BRIEF HISTORY OF LEWIS & CLARK VOLLEYBALL

The Lewis & Clark volleyball program has an outstanding history, from the early days of the WCIC with Mary Hunter as coach, to the days with former L&C stand-out Kathy Walker at the helm, to the young, talented teams that Lori Jepsen had in the early 2000s.

Most of the records from the early years - like most of the women's teams of that era - have been lost or simply were not kept. However, through a little searching of old files, Mary Hunter found some team rosters and final results. Most records and scores since 1976 are complete, although no official individual statistics were maintained until the past few years. In 1976, Hunter took her squad to the first Small College National Tournament, where the Pioneers placed seventh.

For many seasons in the 80's, the Pioneers were a true national-tournament contender. Frequently, Lewis & Clark was ranked in the NAIA top 20. In 1986, Ron Kay led his team to the NAIA District II title, into the National tournament and within two points of what would have been Lewis & Clark College's first-ever team national championship. After defeating BYU-Hawaii in the championship bracket of the tourney, the Pioneers lost to the Seaside by the narrowest of possible margins in the sudden-death final, 15-5, 10-15, 13-15.

In 1987, Lewis & Clark made it back to the national tournament but were eliminated during early play. In 1989, the Pioneers were defeated at home in the bi-district finals, robbing them of yet another appearance at the national tournament.

Lewis & Clark won or shared 11 of the last 22 NCIC titles, including six-in-a-row between 1984 and 1989. During the same time-span, the Pioneers had a winning streak of 50 consecutive wins in conference action.
