THE GAME

Following a break for finals week, the Kent State women's basketball team is set to return to action on Monday, December 21 when it hosts Duquesne in the final scheduled non-conference game at 1 p.m.

The Golden Flashes concluded a stretch of three games in five days with a 61-57 win at Toledo last Sunday for a 2-0 start to Mid-American Conference play. Just two days after needing a school-record 16 three-point field goals to beat Ohio in the home opener, Kent State shot just 4-of-20 from behind the arc. Relentless effort on the offensive glass resulted in 13 second-chance points and a dominant 48-28 overall rebounding advantage. Nila Blackford led all players with 21 points and 15 rebounds, which matched her career-high. It was the first 20-point, 15-rebound game by a Flash since Anna Kowalska had 27 points and 16 rebounds against Robert Morris on November 15, 2007. Mariah Modkins scored 10 points and tied her career-high with three steals. Lindsey Thall added seven rebounds and a career-best six assists.

Kent State features a balanced offense once again this season. Four players are averaging at least 9.0 points per game, six have posted double-figure scoring nights and three more have scored at least six points in a contest. Nila Blackford leads the way with 13.8 ppg and a MAC-best 9.5 rpg. Mariah Modkins (10.5 ppg) is having a breakout season and leads the Flashes in three-pointers (7), three-point field goal percentage (.500), assists (15) and steals (6). Lindsey Thall adds 9.5 ppg and is the top shot blocker (1.5 bpg) in the MAC. Katie Shumate is right behind at 9.0 points per game. Casey Santoro (6.8 ppg) and Clare Kelly (5.8 ppg) combined for 40 points during the Flashes' first two league contests.

The Dukes have averaged nearly 22 wins over the past seven seasons under the leadership of head coach Dan Burt. Despite playing without All-Atlantic 10 point guard Libby Bazalak, Duquesne has split its first four games. Following a 35-point loss at No. 20 Ohio State in the opener, the Dukes beat Saint Francis (Pa.) at the buzzer and then earned an A10 win against St. Bonaventure. Duquesne dropped a 77-74 contest at Toledo on Friday.

Guard Amanda Kalin (17.5 ppg) scored a career-high 32 points against the Rockets and has averaged 22.7 ppg since a tough opener against the Buckeyes. Preseason All-A10 second team center Laia Sole adds 10.0 ppg and a team-high 8.5 rpg. As a team, the Dukes rank 35th in the country with 5.2 blocked shots per contest. Center Precious Johnson (7.0 ppg, 6.0 rpg) leads the defense with 10 rejections.

THEGOLDENFLASHESNICKNAME

The origin of the nickname "Golden Flashes" has been a topic of debate. According to documentation in Phillip Shiver's book, The Years of Youth, widely regarded as historically correct, the reason for Kent State's nickname is noted in a letter to Linda Baughman, dated Aug. 6, 1959. Merle Wagoner recalled that the change in the name of Kent State athletics teams from "Silver Foxes" to "Golden Flashes" occurred in 1926 after the dismissal of President John E. McGilvrey (Kent State's first nickname originated from McGilvrey, who had a silver fox farm east of campus).

With Acting President T. Howard Winters providing the impetus, a contest was held (with a $25 first prize) to select the new name. No special significance was attached to the winning suggestion, which was used first in 1927 by the basketball team after it had been approved by the student body and the faculty athletic committee. Also laying claim to the origin was Oliver Wolcott, one-time Kent State grid great who played center on the 1921 and 1922 teams. As former sports editor of the Kent Courier Tribune, the local newspaper, the name "Silver Foxes" seemed pretty frail to him. So, during the 1927 football season, he began referring to the team as "Golden Flashes."

TODD STARKEY

>> HEAD COACH

FIFTH SEASON MONTREAT COLLEGE, '93

Hometown:
Canfield, Ohio

Alma Mater:
Montreat College,
Bachelor's Degree in Outdoor
Education

Todd Starkey enters his fifth season as the head women's basketball coach at Kent State in 2020-21 after being hired as the program's sixth head coach in April 2016. Already the third-winningest coach in school history, he has led the Golden Flashes to two Postseason WNIT appearances and two Mid-American Conference East Division titles.

Kent State was playing its best ball of the year and had won seven of its last nine games when a potential season-to-remember was unexpectedly cut short this past March with the cancellation of the MAC Tournament. The East Division champion Flashes knocked off defending champion Buffalo in a quarterfinal matchup and was the highest-remaining seed in the field.

Starkey has found much success in recruiting talented student-athletes, landing two of the highest-touted signing class in school history back-to-back in 2018 and 2019. Both classes had two student-athletes earn spots on the MAC All-Freshman Team, while only one other school had multiple honorees over the two seasons. While Nila Blackford led all conference freshmen in rebounding. Led by Asiah Dingle and Lindsey Thall, the 2018 class ranked second nationally with 964 points.

For the third time in four seasons under Starkey's guidance, Kent State finished the 2019-20 season in the top-100 of the RPI. The Flashes had five players average more than 11 points per game with guards Megan Carter and Katie Shumate earning All-MAC honorable mention selections. Lindsey Thall was named to the MAC All-Defensive Team after being the top shot blocker in the conference for the second year in a row.

The 2018-19 season saw Kent State post its first 20-win campaign in eight years while breaking a 25-year-old school record with 241 three-point field goals made. The Flashes finished with the highest RPI ranking (81) in program history and boasted four wins against RPI Top 100 teams, including a victory at Green Bay in the first round of the Postseason WNIT. Guards Megan Carter and Alexa Golden thrived in their third season under Starkey's tutelage, earning All-MAC Third Team and Defensive Team honors, respectively. All-Freshman Team selections Asiah Dingle and Lindsey Thall highlighted the second highest-scoring freshman class (964 points) in the country.

Starkey was named 2017 MAC Coach of the Year for his efforts in guiding Kent State to one of biggest turnarounds in NCAA Division I women's basketball during his first season on the sidelines. The Golden Flashes finished the season with a 19-13 overall record and had the nation's largest RPI improvement, jumping 222 spots from the previous season, and the fifth most-improved record in the country. Despite being picked to finish last in the preseason, Kent State put together a 13-5 conference mark to win the program's first MAC East Division title since 2004-05. The regular season ended with a seven-game winning streak, which surpassed the number of conference games the team had won over the previous two seasons combined.

Behind the strength of five wins against RPI Top 100 teams, the Flashes received an at-large bid to the 2017 Postseason WNIT for the first time since the 2010-11 season. An angry Michigan squad that felt it deserved to play in the NCAA Tournament awaited Kent State in the opening round. Down by 21 points at halftime, the Flashes fought back to within five with just over two minutes to play before falling, 67-60. The Wolverines went on to claim the WNIT championship.
