DIAMOND DIALOGUE

- Kent State returns to league play after sweeping both mid-week games in two different fashions, 4-1 over Pittsburgh and 13-11 over Canisius.
- KSU is on its third winning streak of three games or more of the season and the Golden Flashes are the only MAC team to sweep a series this year.
- With the 4-1 win Tuesday at Pitt, Kent State now boasts three wins (all on the road) over Power Five conference teams – Arkansas (10-4) and Notre Dame (4-1).
- KSU is jumping on teams early and late in 2018. The Flashes have outscored the opposition 20-5 in the first inning and 27-5 in the ninth inning so far in the 2018 season.
- Brad Hamilton leads the Golden Flashes in home runs with eight. He had his second multi-homer game of the season on April 1 at Western Michigan.
- Mason Mamarella is KSU's leading hitter with a .366 average. He also has 20 steals.
- The Golden Flashes have won either the Mid-American Conference regular season or tournament championship in 10 of the last 11 seasons.
- KSU has been tabbed the pre-season league favorite in both the regular and post-season.
- The Golden Flashes will take aim at their 20th consecutive season with at least 30 victories. KSU has had one sub-.500 season since 1981.

This is the second consecutive season the Golden Flashes and Huskies are meeting. In 2017 KSU took two of three in DeKalb and swept Northern in 2015 when the two teams met in Illinois. Kent State is 32-16 all-time vs. NIU.

GETTING TO KNOW KENT STATE

- Kent State is located in Kent, Ohio, about 50 miles southwest of Cleveland.
- The school and community are both named after Marvin Kent, who was influential in making the area a hub for the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad.
- The university, which had a fall 2017 enrollment of 39,367, is the third-largest in the state of Ohio behind Ohio State and Cincinnati.
- KSU boasts several notable alumni in the fields of sports and entertainment, including Nick Saban, Julian Edelman, Lou Holtz, James Harrison, Antonio Gates, Drew Carey, Arsenio Hall and Michael Keaton.

PRIDE IN THE PROGRAM

Kent State's baseball tradition dates back more than 100 years. Originally called the "Normal Nine," it first tasted post-season success in 1964. In 1993, the Golden Flashes came within one win of winning a regional title, knocking off eventual national champion LSU in the process.

Kent State re-emerged onto the national stage in 2011 with a stunning 7-5 win at Texas in the NCAA Regional tournaments, then compiled a 21-game winning streak in 2012 en route to the school's first ever regional title and appearance in the Super Regionals. There, in a decisive third game in Oregon, all-time hits leader Jimmy Rider floated a single into left field in the bottom of the ninth to send KSU to the College World Series.

The Golden Flashes have spun 11 no-hitters – including Eric Lauer's 2016 gem which also clinched the regular season conference crown.

BACK-TO-BACK REGULAR SEASON TITLES

Kent State dominated Mid-American Conference regular season play in 2016 and 2017. The 2016 Flashes finished 20-4 – just slightly off the insane pace and school record of 24-3 set by the 2012 squad. Kent State's nearest threat in 2016 was Ball State, which finished five games off the pace. Last year, Kent State posted an 18-6 league mark, two games better than second place Central Michigan. In the 2016 and 2017 seasons, KSU was not been swept in a MAC series and lost two out of three only once.

LIFE BEGINS AT 30

2017 marked the 19th consecutive season in which Kent State won at least 30 games. During that near two-decade stretch, KSU has eclipsed the 40-win mark five times. Kent State is averaging 37 wins per season in that span.

THE BOOK OF ELI

Kent State's senior southpaw Eli Kraus has rocketed up the Golden Flashes' pitching record lists during the past three seasons. The Medina, Ohio native has won 17 career games for the blue and gold over the previous two seasons after a breakout 9-1 effort in 2016 and 8-3 mark in 2017. As consistent as you'd ever want a starter to be, Kraus' splits from the past two campaigns tell the story:

- 2016 – 14 starts – 9-1 – 2.64 ERA – 88 2/3 IP – 59 K – 24 BB
- 2017 – 14 starts – 8-3 – 2.69 ERA – 93 2/3 IP – 73 K – 21 BB

Not only has Kraus become one of KSU's most reliable and decorated arms, he is also a self-taught guitarist, often times bringing the instrument on road trips to continue to tune his craft.

Kraus is a two-time First Team All-MAC selection and was named to the 2017 MAC All-Tournament team thanks to a career effort - a complete game three-hit shutout of Toledo with eight strikeouts and one walk in the post-season opener. He picked up his 21st career win at KSU on April 8 at CMU.

BOUGHS OF HOLLY

Despite battling injuries during his two-year Flashes' career, junior Josh Hollander has become a solid middle-infielder and tough out in the KSU lineup. He hit .295 a season ago with seven doubles, two triples and a home run. "Holly" knocked in 19 and was 7/8 in stolen base attempts. He was second on the team defensively with 110 assists and was a part of 16 double plays. The Cincinnati native was also Kent State's most reliable bat during the post-season, hitting .454 with an RBI, two runs scored and three walks. His opening night ninth-inning grand slam at Sam Houston State gave KSU a stunning win.

MASTER MASON

While the top degree of Master Mason is the highest one can achieve in the annals of freemasonry, Kent State senior Mason Mamarella has certainly earned his spot at the top of Kent State's lineup. In his two seasons since coming to KSU following the discontinuation of Akron's baseball program in 2015, Mamarella has hit .303 and .330. His average of .330 to match the KSU area code was the team's second highest in 2017 and he was the only player on the roster to play in all 55 games. He collected five triples and six doubles with 26 runs batted in a year ago and swiped a team-best 18 bases. This season he was named MAC Player of the Week for games on Feb. 23-25. He has stolen 20 bases in 24 tries in 2018.

NO ORDINARY JOE

Junior starting pitcher Joey Murray became Kent State's most decorated underclassman in 2017 when the righty posted a 6-1 record with a sparkling 1.80 ERA. KSU's Sunday starter (!) made 14 appearances on the year, including an eight-strikeout performance in the MAC Tournament. In 2016, he burst onto the scene with a mesmerizing eight-inning, 11-strikeout, no-walk effort in the tournament semi-finals to send KSU to the title tilt.

NATIONAL MEDIA HIGH ON FLASHES

Once, again, members of the national media think highly of the Golden Flashes coming into the 2018 season. In December, Collegiate Baseball Newspaper ranked KSU 34th in its Pre-season Top 40 poll. The publication also selected pitcher Joey Murray a Second-team Pre-Season All-American.

At the end of January, Baseball America picked Kent State as the “Team to Beat” in the Mid-American Conference. Citing the team’s pitching depth and veteran lineup, the preview added “If the Golden Flashes can put it all together (in the MAC Tournament), they have a team that would be dangerous in a regional.”

LOSS OF A LEGEND

During the off-season, the Kent State family lost a legendary figure. Gene “Stick” Michael passed away on Sept. 7 2017 following a heart attack. He was 79. Michael, who played both baseball and basketball at KSU, is responsible for the revival of the New York Yankees farm system in the early 1990s which then led to the dynasty of the late 1990s. As New York’s General Manager, he is credited for signing such young talent as Mariano Rivera, Andy Pettitte, Derek Jeter and Jorge Posada. At KSU, Michael lettered in baseball in 1958 and received his education degree in 1967. For several years, the natural grass home field at Kent was named in his honor.

KENT STATE BASEBALL RUNS ON DUNCAN

Since taking the reigns of the KSU Baseball program in the summer of 2013, Jeff Duncan has continued the winning ways of each of his predecessors. Duncan, who was at Purdue in 2012 when the Golden Flashes swept the field at the NCAA Gary Regional hosted by Purdue, has guided KSU to one MAC Tournament title (2014) and back-to-back regular season conference crowns in 2016 and 2017. Under the Chicagoland native’s leadership, Kent State boasts the following numbers:

- 163-86 overall record for an average season record of 37-19
- 76-32 MAC record for an average MAC record of 18-7
- 30-6 record in MAC series
- Have swept 11 MAC series
- Have only been swept once in a MAC series

SIMMONS JOINS COACHING STAFF

Kent State will have a new face on the bench in 2018. Derek Simmons joins Jeff Duncan’s staff after a year at Alabama. In Tuscaloosa, he worked with the infielders and hitters along with coaching first base and coordinating camps. Under Simmons, the Crimson Tide defense led the SEC with 50 double plays turned in 2017. He also spent time at Kennesaw State and Central Michigan along with Team USA. He played college baseball at Montevallo and Georgia State before playing one season of independent baseball. This year for KSU Simmons is coaching third base while fellow newcomer Tony Caldwell coaches first.

BACK COMES BIRKBECK

The Golden Flashes have certainly had continuity at the pitching coach department. Mike Birkbeck returns to the KSU coaching staff for year #22 in 2018. Since his first year in 1997, "Birky" has been responsible for transforming Kent State into one of the finest pitching factories in all of Division I college baseball. Under Birkbeck, Kent State has had 45 pitchers either drafted or signed into Major League Baseball – including 2011 and 2016 first round draft selections Andrew Chafin and Eric Lauer, respectively. Lauer's 0.69 ERA in 2016 earned him National Player and Pitcher of the Year honors. He has also overseen the top five pitching staffs in club history in terms of strikeouts in a single season. Three of the Golden Flashes' 11 no-hitters have occurred under Birkbeck, including April 23, 1997 – Birkbeck's first year – when Mike Skeeles beat Akron (ironically Birkbeck's alma mater) 1-0.

2018 SCHEDULE TIDBITS

The Golden Flashes once again tested themselves in the early season portion of the schedule. Aside from facing 2017 NCAA Super Regional qualifier Sam Houston State in the season's opening weekend, KSU made a March visit to the 29-time NCAA Regional participant Arkansas Razorbacks. It was Kent State's first encounter with the Diamond Hogs since the 2012 College World Series. Sam Houston State and Arkansas combined for 89 wins a year ago. KSU also made trips to Tennessee for the Mule Mix Classic, South Carolina for a three-game series against Winthrop and North Carolina for a three-game set against Western Carolina's Catamounts – the third straight year the Golden Flashes and WCU met in a weekend series.

Once the season gets going, KSU has home-and-home single games scheduled with Pittsburgh, Youngstown State, Canisius and Bowling Green. They visited South Bend for a brief two-game midweek series with Notre Dame and split the two games. The Golden Flashes have also signed a second two-for-one with Ohio State, with the Bucks returning to Kent in 2019.

BUILT ROAD TOUGH

Kent State has been one of the nation's best road teams over the past two seasons. Between 2016 and 2017, the Golden Flashes have posted a sparkling 42-15 record away from Portage County. That mark includes an impressive eight sweeps on the road. KSU is 16-8 this year on the road to bring the three-year total to 58-23 (.716).

SCOUTING THE HUSKIES

The 2018 NIU Huskies received a first place vote in the pre-season poll but have struggled to find their footing. Offensively, Northern hits a collective .239 but Brad Wood and Samuel Vega have had outstanding starts at the plate. Wood is the Huskies' leading hitter at .301 while Vega has driven in 16 runs. NIU has stolen 28 bases in 48 tries. On the mound, Michael Lasiewicz has been sensational for the dogs, logging 45 innings and striking out 43 with an ERA of 2.00. The NIU staff as a whole has struck out 212 and walked 120.

Northern has played well as of late, winning six of 10 coming into this weekend. Like KSU, the Huskies have a win over Notre Dame and NIU has also swept two games from UIC. They have not been to Schoonover Stadium since the 2015 season.

NO ANNOUNCER JINX

Senior slugger Brad Hamilton – who worked for ESPN3 this season calling KSU volleyball and basketball – has caught fire in the first two months of the season. He already boasts two multi-homer games and leads Kent State in long balls with eight. His father, Tom, is the long-time radio voice of the Cleveland Indians.

FLASHES PARTY EARLY AND LATE

In a trend that started on opening night, Kent State is bookending teams to death in 2018. KSU has outscored the opposition 29-7 in the first inning this year and is also outscoring the opponent 29-14 in the ninth. This season, 40 percent of the Flashes' runs have come in the seventh inning or later.

ON THE AIR

Since 2006, the excitement of Golden Flashes baseball has been heard on the Kent State Radio Network. In 2018 the action returns to the airwaves on the network – accessible via the iHeart Radio or Tunein apps. Each can be used on a smartphone, pc or tablet. For the 11th year, Ty Linder serves as the dual "Voice of the Flashes" – as both radio play-by-play and Schoonover Stadium public address voice. For select games Linder will be joined by Jacob Pavilack. Pavilack is in his fifth year as a Kent State Radio Network announcer.

Kent State's 2017 addition to an already-impressive collection of jewelry came thanks to a roster dominated by underclassmen such as Pete Schuler (17), Reilly Hawkins (7) and Tim DalPorto (2).
