13-TIME BIG SOUTH CHAMPIONS

FLAMES SPORTS NETWORK

Throughout the 2010-11 school year, during the Flames' football and basketball seasons, Liberty athletics fans will be able to catch all the action, home and away, on the Flames Sports Network.

The Flames Sports Network (FSN) is comprised of Liberty's radio and television networks. FSN has covered Liberty's athletics teams for the last 30 years, traveling to over 30 states, and traveling outside the continental United States to areas such as Alaska, Hawaii, Mexico and Puerto Rico.

Liberty athletics has been broadcast over the radio airways since 1981, when the Flames Sports Network was formed.

For the last 29 years, radio play-by-play duties for all football and men's basketball games were handled by Jerry Edwards, the original "Voice of the Flames." Edwards had broadcast more than 300 football games and 800 men's basketball contests during his three decades of work for the network before retiring last spring from his broadcasting duties.

Edwards continues his ties with the Flames Sports Network. He still remains the station manager for Victory FM, the 50,000-watt flagship station for the radio side of the Flames Sports Network.

Within the last year, the radio station has greatly expanded its footprint, which now includes five full-power radio stations and 24 operation translators, placing Liberty's radio broadcast throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia and much of the state of North Carolina.

The change in on-the-air voice talent is not the only adjustment that will be made regarding Liberty's radio broadcast during the 2010-11 season. Edwards assumed direction of the Flames Sports Network during a time of change within Liberty Athletics and continued to lead the network until his retirement from his play-by-play duties.

However, with a much more robust Liberty Athletics department now operating, the radio side of the Flames Sports Network will return under the direction of the department, just like it was when the network 30-plus years ago.

Originally started to provide radio coverage for Liberty's football and men's basketball programs, the Flames Sports Network now regularly covers all football, men's and women's basketball games, plus providing significant radio and internet video coverage for Liberty's baseball, softball and men's and women's soccer programs.

In July, Liberty hired former ISP broadcaster Alan York as a successor to Edwards. For the past 12 years, York has been an assistant production manager for ISP, America's Home for College Sports on the radio for the last two decades.

While at ISP, York was based out of Winston-Salem, N.C., and was the lead broadcaster for the ACC National Game of the Week in football. He has also gained experience broadcasting various Wake Forest's men's and women's basketball and baseball programs.

York's vast experience has allowed him to produce the radio broadcasts for the ACC, Wake Forest, South Carolina, Georgia and Arkansas as part of the ISP family.

Starting in the spring of 2000, York also served as the Director of Broadcasting/Media Relations for the Winston-Salem Warthogs, a single-A affiliate of the Chicago White Sox.

York is no stranger to Big South Conference athletics. From June 2001 to March 2006, he served as the radio play-by-play broadcaster for High Point's men's and women's basketball programs.

York has also worked with WXII-TV, an NBC affiliate in Winston-Salem, N.C., as a production assistant and radio producer for three years, where his duties included hosting the NASCAR Minute show.

York will be the fourth person to hold down the position as the Flames' play-by-play broadcaster for football and the fifth for men's basketball.

Kevin Keys, Liberty's Associate Athletics Director for External Operations, who headed up the national search which led to York's hire, started the Flames Sports Network in 1979.

Keys, who handled men's basketball play-by-play himself for two years during the infancy of the network, worked with Wayne Campbell and Frank Capiello before eventually selecting Edwards for the job in 1981.

Edwards broadcast his first football game against Catawba on Sept. 12, 1981. During the following three decades, Edwards only missed one football game and just a handful of men's basketball games.

Joining York in the football broadcasting booth for the 2010 season will be a seasoned group, including Paul Rutigliano, H.J. Owen, Chris Wygal, Mark Edwards and Nick Pierce.

Rutigliano returns for his fourth year with the network and will work alongside York as the network's color commentator. Rutigliano brings a unique perspective to the network, which includes unique insight into the program. Rutigliano currently serves as the Flames' Assistant AD for Football Operations. Pierce returns for this second full-time year with the network and will handle sideline reporting during all football broadcasts.

The trio of Owen, Wygal and Mark Edwards bring more than 20 years of combined contributions to the network. Owen will continue to serve as the network's statistician, while Wygal handles the network's technical productions as the on-site engineer. Mark Edwards will host Liberty's pregame tailgating and postgame wrap-up shows.

The Flames Sports Network expanded its outreach during the 2003-04 season with the addition of television coverage for home men's and women's basketball games, as well as volleyball matches. FamilyNet and the Mid-Atlantic Sports Network (MASN) have joined the football network, representing 40 million additional households cost-to-coast.

Coming into the 2010 season, the television extension of FSN, formally known as the Flames Television Network (FTN), will air all five home football games, Liberty's road football contest at VMI, most home men's and women's basketball contests and home volleyball matches and several home wrestling events.

This season, FSN's television broadcast team will consist of Erin McKeown (volleyball color commentator), Kelley Deyo (women's basketball color commentator), Ray Jones (football color commentator, volleyball play-by-play, men's and women's basketball play-by-play), Mike Tilley (football play-by-play) and Tim Scarborough (men's basketball color commentator). Additionally, Lyndsay Keith, Paul Rutigliano and former Virginia and Buffalo Bills offensive lineman Brad Butler will be hosting Liberty's football halftime show.

The FSN's television broadcast team consists of trained professionals who have worked for most of the major sporting networks in the United States, including ESPN, ABC Sports, CBS Sports, NBC Sports, NASCAR, SportSouth, Comcast and FoxSports.

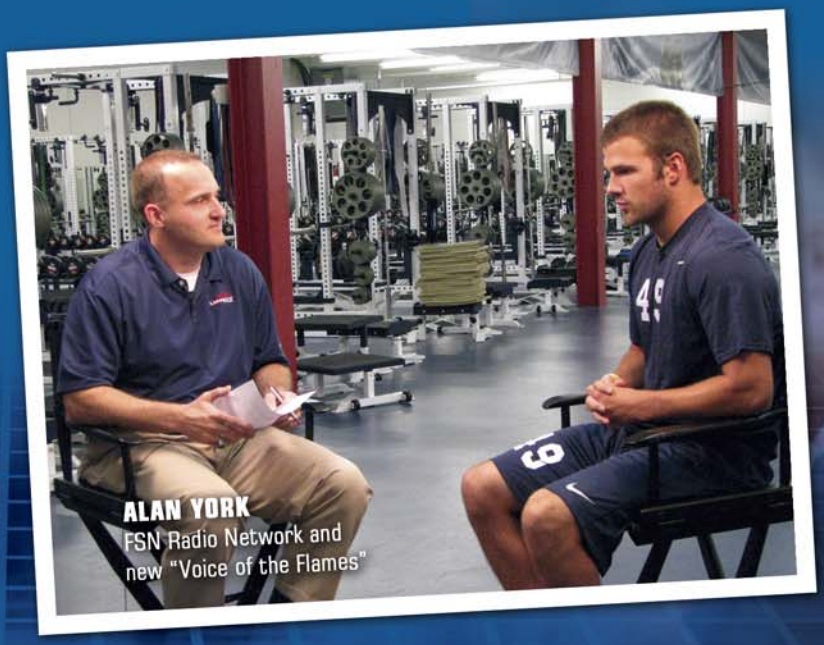

FSN's television broadcasting of Liberty's home athletics events is handled through the Liberty Channel, a satellite/cable network offering family-friendly television.

The Liberty Channel can be viewed in the greater Lynchburg area on most cable systems. Liberty athletics will also be broadcast over the air on WRTN RTV, the digital broadcast channel 13.2 programmed by the local ABC Network Affiliate WSET. Additionally, the network's broadcasts will be picked up on FamilyNet and JCTV.

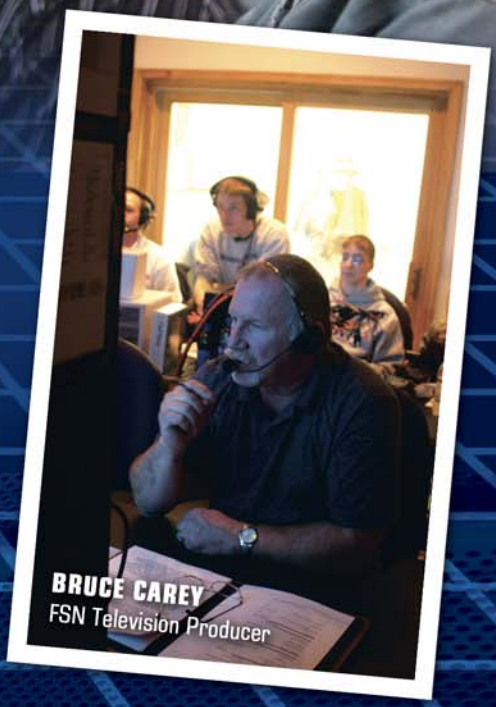

Anyone looking for more information about FSN's television broadcasts or interested in picking up the broadcasts via satellite should contact Keys at (434) 592-3905 or by email at kkeys@liberty.edu.

LIBERTY UNIVERSITY

In centuries gone by, "liberty" was just a concept - an idea feared by tyrants and dreamed of by the oppressed. In more recent history, "liberty" became a cause and a deeply held belief worth fighting and dying for. Today, Liberty University has become a place where students call home … where people dare to dream big dreams and then work to see those dreams come to pass … where old-fashioned values and morality still survive and thrive, despite a world that appears to have forgotten the meaning of the words … where the undeniable Truth of the Ages still reigns supreme … where the whole person is educated — body, mind and soul … a place where you can learn, grow and achieve wholeness as you become all God created you to be.

The Mission

To produce Christ-centered men and women with the values, knowledge and skills required to impact tomorrow's world … this mission is carried out for resident students, through both undergraduate and graduate programs, through rigorous academics and a structured social environment … also, it is carried out externally for students who can't make the trek to the campus in a comparable academic program, but without the structure of the resident community, through Liberty University Online.

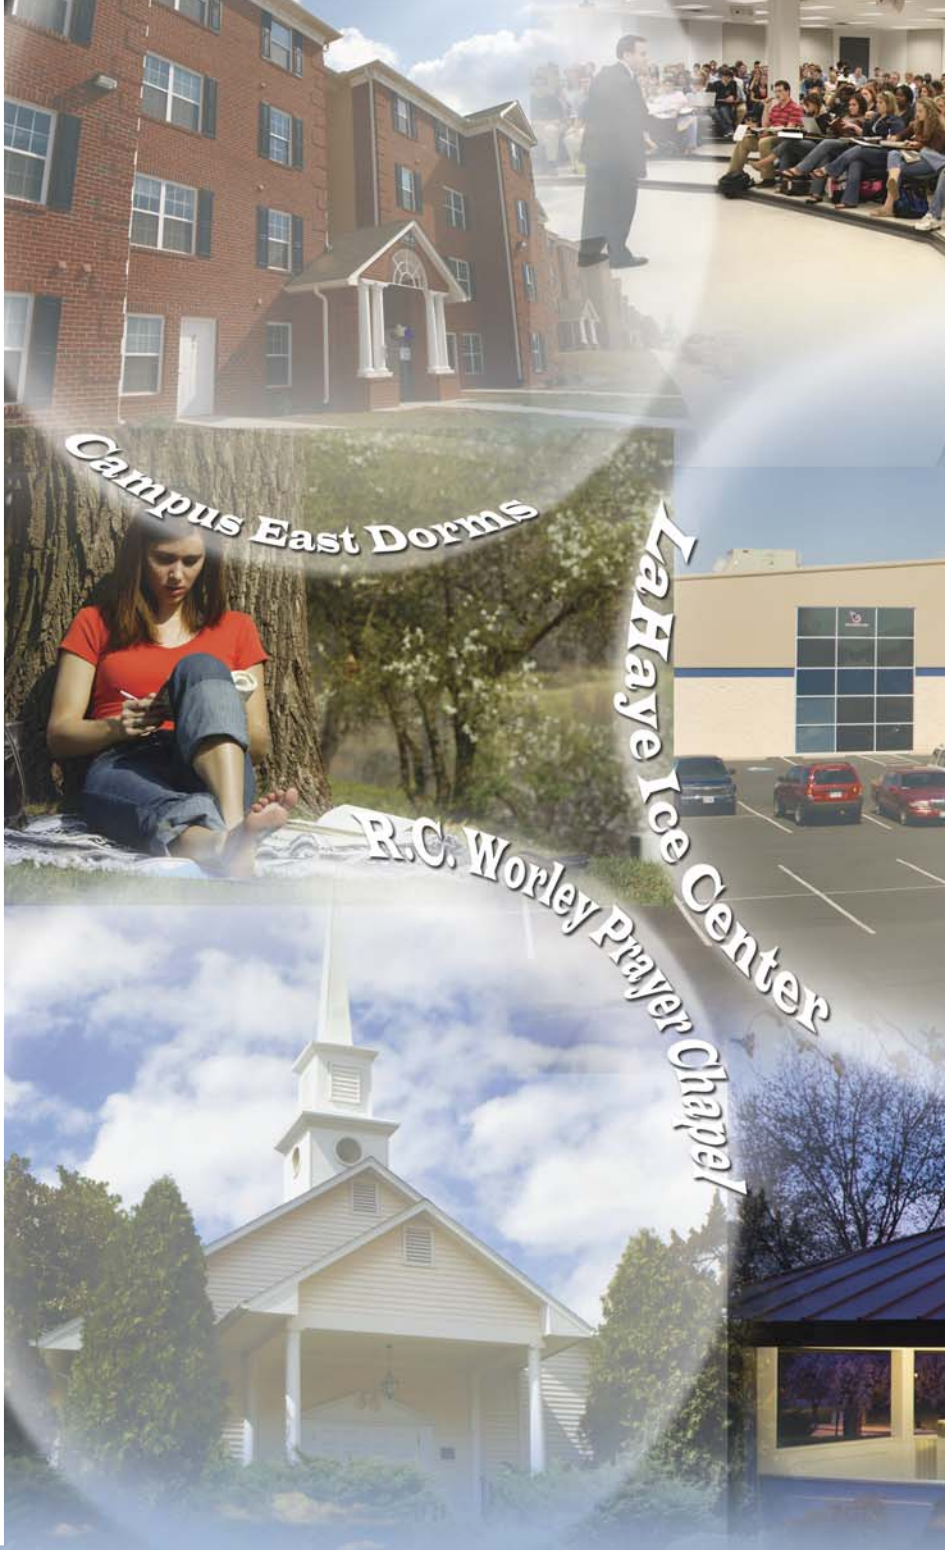

A Brief History

For nearly 40 years, Liberty University has produced graduates with the values, knowledge and skills required to impact the world. Founded by Dr. Jerry Falwell and Dr. Elmer Towns in 1971, Liberty University is a private, coeducational, undergraduate and graduate institution. The university offers over 115 programs of study, helping to make it the world's largest Christian university. Our 5,800-acre campus serves nearly 12,000 residential students and more than 50,000 online students from all 50 states, Washington, D.C., and 75 nations.

Liberty is truly a representation of what God can do with one individual's dream and a heart that desires to honor Him.

Location

Situated in Lynchburg, Va., Liberty University is nestled in the foothills of the beautiful Blue Ridge Mountains and located near the south bank of the historic James River, in a region rich in history, culture and outdoor recreational opportunities.

LaHaye Student Center

Faculty

Liberty University's more than 350 full-time and more than 300 part-time faculty are committed to engaging with students in the challenge of exploring vital links between faith and learning. There are more than 450 institutions of higher learning represented among this impressive group. Liberty's commitment to personalized education also ensures that the student-to-professor ratio is nicely balanced at 23:1.

Degree Programs

In higher education, the principal means of ensuring quality is accreditation by a recognized accrediting body or agency. Liberty University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS), which, in turn, is a recognized accrediting body by the United States Department of Education. Additionally, a number of programs are approved by accrediting and licensing bodies for specific disciplines (i.e. our Nursing, Sport Management and Education programs).

Spiritual Life

The Spiritual Life Department prepares students to make a global impact for the glory of God — wherever He leads them.

Life-changing Campus Church and Convocation services connect students with their Creator through passionate worship and powerful Biblical messages custom designed for this collegiate generation. These services give Liberty students first-hand encounters with some of the most influential Christians on the planet.

Each semester the Campus Pastor's Office personally trains more than 1,000 student leaders who are the catalysts for the positive peer pressure and Biblical community that is the glue of Liberty University. Each year these student leaders minister personally to their peers and commit to love, pray for, pray with and personally disciple every student on campus. Every student's relationship with Christ is a priority.

Light Ministries facilitates Liberty's global vision by providing dozens of opportunities each year for the Liberty community to participate in cross-cultural missions. Already more than 7,000 students have boarded planes to take the Gospel of Jesus Christ to more than 3 million people.

The Spiritual Life Department is radically committed to aligning the Liberty community with the Great Commandment and Great Commission of Jesus Christ. As the spiritual fires are sparked in hearts, Spiritual Life fans the flame.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

The strength and conditioning program boasts coaches Bill Gillespie and Dave Williams, both holding the distinction of Master Strength and Conditioning Coaches by CSCCa. There are only 92 Master Strength and Conditioning Coaches in the world and Liberty is now the only institution from what is formally known as I-AA to have two honorees in the same strength and conditioning program.

The Liberty strength and conditioning program is used to help develop stronger and more competitive athletes. It ensures each athlete gets the maximum benefit from resistance training, improved quickness, injury prevention and sport specific conditioning. Our athletes train year round using various strength training and conditioning methods, looking to challenge them both physically and mentally.

A six-member strength and conditioning coaching staff services Liberty's 20 athletics teams. The staff is headed by two veterans of the business, head strength and conditioning coordinator Bill Gillespie and associate strength and conditioning coordinator Dave Williams.

The duo has combined for nearly 50 years of experience in strength and conditioning. Gillespie's resume includes stints with the Seattle Seahawks and Washington Huskies. Meanwhile, Williams has been at Liberty for 27 years, including the last five as the women's basketball team's strength and conditioning coach. Joining Gillespie and Williams are Colin Dugan, E.L. Estes, Aaron O'Dell and Alysson Sanders.

LIBERTY
ATHLETICS COMPLIANCE

Liberty University's Athletics Compliance Office monitors and verifies compliance with all NCAA, conference and University requirements. The office educates not only the athletics staff, administration and student-athletes, but also University faculty, staff and administration as well as other individuals and entities with athletics interests.

Liberty University is committed and compelled to the principle of institutional control in the operation of its athletics department in a way that is constantly within the rules and regulations of the NCAA, Big South Conference and the University. As the University strives for excellence on and off the field of competition, the highest regard for ethical conduct must also be sought. In order for the athletics department to exist, outside participation is required and must be emphasized. Any inappropriate activity outside the rules and regulations of the NCAA could jeopardize student-athletes' eligibility to compete athletically.

Everyone involved inside or outside the University must do his or her part in order to foster an environment that is supportive of the NCAA operating principle of competitive equity. Each person has a role and responsibility, which includes accountability and integrity when it comes to compliance with NCAA rules and regulations. The communication process is a must when it comes to understanding how each person fits within the structure of the NCAA rules and regulations.

If you have any questions regarding NCAA rules and regulations, especially those dealing with prospects and student-athletes, please contact the athletics compliance office. Liberty's athletic programs need your help and support, so please cooperate to ensure the success of Flames Athletics, on and off the field.

If you have a question about NCAA rules and your interaction with Liberty coaches, student-athletes or staff please contact.

"FIVE RULES OF ATHLETIC COMPLIANCE"

Only coaches and athletics department staff members are permitted to be involved in the recruiting process. Alumni, friends and "other representatives of athletics interest, i.e. boosters" who are not employed by the University are not permitted to contact a prospect (or members of the prospect's family) by letter, telephone or in-person (on or off-campus) for the purpose of soliciting their participation in the athletic program. LU faculty members are permitted to have contact with the prospects, but only while on the campus during unofficial visits or off-campus, in the locale of the institution, when a prospect is on an official visit.

A prospect remains a prospect even after he or she signs a Letter of Intent or financial aid agreement to attend the University. The prospect does not lose his/her prospect status until the start of classes at LU or the beginning of official team practice prior to the start of classes.

The prohibition of contact with a prospect is intended to relate to unavoidable incidental contacts with a prospect by representatives of a member institution's athletics interest. It is understood that such a contact is not prearranged by the athletics representative or an athletics department staff member; is not made for the purpose of recruitment of the prospect; and involves only normal civility. For example, if you meet a high school student or junior college student-athlete, you can talk with them about anything except LU athletics. If you are attending a public function and find yourself talking to the parents of a prospect, you can talk about anything that doesn't relate to the athletics department.

If a student-athlete accepts any benefits or special consideration based on his or her status as an athlete or because of athletic skill, the student-athlete will lose all eligibility for intercollegiate athletic participation. Do not do anything for prospective or enrolled student-athletes without specific authorization from the Liberty Athletics Compliance Office.

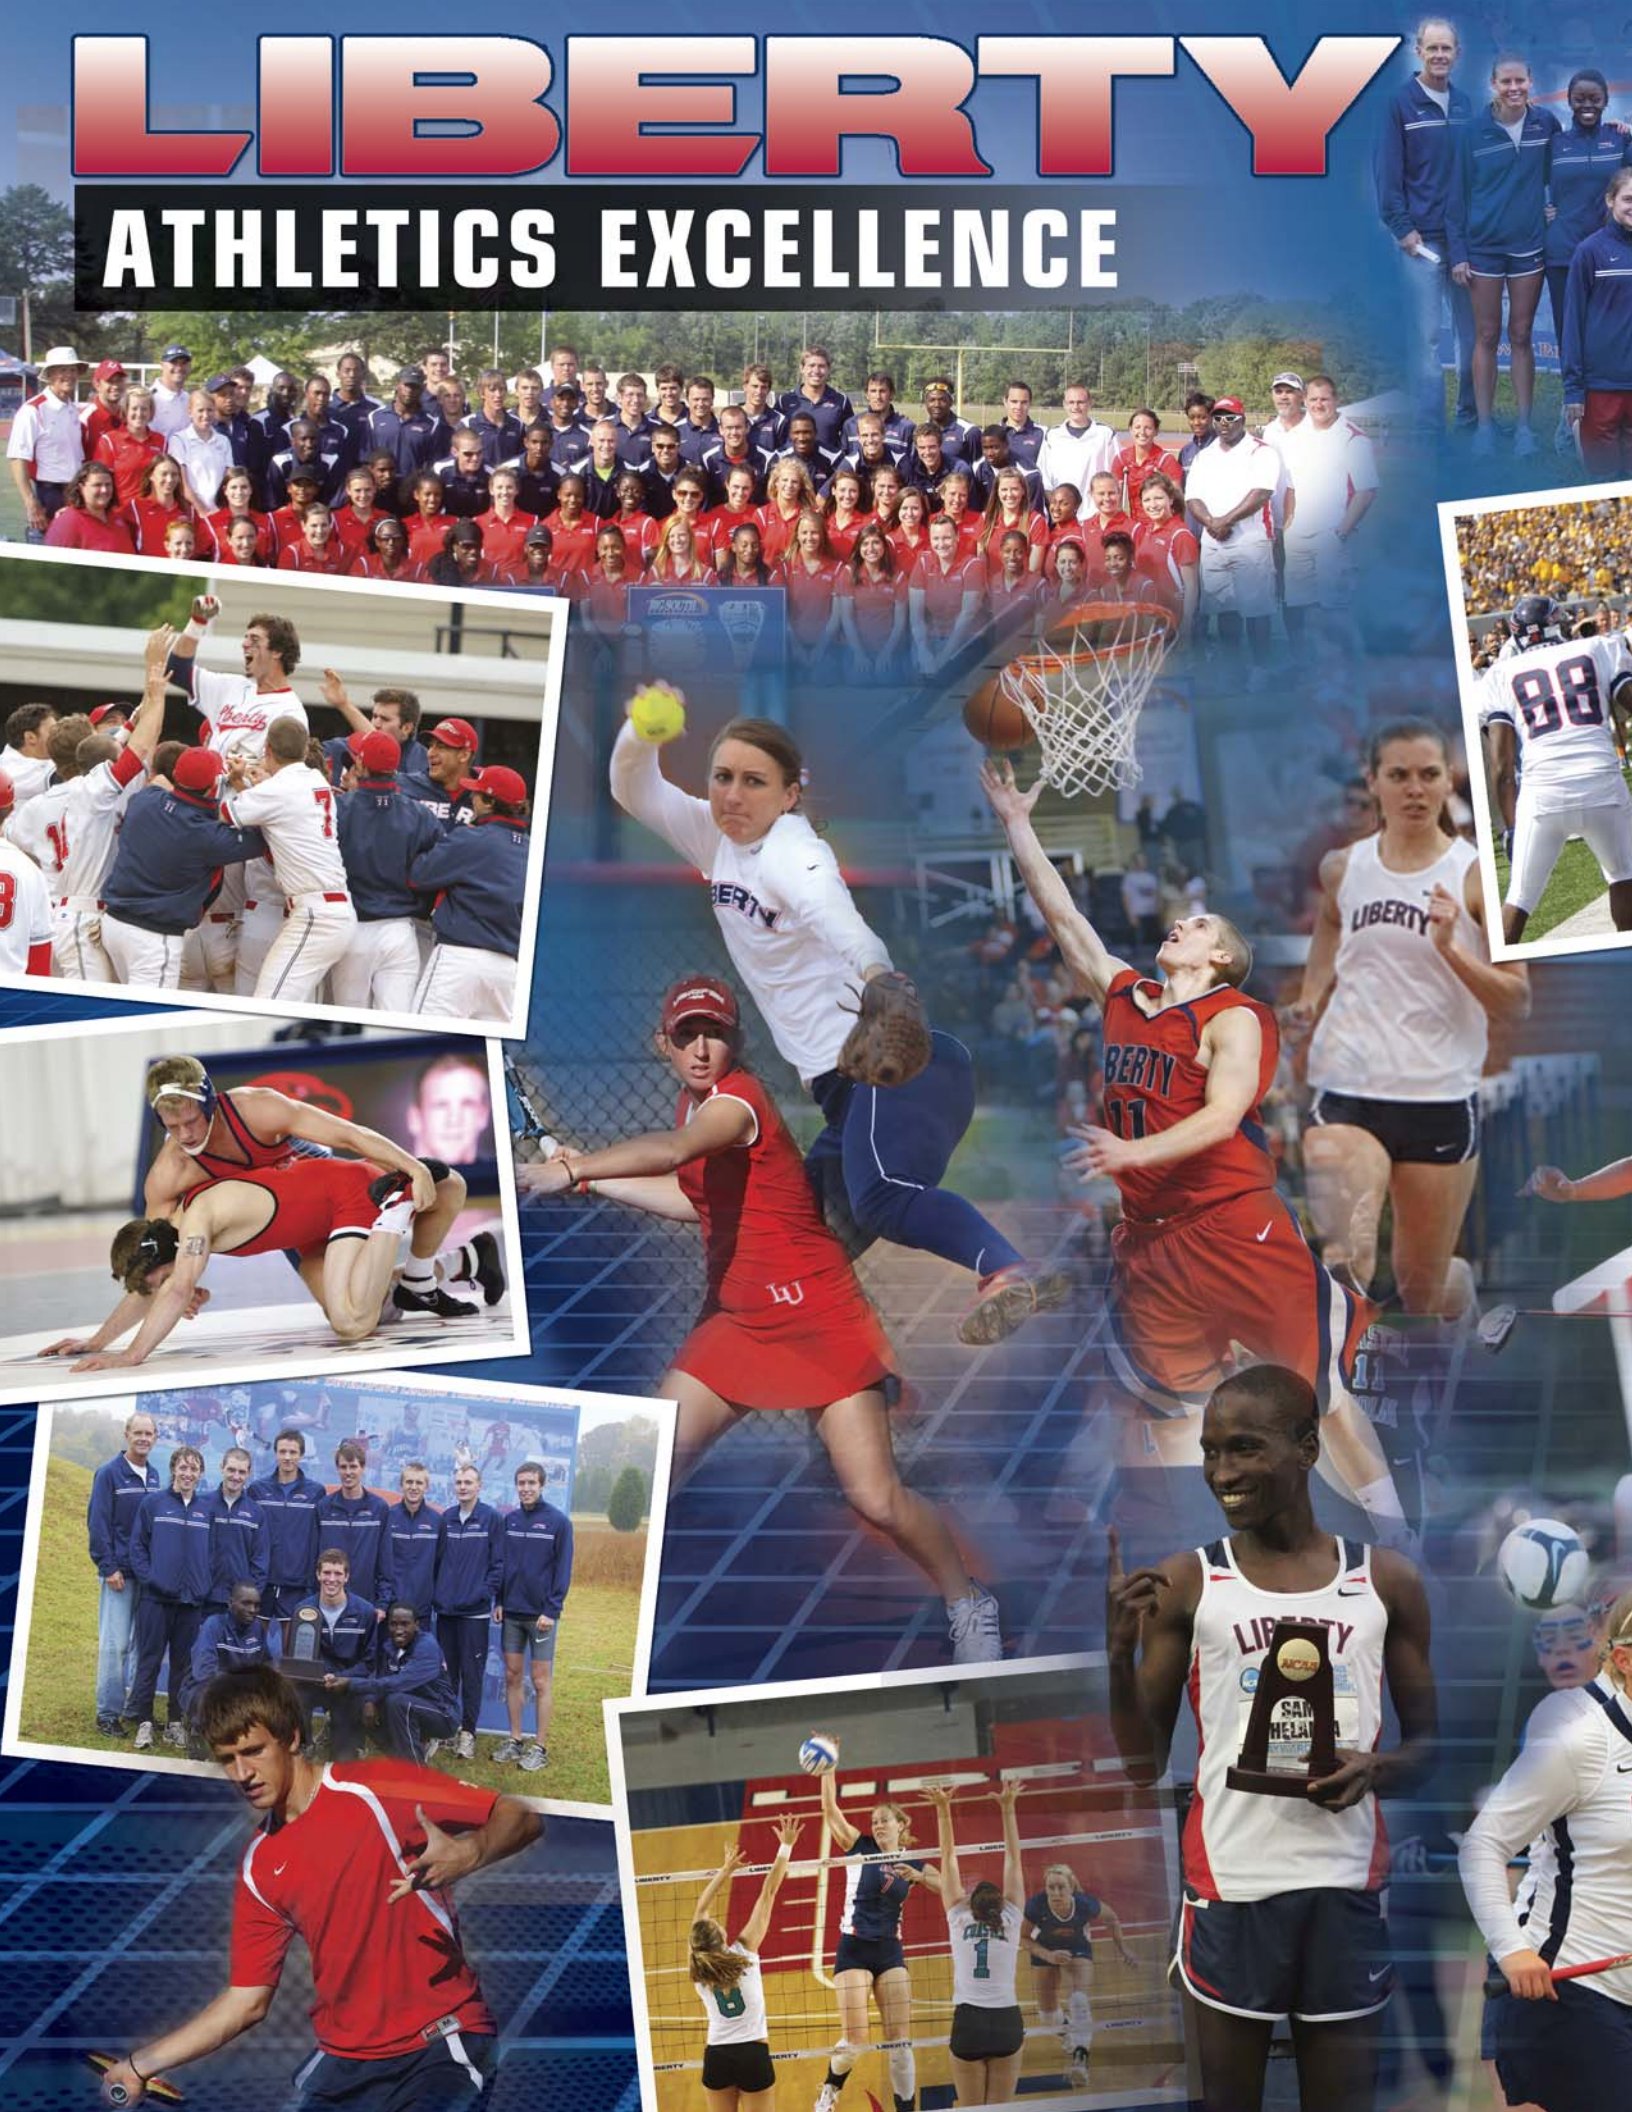

Representatives of athletics interests are reminded that NCAA rules regarding enrolled student-athletes remain in effect throughout the entire year, including summer breaks. When student-athletes complete their final season of eligibility, they must abide by NCAA rules until the end of that academic year and/or until they are no longer receiving athletics financial aid.

INTERACTION WITH BOOSTERS AND LU STUDENT-ATHLETES

It's easy to form a relationship with LU athletes as you cheer them on and watch them compete. Building these types of relationships is not only fun for fans but also important in the lives of student-athletes. In an effort to make sure that the eligibility of every student-athlete is not harmed, please look over these few guidelines for what can and can not be provided to a student-athlete, and remember that if you have any questions, please contact the LU Athletics Compliance Office.

What a booster can do:
Provide summer employment to a student-athlete, provided he/she is paid the going rate and only for work actually performed.
Provide a meal to a student-athlete or the team at their home (not a restaurant). They can also provide a ride to their home for the meal.

What a booster cannot provide a student-athlete (just to name a few):
Give a gift of clothing or equipment.
Provide free or reduced housing costs.
Give cash or co-sign on loans.
Arrange for employment of a relative.
Provide rentals or purchases of any type.
Provide use of a car.
Pay the costs for a student-athlete's friends or family to visit campus.
Free medical or professional services.
Provide free use of a phone for long-distance calls.
Provide funds for entertainment of an athlete, their friends or relatives.

LIBERTY
ATHLETICS EXCELLENCE

The 2009-10 academic year was another stellar campaign for Liberty Athletics, highlighted by the department's third straight Big South Sasser Cup championship. Since joining the Big South Conference in 1991, Liberty has won 96 conference championships, averaging approximately five league titles per season. Liberty captured its eighth Sasser Cup championship in 2010, making Liberty the second most honored athletics department in conference history. The Flames also won the prestigious honor in 1998, 1999, 2000, 2002, 2003, 2008 and 2009. Additionally, Liberty also won the Big South Women's All-Sport Trophy for the second time since the award was established seven years ago.

During the 2009-2010 season, Liberty posted eight Big South titles, an NCAA East Regional championship in wrestling and was represented in eight different sports in an NCAA Championship event.

Football's Chris Rocco capped off a stellar Liberty Athletics career last year by being named the recipient of the Mac Rivera/Rock Royer Award, an award given annually to honor Liberty's top graduating senior student-athlete. Rocco was also selected as a first team CoSIDA ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America honoree last year. With Rocco's selection, Liberty now has placed 16 student-athletes in athletics department history on the most prestigious collegiate academic team in the nation.

Among the athletes named Big South Scholar-Athlete for their respective sports during the 2009-10 season were Louis Steyn for men's tennis, Jordan Jenkins for women's tennis and Rebekah Ricksecker for women's indoor and outdoor track & field.

Liberty had 189 student-athletes named to the Big South Presidential Honor Roll at the conclusion of the 2009-10 season. Over 43 percent of Liberty's student-athletes recorded a 3.0 GPA or higher in the classroom during the academic year.

Football

The football program went 5-1 in Big South Conference play, capturing a share of its third straight conference championship. Liberty ended the year ranked No. 21 nationally in the FCS Coaches Top 25 poll and No. 22 in the Sports Network poll. The Flames finished with an 8-3 overall record, winning eight or more games for the third year in a row. The graduating senior class finished with a 32-13 record during their time at Liberty, recording the most wins of any class in program history.

Kicker Matt Bevins was a consensus All-American, while wide receiver/quarterback Mike Brown took home Big South Offensive Player of the Year honors.

MEN'S SOCCER

Darren Amoo was named to the 2009 NSCAA South Atlantic Region team, while garnering ECAC All-Star team status. The forward finished the season eighth in the country with .70 goals per game.

The Flames posted their third consecutive season with a double-digit win total. Liberty, which finished 12-5-3, also was ranked in the final South Atlantic Region poll for the second-straight season.

WOMEN'S SOCCER

The women's soccer team recovered from a 3-12-2 2008 season, going 9-7-3 in 2009 and claiming the Big South regular season title. This was the most successful turnaround in program history.

The Lady Flames' defense enjoyed a stellar season, recording 10 shutouts. In addition, Liberty did not allow a goal in 576:23, during a stretch from Oct. 3 to Oct. 26.

CROSS COUNTRY AND TRACK & FIELD

Liberty captured the Big South Conference's first-ever "Double Triple," capturing conference championships in men's and women's cross country, men's and women's indoor track & field and men's and women's outdoor track & field.

The men's outdoor track & field team tied for 13th place at the NCAA Division I Outdoor Track & Field Championships, the highest finish ever by a Big South squad at the NCAA meet.

Sam Chelanga won his first NCAA national title in cross country, finishing first by 25 seconds at the NCAA Division I Cross Country Championships.

Chelanga then won the 10K by 18 seconds at the NCAA Division I Outdoor Track & Field Championships, becoming the first Division I national champion in Liberty men's track & field history. He ended his junior year as a two-time national champion and nine-time All-American.

Chelanga also clocked 27:08.39 for the 10K on May 1 in Stanford, Calif., shattering his own NCAA 10K record by 20 seconds.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Kyle Ohman closed out his collegiate career with 1,141 total points, becoming the 21st member of the program's 1,000-point club.

Freshman Evan Gordon was tabbed the Virginia Sports Information Directors (VaSID) Men's Basketball University Division Rookie of the Year, becoming the second straight Flame to earn the award and the 14th player in program history to garner all-state honors.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Devon Brown's game-winning shot with 4.2 seconds remaining in the Big South Championship game against Gardner-Webb lifted the Lady Flames to their third straight Big South title and 13th in the last 14 seasons.

Brown, the Big South's leading scorer as a freshman at 17.2 ppg, was named Big South Championship MVP and VaSID State Rookie of the Year.

WRESTLING

The wrestling squad captured its fourth consecutive NCAA East Regional championship and tied a program record with six qualifiers to the NCAA National Championship.

Scott Clymer won his opening bout at the NCAA championship, upsetting No. 12 seed Adin Duenas of Cal State Fullerton at 141 pounds. Clymer became the fourth wrestler in program history to defeat a seeded opponent at the NCAA National Championship.

LACROSSE

Playing in its inaugural season in 2010, the Liberty women's lacrosse team captured the program's first win on March 6, defeating Howard, 17-16, in overtime.

GOLF

Robert Karlsson (Golfer of the Year), Max McKay (Freshman of the Year) and Jeff Thomas (Coach of the Year) swept the three major awards at the Big South Men's Golf Championships.

Karlsson and McKay both qualified for the NCAA Men's Golf Regionals, giving Liberty a pair of individual regional qualifiers for the first time in program history.

MEN'S TENNIS

Freshman Siim Tuus was named the Big South Men's Tennis Freshman of the Year and to the All-Big South team in singles.

The Flames were ranked for the first time by the ITA in the Atlantic Region, listing 10th in the final poll of the year.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

Jordan Jenkins won the prestigious Billie Jean King National Tennis Center Flight B title in October in Flushing, N.Y. During the spring, the junior became the first Liberty woman to be ranked by the ITA in singles, reaching as high as No. 90.

BASEBALL

Liberty established a new school record for wins in a season with 42 victories. The Flames also won 19 Big South Conference games, the most since joining the conference in 1985.

Pitcher Shawn Teufel was named to the College Baseball Pitcher of the Year Watch list and was drafted by the Detroit Tigers at season's end in the 2010 Major Baseball Draft.

SOFTBALL

After establishing the longest winning streak in school history at 12 games, the Lady Flames went on to finish the season with 39 wins, which is the third-most wins ever recorded by the softball program.

Liberty also performed well in Big South Conference play, posting a 13-5 record against conference opponents, which is the most league wins in a single season in program history. In addition, the team went a perfect 10-0 in conference play at Liberty Softball Field for the only the second time in school history.

When looking at the success of an athletic program, one aspect which needs to be considered is the quality of its facilities. Student-athletes involved in Liberty University's athletic program have the opportunity to showcase their talents in a number of fine athletic facilities. Like the program itself, these on-campus facilities have improved tremendously since the program's inception in 1973.

The Hancock Athletic Center, dedicated on February 12, 1985, was donated by A.L. Williams and his wife, Angela, in honor of her parents, Sidney Lanier and Willemae Gates Hancock. Offices housed in the Hancock Center include the administrative offices for athletics, the athletic media relations department and coaching staff offices. The Hancock Center also includes a spacious 8,500-square foot weight room, which is utilized by the entire athletic program.

The weight room is furnished with the most modern equipment available for developing speed, strength and endurance. The spacious two-tiered facility has a free weight area that contains over 10 tons of weights. High-tech machines crafted by the industry's top manufacturers, as well as other modern strength and conditioning apparatuses, are available to Liberty University student-athletes.

Williams Stadium, named in honor of A.L. Williams, is located near the entrance of the campus and has been the home of the football program since 1989. By the start of the 2010 season, the stadium will be expanded from 12,000 to 19,200 seats and include a brand new five-story tower, equipped with a fully functional press box, an 11,000-square foot Flames Club pavilion, 18 luxury suites and an academic center. Future plans call for the stadium's capacity to be expanded to 30,000.

During the summer of 2006, a 48,000-square foot facility was completed in the North end zone of the stadium, as the Williams Football Operations Center became the football program's new home off the field. The new, state-of-the-art facility gives Liberty one of the nicest FCS football facilities in the nation, housing coaching and support staff offices, a spacious locker room, academic learning areas, a training room and a weight room. The centerpiece of the facility is a 3,000-square foot room overlooking Williams Stadium, where Flames Club members can enjoy pre-game meals.

A major facility upgrade to Williams Stadium was completed just prior to the kickoff of the 2006 season as FieldTurf was installed. The playing surface received a facelift during the spring of 2009 when the FieldTurf was replaced with a newer top-of-the-line version.

The Vines Convocation Center, home to all men's and women's basketball games and volleyball matches, is an 8,000-seat facility which was completed in 1990. In 1998, the Vines Center hosted the 46th-best home attendance in the nation, as the women's basketball team averaged over 1,700 fans per contest.

Basketball, volleyball, wrestling and a number of other indoor activities can take place in the versatile Schilling Center. The men's and women's basketball teams held their home games in what was then known as Liberty Gym in this facility from 1979 to 1990. The Schilling Center has two full-court areas that are also utilized for class instruction, intramural events and special activities. In 2005, the facility was upgraded to give Liberty's basketball programs two new practice courts.

Wrestling and volleyball each received new facilities during the 2006-07 school year. The reinstated wrestling program turned the old football field house in the south end zone of Williams Stadium into a state-of-the-art wrestling room. Volleyball moved its office into a new facility on North Campus that includes its very own practice gym.

Home baseball games are played at the beautiful Worthington Stadium. Recognized by Sportsturf Magazine as the best field in the nation in 1998, the facility was named in honor of Al Worthington, who began the Flames' baseball program in 1974. He also served as the Liberty athletics director from 1984-89.

The Crowder-Muckel Fieldhouse is located adjacent to Worthington Stadium. The clubhouse, which is one of the finest baseball facilities in the country, includes locker rooms for both the Flames and the visiting teams, a team room, weight room, training room, umpires' locker room, public restrooms for the fans, sky box seating and full-length batting cages.

Liberty's soccer and track facilities received an upgrade in the fall of 2009 with the completion of Osborne Stadium. Surrounded by brick and wrought-iron fencing, the recent renovation includes 1,000 chairback seats and a fully functioning press box. The lead gift for the stadium came from Liberty alumni Richard and Karin Osborne of Oxford, Md. The former Flames football player is an entrepreneur, who graduated from Liberty in 1980.

Housed within Osborne Stadium is the Matthes-Hopkins Track Complex, the home of the Flames' successful track program. The track, which features a polyurethane surface, is named after former track coaches Jake Matthes and Ron Hopkins.

Also housed within Osborne Stadium is the Luurtsema Center, a two-story building completed in July 2010. Thanks to a major donation by Bill and Wanda Luurtsema, the operations center includes coaching staff offices, locker rooms, plus a training room and a team room servicing Liberty's soccer and track & field programs.

The Liberty softball program has played its home games at the Liberty Softball Field since 1994, the same year the program was reinstated. Over the last two years, the facility has received numerous upgrades, including a new backstop, scoreboard and an enclosed hitting circuit with two new batting cages.

Another recent athletic facility addition made available to Liberty University student-athletes is the Tolsma Indoor Track Center, located in the heart of Liberty's Campus North building. The indoor center is one of just three indoor track facilities in the state of Virginia and features a flat 200-meter oval with a Mondo surface. The track has a wide radius, a four-lane oval and an eight-lane straightaway. Also located in the complex are two long/triple jump runways, a pole vault runway and a high jump apron.

The recent purchase of a FinishLynx timing system will greatly increase the ability to host high-level high school and NCAA meets at the facility as well as at the university's outdoor track complex.

A brand-new addition to the athletics facilities was completed in May 2009 in the form of the Thomas Indoor Soccer Complex. The complex will serve as an indoor practice facility for Liberty Athletics, as well as serving the general student body, the intramurals program and the community.

In 2009, the LU Tennis Courts were built, replacing the former Esbenshade-Hershey Tennis Center. The new facility currently features six NCAA-regulation courts and is the home of Liberty's men's and women's tennis programs.

The Vines Center, affectionately known as "The Furnace", provides one of the toughest arenas for visiting opponents to play in because of its loud, vocal and festive atmosphere. The fan support over the years has served as inspiration for the Liberty men's and women's basketball, volleyball and wrestling programs.

Due to this support, the Lady Flames basketball program has produced an all-time record of 201-53 in the Vines Center, including a 101-11 (.902) record over the past eight seasons. Liberty has often been at its best with a large throng of supporters in the stands. The Lady Flames have won each of their four highest-attended home games in program history.

Liberty hosted the Big South Conference Tournament in a combined men's and women's format in 1997 and 1998, eclipsing all existing tournament attendance records. The Vines Center was also the site of the Big South Women's Basketball Championship semifinals and finals in 2004, 2005 and 2006. Each time, the Liberty fans propelled the Lady Flames to a conference title. A crowd of 2,738 came out to see Liberty defeat UNC Asheville in the 2005 championship game.

A major contributor donated the money in 1989 for Liberty to start construction on the 10,000-seat special events/basketball arena on Liberty Mountain. Seating for basketball is 8,085. The project was undertaken by McDevitt & Street Contractors of Raleigh, N.C., with the architectural work being completed by Haken/Corley and Associates, also of Raleigh.

In November 1990, the Liberty men's basketball team moved into its new home - The Vines Center. The Lady Flames women's basketball team played its first-ever contest at the Vines Center on Dec. 7, 1990 and hosted all of its home games at the Vines Center for the first time during the 1992-93 season. The facility annually hosts Super Conference and has also played host to the Harlem Globetrotters, National Basketball Association exhibition games, the Big South Basketball Tournament and high school basketball tournaments. Graduation, convocation and concerts are also held at the Vines Center on a regular basis.

McDevitt & Street is no stranger to Liberty University. The firm completed Liberty's 12,000-seat Williams Stadium in the fall of 1989, and have built the Dean E. Smith Center in Chapel Hill, N.C., the Diamond (baseball park) in Richmond, Va., Atlanta's Fulton County Stadium and the minor league baseball facility in Durham, N.C., where the Durham Bulls play.

The Vines Center includes an attractive silver dome roof similar to what Baylor University has on its arena in Waco, Texas. Also included in the Vines Center are four concession areas, basketball coaches offices, locker and team room facilities, a weight room, a training room, a hospitality room and press room. The facility is one of the largest on-campus basketball arenas in the state of Virginia.

Reflections on Liberty's No.1 fan - Dr. Jerry Falwell

May 15, 2007, will long be remembered as not only a day the University lost its Founder and Chancellor, but the record books will show it was also the day the Athletics Department saw its No. 1 fan pass away when Dr. Jerry Falwell went home to be with the Lord.

Dr. Falwell, one of the greatest visionaries of the 20th century, often said there were two avenues by which he was going to grow a world-class University – music and athletics – knowing these two focal points speak the most to the youth of every generation.

From the moment Lynchburg Baptist College opened its doors in 1971, meeting with 154 students in class-rooms at Thomas Road Baptist Church in Lynchburg, Va., Dr. Falwell quickly implemented plans to field athletics programs.

In 1972, the Flames gained affiliation with the National Christian Collegiate Athletic Association and the University fielded its first team, men's basketball, which posted a 7-1 record during its first season of competition. Shortly thereafter, the University began to add programs, starting with football in 1973.

During subsequent years, Liberty's athletics programs began to move up the collegiate ladder, from NCCAA to NAIA until the Flames became a full-fledged NCAA Division I member on Sept. 1, 1988.

Liberty now fields 18 NCAA Division I athletics programs which compete at the highest level of intercollegiate competition, fulfilling Dr. Falwell's vision of being "Champions for Christ" in whatever field of calling the Lord leads.

Although individuals from the outside world will remember Dr. Jerry Falwell as a conservative televangelist who energized the nation and the world to return to God, the thousands of student-athletes who have donned a Flames uniform over the three decades will remember him as their top supporter.

Dr. Falwell rarely missed a home football or basketball game, overlooking the Flames' gridiron battles from the press box at Williams Stadium or in the first row opposite the team benches at the Vines Center.

It wasn't strange to catch a glimpse of Dr. Falwell sitting in the dugout at home softball games or on the benches while Liberty was on the pitch playing soccer. And those trying to reach Dr. Falwell during a sunny spring Central Virginia afternoon had to walk down the hill from his office at the "Mansion," as he would normally be at Worthington Stadium, with a hot dog and drink in hand, cheering his baseball boys to victory.

Dr. Falwell's attendance at an athletic event spurred numerous Liberty teams to victory and quickly energized a crowd, who responded with the infamous "JERR-EE" chant. During the late 90s, the daring and larger-than-life character would regularly walk across the Vines Center floor, climbing atop a packed student section, where Flames fanatics would "crowd surf" their heroic leader.

But a Dr. Falwell sighting at a Flames athletic event was not just limited to Liberty Mountain, as he could also be seen following the Flames' athletic teams around the country.

Dr. Falwell was one of the last people to grab a piece of the cherished net when the men's basketball team claimed the Big South title down in Charleston, S.C., in 1994, followed by Liberty pushing No. 1 North Carolina to the brink in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament.

He was also the proudest of the Flames' faithful sitting courtside in College Park, Md., when the Lady Flames basketball program made their Cinderella Run to the Sweet 16 in 2005, arguably the most notable achievement in athletics department history.

During 2006, Dr. Falwell saw the revival of his precious Flames football program when Liberty posted the nation's No. 1 turnabout, shattering program attendance records in the process.

In light of his unwavering support over the years, the Athletics Department ceremonially retired a No. 71 football jersey at Liberty University's annual homecoming game on Oct. 14, 2006 – bringing the Williams Stadium record-setting crowd of 15,631 to their feet with a roar of approval.

And although he no longer physically will roam the sidelines at Flames athletics events, Dr. Falwell's presence will never be forgotten. His legacy and charge to be a "Champion for Christ" will live on as long as Liberty student-athletes take to the field of competition.

ATHLETICS ADMINISTRATION

JEFF BARBER
Director of Athletics

Jeff Barber was named the Director of Athletics at Liberty University on Jan. 23, 2006, becoming the 10th Director of Athletics in the history of the University.

The University has charged Barber with the leadership of the athletics department and the building of a strong financial basis for the department which will guide Liberty University athletics into the ranks of the elite NCAA Division I athletic programs in the nation.

Barber wasted little time making an impact at Liberty, as in four years he has been instrumental in guiding Liberty on a path to the next level of collegiate athletics.

He has spearheaded athletics facility improvement projects in every athletics venue, highlighted by changes to Williams Stadium, the Vines Center, Worthington Stadium, the LU Tennis Courts and new Osborne Stadium. During the summer of 2006, the football program's on-campus playing facility received the latest in playing surfaces as FieldTurf was installed, while numerous other smaller projects were initiated to aesthetically improve the appearance of the facility. Barber has also engineered the addition of the brand new Daktronics video scoreboard located in the North end zone.

In 2010, Barber has overseen a major expansion of Williams Stadium, increasing the complex's seating capacity from 12,000 to 19,200 seats. The project also included construction of a brand new five-story tower, equipped with a press box, an 11,000-square foot Flames Club pavilion and 18 luxury suites.

Prior to the recent stadium expansion, Barber's chief facility accomplishment was overseeing the completion of the Williams Football Operations Center in 2006. The 48,000-square foot state-of-the-art home base for the football program is one of the most outstanding FCS (formerly I-AA) football-only facilities in the nation.

In addition to Barber's athletics facility achievements, the Director of Athletics has spurred a dramatic recording-setting increase in Flames Club memberships and season ticket sales for football and basketball.

In 2007-08 the athletics booster club set new records, pulling in $351,000 in annual membership contributions. The same year saw Liberty Athletics surpass the $1 million mark in giving, as the Flames Club brought in $1.3 million in total capital gifts. It was another banner year for the athletics booster club in 2008-09 as member growth ballooned to 1,537 members contributing $382,000, with $2.2 million in capital gifts to construct new or improve existing facilities. In 2009-10, the Flames Club continued its growing trend, with members contributing $392,000 to the annual fund. Also under Barber, marketing/sponsorship revenue has increased at 120 percent each of the past four years.

Barber has also guided the Flames to success on the athletics field of competition, highlighted by three consecutive Big South Sasser Cup championships, bringing Liberty's total to eight.

Besides the Sasser Cup championships, Barber also saw Liberty bring home the Big South's Men's All-Sport and Women's All-Sport trophies, along with its second individual national championship when Josh McDougal crossed the finish line first at the 2007 NCAA Cross Country national championship. Liberty also repeated in capturing the Big South's Men's All-Sport trophy in 2009.

In 2010, Liberty won the Big South Women's All-Sport Trophy for the second time since the award was established seven years ago. Liberty is only the second athletics department in Big South history to win the Sasser Cup, Men's All-Sport and Women's All-Sport trophies in the same year.

Barber also witnessed Liberty add to its NCAA trophy case this past season, as Sam Chelanga captured the 2009 NCAA National Cross Country Championship and the 2010 NCAA National Outdoor Track & Field title in the 10K.

The Flames' success has garnered national attention on several levels, earning Barber a four-year appointment to the NCAA's Recruiting Cabinet, beginning with the 2008-09 academic year. Barber is also on numerous other committees, including a four-year appointment on the NCAA Division I FCS ADA Executive Committee, Big South Conference chair for the league's Television Development Committee and the liaison for the Men's Basketball Committee. Barber also sits on the Big South committees for football, volleyball, publicity and promotion, while he also took part in the Big South Conference 25th Anniversary celebration committee.

Barber is a member of NACDA and NAAD and serves on the Board of Directors for the Child Evangelism Fellowship for Central Virginia, and also on the Board of Directors for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Barber brought a wealth of experience in the areas of athletic fundraising and administration to Liberty University, including 25 previous years in the athletic industry.

Barber came to Liberty after spending 11 years at South Carolina, including his last three years as Senior Associate Athletic Director for Development/Gamecock Club Executive Director.

Barber, a native of Greenville, N.C., is married to the former Donna Dacus and the couple has three children - Katie (15), Lindsay (13) and Jay (12).

LIBERTY
Lady Flames

2010-11 OUTLOOK

2010-11 OUTLOOK

For the 2010-11 Liberty women's basketball team, the season opener against Creighton on Nov. 12 can't get here soon enough. Ever since the 2009-10 campaign ended with a hard-fought six-point loss to Kentucky in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, the Lady Flames have been eager to return to the court for what promises to be an exciting season.

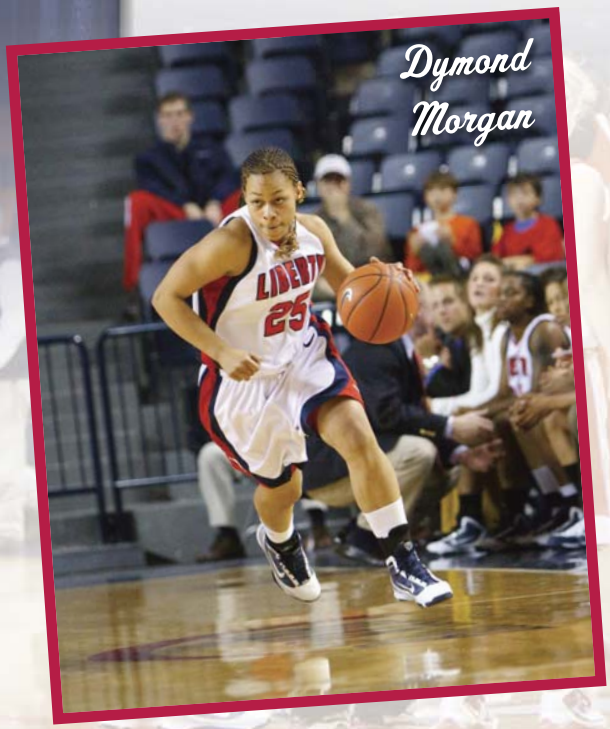

The players' excitement about this coming year first became evident at the postgame press conference following the Kentucky setback. Previously downcast about the loss to the Wildcats, the trio of Kylee Beecher, Devon Brown and Avery Warley collectively sprung to life when a question was raised about the 2010-11 season.

All three players tried to speak at once, but it was Brown who set the tone for the Lady Flames' offseason. She stated, "Oh, we will be back, definitely. This will not be the last time you see Liberty [in the NCAA Tournament.]"

Brown then proceeded to explain that she and her teammates would work extremely hard in the coming months, preparing to build upon the success of the just-completed campaign.

In line with Brown's sentiments from the press conference, 12th-year head coach Carey Green used "determined" as the first adjective that comes to mind when thinking about this year's team.

"The Lady Flames are determined in many different ways," explained Green. "They are determined to improve as individuals and seek out personal excellence. They are determined to develop unity and build chemistry. They are also determined to be champions for Christ and grow spiritually."

Green is also encouraged by the amount of experience his team brings into the season. The entire roster from last year's 27-6 squad returns, except for graduated starting point guard Amber Mays. Additionally, the Lady Flames gained additional experience this summer, as they practiced together and won the Friendship Games championship in Israel.

"I'm excited by the experience we have from last season," Green noted. "I hope we can carry some of that confidence into this year. Also, our summer tour in Israel provided immeasurable experience, primarily in the areas of spiritual value and historical understanding."

Brown is the Lady Flames' most decorated returnee, after a stellar rookie campaign for the Lady Flames. She led the Big South Conference in scoring at 17.2 ppg, while garnering Big South Championship MVP honors and first-team All-Big South accolades. Big things are also expected for her sophomore season, as Brown was voted the Big South Preseason Player of the Year.

Warley joined Brown on the first-team All-Big South roster last season, while leading the nation's No. 1 rebounding team with 8.5 rpg. She also garnered a spot on this year's preseason all-conference team. Jelena Antic chipped in 8.4 ppg and 5.1 rpg, earning a spot on the Big South All-Freshman team.

The nine returning Lady Flames who saw playing time in 2009-10 will be complemented by five other players, who will provide Green with arguably the most depth in program history. Brittany Campbell and Kittery Maine will be returning from injury, Tolu Omotola is set to begin her Liberty career after transferring from TCU and freshmen Emily Frazier and Jasmine Gardner will join the roster.

"Depth is one of our team's greatest strengths," Green said. "As a result, I feel like we will be able to maintain a certain level of intensity and effort throughout the game."

After a season which saw only one senior (Mays) dot the Liberty roster, Green now has a number of experienced players at his disposal.

"We have strong leadership on our team and a definite sense of direction," explained Green, the winningest coach in Liberty and Big South Conference history. "Our leadership starts with our three seniors—Kittery Maine, Rachel McLeod and Dymond Morgan, while we also expect Kylee Beecher Brittany Campbell and Avery Warley to make contributions in the area of leadership."

The team's leadership group will have an important task, namely keeping the Big South preseason favorite Lady Flames focused and ready to meet the significant challenges of the upcoming season. In addition to carrying the pressure incumbent upon a team which has won 13 Big South titles in the last 14 seasons, Liberty will prepare to navigate an extremely challenging 2010-11 schedule.

"Our team will need unity, determination and the heart of a lion to accept the challenges in front of us this year," stated Green.

The Lady Flames will play up to 12 games against teams which qualified for postseason tournaments a season ago. The schedule features road contests against Big 12 Conference powers Baylor and Texas A&M, as well as tournaments hosted by Maryland and N.C. State.

A position-by-position look at the Lady Flames who will take on the daunting schedule follows.

POINT GUARD

The point guard spot represents the biggest positional question mark for Green entering the 2010-11 season, following the graduation of Amber Mays, the Lady Flames' starting floor general for each of the last two years. Senior Dymond Morgan and freshman Emily Frazier are expected to share the point guard position this season.

Morgan, a 5-7 senior, was a key backcourt reserve in 2009-10, her first season with the Lady Flames. Best known for her defensive prowess, Morgan ranked third on the team with 49 steals. She also tied for third on the squad with 46 assists and showed the ability to score herself when needed. Morgan exploded for 13 points in the Lady Flames' Big South Championship semifinal win over High Point.

"Dymond's valuable experience last season helped her develop into a capable leader on our team," remarked Green. "She now understands our system and worked very hard over the summer to improve. Dymond continues to develop the confidence that will be needed to lead our team from the point guard position."

2010-11 OUTLOOK

Meanwhile, the 5-7 Frazier is more experienced than a typical incoming freshman. The former teammate of Rachel McLeod with the Homeschool Christian Youth Association (HCYA) team outside Houston, Frazier graduated from high school a semester early. That allowed her to get used to college life during the spring semester and learn the Lady Flames' system. Frazier also gained her first experience playing for the Lady Flames during the summer tour to Israel for the Friendship Games.

"Emily is a savvy point guard who brings a high basketball IQ and an ability to score from that position," Green noted. "She gained experience against some of the best competition at the AAU and high school levels. Coming off a knee injury in high school, Emily has a strong desire to get back into action. She possesses all the tools to be a very effective, team-leading point guard."

SHOOTING GUARD/SMALL FORWARD

Senior combo guard Rachel McLeod possesses the most on-court experience of any current Lady Flame. She has appeared in 95 games in a Liberty uniform, starting 38 times. McLeod, 5-10, started all 33 contests at the "2" guard position in 2009-10 and ranked second on the squad with 55 assists.

"Rachel brings a lot of playing experience and natural leadership to our team," explained Green. "We have high expectations for her senior season, because she is 100 percent healthy for the first time in her career. We are confident Rachel will be a major contributor to this year's squad."

Other options at shooting guard include 6-0 redshirt sophomore Brittany Campbell and 5-8 sophomore LaKendra Washington.

Campbell has battled her way back from a pair of knee injuries, which have limited her to just five games played during her first two seasons at Liberty. When healthy, the local product from Brookville High School has displayed a nice perimeter scoring touch. Campbell averaged 7.0 ppg and made six triples during her five contests in 2008-09.

We are excited to get Brittany back out on the court," Green explained. "She has been extremely persistent in her efforts to bounce back from injury. Brittany is an exceptional perimeter threat and a natural leader on our team."

Washington served as a defensive sparkplug off of Green's bench as a freshman, tallying 45 steals on the year. The guard from Milwaukee also displayed the ability to score points in bunches. She ranked second on the team with 10 three-pointers on the year and scored a team-high 21 points in a Nov. 28 win at Lafayette.

"LaKendra adds speed to the backcourt," acknowledged Green. "She has the promise of being an exceptional defensive player. She also shoots the three-pointer and attacks the rim at the offensive end."

Two members of Liberty's sophomore class, 5-10 Devon Brown and 6-2 Jelena Antic, will share time at the "3" position. Both players starred as freshmen for the Lady Flames. Brown scored a team-high 17.2 ppg and pulled down 8.2 rpg, on her way to earning VaSID State Rookie of the Year honors. She also proved to be a clutch performer, knocking down the game-winning shot in the Big South Championship title game against Gardner-Webb, with only 4.2 seconds remaining.

Meanwhile, Antic shook off a couple injuries to make the Big South All-Freshman team a year ago. She also earned a trio of Big South Freshman of the Week awards and made eight appearances in the Lady Flames' starting lineup. During the summer, Antic earned MVP honors in the U20 European Championship for Women Division B. Playing for Macedonia, she averaged 25.0 ppg and 12.3 rpg.

Speaking about the duo together, Green stated, "Both Devon and Jelena possess complete games and will be major factors in the success of our team. They are exceptional scorers and rebounders, and both play with intensity and effort. Devon and Jelena will spearhead our offensive attack this season."

Junior Danika Dale provides another versatile option at either forward position. The 6-1 Lone Star State native saw quite a bit of playing time under the basket last season and averaged a career-high 3.2 rpg in the process. She is expected to see a bit more time on the perimeter this year.

"Danika is a much-improved player," said Green. "She will be counted on at the swing position. She was challenged her first couple years to play both inside and outside, and has done a good job developing in both areas. Danika possesses many skills which will make her effective as she becomes even stronger physically."

POWER FORWARD/CENTER

The junior tandem of Kylee Beecher and Avery Warley returns to man the painted area, after both players enjoyed solid sophomore campaigns. Warley paced the Lady Flames in rebounds (8.5 rpg) and blocked shots (26), while earning first-team All-Big South laurels. Meanwhile, Beecher chipped in 6.7 ppg and 4.2 rpg.

The 6-3 Warley and the 6-4 Beecher worked together at their best during the NCAA Tournament contest versus Kentucky, combining for 33 points and 21 rebounds versus the Wildcats while shooting 15-of-23 from the field.

"Kylee and Avery are both solid contributors in the post position, and their experience is invaluable," noted Green. "They complement each other well, with an inside/outside look. Kylee and Avery will aso be major contributors to our rebounding efforts."

Liberty will enjoy significantly more post depth this season, with the return of Kittery Maine from injury, as well as the addition of transfer Tolu Omotola and incoming freshman Jasmine Gardner.

Maine was, by all accounts, playing the best basketball of her career, before a preseason knee injury wiped out her entire 2009-10 season. The 6-4 Georgia native has worked hard and is ready to return for her final campaign with the Lady Flames.

"Kittery has a great perimeter shooting touch," explained Green. "She also does a tremendous job with a lot of the details that contribute to the success of our team. We look forward to her continued development and recovery from her injury."

Omotola, one of four Texas natives on the Liberty roster, opened her career at TCU, before transferring to Liberty a year ago. A strong, 6-3 post presence, she was one of the Lady Flames' top rebounders at the Friendship Games over the summer.

"Tolu is a welcomed inside power forward threat," Green stated. "She combines a power game with an exceptional shooting touch. Tolu has good hands and should be a major contributor on the boards."

Gardner, a 6-2 forward, comes to the Lady Flames from Mitchell High School in Memphis, Tenn. Despite all of the returning athleticism from last year's team, Green asserts that Gardner may end up being the top athlete among the 2010-11 Lady Flames.

"Jasmine is perhaps the best athlete on our team overall," Green explained. "She possesses a high basketball IQ and is a hungry learner for the game. She is deceptively strong and a very competitive player. As Jasmine continues to improve, so will our team."

Liberty's final post option is the tallest player on the team, 6-6 sophomore Carra Coy. She appeared in 25 contests as a rookie and swatted away nine shots to rank fourth on the team.

"Carra continues to improve," stated Green. "She currently contributes primarily from the defensive end, where she is the best shot blocker on our team."

2010-11 OUTLOOK

SCHEDULE

Green has lined up one of the most challenging schedules in program history for the upcoming 2010-11 Liberty women's basketball season.

Depending on how the Lady Flames' tournaments play out, Liberty is slated to play as many as 12 games against opponents which qualified for postseason tournaments a season ago.

"Our team is faced with a big-time, high-major, competitive schedule that will provide tremendous challenges," Green acknowledged. "You could call it a killer schedule. However, we prefer to look at it as an opportunity that will both challenge us to improve and measure our competency.

"Don't be mistaken. We will play to win and develop during this challenging schedule. However, our higher goal is for the world to see God at work in us and attract people to himself for his glory!"

Liberty will tip off the 2010-11 campaign at N.C. State's Sheraton Raleigh Wolfpack Invitational, Nov. 12-13. All four teams in the tournament experienced postseason play in 2009-10.

The Lady Flames will face Creighton (2010 WNIT qualifier) in the season opener. Then, Liberty's possible opponents on day two include College of Charleston (2010 WBI regional finalist) and host N.C. State (2010 NCAA Tournament qualifier).

The Lady Flames will tip off their 11-game home schedule on Nov. 16, when Virginia Union visits the Vines Center. Four days later, Liberty will host Lafayette to wrap up the brief two-game homestand.

Texas will serve as Liberty's base of operations during the week of Thanksgiving, as the Lady Flames play at Texas A&M on Nov. 22 and at Baylor on Nov. 26. Texas A&M won the 2010 Big 12 Conference Tournament and Brittney Griner-led Baylor advanced to the Final Four last season. It will be Liberty's first-ever matchup against either the Aggies or Bears in women's basketball. The trip will mark a homecoming of sorts for the Lady Flames' four Texas natives (Danika Dale, Emily Frazier, Rachel McLeod and Tolu Omotola).

Liberty will welcome high-scoring Glenville State to the Vines Center on Nov. 30. The Pioneers led NCAA Division II squads in both points (95.9 ppg) and three-pointers made (14.1/game) in 2009-10.

The Glenville State matchup will be the Lady Flames' last home game for 48 days, with nine consecutive contests to be played away from Lynchburg. The road trip will be Liberty's longest since a 10-game road swing during the 1991-92 campaign.

The Lady Flames only have five December games scheduled. Although the month is light in activity, it includes some of the toughest opponents on Liberty's 2010-11 schedule.

Liberty will meet local rival James Madison for the fifth straight season, when the Lady Flames travel across the Commonwealth to Harrisonburg for a Dec. 5 contest. The game, which will be played just down the road from Devon Brown's hometown of Waynesboro, will pit two 2010 NCAA Tournament qualifiers against one another.

After a break for final exams, the Lady Flames will play a pair of road non-conference tilts before Christmas. Liberty will make its first-ever visit to North Carolina Central Dec. 18, followed by a game at VCU on Dec. 21. The Rams won 22 games in 2009-10 and reached the third round of the WNIT.

Liberty's first post-Christmas destination will be College Park, Md., where the Lady Flames will compete in Maryland's Terrapin Classic, Dec. 28-29. Like the N.C. State tournament, the two-day event will feature some very talented teams.

Liberty's first-round opponent at Maryland will be St. John's. The Red Storm of the BIG EAST Conference posted a 25-7 record a season ago and were one point away from reaching the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. Speaking of the Sweet 16, the Terrapin Classic will be played inside the Comcast Center, where Liberty upset Penn State and DePaul to reach the Sweet 16 of the 2005 NCAA Tournament.

The Lady Flames will then face either La Salle or the host Terrapins in either the championship or consolation game. The 2009-10 Maryland team recorded its sixth straight 20-win season and advanced to the WNIT's third round.

Liberty will open the year 2011 with its first three Big South Conference contests, all of which will be played away from the Vines Center. The road swing will begin with a Jan. 3 visit to High Point, which will play host to the Big South Women's Basketball Championship for the third consecutive year at the Millis Center.

One week later, the Lady Flames will play their final contest at UNC Asheville's Justice Center. The Bulldogs are scheduled to move into brand-new Kimmel Arena in time for the 2011-12 campaign.

Liberty will then conclude the non-conference portion of its schedule, as well as its lengthy string of road games, with a quick trip east on Route 460 to Longwood on Jan. 14.

The Lady Flames will return home for three straight home Big South tilts, beginning Jan. 17 against Radford. The middle game of the quick homestand pits Liberty against Charleston Southern, a squad which made an appearance in the 2010 WBI Tournament.

The end of January will see Liberty return to the road for two contests, including a Jan. 31 game at Gardner-Webb. The rematch of the Lady Flames' dramatic 68-66 win over the Bulldogs in the 2010 Big South Championship title tilt will be the first of two meetings between Liberty and Gardner-Webb in a span of 13 days. The Bulldogs are coming off of a banner season, which saw them win 28 games and play in the WNIT at season's end.

Gardner-Webb's return trip to the Vines Center will take place on Feb. 12, as the middle contest of a three-game Big South homestand for the Lady Flames. The battle with the Bulldogs will tip off Liberty's only women's/men's basketball doubleheader of 2010-11. The busy evening at the Vines Center will conclude with a Liberty men's basketball contest versus High Point.

A visit to Commonwealth rival Radford (Feb. 19) and the Lady Flames' annual South Carolina beach trip to Coastal Carolina (Feb. 26) and Charleston Southern (Feb. 28) will close out Liberty's regular-season road slate.

The Lady Flames will then welcome UNC Asheville (March 4) and Presbyterian College (March 7) to the Vines Center to finish off the regular season.

Just four days after Liberty's contest against the Blue Hose, the 2011 Big South Women's Basketball Championship will tip off with four quarterfinal games at the Millis Center in High Point, N.C. The semifinals will follow on March 12, with the championship game set for March 13.

The winner of the Big South Conference title will earn an automatic berth to the 2011 NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Championship. The tournament will begin March 19-20, with first-round contests at 16 different sites around the country.

LIBERTY

COACHING STAFF

Carey Green

HEAD COACH
12TH SEASON

Liberty head women's basketball coach Carey Green, beginning his 12th season with the Lady Flames, has instilled quite a winning tradition during his tenure at the institution. His teams have averaged 24 victories per year, while becoming a regular fixture in the NCAA Tournament.

Green has accumulated a 264-83 record on the Liberty bench, good for a winning percentage of .761. He currently ranks ninth all-time among NCAA Division I women's basketball coaches in winning percentage, ahead of renowned coaching names like Rutgers' Vivian Stringer, LSU's Van Chancellor and North Carolina's Sylvia Hatchell.

More importantly, Liberty has won the Big South Tournament title and advanced to the NCAA Tournament 10 times with Green as head coach. Liberty has totaled 23 or more victories during nine of those years, including the 2004-05 season, which saw the Lady Flames reach the Sweet 16 for the first time in program history.

Green has actually been to the postseason on 22 occasions as a women's basketball coach, a span which includes a dozen years as an assistant coach at Clemson. In all but one of the 22 appearances, he has experienced the NCAA Tournament.

In 2009-10, Liberty made another trip to the "Big Dance," despite fielding a young team which featured only one senior. The Lady Flames finished the year with a 27-6 record and hoisted the Big South Tournament championship trophy for the 13th time in the last 14 seasons.

Rebounding and defense have always been staples of Green-coached teams, and the 2009-10 Lady Flames were certainly no exception. Liberty outrebounded opponents by an average of 13.9 caroms per game, leading the nation in the category. The Lady Flames have now been listed among the nation's top five teams in rebounding margin for seven straight years. Liberty previously led the nation in the category in 2003-04 and 2004-05.

The Lady Flames also ended the season ranked in the top 10 nationally for scoring defense (second, school-record 50.0 ppg), field goal percentage (second, .482) and scoring margin (seventh, +17.2).

In 2008-09, Green earned his unprecedented fifth Big South Coach of the Year award, after guiding a team decimated by ACL injuries to a 24-9 record and another Big South title.

At season's end, Green saw his second player selected in the WNBA Draft, as Megan Frazee was taken in the second round by the San Antonio Silver Stars. She then played part of her rookie season alongside 2005 Liberty alum Katie (Feenstra) Mattera in San Antonio.

In 2007-08, Green led the Lady Flames to one of the best seasons in program history. Liberty tied a school record for victories, finishing the year 28-4. Along the way, the Lady Flames captured three tournament titles—the National City Xavier Invitational, the UNLV Lady Rebel Christmas Classic and the Big South Championship. In addition, Green won his 200th career game, Jan. 19 at Charleston Southern.

The 2005-06 season represented one of the best coaching jobs of Green's career. The Lady Flames had lost the top four scorers from the previous year's Sweet 16 squad to graduation. Moreover, freshman Megan Frazee averaged 18.5 points and 9.8 rebounds per game through the first 14 games of her collegiate career, but was lost for the remainder of the season due to injury. Yet, Liberty was still able to win 25 games, capture its 10th straight Big South title and earn its 10th consecutive NCAA Tournament berth.

Green's efforts were recognized by both the Big South Conference and the Virginia Sports Information Directors Association (VaSID). Both groups named Green as their women's basketball coach of the year at season's end. It marked Green's second straight selection as VaSID Coach of the Year.

A key late-season conference victory over High Point in 2006 made Green the winningest coach in Big South Conference history. He is also Liberty's career wins leader.

The 2004-05 year was a special one on Liberty Mountain, for many reasons. A senior-laden Lady Flames team recorded upset wins over No. 4 seed Penn State (78-70) and No. 5 seed DePaul (88-79) in the first two rounds of the NCAA Tournament, becoming just the second team ever to advance to the Sweet 16 as a No. 13 seed. HEAD COACH CAREY GREEN ended the season with their highest national ranking to date, 21st (USA Today/ESPN).

Even with all his accolades, Green is not yet satisfied. The native of Louisville, Tenn., located just outside of Knoxville, knows there's work yet to be done with the Lady Flames.

"We have some tremendous challenges ahead of us and I believe the team will be up to those challenges," Green said. "I am pleased with the direction and progress of our program but of course, I, as well as the team, have higher aspirations, goals and expectations."

Green's track record shows he has the ability to meet those challenges. The Lady Flames have recorded two wins over UNLV, Virginia and West Virginia and solo victories over No. 19 DePaul, No. 17 Kansas State, No. 25 Penn State, Virginia Tech and Wake Forest during Green's tenure. The upset victory over No. 25 Virginia in 2003 marked Liberty's first win over a Top 25 team.

His record against conference foes is equally impressive. He led the Lady Flames on a Big South record 47-game winning streak and currently owns a .914 (171-16) winning percentage against conference teams. Green has marched through conference play with one or fewer setbacks seven times, while guiding the Lady Flames to two undefeated conference seasons.

The Lady Flames have not only gotten the job done on the hardwood under Green's tutelage, but have also excelled in the classroom. Liberty has ranked in the top 15 nationally for team GPA four times during Green's 11 seasons at Liberty. Liberty was 13th during his first season (1999-2000), tied for 14th in 2005-06 a program-best seventh in 2006-07 and 14th in 2007-08.

When Green came to Liberty, he was faced with a daunting task in his first year as a Division I head coach. Taking over the reins of a program with three-consecutive conference crowns in its trophy case, Green's role became the hunted rather than the hunter. Beginning with his arrival on June 8, 1999, Green took on the role as the favorite and accomplished what no Big South Conference school had ever done, taking Liberty to its fourth consecutive NCAA Tournament.

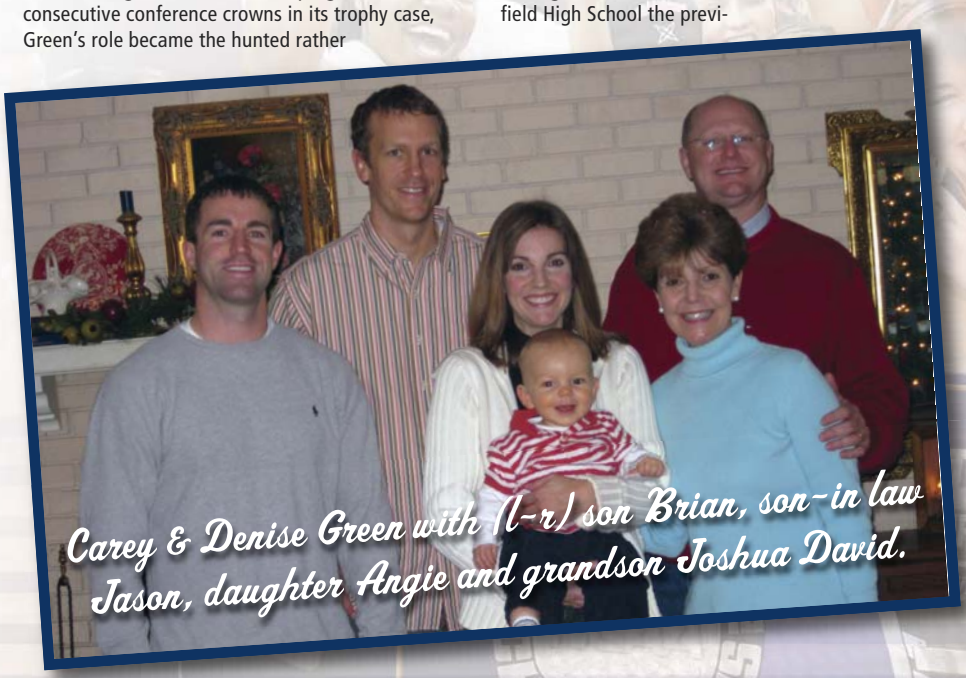

Green arrived at Liberty after spending 12 years as an assistant at Clemson. While with the Tigers, Green participated in 11 NCAA Tournaments, making four Sweet 16 appearances and one trip to the Elite Eight, in 1991.

The Tigers were ranked in the Top 25 during 10 of his 12 years and averaged 22 wins per season. Green had an immediate impact in his first season, as he helped guide Clemson to the ACC's best turnaround in league history. The Tigers posted a 21-7 record in 1988 after a 7-21 record the previous season.

Clemson made five appearances in the ACC Tournament championship game with Green's assistance, winning the title during the 1995-96 and 1998-99 seasons. He helped coach 15 all-conference players, four Kodak District All-Americans and one Kodak All-American. Clemson also recorded 45 wins over Top 25 programs during the 12 seasons Green was stationed at "Death Valley."

Prior to his days at Clemson, Green was the head men's and women's basketball coach at Jackson State Community College in Jackson, Tenn., for three seasons. In 1986, he was named the Tennessee Junior College Athletic Association Coach of the Year.

From 1982 to 1984, Green was the head women's basketball coach at Rockwood High School after serving as the head men's basketball coach at Coalfield High School the previous season. Green got his coaching start as assistant men's and women's basketball coach at Roane State Community College in Harriman, Tenn., from 1979 to 1981.

"The reason we are here at Liberty is to develop not only a winning tradition at the national level, but champions in all areas of life," Green remarked. "I am so excited to observe our players' development and achievements. I am thrilled our team's GPA regularly ranks among the nation's leaders. This is evidence of our goal to have a 'whole program,' neglecting no area of our players' development.

"My personal goal is a '50-year program,' one that develops women of excellence who impact the world for the next 50 years," continued Green. "It's exciting because our entire Liberty family assists me with that same goal. The University is growing, as is our basketball program, and I am excited to be here during this growth period.

"I hope to fulfill the dream and the vision that both Dr. Falwell and our current administration have shared with me," Green summarized. "They want our University to be THE Division I NCAA Christian University everyone looks toward in the United States. In my opinion, that means we need to be a Top 20 team. In order to do that, I believe we need to continue to find the many quality student-athletes who are out there playing and bring them to our campus. Once they visit our campus, they will experience the excitement and enthusiasm here at Liberty University."

Green leaves little doubt that he, his staff and the players will be striving for excellence on and off the basketball court.

He and his wife, Denise, reside in the Lynchburg area and have two children, Angie (32) and Brian (29). Angie is married to Jason Grunkemeyer, an assistant men's basketball coach at Miami (OH) University, and the couple has two children, Joshua David, who will turn 3 during the season, and Nathan Jason, who will celebrate his first birthday this season. Brian is currently working as an engineer at Fluor Corporation, in Greenville, S.C.

ASSISTANT COACHES

ALEXIS SHERARD
Assistant Coach

Alexis Sherard is in his fourth season as an assistant coach on the Lady Flames' coaching staff. He serves as the team's recruiting coordinator and assists with game strategies and player development.

Sherard has earned Big South championship rings during each of his first three years with the Lady Flames. Liberty has gone 79-19 over the past three seasons, making three NCAA Tournament appearances.

Sherard joined the Lady Flames' staff after spending the 2005-06 and 2006-07 seasons working as an assistant for the Liberty men's basketball team. He also served as the Flames' director of recruiting and aided in post player development.

"It's a blessing to be part of the Liberty University women's basketball program," stated Sherard. "God has elevated this program using Coach Green as a spiritual and team leader. I enjoy working with this staff and the Lady Flames."

Sherard came to Liberty after six years of service on Pete Gillen's men's basketball staff at Virginia. Sherard joined the Cavaliers' program in 1999 as the director of basketball operations, serving in this capacity from 1999 to 2002, as well as the 2003-04 season.

During the 2002-03 and 2004-05 seasons, Sherard served as an assistant coach, where he aided in Virginia's recruiting efforts, while assisting in practice planning, game preparation, bench coaching and opponent scouting. Sherard helped guide the Cavaliers to the NCAA Tournament in 2001, as Virginia finished the season with a 20-9 record and was ranked as high as No. 6 in the country. He was also a part of two Cavalier squads which qualified for the NIT Tournament (2000 and 2002). The 2002 squad finished fourth in the event.

Sherard got his coaching career started at Saint Michael's College in Colchester, Vt., where he served as an assistant coach from 1993 to 1995. He assisted the head coach in practice preparation, skill instruction and recruiting. During the 1995-96 campaign, Sherard served as the head boys varsity basketball coach and Dean of Admissions at Lakewood Prep School in Howell, N.J., where he led his team to a 15-7 record and the semifinals of the playoffs.

From 1996-98, Sherard was the administrative assistant at Providence, where he helped guide the Friars to the NIT in 1998 with an 18-12 record and to the "Elite Eight" round of the 1997 NCAA Tournament, as Providence finished the season with a 24-12 overall record.

Prior to joining the staff at Virginia, Sherard served as the assistant coach at Binghamton and was responsible for the Bearcats' recruiting efforts throughout the East Coast.

"Alexis quickly surpassed our expectations and established himself as an outstanding addition to our staff," Green exclaimed. "He is a great recruiter because he really cares about the players. He also possesses a thorough knowledge of the game of basketball and is a tremendous asset in the development of game strategies. Furthermore, we are most excited about Alexis' character and values."

Sherard graduated with a bachelor's degree in mathematics and education from Saint Michael's in 1993. A member of the Purple Knights basketball team, he was selected to the Northeast 10 Conference All-Defensive team during his junior and senior seasons.

Sherard, who received his master's degree in guidance from Providence in 1998, is a native of Lakewood, N.J., and is married to the former Evangeline Maupin. The couple has four children – Jamea (19), Jai (15), Iyana (5) and Elijah (4).

HEATHER STEPHENS
Assistant Coach

The 2010-11 campaign will be Heather Stephens' eighth season as an assistant coach on the Lady Flames' basketball coaching staff. The longest-tenured assistant coach in program history, her responsibilities include on-the-court player development, academics, equipment coordination and recruiting. Stephens also assists with scouting and game preparation for perimeter play, as well as serving as summer camp coordinator.

In her role as academic coordinator, Stephens has helped Liberty rank among the country's top 14 women's basketball teams in grade-point average on three occasions. In 2006-07, the Lady Flames recorded a 3.508 team GPA, ranking No. 7 nationally. Stephens has also seen a pair of student-athletes, Megan Frazee and Kristal Tharp, become CoSIDA Academic All-Americans during her time with the Lady Flames. During the 2008-09 season, Frazee became the Lady Flames' first-ever first-team Academic All-American.

Liberty has flourished on the court as well, during Stephens' first seven seasons on staff. The Lady Flames have gone 174-51 during the span, with six Big South Championships to their credit and a NCAA "Sweet 16" appearance in 2005.

Prior to arriving at Liberty, Stephens was a member of the Wyoming Cowgirl women's basketball program. As a senior at Wyoming, Stephens was a member of the Cowgirl squad which defeated Montana in the first round of the Women's National Invitation Tournament (WNIT). The team achieved the second-highest win total in program history and had the highest grade-point average among all Division I schools.

Stephens received her bachelor's degree in secondary education with an emphasis in chemistry from Wyoming in 2003 and is pursuing a master's degree in human relations from Liberty.

"Although we have a team composed of mostly familiar faces, every year the team dynamics change and a new team personality emerge," stated Stephens. "I am anxious to see this group develop into their own unique Lady Flames team. I know God is at work in each player's life and the team as a whole. We know that if we continue to focus on our program's mission – to develop women of excellence who glorify God through success in basketball and in life – this will be another memorable season!"

"Heather brings an enthusiasm and excitement from a player's perspective to the coaching ranks," head coach Carey Green said. "She's been a student of the game, which provides valuable insight for our players. Heather has been a tremendous asset in so many areas, which has established a standard of excellence in our program. I firmly believe Heather's development and contributions as a coach have been major keys to the success of our program."

Stephens, who hails from Monument, Colo., is married to Jesse Stephens. The couple currently lives in the Lynchburg area with their two dogs, Thunder and Nala. They are expecting their first child in January 2011.

ANDREA "ANDY" BLOODWORTH
Assistant Coach

Andrea "Andy" Bloodworth begins her fourth year as an assistant on the Liberty women's basketball coaching staff. Her responsibilities with the Lady Flames include recruiting, development of the team's perimeter players, scouting and assisting with the organization of summer basketball camps.

Liberty has claimed Big South titles during each of Bloodworth's first three seasons on Liberty Mountain, tallying a 79-19 record in the process. "It has been a privilege to be a member of the Lady Flames coaching staff the last three years," stated Bloodworth. "We have a tremendous group of young women who are committed to carrying on the tradition of excellence that has been established. Coach Green is a proven winner and it's a blessing to work with such strong role models who live out their faith daily. I'm eager to face the challenges and celebrate the triumphs God has planned for us this year."

Bloodworth previously served as recruiting coordinator for the Valparaiso women's basketball team for two seasons (2005-06 and 2006-07), working with the Crusaders' perimeter players and assisting with scouting. The team went 36-24 during her two seasons as part of the coaching staff, including a 20-win season in 2006-07. Six Crusaders earned All-Mid-Continent Conference recognition during those two seasons.

Prior to her time at Valparaiso, Bloodworth worked for three years on the Gannon women's basketball coaching staff. As an assistant coach, she served as the Golden Knights' recruiting coordinator. Bloodworth also helped develop guard play, coordinated team travel arrangements and assisted with scouting. She was the staff's academic monitor and the team camp coordinator for a squad which won 37 games during her final two seasons and reached the 2005 Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference title game.

Bloodworth spent the 2000-01 and 2001-02 campaigns as an assistant coach and physical education instructor at Armstrong Atlantic State, under head coach Roger Hodge, himself a Liberty assistant coach from 1997-2000. She helped recruit a class of players which posted a 27-4 record in 2002-03, marking the best single-season turnaround in the NCAA that season (15 games) and qualifying for the postseason for the first time in school history.

Bloodworth's resume also contains a stint as an assistant coach for an Athletes in Action Fall Tour team which played exhibition games around the Midwest in 1999. She was additionally an assistant for a Lake Michigan Community College women's basketball team which placed sixth at the 2000 NJCAA Division II national championships.

Andrea Bloodworth

Bloodworth got her start in college coaching as an assistant for the 1998-99 Ferris State women's basketball team. The team's head coach was her sister, Tracey Dorow, who is still at the helm of the Bulldogs.

Her father, Rick Bloodworth, recently retired from a long coaching career, which included 31 years as the head girls' basketball coach at St. Joseph High School in Michigan and 19 years as the head women's basketball coach at Lake Michigan College.

Bloodworth's playing career at Calvin College included a pair of trips to the NCAA Division III regional tournament. She earned a bachelor of arts degree in physical education from Calvin in 1998.

"Andy came to Liberty from a deep-rooted basketball family background, which includes a father and older sister who are both coaches and have had a tremendous amount of influence in shaping her love for the game," remarked head coach Carey Green. "Her energy and enthusiasm made an immediate positive impact on our program. She has established herself as an excellent role model by the caring love she has exhibited to the players."

Bloodworth became an aunt for the first time when Lainie Joy Dorow was born in February 2009. She resides in Lynchburg with her dog Honey.

ADAM DEYO
Director of Operations

Adam Deyo is serving as the Lady Flames' director of operations for the eighth consecutive season. He is responsible for the daily operations of the program, including the logistics of practice and game-day management, coordination of managers' duties, team travel arrangements and scheduling of games.

Deyo, a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, graduated from Gordon College in Wenham, Mass., where he was a member of the Fighting Scots basketball squad during his tenure. Deyo earned his bachelor's degree in Biblical and Theological Studies in 2002.

While in college, Deyo was actively involved in Athletes in Action (AIA), working summer basketball camps and touring internationally with their basketball team. He also served as an intern with AIA in Colorado, where he met his future wife, Kelley, who served as an assistant coach for the Lady Flames for four seasons. The two were married in 2002. After their marriage, the Deyo's moved to Austria, where Kelley played professional basketball, while Adam was on staff with AIA.

"The mission statement of our program is to 'develop women of excellence who glorify God in basketball and life'," stated Deyo. "I feel that it's a great opportunity to help build a top-ranked program, while having an eternal impact as our top priority."

"Adam is a great asset to our program," noted head coach Carey Green. "He does a tremendous job with the details of scheduling facilities, travel and hotels and assisting with game management. He continues to do such an outstanding job that it allows me to be involved in other important details – like fishing. I appreciate most that Adam has a heart for our program and is a man of integrity."

Deyo and his wife, Kelley, currently live in the Lynchburg area with their sons, James (4), Judah (3) and Joseph, born in May.

KATIE GARLICK
Office Administrator

Katie Garlick is beginning her first year as the Lady Flames' office administrator. In this role, she is responsible for a number of issues, including the team's budget, intercampus relations and Coach Green's daily schedule.

Garlick attended Liberty as an undergraduate, serving as an English tutor and holding membership in Phi Alpha Theta (history honor society). She graduated in 2008 with a bachelor's degree in social science.

Garlick then served two years as an administrative assistant in Liberty's Office of Student Leadership, before joining the Lady Flames' staff in August.

"Growing up, athletics was a major part of my life," noted Garlick. "My dad coached my teams, and is currently a high school softball coach. I love athletics and am thrilled to be involved with the women's basketball team. This is an exciting place to work, and I am surrounded by a great coaching staff and a wonderful group of players."

DAVE WILLIAMS
Strength & Conditioning Coach

Considered one of the top strength coaches in the country, Dave Williams is in his 27th year as a member of the strength and conditioning coaching staff for the Flames' 20-sport athletics program and his fifth year working with the Liberty women's basketball team. He is a certified strength and conditioning specialist (C.S.C.S.).

In 2008, Williams was named a Master Strength and Conditioning Coach by the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches association (CSCCa). He is now one of fewer than 100 Master Strength and Conditioning Coaches in the world.

During the 1992-93 school year, Williams was one of five finalists nominated for strength coach of the year. This included strength coaches from the professional sports ranks, along with colleagues at the collegiate level.

"I'm thankful to have such a concerned and qualified strength and conditioning coach," noted head women's basketball coach Carey Green. "He is simply the best, and his credentials of being a Master Strength and Conditioning Coach prove it. He really cares about our players and puts his heart into working with them."

Prior to accepting his current position at Liberty, Williams served three years as the head strength coach at Texas A&M. He also spent a year as an assistant strength coach at Alabama.

Before entering the strength and conditioning profession, Williams spent six years as a teacher and coach. He coached two years at Liberty High School in Bedford, Va., and spent four seasons at Timberlake Christian School in Lynchburg, Va.

Williams earned Associated Press Little All-America honors while playing collegiately at Fairmont State College in Fairmont, W.Va. He played both offensive and defensive line and was a two-year co-captain at Fairmont State, who was NAIA National Champions in 1967. In 2003, the school honored Williams by inducting him into the Fairmont State College Athletic Department Hall of Fame.

Williams also was an All-West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference selection. He played high school football at South Charleston High School in South Charleston, W.Va., where he lettered all four years.

Williams graduated from Fairmont State in 1968 with a degree in biology and physical education. He also holds a master's degree from Alabama in physical education.

He and his wife, Lee, have two daughters, Shelley and Mandy. They also have two grandchildren.

ERIN MOORE
Athletic Trainer

Erin Moore joins the Lady Flames this year as an Assistant Athletic Trainer. In her position, she works with the volleyball and women's basketball teams.

Moore comes to Liberty after spending two years as a graduate assistant at James Madison. She worked with the Dukes' volleyball team while earning a master of science degree with a concentration in exercise physiology.

A native of Nashua, N.H., Moore remained within her home state for her undergraduate education. She received a bachelor's degree in kinesiology with a concentration in athletic training from New Hampshire in May 2007.

While at New Hampshire, Moore competed on the Wildcats' track & field team. She broke the school indoor shot put and weight throw records during her career and won a pair of America East Conference titles.

Moore also gained experience as an outreach athletic trainer at Performance Rehab Inc./Nashua High South during the 2007-08 academic year.

SAM CHOI
Graduate Assistant/Video Coordinator

nates the practice squad and video exchange, as well as assisting with other office tasks. He also played a significant part in organizing the first-ever Lady Flames basketball reunion, held in October 2009.

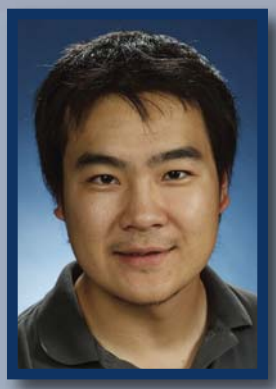

Choi previously spent three years as a student manager for the Lady Flames, including the 2007-08 and 2008-09 seasons as head manager.

"Sam is a great asset to our program," remarked head women's basketball coach Carey Green. "He brings experience with both our program and our university, which assists us in details of daily operations. He possesses great concern and care, as well as dedication and loyalty to our program. We're thankful to have him continue with us."

Choi, a Philadelphia native, graduated from Liberty in May 2009 with a bachelor's degree in psychology. He is currently pursuing a master's degree in business administration.

"I am extremely blessed to work with Coach Green and his staff," commented Choi. "I believe in our mission statement, and I am excited to see what God is going to teach me through working with the team. God has changed my life here at Liberty."

BIG SOUTH

BIG SOUTH CONFERENCE

Since its founding in 1983, the Big South Conference has matured into a competitive leader in college athletics, actively pursuing excellence on the field of play and in the classroom. The league's growing presence as an NCAA Division I athletics conference is evident by athletics accomplishments on the national stage, innovative marketing and media partnerships, increased television packages, and quality athletic competition while intentionally fostering the academic, personal, social, athletics and leadership development of each student-athlete. This has evolved into the conference's mission of "Developing Leaders Through Athletics."

The Big South Conference was formed on August 21, 1983, when Charleston Southern (then Baptist College) Athletic Director Howard Bagwell and Augusta President George Christenberry began recruiting members into the Big South, receiving initial commitments from Augusta, Charleston Southern, Campbell, Coastal Carolina and Winthrop.

One month later, Dr. Edward M. Singleton was selected as the league's first commissioner and continued to solicit new members. His efforts led to the additions of Armstrong State, Radford and UNC Asheville, giving the Big South more than the required six members to constitute an official conference. The Big South's first year of competition was in the Fall of 1984, and in September 1986, the Big South Conference was granted full-fledged NCAA Division I status.

During its infancy and prior to securing automatic bids to NCAA Championships, the Big South made early strides in earning at-large berths in several national postseason events, including volleyball, women's basketball and women's golf.

In 1989, George F. "Buddy" Sasser replaced the retiring Dr. Singleton as commissioner, and in 1990, the league received its first automatic bid – receiving an automatic qualifier to the NCAA Baseball Championship. Under Sasser's seven years of leadership, the conference implemented its public relations and compliance programs, and introduced its first-ever men's basketball television package, featuring the Big South competing among some of the finest teams in the nation.

In August 1996, Kyle B. Kallander replaced Sasser as the league's third commissioner, and in his 14 years at the helm of the Big South, Kallander has been instrumental in aggressively promoting the Conference to new heights. The conference has enjoyed record levels in marketing revenue during the past several years, he has brought television coverage to Big South women's basketball, baseball and softball for the first time in conference history, as well as increased national television exposure to the League as a whole through aggressive and unique television packages.

Under Kallander's leadership, the Big South developed and initiated its first long-range strategic plan, re-affirming the league's vision as a distinctive athletic conference committed to the quality of institutional life through athletic competition.

He also spearheaded the efforts to add football as a championship sport, which came to fruition in 2002, and has solidified Conference membership with the additions of High Point, Gardner-Webb and Presbyterian, and in 2011-12, the return of charter member Campbell.

Kallander's long range vision has also included technological advancements, as the conference introduced its first live event video streaming in 2005 and has since expanded its video offerings to more than 600 events annually through a partnership with the member institutions, as well as the creation of several online and social media platforms.

In the last 15 years alone, the Big South Conference has experienced monumental growth and success in nearly every sport. During this time, the conference has had four individual national champions, more than 220 All-Americans, has reached the "Sweet 16" in men's soccer, women's basketball and baseball, has received national Top 25 rankings in football, men's soccer, men's basketball, women's basketball, baseball, men's outdoor track & field, and men's golf, had an individual selected to play in the NCAA Singles Championship five times in addition to the first men's tennis doubles at-large selection, had the No. 1 ranked men's golfer in the country, has had the nation's top scoring men's basketball team four consecutive years as well as the national men's basketball scoring leader twice, received an at-large playoff berth in the Football Championship Subdivision in 2006, has had four NFL Draft picks, and had an institution finish fifth in the NCAA Men's Golf Championships – the conference's highest-ever team finish in an NCAA event.

Coastal Carolina's baseball program has been a No. 1 seed four out of the last six years – including a national seed for the first time in 2010, while the Chanticleers' FCS playoff berth in 2006 came in just the fifth-year of the Big South's football existence. The 2009-10 season saw Liberty's Sam Chelanga win two NCAA National Championships (Cross Country, 10,000-meter run), Coastal Carolina's baseball team reached the Super Regionals for the second time in three years.

The conference's tagline, "Developing Leaders Through Athletics" was unveiled in 2008-09 in conjunction with the conference's 25th Anniversary. The league also honored its heritage with the Top 25 "Best of the Best" moments in League history from 1983-2008, with Liberty University's 10-year women's basketball championship run from 1996-2007 being crowned the No. 1 moment in the Big South's first 25 years.

The conference's on-field accomplishments have been duplicated in the classroom. Annually, more than 40 percent of conference student-athletes are named to the Big South's Presidential Honor Roll for maintaining a cumulative 3.0 grade-point average, and the League has had more than 95 Academic All-Americans in its 26 years of existence.

13-TIME BIG SOUTH CHAMPIONS

2011 BIG SOUTH CHAMPIONSHIP

The entire 2011 Advance Auto Parts Big South Women's Basketball Championship will be contested at the Millis Athletic Center on the campus of High Point University. It will be the third straight year High Point has hosted the Big South Women's Basketball Championship and the fifth consecutive season the Big South Women's Basketball Championship has been held at a single location. UNC Asheville hosted the single-site tournament at the Justice Center in both 2007 and 2008.

This year's championship will begin with four quarterfinal contests on March 11. The quarterfinal winners will head to the semifinals, to be played March 12. The women's championship game will be played on March 13. The game will determine the recipient of the Big South's automatic bid to the 2011 NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Championship.

The format for the Big South Championship has evolved over the years. From 2004 through 2006, the No. 1 seed in both the men's and women's championships had the ability to play all three of its tournament games on its home floor. The Liberty women's basketball team took advantage of this stipulation, capturing Big South titles No. 8, 9 and 10 in succession at the Vines Center.

Previously, the Big South men's and women's basketball championships have been played in their entirety at a single location. The Roanoke Civic Center hosted the 2001 and 2002 championships, the 1999 and 2000 tournaments were held at the Asheville Civic Center and the Vines Center was the site of the 1997 and 1998 conference men's and women's tournaments.

The 1997 and 1998 tournaments at the Vines Center produced some of the highest-attended contests in Big South Conference history. Over 7,000 fans attended the 1997 men's tournament each day, including 8,343 spectators for the semifinal round. Meanwhile, 4,921 fans saw the semifinals of the 1998 women's championship and 5,041 came the next day for the championship game.

1997 BIG SOUTH CHAMPS

Youth Generates a Turnaround Season

It was a moment that will not be soon forgotten in the history of Liberty University. For those who were among the record-setting crowd of 2,319 in the Vines Center on March 1, 1997, the emotions come flooding back at the mere mention of it.

The basketball floor was a sea of humanity participating in a wild celebration. The Lady Flames had just finished their miraculous, come-from-behind 89-82 victory over favored UNC Greensboro in the Big South Tournament championship game.

The comeback story was one of the greatest in NCAA history. Not just the 13 points the Lady Flames trailed by in the second half of the championship game, but of rebounding from winning just five games the year before.

The 180-degree turnaround was mostly due to a triumvirate of freshmen, all of whom were named to the all-conference and all-tournament teams: tournament MVP Elena Kisseleva, a 6-1 forward from Russia, and the Wilkerson twins, guards Sharon and Sarah, from Princeton, W.Va.

Kisseleva scored 32 points, connecting on 17-of-18 free throws, while grabbing 14 rebounds and dishing out five assists versus UNC Greensboro. However, the spark for the Lady Flames came courtesy of the Wilkerson twins.

Midway through a first half which saw several players bruised and battered, Sharon Wilkerson was forced to leave the game with severe cuts above her right eye and on her chin, and a chipped tooth, thanks to a collision with the court after a UNC Greensboro player landed on her head.

As her sister was helped from the floor, it was obvious Sarah Wilkerson was emotionally shaken. In the second half, however, she was shaking-and-baking the UNC Greensboro defense. After trailing by as many as 13 points just after the break, Sarah Wilkerson scored eight-straight points in one stretch, as Liberty knotted the game at 67-67 with 9:42 left.

The Spartans were plagued by second-half foul trouble. Freshman Melinda Goodson, who scored 20 points in the first half, picked up her fourth foul with nearly 15 minutes left in the game and was forced to the bench. She finished with 25 points.

When the freshmen weren't leading the way, it was Liberty senior Genie Stinnett, who scored 14 points, while making four-of-five three-pointers, including a big one with 3:13 left to make it, 79-72. The Lady Flames had gone ahead when center Michelle Wyms, their only other senior, scored with 6:57 left to make the score 73-71, and it was a lead Liberty would not relinquish.

After the emotional victory in the Big South title tilt, one more game remained for the team. Old Dominion, the No. 2 ranked team in the nation, proved its ranking with a 102-52 win over the Lady Flames in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament. While Liberty may have gotten its feet soggy wet in its first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance, it failed to diminish the mountain-top experience of a great turnaround season and the Lady Flames' first Big South title.

After losing to Old Dominion in the opening round of the 2007 NCAA Tournament, the Lady Flames vowed in the locker room to do whatever it took to earn a better record, a second-straight conference title and a return invitation to the NCAA Tournament. When the ball went up for the tip-off of the 1997-98 season, Liberty was ready for a magical season, and a magical one it was.

The Lady Flames went through the first part of their schedule without a blemish, starting to gain the attention of the national poll voters, receiving its first Top 25 votes in school history. "The Shot" by Sharon Wilkerson highlighted a last-second road victory over New Orleans in early January and gave the team momentum. Liberty then went through the Big South Conference slate without a loss, only having close contests with Elon, Winthrop and Radford, entering the conference tournament as the top seed.

Liberty remained undefeated and advanced to its second-straight Big South Tournament championship game with a 64-54 victory over Charleston Southern. Sarah Wilkerson scored 19 points, grabbed seven rebounds, had four assists and came up with three steals.

The following day, top-seeded Liberty captured its second Big South Conference title in a row, with a 65-53 victory over UNC Asheville, at the Vines Center. Elena Kisseleva led all scorers with 23 points, with 15 coming in the second half, and Sharon Wilkerson finished with 14 points.

The "Big Three" once again shined throughout the season, as they were selected to the all-conference and all-tournament teams for the second consecutive year. Elena Kisseleva was named Big South Player of the Year for the first time, and Rick Reeves repeated as Big South Coach of the Year.

The pinnacle of the Lady Flames' poll placement was reached after the Big South Tournament, with the Associated Press ranking them 32nd, and the coaches placing them 39th. However, the vision of the team gaining a higher seed in the NCAA Tournament was thwarted as the bracket was announced, placing Liberty as the No. 16 seed against the No. 1 team in the country, Tennessee.

Liberty caught the Lady Vols a little flat early in front of an NCAA first-round record crowd of 12,577, as the Lady Flames scored first and stayed with top-seeded Tennessee for the first seven minutes of the game. After tying the game at 12, Liberty could get no closer, as the Lady Vols' size and depth carried them on to a 102-58 victory. Sharon Wilkerson put on a show with her 26-point effort, 20 of those coming in the first half. She tied an NCAA Regional record, hitting six three-pointers for the game.

The Lady Flames' magical season was over, but not before posting a school-best 28-1 record, a second-straight Big South title and invitation to the NCAA Tournament and well-deserved national-media attention, putting the program on the national map.

1999 BIG SOUTH CHAMPS

Lady Flames Achieve the Three-Peat

Thoughts of the previous year's seeding by the NCAA Tournament committee still loomed in the minds of the Lady Flames as they prepared for the 1998-99 season. Out to gain the respect they believed they had earned, the schedule strength was upgraded significantly, with more nationally-ranked opponents added to the slate.

Early, unexpected losses had Liberty finding itself with a 6-6 record, heading into conference play. The highlight was an 80-76, come-from-behind upset victory over Kentucky in Lexington, Ky. Once the conference season started, the Lady Flames found their equilibrium. They won 12 straight games coming down the stretch and again found themselves as the top seed, heading into the conference tournament.

After receiving a first-round bye, the Lady Flames drew conference rival Charleston Southern in the semifinal round. Elena Kisseleva scored 24 points and pulled down 10 rebounds to lead the Lady Flames to a hard-fought 70-55 victory. Sharon Wilkerson finished with 16 points and Sarah Wilkerson and Rachel Young each added 10 points.

After playing to a 22-22 tie at the half, Liberty opened the second half on a 6-0 run and then built as much as a nine-point lead over the Buccaneers, with 9:29 left in the game. The Lady Flames closed out the last 6:17 of the game on a 17-6 run to advance to the Big South Tournament championship game for the third-straight year.

Behind the 28-point, seven-rebound performance of Kisseleva, Liberty won its third-straight championship title by defeating Coastal Carolina, 68-55. The Lady Flames built a nine-point lead in the second half, before Coastal Carolina ran off nine unanswered points to tie the game at 40-40 with 15:47 left in the game. The Lady Flames proceeded to go on a decisive 17-6 run over the next eight minutes, building an 11-point lead, 57-46, with 7:06 left in the game.

The "Big Three" once again collected their share of conference hardware, being selected to the all-conference and all-tournament teams for the third-straight year. Kisseleva was named Big South Player of the Year for the second-straight year and the tournament's most outstanding player for the second time in her career. Rachel Young was a Big South All-Rookie team honoree.

Once again, the team gathered in the Vines Center to watch the NCAA Tournament selection show on the big screen. This time, there was only joy. Liberty was awarded a No. 14 seed and assigned to play Georgia.

Liberty led through most of the first half against the Bulldogs and played competitively most of the game. The Lady Flames used solid outside shooting to take a five-point lead with 7:15 left in the first half. Georgia answered with a 13-3 scoring run, finishing out the first half with a five-point advantage of its own. The Bulldogs pushed its edge to as much as 10 points midway through the second half and finished the game on a 21-10 scoring run, claiming a 73-52 triumph.

Three straight seasons of excellence, three-straight conference championships and three NCAA Tournament invitations. However, this time, the Lady Flames received the national respect they earned, putting an exclamation mark on another great year.

Liberty featured a new coach and several new players, but it was the same old results for the Lady Flames, who left the Asheville Civic Center with their fourth-consecutive Big South Conference title and a return trip to the NCAA Tournament.

The 1999-2000 season started out as a year of adjustments as Rick Reeves, who had led the Lady Flames to three-consecutive Big South Championships, was no longer on the sidelines for the Lady Flames. Instead, first-year head coach Carey Green was now at the helm of a growing Big South Conference dynasty.

Despite Green's newness to the head coaching position, the 12-year assistant at Clemson brought something the Lady Flames had desperately desired since starting their run three years earlier – the experience of winning in the NCAA Tournament. Green helped guide the Lady Tigers to 11 NCAA Tournaments and three "Sweet 16" appearances, a place a senior-laden squad had been looking to reach for three years.

The non-conference schedule saw the Lady Flames experience their ups and downs. Liberty defeated in-state opponent Richmond for the first time in 13 attempts before falling to No. 8 Notre Dame in the championship of the Wachovia Women's Invitational.

The Lady Flames posted their first win over an ACC opponent in the program's history with a victory over Wake Forest, starting a three-game winning streak heading into Big South Conference play.

However, the streak would end as a night of firsts was experienced in the Vines Center when Elon defeated Liberty to pick up their program's first conference victory and hand the Lady Flames their first Big South loss in the "Furnace" since the 1996-97 season.

The only other blemish on the Lady Flames' Big South docket was a loss at Elon, giving the Lady Flames the top seed heading into the conference tournament. Prior to the start of the tournament action, Liberty made a clean sweep of the Big South's big awards with Player (Sharon Wilkerson), Rookie (Michelle Fricke) and Coach (Carey Green) of the Year honors all going the Lady Flames' way.

As the awards rolled in for the Lady Flames, so did the wins, as Liberty defeated first-year tournament participants High Point and Elon to advance to the championship game. Their opponent was a familiar foe, as Liberty faced Coastal Carolina in a rematch of the 1999 championship game. As had happened the season before, Liberty was able to overcome the challenges of the Chanticleers and once again cut down the nets as the seniors completed their quest to win four-consecutive Big South championships with a 74-64 triumph.

For the second-straight year, Liberty received a No. 14 seed in the "Big Dance," squaring off against No. 12 LSU in first round of the NCAA Tournament. Sharon Wilkerson's three-pointer with 3:05 left in the opening period gave the Lady Flames their first lead in the contest. Liberty looked well on its way to contending for its first NCAA Tournament victory, as the Lady Flames trailed by just one at the intermission. However, the Lady Tigers outscored the Lady Flames 23-8 in the first 10 minutes of the second half to open up a margin that Liberty was unable to overcome.

2001 BIG SOUTH CHAMPS

Magical Run Continues With Fifth-Straight Title

With every Big South Conference opponent out to end the Lady Flames' stranglehold on the conference title, Liberty had a huge target on its back every time the Lady Flames stepped on the court. However, a resilient squad kept the storyline the same.

The non-conference season brought a roller coaster of emotions to the squad. After knocking off Big East foe West Virginia to even their record at 2-2 early in the season, the Lady Flames dropped seven straight contests, with losses to the likes of Virginia, Iowa State and Wake Forest.

With a 2-9 record at the start of 2001, Liberty won its final non-conference game of the season at Hampton, 81-76, to get the ball rolling. The Lady Flames cruised to four straight conference wins before falling at Elon by 18 points – their worst conference loss in four years.

Liberty continued to fight through adversity and reeled off six straight league wins to put themselves ahead of the pack for the regular-season conference title. After a five-point loss to High Point, the Lady Flames won their final two games to claim their fourth BSC regular-season crown in succession.

For their efforts in helping Liberty to the regular-season title, four Lady Flames were honored by the Big South. Michelle Fricke was named to the first-team all-conference squad while Rachel Young took home second-team honors. Monique Leonard and Kristina Palaimaite both were voted to the league's all-rookie team.

Liberty started the league tournament with a 57-49 win over UNC Asheville at the Roanoke Civic Center. After knocking off High Point 74-55 in the semifinals, Elon was the only team standing between the Lady Flames and the school's fifth-straight conference tournament title and a trip to the NCAA tournament.

After trailing by one point at halftime, Liberty did not give up, claiming a 52-47 win and the conference title. Leading the Lady Flames in the tournament was Fricke, who was named tournament MVP after posting a double-double in each of Liberty's three wins. Young and Palaimaite were also named to the all-tournament team as the Lady Flames pushed on toward the NCAA Tournament.

The Lady Flames received a No. 15 seed and were given a first-round date with the nation's fourth-ranked team – the Georgia Lady Bulldogs. The Lady Bulldogs jumped out to a 22-7 edge midway through the opening half and never looked back, dashing Liberty's hopes for an NCAA tournament win with a 77-48 triumph.

A trio of newcomers were instrumental during the Lady Flames' ride to the school's sixth-straight Big South women's basketball title. For the second time in school history, three freshmen led the squad in scoring and the end result was the same for the rest of the conference.

Freshmen Katie Feenstra, Kristal Tharp and Stephanie Walker became the second group of freshmen to pace Liberty in scoring, six years after the "Big Three" of Elena Kisseleva, Sharon Wilkerson and Sarah Wilkerson turned the trick during the Lady Flames' first league title run.

Feenstra led the way, averaging 10.8 points a game, playing in 16 contests after missing the first 14 with a knee injury. Her regular-season achievements helped land her on the Big South All-Rookie squad. Feenstra was vital at the Big South Tournament, where she averaged 18.0 points and 7.7 rebounds per game at the four-day event, earning all-tournament honors.

Not far behind was Tharp, who scored 9.2 points a game on the strength of a team- high 33 connections from behind the three-point arc. In addition to being named to the Big South all-tournament and all-rookie teams, the Chillicothe, Ohio native became the school's fourth Big South Rookie of the Year.

Walker was the squad's third-leading scorer, tallying 8.6 points per game while playing in all 30 games, including a start in 20 of those contests. Walker was honored as a member of the Big South All-Rookie team as well as receiving Big South Rookie of the Week honors twice during the regular season.

The Lady Flames' record stood at 4-6 heading into the start of 2002, but they didn't let past setbacks affect the remaining portion of the schedule. Liberty reeled off six straight wins, before Elon handed Liberty its only league loss on Jan. 21. But the Lady Flames responded by winning their next 10 regular-season games and three straight at the Big South tournament en route to the championship. For the third time in four seasons, Liberty squared off with Coastal Carolina in the conference tournament title game. Fittingly, Feenstra's 15 points and Tharp's 12 pushed the Lady Flames past the Chanticleers, 57-52.

In the NCAA Tournament, Liberty came closer to winning than it ever had before. The Lady Flames were matched up with a SEC opponent for the fifth-straight year, South Carolina. Paced by Walker's 19 points, Liberty kept it close, but eventually dropped a 69-61 decision to the Gamecocks, halting another memorable season.

BIG SOUTH CHAMPS

Lady Flames Continue Title Reign With Seventh-Straight Crown

For the seventh-consecutive year, the Lady Flames headed to the NCAA Tournament after dominating the competition in the Big South during the regular season and postseason. The Lady Flames' seventh-straight conference title, not only tied a Big South record held by Radford, but it also placed Liberty among elite company in the nation. The title gave the Lady Flames the third-longest conference championship run in the nation, behind only Old Dominion (12-straight CAA titles) and Louisiana Tech (eight-straight conference titles).

The Lady Flames posted a 26-4 record during the 2003 campaign, highlighted by the program's biggest win to-date, a thrilling 77-69 overtime victory over No. 23 Virginia, marking the first time the Lady Flames had beaten a ranked opponent. However, after opening the 2002-2003 season with three wins, Liberty would go on to lose three out of the next four games to begin the season 4-3. What happened next was simply amazing.

After a sluggish 4-3 start, the Lady Flames reeled off 22-straight victories, giving Liberty the second-longest winning streak in the nation. Only the eventual national champions, the Connecticut Huskies, boasted a longer winning streak. Over the 22-game run, Liberty was led by its top two sophomore sensations - Katie Feenstra and Kristal Tharp.

Big South Player of the Year Feenstra nearly averaged a double-double by scoring 16.8 points per game, on a 59.7 shooting percentage and collecting 9.1 rebounds, while Tharp chipped in with 12.6 points per outing, shooting 44.0 percent from behind the arc, and grabbing 4.2 boards a night. Collectively, Liberty outscored its opponents by an average of 17.4 points and outrebounded them by 11.6 boards over the 22-game span.

For the second time in school history, and the first under Big South Coach of the Year Carey Green, the Lady Flames went through conference play unscathed. Liberty posted a perfect 14-0 record en route to their sixth-straight regular season title. The Lady Flames' seventh-consecutive Big South Tournament title came as a result of an 84-71 victory over High Point in the championship game, led by a 28-point, 13-rebound performance by Feenstra. With the dominating performance, Feenstra earned Big South Tournament MVP honors.

With a 26-3 record and another Big South Championship, the Lady Flames earned their first-ever national ranking, as they were ranked No. 25 in the nation in the USA Today/ESPN/WBCA Coaches Poll on March 11.

Liberty took its Top 25 ranking into the NCAA Tournament as the No. 13 seed to face the fourth-seeded Vanderbilt Commodores. In what would prove to be a defensive struggle, the Commodores ended Liberty's 22-game win streak and hopes of its first-ever NCAA Tournament victory with a 54-44 victory.

The 2003-04 Liberty women's basketball season was one of record proportions. Vying to join elite company around the nation and set the benchmark for basketball championships in the Big South, the Lady Flames entered the season looking to do what no other team in the Big South had ever done--win eight-straight Big South basketball titles. And that's exactly what they did, marching through the conference unscathed for the second-straight season, while breaking their own record for consecutive regular-season Big South victories (37).

During the regular season, Liberty posted a 25-7 record, reeling off 16-straight victories to close out the season as they entered the NCAA Tournament for the eighth-straight time. In the "Big Dance", the Lady Flames squared off against the Lady Bulldogs of Georgia for the third time in the previous six postseasons, dropping the contest, 78-53.

Although the Lady Flames failed to advance in the NCAA Tournament, it was one of the most special seasons in program history, especially for junior Katie Feenstra. The 6-8 center recorded arguably the greatest season ever by a Lady Flame basketball player, or for that matter, any Liberty basketball player.

Feenstra began the year in unchartered waters, as she became the first Lady Flame to be named as a Street & Smith's Preseason Honorable Mention All-American. However, the honors didn't stop there. The Michigan native dominated her competition, posting a career-high 22 double-doubles and becoming the only player in the nation to be ranked in the top 15 in field goal percentage (1st, 65.7), points per game (10th, 21.1), rebounds per game (10th, 11.0) and blocks per game (14th, 2.6). With those statistics, Feenstra earned national honors as she was selected to the Kodak/WBCA All-America Region II Team, Associated Press Honorable Mention All-America Team and Academic All-America District III Second Team.

Head coach Carey Green and his staff continued their brilliance from the sidelines. On Jan. 17, Green earned his 100th career victory. He would go on to record 15 more triumphs to bring his five-year coaching record to 115-39.

2005 BIG SOUTH CHAMPS

Lady Flames Earn Ninth Big South Title; Earn First NCAA Tournament Win

Would this be the year? Would this be the year that talent met expectations? Would this be the year that the seniors would leave their mark on the Liberty women's basketball program? Would this be the year that the Lady Flames made a national impact?

Those are the questions which faced the 2004-05 women's basketball team, and by the end of the season the Lady Flames had a question of their own!

It wouldn't be an easy season for the 2004-05 squad as road games at Virginia, Kansas State, Duke and Ohio State, mixed in with home dates against Richmond and Virginia Tech, posed tough challenges.

During head coach Carey Green's tenure at Liberty, the Lady Flames had been very close to upsetting some big-time programs. With only one victory over a Top 25 team in five years, Green and his coaching staff looked to change that statistic and they had more than their share of opportunities. The Wildcat Classic was one of those chances for this Liberty team.

After running over Tennessee State, 74-38, Liberty took on a Kansas State team ranked No. 17 in the nation and riding a 35-game home winning streak. However, All-American Katie Feenstra and the rest of the Lady Flames were not intimidated, as they went on to hand the Wildcats their worst loss at home since 1998 with a 21-point loss, 77-56.

The win marked the biggest victory in Liberty's 30-year history, but it would be just the first of many extraordinary Lady Flames accomplishments to come.

After dropping its next two games to Virginia Tech and No. 3 Duke, Liberty would reel off 16 victories over its next 17 contests.

Next up was a home date with the Panthers of High Point - the last Big South team to hand Liberty a defeat.

The Lady Flames entered the game riding a 57-game conference streak, and the seniors had recorded a 61-1 (.984) record against Big South opponents. But neither of those stats mattered much, as Liberty came out flat and was held to 17 first-half points en route to a High Point victory.

The Panthers' win certainly ended something, but it started something as well: a buzz that Liberty could be beat and was vulnerable.

Although the players couldn't see it at the time, the High Point loss was the best thing to happen to a complacent Liberty team.

In the previous two seasons, the Lady Flames had cruised through the back half of their schedule and entered the NCAA Tournament on winning streaks of 22 games and 19 games, respectively. But this time, Liberty had lost with just two games remaining in their schedule before the Big South Tournament.

While some outsiders thought this was the season Liberty's dominance of the conference might end, the insiders knew what had happened: a giant had been awakened!

What followed over the next five games turned the doubters into believers. The Lady Flames rolled over their opponents by an average of 41 points per game, while holding them to 25.2 percent shooting.

Liberty set yet another record, as its 47-point victory in the Big South championship game over UNC Asheville demolished the old record for margin of victory in a championship game of 24 points.

So, would this be the season that the Lady Flames finally won an NCAA first-round game, or would it be the same old story--dominate the Big South and lose in the NCAA Tournament?

After having faced seven-straight SEC opponents in the NCAA opening round, Liberty caught a break and was matched up against Penn State of the Big Ten - a match-up which would prove favorable to Liberty.

The Lady Flames outplayed the Lady Lions and earned the Big South's first NCAA Basketball Tournament victory and the team's first victory in nine NCAA Tournament attempts, by a 78-70 score.

When the lights shone the brightest, Liberty's best showed up as Katie Feenstra poured in a game-high 22 points. But it was a freshman who surprised most, as Allyson Fasnacht ran the show flawlessly, scoring a season-high 18 points with no turnovers.

The victory marked just the fourth time a No. 13 seed had knocked off a No. 4 seed in the NCAA women's tournament. Coming into the tournament, No. 13 seeds were 4-44 all-time.

Next up was the Blue Demons of DePaul. Once again it was Feenstra who did what she had done so many times of during her four-year career, dominate the game. The center proved to be nearly unstoppable, scoring the Lady Flames' first eight points en route to a game-high 29 tallies on 11-of-14 shooting, while also grabbing 13 rebounds, propelling the team to an 88-79 victory.

With the win, Liberty earned a spot in the Sweet 16 and quieted all the critics. Although they'd go on to face the overall No. 1 seed in LSU and lose, the 2004-05 season will be remembered as one of the greatest in Lady Flames' basketball history.

After answering all the critics' questions, it was Feenstra, who while being interviewed by Jimmy Dykes of ESPN after the Lady Flames upset of DePaul on why she chose Liberty, who asked the final question: “Why not Liberty?”

2006 BIG SOUTH CHAMPS

A Perfect 10: Lady Flames Keep Big South Title Streak Going

With four starters from the previous season's Sweet 16 squad lost to graduation and a roster completely devoid of seniors, prospects were uncertain as the 2005-06 Liberty women's basketball season tipped off. Would this be the season that saw the Lady Flames' string of Big South Tournament titles end at nine?

Head coach Carey Green's squad opened the season with a home contest against Virginia Union. In the game, Lady Flames supporters got a taste of what was to come in the 25-point Liberty win. Although the faces were different (two freshmen started), Green's philosophy was still the same—control the boards and play stifling defense. The Lady Flames won the rebounding battle by 10 and held the visitors to 25 percent shooting.

Freshman Megan Frazee made an immediate impact, scoring 17 points, pulling down 10 rebounds and dishing out five assists in the first game of her collegiate career. She would go on to record nine double-doubles in the first 13 games, averaging 18.5 points and 9.8 rebounds per contest.

All seemed to be going well until Frazee went down with a season-ending ACL injury during a mid-January home game against Coastal Carolina. From that point on, Green's coaching ability and the young Lady Flames' mettle were really put to the test.

Fortunately for the Liberty faithful, the tests were passed with flying colors. High Point knocked off the Lady Flames, 64-55, on Jan. 25, but Liberty went on to win its next 14 games. Two of those 14 victories came against the Panthers.

The first of those revenge contests came in front of a season-high 3,366 fans at the Vines Center on Feb. 18, and Liberty seized control of the Big South lead with a 62-53 victory.

The two teams squared off again on March 11 at the Vines Center, this time with the Big South Championship trophy at stake. The Lady Flames were able to dig out of a 30-21 halftime hole by using their bread-and-butter, rebounding and defense. Liberty outrebounded the visitors by 18 and limited High Point to 19 percent shooting in the second half.

Meanwhile, sophomore guard Allyson Fasnacht came through in the clutch. Already a Big South first-team all-conference honoree, she added a Big South Tournament MVP award to her collection, sealing the award with the game-clinching jumper with 14.9 seconds remaining.

A 53-50 victory gave Liberty its unprecedented 10th-straight Big South title and sent it back to the NCAA Tournament. The Lady Flames, seeded No. 13, met a familiar foe in the first round, DePaul. Liberty had knocked off the Blue Demons to reach the Sweet 16 the previous year. This time, DePaul turned the tables on the Lady Flames, ending Liberty's season at 25-6 with a 68-43 triumph.

Liberty players and Green took home a good deal of hardware at season's end. Sophomore Roli-Ann Nikagbatse was named the conference's first-ever Defensive Player of the Year, and Moriah Frazee was included on the Big South All-Freshman Team. Megan Frazee earned a spot on the VaSID All-State second team. Green won both Big South Coach of the Year and VaSID State Coach of the Year honors.

The 2005-06 version of the Lady Flames not only silenced their doubters but paved the way for a bright future, with so many young players gaining valuable experience throughout the year.

The 2007-08 Liberty women's basketball team entered the season in a unique situation. For the first time in 11 years, the Lady Flames did not have a Big South title to defend. Additionally, Radford was tabbed the preseason favorite to win the conference title, giving Liberty the role of the hunter instead of the hunted.

Liberty displayed its readiness for conference play early on in the season, going 14-2 in its season-opening non-conference tilts. The Lady Flames captured a pair of tournament titles on the road, including the National City Xavier Invitational and the UNLV Lady Rebel Christmas Classic. Liberty also picked up wins over James Madison and Atlantic Sun champion East Tennessee State.

The Lady Flames won their conference opener at Charleston Southern on Jan. 19, 82-53, giving head coach Carey Green career victory No. 200. The result proved to be a sign of things to come, as Liberty won each of its first Big South games by double digits.

Adversity then struck the team during the last two weeks of the regular season, as junior forwards Moriah Frazee and Rebecca Lightfoot both went down with ACL injuries. Winthrop halted the Lady Flames' 13-game winning streak with a 56-52 decision at the Winthrop Coliseum on Feb. 27, and the team was forced to regroup before the start of the Big South Championship.

As the tournament's No. 1 seed, Liberty earned a first-round bye in the conference tournament, held at the Justice Center in Asheville, N.C. The Lady Flames then met High Point in the semifinal round, and a short-handed team banded together for an impressive 80-43 win. Seven different players scored eight or more points for victorious Liberty.

The following afternoon, the Lady Flames squared off with in-state rival Radford in the Big South Championship title game. The Highlanders had ended Liberty's streak of 10 straight conference titles the previous season, with a last-second shot at the Justice Center. This time around, though, a dramatic ending went in Liberty's favor.

Radford owned an 11-point lead early in the second half, before the Lady Flames made a furious comeback. Megan Frazee scored 20 of her 26 points during the final 20 minutes of play, but none were more important than her final two markers. The junior's over-the-head shot from close range dropped through the net with just 0.3 seconds remaining, giving Liberty a thrilling, 66-65 victory and its 11th Big South title.

Frazee, who had previously been voted Big South Player of the Year, garnered Big South Championship MVP honors as well. She was joined on the all-tournament team by sister Molly Frazee.

Entering the NCAA Tournament with a program record-tying 28 victories, the Lady Flames received their highest seed in program history, No. 12. Liberty remained within the Commonwealth of Virginia for its first-round matchup, versus No. 5 seed Old Dominion, on the Monarchs' home floor.

Old Dominion broke the contest open with a 15-0 first-half run, and went on to end the Lady Flames' stellar season with an 82-62 triumph. Liberty closed the year with a 28-4 record, equaling both the program and Big South records for wins in a season.

Megan and Molly Frazee were not the only Lady Flames to earn Big South Conference hardware. Megan Frazee was joined by sister Moriah on the first-team all-conference roster, while senior Courtney Watkins made the second team. Allyson Fasnacht was named Big South Scholar-Athlete of the Year, and Green won his fourth Big South Coach of the Year award.

2009 BIG SOUTH CHAMPS

Despite Adversity, Veteran Lady Flames Claim Big South Title No. 12

On paper, the 2008-09 Lady Flames seemed ready to produce one of the best seasons in program history. A talented six-member senior class was set to lead a veteran squad which had won 28 games the previous season.

Unfortunately, the six seniors never got to take the floor together. Alexandria Bream and Molly Frazee both suffered season-ending injuries before the year even got started. Meanwhile, Megan Frazee and Rebecca Lightfoot missed a combined 21 games due to injury.

As a result, Liberty was very short-handed as it navigated one of the toughest non-conference schedules in program history. The Lady Flames dressed as few as seven players during a December stretch which featured contests against nationally-ranked SEC foes Auburn and Vanderbilt. A road loss to the Commodores dropped Liberty's record to 3-7.

Megan Frazee returned to the lineup the following week, at the Hokie Hardwood Classic, and immediately provided a spark. She helped the Lady Flames defeat host Virginia Tech for the first time in program history and win the tournament title. The two victories in Blacksburg initiated an 18-game winning streak for the Lady Flames, including 13 double-digit wins over Big South opponents.

Despite a hiccup in the regular-season finale at High Point, the Lady Flames finished with a conference-record 15 Big South victories and entered the Big South Championship as the No. 1 seed. For the first time, the entire tournament was held at High Point's Millis Center.

Liberty took care of business in its first two tournament games rather handily, defeating Charleston Southern by a 74-64 count in the first round and dispatching Winthrop, 61-42, in the semifinals. Megan Frazee led the way in both contests, averaging 27 points and 12 rebounds per game.

Frazee was mired in foul trouble for much of the championship game against Gardner-Webb, however, necessitating a full team effort to defeat the Bulldogs in a nail-biter. Senior Rachel Hammond paced three Lady Flames in double digits with 13 points, and Liberty withstood a furious comeback attempt by new conference member Gardner-Webb.

The Bulldogs trailed Liberty by 10 points with 7:37 remaining, but had a chance to win the game on their final possession. Dominique Hudson's runner from short range fell off the rim, though, sealing Liberty's 51-50 victory and Big South title No. 12.

Liberty earned a No. 14 seed for its 12th NCAA Tournament appearance, and a first-round matchup with No. 3 seed Louisville in Baton Rouge, La. The Cardinals of the BIG EAST Conference fashioned a 16-2 run midway through the opening half, propelling them to a 62-42 win. That proved to be the first step in a remarkable postseason run, which took Louisville all the way to the national championship game two weeks later. Meanwhile, Liberty's season ended at 24-9.

Megan Frazee earned many awards during her final season with the Lady Flames, including Big South Player of the Year, VaSID State Player of the Year and honorable mention AP All-American. Carey Green became the first five-time Big South Coach of the Year in conference history. Meanwhile, several of the younger players on the team were also honored, including Avery Warley (VaSID State Rookie of the Year) and Kylee Beecher (Big South All-Freshman team).

Uncertainty was abundant entering the 2009-10 Liberty women's basketball season, following the graduation of seven seniors from the previous year's team. Many wondered if a young, inexperienced Lady Flames squad with only one senior could continue the program's tradition of dominance in the Big South Conference.

The conference coaches and media representatives were optimistic about Liberty's chances, tabbing the Lady Flames as a co-favorite (with High Point) to win another Big South title in the preseason poll.

After the opening tip of the Nov. 13 season opener against Winston-Salem State at the Vines Center, Liberty quickly began to reestablish itself as a team to be reckoned with. Redshirt freshman guard/forward Devon Brown tossed in 26 points in each of her first two collegiate games, claiming the team's leading scorer role from the previous wearer of the Liberty No. 40 uniform, Megan Frazee.

The Lady Flames' overall strength then became apparent for the first time at the Nov. 20-21 Navy Classic. Liberty captured the tournament title with a win over eventual Conference USA champion Tulane and a successful comeback from a 16-point deficit versus the host Midshipmen.

Liberty entered Big South Conference play with a 7-3 record, but met a stiff challenge in its conference opener at Gardner-Webb. The Bulldogs dealt the Lady Flames a 70-65 setback on Jan. 2, the first of their two wins over Liberty during a record-setting 28-win season.

The Lady Flames won the rest of their Big South matchups, and posted a 14-2 conference record. However, in a bit of a rarity, they did not earn the No. 1 seed for the conference tournament. That honor went to Gardner-Webb, with its 15-1 Big South mark.

Liberty took care of business in its first two contests at the Big South Championship, earning a title game rematch with Gardner-Webb. Devon Brown's 23 points and eight rebounds sparked a 70-52 triumph over Radford in the tournament opener. Point guards Amber Mays and Dymond Morgan then combined for 34 points in a 73-55 decision against host High Point during the semifinal tilt.

Liberty took control of the championship game early on, and owned a 54-34 lead with less than 12 minutes remaining to play. Just as they had in the previous year's title game, the Bulldogs roared back with a late comeback effort.

Gardner-Webb actually took the lead, before Big South Championship MVP Brown helped the Lady Flames pull out the victory. She made two clutch hoops in the final minute, including a contested bank shot from the right block with 4.2 seconds remaining. That conversion made the score 68-66 and gave Liberty its 13th Big South title in 14 years, after Gardner-Webb's final shot attempt caromed off the rim.

The Lady Flames entered their 13th NCAA Tournament appearance as a No. 13 seed, earning a first-round matchup with Kentucky, in the Wildcats' home state at Louisville. Despite a partisan Kentucky crowd, Liberty got off to a fast start and led 35-33 at halftime. However, the Wildcats shot 72.2 percent from the field in the second half, coming back for a hard-fought 83-77 victory. The triumph was the first step in Kentucky's Elite Eight run and perhaps also a foreshadowing of a bright future for a young Liberty team.
