Kent State FOOTBALL

2017 Coaching Staff

Paul Haynes enters his fifth season as head coach at Kent State University and his 12th season affiliated with the program. Haynes was introduced as the Golden Flashes' 21st head football coach on Dec. 18, 2012, 25 years after he walked on to play football at Kent State as a college freshman.

In 2016, eleven Golden Flashes earned spots on the Academic All-MAC Team, while Nick Cuthbert became the second player during the Haynes era to earn Academic All-America honors in multiple seasons. Four Flashes earned all-conference honors including Najee Murray, who was selected to play in the Tropical Bowl. The 2016 season included a victory over bowl-bound Central Michigan, the program's biggest comeback victory since 2003 and the program's second win in Mount Pleasant since 1976.

On Oct. 3, 2015, Haynes became Kent State's first head coach to win back-to-back homecoming games since Don James in 1973. By season's end, five Flashes were named to the All-MAC Team, 14 earned Academic All-MAC honors and five were named MAC Distinguished Scholar Athletes. For the first time in program history, two Flashes earned CoSIDA Academic All-America honors. In his first season, Haynes helped produce five All-Mid-American Conference selections, an SI.com All-American (Roosevelt Nix), an Academic All-American (Jordan Italiano) and four Academic All-MAC selections, which tied for the second most in the conference.

On Aug. 29, 2013, Haynes became the first Kent State rookie head coach to win a season opener since 1988. He was also the Flashes' first rookie head coach to win a MAC road opener since 1986. At the end of the season, he joined Glen Mason as the only Kent State head coaches to defeat both Miami and Ohio in their first season.

In May of 2014, Dri Archer became just the fifth Kent State player since 1974, to be selected in one of the first three rounds of the NFL Draft.

Following the 2014 season, 10 Golden Flashes earned spots on the Academic All-MAC Team, including Italiano, who was named to the Academic All-America First Team. Seven of those 10 were named Distinguished Scholar Athletes, tying Kent State for the most selections in the conference. Three Flashes earned all-conference honors, including Casey Pierce, who became just the third player in Kent State history selected to play in the Senior Bowl.

"I am very excited to welcome Paul back to the Kent State family," said Director of Athletics Joel Nielsen of the hiring of Haynes. "During our search for a new head coach, I was looking for someone who had the qualities that could carry on the recent success of the football program. Those qualities include leadership, a genuine interest in our student-athletes, integrity and an understanding of Kent State and the Mid-American Conference. Ohio recruiting ties were also very important. Paul hits on every one of those areas. In hiring Paul we are also making a significant investment in the head coaching position here at Kent State."

Haynes, 45, spent the 2012 season as the defensive coordinator at Arkansas and also served as the secondary coach for the Razorbacks. Haynes joined the Arkansas staff in December 2011, taking over the Razorbacks' defense when it dominated No. 11 Kansas State 29-16 in the AT&T Cotton Bowl.

Haynes spent the previous seven seasons at Ohio State, serving as the co-defensive coordinator and safeties coach in 2011 and as defensive backs coach from 2005-10. He also worked with former Head Coach Darrell Hazell on Jim Tressel's Ohio State staff from 2005-10.

In Haynes' seven years in Columbus, the Buckeyes compiled a 66-11 record, won six Big Ten titles and played in six consecutive BCS games. Ohio State defensive backs also boasted five first-team All-Americans and 10 first-team All-Big Ten selections in those seasons. Nine of the defensive backs Haynes coached at Ohio State were selected in the 2006-12 NFL Drafts, including first rounders Malcom Jenkins and Donte Whitner. In 2008, Jenkins won the Thorpe Award, as the nation's best defensive back.

The 2012 season at Arkansas was Haynes' third stint on a John L. Smith coaching staff. He also worked under Smith at Michigan State, serving as defensive backs coach from 2003-04, and at Louisville, as defensive backs coach in 2002.

This is Haynes' second homecoming at Kent State. He spent two seasons as an assistant coach under former Golden Flashes head coach Dean Pees, who is now the defensive coordinator of the Baltimore Ravens. After coaching Kent State's defensive backs in 1999, Haynes was promoted to assistant head coach and safeties coach in 2000. Haynes then moved on to the NFL in 2001, spending one season as the defensive quality control coach of the Jacksonville Jaguars.

Haynes' coaching career also includes stops at Northern Iowa (running backs and secondary, 1997-98), Ferris State (defensive backs, 1995-96), Bowling Green (graduate assistant, 1994) and St. Francis DeSales High School in Columbus (assistant coach, 1993).

Known as "Ice" during his playing days, Haynes walked on at Kent State in the fall of 1987 and went on to play four years for the Golden Flashes. As a freshman, he led the team in interceptions during Kent State's 7-4 season under Glen Mason. As a sophomore, Haynes led the team with 116 tackles. After missing the 1989 campaign with a knee injury, he earned All-MAC honors his final two years and ended his career with 440 tackles, a total that ranks seventh in Kent State history.

Prior to enrolling at Kent State, Haynes earned three letters in football at St. Francis DeSales High School in Columbus, including one during the team's 1985 state championship season. He also made OHSAA state tournament appearances in both basketball and track, earning four track letters and two basketball monograms.

Haynes was born on July 11, 1969. He and his wife, Danita, who graduated from Florida A&M with an education degree, have three children: daughters Jordyn and Kennedy Rose and son Tarron.

TREADWELL

Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks • 4th Season

Entering his 32nd season of coaching and fourth at Kent State, Don Treadwell was promoted to offensive coordinator in January of 2015 and also serves as quarterbacks coach. Treadwell joined the Golden Flashes just prior to the 2014 spring season as running backs coach.

The 2016 season saw six Golden Flashes on offense earn Academic All-MAC honors, while two quarterbacks (Nick Holley, George Bollas) earned MAC Distinguished Scholar Athlete honors. After two quarterbacks suffered season-ending injuries in the first four weeks, Treadwell sparked the unique success story of Nick Holley, who made a midseason transition to quarterback. Going four years without playing the position, Holley went on to earn MAC East Offensive Player of the Week honors three times in a six-game span.

In 2015, four Flashes on the offensive side of the ball earned Academic All-MAC honors, while redshirt freshman quarterback George Bollas was named a MAC Distinguished Scholar Athlete. In his first career start, Bollas helped the Flashes to a victory at UMass.

While coaching the running backs in 2014, Treadwell helped the development of running back Nick Holley, who converted from wide receiver. Holley had a pair of 95-yard rushing performances in his final three games. He and running back Anthony Meray each earned spots on the Academic All-MAC Team.

A veteran of the Mid-American Conference, Treadwell was the head coach at Miami University from 2011-2013. He also served as a coordinator at five other Division I programs over 12 seasons.

Now in his 12th season in the MAC, Treadwell's resume includes nine bowl appearances, four Division I-AA playoff appearances and a national championship.

In his first two years as Miami's head coach, the RedHawks combined for nine All-Mid-American Conference honors and had two players selected in the NFL Draft (Brandon Brooks, Zac Dysert). Miami also ranked among the top two in the MAC in passing offense, in his first two seasons.

Prior to returning to his alma mater, Treadwell spent four years as the offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach at Michigan State where he engineered one of the most explosive offenses in the Big Ten.

Nominated for the Broyles Award in 2010, given to the nation's top assistant coach, Treadwell led the day-to-day team activities during Coach Mark Dantonio's absence, including MSU's wins over Northern Colorado and No. 11 Wisconsin. He also coached on the sideline in victories against Michigan and Illinois while Dantonio was in the press box.

Treadwell was also Dantonio's offensive coordinator at the University of Cincinnati from 2004-06 and served under Brady Hoke as offensive coordinator at Ball State in 2003.

During his first stint at Michigan State, from 2000-02, he tutored several top receivers, including Charles Rogers, the 2002 Biletnikoff Award winner.

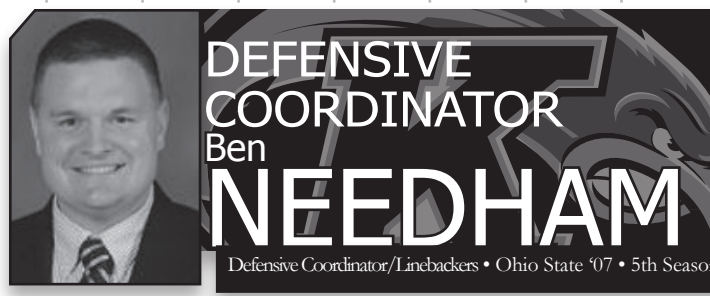

Treadwell went to Michigan State following one season at NC State (1999) where he coached running backs. He previously spent two years at Boston College where he served as pass game coordinator while working with the quarterbacks and wideouts.

Treadwell coached running backs under Tyrone Willingham at Stanford from 1995-96, directing a Cardinal rushing attack that racked up 1,819 yards in 1995.

His coaching credits also include one season as a wide receivers coach at Cincinnati (1994), a two-year stay with Miami (1992-93) and a six-year stint at Youngstown State (1986-91). Treadwell spent all of those seasons under former YSU and Ohio State head coach Jim Tressel. While serving as the offensive coordinator in 1991, he helped guide the Penguins to the NCAA I-AA National Championship.

Treadwell was a four-year starter at wide receiver at Miami (1978-81). He earned All-MAC First-Team honors as a junior and captained the team as a senior. He earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Miami in 1982. Born June 10, 1960, Treadwell graduated from Oberlin High School in 1978.

Treadwell and his wife Lola have three children: Whitney, Blake and Spencer.
