

Workshop Series Review

On January 26, Dukes LEAD kicked off its Spring 2021 programming. Baseball player, Dallas Jackson, co-facilitated an event with law enforcement officers to have an open discussion about what it's like to be a police officer and some current events. Over 350 student-athletes attended this Zoom workshop.

On February 3, Kevin Chadwick from Northwestern Mutual, spoke to over 350 student-athletes about how they can continue being leaders worth following after they transition from athletics to the next phase of their life.

Community Service

JMU SAAC Community Service Committee Chairs Courtney Lynch & Demitri Turner are taking the lead and organizing a monthly community service project.

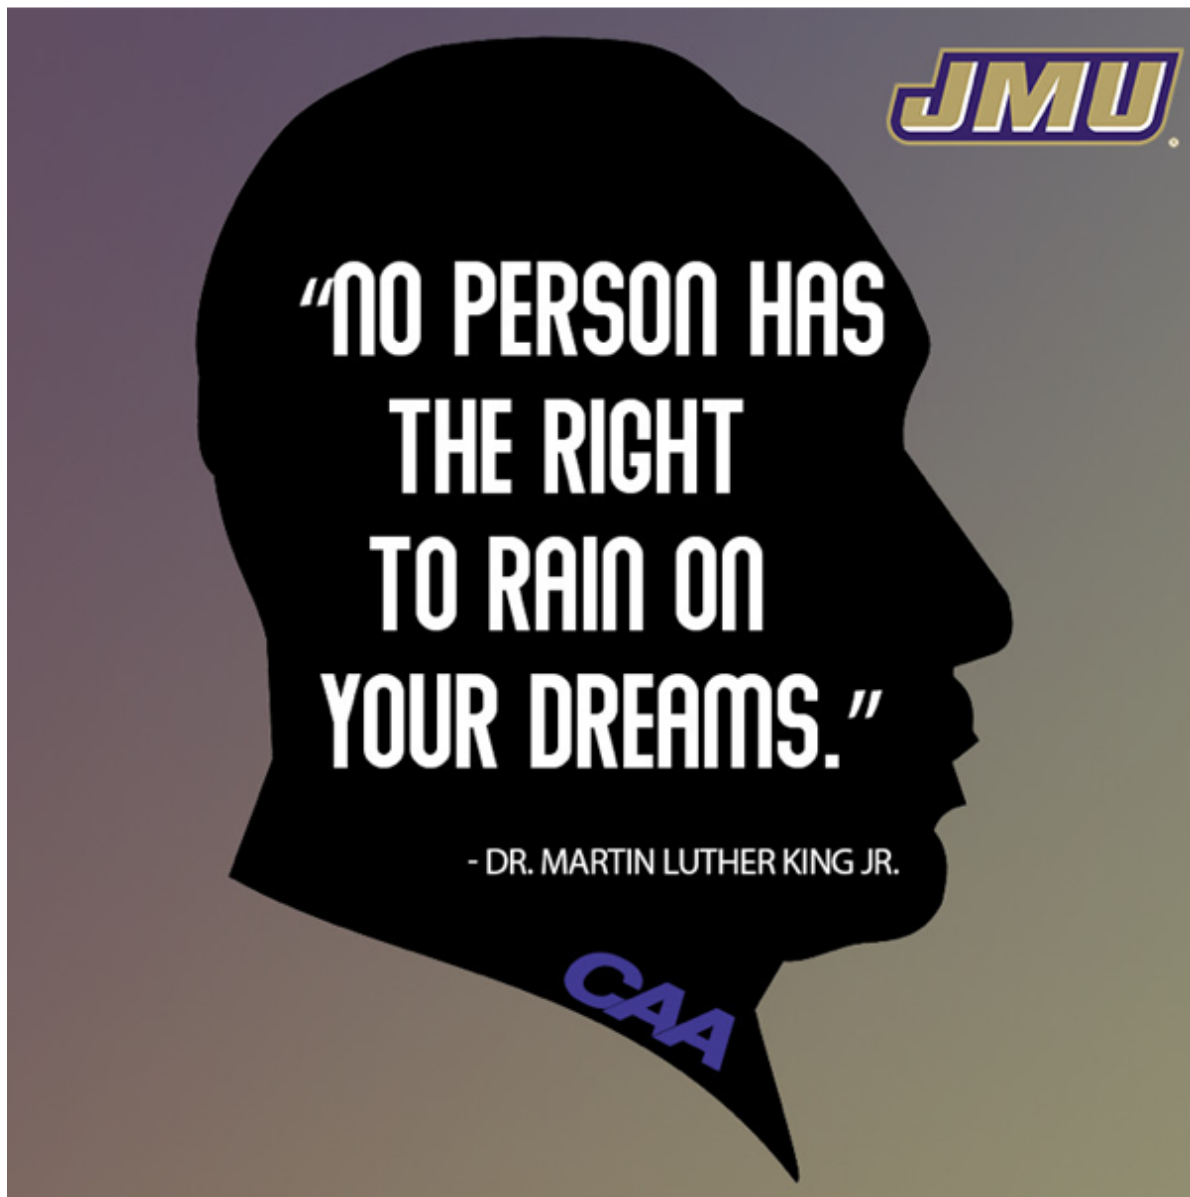

January's focus was partnering with the Office of Research & Scholarship on a food drive to benefit Blue Ridge Area Food Bank. JMU Athletics donated more than 1,200 pounds of nonperishable food items, baby supplies and hygiene products, which will help over 1,000 families in local communities.

Unity Statement

JMU Student-Athletes created a unity statement that states "JMU will never tolerate racism, prejudice, discrimination, or injustices." Every student-athlete has signed this pledge promising they will agree to the terms of this statement.

MLK JR. DAY RECAP

MARCUS MARSHALL

After Marcus Marshall realized his professional career in the NFL wasn't going to last forever, he remembered that Dukes LEAD could help him with his next step. READ MORE.
