Head Coach Ron Prince

Kansas State's second-year head coach has quickly righted the Wildcats

It didn't take Ron Prince long to make his mark on the Kansas State football program. And that in a nutshell is Ron Prince. One need not spend much time with the leader of the Wildcat Nation to quickly develop a clear sense of who he is as both a man and a football coach.

Deeply driven and committed to excelling at the highest levels possible, Prince is also a devoted and principled family man who is guided by the traditional Midwestern values of hard work and dedication that were instilled in him long ago as a child growing up right here in the state of Kansas.

And as committed as Prince is to success on the gridiron, he is equally concerned about the development of each student-athlete as a total person, with the goal of equipping each individual with the necessary tools for success in athletics and life.

In addition to his contagious enthusiasm and values, Prince's coaching pedigree also makes him a great fit at K-State. With more than 15 years of experience at virtually every level of the game, Prince has honed his craft at the knee of several coaching legends, including Dan Reeves, Tom Coughlin, Al Groh and Willie Jeffries.

Prince put that experience to work in his first season with the Wildcats and not only guided the program back to a postseason bowl game, but also pulled off one of the biggest upsets in all of college football during 2006 with K-State's victory over defending national champion Texas. Prince also produced three first team all Big 12 selections in year one and saw three players go on to be taken in the 2007 NFL Draft.

For more on Head Coach Ron Prince please turn to his biography on page 54.

"Even though I only got to play for Coach Prince for one season it was a great experience. He cares about his players and he definitely made us better."

What They're Saying About Ron Prince

"Ron Prince has all the attributes to be a tremendous asset to Kansas State and to build a long term, highly successful career. More significant is Ron's ability to understand and communicate with a broad range of people covering multiple categories. He is a football guy who is intrigued by the game and can really teach it and Ron thrives on competition - he knows how to find a way to win."

Al Groh
Head Coach
University of Virginia

"Ron is one of the up and coming coaches in college football today. We saw tremendous potential in Ron during his time with us in the NFL. Ron's tireless effort and perseverance has earned him swift promotion through the coaching ranks. His energy, personality, and understanding of people will give him a tremendous advantage in recruiting."

Tom Coughlin
Head Coach
New York Giants

"What Ron Prince has accomplished in a short period of time at Kansas State is miraculous. Usually the rule is that you don't want to follow an icon, because it's always easier to be that second guy that follows a terrific coach. But what Ron has been able to do there in replenishing the talent through recruiting in a short period of time has been outstanding. Taking a team from the bottom of the (Big 12 North) division right to a bowl game and beating Texas in his first year, that's a fabulous job and you couldn't expect anything more from him. Looking at what he's done with the program you can expect Kansas State to experience even greater things in the future."

Mark May
ESPN College Football Analyst

"I think the world of Ron as both a football coach and an individual. He is a very creative football coach who works hard and truly cares about his players. The most impressive thing about Ron is the way he treats his players and how well the student-athletes respond to him."

Ron Franklin
ESPN Play-By-Play Announcer

"Coach Prince is a really good man and a great football coach. He did a great job with our offensive line at Virginia and when he received the opportunity to be our coordinator he was an outstanding play-caller. I know he will do a great job at Kansas State."

Quarterback

Kansas State Coaching Staff

K-State's staff is made up of some of the brightest minds in college football

Head coach Ron Prince enters his second season at Kansas State with a bright, aggressive staff that is a near-perfect blend of youthful exuberance and veteran wisdom. The average age of K-State's assistant coaches is 40 and both coordinators will celebrate their 35th birthdays this year.

Still, the staff possesses plenty of experience and includes a former head coach, two former offensive coordinators, two former defensive coordinators, two former NFL assistants and a former NFL scout. In total, K-State's assistant coaches will bring over 150 years of coaching experience at virtually every level of the game into the 2007 season.

The group has also seen its fair share of success at both the Division I-A and Division I-AA levels, helping to guide programs to 29 postseason bowl berths and another seven appearances in the I-AA playoffs.

The unbridled enthusiasm and hard-working nature of the staff has also been witnessed on the recruiting trail, where it is quickly gaining a reputation as one of the nation's best in terms of assessing talent and character. Working at a break-neck pace, the staff scoured the country during the most recent signing period to land a class of 32 student-athletes from eight different states and one foreign country that included six of the top-100 ranked players from the junior college ranks.

But it's not just the latest Wildcats that have benefitted from Kansas State's new coaching staff. K-State's fast-paced and high-energy workouts have helped current players quickly install up new and updated systems while honing fundamental skills.

Chemistry and camaraderie have also been fostered by Kansas State's new coaching staff with the goal of quickly returning the Wildcats to a place among college football's elite programs. And after last year's appearance in the Texas Bowl it appears that this group already has K-State well ahead of schedule.

Winning Tradition

Kansas State has won an average of nine games per season since 1993

Head coach Ron Prince added to Kansas State's impressive winning resume in just his first year with the Wildcats during 2006, guiding K-State to a berth in the Texas Bowl and a tie for second place in the Big 12's North Division.

The postseason appearance was the 12th for the Wildcats in the last 14 years, a feat matched by just eight other programs in all of college football.

Since 1993, Kansas State has won an average of nine games per season, and, as a result, has earned a well deserved reputation as one of the best programs in all of college football.

Since the start of the 1993 season, few programs can match Kansas State's win total of 125 games or its winning percentage of nearly 75 percent. In fact, K-State became just the second program in the history of college football to win 11 games six times in a seven-year span from 1997-2003.

The Wildcats have also been a fixture on the bowl circuit. From 1992-2003, K-State was one of just eight programs in the nation to travel to a postseason bowl in all 11 years.

Kansas State's success in the Big 12 Conference - which formed in 1996 - also possesses few peers. The Wildcats have captured four Big 12 North Division titles and participated in three Big 12 Championship games - a figure that ranks among the top three in the league. K-State also claimed the 2003 Big 12 crown when it defeated No. 1 Oklahoma.

On an individual level, Kansas State has produced 67 all-conference performers (combined Big 8/12) and 43 All-Americans during its rise to prominence since 1993.

Kansas State has also had 42 players selected in the NFL Draft over the past 14 seasons - an average of three per year - and is currently in the midst of a streak that has seen at least one Wildcat drafted in 15 straight years.

Bowl Games

Ron Prince guided the Wildcats to a bowl game in his first season

Kansas State's recent bowl history is virtually unmatched in the ranks of college football. The Wildcats were one of just nine programs nationally to earn a postseason bowl berth in 12 of 14 seasons from 1993-2006. K-State extended its run last year under new head coach Ron Prince as the Wildcats earned their 13th all-time postseason bowl bid with their invitation to take on Rutgers in the inaugural Texas Bowl at Reliant Stadium in Houston, Texas.

Since 1993, Kansas State has played in seven different bowls in three different states, including Arizona (Copper, Fiesta, Insight), Texas (Cotton, Alamo, Texas) and California (Holiday).

Kansas State's fan support at bowl games is also unparalleled. K-State fans have a tradition of traveling far and wide to support their Wildcats.

"I can think of two things that have lived up to their billing," said Fiesta Bowl Executive Director John Junker. "They are Kansas State football fans and Michael Jordan. You can't sell either of them short and they both get it done."

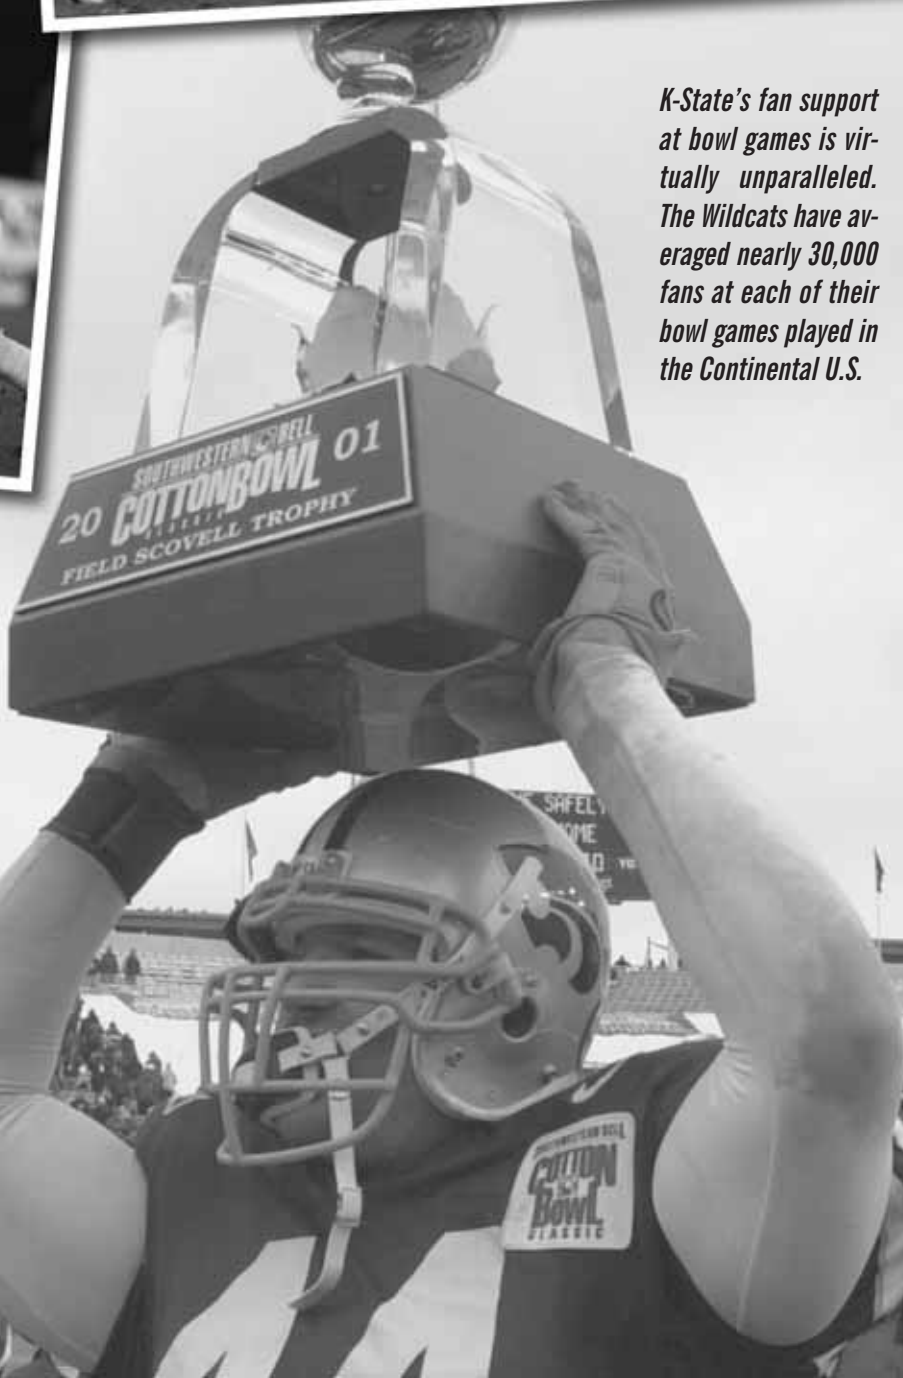

Since 1993, K-State has averaged an announced attendance of nearly 30,000 fans at each of its bowl games played in the Continental U.S. The Wildcats had an estimated 45,000 fans travel to Dallas for the 1997 Cotton Bowl - a figure nearly matched for the 2000 Cotton Bowl - while the largest crowd ever to cross state lines to watch a college football game went with the Wildcats to Tempe, Ariz., for the Wildcats' 1997 Fiesta Bowl victory over Syracuse. Wildcat fans were again in force at the 2003 Fiesta Bowl as an estimated crowd of just under 40,000 K-State faithful travelled to Arizona. Most recently, an estimated 25,000 Wildcat fans were in full force for Kansas State's matchup with Rutgers in the 2006 Texas Bowl.

Kansas State is one of just nine college football programs in the country to play in a bowl game 12 times in the last 14 seasons.

K-State's fan support at bowl games is virtually unparalleled. The Wildcats have averaged nearly 30,000 fans at each of their bowl games played in the Continental U.S.

Big-Time Conference

K-State is a leading member of one of the nation's premiere conferences

As the Big 12 Conference heads into its second decade, Kansas State continues to leave an indelible stamp on the league, which has developed a reputation as one of, if not the premiere football conference in the nation. A conference title, multiple bowl games, All-Americans, and national award winners are just a few reasons why K-State is among the elite in the Big 12 Conference and in college football.

Since the league's formation, Kansas State has made three appearances in the league's championship game. That figure ranks as the third-most all time in the Big 12.

The Wildcats also rank fourth overall in Big 12 conference victories with 57. In league road games, Kansas State has totaled 24 wins. Only Texas, Oklahoma and Nebraska have claimed more victories in enemy stadiums than the Wildcats.

On the postseason bowl circuit, Kansas State's nine bowl appearances since the league's formation also ranks among the Big 12 leaders, with only two programs claiming more bowl berths than the Wildcats.

Individually, Kansas State has been well represented among the conference's postseason award winners. Since 1996, 55 different Wildcats have received first, second or third-team all-conference recognition from either the league's coaches or the Associated Press. K-State has also produced three Defensive Players of the Year, Five Newcomers of the Year (four defense/one offense) and three Defensive Freshmen of the Year.

Gameday Excitement

Kansas State's fans and game-day atmosphere are second to none

On Saturdays in Kansas during the fall, the entire state's attention turns to Manhattan, where the Little Apple becomes the center of the universe for Wildcat fans. Whether they are tailgating in the parking lot or gathering in Aggieville for the march to Bill Snyder Family Stadium, Kansas State fans have just one thing on their minds, and that's helping the Wildcats secure a victory. Which is why there is no better atmosphere in college football than the one that exists inside Bill Snyder Family Stadium on gameday.

K-State fans, draped from head to toe in purple, arrive early, stay late and in between make Wagner Field one of the college football's most intimidating environments. Kansas State's student section, over 9,000 strong, stands the entire game, while the 'Pride of Wildcat Land' marching band belts out traditional foot-stompers like "The Wabash Cannonball" and Willie the Wildcat whips the stadium into a fevered pitch with his rousing K-S-U WILDCATS! cheer.

Once the game begins, K-State fans enthusiastically celebrate each first down and score, finishing the public address announcer's catchy "Good for a Wildcat FIRST DOWN" and "TOUCHDOWN" for him and adding the appropriate arm motions, while two massive videoboards highlight all the action.

It's a special environment in a wonderful setting. It's Bill Snyder Family Stadium on game day. And there's nothing on the planet quite like it.

"I tell you what, when you see (Bill Snyder Family Stadium) from the outside, you're like, 'what a nice little stadium.' But when it's full, it's amazing. It's so intimidating."

Kirk Herbstreit
ESPN College Gameday

Kansas State has committed nearly $10 million to upgrades and renovations of its football facilities in just the last three years.

Football Facilities

Kansas State's student-athletes compete and practice in top-notch facilities

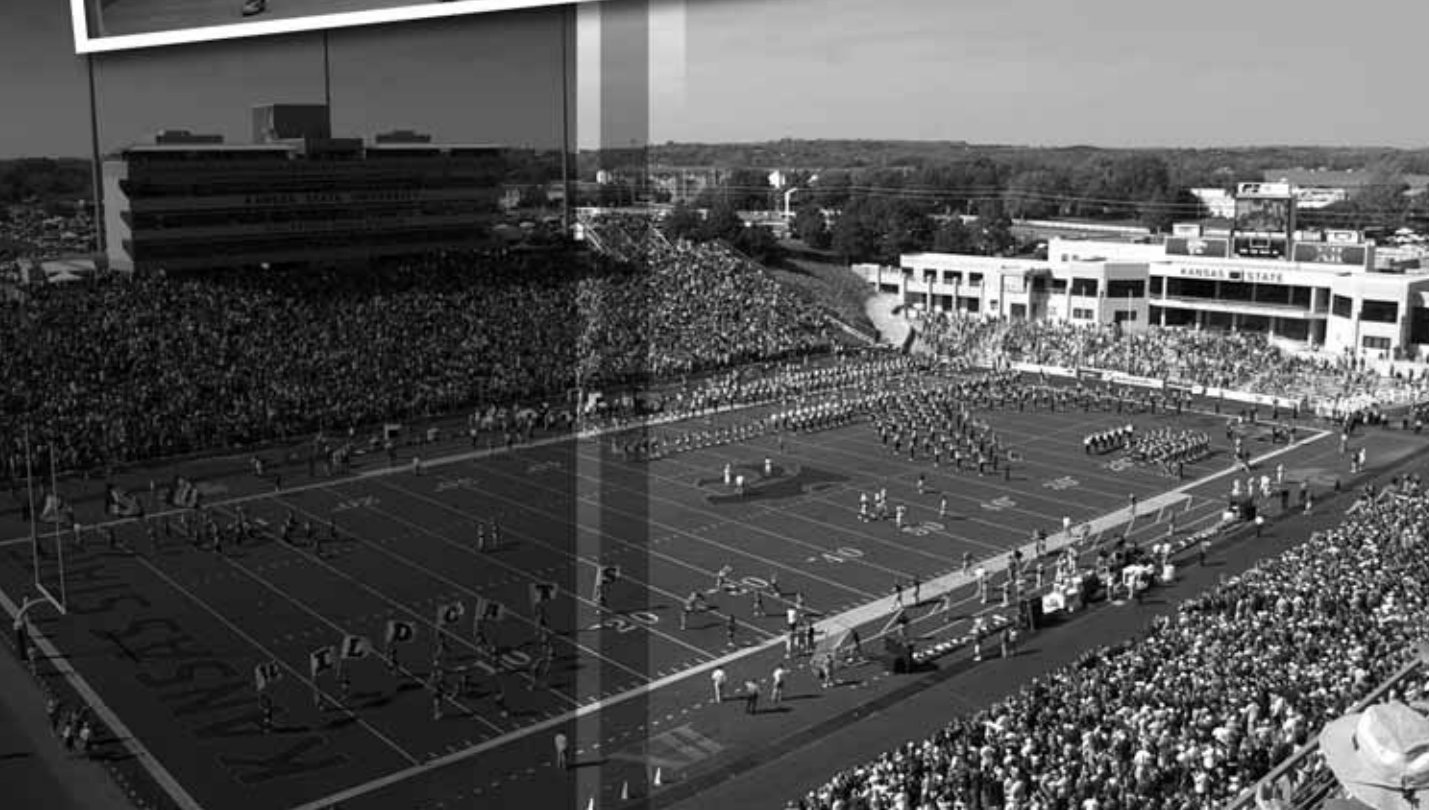

The commitment to the Kansas State football program starts at the top with President Dr. Jon Wefald. He attends practices frequently and addresses the team following workouts. In addition, Dr. Wefald is on a first-name basis with the entire football team. K-State may be the only school in the nation where recruits meet the president and dine in his or her home.

So its no surprise that Wildcat football is consistently treated to the best the University has to offer when it comes to facilities.

The Vanier Sports Complex, an all-in-one facility that houses the K-State football program, is in the finishing stages of a complete $8 million overhaul that is slated to be completed in time for the 2007 season.

These renovations come on the heels of a more than $13 million stadium expansion that included 31 new luxury sky suites on the east side of Bill Snyder Family Stadium in 1999. The expansion raised the number of sky suites at the stadium to 57, included the addition of 2,000 club seats and a new upper deck seating area the pushed the capacity of the facility over 50,000.

In addition to Bill Snyder Family Stadium, Kansas State's practice facilities include a 94,000 square foot indoor practice facility, which which recently received a complete upgrade with the installation of new FieldTurf, that is believed to be the largest in the nation and three regulation-sized grass practice fields. As a result, K-State has the ability practice and prepare on a variety of surfaces in almost any weather condition.

Bill Snyder Family Stadium

Kansas State's Indoor Practice Facility (above and right) boasts 94,000 square feet (133.3 yards long and 76.6 yards wide) of practice space that is believed to be the largest in the nation. Last spring, the facility was outfitted with a new $850,000 state-of-the-art FieldTurf system to match the playing surface in Bill Snyder Family Stadium.

Vanier Football Complex

The all-in-one Vanier Complex is the home of Wildcat football

Kansas State's commitment to excellence is never more evident than when one views the current renovations taking place in and around the Vanier football Complex.

Among the impressive improvements: a newly-renovated 13,000 square foot weight room and athletic training facility, a state-of-the-art hydrotherapy center, new and expanded player's locker room and lounge area complete with flat-screen televisions, an upgraded equipment distribution center, technologically advanced meeting rooms with the latest in video equipment, and new offices and meeting space for the coaching staff.

One of the most dramatic pieces of the project was completed last fall, when Kansas State finished construction on a total reconfiguration of the north end zone seating area at Bill Snyder Family Stadium. The upgrades resulted in new tiered bench seating with a capacity for about 1,900 patrons and a sweeping runway leading from the Wildcats' locker room to the playing field.

K-State also completed installation of new video boards at the north and south ends of the stadium at a cost of $1.7 million, with the south end of the stadium receiving a fully integrated ProStar VideoPlus display that measures a whopping 23 feet by 61 feet.

When fully completed, the total cost for upgrades to the Vanier Complex and Bill Snyder Family Stadium will total nearly $10 million in just the past three years.

K-State's Via Christi Health System Hydrotherapy Training Center (above), features a SwimEx 600 T-A multi-depth pool for the conditioning and rehabilitation, an in-ground cold-plunge pool and a hot spa pool. The treadmill simulator in the SwimEx pool allows a student-athlete to begin running in a limited weight-bearing environment, while its adjustable floor allows for the gradual increase in weight-bearing activities to allow a smooth transition to land rehabilitation activities.

Kansas State's recent upgrades to the Vanier Football Complex include a newly-renovated 13,000 square foot weight room and athletic training facility, a state-of-the-art hydrotherapy center, new and expanded player's locker room and lounge area complete with flat-screen televisions, an upgraded equipment distribution center, technologically advanced meeting rooms with the latest in video equipment, and new offices and meeting space for the coaching staff.

Strength & Conditioning

Helping the Wildcats maximize their abilities

Under the direction of head strength and conditioning coach Mike Kent and assistant strength and conditioning coach Darren Honeycutt, the Kansas State strength and conditioning program is committed to maximizing the on-field performance of every student athlete. The program designed by Kent and Honeycutt combines weight training, plyometrics, stretching and flexibility exercises, running with proper nutrition to enhance each student-athlete's ability to compete.

It is a formula that has worked well for Kent during his 22-year career. In his most recent stop at the University of Pittsburgh, Kent helped develop three NFL Draft picks - tackles Rob Petitti (2005) and Charles Spencer (2006) and defensive back Josh Lay (2006). Kent also oversaw the physical development of eight NFL Draft selections while at the University of Louisville, including wide receiver Deion Branch, who went on to become the MVP of the 2005 Super Bowl for the New England Patriots. At Appalachian State, Kent trained linebacker Dexter Coakley, who went on to earn multiple All-Pro honors with the Dallas Cowboys.

"The physical attributes are merely the tools that make it possible to compete. A collective, passionate desire to compete will win a Big 12 championship."

Recent First Team All-Big 12 Selections

Home Grown Heroes

Kansas products have come up big for the Wildcats through the years

Sunflower State talent has been a big part of Kansas State's emergence on the college football scene. No fewer than 17 Kansans have received all-conference honors from either the league's coaches or the Associated Press since 1990, with five of those earning All-America recognition.

Included in that group are a pair of Big 12 Defensive Players of the Year in linebacker Mark Simoneau and defensive back Terence Newman, and two Academic All-Americans in defensive back Jon McGraw and offensive lineman Ryan Lilja, a Thorpe Award winner (Newman), a Butkus Award semifinalist (Simoneau) and a Groza Award runner-up (Jamie Rheem).

Several of those players have gone on to promising NFL careers and are currently on NFL rosters, including Monty Beisel (Arizona Cardinals), Lilja (Indianapolis Colts), McGraw (Kansas City Chiefs), Newman (Dallas Cowboys), Simoneau (New Orleans Saints), Darren Sproles (San Diego Chargers) and Rashad Washington (New York Jets).

Currently, there are 42 players from the state of Kansas on the Wildcats' roster, including Ian Campbell and Marcus Watts, who were the latest Kansans to come up big for the Wildcats during the 2006 season. Campbell, a consensus first team All-Big 12 selection, was also named as the league's player of the year by the Houston Chronicle. Watts, meanwhile, earned second team All-Big 12 honors and was tapped by ESPN analyst Mark May as a member of his prestigious 2006 All-Mayday team.

Former walk-on Jordy Nelson has also made a name for himself at K-State. The Riley product has gone from walk-on, to starter, to one of the Wildcats' four team captains for the 2007 season.

Kansas State head coach, Ron Prince, is also a Sunflower State product. Prince was raised in nearby Junction City, before going on to attending Dodge City Community College.

Junior College Success Stories

K-State has an unmatched reputation for developing junior-college talent

There is perhaps no program in the country that has done a better job of developing junior college talent than Kansas State. And with some of the nation's best junior college football played right in its own backyard, it's easy to see why K-State has been able to identify and cultivate the best of the best.

Since the mid 1990s, Kansas State has seen 18 of its former junior college players earn All-Big 12 accolades, with seven of those going on to be selected All-American.

The Wildcats have also produced five Big 12 Newcomers of the Year from the junior college ranks, while a total of 26 of its former junior college players have gone on to play on some level in the professional ranks.

Among the conference newcomer-of-the-year selections, four were on the defensive side of the ball as Kansas State produced the league's top newcomer in 4-of-5 seasons from 1997 through 2001.

On offense, quarterback Michael Bishop was named the Big 12's Offensive Newcomer of the Year in 1997, before going on to win the Davey O'Brien Award (nation's most outstanding quarterback) and finish as the Heisman Trophy runner-up in 1998.

Other prominent offensive players have come from the receiving ranks, with five former junior college players posting over 1,000 receiving yards since 1998, including James Terry's single-season school record of 1,232 yards in 2003.

Record-Setting Receivers

A former junior college player has led Kansas State in receiving in six of the last 10 seasons, with four topping the 1,000-yard plateau.

YEAR	PLAYER	REC	YDS
1997	Darnell McDonald	21	441

The Next Level

Kansas State's NFL legacy ranks among the nation's best

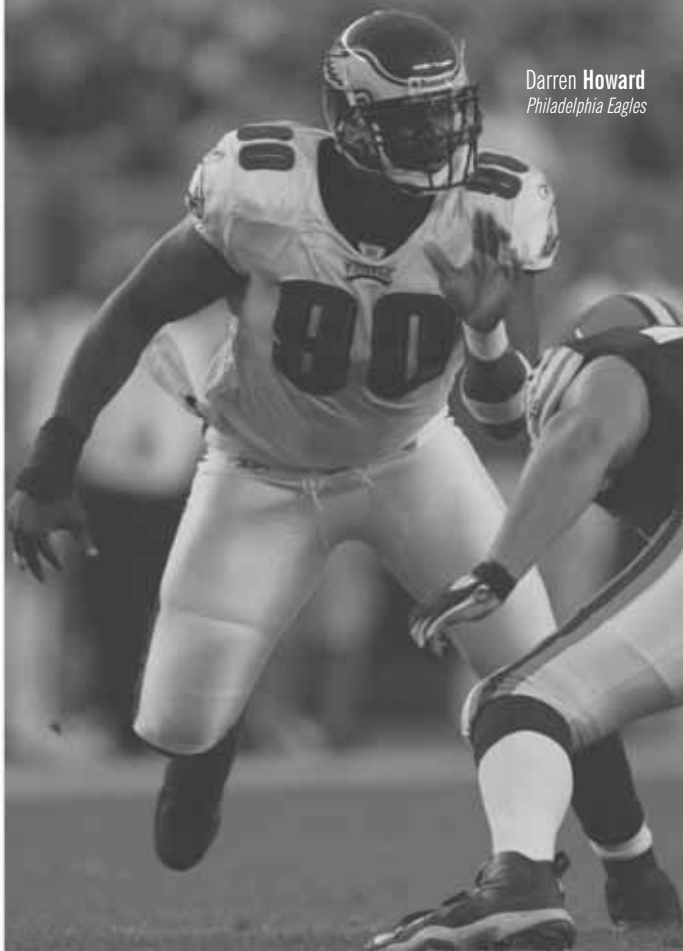

Kansas State Wildcats are a regular part of the annual NFL Draft. In fact, K-State has had at least one player drafted following each of the last 14 seasons.

Since the formation of the Big 12 in 1996, 37 different Wildcats have heard their names called on draft day, ranking Kansas State among the Big 12 leaders in number of players taken in the NFL Draft.

Under the direction of new head coach Ron Prince that number continues to climb. After his first season at Kansas State, Prince had three players taken in the 2007 NFL draft. Those selections pushed Prince's total number of draft picks produced well into double digits for the last four years alone and continued a trend that saw a total of 10 offensive players selected by NFL teams during the last three years of his tenure as the offensive coordinator at Virginia.

The Wildcats, who feature pro-style schemes on both sides of the ball under Prince, can also lay claim to NFL ties throughout their coaching staff, including offensive coordinator James Franklin, defensive backs coach Greg Burns and tight ends coach Frank Leonord, each of whom has served on NFL staffs during their careers.

In addition to the intensive instruction Kansas State players receive from the coaching staff and the top-caliber competition the Wildcats face week-in, week-out in the Big 12 Conference, K-State regularly hosts NFL scouts at its games and practices. Kansas State also hosts a spring NFL pro day, which each year brings a large number of NFL representatives to the K-State campus, including scouts, coaches and general managers.

In The Spotlight

K-State is one of the Midwest's most visible college football programs

Kansas State's winning tradition consistently keeps the Wildcats in the national spotlight. The Wildcats are among the most frequently-covered programs in the nation and easily the largest media draw in the state of Kansas. As a result K-State football has become a household name on the college football landscape, with the program's Powercat logo becoming a universally-recognized symbol for excellence in college football.

Each fall, Kansas State hosts writers and broadcasters from across the country as the nation's most recognized media outlets descend on The Little Apple.

K-State also sits at the crossroads of Kansas, nearly an equal distance from the big-city metropolis of Kansas City and the state's largest population center, Wichita. Kansas State is also just an hour drive from the state capitol of Topeka. As a result, the Wildcats regularly have a regional media following that rivals any program in the Big 12.

The Wildcats also maintain a consistent presence on television. Since 1990, Kansas State has made 95 television appearances. And since the formation of the Big 12 Conference that number has continued to grow. During the past 11 seasons, over 70 percent of K-State games have been televised either nationally or regionally, making the Wildcats one of the most visible programs in the entire country.

Kansas State players are regularly featured as part of the Wildcats' extensive television package.

Since 1990, the Wildcats have made 95 television appearances. Since the formation of the Big 12 that number has continued to grow. During the past 11 seasons, over 70 percent of K-State games have been televised either nationally or regionally.

Kansas State has been the featured broadcast location for ESPN's College Gameday several times.

The K-State Sports Information office issues thousands of credentials to national, regional and local media outlets each season, making the Wildcats one of the Midwest's top media draws.

We Are K-State

K-State combines world-class academics with championship athletics

- Kansas State continues to rank among the top national universities. According to the 2007 edition of "American's Best Colleges by U.S. News & World Report, K-State rated among the top 125 national universities. K-State was also ranked in The Princeton Review's 2007 top 150 and was named one of America's most interesting schools by Newsweek's 2007 edition "How to Get into College".

- Kansas State is the only public university since 1986 to rank among the top 10 of all U.S. schools for all five of these major scholarship programs: Rhodes, Marshall, Truman, Goldwater and Udall.

- K-State ranks first nationally among all 500 state universities in Truman and Goldwater and third in Udall scholarship competition since each foundation began awarding scholarships. K-State also ranks second in Rhodes and is tied for second in Marshall scholarships among public institutions since 1986.

- In addition to providing its students with a world-class instruction, Kansas State also rates as one of the best values in higher education. Kiplinger's Personal Finance ranked K-State in its top 100 on its list of America's best value colleges.

- In addition to being one of the nation's leading land grant research institutions, Kansas State is also on the technological cutting edge. The Princeton Review named it the 15th-most connected computing campus in the country. K-State was also recently tapped as the 47th-most "unwired" campus in the nation by Yahoo! for its extensive wireless internet access.

"The Kansas State University administration and the Wildcat football program work together as a team to provide the student body, fans and alumni with the highest quality educational and athletics experience possible.

"Just as K-State is the No. 1 public university in producing Rhodes, Marshall, Truman and Goldwater scholarship winners in the past decade, the K-State football team has established itself as one of the nation's pre-eminent programs year in and year out.

"All of us at K-State are proud of the excellence provided both in the classroom and on the playing field by the students and student-athletes at K-State."

Academic Edge

Kansas State produces champions on the field and in the classroom

Winning in the classroom is every bit as important as winning on the gridiron at Kansas State. Since 1989, the Wildcat football program has produced eight Academic All-Americans, eight Hitachi/College Football Association First Team National Scholar-Athletes, four National Football Foundation Hall of Fame Postgraduate Scholarship winners and 90 first team Academic All-Big 8/12 selections. Furthermore, over the last 18 years, Kansas State has had a 70 percent graduation rate among players who finish their eligibility at K-State.

As a university, K-State has gained a nationwide reputation for producing prestigious scholarship winners. Only Harvard, Yale, Stanford, Princeton and Duke have more. Among public institutions, K-State ranks No. 1 in the nation.

With such a reputation for excellence, it's no surprise that Kansas State's enrollment has surged to an all-time high of over 23,000 students. Every county in the state of Kansas, every state in the nation and over 90 countries from around the world are represented by students attending K-State.

Over 200 majors are offered in the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Engineering, Business Administration, Agriculture, Education, Architecture and Design, Human Ecology, Technology and Aviation and Veterinary Medicine.

Since the start of the 2000 season, a total of 65 Wildcats have earned either first- or second-team Academic All-Big 12 honors.

A total of 17 K-State football student-athletes earned their bachelor's degrees during the 2006-07 academic year, including current Wildcats Steven Cline and Logan Robinson.

Kansas State has produced at least one CoSIDA Academic All-District selection in six of the last seven seasons. Blake Seiler (above), a 2007 graduate in mechanical engineering and a three-time member of the Academic All-Big 12 team, earned All-District honors for the 2006 season.

Second Wind Program

Kansas State University is committed to helping all of its student-athletes complete their bachelor's degree programs.

Through the unique and groundbreaking Second Wind Program, former K-State student-athletes who have gone on to pursue professional football or other career opportunities prior to graduation are provided with a comprehensive plan for completing their K-State bachelor's degrees.

This flexible plan is custom tailored to the needs of each individual student-athlete and allows former players to return to the Kansas State campus to complete their degree tracts or in many instances remain in their home communities to earn their K-State degrees through local accredited institutions or by distance education.

Through the Second Wind Program, athletics academic counselors and academic advisors from each college help guide former student-athletes through the process of degree completion to develop a custom graduation timeline. The program also provides information on re-admission, financial aid and even local housing options for those that choose to return to Manhattan.

In The Community

Kansas State student-athletes reach out to the Wildcats of tomorrow

A lot more goes into being a student-athlete at Kansas State than just working out and going to class. K-State's Life Skills program focuses on encouraging student-athletes to become strong leaders and positive role models. K-State players are also encouraged to get involved in their community and annually participate in a number of service projects throughout the region.

The goal of these programs is not only to enhance the student-athlete experience, but also to expand character and provide leadership opportunities. By getting involved, K-State players gain a strong sense of self-worth, while experiencing the personal satisfaction that comes from volunteering.

Individually and collectively, the K-State football players serve a number of different programs, many of which focus on the Manhattan region's youth population. From the Read-2-Achieve program to Kats for Kids and Jr. Wildcats and Walkin' With A Wildcat, K-State football players are a consistent presence in the lives of the region's youth.

K-State players also take part in the annual Special Olympics Bowl-A-Thon, ban with other K-State student-athletes to fight hunger through Cats for Cans, and make a difference in the lives of the region's older population through Senior Cats, a program that is devoted to visiting the area's retirement homes and senior centers.

And for those student-athletes that take advantage of these service opportunities, they come to find that they get as much or more out of the experience as those they are serving.

Josh Freeman (below) is one of several Wildcat players who gives back through K-State's Read-2-Achieve program at local elementary schools.

Several members of the Kansas State football program took advantage of the opportunity to spread some Wildcat cheer with a visit to the DePelchin Children's Center during K-State's trip to Houston for the Texas Bowl.

Manhattan: The Little Apple

A true college town nestled in the stunning Flint Hills of Northeast Kansas

A student-athlete's life involves more than academics and athletics. Like most college students, student-athletes need to relax and have a good time, and Manhattan is the place to do just that.

Manhattan is a progressive community of 47,916 people located in a region which includes a total population of nearly 80,000.

A two-hour drive or half-hour commuter flight from Kansas City, Manhattan reflects the joys and opportunities of big-city living while retaining a friendly, open atmosphere.

Manhattan has many appealing places to shop, eat and socialize. An award-winning shopping mall is located in the heart of the downtown region, and Aggieville - a district of shops and restaurants just beyond the southern border of campus - continues to be particularly popular with students.

There are several beautiful parks and walkways throughout the city, while picturesque Tuttle Creek Reservoir sits just five miles from campus for seasonal swimming, water skiing and boating. Additionally, the 13,500-seat Bramlage Coliseum, which recently received a $2 million renovation, has become a favorite stop for major concerts throughout the year.

Around the holidays, Manhattan bustles with activity and last year approximately 15,000 revelers took to the streets of Aggieville to celebrate the Little Apple at the annual New Year's Eve ball drop that transforms the town into a mini Times Square celebration.

Crowds in excess of 20,000 descend on Manhattan each summer for the annual Country Stampede concert weekend (above).

THE POWER OF ONE

With plenty of experience returning in key areas and a number of high-impact newcomers ready to contribute right away, Kansas State has its sights set on San Antonio and the 2007 Big 12 Championship game.

Kansas State heads into its second season under head coach Ron Prince looking to ride the momentum of a 2006 campaign that turned plenty of heads both in the Big 12 region and nationally.

K-State's accomplishments in 2006 were significant. The Wildcats equaled their conference win total from the previous two seasons combined, finished in a second-place tie in the North division, knocked off the defending national champions and earned their first bowl berth since winning the Big 12 in 2003.

And though Prince is proud of what the Wildcats accomplished in his first season on the job, he's far from satisfied.

"We had a nice season, but we didn't come close to reaching our goals," said Prince, who won more games in his first season than any first-year Big 12 head coach since 1999 while becoming the only K-State coach in school history to guide the Wildcats to a bowl game in year one. "Our goals will always be to win the Big 12 North and compete for the conference championship. So (2007) is a year where I want to see some improvement."

Kansas State's prospects for making the type of gains Prince is prescribing for 2007 will be buoyed by a combination of experience at key positions and the arrival of several high-impact newcomers.

The Wildcats return 49 lettermen, including 30 players who earned at least one start last year. Still, few jobs were nailed down during the spring and Prince expects plenty of competition to take place during training camp.

"Many of our returning players had terrific springs," Prince said. "However, there are a number of players now in the program who were not with us for spring drills and we expect many of them to greatly impact the 2007 season."

That's because K-State's 2007 recruiting class figures to be chalked full of early contributors, including six top-100 junior college transfers and two others who in all likelihood should have been designated as such. Several incoming freshmen also have the credentials to see the field early and could also be substantial factors.

The key for Prince and his staff will be to quickly integrate this group of talented newcomers into K-State's systems during training camp. If Kansas State can be successful on that front and make the same type of strides it made a year ago, the 2007 season could be a very interesting ride as the Wildcats chase their goal of a trip to San Antonio for the Big 12 Championship.

◀ OPPOSITE

Senior wide receiver and team captain Jordy Nelson

OFFENSE

Kansas State will use the bulk of fall camp to work on a number of specifics in its offense, but there is one general area that will certainly be a primary focus – developing consistency.

K-State's offense worked through its share of ups-and-downs in 2006 and was often a feast-or-famine proposition. The Wildcats scored over 30 points five times, including a pair of 45-point outbursts. Still, there were other games during which K-State struggled to move the ball and on four occasions the Wildcats were held to 10 points or less.

Sophomore quarterback Josh Freeman is one of 16 players back in the fold who made at least one start for Kansas State in 2006. Seven of those players, including Freeman, were in the Wildcats' opening lineup for at least half of K-State's 13 games last season, so there is plenty of experience to go around.

Outside of Freeman and senior wide receiver Jordy Nelson, however, most of the spots figure to be up for grabs. As a result, competition for starting jobs is expected to rage well into training camp, especially along the offensive line, where K-State must replace two starters, and in the receiving corps.

Quarterback

What a difference a year makes. At this time last year Kansas State was in the midst of a five-man quarterback derby that had more questions than answers. Fast forward to 2007 and the Wildcats' quarterback spot is one of a select few positions that has a clear-cut starter in Freeman.

Regarded as one of the nation's top young signal callers, the 6-foot-6 Freeman made eight starts during 2006 and ended up obliterating K-State's single-season freshman passing mark with 1,780 yards. Over 90 percent of his production came in Big 12 play, ranking him sixth in the conference in passing (204.1 ypg) during league games.

Freeman was at his best late in the year when the Wildcats needed him most. Over the final four games of the regular season – a stretch during which he guided K-State to a 3-1 record – Freeman hit on 78-of-121 passes (64.5 percent) for 925 yards (231.2 per game) and six touchdowns. It was the most productive stretch for a Wildcat quarterback in nearly a decade and earned Freeman honorable mention freshman All-America recognition from The Sporting News.

Providing quality depth behind center will be redshirt freshman Carson Coffman. Coffman showed he has the moxie to run K-State's offense and was perhaps the unofficial MVP of the Spring game after tossing a pair of touchdowns. His strong showing during the spring and rapid growth has the K-State coaching staff feeling much better about its depth under center.

Adding to that depth is athletic true freshman Tysyn Hartman. He possesses a big arm and quick feet and could also push for a spot on the depth chart.

Running Back

Few would consider Kansas State to be deep at running back. However, the Wildcats just may be as talented as any team in the Big 12 at the top of the lineup.

K-State returns both of its top two running backs from 2006 in sophomore Leon Patton and senior James Johnson and each proved to be a significant weapon last year. The duo is expected to battle each other for playing time throughout the season after accounting for over two-thirds of the Wildcats' rushing yards and half of the team's rushing touchdowns in 2006.

Patton, an honorable mention All-Big 12 pick of the league's coaches and The Associated Press as well as a freshman All-Big 12 selection by The Sporting News, made three starts at the tailback position last season and rushed for a team-leading and K-State freshman record 609 yards on 108 attempts. He also led the Wildcats with six rushing touchdowns while pacing the squad with three 100-yard rushing games.

Johnson earned the starting nod at tailback in the final five games last season and finished second on the team in rushing with 403 yards and a pair of 100-yard outings. He has carried that late-season momentum through the spring by making significant gains in the weight room and could be poised for a big senior season.

Senior Terry Petrie and junior John McCordle both saw limited playing time in the Wildcats' backfield last season and are in place to once again provide solid depth.

A trio of talented freshmen in Dee Bell, Jeremy Reed and Justin Woods will also be looking to make a name for themselves during camp. Each of the three appear to possess the talent necessary to work their way into K-State's running back rotation.

Wide Receiver

Kansas State returns a bone fide star at wide receiver in Nelson and the Wildcats will look to rebuild around the Bilitnikoff Award candidate in 2007 with both existing and new fire power.

K-State's leading pass catcher in each of the last two seasons, Nelson has hauled in 84 receptions for 1,216 yards and nine touchdowns during his career. He has also displayed the ability to make both the clutch catch and stretch the field.

In addition to Nelson, the Wildcats return two other receivers with starting experience in senior Daniel Gonzalez and junior Cedric Wilson, both of whom will be out to expand their roles.

Gonzalez is a reliable pass-catcher who made four starts last season. He finished the year sixth on the team in receiving with 15 receptions for 199 yards and a touchdown. Wilson, who made his lone start at Kansas, snagged 11 balls for 120 yards and a score and was the Wildcats' seventh-leading receiver.

Senior Toney Coleman, whose potential has been curtailed throughout his career by a string of nagging injuries, had a solid spring and could be ready to make an impact along with speedy sophomore Tony Purvis.

But it is the arrival of several newcomers that has the potential to transform this position group into a genuine area of strength. As many as five are expected to challenge for immediate playing time – junior college transfers Ernie Pierce and Deon Murphy and freshmen Lamark Brown, Danny Hogan and Jeremy Mack – as the Wildcats add a healthy dose of size and speed to their offensive arsenal.

Tight End

The Wildcats' picture at tight end is nearly the polar opposite of that at wide receiver. K-State returns no less than four players with significant experience and the battle for playing time at this spot is expected to be as heated as any on the field.

Senior Rashaad Norwood possesses all-conference potential and is the Wildcats' top pass-catching threat at the position after being a mainstay in the starting lineup over the past two seasons. He is coming off a breakout campaign that saw him finish second on the team with 26 receptions – triple his 2005 total – for 358 yards.

Sophomore Jeron Mastrud, perhaps the best blocker of the group, made eight starts as a true freshman and also figures to see plenty of action. He hauled in 17 receptions for 235 yards last season, many at critical moments.

Also pushing for playing time are senior Michael Pooschke and junior Brett Alstatt. Pooschke, who may just have the best hands of the unit, has made big strides since arriving at K-State. He appeared in 10 games a year ago and finished the season with six receptions. Most of Alstatt's contributions thus far have come on special teams, but he continues to develop and could also get some looks this spring.

Offensive Line

Kansas State's offensive line has proved to be as enigmatic as any unit on the team over the last three seasons. But with plenty of experience back and some key additions poised to contribute right away there just may be some light at the end of the tunnel.

The Wildcats return eight players up front with starting experience from

Junior DE/OLB and team captain Ian Campbell

2006, including three who started at least eight games. In addition to the starting experience, K-State's coaching staff should have plenty of options in terms of sheer numbers and could have as many as 16 or 17 players drilling on the line by the time training camp opens.

Freshman All-Big 12 performer Nick Stringer headlines the group of returning starters and should have the inside edge at right tackle after making nine starts last year. Junior center Jordan Bedore appears to be similarly positioned. He has logged 17 starts in the middle over the past two seasons and is now one of the most experienced players on the entire offense.

The other three positions may not be decided until the season opener. Mid-year transfer Alesana Alesana, one of the top junior college tackles in the country, received an early jump on the competition this spring and could end up as the Wildcats' starter at left tackle before it's all said and done. Sophomore Derek Meyer and junior Gerard Spexarth will also get long looks at tackle, while former defensive end Trevor Viers appears to have found a home behind Bedore at center.

At the guard spots, junior Caleb Handy, who has started 16 games in his career, and senior Logan Robinson both ended the season as starters and should once again be in the mix. Versatile junior Brad Rooker, who filled in at center for three games in 2006 when Bedore was sidelined with an injury, will also get a shot to contribute at guard, as will sophomore Brock Unruh and redshirt freshman Kenneth Mayfield.

The final makeup of the unit, however, isn't likely to be decided until well into training camp, when junior college transfers Ben Liu and Eldridge Sims and freshmen Clyde Aufner and Colten Freeze join the competition.

DEFENSE

Like the offense, Kansas State's defense will also be looking to develop more consistency in 2007.

There were plenty of positives during the 2006 season as the Wildcats yielded a respectable 23.8 points per game and ranked among the national leaders in both sacks and tackles for losses. K-State was also the Big 12's toughest defense to score against in the red zone.

But struggles against the run and a penchant for giving up the big play kept the unit from maximizing its potential.

A total of 15 players who started at least one game last season return for 2007, including six who were in K-State's lineup for seven or more contests, giving the Wildcats plenty of depth and experience across the board.

The losses, however, are biggies. Kansas State will need to find replacements for three of its top four tacklers from last season with the graduation of linebackers Brandon Archer and Zach Diles and safety Kyle Williams.

K-State's defense will also be under the direction of a new defensive coordinator in 2007. Tim Tibesar takes the reins after an unbelievably successful season as the Wildcats' special teams coach. He coordinated some of the top defenses in all of Division II during his tenure at North Dakota and figures to insert both schematic and philosophical changes to the unit.

Defensive Line

With Tibesar now at the controls of the Kansas State defense, look for the Wildcats to begin employing more multi-dimensional schemes up front. The Wildcats incorporated a 3-4 look up front during the spring to go with their traditional 4-3 base. As a result, K-State's defensive linemen will have the opportunity to be more versatile than they have been in the past, which should be good news for a group that returns plenty of experience.

Much of that experience is at end/outside linebacker, where the Wildcats welcome back all four players from last year's depth chart.

Junior Ian Campbell, a candidate for Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year after tying the school record for sacks last season with 11.5 and leading the Big 12 in tackles for losses with 17.5, is the headliner among the group and will be called upon to line up at both defensive end and outside linebacker in 2007 depending on the front being employed.

Senior Rob Jackson, who came on strong as the 2006 season progressed to finish the year with 8.5 tackles for losses, is also back at end along with senior Moses Manu, who was a fixture on K-State's 2-deep last season.

Sophomore Eric Childs, like Campbell, is expected to be in the mix at both end and outside linebacker depending on the front. He appeared in all 13 games last season with one start and collected 17 tackles, including two sacks.

Senior Steven Cline and juniors Alphonso Moran and Brandon Balkcom all played big roles in K-State's defensive tackle rotation last season and return to patrol the middle for the Wildcats.

Cline made seven starts last year, while Moran has appeared in the Wildcats' opening lineup 12 times over the past two seasons. Balkcom came on strong during the later stages of 2006 and should also get some looks at defensive end. Redshirt freshmen Gabe Crews and Zach Kendall both possess all the physical tools to begin making a difference.

More help will arrive when training camp opens as freshmen Xzavier Stewart (DT) and Raphael Guidry (DE) and junior college transfer Michael Abana (DE) join the competition.

Linebacker

The search to find replacements for Archer and Diles began in earnest during the spring and two very capable candidates emerged at inside linebacker in junior Reggie Walker and senior Justin Roland. Both had outstanding springs and as a result enter fall camp as the leaders to lock down starting jobs.

Walker possesses by far the most experience. He cracked K-State's lineup as a true freshman in 2005 then went on to collect 36 tackles last season from his strongside linebacker spot while appearing in all 13 games, including nine as a starter.

Roland played an increasing role for the Wildcats in 2006 and carried that momentum into the spring, appearing ready to move from part-time player to prime-time performer. He also earned the respect of his teammates and was voted as one of K-State's four team captains for 2007.

Pushing Walker and Roland for playing time will be senior Marcus Perry and sophomore John Houlik. Perry earned a pair of starts last season and has been a dynamo on special teams throughout his career, while Houlik showed steady progress as a true freshman and also produced a solid spring.

Campbell and Childs will enter training camp as the odds-on starters on the outside in K-State's 3-4 alignment, however junior Antwon Moore and former junior college All-American Chris Patterson should also be in the mix for plenty of playing time. Moore made a successful transition from safety to outside linebacker last season and collected 26 tackles, with 4.5 coming behind the line of scrimmage. Patterson is one of the nation's most highly-recruited linebackers and figures to arrive on campus ready to play.

Sophomore Ross Diehl has had an outstanding off-season and after contributing primarily on special teams last year may also be ready to get in the mix on the outside, while speedy true freshman Kevin Rohleder could get some looks in the middle.

Defensive Back

Kansas State's defensive backfield possesses a near embarrassment of riches and may be the strongest position group on the team. The Wildcats return no less than five players with significant starting experience and have added a mid-year transfer to the mix who ranked among to top five junior college players in the nation by one service.

The ring leader is senior safety Marcus Watts. A big-time play-maker who is as tough as they come, Watts led the Wildcats in interceptions with three last season and earned a spot on the coaches' All-Big 12 second team despite having his playing time limited to just nine games and five starts due to injuries.

In addition to Watts, junior Andrew Erker, who started seven games last season and finished seventh on the team with 36 tackles, and sophomore Courtney Herndon, who opened at free safety in K-State's win over Iowa State, are both back along with sophomores Chris Carney and Kevin Hollis.

New to the mix at safety is junior college All-American Gary Chandler. He has quickly picked up K-State's defense and after an outstanding spring appears poised to contribute right away in the secondary.

Sophomore Joshua Moore and seniors Bryan Baldwin, Justin McKinney and Byron Garvin give the Wildcats perhaps the most experienced group of corners in the Big 12. Each has started numerous games during his careers and all four are expected to see plenty of time in 2007.

Pushing the quartet for playing time will be junior Ray Cheatham, who just may have had the best spring of the group. Sophomore Otis Johnson could also get into the mix but likely will play a support role this season.

Special Teams

Kansas State's special teams units were among the most productive in the country last season and the Wildcats will be out to be even more effective in the third phase of the game in 2007.

The Wildcats appear to be all set in the kickoff return game with three of the nation's best in Patton, McKinney and James Johnson. All three returned kicks for touchdowns last season as the Wildcats led the nation in kickoff-return average and set a new school record for kickoffs returns for touchdowns in a season with three.

K-State also has several options on punt returns, including the newcomer Murphy who was one of the Jayhawk Conference's best during his time at Coffeyville College.

The Wildcats appear to be in great shape at punter with three-year starter Tim Reyer back in the fold for 2007.

However, answers will need to be found at both place-kicker and long-snapper.

Several place-kicking candidates are already on campus and appear ready to step in for the record-setting Jeff Snodgrass.

Senior Tim Schwerdt, junior Jared Parker and Ohio-transfer Brooks Rossman rank among the leading spring candidates, though neither were able to gain any separation during the spring.

Schwerdt handled some placements down the stretch of the 2005 season and junior Jared Parker emerged as the Wildcats' primary kickoff man last season. However, neither was able to unseat Snodgrass. And with the addition of highly-touted freshman Josh Cherry the race appears to be wide open.

At long-snapper, Poochke and freshman Sean Kolich will take their best shots at replacing the graduated Jeff Mortimer. The arrival of the nation's top-rated long-snapper in Corey Adams, however, makes this race one worth keeping an eye on.

Schedule

For the first time since 1984, Kansas State will play six road games, and all six figure to be very challenging.

Four of the six will be against teams that played in bowls during the 2006 season, including Auburn, Texas, Oklahoma State and Nebraska.

K-State will make its 2007 debut in front of a national television audience on ESPN at Auburn on Sept. 1.

The Wildcats have also been guaranteed a national television spot on ESPN for their regular-season finale at Fresno State on Nov. 24.

Kansas State's home dates include non-conference tilts with San Jose State and Missouri State and Big 12 games vs. Kansas, Colorado, Baylor and Missouri. The Wildcats' lone open date of the season falls on Sept. 22.

Kansas State, 2006-present - head coach

In just one season on the job, Kansas State's Ron Prince's national perception has gone from 'who's he' to being mentioned among the 'who's who' in college football.

Named Kansas State's 33rd head football coach on Dec. 5, 2005, Prince accomplished so much more during his first 12 months on the job than the experts had envisioned for the 2006 Wildcats that many considered the 37-year-old to be one of the leading candidates for Big 12 coach of the year.

Just the second Wildcat head coach in school history to win seven games during his inaugural season and the first to take his team to a postseason bowl, Prince became only the sixth Big 12 head coach (out of 18 to be hired since the league's initial season in 1996) in conference history to guide his program to a bowl berth in a debut campaign.

Making the accomplishment even more noteworthy is the fact that just four of the six Big 12 head coaches to earn bowl bids in year one took over programs coming off losing seasons, including Texas' Mack Brown in 1998, Colorado's Gary Barnett in 1999, Oklahoma's Bob Stoops in 1999 and now Prince.

"The growth of this team under coach Prince has been one of the best stories in college football," said Fox Sports Net national play-by-play announcer Joel Meyers. "Especially when you consider the changes they made at key positions and the way his players responded."

ESPN.com college football writer Mark Schlabach was equally as effusive in his assessment of Prince's maiden season, proclaiming it "one of the greatest coaching jobs in the country."

Prince inherited a team that had won just nine games over the previous two seasons, but quickly had the Wildcats believing they could be so much more. Three games into the season he had K-State off to a perfect 3-0 start. But losses in four of the next five games, including three against ranked opponents, gave many reason to believe that K-State's preseason projection of a distant sixth place finish in the Big 12's North Division hadn't been that far off.

Prince, however, refused to buckle and the Wildcats continued to believe in their new leader. Kansas State snapped a two-game losing streak against Iowa State then went to Colorado and came away with its first win at Folsom Field since 2000.

The back-to-back conference victories were K-State's first since 2003 and gave the program a huge lift heading into its Nov. 4 contest with defending national champion Texas. Still, few gave the Wildcats a chance to unseat the No. 4-ranked Longhorns. After all, K-State hadn't knocked off a higher-ranked opponent at home since 2002.

But everything changed on that cold evening in November at Bill Snyder Family Stadium, as Prince ignited a fire in the Wildcats that raged all night long. Quarterback Josh Freeman, who would go on to set the school freshman passing record with 1,780 yards, threw for 262 yards and three touchdowns while a hard-hitting Wildcat defense collected five sacks and forced three turnovers as Kansas State sent shockwaves throughout the college football world with a 45-42 win over the Longhorns. ►

"What Ron Prince has accomplished in a short period of time at Kansas State is miraculous. Looking at what he's done with the program you can expect Kansas State to experience even greater things in the future."

Mark May
ESPN College Football Analyst

"He reads a book a week, and it shows. He can splice football philosophy with literature and historical anecdotes. What a masterful job this guy will do in recruits' living rooms. He already has. The Wildcats went to the Texas Bowl in his first year."

John Henderson
Denver Post

"Ron Prince has Kansas State headed in the right direction."

Athlon Sports Annals 2007 Preview

"Prince has K-State climbing again."

Lindy's 2007 Big 12 Preview

"One of the greatest coaching jobs in the country (during 2006)..."

Mark Schlack
ESPN.com college football writer

"Ron Prince is following a coach that had the greatest turnaround in college football history in Bill Snyder. He is doing everything the right way, and the fact that they have so many young players is exciting. The win against Texas was as good a win as I have ever seen and the coaching job that he and his staff did in that game was phenomenal."

Lee Corso
ESPN College GameDay Host

"Coach Prince has not only produced a winner, but he has done so in a manner that has impressed everyone with his professionalism. Watching him go about his business on and off the field makes it easy to understand why his players believe in him."

Gary Thorne
ABC Sports Play-by-Play Announcer

"The growth of this team under Coach Prince has been one of the best stories in college football (in 2006), especially when you consider the changes they made at key positions and the way his players responded."

Joel Meyers
Fox Sports Net Play-by-Play Announcer

"Ron is a very organized and intelligent person and football coach. His players are buying into everything he is doing at Kansas State and that shows with the number of young players they have contributing at key positions. Those guys have bought into the system and the future looks bright for Kansas State football."

Dave Lapham
Fox Sports Net Analyst

"Kansas State made one heck of a hire when they got Ron Prince. He has a plan at K-State, he can recruit and he knows how to get his guys to buy into his system."

Andre Ware
ABC Sports Analyst and Heisman Trophy Winner

"Coach Prince has not only produced a winner, but he has done so in a manner that has impressed everyone," said ABC Sports play-by-play announcer Gary Thorne, who broadcast K-State's win over Texas. "Watching him go about his business on and off the field makes it easy to understand why his players believe in him."

And it was that "buy-in" by the Kansas State players that was precisely the key to the Wildcats' success during Prince's debut campaign.

A year after having zero first team All-Big 12 selections, Prince produced three with defensive end Ian Campbell being a tapped by both The Associated Press and the league's coaches, wide receiver / return specialist Yamon Figurs earning the nod from the coaches and linebacker Brandon Archer drawing accolades from the AP.

Running Back Leon Patton also set the K-State freshman rushing record with 609 yards and the Wildcats collectively returned more kickoffs for touchdowns than any previous team in school history.

By leading the Wildcats to a second-place tie in the Big 12 North Division and a berth in the 2006 Texas Bowl during his first year at the helm, Ron Prince has become one of the hottest young coaches in America.

The 2007 NFL Draft brought even more recognition for Prince and the Kansas State program. Three Wildcats – Figurs (Baltimore Ravens), Thomas Clayton (San Francisco 49ers), Zach Diles (Houston Texans) – were selected during the two-day draft, giving K-State its most selections since having four in 2003.

Throughout all the successes, there remained a consistent game plan and plenty of blood and sweat exerted behind the scenes. For Prince, however, it was all a labor of love.

When he stepped to the podium after being introduced as the head football coach, it didn't take long for the native Kansan to reveal a long-held affinity for both the University and its football program.

"I've been preparing for this opportunity my whole life," were among the very first words uttered by Prince as the Wildcats' new head coach. You see, for Prince, serving as K-State's head football coach is truly a dream come true.

Raised in Junction City, Kan., which is located just 20 miles west of Manhattan, Prince literally grew up in the shadow of Kansas State University. And as far back as he can remember, at least to the age of three or four according to his best recollection, he had dreamt of one day leading the Wildcats.

"I was one of those kids you all saw running around KSU Stadium and Ahearn Field House," Prince recalls. "This University has always been a part of me."

Now, heading into his second season at the helm, the ultra high-energy Prince continues to pursue excellence with a seemingly limitless level of passion and zeal.

Not nearly satisfied with Kansas State's achievements during his inaugural campaign, Prince conducted a thorough review of his first season shortly after returning from the Texas Bowl. The assessment not only included a review of every snap taken by the Wildcats in 2006, but also broke down each practice in an effort to isolate areas of potential improvement.

All the while, Prince continued his efforts toward rebuilding Kansas State's talent level and this February unveiled promise-laden class of newcomers that appears to be chalked full of early contributors.

He made time to redesign K-State's off-season conditioning and team-building program, and even had the Wildcats train with the US Army at nearby Fort Riley.

"This is a year that I determined to see improvement," Prince said. "We are committed to competing for championships and I will continue to evaluate every aspect of this organization as we strive to meet that goal."

Though the goal of a championship was not reached in year one, there was still plenty to be proud of. And K-State's accomplishments of 2006 received plenty of notice throughout the college football world.

"Ron Prince followed a coach that had the greatest turnaround in college football history in Bill Snyder," said ESPN analyst Lee Corso. "He is doing everything the right way. The win against Texas was as good a win as I have ever seen and the coaching job that he and his staff did in that game was phenomenal."

A voracious reader and a student of history as well as American business, Prince culled much of his leadership game plan during the first 13 years of his coaching career that saw him rise from a volunteer coaching position in the Kansas community college ranks to a principal role within one of the nation's premiere BCS conferences.

Prince came to Kansas State from the University of Virginia, where he helped usher in a new era of success during a three-year run as the Cavaliers' offensive coordinator and a total of five years as the offensive line coach on Al Groh's staff.

In his time at Virginia, Prince developed a reputation as one of the nation's top young coaching talents as he helped guide Virginia to four straight bowl berths from 2002-05. Along the way, his Cavalier offense set a dozen team and individual school records and had 10 offensive players drafted by NFL teams.

Currently the fourth-youngest NCAA Division I-A head coach in the country and one of just six African-American head coaches in all of Division I-A, Prince joined Groh's staff as the Cavaliers' offensive line coach in January of 2001 and quickly went about molding the unit into one of the ACC's best.

In 2002, Virginia's young offensive line provided solid protection for record-setting quarterback Matt Schaub, who was named ACC Player of the Year after throwing for a school-record 2,976 yards and 28 touchdowns. Tackle Mike Mullins – the lone senior starter on the offensive line – and Elton Brown each earned honorable mention All-ACC recognition in 2002. In addition, left tackle D'Brickashaw Ferguson received Freshman All-America distinction and guard Brian Barthelmes earned Freshman All-ACC honors.

By the 2003 season, his third at Virginia and his first as the program's offensive coordinator, the Cavaliers' front wall became a dominating force, allowing the ACC's fewest sacks as it protected Schaub, who passed for 2,952 yards that season – the second most in school history.

Heading into 2004, Virginia's line began to be considered not only among the best in the rugged ACC, but nationally as well. In fact, The Sporting News tapped Prince's unit the No. 3 line in all of college football that season.

And with the offensive line leading the way,

Prince's 2004 Virginia offense rolled up over 423 yards of total offense per game, including over 240 on the ground, once again led the ACC in fewest sacks allowed and finished the year atop the conference charts in both total offense and rushing offense.

Virginia's team accomplishments on the field during Prince's stint with the Cavaliers were bolstered by the individual accolades received by UVa's student-athletes. During his five-year tenure at Virginia, 37 Cavaliers earned All-ACC distinction, including 17 on the offensive side of the ball. Of those 17 offensive selections, 11 occurred with Prince at the controls of the Cavs' offense.

In 2003, Prince's offensive unit placed four players on the All-ACC squad, including future All-

Americans Heath Miller (TE) and Brown (G), who received the prestigious Jacobs Blocking Trophy, which is annually awarded to the ACC's top offensive lineman.

In 2004, Virginia's offense placed five student-athletes on the All-ACC team, the most of any school in the league, including Brown, who was awarded the Jacobs Blocking Trophy for the second straight year, and Miller, who went on to ►

Kansas State's 45 points in its win over No. 4 Texas - including a pair of long touchdown receptions by wide receiver and future Baltimore Ravens draft pick Yamon Figurs (above) - were the most points given up by the Longhorns to an opponent other than Oklahoma in eight years.

The spring of 2005 brought more recognition for Prince's charges at Virginia as a school-record seven Cavaliers were selected in the NFL draft, including four offensive players. Miller was a first-round draft pick by the Pittsburgh Steelers, while Brown was selected in the fourth round by Arizona. Tailback Alvin Pearman was also picked up in the fourth round by Jacksonville and wide receiver Patrick Estes was taken in the seventh by San Francisco.

Prince capped his run at Virginia by producing three more All-ACC selections. Ferguson, who went on to become the No. 4 overall selection in the 2006 NFL Draft, led the way by earning first-team accolades for the second straight season and becoming the first Cavalier tackle named to the first team in back-to-back seasons since the 1990 and 1991 campaigns.

A 1988 graduate of Junction City High School, Prince played two seasons at Dodge City (Kan.) Community College, receiving All-Conference honors as an offensive tackle on the field and Academic All-America and National Dean's List accolades for his performance in the classroom.

In 1990, Prince transferred to Appalachian State in Boone, N.C. He played two seasons for the Mountaineers and helped ASU to a Southern Conference championship and a berth in the NCAA I-AA playoffs as a senior in 1991 before earning a bachelor's degree in history from the institution in 1992.

Prince received his start in coaching shortly after graduation, returning to the state of Kansas in 1992 to serve as a volunteer assistant coach working with offensive tackles and tight ends at Dodge City.

After just one season, Prince received his first offer to coach at a four-year institution and began his full-time coaching career as an offensive line, tight ends and strength and conditioning coach at Alabama A&M in 1993. During his lone season there, he helped produce three All-

Conference players, including guard Joe Patton, who went on to become a third-round draft pick of the Washington Redskins.

A stop at South Carolina State followed in 1994. While at SCSU, Prince was instrumental in mentoring an offensive line that helped the Bulldogs lead the conference and rank among the national leaders (Division I-AA) in total offense, rushing offense and scoring offense that season. South Carolina State also captured the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference championship that season and went on to defeat Grambling, 31-27, in the postseason Heritage Bowl.

During his tenure at SCSU, Prince coached four All-Conference offensive linemen, including standout tackle Raleigh Roundtree, a 1995 fifth-round draft pick of the San Diego Chargers.

From 1995 to 1997 Prince served as the offensive line coach at James Madison and helped guide the Dukes to an NCAA I-AA playoff berth and two consecutive top-25 rankings before taking the reins of the offensive line at Cornell from 1998-2000.

The following season Prince was tapped to coach the offensive line, and later the entire offense, on Groh's staff at Virginia.

In addition to his duties on the collegiate level, Prince has also served NFL Minority Fellowships with the Jacksonville Jaguars (1996), Washington Redskins (1997), Atlanta Falcons (1999) and New York Giants (2000).

Born in Omaha, Neb., but raised in Junction City by parents Ernest and Georgeanne Prince, he is married to the former Zoé Ahern of Valhalla, N.Y. The couple has four children, Deuce, James, Grace and John.

BOWL EXPERIENCE

Coach at Kansas State

2006 Texas Bowl

Veteran head coach Tim McCarty, architect of perhaps the second-greatest college football turnaround in the state of Kansas during his tenure at Tabor College, is in his second season as Kansas State's assistant head coach and offensive line coach.

The native Kansan was named to his post on Dec. 8, 2005, and was among Head Coach Ron Prince's first hires at Kansas State.

Considered to be a master motivator and an outstanding recruiter, McCarty turned a struggling offensive line into one that ended up helping Leon Patton set the K-State freshman rushing record and Josh Freeman set the K-State freshman passing record during the 2006 season.

McCarty also mentored a pair of players to postseason honors in year one. Senior Greg Wafford earned second team All-Big 12 honors from the Kansas City Star and honorable mention accolades from both the league's coaches and The Associated Press, while freshman Nick Stringer was a freshman All-Big 12 and honorable mention freshman All-American pick by The Sporting News.

McCarty came to Kansas State after a two-year stint as the head coach at East Central University in Ada, Okla.

While at East Central, McCarty guided the Tigers to a 9-11 record, including a surprising 6-4 finish in his first season at the helm in 2004 on the heels of being picked last in the Lone Star Conference's North Division that year.

McCarty coached one All-American at ECU during the 2004 campaign in defensive end Justin Brown, who was the No. 1 free agent signee of the NFL's Indianapolis Colts. Brown survived preseason camp until the final cut.

Prior to taking the reins at East Central, McCarty built Tabor College (Kan.), into an NAIA power from the ground up.

In his first season at Tabor in 1999, the Bluejays had just 14 players in the program and struggled through a 0-10 campaign. But improvements followed rapidly as McCarty guided Tabor to a 3-7 record in 2000, a 5-5 mark in 2001, a 6-4 ledger in 2002 and ultimately a 9-2 record in 2003 that saw the Bluejays achieve a No. 15 national ranking and the program's first berth in the NAIA playoffs.

Following his successful 2003 campaign, McCarty was selected as the KCAC Coach of the Year as well as NAIA.net's National Coach of the Year.

On an individual level, McCarty produced nine All-Americans, nine Academic All-Americans and over 70 conference-recognized players during his five-year tenure at Tabor.

McCarty received his coaching start as a student assistant at Fort Hays State in 1984. He moved on to Russell High School in 1995 and Hays High School in 1986 before serving a one-year graduate assistantship at Kansas in 1987.

In 1988, McCarty served as the tight ends coach at Middle Tennessee State before returning to the state of Kansas to coach at Shawnee Mission North High School in 1989. The following season McCarty took over as the offensive coordinator at Dodge City Community College. During his four seasons with the Conquistadors from 1990-93, McCarty coached three All-Americans, 10 all-conference picks and developed two conference offensive linemen of the year.

McCarty moved on to Southwest Baptist for the 1994 season and began a four-year stint as the Bearcats' offensive coordinator and offensive line coach. During his tenure at SBU, McCarty developed seven conference recognized linemen, including a preseason All-American. He also mentored Phil Kinney, who went on to sign a free-agent contract with the Washington Redskins.

McCarty then spent the 1998 season at Greenville (Ill.) College and constructed an offensive line that proved to be one of the best in school history. Behind three all-conference selections, McCarty's unit helped the program set three NCAA offensive records, four conference marks and 14 school records.

McCarty, who prepped at Concordia High School, is a 1985 graduate of Fort Hays State. He was a standout defensive lineman for the Tigers and served as a team captain for FHSU's 1983 squad that went 8-3. He went on to add a master's of education in administration from Middle Tennessee State to his academic resume in 1994.

McCarty is married to the former Jillian Bailey of Brentwood, Tenn. The couple has two daughters, Bailey, 14, and Kendall, 12.

James Franklin

Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks

One of the nation's top young offensive minds, James Franklin is in his second year at Kansas State as the Wildcats' offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

Named to the position on Jan. 3, 2006, Franklin, 35, joined Head Coach Ron Prince's staff at Kansas State after serving the 2005 season as the wide receivers coach of the National Football League's Green Bay Packers.

In his first year at the controls of K-State's offense, Franklin helped lead the Wildcats to a 7-6 record, a tie for second place in the Big 12's North Division and a berth in the Texas Bowl that ended a two-year postseason drought for the Wildcats. Along the way, K-State scored over 30 points on five occasions, including a pair of 45-point outbursts, and averaged over 380 yards per game of total offense during its final three outings of the regular season.

A total of seven players from Franklin's offensive unit earned some measure of postseason accolades, including true freshman quarterback Josh Freeman, who was tapped as an honorable mention freshman All-American by The Sporting News after obliterating the K-State freshman passing record with 1,780 yards.

One of two former NFL assistants on the K-State staff, along with defensive backs coach Greg Burns, Franklin's resume includes more than 12 years of coaching experience, including a pair of NFL minority coaching internships with the Miami Dolphins (1998) and Philadelphia Eagles (1999).

Prior to being hired at Green Bay, Franklin spent five seasons (2000-04) as the wide receivers coach at the University of Maryland. And it was his work during his tenure with the Terrapins that sent his stock soaring.

After joining Ralph Fridgen's staff in 2000, Franklin quickly established himself as one of the nation's top recruiters. In 2003 he was promoted to recruiting coordinator and delivered back-to-back recruiting classes that were ranked among the nation's top 25 by several prominent recruiting publications before departing for the NFL.

Maryland's receiving corps also flourished under Franklin's guidance. In 2001, Franklin mentored All-ACC wide receiver Guilian Gary, who led a balanced group of Terrapin receivers with 49 receptions for 727 yards and six touchdowns. Gary went on to finish his Maryland career ranked among the school's top 10 receivers in receptions, receiving yardage and receiving touchdowns.

In both 2002 and 2003, Franklin had four different wideouts record at least 300 receiving yards despite returning just one starter each season.

The Terrapins also soared as a program during his stay in College Park. Maryland went a combined 41-19 (.683) in his five years at the ACC school, with three double-digit win seasons and three bowl appearances, including a pair of January bowls.

Prior to his stint at Maryland, Franklin rose quickly through the coaching ranks, making stops at five different schools in five years. He received his start in coaching at Kutztown University in 1995 as the program's receivers coach before returning to his alma mater as a graduate assistant and secondary coach at East Stroudsburg in 1996.

In 1997, Franklin worked alongside Prince at James Madison, serving as the program's receivers coach. The following season, he received his first coaching assignment at a BCS conference school as the graduate assistant in charge of tight ends at Washington State for the 1998 season.

Franklin then moved on to Idaho State for the 1999 season and mentored the Bengals' receivers. While at Idaho State, the Bengals' receiver corps totaled 29 touchdowns, 258 receptions and more than 3,300 receiving yards, contributing to one of the best offensive seasons in school history as ISU finished the year ranked ninth nationally in total offense.

A four-year letterman as a quarterback at East Stroudsburg from 1991-94, Franklin was a two-time Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference selection. As a senior in 1994, he garnered team MVP honors and was a Harlon Hill nominee for Division II Player of the Year after setting seven school records, including single-season marks for total offense (3,128), passing yards (2,586) and TD passes (19). He also earned Sports Illustrated national Player of the Week honors in October of that season.

Franklin earned a bachelor of science degree in psychology from East Stroudsburg in 1995 and his master's in educational leadership from Washington State in 1999. He and his wife, Funmilayo, celebrated the birth of their first child, Ava, in April of 2007.

BOWL EXPERIENCE

Coach at Kansas State
2006 Texas Bowl

An exciting young coach who was among Ron Prince's first hires at Kansas State, Tim Tibesar was promoted to defensive coordinator on Jan. 10, 2007, and is in his second season with the Wildcats.

Regarded as one of the top defensive coordinators in all of Division II prior to his arrival at Kansas State, Tibesar originally joined the Wildcats as the program's special teams coordinator on Dec. 22, 2005. Over the next 12 months, Tibesar lifted K-State's special teams to unprecedented heights as he built the units into some of the country's best during the 2006 season.

Under Tibesar, Kansas State scored more special teams touchdowns – seven – than any team in the nation. The Wildcats led the country with a school-record three touchdowns on kickoff returns, ranked second nationally with three TDs on punt returns and returned a fumbled kickoff return for yet another score.

In the NCAA rankings, K-State ranked No. 1 in kickoff returns and No. 16 in punt returns, while ranking No. 18 in kickoff-return defense. The Wildcats also blocked three punts, with all three resulting in touchdowns.

Individually, senior Yamon Figurs earned first team All-Big 12 honors as a return specialist after ranking fifth nationally in average punt return yardage. Junior punter Tim Reyer also flourished under Tibesar's tutelage and finished the season with a 42.1 yard-per-punt average to rank 30th in the country in punting.

K-State also had four different players average at least 24 yards per kickoff return – which would have ranked in the top 35 nationally with enough returns to qualify – including James Johnson (52.5), Leon Patton (32.1) and Justin McKinney (24.7), who each returned a kickoff for a touchdown.

Tibesar, 35, coached alongside Ron Prince at Cornell during the 2000 season and came to K-State from the University of North Dakota, where he constructed one of the stingiest defenses in all of Division II as the Fighting Sioux's defensive coordinator.

A 1995 summa cum laude graduate of North Dakota, Tibesar returned to his alma mater in 2001 as the program's inside linebackers coach. During his three years as inside linebackers coach, Tibesar coached two North Central Conference Most Valuable Linebackers – Digger Anderson in 2005 and Travis O'Neel in 2001.

In 2003 he was promoted to defensive coordinator and proceeded to assemble a unit that ranked first in the North Central Conference in total defense, scoring defense, rushing defense, pass efficiency defense and quarterback sacks over the next two seasons.

North Dakota was also consistently ranked among the national leaders defensively during Tibesar's tenure and in 2004 led all of Division II in scoring defense after yielding just 10.8 points per game.

Tibesar joined the staff at North Dakota after spending one season as tight ends coach at Cornell in 2000. Prior to that, he served as a graduate assistant and assistant offensive line coach at the University of California in 1999, a linebacker coach at Grossmont (Calif.) College in 1998 and a student assistant at San Diego State from 1997-98.

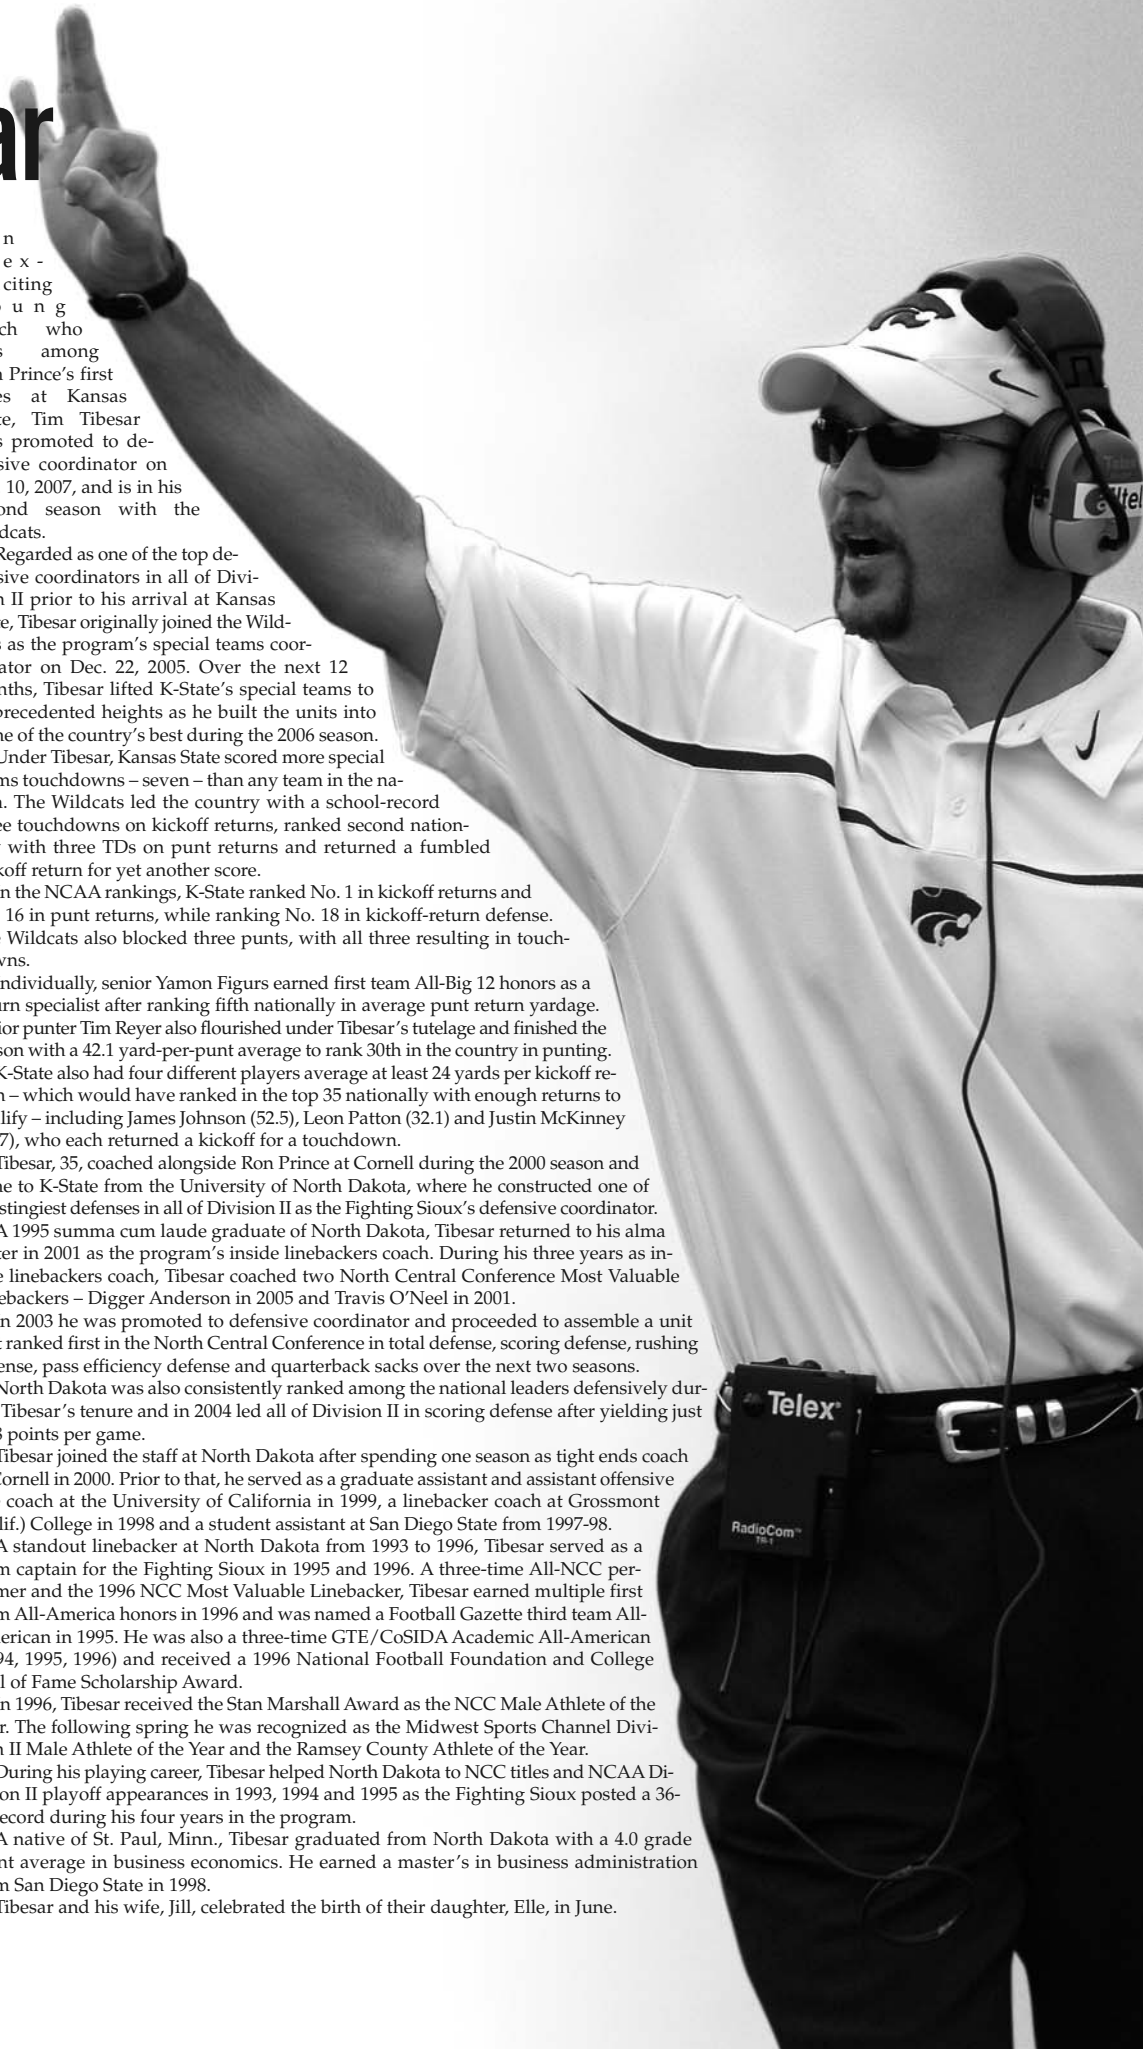

A standout linebacker at North Dakota from 1993 to 1996, Tibesar served as a team captain for the Fighting Sioux in 1995 and 1996. A three-time All-NCC performer and the 1996 NCC Most Valuable Linebacker, Tibesar earned multiple first team All-America honors in 1996 and was named a Football Gazette third team All-American in 1995. He was also a three-time GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-American (1994, 1995, 1996) and received a 1996 National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Scholarship Award.

In 1996, Tibesar received the Stan Marshall Award as the NCC Male Athlete of the Year. The following spring he was recognized as the Midwest Sports Channel Division II Male Athlete of the Year and the Ramsey County Athlete of the Year.

During his playing career, Tibesar helped North Dakota to NCC titles and NCAA Division II playoff appearances in 1993, 1994 and 1995 as the Fighting Sioux posted a 36-11 record during his four years in the program.

A native of St. Paul, Minn., Tibesar graduated from North Dakota with a 4.0 grade point average in business economics. He earned a master's in business administration from San Diego State in 1998.

Tibesar and his wife, Jill, celebrated the birth of their daughter, Elle, in June.

Dave Brock

Wide Receivers

An innovative offensive coach who possesses plenty of experience, Dave Brock was named wide receivers coach at Kansas State on Feb. 8, 2007, and is in his first season with the Wildcats.

A native of Moorestown, N.J., Brock brings 17 years of coaching experience with him to Kansas State, including stints at North Carolina, Temple, Hofstra, Salisbury State and Western Connecticut State.

Most recently, Brock completed his second season at North Carolina, where he served as the Tar Heels' assistant head coach/recruiting coordinator and wide receivers coach. While at UNC, he tutored two of the top wide receivers in Carolina history in Jarwarski Pollock and Jesse Holley. In 2005, Pollock became the all-time leading receiver at Carolina with 177 career catches, while Holley led the team with 47 receptions for 670 yards en route to honorable mention All-ACC honors.

In 2006, Brock coached wide receiver Hakeem Nicks to honorable mention freshman All-America honors by The Sporting News as Nicks set UNC freshmen records with 39 receptions for 660 yards and four touchdowns.

Prior to North Carolina, Brock was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for three seasons at Temple, where he directed a spread-offense attack that made the Owls' offense one of the most exciting in the Big East.

In 2004, Temple ranked third in the Big East in rushing, generating 173.0 yards on the ground per game. The Owls also passed for 2,428 yards – the fourth-most in program history – and averaged 393.7 total yards per game with quarterback Walter Washington ending the year ranked 11th nationally in total offense, 21st in scoring and led the nation in rushing touchdowns by a quarterback.

In 2003, the Owls threw for 2,697 yards – second most in Temple history – and set school records for passing first downs (135) and total plays (859).

Brock served in various roles during seven seasons at Hofstra from 1995 through 2002, including running backs coach (1995), Wide receivers coach/recruiting coordinator (1997-99), offensive coordinator (2000-01) and associate head coach (2002).

In 2001, Hofstra posted a 9-3 record and concluded the season ranked No. 7 in Division I-AA behind an offense that was second in the nation in total offense (491 yards/game), fourth in passing offense (301 yards/game) and fifth in scoring offense (37.9 points/game). In 2000, Hofstra finished the year ranked No. 7 with a 9-4 record and also ranked among the nation's top 20 in scoring offense, passing offense and total offense. During Brock's last five seasons at Hofstra, the team averaged 35.8 points per game and 446.8 yards of total offense per contest.

Brock played linebacker at Ferrum (Va.) College before earning a bachelor of science degree in political science from Salisbury (Md.) State University. He began his coaching career as an assistant at Salisbury State in 1988, then served as secondary coach/recruiting coordinator at Western Connecticut State from 1991-93. He returned to Salisbury State in 1994 as the secondary coach and recruiting coordinator before joining the coaching staff at Hofstra in 1995.

Brock and his wife, Karen, have three sons - Henry, William, and Richard - and two daughters - Kate and Maggie.

One of the nation's bright, young secondary coaches, Greg Burns is in his first season at Kansas State.

A 10-year coaching veteran who starred as a defensive back at Washington State in the early 1990s, Burns joined Ron Prince's staff as the Wildcats' defensive backs coach on March 13, 2007.

Burns, who has coached at the highest levels of the game during his career, comes to Kansas State after serving the 2006 season as the defensive backs coach of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Prior to Tampa Bay, where he coached Pro Bowl cornerback Ronde Barber, Burns spent the 2002-05 seasons at the University of Southern California as the Trojans' secondary coach. While at USC, Burns helped coach the Trojans to a four-year record of 48-4 (.923), which included four straight BCS bowl berths, three outright Pacific-10 Conference championships and one co-Pac-10 title and two national championships. USC was named national champions by The Associated Press in 2003 after going 12-1 and BCS national champions in 2004 after completing the season with a perfect 13-0 record. The Trojans were also the national runner-up in 2005 after falling to Texas in the BCS title game.

During his time at Southern California, Burns developed a reputation as one of the brightest young secondary coaches in the country and mentored a number of stand-out performers, including All-American safeties Troy Polamalu (2002) and Darnell Bing (2005). He also coached first team All-Pac-10 cornerback Will Poole in 2003.

Burns, 34, joined Pete Carroll's staff at USC on the heels of a very successful run at Louisville, where he helped build the Cardinals into a national power as the program's cornerbacks coach from 1998-2001. During his time at Louisville, the Cardinals earned four straight bowl berths and posted a combined 34-15 (.694) record.

In his final season with the Cardinals in 2001, Louisville ranked 18th nationally in pass efficiency defense and had 20 interceptions during an 11-2 campaign that featured a victory over BYU in the Liberty Bowl. In 2000, Louisville led the nation in interceptions with 27 and was 20th in pass efficiency defense.

Burns also produced six All-Conference USA cornerbacks during his tenure at Louisville, including first teamers Anthony Floyd (2000 and 2001) and Antonio Roundtree (1998).

Burns received his first full-time coaching opportunity at the University of Idaho in 1997. During his lone season with the Vandals, Burns' secondary accounted for 13 of the team's interceptions.

As a player, Burns earned four letters at Washington State University (1991-93, 1995) and was a two-year starter as a defensive back for the Cougars.

In 1992, Burns earned All-Pac-10 honorable mention honors while helping lead Washington State to a victory in the Copper Bowl.

Burns still ranks 11th on the Cougars' career interception list with nine, including five during the 1992 season alone. He also won WSU's Laurie Niemi Award in 1995 (for the senior exhibiting courage, spirit and positive attitude). He missed the 1994 season with torn ligaments in his knee and his 1995 season was cut short because of a shoulder injury.

Burns graduated from Washington State with a bachelor's degree in psychology in 1995. He went on to add a master's in counseling psychology from WSU in 1997.

A native of Los Angeles, Calif., Burns prepped at Dorsey High School, where he competed in football and track & field prior to attending college at Washington State.

Burns and his Wife, Crystal, have two sons, Christopher and Carter.

MoLatimore

Defensive Line

One of the most experienced members of Ron Prince's staff and the longest-tenured assistant coach in school history, Mo Latimore is in his 23rd season at Kansas State, where he is in charge of the Wildcats' defensive line.

A former All-American lineman for the Wildcats in the 1970s, Latimore was among Prince's first appointments at K-State on Dec. 8, 2005, and was the lone holdover from Bill Snyder's staff.

Latimore has been a fixture at Kansas State since returning to his alma mater in 1994 following a five-year stint at Missouri and has now worked with four different Wildcat coaching staffs at K-State.

He has played an integral role in Kansas State's ascent to one of the nation's elite programs, helping the Wildcats to nine seasons of nine or more wins and 11 bowl games. He has also been a big reason for K-State's strong presence on defense and has mentored lines that helped the Wildcats rank among the nation's top 10 in total defense several times, including top-5 rankings in 1995, 1997, 1998, 1999, 2000, 2001 and 2002.

During the last 13 seasons, Latimore has helped coach four All-Americans, including first-team honorees Tim Colston (1995) and Mario Fatafehi (2000), two conference Defensive Newcomers of the Year (Fatafehi in 1999 and Tank Reese in 2001) and one conference Defensive Player of the Year (Colston; 1995). In 2005, protégé Alphonso Moran received Big 12 all-freshman honors as well as honorable mention freshman All-America accolades from The Sporting News and in 2006 Ian Campbell was selected as a consensus first team All-Big 12 performer as well as the Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year by the Houston Chronicle.

Campbell's selection to the All-Big-12 first team continued one of the league's most successful trends that has seen Latimore produce 13 all-conference players over the last 13 seasons, including seven first-team selections.

In his first season back at his alma mater, Latimore helped guide the Wildcats to the nation's top ranking in total defense, while also coaching Colston to third team All-America honors from The Associated Press.

In 1995, Latimore helped Colston become the first defensive lineman in school history to earn first team All-America accolades and Big Eight Defensive Player of the Year honors.

Beginning in 1997, Latimore coached at least one all-conference linemen for six consecutive seasons, including three first-team honorees. Fatafehi became the first of two Latimore protégés to earn Big 12 Defensive Newcomer of the Year honors in 1999.

In 2000, he coached a defensive line that saw three of its four starters (Monty Beisel, Chris Johnson and Fatafehi) earn All-Big 12 honors, while Fatafehi became Latimore's second first team All-American in six seasons. In addition, the line recorded 39 sacks and helped the Wildcats finish fourth nationally in total defense.

Latimore saw his second player, Tank Reese, earn Big 12 Defensive Newcomer of the Year honors in 2001, as well as first team all-league recognition in both 2001 and 2002.

In 2002, Latimore's defensive line anchored a unit that set a school record for rushing defense, allowing only 69.5 yards per game, and led the nation in scoring defense. His 2003 unit helped lead the nation in sacks with 51 as the team finished sixth in the nation in total defense and eighth in scoring defense.

The 2006 campaign brought even more success as Latimore's unit was at the forefront of a defense that led the Big 12 in sacks and ranked sixth nationally with 40, including a school-record 11.5 by Campbell alone.

Latimore began his coaching career at K-State in 1976 under Ellis Rainsberger as a graduate assistant.

After 10 years in various roles on the Kansas State staff, Latimore moved to Texas-El Paso in 1984 under Coach Bill Young, where he coached the defensive line for five seasons. He helped the Miners to the school's first 10-win season in 1988, which cumulated in the school's first bowl game in 21 years - the 1988 Independence Bowl. In 1989, Latimore moved with head coach Bob Stull to Missouri, where he coached until 1993.

One of the top linemen in K-State history, Latimore earned third team All-America honors and first team All-Big Eight accolades while also serving as team captain in 1971. He played in the 1971 Senior Bowl and North-South Bowl before being drafted in the seventh round by the New York Jets. He went on to play four years in the CFL with Calgary, Saskatchewan and Hamilton.

A native of Byron, Ga., Latimore, 56, earned his bachelor's degree in physical education in 1976. He is married to the former D'Anne Mitchell. The couple has two children, M.L., and Mallory.

POSTSEASON EXPERIENCE

Coach at Richmond

1998 I-AA Playoffs; 2000 I-AA Playoffs.

Veteran coach Frank Leonard joined the Wildcat coaching staff on Jan. 29, 2007, and is in his first season at Kansas State. A versatile coach with a keen eye for evaluating talent, Leonard has worked at the highest levels of the game during his 26-year career and joins the K-State staff after a three-year stint with the New England Patriots that included a World Championship in Super Bowl XXXIX.

As a special assignment scout with the Pats from 2004-06, Leonard worked closely with the organization's personnel evaluation of both college and professional players and contributed to many of the team's player personnel decisions.

Prior to his tenure in New England, Leonard worked 10 seasons on the coaching staff at Richmond, serving as the Spiders' offensive line (1994, 1997-2003) and running backs coach (1995-96), as well as the program's recruiting coordinator (2003).

At Richmond, Leonard mentored a number of players who earned All-America honors, including offensive lineman Eric King (1998), who went on to play for the Kansas City Chiefs, and Eric Beatty (2000).

The Spiders also produced unprecedented success as a team during Leonard's tenure. In just his second season at Richmond, Leonard helped the Spiders to a 7-3-1 record and a No. 20 final ranking. The seven wins were the 10th most in school history and signaled that the program was on the rise.

Three years later, Leonard helped guide Richmond's 1998 squad to a 9-3 mark, the program's first Atlantic 10 title, a berth in the NCAA I-AA playoffs and a No. 5 final national ranking.

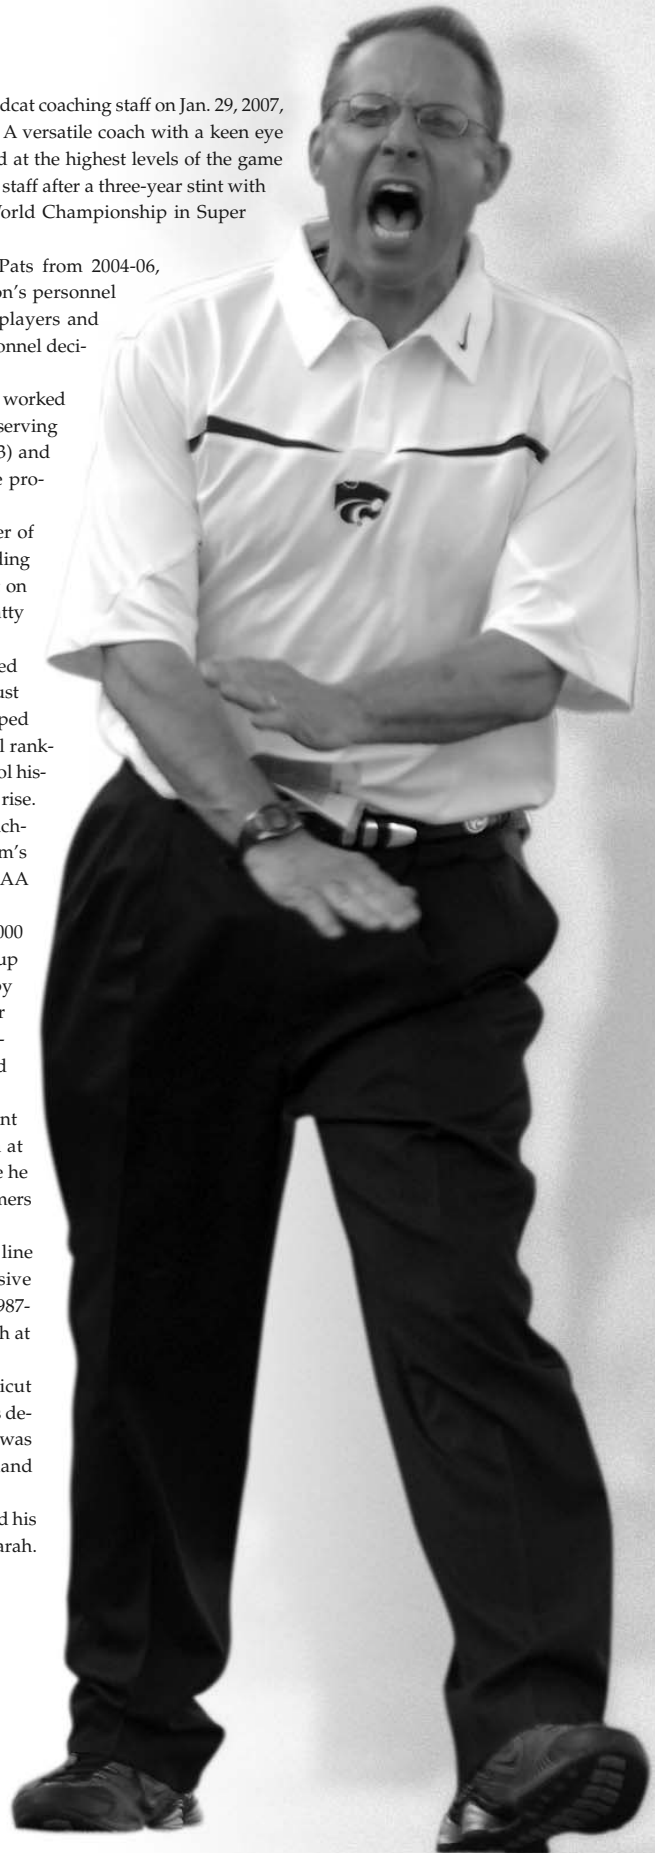

A second A-10 championship followed in 2000 as the Spiders rolled to a 10-3 record to rack up the most wins in school history. Led by Leonard's offensive line, Richmond rushed for a school-record 3,369 yards, reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA I-AA playoffs and ended the year with a No. 6 national ranking.

Before arriving at Richmond, Leonard spent four seasons as the outside linebackers coach at the University of Connecticut (1990-93), where he tutored a pair of All-Yankee Conference performers in Bruce Bourgoins and Paul Duckworth.

He also served six seasons as a defensive line coach and then offensive coordinator/offensive line coach at Western Connecticut (1982-84, 1987-89) and two seasons as the defensive line coach at Central Connecticut State (1985-86).

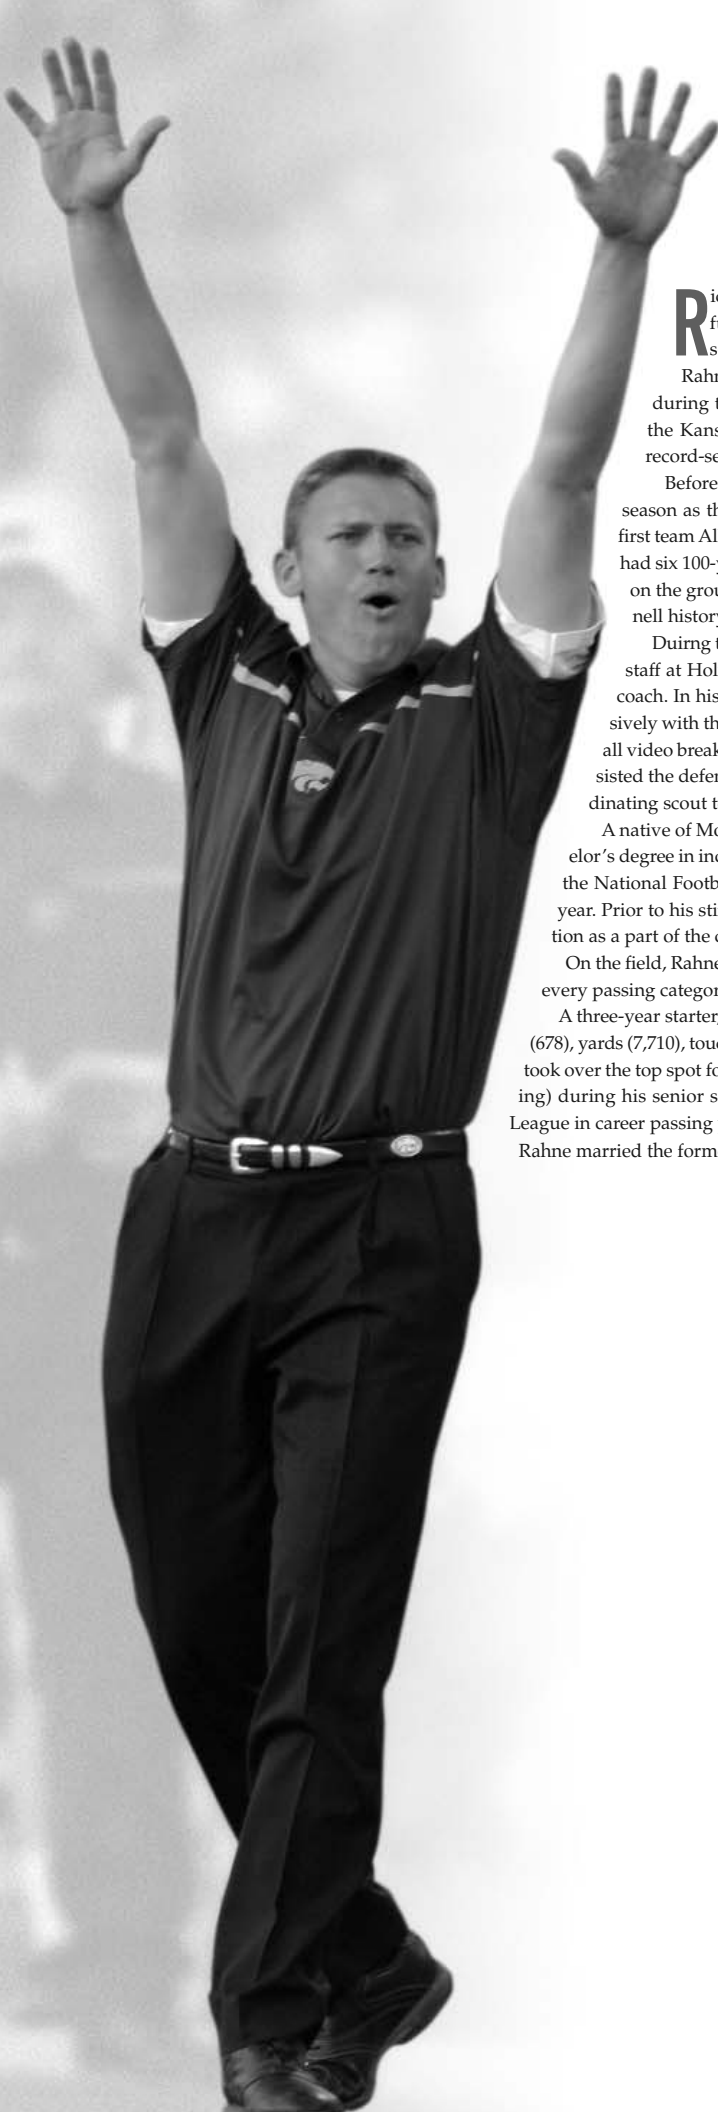

Leonard is a graduate of Central Connecticut State, where he earned bachelor's and master's degrees and played football for three seasons. He was also a free safety for the semi-pro New England Crusaders in 1981.

A native of Wethersfield, Conn., Leonard and his wife, Kathy, have two daughters, Maria and Sarah.

Ricky Rahne

Running Backs

Ricky Rahne joined the Kansas State football program's full-time staff on January 29, 2007, and is in his first season as the Wildcats' running backs coach.

Rahne served as the program's offensive graduate assistant during the 2006 season and worked closely with all aspects of the Kansas State offense, and specifically the development of record-setting quarterback Josh Freeman, prior to his promotion.

Before joining Prince's staff at K-State, Rahne spent the 2005 season as the running backs coach at Cornell, where he mentored first team All-Ivy League selection Luke Siwula. During 2005, Siwula had six 100-yard rushing games. He ended the year with 1,086 yards on the ground for the 10th-best single-season rushing total in Cornell history.

During the 2004 campaign, Rahne was a member of the coaching staff at Holy Cross, where he served as an assistant defensive line coach. In his only season with the Crusaders, Rahne worked extensively with the program's defensive ends. He was also responsible for all video breakdowns of opponents' defense and special teams and assisted the defensive coordinator in developing game plans while coordinating scout teams.

A native of Morrison, Colo., and a 2002 Cornell graduate with a bachelor's degree in industrial and labor relations, Rahne served as an intern in the National Football League office during the summer before his senior year. Prior to his stint at Holy Cross, Rahne worked at the Cintas Corporation as a part of the company's management trainee program.

On the field, Rahne finished his career as Cornell's all-time leader in nearly every passing category and earned the team's MVP honors three times.

A three-year starter, he remains the program's career leader in completions (678), yards (7,710), touchdown passes (54) and 200-yard passing games (25). He took over the top spot for total offense with 7,994 yards (7,710 passing, 284 rushing) during his senior season and finished his career ranked No. 3 in the Ivy League in career passing yards with 7,710 yards.

Rahne married the former Jennifer Neuberger on July 6, 2007.

BOWL EXPERIENCE

Coach at Akron
2005 Motor City Bowl
Coach at Kansas State
2006 Texas Bowl

Former Kansas State All-American linebacker Matt Wallerstedt is in his second season as the Wildcats' linebackers coach. He served as the Wildcats' recruiting coordinator during the 2006 season and will coordinate K-State's special teams units for the 2007 campaign.

Named to Ron Prince's staff on Dec. 27, 2005, Wallerstedt returned to his hometown and alma mater following a successful two-year run at Akron, where he served as the Zips' associate head coach, linebackers coach and special teams coordinator.

In his first season back at K-State, Wallerstedt mentored a linebacker corps that was one of the Wildcats' most effective units during 2006, as both Brandon Archer and Zach Diles turned in career seasons. Archer led Kansas State in tackles with 106 and earned first team All-Big 12 recognition from The Associated Press and second team all-league honors from the coaches. Diles wasn't far behind with 99 stops and picked up honorable mention all-league accolades from both the coaches and the AP before being selected in the seventh round of the 2007 NFL Draft by the Houston Texans.

Wallerstedt's successful 2006 season at K-State was just one of many during his career. During his stay at Akron, Wallerstedt helped usher forth a stunning turnaround that saw the Zips win their first Mid-American Conference championship and earn their first bowl berth (the 2005 Motor City Bowl) in just his second season with the program.

During 2005, Wallerstedt coached two players to All-MAC honors as linebackers Brion Stokes and Jay Rohr were named to the league's second team and honorable mention squads, respectively. Wallerstedt also helped completely transform the Zips' defense. The unit finished the 2005 regular season ranked first in the MAC in total defense. Akron also made a 75-spot improvement on the NCAA's total defense chart, improving from No. 98 in 2004 to No. 23 in 2005.

A 1984 graduate of Manhattan High School, Wallerstedt lettered at Kansas State from 1984-1987 and led the Wildcats in tackles as a junior and senior. In fact, his 165 tackles in 1987 still ranks fifth on K-State's single-season tackle chart, while his 338 career stops ranks ninth all time in school history. One of K-State's 1987 co-captains and the Wildcats' MVP that season, Wallerstedt earned All-Big Eight honors and was also tapped as honorable mention All-American choice by The Associated Press for 1987.

Wallerstedt received his coaching start in 1988 as a student assistant with the Wildcats. He went on to serve the 1989 and 1990 seasons as a graduate assistant at Arizona State.

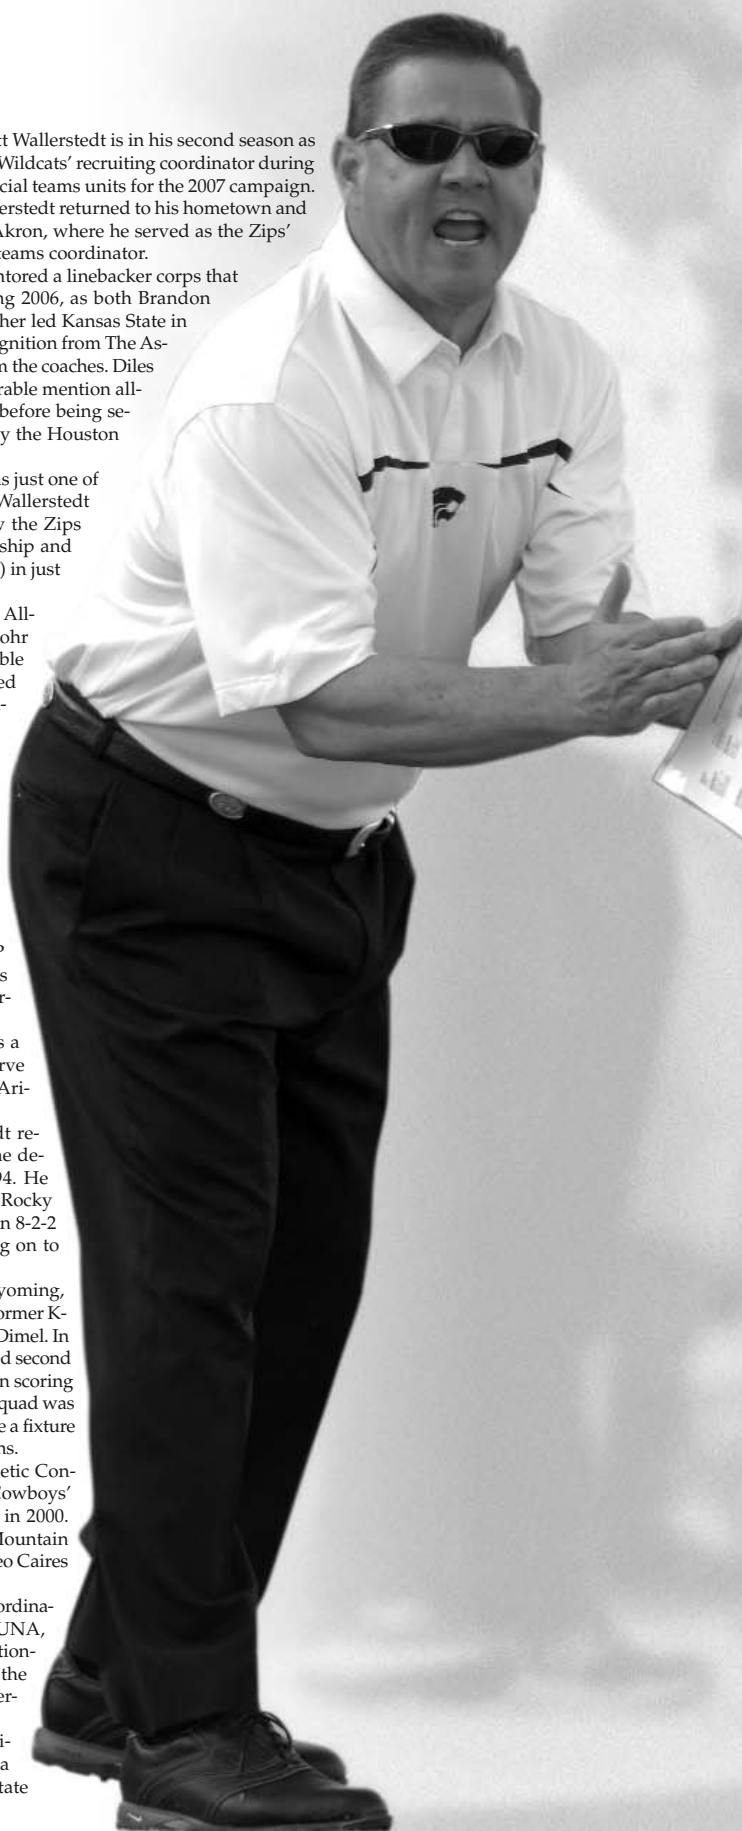

After three years in private business, Wallerstedt received his first full-time coaching opportunity as the defensive line coach at Fort Hays (Kan.) State in 1994. He helped guide Fort Hays State to a share of the 1995 Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference championship with an 8-2-2 record and a No. 18 national ranking before moving on to coach defensive backs at Emporia State in 1996.

In 1997, Wallerstedt began a six-year stint at Wyoming, where he was hired to coach the defensive line by his former K-State teammate, and then-Cowboy head coach, Dana Dimel. In just his first year in Laramie, Wyo., the Cowboys ranked second in the nation in sacks (54), sixth in pass defense, 17th in scoring defense and 23rd in total defense. The 1998 defensive squad was 28th nationally in scoring defense, as Wyoming became a fixture in both national polls during the 1998 and 1999 seasons.

Wallerstedt also produced four All-Western Athletic Conference defensive linemen before taking over as the Cowboys' defensive coordinator and inside linebackers coach in 2000. From 2000 to 2002, Wallerstedt mentored three All-Mountain West selections, including Kwabena Peprah (2000), Leo Caires (2001) and Tyler Gottschalk (2002).

A very successful one-year stay as the defensive coordinator at North Alabama followed in 2003. While at UNA, Wallerstedt's defense allowed just 14.1 ppg (sixth nationally) and a conference-best 295.6 ypg. UNA finished the season with a 13-1 record, won the Gulf South Conference and ranked No. 5 in the final national poll.

Wallerstedt earned his bachelor's degree in business management from K-State in 1988 and added a master's in athletic administration from Fort Hays State in 1995. He and his wife Josie have a son, Cal.

DEVIN FITZSIMMONSOffensive GA*First Season*Bucknell '05

Devin Fitzsimmons joins the Kansas State coaching staff as the Wildcats' offensive graduate assistant for the 2007 season.

A quarterback and wide receiver during his playing days at Bucknell, Fitzsimmons comes to Kansas State from his alma mater, where he served as the Bison's wide receivers coach during the 2006 season.

Fitzsimmons graduated from Bucknell with a degree in history in 2005 and later that year immediately jumped into the coaching ranks as the quarterbacks coach at Shaw University in Raleigh, N.C.

Fitzsimmons began his collegiate career as a quarterback but moved to wide receiver prior to his junior campaign. A career-ending knee injury suffered in spring practice leading up to his final season in 2004, however, sidelined him for the balance of his playing career.

Determined to contribute, Fitzsimmons remained in the program and worked with coach Tim Landis as a student assistant coach and earned a varsity letter as a senior following Bucknell's exciting 7-4 season. He also earned the program's Moxie Award in 2004, which is annually presented for special contributions to the Bison program.

A native of Folsom, La., Fitzsimmons prepped at Covington High School in Covington, La.

JOSH KOTELNICKIDefensive GA*First Season*North Dakota '02

An experienced defensive coach with an impressive resume, Josh Kotelnicki is in his first season as Kansas State's defensive graduate assistant.

Kotelnicki, who will work closely with the Wildcats' outside linebackers while assisting defensive coordinator Tim Tibesar, joined the K-State staff after spending the 2006 season as the defensive coordinator at Truman (Mo.) State.

In just one season with the Bulldogs, Kotelnicki was instrumental in turning around one of the MIAA's worst defenses and helped Truman State (6-5, 6-3 MIAA) to a four-win improvement over 2005.

Taking over a Bulldog defense that yielded an average 37.5 points and 454.8 yards per contest during 2005, Kotelnicki's charges showed improvement in every major defensive category during the 2006 season as Truman State finished fifth in the conference in scoring defense (25.8) and total defense (324.2 yards/game) to rank as the school's best unit since 2002.

Under Kotelnicki's tutelage, a number of Truman State players earned postseason honors. Cornerback Josh Mayson was named third team All-Southwest region and second team All-MIAA, while defensive lineman Les Hammers and linebacker Darryl Reddick also received second team All-MIAA honors.

Prior to his stay at Truman State, Kotelnicki coached the 2004 and 2005 seasons alongside Tibesar at North Dakota as the Fighting Sioux's outside linebackers coach.

While at North Dakota, Kotelnicki helped Tibesar sculpt the Fighting Sioux into the top defensive team in the North Central Conference and the top scoring defensive team in Division II as UND went a combined 21-6 during his two seasons with the program.

Kotelnicki mentored two first-team all-conference outside linebackers as well as a second-team choice while at North Dakota. Tyler Dahlen and Brook Maier were first and second team all-NCC in 2005, while Tony Hermes was a first team pick in 2004.

Kotelnicki played his collegiate career at North Dakota as an outside linebacker from 1997-2001. He was a starter on UND's 2001 Division II national championship team and was named team captain for the championship game against Grand Valley State.

Kotelnicki received his coaching start at Murray State (Ky.), where he served as the Racers' linebackers coach and assistant offensive line coach for two seasons.

While coaching at Murray State, Kotelnicki helped the Racers improve their pass defense from 64th nationally in 2002 to fourth in 2003. He also helped the offense to a school record 2,849 rushing yards.

A 2002 magna cum laude graduate from North Dakota with a bachelor's degree in psychology, Kotelnicki added a master's degree in business administration from Murray State to his academic resume in December 2003.

A first team All-Big Eight selection in 1992 after earning honorable-mention honors in 1991, Snyder was also selected to play in the 1992 Blue-Gray Game.

K-State's Special Teams MVP in 1991 and 1992, Snyder held K-State's records for both punting average in a game (52.8 on 12 punts at Colorado) and in a career (43.0) before having his career punting mark broken by James Garcia in 1998.

Following his collegiate career, Snyder signed a free agent contract with the Phoenix Cardinals in 1993 and the following year with the San Diego Chargers.

The son of legendary K-State head coach Bill Snyder, Sean Snyder earned his bachelor's degree from K-State in money and banking in 1994. Married to the former Wanda Boyett, the couple has three children, daughter Katherine, and sons Tate and Matthew.

He also served a graduate assistantship at Alabama A&M during Prince's tenure as the program's offensive line and tight ends coach in 1993 before beginning a 13-year career as a high school coach and administrator.

Prior to joining the staff at Kansas State, Colbert managed the 26-sport athletics department at Maynard Evans High School in Orlando, Fla., as the school's athletics director. He also served several notable coaching stints in the high school ranks throughout his career, including a successful four-year run as head coach at Tampa Bay Technical High School from 1998-2001 that saw him earn district coach-of-the-year honors in 2001 and National Football Foundation (Tampa Chapter) coach-of-the-year accolades in 2000.

Lauded by his former players for creating a contagious enthusiasm in the weight room, Kent was instrumental in helping develop three NFL Draft picks during his tenure with the Panthers, including tackles Rob Petitti (2005) and Charles Spencer (2006) and defensive back Josh Lay (2006).

Kent was named strength and conditioning coach at Pitt in 2004 following a successful stint at the University of Louisville, where he was a key contributor to the Cardinals' 36-15 four-year record and Conference USA championships in 2000 and 2001.

At Louisville, he oversaw the physical development of eight NFL Draft selections. Among his Louisville protégés was receiver Deion Branch, who went on to become the MVP of the 2005 Super Bowl for the New England Patriots after training under Kent in 2000 and 2001.

From 1999-2000, Kent served as the strength and conditioning coordinator at Eastern Kentucky, where he oversaw performance programs for the Colonels' 16 intercollegiate sports, following his ultra successful 10-year stay from 1990-99 at Appalachian State, where he trained Ron Prince.

During his time with the Mountaineers, Kent helped the football program earn five NCAA I-AA playoff berths. He also trained linebacker Dexter Coakley, who went on to earn multiple All-Pro honors with the Dallas Cowboys, and in 1995, Kent was named the Southern Conference Strength Coach of the Year.

Kent's collegiate coaching career began in 1985 at North Carolina State, where he served two years as a graduate assistant working with the defensive line and assisting with the strength program. He went on to serve as the assistant defensive line coach and strength and conditioning for football at Shepherd [W.Va.] College in 1987 before moving on to East Carolina in 1988 as an assistant strength coach.

Bowl-ed and Daring

Prince guides Wildcats back to the Postseason

A year removed from its second straight last-place divisional finish and under the guidance of its first new head coach in nearly two decades, few projected the kind of success Kansas State would enjoy during the 2006 college football season.

A near-consensus pick to once again bring up the rear in the Big 12's North Division, the Wildcats instead rode the arm of a talented freshman quarterback, a stingy defense and big-play special teams units to a second-place finish and a postseason bowl berth.

None of which surprised first-year head coach Ron Prince, who repeatedly said "I'm not going to place any limits on what this team can accomplish," when probed for his assessment of the Wildcats' prospects for the upcoming 2006 season.

Still, on the surface the reasoning for the Wildcats' dim projection appeared sound. Kansas State's legendary head coach, Bill Snyder, had retired. A young up-and-comer with zero head coaching experience from a conference on the East Coast in Prince had been hired as his replacement and the staff he constructed appeared to lack the credentials necessary to return the program to its previous glory.

To top things off, Kansas State had won a combined nine games – and just two each season in Big 12 play – during the previous 24 months.

But the intrepid, "bold and daring" Prince would have none of it. Externally, he told all who would listen that the organization he planned on building would "consistently compete for championships." And internally, he told his players to expect the unexpected.

Few first-year head coaches in the nation accomplished what Prince and the Wildcats did during the 2006 season. Well, none have to be exact. Of the 11 programs in the country with new head coaches, none who did not reach bowl status a year ago achieved a better record than the 7-6 Wildcats, who squared off with Rutgers in the inaugural Texas Bowl.

■ Josh Freeman

Not bad, considering some pre-season prognosticators had Kansas State winning as few as three games for the entire season.

But despite these grim projections, excitement and anticipation for the 2006 season was at an all-time high in Manhattan and in the end, Prince and company delivered.

The Wildcats raced out to a quick 3-0 start, then used a three-game conference winning streak down the home stretch of the season to send the K-State bowling for the first time since 2003 and for the 12th time in the last 14 seasons.

And, those three late wins held plenty of significance. K-State put an end to a two-game slide vs. Iowa State, said good-bye to a seven-game Big 12 road losing streak and became bowl-eligible with its first win at Colorado since 2000, then knocked off defending national champion and No. 4-ranked Texas for its first win over a ranked opponent in six tries.

Kansas State got back in the bowl business by taking advantage of an opportunistic defense that forced 26 turnovers in 12 games, continual improvement from an offense that saw new leaders emerge and hit their stride during Big 12 play and most importantly, dominating performances from all of its special teams units that produced seven touchdowns and three blocked kicks.

Special teams play certainly stood out during the three-game season-opening winning streak as the Wildcats posted home wins over Illinois State, Florida Atlantic and Marshall.

On a night where Bill Snyder Family Stadium was officially dedicated, the Wildcats used a late fumble return for a touchdown by Byron Garvin and three sacks from Big 12 TFL-leader Ian Campbell to take a 24-23 win over Illinois State for the program's 17th straight season-opening win.

After K-State held Florida Atlantic to just 200 total yards in a 45-0 blanking, the Wildcats hosted Marshall in a nationally-televised matchup between two teams who battled to the end in two previous meetings.

The K-State defense was up to the challenge as it forced three turnovers and failed to yield a touchdown for the second straight game as the Cats earned a solid 23-7 win over the Thundering Herd.

The Cats knew they would face a stiff test in week four as No. 8 and BCS bound Louisville came to town for yet another nationally televised contest. For the third straight week, the Wildcat defense was up to the challenge as it held the high-octane

Cardinal offense to their fewest passing yards in 15 games, but it wasn't enough to derail Louisville in a 24-6 setback.

The rigors of the Big 12 were waiting in the wings for Kansas State as it opened league play on the road for the eighth straight season, this time at Baylor. The Bear defense forced five turnovers and held the Wildcats to just three points in a 17-3 Baylor win, but for the Wildcats, it would mark the emergence of a new leader under center in freshman Josh Freeman.

Freeman, who played the entire second half at Baylor, threw for 196 yards against the Bears and then, against Oklahoma State, became the first true freshman to get the starting nod at quarterback since 1976. Freeman, as well as true freshman running back Leon Patton, electrified the crowd at Bill Snyder Family Stadium as the Cats rallied for a 31-27 win in a game that Freeman completed 10-of-15 passes for 177 yards and also ran for a game-winning 21-yard touchdown while Patton totaled a K-State freshman record 301 all-purpose yards.

Freeman went on to start the final seven games of the season and finished with a K-State freshman record 1,651 passing yards, while Patton emerged as one of the top all-purpose backs in the Big 12 Conference. He rushed for a K-State freshman record 595 yards and also averaging 32.0 yards on kickoff returns en route to freshman All-Big 12 and honorable mention freshman All-America honors.

Turnovers proved costly for the Wildcats in setbacks to Nebraska at home and Missouri on the road, but the second half play of both the offense and the defense in Columbia would set the tone for the late stretch run. K-State saw both James Johnson and Leon Patton rush for over 100 yards against Missouri, most of which came late in the game, as the offense began to show signs of what was to come in the final four games. Johnson again went over 100 yards rushing and Freeman hit on 14-of-20 passes for 161 yards as K-State got back on the winning side of things with a dominant second half in a 31-10 win at home over Iowa State.

Freeman showed signs of settling in as the Wildcat quarterback against Missouri and Iowa State, and the exclamation mark was planted in wins over Colorado on the road and against Texas. Freeman combined for 520 yards on 41-of-57 passing against the Buffs and Horns as he went on to become the first Wildcat since 2001 to win Big 12 player-of-the-week honors in consecutive weeks. His performance against Texas also garnered the freshman national weekly honors from the Walter Camp Foundation, the Master Coaches Survey and ESPN as the Cingular All-America Player of the Week.

The nationally-televised win over Texas sent shockwaves across the country as Prince and the Wildcats showed the nation that the Wildcats are a force to be reckoned with. ESPN College Gameday host Lee Corso even went on to say that K-State and Ron Prince had "one of the greatest performances he had ever witnessed" in a single game.

K-State knew it would have its hands full the following week at rival Kansas, and six Wildcat turnovers proved to be too much to overcome as the Jayhawks captured the 2006 edition of the Sunflower Showdown in Lawrence.

Nonetheless, the Wildcats had done more than enough to earn a spot in the postseason and were given the tough task of facing a 16th-ranked Rutgers team that many believed belonged in a BSC bowl.

The powerful Scarlet Knights were as good as advertised in the Texas Bowl and kept the Wildcats off balance all night. K-State hung with Rutgers for the first 30 minutes and trailed by just a touchdown at intermission. But two second-half turnovers doomed any chance of a K-State come-back as the Knights cruised, 37-10.

Still, it was an outstanding experience for a young Wildcat team that played a total of 19 freshman, including eight who drew starting assignments.

Kansas State also saw several new leaders emerge in Freeman, Patton, Johnson, Campbell, Zach Diles and Rob Jackson who complemented returning veterans in the likes of Brandon Archer, Yamon Figs, Jordy Nelson, Greg Wafford, Marcus Watts and Kyle Williams.

Campbell's play proved to be one of the better stories in the Big 12 Conference this season as the former walk-on tied the K-State single-season record with 11.5 sacks and was tabbed an All-Big 12 performer by the coaches, the Associated Press and numerous publications, as well as being named the Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year by the Houston Chronicle.

Archer continued to stake his claim as one of the all-time great linebackers at K-State after leading the team in tackles for the third straight season with 97, while also moving into 20th place in career tackles with 259. Despite playing in just eight games, Watts earned second team All-Big 12 honors from the coaches and the Kansas City Star after totaling 19 tackles and coming up with numerous big plays in the secondary and on special teams.

Figurs provided the offense and special teams units with a big spark and also garnered postseason all-conference honors from numerous publications and the coaches as a punt returner, while Wafford anchored the offensive line unit and was honored for his consistent output with second team All-Big 12 honors from the Kansas City Star.

The Wildcats' youth proved to be a bright spot for the Cats down the stretch as Patton, defensive back Joshua Moore and offensive lineman Nick Stringer all picked up Freshman All-Big 12 honors from The Sporting News.

Amidst all of the standout individual honors and accomplishments, the 2006 season will not be soon forgotten by the Kansas State faithful, as a first-year head coach joined an elite group of Big 12 coaches by leading his troops to not only a winning record and a bowl game, but also igniting a new fire and continuing a relentless pursuit of excellence.

1982 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

WISCONSIN 14, KANSAS STATE 3

INDEPENDENCE STADIUM • SHREVEPORT, LA.

DECEMBER 11, 1982 • 49,523

Wisconsin quarterback Randy Wright tossed two touchdown passes and the Badgers overcame an early Kansas State lead for a hard-earned 14-3 victory over the Wildcats in the seventh annual Independence Bowl before an announced crowd of 49,523.

The low-scoring game was played in cold and wet conditions as a 23 mile-per-hour wind dropped temperatures to 10 below zero and made things difficult for both offenses.

After a scoreless first quarter, K-State took the game's first lead with 7:10 left in the second period when Steve Willis booted a 29-yard field goal after defensive end Bob Daniels recovered a fumble at the Badger 18-yard line.

The Wildcats' lead was short-lived, however. On Wisconsin's ensuing drive, the Badgers marched 79 yards in eight plays, scoring a touchdown on a 16-yard pass from Wright to Michael Jones for a 7-3 halftime lead.

Wisconsin struck again midway through the third quarter, when game offensive MVP Wright connected with Tim Stracka on an 87-yard pass for a 14-3 Badger advantage.

K-State drove deep into Wisconsin territory on its next two possessions, but was unable to score. One opportunity ended when a Wildcat pass was intercepted in the Badger end zone while the other was stymied at the Wisconsin 26-yard line when K-State could not convert on fourth down.

Darrell Ray Dickey completed just 13 of 35 passes for 127 yards and one interception on the game for 1982 Big Eight Coach of the Year Jim Dickey's Wildcat squad.

ARIZONA STADIUM • TUCSON, ARIZ.

DECEMBER 29, 1993 • 49,075

Kansas State put the finishing touches on one of the finest football seasons in school history with a 52-17 domination of Wyoming before 49,075 in the 1993 Copper Bowl.

Wyoming took a quick 3-0 lead on a 35-yard field goal, but K-State put its high-powered offense into overdrive and scored on its first three possessions. J.J. Smith put K-State on the board with a two-yard TD run and Tate Wright added a 22-yard field goal before K-State drove 76 yards on its third possession to take a 16-3 edge on a Chad May TD plunge.

All-American Andre Coleman closed out the first half with a 68-yard punt return to put K-State ahead 24-10 at the break then blew things open with a 61-yard touchdown catch just 54 seconds into the third quarter.

Freshman All-American Kevin Lockett put K-State ahead 38-10 midway through the third quarter with a 30-yard touchdown reception before reserve running back Leon Edwards added a 13-yard touchdown run and cornerback Kenny McEntyre provided the game's crowning moment with a 37-yard interception return for a score.

1994 ALOHA BOWL

BOSTON COLLEGE 52, [11] KANSAS STATE 52

ALOHA STADIUM • HONOLULU, HAWAII

DECEMBER 25, 1994 • 44,862

Kansas State played Boston College to a defensive standoff in the 1994 Aloha Bowl, but the Wildcat offense never got on track and fell 12-7 at before 44,862 at Aloha Stadium.

The Eagles sacked K-State quarterback Chad May eight times, including a four-hit effort by end Mike Mamula, who was named the game's most valuable player.

BC couldn't distance itself from the Wildcats despite a 51-yard bolt by David Green on the game's second play. That carry led to an early 7-0 cushion for the Eagles but would be their only touchdown of the day.

K-State's lone score came with eight seconds left in the first quarter when Joe Gordon crashed the middle of BC's line and blocked a punt by Jeff Beckley. Chris Sublette recovered the ball on the first hop in the end zone and the game was tied, 7-7.

However, BC would answer with its own end zone patrol later in the half when Mamula applied the biggest of his hits on May for a safety with 2:37 left.

The Wildcats reached the BC 19 on their ensuing drive, but Eric Shorter intercepted a dropped pass in the flat on third-and-15 with 19 seconds left in the half.

Still, a defense that featured punter Eric Hardy, Gordon and a pair of 10-tackle performances from Chuck Marlowe and Mario Smith kept the Wildcats within striking distance until the end.

BC could only tack on a 35-yard field goal by David Gordon with 1:18 remaining in the second half.

1995 HOLIDAY BOWL

[10] KANSAS STATE 54, [25] COLORADO STATE 21

JACK MURPHY STADIUM • SAN DIEGO, CALIF.

DECEMBER 29, 1995 • 51,051

For the second time in three years, Kansas State ran roughshod over the Western Athletic Conference's best as the Wildcats outran, outplayed and outscored Colorado State for a 54-21 win in front of 51,051 fans in the 1995 Plymouth Holiday Bowl at Jack Murphy Stadium.

K-State began the scoring on an Eric Hickson 4-yard run with 11:21 left in the first quarter. After CSU responded with a touchdown to knot the score at 7-7, it was all K-State.

The Wildcats outscored the Rams, 19-0, in the second quarter by virtue of an interception return by safety Mario Smith and a blocked punt. Brian Kavanagh, who would earn the game's Offensive MVP award, came in for the injured Matt Miller in the second quarter and immediately put the ball in the end zone.

Kavanagh completed 18-of-24 passes for 242 yards and a Holiday Bowl-record tying four touchdowns. The junior signal-caller tossed scoring strikes to Brian Lojka, Tyson Schwieger, Kevin Lockett and Mitch Running.

On the defensive side of the ball, Mario Smith's pair of interceptions earned him MVP honors.

1997 COTTON BOWL

[5] BYU 19, [14] KANSAS STATE 14

COTTON BOWL • DALLAS, TEXAS

JANUARY 1, 1997 • 71,928

An estimated 45,000 K-State fans descended on Dallas to watch the Wildcats in their first-ever New Year's Day Bowl and were witness to one of the most exciting games of the bowl season.

After taking a 15-5 lead following a 72-yard touchdown pass from Brian Kavanagh to Kevin Lockett, BYU quarterback Steve Sarkisian tossed two fourth-quarter touchdowns to lead No. 5 BYU to a 19-15 Cotton Bowl victory.

Following Sarkisian's 28-yard scoring strike to Kealaluhi with 3:39 remaining in the game, Kavanagh drove the Wildcats to the BYU 12-yard line with about one minute remaining. But Kavanagh's pass to Jimmy Dean was picked off at the 3-yard line by Omarr Morgan to preserve BYU's win.

The game's first score came when Cotton Bowl Defensive MVP Shay Muirbrook tackled Kavanagh in the end zone for a safety in the first quarter. After the free kick, BYU scored again on an Ethan Pochman 39-yard field goal.

K-State had a hard time getting on track until the final play of the first half when Kavanagh heaved a Hail Mary into the end zone, where, after the ball was deflected by a BYU defender, K-State's Andre Anderson scooped the ball in for a touchdown. Following the PAT that gave K-State a 7-5 lead, a penalty on BYU forced the teams to return from the locker room, giving Wildcats a shot for two points. Mike Lawrence made it pay off giving K-State an 8-5 halftime lead.

1997 FIESTA BOWL

[9] KANSAS STATE 35, [14] SYRACUSE 18

SUN DEVIL STADIUM • TEMPE, ARIZ.

DECEMBER 31, 1997 • 69,367

Kansas State capped one of its best seasons in school history with a 35-18 win over No. 14 Syracuse in the 1997 Fiesta Bowl.

Wildcat quarterback Michael Bishop stole the show by throwing for four touchdowns on 14-of-23 passing for 317 yards.

Darnell McDonald was on the receiving end of seven Bishop passes and turned them into a school-record 206 yards and three scores. His 77-yard reception in the fourth quarter was the longest in Fiesta Bowl history.

After allowing Syracuse to jump out to a 3-0 lead on the first of Nate Trout's three field goals, Bishop led the Wildcats to three consecutive TDs in the second quarter.

The first came following a failed fake field goal attempt by Syracuse, culminating in a 19-yard pass to McDonald. Bishop followed with a 12-yard TD dash on K-State's next possession, and wrapped up the first-half scoring with a 28-yard completion to Justin Swift on a tight end screen.

Syracuse scored 12 points in the final 2:18 to close within 21-15 at the half. Following a scoreless third quarter, Bishop and the Wildcats put away the Orangemen behind 77-yard and 41-yard touchdowns to McDonald.

Bishop was named the Offensive Player of the Game, while Travis Ochs was Named Defensive Player of the Game.

1998 ALAMO BOWL

PURDUE 37, [4] KANSAS STATE 34

ALAMODOME • SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS
DECEMBER 29, 1998 • 60,780

With more than 30,000 purple-clad fans cheering the Wildcats on, unranked Purdue shocked No. 4 Kansas State, 37-34, in the sixth annual Builders Square Alamo Bowl.

After a scoreless first quarter, the teams exploded for 71 points over the final three periods. Purdue was the first to get things going, taking a 17-7 halftime lead courtesy of a pair of Drew Brees TD passes and a 25-yard Travis Dorsch field goal.

Fumble recoveries in the end zone by both squads and another Dorsch field goal with four seconds to go in the third staked Purdue to a 27-13 lead heading into the final stanza.

But the Wildcats put together a furious rally over the final 15 minutes. David Allen scored from three yards out to get things going before Michael Bishop hit Darnell McDonald for an Alamo Bowl record 88-yard touchdown strike that pulled the Cats within a field goal at 30-27. Then, with just 1:24 left in the game, Bishop connected with Justin Swift for a 2-yard touchdown and a 34-30 K-State lead.

Brees then engineered an 80-yard drive that ended with a 24-yard pass to Isaac Jones to put the Boilermakers ahead for good at 37-34 with 30 seconds remaining.

1999 HOLIDAY BOWL

[7] KANSAS STATE 24, WASHINGTON 20

QUALCOMM STADIUM • SAN DIEGO, CALIF.
DECEMBER 29, 1998 • 57,118

Kansas State used a stiff defense and three rushing touchdowns by quarterback Jonathan Beasley to defeat Washington, 24-20, in the 1999 Holiday Bowl.

Trailing 20-17 late in the third quarter, the Wildcats embarked on a 20-play, 92-yard drive that took 9 minutes, 54 seconds off the clock to score the eventual game-winning touchdown. The drive was set up after senior Lamar Chapman picked off Marques Tuiasosopo.

K-State took a 17-13 lead on its first possession of the second half, scoring on an 11-yard run by Beasley, the game's Offensive MVP. The Huskies struck back with Maurice Shaw scoring on a 5-yard run to cap a 73-yard drive.

The first half was a back-and-forth affair that saw the Huskies take a 13-10 lead into the locker room.

Washington got on the board first when John Anderson booted his first of two first-half field goals just 3:32 into the contests. K-State quickly responded as Beasley drove the Cats 47 yards on the ensuing possession, calling his own number from one yard out to cap the eight-play drive.

A 41-yard Jamie Rheem field goal pushed K-State's lead to 10-6, but the Huskies would put the half's final points on the board on a Pat Conniff 3-yard TD run.

[11] KANSAS STATE 35, [21] TENNESSEE 21

COTTON BOWL • DALLAS, TEXAS
JANUARY 1, 2001 • 63,465

Jonathan Beasley threw two touchdowns and rushed for another as Kansas State rolled to a 35-21 win over Tennessee in the 65th annual Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl Classic.

Beasley, the game's Offensive MVP, had touchdown passes of 56 and 10 yards to Quincy Morgan to key a rally in the second quarter. The touchdown throws, which came three minutes apart, turned a 7-7 tie into a 21-7 Wildcat lead.

Tennessee pulled within seven points before halftime when Jabari Greer scored on a 78-yard interception return.

But Kansas State got two touchdown runs from Josh Scobey in the third quarter to regain its cushion. Scobey finished with 147 yards on a career-high 28 carries, the most yards ever by a Wildcat in a bowl game.

Travis Henry's 81-yard run late in the game was the final Volunteers score. Henry finished with 180 yards on 17 carries.

Beasley totaled 210 yards on a 13-for-27 passing. He also rushed for 98 yards on 17 carries and put the Wildcats on the scoreboard first with a 14-yard run late in the first quarter.

Senior defensive end Chris Johnson was the Defensive MVP after leading the Wildcats with four tackles, including two sacks of Tennessee QB Casey Clausen, who completed just seven passes while tossing three interceptions.

2001 INSIGHT.COM BOWL

[18] SYRACUSE 26, KANSAS STATE 3

BANKONE BALLPARK • PHOENIX, ARIZ.

DECEMBER 29, 2001 • 40,028

Syracuse running back James Mungro rushed for 112 yards and three touchdowns to lead Syracuse to a 26-3 victory over Kansas State in the 2001 Insight.com Bowl at Phoenix's Bank One Ballpark.

Mungro scored on runs of 65, 1 and 1 yard to pace the Orange offense. SU added touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 52-yard pass from Robin Anderson to Johnnie Morant.

Junior Marc Dunn led the Wildcats with 151 yards passing in relief of starter Eli Roberson. Dunn completed 12-of-25 passes with one interception. Roberson was 2-for-15 for 70 yards for the Wildcats, who were sacked five times.

Mungro opened the scoring on his 65-yard run midway through the first quarter.

Kansas State responded just two minutes later with a 29-yard field goal by freshman Joe Rheem. The drive was sparked by a 47-yard pass from Roberson to Aaron Lockett and a 27-yard carry by Scobey.

Syracuse took advantage of a fumble deep in Wildcat territory early in the second quarter. Mungro scored from the 1-yard line to convert the turnover, but the extra-point was blocked by Josh Buhl.

On the next play from scrimmage, Willie Ford got the first of his two interceptions to set up the Orangemen again. Two plays later, Mungro went over from the 1-yard line again, but Buhl again blocked the extra-point.

2002 HOLIDAY BOWL

[6] KANSAS STATE 34, ARIZONA STATE 27

QUALCOMM STADIUM • SAN DIEGO, CALIF.

DECEMBER 27, 2002 • 58,717

Derrick Evans caught a 10-yard touchdown pass from Eli Roberson with 1:15 left in the game to lift Kansas State to its first and only lead as the Wildcats defeated Arizona State, 34-27, in the 2002 Pacific Life Holiday Bowl.

Evans' catch completed a K-State comeback from deficits of 10-0, 20-7 and 27-20. Roberson, voted the Offensive MVP of the game, rushed for 63 yards, including touchdowns of 32, 3 and 1 yards, and totaled 215 yards through the air on 11-for-28 passing.

Roberson's 32-yard sprint came with just 54 seconds left in the second half and pulled the Wildcats within 20-14. Just 31 seconds earlier, Mike Barth converted on a 39-yard field goal to give ASU its largest lead of the game at 20-7.

K-State tied the game at 20-20 early in the fourth quarter when Roberson went in from three yards out. But Sun Devil quarterback Andrew Walter, who threw for 293 yards on 28-for-57 passing, found Mike Williams for a 10-yard score to put ASU back ahead on its next possession.

The Wildcats responded with an 80-yard drive on its next opportunity, setting up Roberson's 1-yard touchdown dive that tied the game again at 27-27 with 6:41 left, then forced a Sun Devil punt that Terence Newman returned 27 yards. From there, K-State needed just seven plays to cover 59 yards for the game-winning touchdown.

2004 FIESTA BOWL

[7] OHIO STATE 35, [8] KANSAS STATE 28

SUN DEVIL STADIUM • TEMPE, ARIZ.

JANUARY 2, 2004 • 73,425

Kansas State started slowly but finished with a fury in the 33rd Annual Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. But it wasn't enough to overcome a 21-point third-quarter deficit as the Wildcats lost a hard fought 35-28 decision to Ohio State in their first ever BCS bowl game at Sun Devil Stadium.

Trailing 35-14 heading into the fourth quarter, Ayo Saba scored from three yards out and closed the game to 14 points. Eli Roberson's second rushing touchdown with just 2:47 to go then pulled K-State within a touchdown.

After recovering the ensuing on-sides kick, the Wildcats were flagged for being offside, forcing a re-kick. This time the Buckeyes recovered at the K-State 36.

But the Wildcats held and got the ball back at their own 10-yard line with 1:12 to play. A 21-yard completion to Davin Dennis moved the ball to the K-State 26. On the next play Roberson connected with Jermaine Moreira for 26 yards to the OSU 48 to get Kansas State within striking distance.

However, Roberson's desperation pass from midfield was batted down at the 2, allowing Ohio State to escape with its second straight Fiesta Bowl victory.

2006 TEXAS BOWL

[16] RUTGERS 37, KANSAS STATE 10

RELIAINT STADIUM • HOUSTON, TEXAS
DECEMBER 28, 2006 • 52,210

Kansas State hung with No. 16 Rutgers for 30 minutes, but the Scarlet Knights scored 20 unanswered points in the second half to hand the Wildcats a 37-10 loss in the inaugural Texas Bowl before 52,210 fans at Reliant Stadium.

Ray Rice, the Texas Bowl MVP, rushed for 170 yards and a touchdown and Tim Brown caught two TD passes, for the Scarlet Knights, who claimed their first bowl victory in 137 seasons of intercollegiate football.

Brown's two TD catches came in the opening period and staked Rutgers to a quick 14-0 lead.

Kansas State answered with a 44-yard field goal by Jeff Snodgrass and a 76-yard punt return for a touchdown by Yamon Figurs that was the longest in K-State bowl history to close the gap to 14-10 midway through the second quarter.

But Jeremy Ito connected on a 37-yard field goal to close the half and linebacker Quintero Frierson returned an interception 27 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage of the second half to put Rutgers ahead 24-10.

Rice sprinted 46-yards for his lone touchdown of the game on the Scarlet Knights' next possession before Ito closed out the scoring with a pair of fourth-quarter field goals for the final margin.

Retired Number

The No. 11 jersey of quarterbacks Lynn Dickey and Steve Grogan was retired by Kansas State to honor the pair, who each donned the number while leading the Wildcats during some of the school's most successful football seasons. It is the only time in school history that a number has been retired in any sport.

11 • LYNN DICKEY

Quarterback
1968-70

Lynn Dickey, a native of Osawatomie, Kan., spent most of his NFL career with the Green Bay Packers but also played several seasons with the Houston Oilers. He threw for more than 21,000 yards with the Packers, including 4,458 yards in 1983 which at the time ranked second in NFL history.

Dickey still holds numerous K-State passing records and ranks third on the Big Eight's all-time list with 6,208 career passing yards. He is also second on K-State's all-time total offense chart.

Dickey was chosen as the first-team quarterback on the all-time Big Eight football team in 1995 and is a charter member of the K-State Sports Hall of Fame (1990). He was inducted into the State of Kansas Sports Hall of Fame in 1997.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

GARY SPANI

Linebacker
1974-77

Gary Spani became the first Kansas State player to be inducted to the College Football Hall of Fame in 2002. A member of the K-State Sports Hall of Fame (2000) and the Kansas Sports Hall of Fame (2004), Spani was Kansas State's first-ever consensus All-America in 1977, and also was a three-time All-Big-8 Conference selection.

Spani led the Wildcats in tackles three straight seasons and was twice named the team's most valuable player. To this day, he continues to dominate the Kansas State career record book as the program's all-time leader in career tackles (543), assisted tackles (343) and assists in a season (110).

Following graduation in 1978, Spani was chosen in the third round of the National Football League draft by the Kansas City Chiefs. He went on to play all nine years of his career with the Chiefs and led the organization in tackles four straight seasons.

Spani, who still works for the Chiefs organization, was named one of Sports Illustrated's 50 Greatest Players of the 20th Century from the state of Kansas.

CHARLES BACHMAN

Head Coach

Charles Bachman, who coached the K-State football team from 1920-27, was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame on Jan. 8, 1978. Bachman began his coaching career at Great Lakes Naval Station in 1918 and led that team to the 1918 Rose Bowl title and the national championship. He moved to Northwestern University in 1919 before joining the Wildcats in 1920.

Following his departure from K-State, Bachman coached at Florida from 1928 to 1932. He moved to Michigan State in 1933, where he coached the Spartans until 1946. He completed his coaching career at Hillsdale College in Michigan in 1953.

A member of the K-State Sports Hall of Fame (1995), Bachman's eight-year won-loss record at K-State was 33-23-9. Coaching a team that played primarily eight-game seasons, Bachman's teams won five games in four different seasons, including a 5-1-2 squad that outscored its opponents 154-61 in 1922.

Waldorf was regarded as one of the giants in college football coaching, earning his greatest accolades during his 10-year coaching career at California. He led the Bears to a 67-32-4 record from 1947-56, including three consecutive Rose Bowl appearances following the 1948, 1949 and 1950 seasons. Between 1947 and 1951, his teams played 38 consecutive regular-season games without a loss.

Bill Snyder Family Stadium

Renamed in honor of legendary head football coach Bill Snyder by a proclamation of the Kansas Board of Regents on Nov. 16, 2005, Bill Snyder Family Stadium will host its 39th season of Wildcat football this fall. Set on the north end of campus, Bill Snyder Family Stadium and the Vanier Football Complex have undergone a multi-million dollar renovation that have made them one of the premier football facilities in the Midwest.

Originally named KSU Stadium, the facility was built at a cost of $1.6 million and financed from student fees, athletics gate receipts and contributions. The stadium opened its doors Sept. 21, 1968, with a 21-0 shutout of Colorado State. The original seating capacity was set at 35,000, and an expansion in the summer of 1970 added 4,000 permanent bleachers on the east side and 3,000 temporary bleachers on the west side.

Following the 1998 season, the addition of a deck and sky suites on the east side of the stadium increased capacity to more than 50,000. On Nov. 11, 2000, 53,811 fans witnessed Kansas State's 29-28 win over Nebraska. It remains the largest crowd ever to witness a sporting event in the state of Kansas.

Bill Snyder Family Stadium's most recent change include a new FieldTurf playing surface in 2002, the on-going multi-million dollar upgrades to the Vanier Sports Complex, the installation of new video and message boards, including a 23' X 61' ProStar VideoPlus display in the south end zone in 2006, and a complete upgrade of the lower bowl seating for 2007.

The following is a rundown of the other facelifts that have been added during the 38-year history of Bill Snyder Family Stadium:

1970: A statewide fund-raising drive in the spring raised $250,000 for the installation of Astroturf, replacing the original natural grass.

1972: The office/dressing room complex at the north end of the stadium was added. It houses all the K-State football offices and has dressing facilities for the Wildcats and their opponents.

1980: New artificial turf was installed prior to the 1980 season.

1983: Permanent stadium lights were added allowing the Wildcats to play night games.

1987: An addition to the office/dressing room complex was made in the summer of 1987, which provided more dressing and training room facilities.

1989-1992: A $2 million renovation project was undertaken to re-vamp the entire football complex. The result is one of the most spectacular football complexes in the country, complete with plush locker rooms, a 6,500-square foot weight room, state of the art classrooms equipped with the latest video equipment, a training room, a players' lounge and the picturesque Big Eight Room. The structure now carries the title "Vanier Football Complex" in honor of the Vanier family of Brookville, Kan.

1991: New Astroturf was laid down prior to the 1991 season, and the field was named "Wagner Field" in honor of Dave and Carol Wagner of Dodge City, Kan.

1993: K-State put the finishing touches on its facility improvements with a $3.3 million five-level press box, including sky suites, and a $2.2 million full-length indoor facility.

1996: The $1 million Academic Learning Center became a part of the Vanier Complex, hosting study facilities for all K-State student-athletes. A $2.6 million project added a 20x26 foot JumboTron Screen, new scoreboards and marquis messageboard to the complex.

1999: Following the 1998 season, the facility underwent a $12.8 million expansion project. An additional 8,000 permanent seats were added, including a club seating area and 31 additional sky suites. The project raised the total capacity of KSU Stadium to over 50,000 with temporary seating.

2002: A new FieldTurf playing surface is installed. The $850,000 project was completed in late May of 2002 and features an innovative sand and rubber infill mixture and is the newest technology in competitive field products.

2003-07: The Vanier Football Complex receives a complete makeover that includes a new training facility, weight room,

2006: New video and message boards are installed at the north and south ends of Bill Snyder Family Stadium at a cost of $1.7 million. WILDCAT NICKNAME

Through its first 19 seasons of athletic competition, Kansas State had used "Aggies" as its nickname. But prior to the 1915 season, new coach John "Chief" Bender gave his squad the nickname "Wildcats." The moniker lasted the one season Bender coached at K-State. Under Coach Z.G. Clevenger in 1917, the school team became known as the "Farmers." In 1920 another new coach, Charles Bachman, took over the program, renaming the team "Wildcats." This time, the nickname stuck.

K-STATE COLORS

The school color Royal Purple was adopted in the fall of 1896 by a committee of "Miss Minnie L. Copeland, Jr. and Miss Winnifred Houghton and Miss Ina E. Holyrod, of the senior class, and perhaps one or more others." Although K-State's only official color is purple, white has been used as a complimentary color for many years. Silver is also a common second or third color. Former head basketball coach Cotton Fitzsimmons incorporated gold during his two-year stint (1968-70), but gold or yellow has not been used since that time. The term "Purple Pride," which is often used in association with KSU athletics, was given rise during the tenure of head football coach Vince Gibson (1967-74).

FIRST GAME

History has forgotten the actual score of the first football game played at the school now called Kansas State University.

On Dec. 2, 1892, a team from Kansas State Agricultural College played its first game. At "quarter back" was a sophomore from Colfax, Ill., named A.D. Benson. Benson had introduced his schoolmates to football when he arrived at KSAC in 1891.

The sport, however, was quickly banned by the college. Five years later, the school's newspaper, the K-State Industrialist, remarked, "It is hoped that our students have the good sense to play even football without violence, but the game as sometimes played is next to barbarism."

In 1896, KSAC played the first game now recorded in K-State's list of all-time scores. A team coached by Ira Pratt traveled to Fort Riley on Thanksgiving Day and lost to a squad comprised of soldiers, 14-0. Later that fall, KSAC played Fort Riley again, and this time the game ended in a 6-6 tie. It was during the 1896 season that KSAC adopted the mascot "Aggies," and selected Royal Purple as the school's official color.

FIRST NIGHT GAME

On Oct. 7, 1932, the Kansas State played its first night football game in school history. The team traveled to Salina, Kan., to play Kansas Wesleyan on a Friday evening and won 52-6, before a crowd of about 4,000. All-time great Ralph Graham, known as The Rammer, 28 points on four touchdowns and four extra points.

Fifteen years later, on Sept. 20, 1947, K-State played its first night game in Manhattan, losing 12-0 to Oklahoma State at Memorial Stadium.

K-STATE SONGS

The Alma Mater was selected as a result of a 1903 campus contest. H.W. Jones ('88) was responsible for K-State's prized result. Jones' original work was four stanzas including the chorus. His version has been slightly altered over the years to include just two stanzas and the changing of the words from Kansas State Agricultural College to Kansas State University.

Alma Mater

"I know a spot that I love full well,
'Tis not in forest nor yet in dell, ever it holds me with magic spell, I think of thee Alma Mater.

"KSU, we'll carry the banner high,
KSU long, long may thy colors fly.
Loyal to thee thy children shall swell the cry.

"Hail, Hail, Hail Alma Mater."

Wildcat Victory

"Fight you K-State Wildcats. For Alma Mater fight-fight-fight.

"Glory into combat for the purple and white. Faithful to our colors, we shall ever be, fighting ever fighting for a Wildcat Victory!"

K-STATE SLOGANS

Several chants and slogans are used in association with the team. "Purple Pride" and "Eat 'Em Up, Eat 'Em Up K-S-U" are just a few. One slogan that has virtually died out is "Every Man A Wildcat." The term was popular in the '50s, '60s and early '70s, and once adorned the front of the Ahearn Field House press box. Since the term referred to only one gender, however, it has faded.

Kansas State, itself, is referred to in many different shortened versions. The most popular is "K-State", which is used by alums, friends and journalists from coast to coast.

POWERCAT LOGO

One of the most recognizable athletic logos in the nation is the K-State Powercat. The logo was introduced by Bill Snyder shortly after his arrival in Manhattan as the attitude of the entire athletics department and university was changing.

Manhattan native Tom Bookwalter, in cooperation with head coach Bill Snyder, created the powerful logo that is a prominent feature on the K-State football helmet, at Wagner Field, on the back of the Dev Nelson Pressbox, clothing, flags, bottled water, vanity plates for cars and just about anywhere in Manhattan.

Previous logos used by the athletics department included a line drawing of a wildcat head and the cartoonish "Willie the Wildcat" that is used only by the Alumni Association.

WILLIE WILDCAT

Willie, a student bedecked in a oversized Wildcat head, is Kansas State's No. 1 fan. Willie Wildcats are selected yearly by a panel appointed by the cheerleading coach. The mascot is a central part of athletic contests, but also attends functions around the state as an ambassador. Traditionally, the identity of the student portraying Willie is kept secret.

TOUCHDOWN I-XI

In 1922, Hall-of-Famer Charles Bachman asked alumni to consider donating an actual Wildcat to the school to serve as a mascot. KSAC alumni Herbert R. Groome and John E. McCoy, both veterinarians in Twin Falls, Idaho, donated "Touchdown I" to the school shortly after the animal was nursed back to health under their care. (The bobcat had an encounter with a porcupine, and his face and throat were punctured by numerous quills. Unfortunately, Touchdown I never fully recovered from its fight, dying of pneumonia shortly after arriving in Manhattan.)

Although several bobcats served as Kansas State's wildcat mascot since being introduced in 1922, the animals no longer attend K-State games. Touchdown XI, the 11th in the line, was kept at Manhattan's Sunset Zoo.

WABASH CANNONBALL

Everyone knows that familiar tune Wabash Cannonball. In fact, Wabash and K-State are almost synonymous. What many people do not know is how the song became an integral part of Wildcat athletics. In the fall of 1968 the department of music burnt down. Every piece of music in the building was destroyed. The only thing that was salvaged was what was in the band director's brief case. That included a piece of music titled the Wabash Cannonball. With an upcoming basketball game and no music, that left only one thing to do. The band members played the song loud and often. A song that originally had no connection to KSU became a second fight song.

TROPHY GAME

The Governor's Trophy Game between Kansas State University and the University of Kansas was initiated in 1969 by Gov. Robert Docking. The original traveling trophy was retired following the 1996 K-State victory. A new trophy was introduced following the 48-16 win at Manhattan in 1997. The trophy is presented to the winning team and coaches in the winner's dressing room immediately following each year's game.

GOOD FOR A WILDCAT FIRST DOWN!

It was 1993 and the first year of the new $3.3 million press box. K-State's public address announcer began what would become a K-State tradition. After a Wildcat first down, he would say, "Good for a Wildcat first down." Throughout the 1993 season, the P.A. announcer did this ritual alone. However, at the beginning of the 1994 season the crowd started to join in on the catchy phrase and began to shout it with him. Now, with the addition of the first down and touchdown arm motions, K-State's P.A. announcer no longer even needs to finish the phrase as the Wildcat fans finish it for him.

ROBINSON BREAKS COLOR BARRIER

In 1948, Harold Robinson graduated from Manhattan High School and prepared to become Kansas State's first black student-athlete. After sitting out the 1948 season as all freshmen were required, K-State head coach Ralph Graham in 1949 made Robinson the first African-American to receive an athletic scholarship in the Big Seven Conference.

Robinson, who passed away in May of 2006, was named an All-Conference center in 1950, his junior season, despite playing for a 1-9-1 K-State team. Robinson gained the considerable respect of opponents and fans despite the smoldering racism that was so pervasive during his playing days. He wasn't allowed to stay at the same hotel as his teammates on many road trips, instead staying in private residences. Hoyt Givens did not play in 1949, but joined Robinson on the varsity in 1950 as a non-scholarship player.

Following Robinson as a barrier breaker in Big Seven baseball in 1952 was Earl Woods, the father of golf superstar Tiger Woods. Other K-Staters instrumental in breaking down the color barrier were Gene Wilson in basketball in 1952, Veryl Switzer, Norman Mills, Clifford Bizek and Herman Wilson in track in 1953 and Don Harris in tennis in 1952. Switzer earned All-America honors in football and went on to be the fourth player selected in the NFL draft by the Green Bay Packers in 1954.

KEN OCHS COURAGE AWARD

Ken Ochs was a 6-foot, 208-pound long shot to make the K-State football team in 1966. The La Crosse, Kan., native made the K-State team but suffered a leg injury during that spring's drills. After his leg didn't respond to treatment, it was discovered that Ochs had a malignant bone tumor. His leg was amputated six inches above the knee.

Ochs returned to K-State and earned his degree in the spring of 1969. By then, he was a manager for the football team, and the program had named an honor for personal courage in his name. Ken Ochs died of cancer Oct. 3, 1969.

KEN OCHS

WILDCAT WALK

Head football coach Ron Prince introduced a new pregame ritual prior to the 2006 season called the Wildcat Walk. Beginning approximately two-and-a-half hours prior to each home game, K-State players and coaches are dropped off at Gate 3 on College Avenue in the west parking lot of Bill Snyder Family Stadium. The team then makes its way to the stadium through a sea of boisterous fans and tailgaters on foot, eventually entering the stadium through Gate C on the west concourse as the throng of supporters cheers them on.

RING OF HONOR

Kansas State started a new tradition in 2002, as the football program announced the inaugural Ring of Honor Class. The distinction is designed to recognize those in the football program who have distinguished themselves on and off the field. Among the criteria considered is graduation from Kansas State with a student-athlete having been out of school for at least five years, quality of character, whether the person is an excellent representative of K-State and whether a person has achieved performance that warrants consensus All-America level status at Kansas State.

HARLEY DAY

A creation of former athletic director Max Urlick and Catbacker Director Lon Floyd, Harley Day, is one of the most popular days of the year for Wildcat fans. Led by Willie Wildcat, Harley Day participants, with their engines blaring, take the short ride around the playing surface of Bill Snyder Family Stadium, where they are greeted by a boisterous crowd of over 50,000 fans.

GOLDEN CATS

One of the truly unique aspects of Kansas State football is the Golden Cats Program - a group of former K-State football players, managers, trainers, coaches and support staff who make contributions directly to the football program. The primary purpose is to bring together all of the past members of the football program, to provide opportunities for them to reunite and spend time with teammates of the past, support the student-athletes who presently represent their program and help unite Kansas State University in a way never accomplished before. The organization brings additional funds into the football program and enables former athletes to enjoy the rewards, success and activities of supporting their school.

The Golden Cat program was developed in 1990 with each Golden Cat making a financial contribution to help assist with capital improvements related to football. The Golden Cat Club is the strongest team-sport support group at Kansas State. The club has provided strong financial assistance through the purchase of such things as weight equipment, rehab equipment and computers for the Academic Learning Center.

For the Golden Cats, it's a great opportunity to give back to the program, plus they can witness first-hand how their contributions have enhanced the opportunities of current and future football student-athletes.

In turn, the Golden Cats truly remain a part of the program, while receiving various privileges such as the brass name plates, pregame tailgate parties, Golden Cat clothing, video tapes, game program recognition and other memorabilia.

One of the country's elite universities, Kansas State provides its 23,000 students with a world-class education. The nation's No. 1 public institution in total number of Rhodes, Marshall, Truman, Goldwater, and Udall scholars since 1986, K-State offers more than 250 majors in nine colleges.

It's a vibrant time at Kansas State University. The most easily recognizable part of this new period of growth and improvement comes in the form of enrollment figures. More than 23,000 students enrolled at Kansas State during the fall 2006. That's a stunning accomplishment for President Jon Wefald and his staff, who have spearheaded a huge enrollment increase since their arrival in 1986.

Since Dr. Wefald's arrival, enrollment has increased by more than 7,000 students. K-State has also built a healthy endowment program and established a national presence in intercollegiate athletics.

With Wefald at the helm, K-State's total research funding increased to record numbers. The university returns nearly $17 for every $1 of state funding it receives.

In addition, K-State has added over 2.0 million square feet of new university buildings, including a new library, a new art museum, and a nationally acclaimed plant science building. Construction was also recently completed on K-State's $53.4 million Biosecurity Research Institute, making the University a national leader in the fight against bio terrorism.

Academic achievement at the institution is drawing national acclaim as well. K-State leads the nation's public universities in the total number of Rhodes, Marshall, Truman, Goldwater and Udall scholarship winners. K-State students have won more Truman scholarships, more Goldwater scholarships and more Phi Kappa Phi Fellowships than any other public university in the nation.

Founded on February 16, 1863, Kansas State is the oldest public institution of higher education in Kansas and one of the nation's first land-grant universities.

Throughout its history, K-State's mission has been rooted in the principles set forth in the Morrill Act-to provide teaching, research and service to the citizens of Kansas, the nation and the world.

The university's 668-acre wooded campus with historic sandstone buildings is located in Manhattan (pop. 47,916). It's a pleasant community nestled in the scenic Flint Hills, 125 miles west of Kansas City.

The College of Technology and Aviation, housed on the Salina campus, offers bachelor's and associate degrees in aviation and engineering technologies.

Commuter air service in and out of Manhattan Regional Airport connects the city with major airports all over the Midwest. Five miles north of campus lies Tuttle Creek Reservoir, a favorite outlet of students for boating, water skiing, swimming and fishing.

K-State has gained a nationwide reputation for producing prestigious scholarship winners. Only Harvard, Yale, Stanford, Princeton, and Duke have had more.

With such a reputation for excellence, it's no surprise that K-State's enrollment has surged to an all-time high in recent years.

Every county in the state, every state in the nation and numerous countries from around the world are represented by students attending K-State.

Over 250 majors and options are offered in the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Engineering, Business Administration, Agriculture, Education, Architecture and Design, Human Ecology, Technology and Aviation and Veterinary Medicine. Six of the nine colleges at Kansas State University are the most comprehensive in the state, and the College of Business Administration ranks in the top 15 percent nationally.

K-State is 47th on Intel's "Most Unwired College Campuses" survey that ranks the top 100 U.S. schools for wireless computing access. Wireless computing networks allow students to use notebook PCs to access the Internet from residence halls, the student union, the library, and outdoors, all without being tied to a wired-in-the-wall connection.

ACADEMIC RECOGNITION

- ▶ K-State is in the top four percent of schools in the nation for research activity. According to the latest rankings of America's colleges and universities by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, K-State now ranks in the top tier of the three subcategories for the 278 doctorate-granting institutions evaluated in the Carnegie Foundation's study.
- ▶ K-State is listed among the nation's top colleges in Princeton Review's "America's Best Value Colleges." "Based on data The Princeton Review obtained from administrators at 646 colleges and surveys it conducted of students attending them, the new 2007 edition recommends 150 colleges offering excellent academics, generous financial aid packages and relatively low costs.
- ▶ K-State is among the top 94 of all public and private colleges and universities in the nation. According to the latest classification of universities and colleges by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, K-State now ranks in the top tier in the category "research universities." The classification means K-State is now among the top 4 percent of institutions of higher education in the United States.
- ▶ More than $150 million in student financial assistance is available, including $6 million in scholarships. Seven out of 10 students receive student financial assistance.
- ▶ K-State graduates face a promising future. According to the university's Post-Graduation Bachelor Degree Statistics, more than 90 percent of recent graduates surveyed are employed or are continuing their education.
- ▶ K-State is committed to individualized education whenever possible. For example, freshman English classes have no more than 22 students, introductory chemistry labs average 18 students, introductory art classes average 23 students and speech classes are limited to 23 students. Eighty percent of classes have 40 students or less, and the average class size for all undergraduate classes is 23 students.
- ▶ Seven colleges are the most comprehensive in the state. These include the Colleges of Engineering; Education; Human Ecology; Agriculture; Planning and Design; Veterinary Medicine; and Technology and Aviation. The College of Arts and Sciences, the largest college, serves as the "heart and soul" of the university.

UNIVERSITY HISTORY

Kansas State University was founded Feb. 16, 1863, under provisions of the Morrill Act which established land grant colleges. It was initially located on the grounds of the old Bluemont Central College, which was chartered in 1858. The university moved to its present site in 1875. Historians disagree over whether K-State or Michigan State was the first land-grant college in the nation.

The 668-acre main campus is in northern Manhattan and is convenient to both business and residential districts. It is located 125 miles west of Kansas City via Interstate 70 in the rolling Flint Hills of northeast Kansas.

Under an enactment of the 1991 Kansas Legislature, the Salina campus was established through a merger of the former Kansas College of Technology with the university.

Additional university sites include 18,000 acres in the four branch locations of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Hays, Garden City, Colby and Parsons, and 8,600 acres in the Konza Prairie Research Natural Area jointly operated by the AES and the Division of Biology.

K-State accomplishments have far-reaching effects. Most NASA space shuttle flights carry K-State experiments aboard. Astronaut space gloves and the water-purifying system used on the NASA space shuttles were developed here. K-State is at the forefront of a national atomic physics research program that could mean nuclear power without nuclear waste. K-State is also home to a national Center for Basic Cancer Research and has been at the forefront in the fight against bio terrorism.

The university hosts the prestigious Landon Lectures on Public Issues, honoring the late Kansas statesman Alfred M. Landon. Since 1966 the series has featured more than 120 nationally prominent speakers. Past speakers include Presidents Jimmy Carter, Gerald Ford, Richard Nixon, Ronald Reagan, George W. Bush and, most recently, Bill Clinton.

One of six universities governed by the Kansas Board of Regents, Kansas State University continues to fulfill its historic educational mission in teaching, research and public service.

MISSION STATEMENT

Kansas State University is a comprehensive, research, land-grant institution first serving students and the people of Kansas, and also the nation and the world.

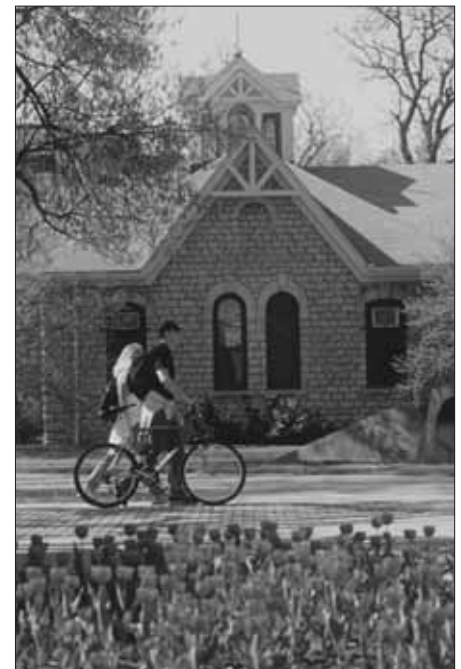

Since its founding in 1863, the University has evolved into a modern institution of higher education, committed to quality programs, and responsive to a rapidly changing world and the aspirations of an increasingly diverse society. Together with other major comprehensive universities, Kansas State shares responsibilities for developing human potential, expanding knowledge, enriching cultural expression, and extending its expertise to individuals, business, education, and government. These responsibilities are addressed through an array of undergraduate and graduate degree programs, research and creative activities, and outreach and public service programs. In addition, its land-grant mandate, based on federal and state legislation, establishes a focus to its instructional, research, and extension activities which is unique among the Regents' institutions.

Through quality teaching, the University is committed to provide all students with opportunities to develop the knowledge, understanding, and skills characteristic of an educated person. It is also pledged to prepare students for successful employment or advanced studies through a variety of disciplinary and professional degree programs. To meet these intentions, the institution dedicates itself to providing academic and extracurricular learning experiences which promote and value both excellence and cultural diversity. Kansas State University prepares its students to be informed, productive, and responsible citizens who participate actively in advancing cultural, educational, economic, scientific, and socio-political undertakings.

Research and other creative endeavors comprise an essential component of Kansas State University's mission. All faculty members contribute to the discovery and dissemination of new knowledge. These efforts, supported by public and private resources, are conducted in an atmosphere of open inquiry and academic freedom. Basic to the pursuit of this mission is the University's commitment to broad-based programs in graduate education at both the master's and doctoral levels.

Kansas State University's mission includes enriching the lives of the citizens of Kansas by extending to them opportunities to engage in life-long learning and to benefit from the results of research. The University addresses this charge through mutually supportive activities on its Manhattan and Salina campuses, research and extension sites at numerous locations, outreach programs offered throughout the State and nation, and international activities.

The mission of Kansas State University is enhanced by symbiotic relationships among the discovery of knowledge, the education of undergraduate and graduate students, and improvement in the quality of life through research applications. Coordinated teaching, research, and extension services help develop the highly skilled and educated work force necessary to the economic well-being of Kansas, the nation, and the international community.

DR. JON WEFALD

University President
Pacific Lutheran '59

Few college presidents have been as well recognized nationally for improving the athletic and academic programs on a campus as K-State's Jon Wefald.

Lauded by publications from the Christian Science Monitor to Sports Illustrated to USA Today, and by broadcasters like Paul Harvey, the accomplishments during Wefald's tenure have been well noted in the national media. USA Today called these achievements the "miracle in Manhattan."

Under his leadership, K-State has added about 2 million square feet of new university buildings, including a new library, a new art museum, and a nationally acclaimed plant science building. In addition, during the Wefald years enrollment has increased from about 13,500 to more than 23,000; K-State has built a healthy endowment program and established a national presence in athletics. With Wefald at the helm, K-State's total research funding increased to record numbers. The university returns nearly $17 for every $1 of state funding it receives.

Since his arrival in 1986, K-State leads the nation's public universities in the total number of Rhodes, Marshall, Truman, Goldwater and Udall scholarship winners. K-State students have won more Truman scholarships, more Goldwater scholarships and more Phi Kappa Phi Fellowships than any other public university in the nation. By recognizing and encouraging excellence, Wefald has helped K-State achieve the pinnacle of success.

Before coming to K-State, Wefald served as Chancellor of the State University System in Minnesota from 1982-86, a system comprised of seven universities. He was president of Southwest State in Marshall, Minn., from 1977-82; Minnesota's Commissioner of Agriculture from 1971-77, and a member of the faculty at Gustavus Adolphus from 1965-70.

He earned his B.A. from Pacific Lutheran in 1959, his M.A. in history and political science from Washington State University in 1961 and his doctorate in history from the University of Michigan in 1965.

Born Nov. 24, 1937, Wefald is married to the former Ruth Ann Joynt. The couple has two adult sons, Skipp and Andy, both of whom earned degrees from K-State.

BOB KRAUSE

Vice President for Institutional Advancement
Western Illinois '67

Bob Krause has played a key role in the development of both the university and the athletic department since his appointment as Kansas State's vice president for institutional advancement in September 1986.

Krause is the chief student affairs officer for K-State and also oversees external university relations with various constituencies. He coordinates the university's on-going activities with the K-State department of athletics, the KSU Foundation, the K-State Alumni Association and works with various external groups such as the Board of Regents, Kansas Technology Enterprise Corporation and other governmental agencies.

Since his arrival at K-State, Krause has focused attention on ways to improve the attraction and retention of students; means by which the university can better assist Manhattan and the state of Kansas in the area of economic development through cooperative endeavors with local and state agencies; and ways to expand public awareness regarding the value society receives from the teaching, research and service provided by K-State faculty.

Krause came to K-State from the Minnesota State University System, where he served as director of student affairs from 1983 to 1986. In that role, he coordinated system-wide policy and program development for seven state universities enrolling some 51,000 students. From 1975 to 1983, he served as vice president for student affairs at Southwest State University in Minnesota.

Krause received his bachelor's degree in art education and art from Western Illinois University in 1967 and his master's in college student personnel work from Michigan State University in 1968.

Born Sept. 12, 1945, Krause is married to Dr. Marty Vanier. He has three daughters - Katie and Kirsten, both graduates of K-State, and Kathy, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

MICHAEL HOLEN

Faculty Representative
Dean, College of Education
Stanford '67

Asking 18 and 19-year-old college students for what career they're preparing isn't a question Michael Holen, dean of College of Education, tends to ask. Instead, Holen encourages students to pursue academic programs to provide them with a range of intellectual experiences well beyond what they would need in any specific job.

Holen, who came to K-State in 1971, served as a professor, department head and associate dean before being named dean of education in 1991.

In 1988, Holen received the Presidential Award for Distinguished Service to Minority Education after helping many predominantly black universities develop academic programs and administrative systems. He has twice chaired the Regents' Council of Education Deans and since 1999 has served as K-State's Faculty Athletics Representative to the Big 12 Conference.

Holen earned his bachelor's degree in history and literature from Stanford University and his master's and doctorate degrees in educational psychology, both from the University of Oregon.

TIM WEISER

Athletics Director
Emporia State '81

In his six years as Athletics Director at Kansas State, Tim Weiser has guided Wildcat athletics to an unprecedented level of success that has seen it emerge as one of the Big 12 Conference's premier programs.

And while he is quick to deflect praise for Kansas State's accomplishments toward student-athletes, coaches, staff, university administrators and the program's loyal fans, few can argue that Weiser's visionary leadership has spearheaded a complete transformation of the athletics department that has K-State poised to meet the challenges of the 21st Century.

Guided by a philosophy of providing the best possible experience for Kansas State's student-athletes, Weiser, who in 2006 agreed to a 10-year rollover contract extension, has been able to focus the efforts of an entire department and as a result usher in the most successful era in athletics ever at K-State.

Since his arrival in July of 2001, Weiser, 49, has employed a combination of strong management principles and sound financial planning to yield consistent growth in the areas of revenues, donor and corporate support and facility enhancement.

This focus on fund-raising and fiscal responsibility has enabled Kansas State to undertake an aggressive yet fiscally responsible approach to facility improvements that have yielded across-the-board upgrades for nearly all of K-State's 16 intercollegiate athletics programs.

In the last three years alone, K-State has completed nearly $7 million in upgrades to the Vanier Football Complex and Bill Snyder Family Stadium, begun construction on premium loge seating in Bramlage Coliseum, constructed new team facilities for the track & field and rowing programs, and installed new playing surfaces in just about all of its competitive and practice venues, including FieldTurf in the Indoor Football Complex, Brandeberry Indoor Complex and Tointon Family Stadium.

During his first year at Kansas State, construction was completed on Frank Myers Field at Tointon Family Stadium, bringing the Wildcats' baseball facility to a stature as one of the best in the Big 12 Conference.

Kansas State's annual athletics operating budget has also taken quantum leaps forward under Weiser's direction, growing from $27 million in fiscal year 2001 to one projected at over $38 million for the upcoming academic year. Additionally, Weiser's forward-thinking philosophies have established a multi-million dollar reserve fund – the first of its kind in school history – with K-State finishing in the black in each year of his tenure.

On the field, the Wildcats continue to enjoy unprecedented success, and the 2006-07 academic year was no different. For the first time in school history, K-State's football (Texas Bowl), men's basketball (NIT), women's basketball (WNIT) and baseball (Big 12 Tournament) teams all made post-season appearances in the same academic year. This on-the-field success comes on the heels of K-State sending no fewer than 10 of its 16 teams on to postseason play in each of the previous three years. Individually, K-State has produced 38 All-Americans in just the last four years.

In 2003-04, Weiser's third year at the helm, Kansas State became the first Big 12 institution to win conference championships in three top-tier sports (football, volleyball, women's basketball) in the same year. And, if one considers that K-State also had at least one first-team academic All-American on each of those championship teams, a clear picture of what K-State athletics have become during Weiser's tenure begins to emerge.

Kansas State has also become one of the conference leaders in classroom achievement. Over the past four years nearly half of K-State's student-athletes have achieved a grade-point average of 3.0 or better, earning Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll distinction.

The popularity of Wildcat athletics has also skyrocketed to an all-time high under Weiser's direction, with the men's basketball program enjoying its first ever season sell out during the 2006-07 campaign and the football program also showing impressive increases. But it's not just the men's

"If we do our job well, in four or five years our student-athletes will walk across the stage and grab a diploma, and if on that hand is a championship ring, we will have provided the best experience possible."

sports that have enjoyed sterling support. K-State's women's volleyball and basketball programs both continue to rank among the national leaders in attendance, while the Wildcat baseball team recorded its highest average season attendance ever at Tointon Family Stadium during 2007.

This increase in popularity, combined with the public's confidence in Weiser's leadership, has continued to generate record revenues in the areas of fund-raising, corporate sponsorship and media rights. The number of contributors to the Mike Ahearn Scholarship fund is now approaching 8,000, representing a 30 percent increase over 2002-03 and more than a 50 percent increase from Weiser's first year at K-State. Corporate support of K-State athletics is also at an all-time high, buoyed by a record-setting five-year sponsorship pact with ALLTEL and a recent contract with Nike that made it the official footwear and apparel supplier of Kansas State Athletics.

During his tenure, Weiser has also negotiated new deals for K-State's radio and third-tier television rights, including a 10-year multimedia and marketing rights contract with Learfield Communications that is the largest revenue contract in the history of Wildcat athletics.

In an effort to continue this era of success, Weiser implemented a first-ever Strategic Plan to serve as a blueprint for the department. The plan encompasses every aspect of the department and includes K-State's ongoing effort to provide its student-athletes with top-notch facilities.

Weiser's accomplishments in bringing significant and positive changes to the K-State athletics landscape have not gone unnoticed. He was selected as the 2004-05 NACDA Central Region Athletics Director of the Year and has also received the General Robert Neyland Outstanding Athletics Director Award from the All-America Football Foundation.

Weiser has also developed a strong profile on the national level since arriving at Kansas State. He is the incoming president of the Division 1A Athletic Directors' Association and also serves on the NCAA Championships Cabinet. Weiser is also a member of the NCAA Baseball Committee and recently served on the NCAA Baseball Academic Enhancement panel. Weiser has additionally been involved with a number of university visits as part of the NCAA Division I Peer Review program.

Named Kansas State's 13th Director of Athletics on July 1, 2001, Weiser's arrival at K-State was a homecoming for the native Kansan, who was raised in Great Bend and received his bachelor's degree in psychology and a master's in counseling from Emporia State while competing on a baseball scholarship.

He came to Kansas State after a successful three-year run as Director of Athletics at Colorado State, where Ram athletics experienced a similar renaissance that included record increases in fund-raising and revenue generation and the completion of the $8 million Fum McGraw athletic center.

Weiser also played a central role in the development of the Mountain West Conference during his CSU tenure. He was involved in hiring the commissioner, negotiating television packages and developing the conference's constitution and by-laws.

Prior to his tenure at Colorado State, Weiser served as athletics director at Eastern Michigan for four years and held the same position at Austin Peay State University from July 1988 to September 1993.

At Eastern Michigan, Weiser directed an athletics department which included 22 sports. In his four seasons, he turned a deficit of more than a half-million dollars into a six-figure surplus while simultaneously adding two new women's sports. In all, EMU won 14 conference championships during his tenure, and in 1996 captured the Reese Trophy, awarded annually by the Mid-American Conference for overall excellence in men's sports. He also directed and supervised the design and construction of a $30 million convocation center which opened in October 1998.

In his first stint as an athletics director at Austin Peay, Weiser's five-year tenure witnessed the development of a number of academic programs to enhance the support of student-athletes at the school while spearheading various fund-raising endeavors that generated more than $1 million in facility improvements.

Weiser worked for five years at Wichita State, serving in various roles from February 1983 through July 1988. He directed the compliance office and supervised the academic support unit before moving into a role in the development office, where he was responsible for the bulk of fund-raising for improvements to Wichita State's baseball facility. Weiser spent his last year at Wichita State as the associate athletics director and was responsible for day-to-day operations of the Shockers' programs.

Weiser and his wife, Susan, are the parents of two children. Melanie is a gymnast at the University of Arizona, while Rudy is a member of the Emporia State baseball team.

WHAT EVERY ALUMNUS AND BOOSTER OF KANSAS STATE SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE NCAA

Key Points

A 'representative' of Kansas State's athletic interests is: an individual who is known (or who should have been known) by a member of K-State's executive or athletics administration to:

- A) have participated in or to be a member of an agency or organization promoting KSU athletics.
- B) have made financial contributions to the athletic department or to an athletic booster organization of K-State.
- C) have been involved otherwise in promoting the institution's athletic program.
- D) bought or received tickets to a K-State athletics event.

Once an individual is identified as an 'athletic representative,' the person retains that identity forever.

Key Rule: NCAA BYLAW 13.01.5

In Division I, representatives of athletics interest are prohibited from making in-person, on-or-off campus recruiting contacts, written, telephonic communications or e-mail transactions with a prospect or the prospect's relatives or legal guardians.

Interpretations

1. A representative of a Division I institution is prohibited from making in-person recruiting contact with a prospect and his or her parents/guardian on or off campus.

Limited Exception: You may have contact with a prospect regarding permissible pre-enrollment activities such as summer employment, provided the prospect has already signed a National Letter of Intent and K-State is aware that you are making these contacts in regard to employment.

2. A Division I representative is prohibited from writing or telephoning a prospect and his or her parents or legal guardians.

Limited Exception: You may have a phone conversation with a prospect only if the prospect initiates the call. Such a call may not be prearranged by a K-State staff member and you are not permitted to have a recruiting conversation, but may exhibit normal civility. You must refer any questions about the University's athletic program to the athletic department.

3. A representative is prohibited from contacting a prospect's coach, principal, or counselor in an attempt to evaluate the prospect.

Limited Exception: NCAA rules do not preclude you from viewing a prospect's contest on your own initiative, but you may not contact the prospect, pick up game films or transcripts.

What can I do?

If you know of a high school or junior college student-athlete who might want to attend Kansas State, the only permissible activity for a representative is to call the appropriate K-State coach.

What is an "Extra Benefit?"

An extra benefit would include provision of any transportation, meals, clothes, entertainment, preferential loan terms, wages not commensurate with duties, or other benefits offered to a prospect or current student-athlete which is unavailable to the general student population.

What can you do with prospects?

DO feel free to attend high school and junior college athletic events. You simply cannot have any contact with the prospective student-athletes or relatives. Should you find yourself seated next to parents of a prospect, DO NOT initiate conversation with the relatives. If conversation is initiated with you, respond in a civil manner, but DO NOT discuss K-State's athletic program with them. If they raise questions about athletics, remind them that the NCAA prohibits you from discussing athletics with them. Direct their questions to the athletic department. You MAY discuss the University in general, and its academic programs.

DO continue established family relationships with friends and neighbors. Contacts with sons and daughters of those families are permitted as long as they are not made for recruiting purposes and are not prompted by Wildcat coaching staff members. You ARE permitted to play 'pick up' games, continue neighborhood picnics or backyard barbecues and engage in your normal activities with prospects and their parents who are family friends.

DO feel free to attend a public event (i.e. awards dinner) at which prospects are in attendance. NO attempt should be made to contact or recruit the prospect at these events.

What can I do for current K-State athletes?

DO feel free to invite a student-athlete to your home for an occasional meal, but you must first contact the coach in the sport in which the student-athlete is a participant. Remember, the student-athlete must provide his or her own transportation. You may do this a maximum of one time per school term per athlete.

DO feel free to invite a team for dinner or to meet with a group of alumni in a city where they are competing. The NCAA permits student-athletes AS A TEAM to receive special benefits not permitted as individuals. Arrangements for such events must be

KANSAS STATE DEPARTMENT OF INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

Mission Statement

The mission of the Kansas State University Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is to provide, within the context of available resources, an environment that supports the educational objectives, academic progress and general welfare of student-athletes and allows them to compete at the highest levels of athletics. Our mission is also to embrace the guidelines and principles established by the Big XII Conference and NCAA, which promote the principles of sportsmanship and ethical conduct. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is committed to providing fair and equitable treatment for all student-athletes and athletic department personnel, including women and minorities.

Philosophy Statement

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics shall assure that all intercollegiate sports programs and department operations are consistent with the mission of Kansas State University. Student-athletes and department employees should be treated fairly and equitably regardless of gender or race. All department activities will be conducted within the rules, regulations and policies of Kansas State University, the Big XII Conference and the NCAA.

The Department's decision-making process shall be based upon consideration of the academic, emotional and physical welfare of every current and future student-athlete. The learning experience to be provided to student-athletes should promote social, moral, emotional, cultural, and vocational growth and development and should emphasize the value of sportsmanship, loyalty, teamwork, & individual accountability. An environment promoting excellence will allow the physically talented and gifted student-athlete to achieve maximum potential.

made in advance with the head coach or appropriate athletic staff member.

How can I assist with summer employment?

DO pay student-athletes employed by you for work actually performed and at a rate commensurate with the going rate for similar services in the community and your business.

DO notify the head coaches or the athletic department of job possibilities for student-athletes.

Other questions and answers:

Q. May I accompany the coach during a 'home' visit with the prospect?

A. No

Q. May I drive a prospect to a secondary school's reception in my local area?

A. No, unless such arrangements are made for all students in attendance.

Q. May a booster group finance a season-ending banquet? May it purchase any awards for the team?

A. Yes, provided all funds are expended through the athletic department. Since the NCAA has established a value limit on awards received by student-athletes, it is important to have all awards approved by the athletic department.

Additional reminders:

1. Please contact the athletics department for NCAA rules interpretations.

2. Remember that in most cases CONTACT is prohibited.

Head football coach Ron Prince hosts a weekly news conference each Monday at the Vanier Football Complex beginning at 12:30 p.m. Lunch is served at 1 p.m., with requested players available from 1:30 to 2:15 p.m. To request players for the weekly news conference, media should contact sports information director Kenny Lannou each proceeding Sunday at 785.532.6735 or via e-mail at klannou@ksu.edu. If a player has a class conflict, an alternate time may be arranged. Quotes from the news conference are available on www.k-statesports.com each Monday afternoon.

News Conference Video

Broadcast-quality video files for television newscasts of each weekly news conference are available for download on Monday afternoons. Contact the K-State Sports Information Office for FTP access instructions and information regarding the files.

Other Availability

Ron Prince: In addition to Kansas State's Monday news conference, head coach Ron Prince is available to the media each Monday morning on the Big 12 Conference's weekly teleconference. Coach Prince is also available following practices on Tuesdays and via telephone for out-of-town media outlets on Wednesdays between 12 and 1 p.m.

Assistant Coaches: Media access to assistant coaches is restricted to selected pre- and post-season opportunities during the year. Please contact the K-State Sports Information office for information relating to these limited opportunities.

Players: All player interviews MUST be arranged through the K-State Sports Information Office. During the season, Wildcat players are available to the media at Monday news conference and following practice on Tuesdays. No player interviews will be arranged after Tuesday on the week of a game.

Practice

Selected preseason practices will be open to the media and fans. Please contact the Kansas State Sports Information Office or consult the official K-State website, www.k-statesports.com, for the schedule of open practices. Once the season begins, all practices are closed to the public and media.

GAMEDAY INFORMATION

Working Credentials

Media outlets interested in covering Kansas State football on either a season or individual-game basis are requested to submit all applications for credentials through the K-State Sports Information football credential application website. To access the site, please visit www.k-statesports.com/media. The K-State Sports Information office is unable to process written requests for football credentials.

Because of inconsistent mail delivery service on tight deadlines, media passes may not be mailed in some instances. If this is the case, passes may be picked up at the Will Call window located on the West Side of Bill Snyder Family Stadium beginning two hours prior to kickoff. Individuals picking up credentials will be required to furnish positive identification. All credentials are non-transferable and are issued based on Kansas State's credential policy.

Admission to the press box is for working media only. Only those media with official K-State credentials will be admitted. Friends, spouses, children under the age of 16 and non-workers are not welcome in the press area.

Press Parking

Press parking is limited and will be issued upon request on a first-come, first-served basis as available. Contact the Kansas State Sports Information Office regarding details and directions to press parking areas.

Photographers

Only accredited photographers on assignment from recognized media outlets will be issued sideline credentials. In accordance with NCAA rules, no freelance photographers will be admitted to the sidelines or press box photo deck. All photographers must obtain and wear an armband (available in the press box on gamedays) and a media pass to shoot inside Bill Snyder Family Stadium. NCAA rules limit shooting to outside the restraining line enclosing the playing field and outside the 25-yard lines (the team areas). Children under 16-years-old are not permitted on the sideline.

VISITING RADIO STATIONS

To inquire about access to Kansas State's existing radio courtesy lines, visiting radio stations should contact Ben Boyle, K-State Sports Network General Manager, at 785.532.2002. Only those stations recognized as the official originator for the visiting team will be afforded broadcast facilities. For national networks, a rights fee is charged. National networks are also required to protect the broadcast footprint of the K-State Sports Network. Broadcast facilities for national networks are available on the photo deck on a first-come, first-served basis.

Websites

Kansas State reserves the right to deny media credentials to any individual whose website is not affiliated with an official news-gathering organization or publication. Credentials will be issued to official online services of national, over-the-air or cable networks or established publications which are staffed by full-time employees (i.e. ESPN.com, SI.com, CBSsportsline.com, etc.) with a maximum of one credential.

Credentials will not be granted to any online agency operating sites that are in any way affiliated with gambling, or to "freelance" or "fan-based" sites that are not affiliated with a legitimate news gathering organization or publication.

Membership in a writer's association does not automatically qualify an agency for credentials.

Additionally, online services are prohibited from "real time" or "cybercast" transmissions of all K-State athletics events. Those rights are co-owned by Kansas State University, Learfield Communications and the Big 12 Conference.

Road Credentials

Obtaining media credentials for K-State road games is the sole responsibility of each media outlet. Credentials are granted at the discretion of the host institution. Please be specific when requesting the type of credential needed. Opponent SID telephone numbers are listed in the Opponent pages of this media guide.

K-STATE CREDENTIAL POLICY

Credentials and working space for media members are issued at the sole and exclusive discretion of the Kansas State Sports Information Office based on the following priorities and guidelines:

2. Daily newspapers regularly covering Kansas State University, the current-game opponent or another Big 12 school. Wire services, regional and national publications are also afforded this priority.
3. Non-originating radio and television personnel producing reports on the game. Only local radio stations with a full-time sports director conducting a regular sports show receive consideration.
4. Officially recognized Kansas State University student publications or electronic media outlets.
5. Non-daily newspapers or publications reporting on the game.

Other Credential Guidelines

- ▶ With the exception of beat writers covering Kansas State daily, all passes are issued on a game-by-game basis with consideration of available working space.
- ▶ Passes are non-transferable and are subject to immediate revocation if transferred to non-working members of a media outlet.
- ▶ Kansas State University and the NCAA prohibit the issuance of credentials to representatives of organizations that regularly publish gambling information, such as "tout" or "tip" sheets.
- ▶ Credentials are issued to web sites that are affiliated with web sites for national or regional television and news media organizations, e.g. USA Today Online, ESPN.com, SI.com, CBSsportsline.com, etc., for institutions that are conference members and non-conference opponents, and for the Big 12 Conference.
- ▶ Web sites that sponsor "message boards" or "chat rooms" where people are allowed to post anonymous information or rumors are ineligible for credentials or access to media functions.
- ▶ If a news-gathering medium has an online site that sponsors anonymous forums, it may continue to request credentials under its traditional medium (newspaper, magazine, radio or television), but will not be granted additional passes or access for online staff.
- ▶ Kansas State University reserves the right to deny media credentials to any individual whose web site is not affiliated with a recognized news-gathering organization.
- ▶ All persons picking up credentials will be required to furnish positive identification. All credentials are non-transferable.
- ▶ Spouses, dates, non-workers and anyone under 16 years of age are not permitted in the working press area.

K-STATE SPORTS NETWORK BROADCAST TEAM

WYATT THOMPSON

Voice of the Wildcats

Play-by-play announcer Wyatt Thompson, a native Kansan, serves as the anchor of the Kansas State Sports Network and returns for his sixth season behind the mike as "Voice of the Wildcats".

K-State's Director of Sportscasting, Thompson also serves as host of the Ron Prince and Frank Martin shows on both television and radio. In addition, he is involved in various Catbacker Club, alumni and athletic department functions, frequently serving as a keynote speaker.

Thompson came to K-State from Colorado State, where he was the play-by-play voice for the Rams' football and men's basketball teams for five years. An accomplished broadcaster, he won the Colorado Broadcasting Association award for best play-by-play in 2000. In addition to his duties at CSU, he was also a sports reporter for Clear Channel Denver, the "Countdown to Kickoff" host for the Denver Broncos on KOA Radio and hosted the "Zone Sports Insiders" show on 760 The Zone in Denver.

Thompson started his broadcasting career in 1976 as a sportscaster for various high schools, colleges and universities in Kansas, spending time at stations in Hays and Goodland. He was recognized with the Kansas Association of Broadcasters Play-by-Play Award in 1982 and the Oscar Stauffer Sportscaster of the Year Award in 1989.

STAN WEBER

Analyst

Providing the color analysis is former Kansas State quarterback Stan Weber. Now in his 21st year in the booth, Weber holds the second longest tenure for a K-State radio broadcaster behind only legendary broadcaster Dev Nelson, who called games for 25 years.

In addition to these duties, Weber provides color commentary for men's basketball games on the K-State Sports Network as well as FSN Midwest. A native of Goddard, Kan., he served as captain of the 1984 team and led the Wildcats in rushing while earning Academic All-America honors.

Weber, who graduated magna cum laude, received his bachelor's and master's degrees in accountancy from Kansas State and currently serves as Vice President - CFO of Tower Properties, in addition to his broadcast duties.

Weber and his wife, Nancy (Freshnock), a former K-State cheerleader, have four children (Brittani, Stanton, McKenzi and Landry) and reside in Overland Park, Kan.

MATT WALTERS

Sideline Reporter and Postgame Host

Local radio personality Matt Walters is in his third year as the Wildcats' sideline reporter and host of the network's postgame show. A 12-year veteran of K-State baseball broadcasts and host of the popular 'Powercat Gameday' football pre-game show on KMAN and KMKF since 1998, he is in his third year as a color analyst for the men's basketball team for the K-State Sports Network. He also serves as the public address announcer for the women's basketball team.

A 1992 graduate of Kansas State and native of Russell, Kan., Walters is in his seventh year as Program Director of KMAN, and in his 13th year at the station overall.

Along with overseeing everything that goes on with the station, Walters also hosts 'The Game,' a drive-time sports talk show that airs on KMAN, and serves as the play-by-play voice of the Manhattan High School football and boys' basketball teams.

An award-winning broadcaster, Walters recently received the prestigious Oscar Stauffer Sportscaster of the Year for 2005. Walters and his wife, Megan, live in Manhattan.

KANSAS STATE FOOTBALL ON RADIO

Wildcat football is on the air! The 2007 football season marks third year of the K-State Sports Network, a joint venture of Kansas State Athletics and Learfield Communications. Learfield Communications is a national leader in collegiate sports broadcasting and marketing, owning the rights to 34 of the nation's top collegiate programs.

The 2005-06 season was the first year of a 10-year partnership between Learfield and K-State Athletics that grants K-State Sports Properties the exclusive marketing and broadcast rights for all Wildcat athletic teams.

The network distributes its digital-quality audio stream via satellite to affiliates across the state of Kansas.

But football is just the beginning. The network also provides play-by-play coverage of K-State men's and women's basketball, volleyball and baseball. Weekly coaches shows for football, men's basketball and women's basketball supplement the live event coverage.

Ron Prince Shows

Ron Prince Radio Show

Affiliates on the K-State Sports Network carry the Ron Prince Show each Monday night during the season. The show originates from the Manhattan Town Center shopping mall from 6-7 p.m. during the season and is open to the public.

Ron Prince Television Show

The weekly Ron Prince Television Show can be seen throughout the Midwest each Sunday at 1 p.m. during the season on Fox Sports Midwest. The half-hour program, produced by Kansas State television specialist Norm Burge and hosted by Wyatt Thompson, features head coach Ron Prince, player and coach spotlights, highlights of previous games and previews of upcoming contests.
