Notable Homecoming Games

1948: The Blue Streaks defeated Niagara 47-14, marking their 100th all-time victory.

1950: 16,724 people at Cleveland Stadium witnessed John Carroll upset powerhouse Syracuse 21-16, putting John Carroll on the college football map and propelling Carl Taseff and Don Shula to NFL careers.

1957: Jerry Schweickert's performance against Wayne State earned him the first-ever Sportswriter's Trophy, an annual award given to the most outstanding Blue Streak player during the homecoming game. The award was discontinued in the 1980s.

1964: Ron Niedzwiecki and Charlie Englehart's key tackle near the goal line helped preserve a 7-3 victory over Eastern Michigan. They were the first co-winners of the Sportswriter's Trophy.

1967: John Pollard became the first freshman to win the Sportswriter's Trophy after he ran for 127 yards and three touchdowns in a 41-0 shutout of Case Tech.

1968: The Blue Streaks played against Case Tech in the first-ever game at Wasmer Field. They had 530 yards of total offense including 439 on the ground in the 29-7 victory over Case Tech.

1978: Brian Niec tied a school record with five rushing touchdowns on 192 yards to help lead JCU to a 34-27 win against Bethany.

1987: Doug Dickason kicked four field goals in a shutout victory over Thiel.

1989: Bruce Saban caught three touchdown passes while Willie Beers rushed for 212 yards to propel the Blue Streaks over Otterbein.

2005: John Carroll upsets Ohio Northern 50-25, who was ranked #10 in the D3football.com poll.

JCU IN THE NFL

Ever since Don Shula '51 broke into the NFL as a player, and then as a coach, John Carroll University has been a pipeline to the NFL.

Shula still stands as the most winningest head coach in NFL history, recording a 347-173-6 record in 36 years with the Indianapolis Colts and the Miami Dolphins. He coached in six Super Bowls and won Super Bowls VII and VIII. To this day, no other coach has done what he did - lead a team to an undefeated record, as he did with the 17-0 Dolphins in 1972.

Shula was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1997, the first Blue Streak to achieve the feat.

Since then, a multitude of Blue Streaks have followed in his footsteps. Carl Taseff '51, Sil Cornachione '51, Dick Walker '55, Chuck Prier '63, and Gary Stevens '65 continued the legacy. Taseff, Cornachione, and Stevens all worked for the Dolphins with Shula.

The pipeline sprung a host of Blue Streaks to the NFL when former NFL general manager Bill Polian sent his sons Brian and Chris to JCU. Chris '93 brought along Tom Telesco '95 and many other JCU alumni followed.

The New England Patriots became a bastion of Blue Streaks, with Josh McDaniels '99, Nick Caserio '98, and David Ziegler '00, '07G. All played a large role in helping the Patriots become a perennial Super Bowl contender.

Caserio departed for Houston and Ziegler headed to Vegas, giving JCU three general managers in the NFL. McDaniels joined his former roommate with the Raiders.

Former JCU coaches also thrive in the NFL. Brandon Staley served as JCU's Defensive Coordinator in 2013, 2014, & 2016, which propelled him to the the NFL as the head coach of the Chargers.

GAME PREVIEW

Blue Streaks Look to Celebrate Homecoming

The Blue Streaks travel back home for Homecoming Weekend to take on a red-hot Wilmington College football team.

Last weekend, John Carroll Football traveled to Heidelberg and won in dominant style, 34-7. Head Coach Jeff Behrman '95 attributed the success to execution of the game plan, and keeping a balanced attack on offense. JCU ended the game with 448 total yards of offense, and 265 of the yards were through the air, while the rest were converted through the ground. The defense followed, adding four sacks and two interceptions after giving up a touchdown on the opening drive.

Wilmington enjoyed their homecoming weekend victory last week over Capital, 49-24. The win was fueled off an impressive offensive explosion by the Quakers, in which they accumulated 649 total yards on offense. Veteran quarterback Derek Larimer threw for five touchdowns, three in which wideout Lathan Jones was on the receiving end.

John Carroll has had Wilmington's number, winning 25 of the past 28 matchups against the Quakers and have won the last twelve contests. Last year, the Blue Streaks ventured to Wilmington and took care of business, winning 59-0. Running backs Evan McVay and Mason Sullivan led the charge on offense, rushing for 148 of the 375 total yards on the ground. The defense also held the Quakers to under 100 yards on offense.

THE OFFENSES JCU

Offensive coordinator Travis James and the Blue Streaks will look to keep the same mentality as last week, and continue their multi-dimensional attack on offense.

Quarterback Joe Collins has been on an outstanding stretch of consistent play at the helm of the offense. He completed 24 of 30 attempts for 265 yards and three touchdowns last week. The graduate student from Grand Rapids has completed just under 70% of his passes this year. His efforts have been backed up by a strong offensive line, which has only allowed one sack on Collins all season.

Collins has quickly formed chemistry with recent transfer students Lucas D'Orazio. The former defensive back at Duquesne has easily transitioned into his new role as a tight end and had breakout performance last weekend. D'Orazio led the team in receptions and receiving yards against Heidelberg, hauling in six catches for 87 yards and a touchdown. Collins will also integrate wideouts Brennan Fugh and Tyler Mintz. Fugh caught five passes for 75 yards last weekend, while Mintz found the back of the endzone. A Wilmington team that allows 7.19 yards per pass will have their hands full with this trio.

Versatility has been a goal for this offense this year, and this has taken full effect in the running back stable. Last week, running backs Mason Sullivan, Evan McVay, and Matthew Buser virtually saw the field an equal amount of time. The committee rushed for 154 of the 183 yards on the ground against the Student Princes. The other way the halfbacks on this squad are becoming more dynamic is through the passing game. Between the three backs, they tallied nine catches for 79 yards and a touchdown. This group will continue its evolution against a Quaker defense that has allowed 152 rushing yards per game.

WILMINGTON

This is not your average Wilmington football team. Head Coach Corey Filipovich has turned this squad into statistically one of the most electric offenses in all of D-III. The high power offense averages 49 points per game on an outstanding 541 yards per game. Their 26 touchdowns currently is tied for fifth in all of DIII.

Coming off his five touchdown performance last week, quarterback Derek Larimer is looking to continue his hot start to the season. Larimer has accounted for over half of the Wilmington touchdowns, throwing for 16 in just four games, which currently ranks second in all of DIII. The Columbus native has thrown for 1094 yards this season, which is the 16th most in DIII.

On the other end of Larimer's passes is wide receiver Lathan Jones, who is on pace for setting all-time highs at Wilmington. Jones has already recorded 592 receiving yards, which is the third best in all of D-III. But his calling card is the fact that he always finds the endzone; the senior wideout already has 10 touchdowns on the season, which ranks first in DIII football. Along with being a threat to score at any given moment, Jones has the ability to rip off a big time play with ease. He averages just under 27 yards per reception on the season, which is good for seventh in D-III.

Wilmington is not one-dimensional, as the Quakers have one of the best running backs in the nation in Nehemiah Jenkins. The sophomore rusher currently leads all of NCAA DIII in rushing yards (538) and yards per game (145.8). His success is credited to how efficient he is on the ground. Jenkins averages six yards per carry, and is the perfect back to set up the passing game.

THE DEFENSES JCU

John Carroll's defense has been a trademark for this squad in 2023. As a unit, the team has only given up one touchdown in each of the past two contests. They will be battle tested this weekend with a high-powered Wilmington offense.

Jake Phillips was a force to be reckoned with last weekend. The junior linebacker tallied two sacks and six total tackles, three in which resulted in a loss of seven yards. His disruption earned him a spot on the D3Football.com Team of the Week. Bricker Thiel was also consistently after the quarterback last week, adding a sack to the mix. This defensive front will need to step up in a big way to stop Jenkins.

Junior linebacker Chris Golson, once again, found himself atop the statline against the Student Princes. The Streetsboro native totaled six tackles and added an interception last week. Jacob Hufnagel also had an interception last week. The freshman defensive back made his first college appearance last week, and will be heavily relied on moving forward throughout the season.

WILMINGTON

The Quakers may have one of the most electric offenses in the country, but they have faced their fair share of woes on defense this season. The defense unit, on average, has allowed 37.3 points per game in 2023.

Even with a struggling defense, their unique style could give the Blue Streaks trouble on offense. Coach Filipovich runs a multiple defense (3-5-3), which features a three-safety configuration. This style gives Wilmington more flexibility on defense, and makes it challenging to identify coverages. JCU has yet to face a defense this season that features this type of front.

The player highlighted on every game plan is linebacker Jarod Lee. Lee is the key to the three safety configuration, as he plays a linebacker/safety hybrid role for the Quakers. The junior has 22 total tackles, two forced fumbles, and one interception on the season.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Yanni Volas knocked in two more field goals against Heidelberg, both coming from 30+ out. Volas has been the golden boot that coach Behrman has turned to when in a jam.

DON SHULA STADIUM AT WASMER FIELD

Don Shula Stadium at Wasmer Field has a rich history. Dedicated on October 5, 1968, Wasmer Field was the first on-campus home of the JCU Athletics. Nearly 35 years later, on September 27, 2003, Don Shula Stadium was dedicated. The state-of-the-art facility bears the name of the late Don Shula '51, a former JCU football star and the most winningest NFL coach of all-time.

The 5,416-seat stadium hosts beautiful locker rooms, coaches offices, a weight room, training room, as well as equipment and storage areas. On gameday, fans can enjoy food and drink from its concession stand or check out the Shula Memorabilia Room, which holds artifacts from the lengthy, successful history of JCU Athletics. The facility features a press box that can accommodate a large number of media members. Two coaches booths and a filming bay are on the second level of the press box.

In the summer of 2019, the turf was replaced and updated to match JCU's new athletic branding.

In addition, access to the home side dugout of Schweickert Field - the baseball facility - is also available. Shula Stadium continues to be utilized by a number of varsity and club teams, in addition to the intramural and recreational programs.

Since its birth in 1968, Wasmer Field has hosted thousands of games and multitudes of Blue Streaks. Many OAC Tournament and NCAA Tournament games have been held on its field, with JCU teams winning plenty of championships here over the years, most recently 2021 OAC Championships captured by the Men's Soccer team.

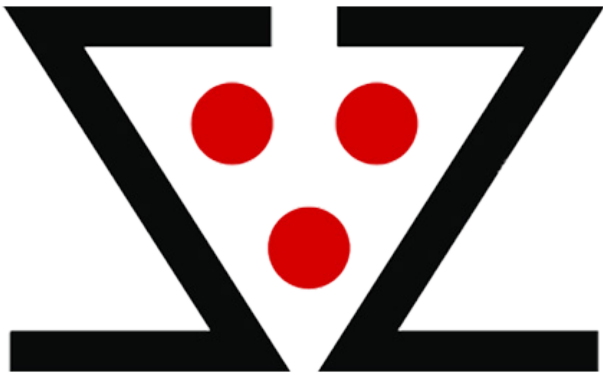

Great careers have begun on its field, propelling people such as star NFL linebacker London Fletcher '98, Los Angeles Chargers General Manager Tom Telesco '95, Houston Texans GM Nick Caserio '98, Las Vegas Raiders GM Dave Ziegler '00, '07G, and many others to success.
