Home games in CAPS

The Schedule
Iowa State's schedule features 31 games again this season. The slate features 17 home games, including seven non-conference contests.

The slate includes at least 14 games against 2024 NCAA Tournament qualifiers.

Home Sweet Hilton
One of the nation's toughest venues, Iowa State will play 17 games in Hilton Coliseum. Entering its 54th year of play, Iowa State owns a .748 winning percentage with 613 wins at Hilton. ISU has won 18-straight games at Hilton and 27-straight against non-conference teams.

Iowa Corn Cy-Hawk Series
The Cyclones and Hawkeyes meet for the 78th time in series history. The Cyclones have won nine of the last 15 meetings, including a 90-65 victory last season.

Maui Invitational
Iowa State will head to Hawaii at Thanksgiving for the Maui Invitational, which will be held Nov. 25-27. ISU will face Auburn, an NCAA Tournament team a year ago, in the opening round. In the second game, ISU will face either North Carolina or Dayton. North Carolina advanced to the Sweet 16 last season, while Dayton made the second round. In the final game, ISU would face UConn, Colorado, Memphis or Michigan State. UConn is the two-time defending National Champion, while Colorado and Michigan State both made the second round of the 2024 NCAA Tournament.

Big 12 Breakdown
Round-robin scheduling is no more and the number of games has increased. For the first time, teams will play 20 conference games this season. Teams will play five Big 12 opponents twice, then play the other 10 conference opponents once, for a total of 20 Conference games. It marks the 13th-straight year Big 12 teams play at least 18 league games.

Up For A Challenge
Iowa State will play in just one conference challenge this season, facing Marquette in the Big 12/BIG EAST Battle. ISU is 4-0 in this challenge after beating DePaul, 99-80, last season. Iowa State also owns wins over St. John's (2022 - 71-60), Creighton (2021 - 64-58) and Seton Hall (2019 - 76-66). The Cyclones were scheduled to play DePaul in the 2020 Battle, but the game was canceled minutes before tipoff due to Covid-19.

Phillips 66 Big 12 Championship
For the 16th-consecutive season the Phillips 66 Big 12 Championship returns to T-Mobile Center in Kansas City, Missouri.

Iowa State is 16-6 in the last 10 seasons at the league championship, having won the title in 2014, 2015, 2017, 2019 and 2024.

Last year, the Cyclones defeated Kansas State 76-57 in the quarterfinals and No. 14 Baylor 76-62 in the semifinals. In the championship game, Iowa State beat No. 1 Houston 69-41, the largest margin of victory in college basketball history over the Nation's No. 1 team.

2024-25 Season
The 2024-25 season marks the 118th edition of Iowa State men's basketball and the fourth with head coach T.J. Otzelberger leading the program. The Cyclones enter the season with an all-time record of 1,460-1,399.

What's Back
Iowa State returns nine letterwinners from last year's squad, including three starters and the four leading scorers from last year's Sweet 16 team.

Tamin Lipsey put together an incredible season leading the Cyclones last year, earning AP Honorable Mention All-America honors, while also being named a CSC Second Team Academic All-American. Lipsey averaged 12.4 points, 4.9 assists, 4.6 rebounds and 2.7 steals last year, becoming just the 17th player in the country to do so since 1996-97. He broke the single-game steals record with eight against Prairie View A&M, while he turned in the seventh triple-double in school history in a win over DePaul.

Lipsey's backcourt teammate Keshon Gilbert also returns for the Cyclones. Both Lipsey and Gilbert averaged at least 12.4 points, 4.4 rebounds, 4.2 assists and 2.0 steals per game, becoming the first pair of teammates in college basketball history to average those numbers in a season.

The third member of Iowa State's three-headed monster at guard is Curtis Jones, the first player off the bench in 35 of the 36 games last season. Jones turned it on down the stretch, scoring in double figures in the final 14 games of the regular season, coming off the bench in 13 of them. He scored a season-high 26 points in the Sweet 16 loss to No. 10 Illinois.

A member of the Big 12 All-Freshman Team and a Big 12 Championship All-Tournament Team selection, Milan Momcilovic returns for his sophomore campaign. He started all 37 games in his rookie year, going for 18 points and seven rebounds in his debut. His six 3-pointers in the opener were the most in program history by a freshman in a season opener.

Demarion Watson played in 34 games off the bench a year ago, averaging 1.9 points and 1.9 rebounds per game. In a victory over Oklahoma, Watson went 7-of-7 from the field, while pulling down nine rebounds.

Kayden Fish appeared in four games before suffering a season-ending injury. He received a medical redshirt and is back for his redshirt freshman year.

The C.E.O., Conrad Hawley, is back for his senior year. Seeing action in nine games last season, Hawley continues to keep team morale high in his role as the Chief Energy Officer.

Walk-On Cade Kelderman appeared in 12 games last season. His biggest moment came by knocking down a 3-pointer against No. 1 Houston in the Big 12 Championship game.

JT Rock redshirted last season after enrolling at Iowa State early. He returns for his redshirt freshman season.

New Faces
The Cyclones added four players from the transfer portal this season, marking a total of seven transfers on the roster. Brandton Chatfield (Seattle), Nate Heise (UNI), Dishon Jackson (Charlotte) and Joshua Jefferson (Saint Mary's) are new to the ISU roster this year. Chatfield is in his final year of eligibility, while Heise, Jackson and Jefferson each have two years of eligibility.

Chatfield started all 37 games last year for Seattle, averaging 9.4 points and 5.4 rebounds per game.

Heise earned All-Missouri Valley Conference Third-Team honors last year at UNI. He led the Panthers in scoring with 13.4 points per game, while also averaging 6.1 rebounds and 2.4 assists per game.

Jackson spent three years at Washington State before playing for Charlotte last season. He averaged 11.4 points, 6.1 rebounds and 1.7 assists per game for the 49ers.

Jefferson was an All-West Coast Conference Honorable Mention selection last year at Saint Mary's. He averaged 10.2 points and 6.5 rebounds in 26 starts before suffering a season-ending injury.

A year after having six true freshman on the roster, Nojus Indrusaitis is the only true freshman on the 2024-25 roster. A consensus four-star recruit, Indrusaitis is the seventh highest-ranked signee for Iowa State in the modern era. He is a consensus top 100 player in the country by all three national outlets, ranking No. 67 by ESPN, No. 83 by Rivals and No. 85 by 247Sports. He played his senior year at Brewster Academy, where he led them to a 27-7 record.

T.J. OTZELBERGER

HEAD COACH / UW-WHITEWATER (2001)

4TH SEASON AT IOWA STATE (70-35, 169-98 OVERALL)

T.J. Otzelberger (OTTS-ull-burger), who has crisscrossed the nation recruiting all-star talent and building championship-level programs, is in his fourth season as head coach of the Iowa State men's basketball program. In eight seasons as a head coach, Otzelberger has led his teams to five NCAA Tournament appearances and six postseason berths overall.

Otzelberger returned "home" as the 21st head men's basketball coach in Iowa State history on March 18, 2021 and immediately began to shape the program with daily habits that allowed the Cyclones to pull off one of the greatest turnarounds in college basketball history.

In just three years at the helm, Otzelberger has led the Cyclones to a 70-35 record and three trips to the NCAA Tournament. Otzelberger became the first coach is school history to take a team to multiple Sweet 16's (2022 and 2024) and just the second coach in program history to take a team to the NCAA Tournament in each of his first three years at the helm. The Cyclones went 37-8 against non-conference opponents in Otzelberger's first three seasons, one of eight schools nationally with 37 or more wins against non-conference teams.

Otzelberger was one of four finalists for the 2024 Werner Ladder Naismith National Coach of the Year Award. In 2023-24 the Cyclones won the Big 12 Championship and advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. The Cyclones finished with a 29-8 overall record and a 13-5 league record, the second-most wins in school history. The 37 games played are tied for the most in program history. The Cyclones went a perfect 18-0 at Hilton Coliseum, the fifth undefeated year in the building's rich history. Iowa State had seven Top 25 victories on the year, including two wins over Houston when it was ranked No. 1 and No. 2 and a victory over No. 7 Kansas.

While defense has been a staple of the Otzelberger era at Iowa State, the 2023-24 team produced the six highest scoring Cyclone outputs under Otzelberger, including a pair of 100 point-performances. Nine of the 10 highest scoring outputs under Otz also came last year. The Cyclones scored 90 points or more six times on the year, the most since the 2016-17 team did so eight times.

Sophomore Tamin Lipsey was named an AP Honorable Mention All-American, while also being a finalist for the Naismith National Defensive Player of the Year award. A trio of Cyclones earned honors from the Big 12. Lipsey was an All-Big 12 First-Team selection, while Keshon Gilbert was named to the second team. Lipsey was a unanimous selection to the All-Defensive Team, while Gilbert was named to the All-Newcomer Team. Milan Momcilovic was named to the All-Freshman Team.

The 2022-23 Cyclones finished 19-14 on the year and 9-9 in the Big 12. Iowa State advanced to the NCAA Tournament and the Big 12 Championship semifinals, while also playing in the championship game of the Phil Knight Invitational in November. Iowa State opened the year with a 13-2 record, with the only losses coming to eventual National Champion UConn in the PKI title game and at Iowa. Over the first 15 games of the year, the Cyclones knocked off No. 1 North Carolina, No. 12 Baylor and No. 17 TCU.

Iowa State led the nation with six wins over AP Top 10 schools. The Cyclones were one of two teams to have eight or more wins against AP Top 25 teams, as Texas (10) and Iowa State (9) led the country. The nine AP Top 25 victories are tied for the most in school history in a season.

One of the nation's best defensive teams, the Cyclones held all but one Big 12 opponent below its season scoring average. Giving up just 62.6 points per game, Iowa State led the Big 12 and ranked 19th nationally in scoring defense. That total included holding No. 8 Kansas to 53 points, the lowest conference total in the Bill Self era for the Jayhawks. Iowa State also ranked 19th nationally in steals per game (8.8) and 12th in turnovers forced per game at 16.55.

Four Cyclones were honored by the Big 12 coaches. Gabe

Kalscheur earned All-Big 12 Second-Team honors and was also named to the Big 12 All-Defensive Team. Jaren Holmes was named All-Big 12 Honorable Mention, while also earning a spot on the Big 12 All-Newcomer Team. Osun Osunniyi also earned All-Big 12 Honorable Mention honors. Lipsey picked up a spot on the Big 12 All-Freshman Team.

Inheriting a program that went just 2-22 the season before, Otzelberger led a Cyclone team unanimously picked to finish last in the Big 12 Conference to a 22-13 record and the Sweet 16 of the 2022 NCAA Tournament.

Otzelberger and his staff pieced together a formidable roster that featured only three returning scholarship players from the season before, but through belief and playing for each other, jumped out to a 12-0 start, the second-best in program history, and climbed to No. 8 in the Associated Press Top 25.

In the NCAA Tournament, the Cyclones pulled off a pair of upsets as an 11-seed, defeating 6-seed LSU before shocking 3-seed Wisconsin in Otzelberger's hometown of Milwaukee in front of a partisan crowd to reach ISU's sixth Sweet 16 in school history. Iowa State became the first team to go from two wins the season before to the Sweet 16 the next season as Otzelberger became just the third coach in tournament history to lead his team to the second weekend in the first season after taking over for a team with a losing record.

The Cyclones ended up finishing plus-20 in the win category, which broke the previous record and is tied for the third-best turnaround in Division I college basketball history.

Iowa State was one of the nation's finest defensive teams, finishing fifth nationally in defensive efficiency, 11th in 3-point percentage defense and among the top 25 in turnovers forced, turnover percentage, steals per game and scoring defense.

The Cyclones beat five AP Top 25 opponents during the season, the most by an Iowa State first-year head coach in school history and Otzelberger was a finalist for the Jim Phelan National Coach of the Year Award.

The Cyclones won the Upsie NIT Season Tip Off at the Barclays Center in Brooklyn, defeating nationally-ranked Xavier and Memphis en route to the title.

Individually, Otzelberger mentored Big 12 Newcomer of the Year Izaiah Brockington and Freshman of the Year Tyrese Hunter in his first season back in Ames.

Otzelberger won his 100th career game in his first game at Iowa State and has forged an eight-year collegiate record of 169-98. His teams have been extremely competitive in conference play with a 62% winning rate and four championship or runner-up finishes.

This is Otzelberger's third stint in Ames, but his first as head coach. Previously, he was lead recruiter and bench coach for Greg McDermott, Fred Hoiberg and Steve Prohm. The last three Cyclone teams Otzelberger worked with as an assistant coach registered a 69-35 (.663) overall record with NCAA Tournament appearances every season.

Otzelberger left a flourishing ISU program in 2016 to begin building his own head coaching resume. He spent three successful years in charge at South Dakota State where his teams amassed 70 victories, won two regular season and conference tournament championships and earned three postseason appearances. At UNLV he was re-energizing the Runnin' Rebels' program, college basketball's fifth-winningest program, but one that had not been to the NCAA Tournament since 2013.

At UNLV, Otzelberger was in the midst of restoring one of college basketball's glamour programs. In his two seasons, the gains were being realized on the court, in recruiting circles and in the classroom.

In his first season (2019-20) in Las Vegas, the Runnin' Rebels tied for second in the Mountain West Conference, won 12 league games (Rollie Massimino, in 1993, was the last UNLV coach to win more conference games), signed the MWC's No. 1-ranked recruiting class and excelled in the classroom.

UNLV won its final five regular-season games his first year as Otzelberger's game plan started to take hold. The Runnin' Rebels sent shockwaves through college basketball with an upset of undefeated and No. 4-ranked San Diego State, the school's best road win in 30 years.

The 2020-21 roster included 10 players (seven freshmen), who had never played a game for UNLV. A 33-day break due to COVID-19 and losing its captain and starting point guard in January were other challenges that Otzelberger navigated. With the youthful roster, a month-long break from practice and competition and a season-ending injury to a team leader, UNLV endured four one-possession defeats to finish in the middle of the MWC.

At South Dakota State (2017-19), Otzelberger built reputations for winning and high-level offense. The Jackrabbits were 70-33 overall, won two Summit League regular-season titles, made the NCAA Tournament twice and the NIT once. SDSU finished seventh and fifth nationally in scoring offense his final two years.

In his rookie season as a head coach (2017), SDSU became the first team in league history to win three conference tourney games in three days to earn a bid to the NCAA Tournament.

The 2018 Jackrabbits set a school record with 28 wins, swept the conference regular-season and tournament titles and earned a No. 12 seed in NCAA West Region. They were the highest scoring team in school history and were among the NCAA leaders in points, 3-pointers, fewest turnovers, free throws and winning percentage. He was honored as the Summit League Coach of the Year.

Otzelberger's final South Dakota State team won 24 games, captured the Summit League title again, ranked among the nation's top 10 in five offensive categories and earned a bid to the National Invitation Tournament.

HEAD COACH T.J. OTZELBERGER

His star player was three-time Summit League Player of the Year Mike Daum. The sweet-shooting big man was an Honorable Mention All-American, became the Summit League's career scoring leader and the 10th player in major college basketball history with more than 3,000 career points.

Prior to joining the head coach ranks, Otzelberger served two stints over eight years as an assistant or associate coach with the Cyclones. He started as an aid to McDermott and was credited with recruiting a number of stars – Craig Brackins, Diante Garrett, Mike Taylor, Scott Christopherson and Melvin Ejim – to the program.

Otzelberger was a holdover on the staff when Hoiberg replaced McDermott on the sidelines. His duties expanded – as he was promoted to Associate Coach – under Hoiberg. Otzelberger was in charge of scouting reports and game plans in 2012 and 2013 when ISU won 23 games each season and made the NCAA Tournament.

Otzelberger's eye for talent continued under Hoiberg. Iowa State signed and developed a number of eventual professional players – Wesley Johnson, Justin Hamilton, Royce White, Chris Allen, Will Clyburn, Tyrus McGee, Georges Niang, Monté Morris, Abdel Nader, Matt Thomas, Naz Mitrou-Long and Deonte Burton while he was on staff.

The final two seasons with the Hoiberg-Otzelberger tandem in place were among the most-entertaining in school history. Iowa State ranked in the top five nationally for scoring and 3-point baskets while winning consistently in Hilton Coliseum, where the Cyclones registered a 22-game homecourt win streak.

Otzelberger was on Lorenzo Romar's staff at Washington for two years (2014-15). The Huskies climbed as high as No. 11 in the national polls in 2014, and Otzelberger was credited with helping sign a Top 10 recruiting class in 2015.

When Prohm was named head coach in 2015-16, Otzelberger returned for one year with the Cyclones and that team won 23 games and advanced to the NCAA's Sweet 16. ISU defeated four ranked schools, including No. 1 Oklahoma, in Hilton Coliseum.

In the community, Otzelberger was very involved with the Boys and Girls Club of Ames and he assisted in bringing the National Association of Basketball Coaches "Stay in to Win" program to central Iowa. At the 2017 NCAA Final Four, he received a prestigious NABC Guardians of the Game Award for his work with that program focusing on student success and dropout prevention.

Prior to Iowa State, Otzelberger was an assistant coach at Chipola (Fla.) Junior College, when the team was 33-4 and placed fourth in the NJCAA Tournament. He also spent three seasons at Catholic Central High School in Burlington, Wisconsin, where he was a coach and athletics director for parts of his tenure.

The 47-year-old native of Milwaukee was a two-year captain at UW-Whitewater, where he earned his business administration degree in 2001. He added a Masters' of Science degree in Curriculum and Instruction from UW-Whitewater in 2004.

Otzelberger is married to Alison Lacey, a three-time All-Big 12 player for the ISU women's basketball program. Lacey scored 1,620 points while leading the Cyclones to four NCAA Tournaments, including an Elite Eight (2009) and Sweet 16 (2010). She played professionally in the WNBA for the Seattle Storm, including its championship season of 2010. Lacey was inducted into the Iowa State Athletics Hall of Fame in 2022. The couple has three children: Jayce, Olivia and Stella.

JR BLOUNT

ASSISTANT COACH / LOYOLA (ILL.) (2009)
4TH SEASON AT IOWA STATE

JR Blount, one of college basketball's top up-and-coming coaches, is in his fourth season as an assistant coach on T.J. Otzelberger's staff.

Blount, who has 15 years of coaching experience, was named one of the Mountain West Conference's top five assistant coaches thanks to his success at Colorado State before he joined the Cyclone staff.

In just three years at Iowa State, Blount has helped the Cyclones to a 70-35 record and three trips to the NCAA Tournament. The Cyclones went 37-8 against non-conference opponents in Blount's first three years on staff, one of eight schools nationally with 37 or more wins against non-conference teams.

In 2023-24, the Cyclones won the Big 12 Championship and advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. The Cyclones finished with a 29-8 overall record and a 13-5 league record, the second-most wins in school history. The 37 games played are tied for the most in program history. The Cyclones went a perfect 18-0 at Hilton Coliseum, the fifth undefeated year in the building's storied history. Iowa State had seven Top 25 victories on the year, including two wins over Houston when it was ranked No. 1 and No. 2 and a victory over No. 7 Kansas.

The 2022-23 Cyclones finished 19-14 on the year and 9-9 in the Big 12. Iowa State advanced to the NCAA Tournament and the Big 12 Championship Semifinals, while also playing in the championship game of the Phil Knight Invitational in November. Iowa State opened the year with a 13-2 record, with the only losses coming to eventual National Champion UConn in the PKI Championship and at Iowa. Over the first 15 games of the year, the Cyclones knocked off No. 1 North Carolina, No. 12 Baylor and No. 17 TCU.

Iowa State led the nation with six wins over AP Top 10 schools. The Cyclones were one of two teams to have eight or more wins against AP Top 25 teams, as Texas (10) and Iowa State (9) led the country. The nine AP Top 25 victories are tied for the most in school history in a season.

In his first season in Ames, Iowa State created headlines with one of college basketball's greatest turnarounds ever. A season after the program won just two games, the Cyclones improved to 22-13 and reached the NCAA Tournament. ISU, which was unanimously picked to finish last in the Big 12 Conference before the season, reached the Sweet 16 with victories over LSU and Wisconsin to post the third-best win improvement in Division I men's basketball history.

ISU had one of the nation's best defenses in 2021-22, ranking among the Top 25 in scoring defense, defensive efficiency, steals and turnovers forced.

Blount played a key role in mentoring Big 12 Newcomer of the Year Izaiah Brockington and Big 12 Freshman of the Year Tyrese Hunter.

Blount has steadily risen through the college coaching ranks since starting his career as graduate assistant coach at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point in 2009, where the team won the 2010 Division III national championship.

After spending three seasons at Saint Leo University as an assistant and associate head coach, Blount moved to Des Moines and served as Drake's director of basketball operations and assistant coach for four seasons.

Prior to coming to Iowa State, Blount spent the last three seasons at Colorado State as an assistant coach. In his time in Fort Collins, the Rams signed the highest-rated recruiting class in school history.

Blount worked closely and was instrumental in the development of two-time All-Mountain West player Nico Carvacho. In 2020-21, three Rams earned All-MWC honors as CSU ranked among the league's top three in scoring and scoring defense.

The Rams made marked improvements as a team as well, improving by eight wins after his first season at the school and winning 20 games before the season was ended due to COVID-19. In 2020-21, Colorado State went 20-8 and advanced to the National Invitation Tournament semifinals.

Blount was an integral leader of the TOGETHER INITIATIVE at Colorado State that promoted social justice and racial equality on campus.

Blount played collegiately at Loyola (Ill.) from 2005-09, where he was a three-year team captain and twice named the team's most valuable player. He was twice honored as the school's athlete of the year.

After his college playing career was over, Blount played professionally for the British Basketball League's Leicester Riders during the 2010-11 season.

He earned degrees in psychology and sociology from Loyola in 2009 and later received his master's degree in education from UW-Stevens Point in 2012.

A native of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Blount was a standout high school player at Dominican High School, earning all-state honors in 2004 and 2005. He was named Wisconsin Sports Player of the Year in 2005.

Blount and his wife, Ashley, have three daughters, Maya, Zuri and Gema.

During Pollard's tenure, the Cyclones have advanced to a pair of NCAA Tournaments.

The 2023-24 Cyclones won the Big 12 Championship and advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. The Cyclones finished with a 29-8 overall record and a 13-5 league record, the second-most wins in school history. The 37 games played are tied for the most in program history. The Cyclones went a perfect 18-0 at Hilton Coliseum, the fifth undefeated year in the building's storied history. Iowa State opened the year with a 13-2 record, with the only losses coming to eventual National Champion UConn in the PKI Championship and at Iowa. Over the first 15 games of the year, the Cyclones knocked off No. 1 North Carolina, No. 12 Baylor and No. 17 TCU.

Iowa State led the nation with six wins over AP Top 10 schools. The Cyclones were one of two teams to have eight or more wins against AP Top 25 teams, as Texas (10) and Iowa State (9) led the country. The nine AP Top 25 victories are tied for the most in school history in a season.

Pollard was also a third-team selection in 2020.

Pollard had a busy final year in competition for the Cyclones. In the fall in cross country, he earned his first career All-American accolade with his 21st-place finish at the NCAA Cross Country Championships, helping lead the Iowa State men to a second-place team finish, the fifth top two team finish for ISU in program history and the best since 1994. He also became the first student-athlete in Big 12 history to earn five All-Big 12 honors in cross country and for the third time was named the Big 12 Cross Country Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

During the indoor track and field season, he earned a bronze medal in the 5,000m run at the Big 12 Championships in Ames while posting new personal-bests in the 3,000m (7:54.37) and the 5,000m (13:38.82). Outdoors, Pollard collected a bronze medal in the 10,000m run at the conference championships, qualifying for the NCAA West Preliminaries in the event. At the Stanford Invitational in April, Pollard ran to a 10K personal best of 28:23.19.

The Cyclones tallied 12 steals and registered eight blocks, en route to their first NCAA Tournament win since 2000. ISU was led by Curtis Stinson and Jared Homan, who tallied 18 and 14 points, respectively. Homan was a monster in the middle, grabbing 13 boards and swatting seven shots en route to CBS Chevrolet Player of the Game honors. ISU held the Gophers to 33.3 percent from the field and a 5-for-23 (21.7 percent) clip from beyond the arc. Minnesota cut the lead to five points with 3:43 remaining, but a key Stinson tear drop and clutch free-throw shooting down the stretch sealed the victory for the Cyclones. Rahshon Clark had 14 points and four steals.

Stevie Johnson dunks home two of his 16 points in Iowa State's 80-56 win over UCLA in the 2000 NCAA Midwest Regional semifinals.

No. 6 IOWA STATE 80, UCLA 56

NCAA Midwest Regional Semifinals
The Palace at Auburn Hills, Auburn Hills, Mich.
March 23, 2000

What was billed to be one of the best regional semifinal matchups of the tournament proved otherwise. The Cyclones wasted little time in showing their strength in an 80-56 rout of UCLA, their largest margin of victory in an NCAA Tournament contest. Jamaal Tinsley was one rebound shy of his second career triple-double (14 points, 11 assists, nine rebounds), but the story of the game was defense. The Cyclones held the vaunted UCLA offense to a 33.9 shooting percentage from the floor. While the Bruins sputtered on offense, the Cyclones thrived, shooting over 50 percent for the 17th time during the season. Michael Nurse drilled four of his five 3-point attempts to aid the Cyclones to a 6-for-10 showing from behind the arc. Nurse, Stevie Johnson and Marcus Fizer all had 16 points to pace ISU.

The Cyclones trailed at halftime, 33-32, for only the seventh time that season. ISU's Marcus Fizer led all players with 22 points while pulling down 12 boards. Stevie Johnson equaled his career-high with 21 points, going 6-of-8 from the floor and 8-of-11 from the charity stripe. The Cyclones outscored the Tigers 25-6 at the free-throw line, connecting on all nine attempts in the last 12 minutes of the contest.

T.J. Otzelberger coached ISU to five ranked wins in 2021-22, the most-ever by a first-year Cyclone head coach.

ALL-CENTURY TEAM

The Iowa State Athletics Department celebrated 100 years of men's basketball during the 2007-08 season. Among the highlights of the year-long tribute was the announcement of the program's All-Century Team.

A total of 15 former Cyclone greats made the All-Century Team. Eight Cyclone All-Americans were guaranteed slots and fans were given the opportunity to vote for seven additional honorees during a season-long vote at cyclones.com.

Iowa State honored its All-Century Team throughout the entire 2007-08 season, culminating with a special letterwinners reunion and a celebration at halftime of the Iowa State-Nebraska game on Feb. 16, 2008.

Zaid Abdul-Aziz "Don Smith" (1966-68)
Abdul-Aziz, who played at Iowa State as Don Smith, was one of the greatest players in Big Eight history. An AP All-American center in 1968, Abdul-Aziz was ISU's first three-time first-team all-conference player (1966, 1967, 1968). Abdul-Aziz led the Big Eight in scoring twice (1967- 24.8 ppg, 1968- 24.2 ppg) and led the league in rebounding three times (1966- 13.0 rpg, 1967- 13.4 rpg, 1968- 14.6 rpg). He was named Big Eight Player of the Year in 1968.

Victor Alexander (1988-91)
Alexander's soft touch made him one of the best low-block scorers in Iowa State history. The burly center (6-9, 265 pounds) was honored as a first-team All-Big Eight choice in 1989 and 1991 and his 1,892 career points rank fifth all-time in school history. Alexander is the most accurate shooter in the history of the program, connecting on 61.1 percent of his career shots from the field. He led the Big Eight in field goal percentage in 1991 at 65.9 percent.

Kelvin Cato (1996-97)
Cato is the greatest shot-blocker in Iowa State history and his paint presence helped the Cyclones to unprecedented success in his two seasons. The center led the conference in blocked shots in 1996 (Big Eight, 2.6 bpg) and 1997 (Big 12, 4.2 bpg) en route to the second-most blocks in school history with 189. He still owns ISU's single-game (11) and single-season (118) rejection marks. Cato led ISU to a pair of NCAA Tournaments (1996, 1997) and the 1996 Big Eight Tournament title.

Marcus Fizer (1998-2000)
Fizer is arguably the most dominant big man in the history of ISU basketball. He led ISU to a school-record 32 wins and its first league title in 54 years as a junior (1999-2000). Fizer was a consensus first-team All-American, Big 12 Player of the Year and runner-up AP National Player of the Year in 2000, as the Cyclones advanced to the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament. ISU's sixth all-time leading scorer (1,830 points), Fizer broke the single-season scoring mark in 2000 (844 points).

Jack Flemming (1935-37)
Flemming, a high-scoring forward, was Iowa State's second All-American, earning national honors from Converse in 1937. Flemming averaged 7.4 ppg on ISU's first conference championship team in 1935, as the Cyclones went 8-2 against league competition to claim the Big Six crown. Flemming capped off his career by earning first-team All-Big Six kudos as well as All-America honors in 1937.

Jeff Grayer (1985-88)
Grayer is the most prolific scorer in school history, amassing a school-record 2,502 points in his four-year career. The forward was a three-time first-team All-Big Eight pick (1986, 1987, 1988), as ISU made three NCAA appearances in his tenure. Grayer earned AP All-America honors and led the Big Eight in scoring (25.3 ppg) in 1988. He was named to the Big Eight's All-Decade team in the 1980s and became the first Cyclone hoopster to represent the United States on an Olympic team in 1988.

Fred Hoiberg (1992-95)
Hoiberg's outstanding basketball ability and popularity in his hometown of Ames earned him the nickname "The Mayor" in his four years with the Cyclones. The guard was a third-team Basketball Times All-American, a first-team All-Big Eight choice and a first-team CoSIDA Academic All-American in 1995. ISU's fourth all-time leading scorer with 1,993 points, Hoiberg ranks in ISU's career Top 10 in five different categories.

Jeff Hornacek (1983-86)
Hornacek's rags to riches story is the stuff legends are made of. A sparsely recruited player out of high school, Hornacek walked-on at Iowa State and went on to become the Big Eight's all-time leader in assists (665). The heady point guard left ISU as its career leader in assists (665) and steals (211), which now rank second. His 1,313 points rank 20th all-time. A first-team All-Big Eight selection in 1986, Hornacek went on to become an NBA All-Star, playing 14 NBA seasons and scoring more points in the NBA than any other collegiate player from the state of Iowa (15,659).

Hercle Ivy (1973-76)
Ivy was a high-scoring guard for the Cyclones in the mid-1970s, ending his career in 1976 as ISU's all-time leading scorer (1,752 points). Ivy was named first-team All-Big Eight and led the league in scoring in 1975. His 28.3 ppg scoring average that season ranked fifth nationally and is still the best single-season scoring clip in school history.

Barry Stevens (1982-85)
Stevens' uncanny long-range shooting and outstanding athletic ability was a perfect fit in Johnny Orr's up-tempo style that helped resurrect the ISU program in the 1980s. The smooth-shooting forward ended his career as ISU's all-time leading scorer - he now ranks third - with 2,190 points. A two-time first-team All-Big Eight selection (1984, 1985), Stevens averaged 21.7 ppg as a senior in 1985 to pace ISU to its first NCAA appearance since 1944. He has the school's third-best single game scoring mark with 47 points.

Jake Sullivan (2001-04)
Sullivan is the most prolific long-range bomber in the history of Cyclone basketball. The dead-eye guard ended his career as ISU's all-time leader in 3-pointers made with 270 and is the Cyclones' eighth all-time leading scorer (1,810). He owns ISU's and the Big 12's career (89.6 percent) and single-season (93.3 percent) free throw percentage marks. His 89.6 career free throw percentage is the 14th-best clip in NCAA history. He was a third-team CoSIDA Academic All-American in 2003.

Gary Thompson (1955-57)
Thompson helped put Iowa State on the basketball map in the 1950s, earning first-team AP All-America honors and Big Seven Player of the Year accolades in 1957. The "Roland Rocket" was ISU's first 1,000-point scorer, accumulating 1,253 points to rank 23rd all-time in school history. The guard led ISU to the 1955 Big Seven Holiday Tournament title and paced ISU to its first win against a top-ranked opponent, knocking off No. 1 Kansas, 39-37, on Jan. 14, 1957.

Jamaal Tinsley (2000-01)
Tinsley's incredible ballhandling skills and outstanding floor leadership propelled the Cyclones during their most productive period in school history. ISU won back-to-back Big 12 titles (2000, 2001) and never lost a game in Hilton Coliseum in his two seasons as point guard, going 34-0 at home. Tinsley earned AP All-America honors and was named Big 12 Player of the Year in 2001. He still owns ISU's single-season assists (244) and steals (98) marks.

Waldo Wegner (1933-35)
Wegner was ISU's first All-American and a dominating force in the middle, leading ISU in scoring for three consecutive seasons (1933, 1934, 1935). The center was a two-time first-team All-Big Six selection, earning Converse All-America honors in 1935. Wegner led ISU to its first-ever conference title, playing every minute of every game while averaging 10.6 ppg during the 1935 championship season. The Cyclones finished 13-3 overall and 8-2 in league play in 1935.

Dedric Willoughby (1996-97)
Willoughby's leadership and pinpoint accuracy from long distance paced the Cyclones to consecutive NCAA appearances in 1996 and 1997. A two-time first-team All-Big Eight choice, Willoughby was named MVP of the 1996 Big Eight Tournament after leading ISU to its first-ever postseason conference tournament crown. Willoughby owns ISU's school mark in 3-pointers made in a season (102) and ranks fifth in career 3-pointers with 190.

Milan Momcilovic was one of four Cyclones to score in double figures against Washington State. The victory sent the Cyclones to the Sweet 16 for the second time under T.J. Otzelberger.

Curtis Jones scored 26 points off the bench in ISU's loss to Illinois, becoming just the third player since 1989 to score 26 points or more off the bench in a Sweet 16 game.

The only gym in town, ISU played its first home game on Feb. 20, 1908, against Kansas. The first home win came nine days later against Drake (36-16). It was also the first win in program history. ISU's last game at Margaret Hall was a 32-27 win against Drake on Feb. 27, 1912.

When it opened there were 700 seats on each side of the court for season ticket holders. Two hundred general admission seats lined the upper level running track above the court. In the summer of 1946 a decision was made to move men's basketball contests from State Gym to the Armory to accommodate the flood of new students. Original capacity was 6,000. ISU's "cagers" beat Grinnell, 56-28 on Dec. 2, 1946, in the first game played at the Armory. Colorado defeated ISU, 77-73, in the last game played at the facility on March 8, 1971.
