosen to teach an undergraduate class in communications next spring.

In athletics, the men's teams joined the Missouri Valley Conference in 1976. The ISU women's teams are charter members of the Gateway Athletic Conference which was founded in 1982, and the football team joined the Gateway Conference in 1986.

The University is the first in the nation to offer both undergraduate and graduate instruction in athletic training and today is one of only eight with a graduate program in the field.

ISU's attractively landscaped campus adjoins the north side of the downtown Terre Haute business district. Two miles east along Wabash Avenue, is 20,500-seat Memorial Stadium, which contains the world's first university-owned and operated outdoor Astro-Turf playing surface. The ISU baseball field is located on the 95-acre river campus.

The University has 19 academic buildings including Cunningham Memorial Library, a major resource in the Wabash Valley. Among its one million-volume collection is the world-famous Cordell Collection of rare and early English language dictionaries. It also is a U.S. Government Depository for the Sixth Congressional District. Hulman Center, a 10,000-seat, multi-purpose amphitheater, has hosted over 3.25 million people since opening in 1973.

Indiana State University owns and operates a dozen residence halls on campus and four family housing apartment buildings.

The University has a full roster of student activities, ranging from the week-long Homecoming festivities in the fall (featuring the largest student-organized Homecoming parade in the nation) to Tandemonia, the spring tandem bicycle races. Student government, national fraternities and sororities plus over 200 departmental and religious organizations provide still other opportunities for involvement and service.

The Coaches

Head Coach Dennis Raetz

Dennis Raetz

Indiana State Head Football Coach Dennis Raetz will be entering his ninth season at the Terre Haute, Ind. school this fall.

One of the top coaches in NCAA Division I-AA, Raetz was the 1984 Missouri Valley Conference's "Coach of the Year" as well as being named as the Kodak District "Coach of the Year" honoree for guiding the Sycamores to the I-AA post-season playoffs and a No. 1 national ranking. ISU also progressed into the I-AA post-season playoffs in 1983, earning a national Top 10 ranking and almost pulling off an upset over the highly regarded University of Florida Gators.

It shouldn't really come as a surprise that Indiana State has done so well under Raetz' leadership. He had shown himself to be a winner as a high school head coach in Kansas City, Kansas (J.C. Harmon HS), where he tutored former All-American defensive back Mark Haynes (now with the AFC champion Denver Broncos). After four successful years at Harmon, Raetz was asked to join the coaching staff at the University of Missouri, where he coached the varsity defensive ends and was the head coach of the junior varsity team under Head Coach Al Onofrio.

The North Platte, Neb., native moved to ISU in 1978 as the defensive coordinator under former Sycamore mentor Dick Jamieson. Two years later, when Jamieson opted to take an assistant coaching position in the National Football League, Raetz was named as his successor.

Since taking over the helm of the Indiana State football program, Raetz has fielded several strong defensive teams and has been instrumental in the careers of such former Sycamore grid standouts as linebacker Craig Shaffer (St. Louis Cardinals, NFL; Denver Broncos, NFL; Edmonton Eskimos, CFL), defensive end Gerry Gluscic (Pittsburgh Steelers, NFL), cornerback Wayne Davis (San Diego Chargers, NFL) and weak safety Vencie Glenn (New England Patriots, NFL; San Diego Chargers, NFL), all former Missouri Valley Conference "Defensive Player of the Year" honorees. Additionally, former ISU defensive end Ed Martin (Los Angeles Express, USFL; Dallas Cowboys, NFL), Davis and Glenn have been selected to the I-AA first-team All-American squad in recent years. Strong safety Steve McKeel, who will be a senior this fall for the Sycamores, was a first-team All-Gateway Conference selection in 1986 and was an honorable mention All-American.

Offensively, former ISU quarterback Jeff Miller (Chicago Bears, NFL) was named as the Missouri Valley Conference's "Offensive Player of the Year" in 1984 and 1985 while offensive guard Steve Buxton (Chicago Bears, NFL; Green Bay Packers, NFL), center Rich Dawson (St. Louis Cardinals, NFL), running back Eric Robinson (Washington Federals, USFL; Minnesota Vikings, NFL) and running back James Banks (Cleveland Browns, NFL; Dallas Cowboys, NFL) all earned all-conference and All-American honors. Former ISU offensive lineman Tunch Ilkin has been a stalwart with the NFL's Pittsburgh Steelers for the past several seasons while offensive tackle Mike Simmonds was accorded I-AA All-American honors this past year, and was drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

The Indiana State University football program is on the move under Raetz' strong leadership. The Sycamores rank third among all Indiana colleges in the number of former players now in the NFL and that alone is a good indication of the type of program in place in Terre Haute. But more than that, football players at ISU get a good education off the field as well. Former Indiana State quarterback Jeff Miller was a second-team Academic All-American in 1985 and was a Rhodes Scholar candidate along with former ISU defensive end Kurt Bell.

Dennis Raetz' Coaching Achievements

- Dennis Raetz has averaged six wins per season while compiling a six-year record of 38-29-1.
- Raetz has led Indiana State to the two most successful seasons in the school's history, winning nine games each in 1983 and 1984.
- During Raetz' tenure at ISU, the Sycamores have been to the I-AA post-season playoffs twice and have been ranked No. 1 in the country in I-AA.
- Since Raetz became the head coach at Indiana State, over 20 players have either been drafted or signed free agent contracts, including cornerback Wayne Davis (2nd round, San Diego Chargers, 1985) and weak safety Vencie Glenn (2nd round, New England Patriots).
- Raetz' teams have placed either first or second in team defense in the Missouri Valley Conference in four of the last six seasons.

Memorial Stadium

Indiana State plays its home football games at Memorial Stadium, which is located on the corners of Wabash and Brown Avenues in Terre Haute.

The stadium was acquired by the University in 1967 and, prior to that time, was used for both football and baseball. Since the installation of the synthetic playing surface, however, the field has been used for football and field hockey.

The first university in the world to own and make outdoor application of Astroturf was Indiana State and the Sycamores put the new field to good use in September of 1967 as ISU hosted Eastern Illinois.

The Astroturf in use at Indiana State is similar to that used in Houston's famed Astrodome. Plus factors in the use of the synthetic surface include durability (some 15 college and high school football games are played on the field each year; and in addition the ISU football team conducts all practices on the field) and a constant surface which will provide sure footing regardless of weather.

Each blade of grass is 3/8 inches long and is attached to a sponge-rubber pad 1/4 inches thick. This sponge pad is then set upon a fiber pad 1/2 inch thick. Both the sponge pad and the fiber pad are set on a two-inch layer of asphalt. Memorial Stadium was open to the public for the first time May 5, 1925 as the local minor league baseball team, the Terre Haute Tots, played the Peoria (IL) Tractors with an estimated crowd of 9,000 on hand for the event.

Among the honored guests at the game were major league baseball commissioner Judge Kennesaw Landis and Charles Barnard, a representative of the Cleveland Indians.

The first use of the playing field was in the fall of 1924 as local high schools, Wiley and Garfield, played their traditional Thanksgiving Day game.

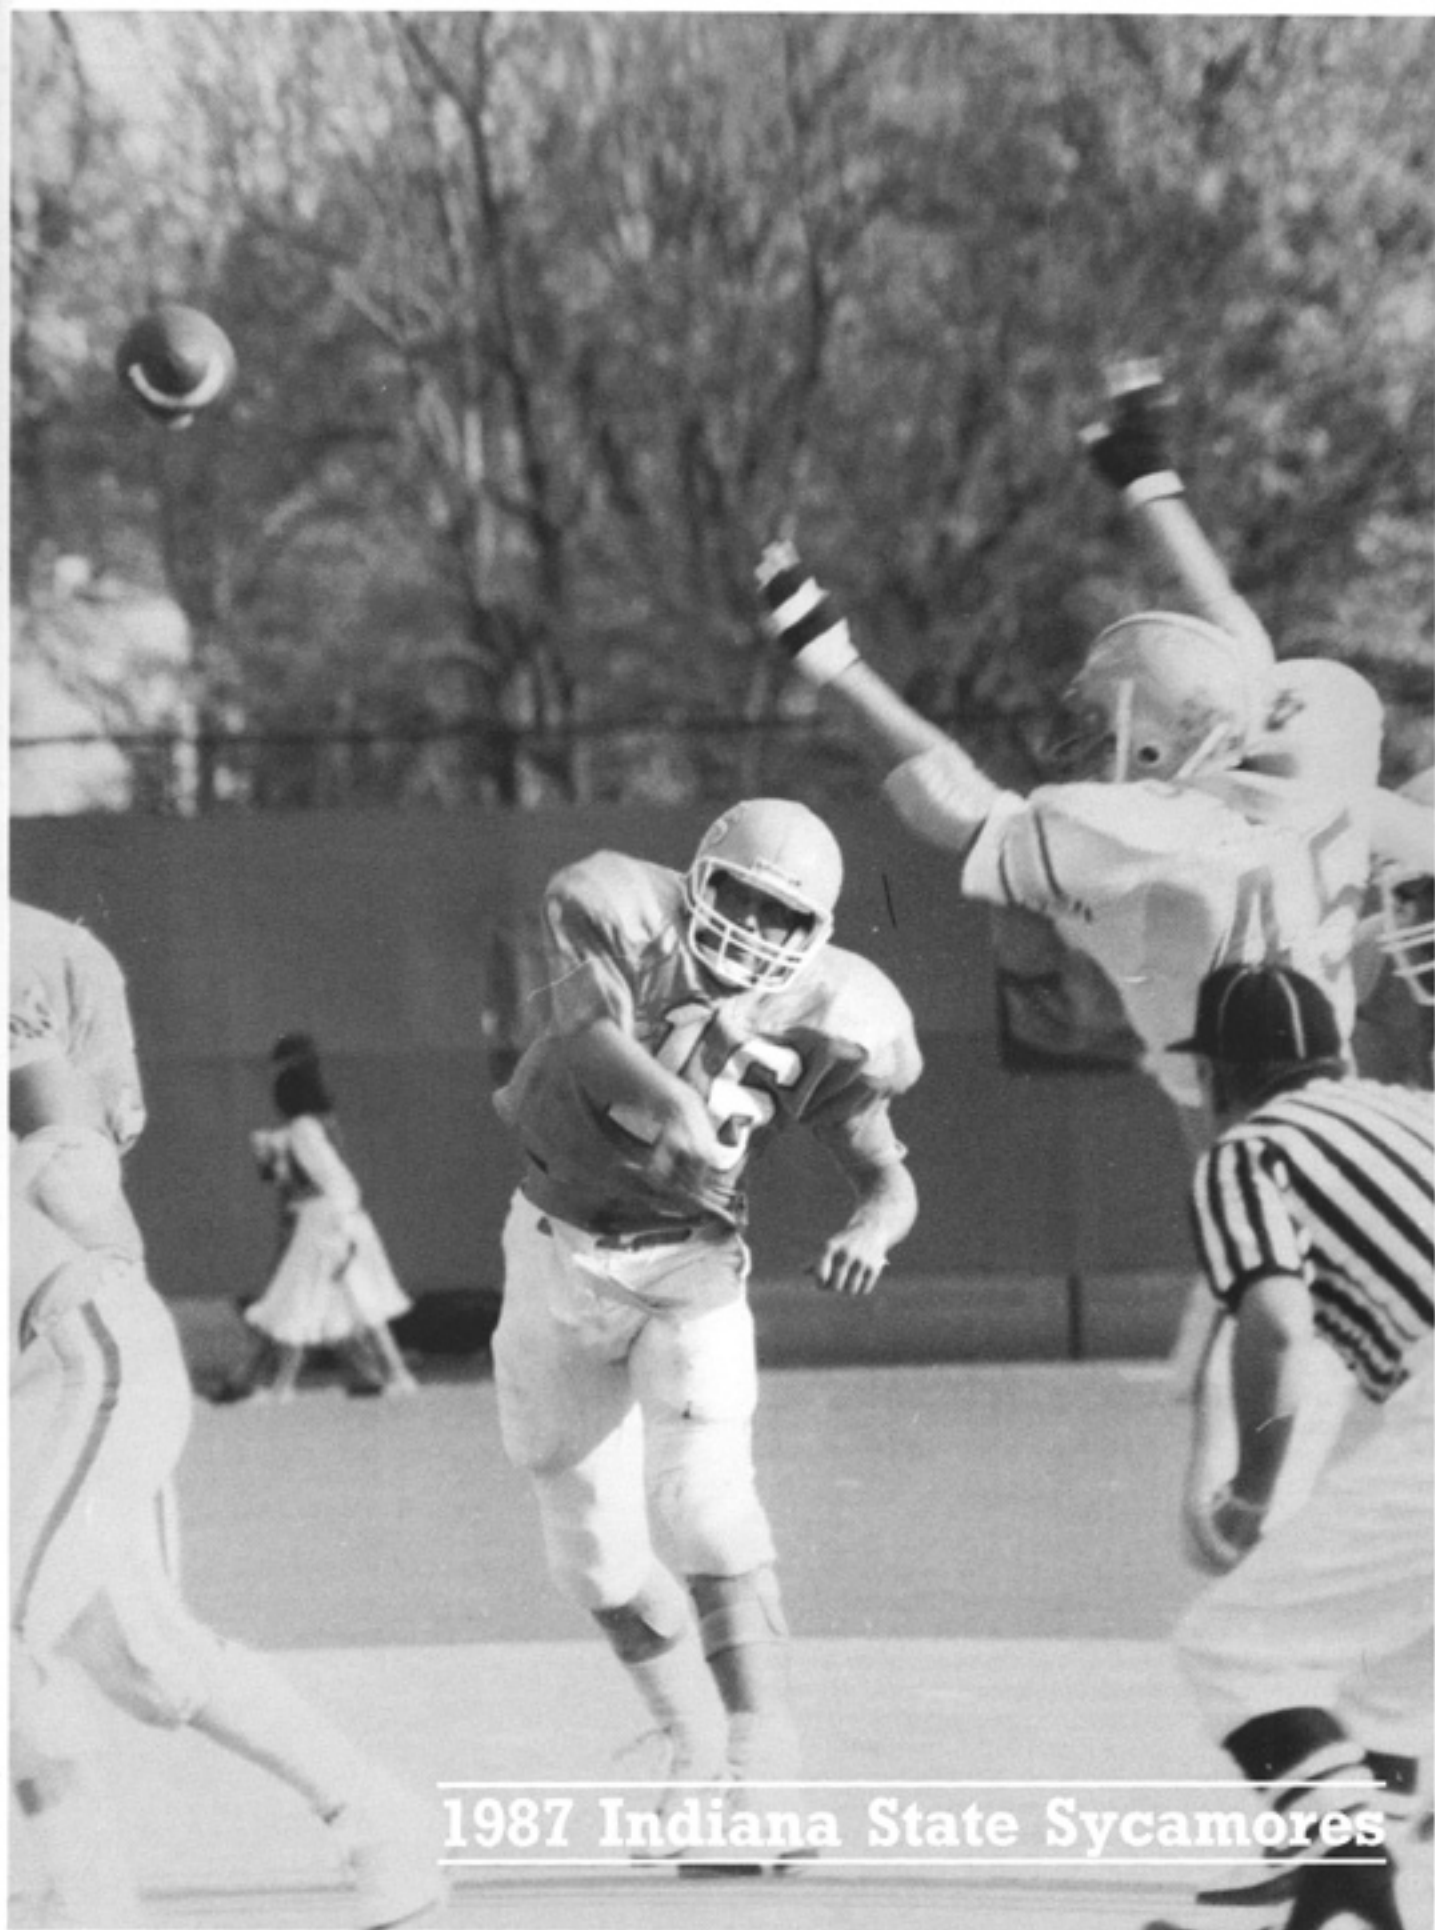

Work on Memorial Stadium was begun in 1922 at a cost of $450,000.

After the University gained control of the stadium in 1967, a three-part renovation project was started which included the reorientation of the playing field from a north-south direction to an east-west line; installation of Astroturf; and a building of some 4,500 bleacher seats on the north side of the field as well as rebuilding of seats on the south side of the field.

Capacity of Memorial Stadium is now 20,500.

1987 Indiana State Sycamores

1987 ISU Football Outlook

Indiana State University head football coach Dennis Raetz is definitely excited about the start of the 1987 season. More so, perhaps, than he has been for the last several years.

Why, you might ask, especially since the Sycamores are coming off consecutive (4-6, 3-8) sub .500 campaigns.

"I really feel good about this football team," Raetz explained. "I think we're going to have a competitive team, both offensively and defensively. We have a lot of experience coming back for us, more than we've had since the 1983-84 seasons. Some of the kids we were forced to play, due to injuries or whatever, in 1985 and 1986 are just now maturing.

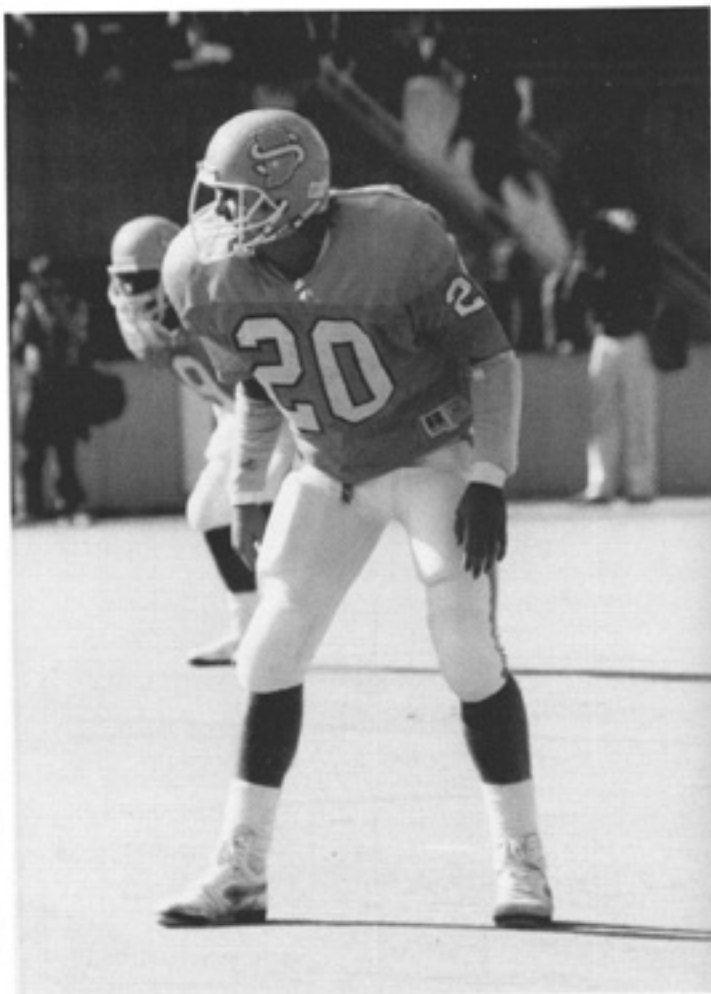

"Instead of a 220-pound second-year freshman playing defensive tackle, that same kid is now 240-250 pounds with game experience. We've got some quality depth for the first time in a while, especially at receiver and defensive back."

But the veteran ISU coach is quick to point out that there is still much work that needs to be done before the season gets underway.

"There are still some areas in which we need to improve in, most notably in running the football. As much as people enjoy watching a passing show, the key to winning football is in how well you can run the ball and the ability to control the game offensively. It keeps your defense off the field and rested, and it allows you to do so many more things," Raetz said.

"We're already running the football better after this past spring than we have been for the last couple of years, and that's largely due to the experience we have along our offensive line."

Another area of concern for Raetz and his coaching staff is the kicking game. The Sycamores, one of the proud possessors of one of the finest kicking tandems in I-AA football, have had their problems over the last two years and have lost crucial games due to mental lapses on the specialty teams.

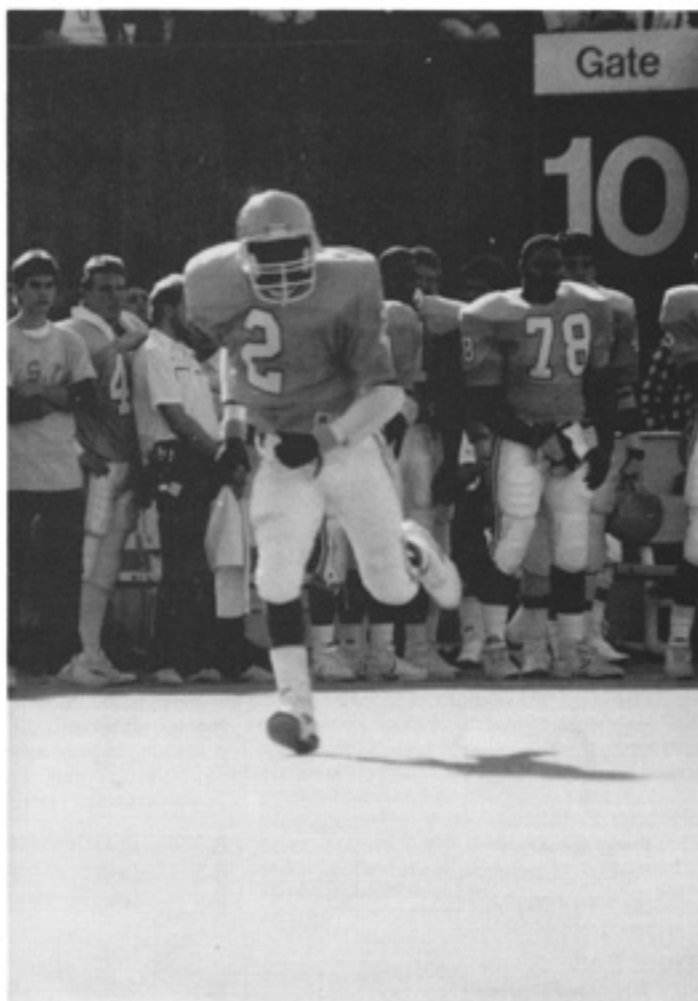

"Our kicking game has killed us at times in the recent past," Raetz went on. "We have to get better at punting the football, placekicking and our kick protection and coverage. As much as we may have improved in other areas, the kicking game will still be a big key for us this fall."

Raetz welcomes back 34 lettermen for the 1987 season—including 13 starters. Among the top returnees are senior safety Steve McKeel, a second-team Division I-AA All-American selection; senior split end Gary Cannon, ISU's single-season pass receiving record holder; junior flanker Chris Johnson, school and Gateway Conference record holder for pass receiving yardage in a game (253); junior quarterback Kyle Frondorf; sophomore quarterback John Sahm; sophomore quarterback Todd Jochem; sophomore safety Walter Crutchfield; and sophomore cornerback Lavent Blaylock.

Some position changes were made in the spring, such as sophomore tight end Darnell White moving over to the defense as an outside linebacker, and sophomore receiver Walter Brandon, who is now playing running back. Both changes appear to have been successful, although a more definitive answer will be known this fall.

"This is as talented a group of young men as we've had at Indiana State for quite some time," Raetz said. "Our receiving corps is very strong, especially with the addition of transfers Steve Elmlinger (Cincinnati) and Carl Davis (U.S. Naval Academy). We picked up a very good junior college running back in Tori Vactor (a junior college All-American in 1986) and were able to add two outstanding junior college defensive backs in Bernie Shackelford and Curtis Daley."

Indiana State University will kick off its 71st season of intercollegiate football with a 6 p.m. home contest against Salem College on Saturday, September 5. Other ISU home contests, including two in the spacious Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis, will feature Boston University, Northern Iowa, Southern Illinois, Cincinnati and Ball State.

ISU road contests include trips to Macomb, Ill. (Western Illinois), Springfield, Mo. (Southwest Missouri State), Atlanta, Ga. (Georgia Tech), Charleston, Ill. (Eastern Illinois), and Normal, Ill. (Illinois State).

"Our schedule is, again, very demanding," Raetz said. "We play three Division I-A schools, and a very good non-conference I-AA program in Boston University. The Gateway Conference should, as always, be very tough. It should make for an interesting season for our players and coaching staff."

About playing in the Hoosier Dome, home of the NFL's Indianapolis Colts, Raetz is philosophical.

"When you have a chance to play in the media capital of your state in a beautiful facility like the Hoosier Dome, you do it," Raetz said. "Our players really enjoy it and I'm sure our fans do as well. It's an experience that they, and we, won't soon forget."

Sycamore Media

The 1987 Indiana State University Football Media Guide is designed to assist you, the working media, in your coverage of the Sycamore football program. Requests for any additional information (e.g. travel plans, road accommodations, roster changes, etc.) should be made directly to the Indiana State University Sports Information Office. We welcome your interest in our school and we're looking forward to working with you this season.

THE PRESS BOX: The Indiana State University football press box is for working members of the media only. No cheerleading will be allowed. The press box is located above the south stands and is accessible by elevator. Also located in the press box are radio booths, public address announcer and stadium operations/security. Admission to the press box is by credential only.

PRESS CREDENTIALS: Press box credentials will be issued to members of the working media only. Working space in the Memorial Stadium press box is very limited. Requests for credentials should be made in writing on company letterhead stationery to Marty Lotz, Sports Information Director, well in advance of each home game. If time permits, we will mail your passes. If not, they will be held at the Will Call window located under the central archway.

PHOTO CREDENTIALS: Only photographers on assignment are given sideline passes along with working members of the television media. Admission to the sidelines at Memorial Stadium will be by press credential only.

RADIO: Radio stations that have been designated by the visiting school as the official station will be provided with a courtesy telephone line. All other stations wanting to broadcast must pay a right's fee of $50 to Indiana State University. There is a self-enclosed, sound-proof booth available for use by the official station. All other stations will be put on top of the Memorial Stadium press box due to lack of space in the press box itself.

INTERVIEWS IN-SEASON: All Indiana State University football players and coaches will be available to the media throughout the season. All interview requests should be made through the Sports Information Office and assistant SID Tom James: (812) 237-4160.

WEEKLY PRESS CONFERENCE: A weekly luncheon, sponsored by the Sycamore Varsity Club, will be held at the Ramada Inn hotel each Monday beginning at noon. Members of the media are invited to attend. Coach Raetz and one of his assistant coaches will be in attendance. Although Coach Raetz and his players are available throughout the week, this is an opportune time to interview the Sycamore coaches.

CALLING COACH RAETZ: The best time to call Coach Raetz in his office is Monday through Thursday 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. He may also be reached at his Memorial Stadium office from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.
