2015 LMU BASEBALL

THE COACHING STAFF

SEVENTH SEASON AT LMU

166-165 Overall | 72-66 WCC

2012 USA Baseball Collegiate National Team Assistant Coach

Guided LMU to WCC Championship Series in '09 and WCC Tourney in '14

32 All-Conference Selections at LMU

17 LMU Players Selected in MLB Draft

Alma Mater | Cal State Fullerton, '96

Jason Gill enters his seventh year at the helm of the LMU baseball program with the 2015 season. Under Gill's guidance, LMU has accumulated 32 All-WCC selections, three Freshmen All-Americans, two WCC Defensive Players of the Year, an ABCA All-West Region selection, two WCC Freshmen of the Year, 19 Academic All-Conference selections, an Academic All-District selection, and 17 players drafted in the MLB Draft.

Gill's incoming class for the 2014 season was tabbed as the 34th-best in the nation according to Collegiate Baseball. LMU was just one of four non-BCS schools to make the list, and just one of five private schools lauded. The class was also tied for the best in the West Coast Conference. The Lions finished 2014 with a 32-24 overall record (best since 2004) and a 17-10 mark in the WCC to claim second place and a spot in the WCC Championship Tournament. David Fletcher and Austin Miller earned first team Freshman All-American honors, including becoming the first duo to be tabbed in the same year by Baseball America. Fletcher also took home WCC Defensive Player of the Year in his freshman season, keeping the award with the Lions for the second straight year.

The 2013 season saw Gill's arsenal of talented pitchers finish the year with an LMU record 3.17 ERA, led by a trio of All-WCC selections in right-handers Colin Welmon, Aaron Griffin and Patrick McGrath. The Lions also featured the WCC Defensive Player of the Year in Colton Plaia and honorable mention selections in David Edwards, Zac Fujimoto and Cullen Mahoney.

Gill guided his 2012 squad to a share of third place in the West Coast Conference. In a year that saw the Lions earn the 23rd spot in Baseball America's Top-25 recruiting classes, Gill helped his players to six All-WCC selections at the end of the season, including freshmen Trevor Megill and Colin Welmon as staples of the class. Reaching a coaching milestone, Gill earned his 100th career victory on April 20, 2012, a 5-3 victory over Portland.

At the conclusion of the 2012 campaign, Gill spent the summer of 2012 serving as an assistant coach for the USA Baseball Collegiate National Team, helping the squad to a 12-5 record and a bronze medal after fin-Gill's 2011 Lions posted an overall record of 20-25, the best record since 2004 to that point. The Lions, who finished tied for third in the West Coast Conference, began the year with a 7-1 record and closed the year by winning four of their last five games. Gill and his coaching staff also guided the LMU pitching staff to a 3.25 team ERA in 2011. The Lions placed five players on All-Conference teams, while four were taken in the MLB draft, including three in the first 12 rounds for the first time since 2005.

The 2010 season saw the Lions record a series sweep over perennial powerhouse Cal State Fullerton, including a victory over then-No. 9 Fullerton on May 18, and a series victory over Fresno State on the road. The 2010 season also culminated in the first All-American selection under Gill as a head coach, as 2010 West Coast Conference Freshman of the Year Matt Lowenstein was named a Freshman All-American by Collegiate Baseball Newspaper and Ping!Baseball.

LMU finished in second place in the WCC in 2009 after posting a 30-29 overall record and a 13-8 mark in conference play to earn a spot in the WCC Championship Series. The Lions' 8-2 start in 2009 was the best since the 1988 season, and it was also the best start over the first 10 games for a first-year skipper in LMU program history. Gill's 2009 squad finished the year with a 9-2 record against ranked-opponents, including recording a four-game sweep of then-defending National Champion Fresno State and a crucial three-game sweep over WCC-foe San Diego. Proving they can play with any team in Southern California, widely considered one of the toughest regions in the country, LMU also knocked-off perennial powerhouses, then-No. 5 UC Irvine and sixth-ranked Cal State Fullerton, in 2009. Although those victories were highlights for LMU players and fans alike, they were likely even bigger for Gill, as he coached at both programs after taking the field as a player for the Titans in 1994.

For the four years preceding his start as LMU's seventh skipper in program history, Gill worked under head coach George Horton at Oregon and Cal State Fullerton, serving as an infield coach, recruiting coordinator and as a primary hitting instructor. Gill is no stranger to starting a program from the ground up, taking on the task twice, most recently at the University of Oregon. Gill was Horton's first hire as both men left Cal State Fullerton to begin the reconstruction of the Duck baseball program in 2007. Always considered one of the best recruiters in college baseball, Gill's 2007 recruiting class was ranked in the top-10 in the nation by both Collegiate Baseball and Baseball America.

In the three years preceding the move to Eugene, Ore., the Titans made it to Omaha and the College World Series twice, won two Big West Conference titles and had 35 players drafted. The three-year stint under Horton was Gill's second on the Fullerton coaching staff, having started his coaching career as an undergraduate assistant for legendary skipper, and Division I baseball's all-time winningest coach, Augie Garrido.

All-Time Records	166-165	72-66	Six Seasons

In that first term, Gill served essential roles on both the 1995 National Championship and 1996 Fullerton squads.

Before his return to Fullerton, Gill spent three seasons as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator for UC Irvine, as the coaching staff resurrected the baseball program from extinction. After just three years of developing the program, Gill helped lead UCI to a NCAA Regional in 2004.

Furthering his reputation as a standout recruiter, the Anteaters' 2002 recruiting class was ranked eighth in the country by Baseball America, with the following two classes among Collegiate Baseball's top-30. Overall, Gill has served as a collegiate recruiting coordinator directly for seven years, recording six recruiting classes in the top-30 and two in the top-10 over that span.

Prior to UCI, Gill was an assistant coach at Loyola Marymount where he helped guide the Lions to their most recent WCC titles and playoff berths in 1999 and 2000. Over that two-year span, nine LMU players moved on to professional baseball. Perhaps the most successful draft year in LMU history, Gill watched six of his Lion ballplayers sign professional contracts in 2000, including one player in each of the first three rounds.

Coach Gill also served two years as an assistant coach at Nevada in 1997 and 1998. While there, the Wolfpack made the postseason for just the second time in school history. Serving as the team's hitting coach and working closely with the infielders, Gill guided the 1997 team to nine offensive team records at Nevada. In addition, his tutelage of the infielders was instrumental in placing Nevada first in the country in double plays in both seasons.

Before embarking on his coaching career, Gill played one year at Cal State Fullerton, hitting .345, scoring 28 runs and starting 43 games at third base as a senior. That year, the All-Big West Conference infielder helped the Titans to a 47-16 overall record and a College World Series berth. Gill started his collegiate career playing two seasons at Cuesta College before playing his junior campaign at Cal State Dominguez Hills.

Overall, Coach Gill has been to Omaha four times as a player and a coach. In addition, he has been to the postseason a total of nine times, coached four Conference Players of the Year, including three infielders directly under his guidance, and been a part of six Conference Championships.

A local product who prepped at Mater Dei High School in Santa Ana, Calif., Gill received his bachelor's degree from Cal State Fullerton in kinesiology in 1996. Gill, who was born on April 7, 1970, lives with his wife, Kacey, and his son, Shane.

Dan Ricabal, who spent six years serving as a pitching coach at various levels in the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim organization prior to coming to LMU, will begin his fourth season as LMU's pitching coach during the 2015 campaign. Ricabal, who was teammates with LMU head coach Jason Gill at Cal State Fullerton in 1994, helped guide LMU to a 32-24 overall record (best since 2004) and a 17-10 mark in the WCC to claim second place and a spot in the WCC Championship Tournament in 2014.

Over the three years as LMU's pitching coach, Ricabal has guided his staff to a 3.80 ERA, including posting Top-10 LMU season ERAs in each year. Ricabal is also responsible for developing three of LMU's Top-10 best individual season ERAs, including Colin Welmon's 2.30 ERA in 2013 - good for fourth overall on the list and the best mark since 1971. Training under Ricabal in his first three seasons, Welmon enters 2015 with the third-best ERA in LMU history (2.86).

The 2013 season saw the Lions finish with a 24-27 overall record in 2013, including a 12-12 mark in the WCC. Ricabal's pitching staff finished the year with an LMU record 3.17 ERA, led by a trio of All-WCC selections in right-handers Welmon, Aaron Griffin and Patrick McGrath (honorable mention).

Ricabal helped guide LMU to an even 27-27 overall record and a 14-10 mark in the WCC during the 2012 season. The conference record saw the Lions finish tied for third. Working with a young pitching staff, Ricabal guided freshmen right-handers Trevor Megill and Colin Welmon to All-WCC selections, including an honorable mention nod for Megill.

Prior to joining the Lion family, Ricabal guided the Inland Empire 66ers to the wild card round of the 2011 Class-A Advanced Southern Division playoffs. Including the 2011 playoff berth, Ricabal went to the postseason in five of the six years coaching in professional baseball.

"We are lucky to be able to add an experienced pitching coach the caliber of Danny Ricabal to the organization," Gill said of Ricabal's hire. "Danny has a proven track record of success as a pitching coach from Division I to professional baseball, and he has worked with some of the best pitchers in the game at all different levels of play. As a collegiate athlete, Danny pitched in Omaha and knows what it takes to get there. He has coached at the Division I level and has a clear understanding of how to get his pitchers to reach their full potential. There are few coaches in the college ranks that have the experience of pitching in Omaha, coaching Division I and coaching in professional baseball. He is the total package, and the LMU baseball program made big strides in our quest to be champions with the addition of Danny Ricabal."

Ricabal began his coaching career in 2000 as the pitching coach for College of the Canyons before serving as an administrative assistant at Cal State Fullerton in 2001. Ricabal spent his next three seasons with another Big West ballclub, serving as pitching coach and recruiting coordinator for UC Santa Barbara. While there, he worked with numerous pitchers who would go pro, including Virgil Vasquez who most recently pitched in the Major Leagues for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

After the three years with the Gauchos, Ricabal moved on to the professional ranks, spending his first two seasons with the Arizona League Angels (2006) and Class-A Cedar Rapids Kernels (2007). His 2006 squad led the Arizona League in ERA at 2.39, while he also helped Vladimir Veras to an 8-2 record and a 1.35 ERA en route to Pitcher of the Year accolades. Ricabal's staff once again led the League in ERA in 2007, as Cedar Rapids posted a mark of 3.21, guided by the pitching of Organizational Pitcher of the Year Sean O'Sullivan. That squad also set a Midwest League record for fewest walks allowed in a season, issuing just 303 at a rate of 2.30 per nine innings.

Prior to taking the role of pitching coach with Inland Empire, Ricabal spent the previous three seasons with the Rancho Cucamonga Quakes from 2008-10. While working with the Quakes in 2008, Ricabal saw O'Sullivan post a league record of 16 wins while also helping to develop Major Leaguers Trevor Bell, Bobby Cassevah, David Herndon and Jordan Walden. Add Tyler Chatwood and Garrett Richards to those names, and Ricabal developed many of the young arms that helped the Angels to the best ERA in the American League in 2011.

In his two years at Fullerton, Ricabal compiled an impressive 23-4 record under Division I baseball's all-time winningest coach Augie Garrido. Ricabal went 12-1 with a 2.81 ERA his senior season in 1994, including a 2-0 record in the College World Series. He was an All-American selection his junior season, posting an 11-3 record. Prior to his success at Fullerton, Ricabal was a Junior College All-American at Cerritos College where he compiled a 10-1 record in 1992.

Signed by the Dodgers as a free agent in 1994, Ricabal went 5-1 with a 0.31 ERA and 12 saves in his first season at Yakima. Ricabal holds the Florida State League record for most appearances in a season with 75 for Vero Beach in 1997. In the 1996 South Atlantic League finals, Ricabal tossed eight shutout innings in relief for a game-three win before converting on a save in the nightcap to lock up the League Championship. The right-hander finished his professional career with the San Francisco Giants organization in 1999.

Ricabal, who owns the Play Hard Baseball Club, a youth baseball academy in Pasadena, Calif., grew up in Rosemead, Calif., and was a graduate of San Gabriel High School. He earned a degree in Business Management from the University of Phoenix in November 2012.

VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT COACH BOBBY ANDREWS

THIRD SEASON AT LMU

Outfield Coach | 1st Base Coach
Four-Year Career in Baltimore Orioles Organization
2004 National Champion

#14

Bobby Andrews begins his third year at LMU with the 2015 season, serving his second season as the volunteer assistant coach after a year as a Director of Baseball Operations. Andrews came to the bluff after a successful four-year playing career in the Baltimore Orioles organization and two years in Independent League baseball.

Andrews helped guide LMU to a 32-24 overall record (best since 2004) and a 17-10 mark in the WCC to claim second place and a spot in the WCC Championship Tournament in 2014.

Like he has virtually throughout his tenure, head coach Jason Gill dipped into the former players of Cal State Fullerton file to find a coach in Andrews. Andrews was drafted out of Cal State Fullerton in 2005, going in the seventh round to the Orioles. While at Fullerton, the speedy outfielder helped guide the Titans to a 2004 National Championship serving as its starting right fielder. Andrews hit .325 for the Titans in that Championship year, collecting 21 runs scored and 15 RBI as a sophomore. In his final campaign, Andrews hit .297 with 13 stolen bases and 23 RBI.

Prior to heading to Fullerton, Andrews was a standout player at Rancho Buena Vista High School. There, he helped his team to a DI CIF Championship in 2002 and was named High School Male Athlete of the Year. Always coaching, Andrews worked as an individual instructor at the ACA Sports Academy in San Marcos, Calif. during the off seasons from 2003-08 before beginning an ongoing role as a head coach for Big Fly Athletics in Carlsbad, Calif. in 2008.

Andrews earned his degree in communications with an emphasis in entertainment studies from Cal State Fullerton in 2010.

2015 LMU BASEBALL

2014 REVIEW

A LOOK BACK AT 2014

A FEW NOTES

- LMU finished the 2014 season with a 32-24 overall record and a 17-10 mark in the West Coast Conference to place tied for second overall. LMU went 20-10 at home, including 13-5 in the first season under the lights at Page Stadium.
- The Lions were the number two seed in the 2014 WCC Championship Tournament, eventually falling to top-seeded Pepperdine in the Championship game. Colin Welmon, David Fletcher and Tanner Donnels were named to the All-Tournament team.
- David Fletcher and Austin Miller earned first team Freshman All-American honors, including becoming the first duo to be tabbed in the same year by Baseball America.
- Fletcher also took home WCC Defensive Player of the Year in his freshman season, keeping the award with the Lions for the second straight year.
- Miller earned WCC Freshman of the Year for the Lions for the first time since 2010 (Matt Lowenstein).
- Lions reached 30 wins for the third time in six years under head coach Jason Gill, and the 32 wins were the most since recording 32 in 2004 (32-22-1).

AWARDS AND HONORS

- LMU freshmen Austin Miller and David Fletcher highlighted the All-West Coast Conference selections for the Lions, as Miller took home Freshman of the Year honors and Fletcher nabbed LMU's second consecutive Defensive Player of the Year. Miller and Fletcher, who were joined by freshman Ted Boeke on the All-Freshman team, also earned a spot on the first team All-WCC squad. LMU right-handers Bret Dahlson and Colin Welmon also earned a spot on the first team, while Boeke was named to the honorable mention squad. The first team selection was the second in as many years for Welmon. LMU's four first-team selections are the most since tallying five in 2000.

- Brandon Horth earned Academic All-WCC honors for the second straight year at the end of the season. Horth, an entrepreneurship major, carried a 3.42 GPA into the summer.
- Having already been named Freshmen All-Americans according to Collegiate Baseball and the National Collegiate Baseball Writer's Association, freshmen Austin Miller and David Fletcher, who was also named to the ABCA All-West Region second team, took home Baseball America Freshman All-American selections. The selections from Baseball America were the first for the Lions since Scott Walter was tabbed a first-teamer in 1998. It marked the first time in LMU history that the Lions have registered a pair of Baseball America Freshmen All-Americans in the same year.

- LMU earned four West Coast Conference Player/Pitcher of the Week selections in 2014. Colin Welmon took home a pair of Pitcher of the Week selections, claiming his first on March 24 before earning the final of the season on May 19. Tommy Cheek earned Player of the Week on March 17 before Austin Miller was tagged Player of the Week on May 5.

- LMU had three players selected in the 2014 MLB Draft, as the St. Louis Cardinals selected LMU right-hander Trevor Megill in the third round (104th overall) before Kevin Garcia became the second Lion player drafted when he was selected in the 30th round (894th overall) by the Toronto Blue Jays. Colin Welmon rounded out the draft selections when the Pittsburgh Pirates took him in the 34th round. Megill and Welmon both decided to return to LMU.

OTHER NOTES

- Bret Dahlson passed Darryl Scott for LMU's career saves record (23) on April 6 vs. USF. He recorded 10 in 2014 to run his career total to 28 and match the WCC record.
- LMU fielded .973 as a team, highlighted by WCC Defensive Player of the Year David Fletcher at shortstop, en route to setting a new LMU program record.
- Colin Welmon went 10-2 (.833) with a team-best 2.37 ERA over 14 starts serving as LMU's Friday starter for the third straight year. His 10 wins were tied for eighth all-time in LMU history for a single season (most since Billy Traber won 10 in 2000), while his ERA was seventh-best. He tossed 7.0+ innings in all but two starts on the season, averaging nearly 7.2 innings per start, and posted four complete games, including three straight to finish the year, and all four in his last five starts. Included in those four complete games were two complete-game shutouts, both coming against West Coast Conference foes (Pacific and BYU).
- David Fletcher hit safely in 30 of LMU's last 32 games, including a team-high 15-game hit streak to finish the year. He finished second on the team in batting average, runs scored, hits (73), stolen bases (17-for-21) and multi-hit games (21).
- Austin Miller batted a team-high .374 with 46 runs scored, 10 doubles, three triples and 18 RBI while swiping 25 bases in 29 attempts and reaching at a .474 clip. He also drew 21 hit-by-pitches, matching the LMU record for a single season. Miller led the team in average, slugging percentage (.451), on-base percentage, runs scored, hits (77), triples, total bases (93) and stolen bases while hitting safely in 45 of LMU's 56 games and collecting a team-high 24 multi-hit games.
- Tommy Cheek set an LMU record with 11 sacrifice flies in 2014.
- LMU's 12-11 walk-off victory in 13 innings on March 5 over Cal State Northridge was a game for the ages. The contest lasted 5:40 and LMU collected 24 hits, the most since collecting 24 against Saint Mary's on April 12, 2008. The walk-off victory was the first for the Lions since May 20, 2012 when they walked off on Pepperdine with a 4-3 victory. Tanner Donnels went 6-for-6 with the game-tying RBI single in the 11th and the game-winner in the bottom of the 13th. Donnels' six-hit game matched the LMU single-game record set by Travis Tarchione on April 15, 1987 against UNLV. The Lions also committed seven errors, tied for the most in a single game in LMU history (three other times | most recently 4/5/97 vs. Portland).
- Prior to LMU's seven-game win streak from March 1-9, LMU had lost six straight games. The Lions were tied or leading in each of the six games over the streak headed into the sixth inning. LMU was outscored 31-4 in the sixth inning or later over that six-game losing streak, as the bullpen registered a 9.53 ERA.
- LMU had four freshmen who started at least half of LMU's games in 2014, including Austin Miller and David Fletcher who started every game.

THE 1986 COLLEGE WORLD SERIES

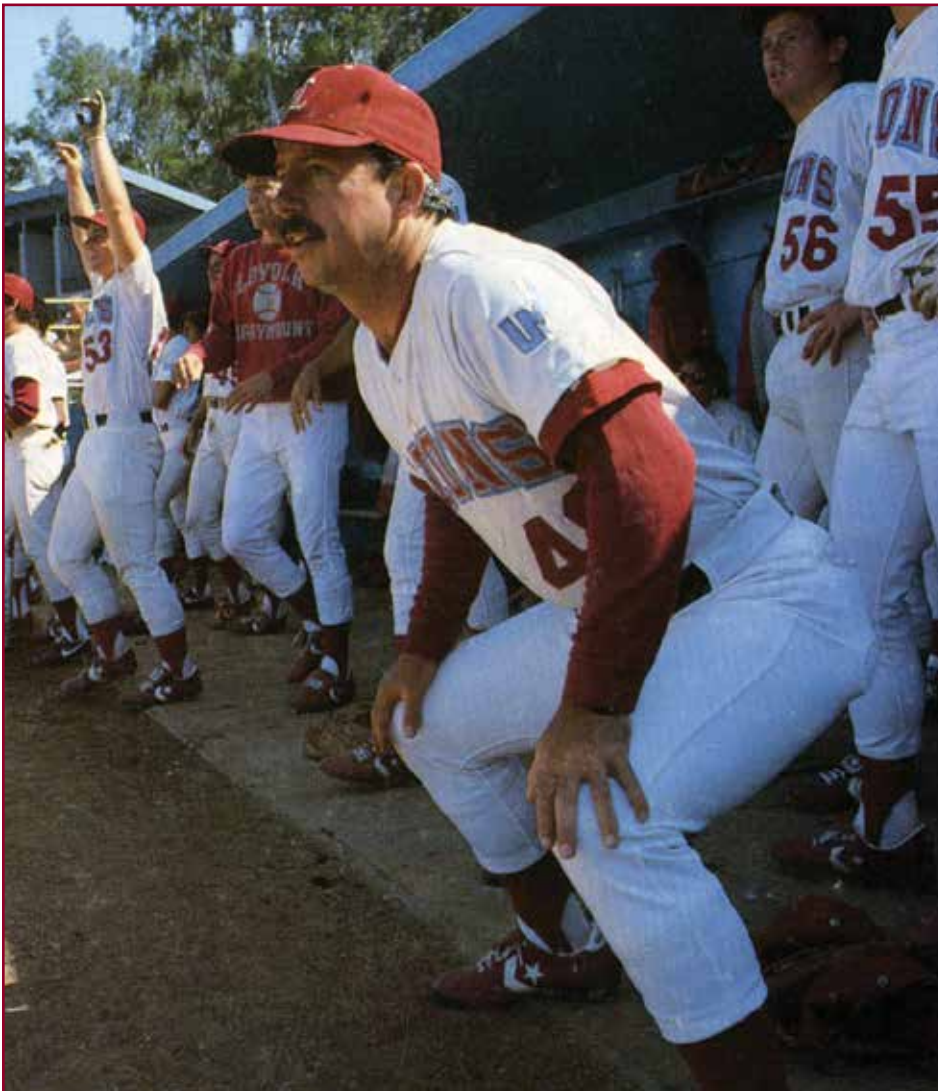

The 1986 LMU baseball team not only put together the best season in LMU baseball program history, it was also one of the best overall seasons of all time for LMU Athletics. Following a 1985 season in which the Lions did not have a winning record at 27-28, the program performed one of the best turnarounds in LMU history. That team finished the season with a program-best 50 wins, and wrapped-up the season at 50-15, a 23-game improvement from the previous year.

The season started with the Lions winning their first eight games, and 12 of their first 13. As the season progressed, LMU produced a 13-game winning streak from March 21 through April 11, and won 20 of 21 games in the middle of the season. With the winning streak came the nation's top ranking in the ESPN/Collegiate Baseball National Poll. The Lions never looked back, finishing tied with Pepperdine for first place in the West Coast Athletic Conference at 19-5, forcing a one-game playoff to determine the conference's automatic bid to the NCAA Regional. Played at Jackie Robinson Stadium on the campus of UCLA, the Lions defeated the Waves 14-9 to earn the bid to the NCAA West Regional.

LMU was placed with UCLA, UC Santa Barbara and the University of Hawai'i in Los Angeles at UCLA. It looked as though it might be two-and-out for the Lions, as they dropped their first game to UC Santa Barbara, 11-5, to move down to the elimination bracket. However, LMU would reel off its next four games, fighting through four separate elimination games to earn a bid to the school's first appearance in the College World Series.

In game two of the Regional, the Lions defeated UCLA 12-10, eliminating the Bruins and earning a rematch with UC Santa Barbara. LMU advanced past the Gauchos with a 14-6 win, and would then have to beat the University of Hawai'i twice to compete in Omaha. After 10-6 and 12-5 victories, the Lions earned a trip to the 1986 College World Series.

On May 30, the Lions opened their first World Series trip with a 4-3 win over perennial powerhouse LSU, earning a two-day rest and a spot in the winner's bracket. The Lions played the University of Arizona on June 2 and lost a heartbreaker, 7-5, to drop to the elimination bracket and face Oklahoma State. The Cowboys were too much for the Lions, as they went on to an 11-5 win, ending what has proved to be the best season LMU has ever had on the diamond.

JERRY STONE

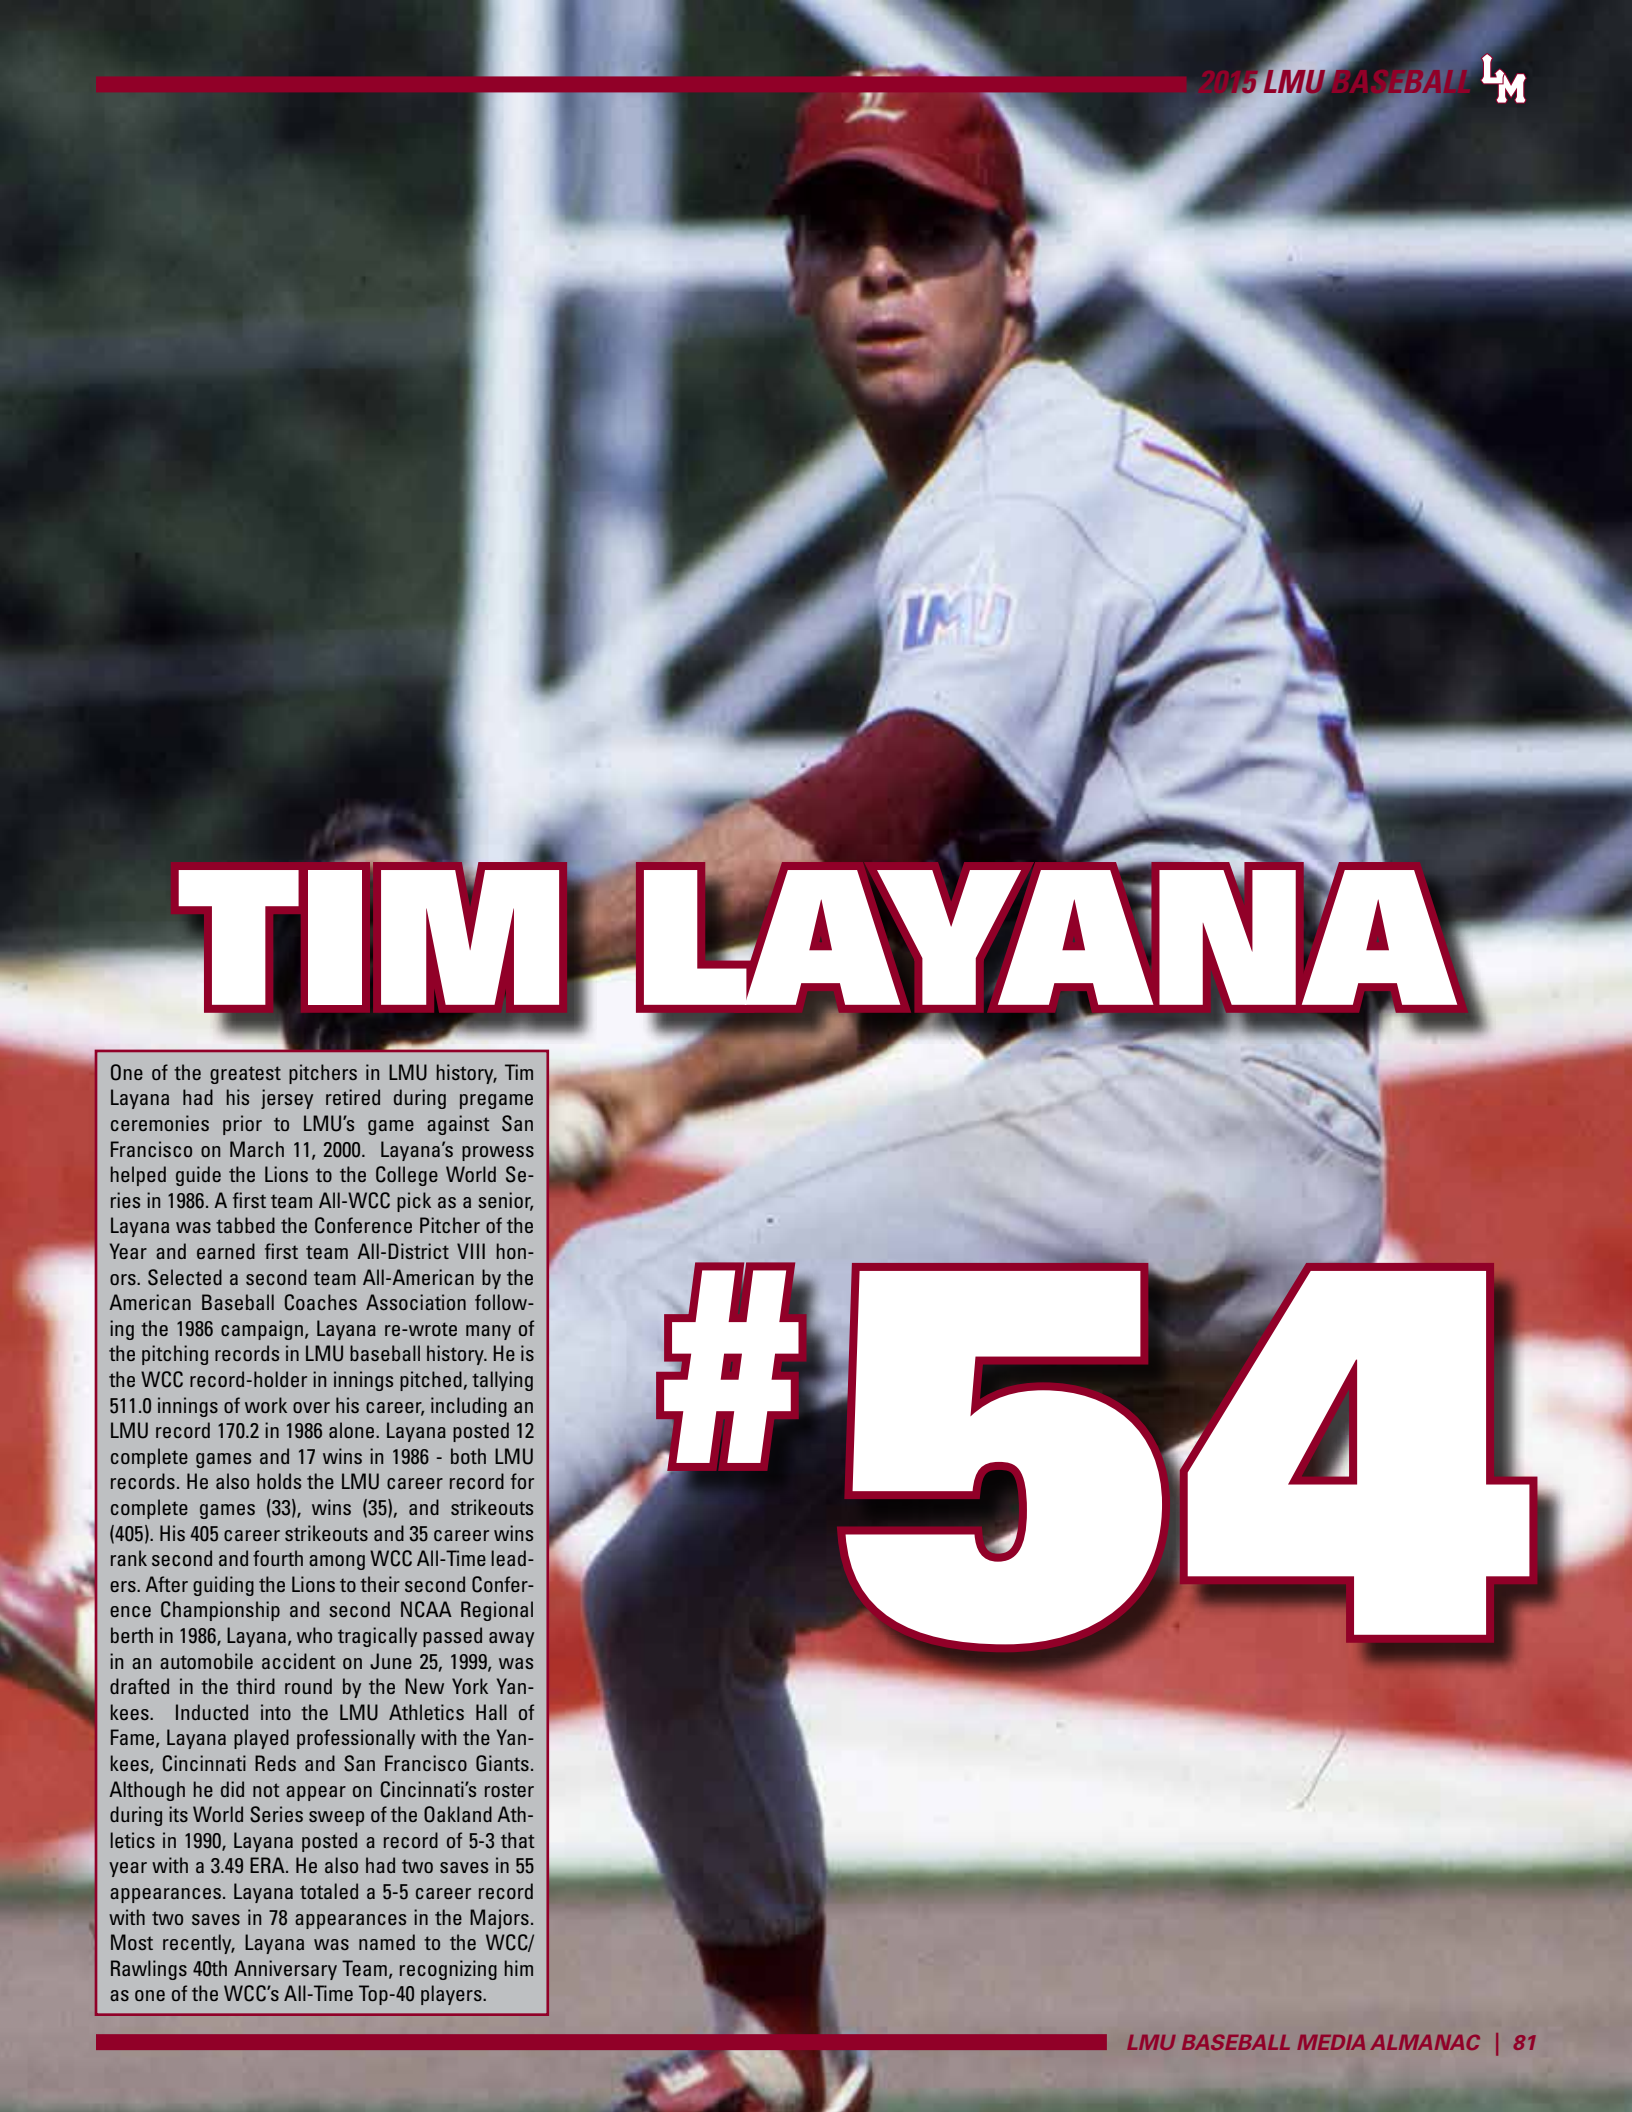

#10

A three-year starter for the Lions, Jerry Stone played an integral role in guiding Loyola to its first conference baseball championship in 1973. One of the greatest catchers in school history, Stone had his jersey retired on March 11, 2000, prior to LMU's game against San Francisco. Stone, a first-team All-WCAC and All-District VIII pick his junior year, also earned first-team All-America accolades issued by Collegiate Baseball in 1973. The All-American tag was the first awarded in LMU baseball history. A switch-hitter during the wooden-bat era, Stone still ranks as an All-Time Top-10 statistical leader at LMU in single-season (45) and career walks (106), and career on-base percentage (.447). He hit above .300 for each of his three seasons with the Lions, and managed to maintain a perfect fielding percentage in 1973. In that same year, Stone led the WCAC in home runs (11) and RBI (45). One of Stone's greatest accomplishments included leading the Lions to their first postseason appearance in school history, a berth in the NCAA District VIII playoffs in 1973. He was drafted in the fourth round by the San Diego Padres in 1973.

One of the greatest hitters to ever grace the diamond at LMU, Billy Bean had his jersey retired on March 11, 2000, during pregame ceremonies prior to LMU's game against San Francisco. Bean, who is a member of the LMU Athletics Hall of Fame, was one of many great players who helped guide the Lions to the 1986 College World Series. A two-time first team All-WCC and All-District-VIII pick, Bean earned honorable mention All-America honors following his junior year from Collegiate Baseball. With an even greater performance his senior year, Bean was tabbed a second team All-American by the American Baseball Coaches Association in 1986. Bean still holds the WCC record for single-season walks with 66. He also holds the LMU record in single-season runs scored with 84, a mark that ranks third in the WCC record book. Of the WCC's nine All-Time career offensive categories, Bean ranks in the Top-10 in five of them. On the LMU front, Bean ranks in the Top-10 of 11 categories, including runs (216), on-base percentage (.466), hits (290), RBI (204), total bases (449), doubles (61), triples (16) and walks (150). Following his standout LMU career, the Detroit Tigers selected him in the fourth round of the 1986 draft, and Bean went on to play for the Tigers in the Majors from 1987-1989. He also spent time with Los Angeles (1989) and San Diego (1993-1995). Bean was named to the WCC/Rawlings 40th Anniversary Team, recognizing him as one of the WCC's All-Time Top-40 players, and was inducted into the WCC's Hall of Honor in 2012.

One of the greatest pitchers in LMU history, Tim Layana had his jersey retired during pregame ceremonies prior to LMU's game against San Francisco on March 11, 2000. Layana's prowess helped guide the Lions to the College World Series in 1986. A first team All-WCC pick as a senior, Layana was tabbed the Conference Pitcher of the Year and earned first team All-District VIII honors. Selected a second team All-American by the American Baseball Coaches Association following the 1986 campaign, Layana re-wrote many of the pitching records in LMU baseball history. He is the WCC record-holder in innings pitched, tallying 511.0 innings of work over his career, including an LMU record 170.2 in 1986 alone. Layana posted 12 complete games and 17 wins in 1986 - both LMU records. He also holds the LMU career record for complete games (33), wins (35), and strikeouts (405). His 405 career strikeouts and 35 career wins rank second and fourth among WCC All-Time leaders. After guiding the Lions to their second Conference Championship and second NCAA Regional berth in 1986, Layana, who tragically passed away in an automobile accident on June 25, 1999, was drafted in the third round by the New York Yankees. Inducted into the LMU Athletics Hall of Fame, Layana played professionally with the Yankees, Cincinnati Reds and San Francisco Giants. Although he did not appear on Cincinnati's roster during its World Series sweep of the Oakland Athletics in 1990, Layana posted a record of 5-3 that year with a 3.49 ERA. He also had two saves in 55 appearances. Layana totaled a 5-5 career record with two saves in 78 appearances in the Majors. Most recently, Layana was named to the WCC/Rawlings 40th Anniversary Team, recognizing him as one of the WCC's All-Time Top-40 players.

MATT MULLER LION AWARD

The Matt Muller Lion Award is bestowed upon members of LMU baseball teams whose actions represent the program with pride, dignity and respect. The award was established in 1997 by then-head coach Frank Cruz when he assumed responsibility of the program. Re-named in honor of Matthew John Muller (1994-97) following his tragic and unexpected death on November 10, 1999, the honor is awarded to players who represent the team and the University in the highest regard. The cornerstone of the award circles around hard work, dedication to the sport, competing at the highest possible level, and promoting a team environment. Simply put, a recipient of the Matt Muller Lion Award wears the uniform with honor.

ALL-TIME ROSTER

2015 LMU BASEBALL

LEARN. LEAD. SERVE.

Maybe that we're the only Catholic University in Los Angeles and one of the world's renowned Jesuit institutions, a group that includes 28 universities in the United States and over 100 schools worldwide.

Or, maybe, it is that Loyola Marymount University has been called a Hidden Gem by the Washington Post and ranked among the Best in the West by U.S. News & World Report.

Or that our serene campus, overlooking Marina del Rey and the Pacific Ocean, offers one of the most exhilarating academic locations anywhere.

Or that our seven colleges, all connected to Los Angeles, enable students to make current contacts in technology, business, politics, art, music, and naturally, the entertainment industry.

Yet there's something more to consider. If you're looking for a place to acquire facts and skills that will help you get along in the world, you have many choices. But if you're looking for a place where there is more, a place that strives for the education of the whole person, LMU may be the place for you.

At LMU, we inspire you to take ideas apart and learn how they fit together. You'll test your limits, forge enduring friendships, promote justice and become a contributing citizen of the world.

Our curriculum is broad and deep. Our pace is demanding. Our expectations are high. Our plans are ambitious. And for over 100 years, we have been looking for curious, accomplished, enterprising, visionary students to learn, lead and serve.

LMU 2015 LMU BASEBALL

A PROMISING FUTURE

The Chronicle of Higher Education notes that at Jesuit institutions, this precept “translates into a large amount of individual attention from faculty members and accessibility to high-level administrators, including the president.” At LMU, students don’t simply benefit from cura personalis; they practice it, too, carrying out the Jesuit ideal of “men and women for others.” The Marymount sisters contribute a history of educating women and teaching through the arts, with a deliberately international perspective that encourages respect for all cultures. LMU brings these gifts together in seven colleges:

- Business Administration
- Communications and Fine Arts
- Film and Television
- Liberal Arts
- Science and Engineering
- School of Education
- Loyola Law School

A SOLID FOUNDATION

UNIVERSITY MISSION AND IDENTITY

Loyola Marymount's Mission and Goals Statement, approved by the Board of Trustees in 1990, succinctly states in its preamble the university's three-fold mission:

- *The encouragement of learning
- *The education of the whole person
- *The service of faith & promotion of justice

These often quoted phrases are at the heart of the campus community's communal self-understanding. When unpacked, they tell us much about LMU's identity as a Catholic, Jesuit/Marymount university.

DEVELOPING THE WHOLE PERSON

LMU is about the whole person, and when it comes to providing friends and mentors to be a part of that mission, you won't find a university surpassing LMU. The campus population comes from all 50 states and 70 countries. Better still, LMU offers the opportunity for students to hone their skills and help them find like-minded colleagues for life. More than 3,200 students live in 19 residence halls and apartments on campus. There are over 140 active clubs and organizations, and a Greek community with 15 local chapters. Our students volunteer more than 175,000 service hours a year with 350 community organizations.

THE LION EXPERIENCE

PREPARED FOR TOMORROW

LMU has a proud reputation of academic excellence among its student-athletes. According to the NCAA's Graduation Success Rate (GSR) compiled in the 2013-14 school year, for the entering Cohort of 2007 (entered LMU in fall 2007), LMU Athletics posted a rate of 91 percent. Additionally, the Lions posted a Federal Graduation Rate of 71 percent for those student-athletes, on Athletics aid, who exhausted their eligibility. Higher than the national student rate of 65 percent. Here is a look at some of the academic marks from 2013-14:

- 198 National Scholar-Athletes
- A perfect 100 GSR Rate in men's basketball, men's tennis, men's track, women's tennis, women's track, women's water polo.
- There were 395 student-athletes who participated on 19 teams in the fall of 2013: 11 programs and 215 student-athletes (54%) had over a 3.0 GPA or better.
- The department GPA for Fall 2013 was 3.024, and the women's team average was over a 3.0 GPA for the 26th consecutive semester. Seven of the 10 women's teams had 3.0 GPAs, including women's cheer, who captured the team GPA award for the fall, earning a 3.38 GPA.
- A trio of LMU programs, men's soccer, women's swimming and women's indoor track, received NCAA Academic Progress Rate (APR) Public Recognition awards as the NCAA recognized Division I athletic teams for outstanding APR scores. LMU women's swimming was lauded for the fifth time (fourth straight year), while women's indoor track took home the honor for the third straight year. Men's soccer, which won the 2013 WCC Championship, received the recognition for the first time.

GRADUATION RATES

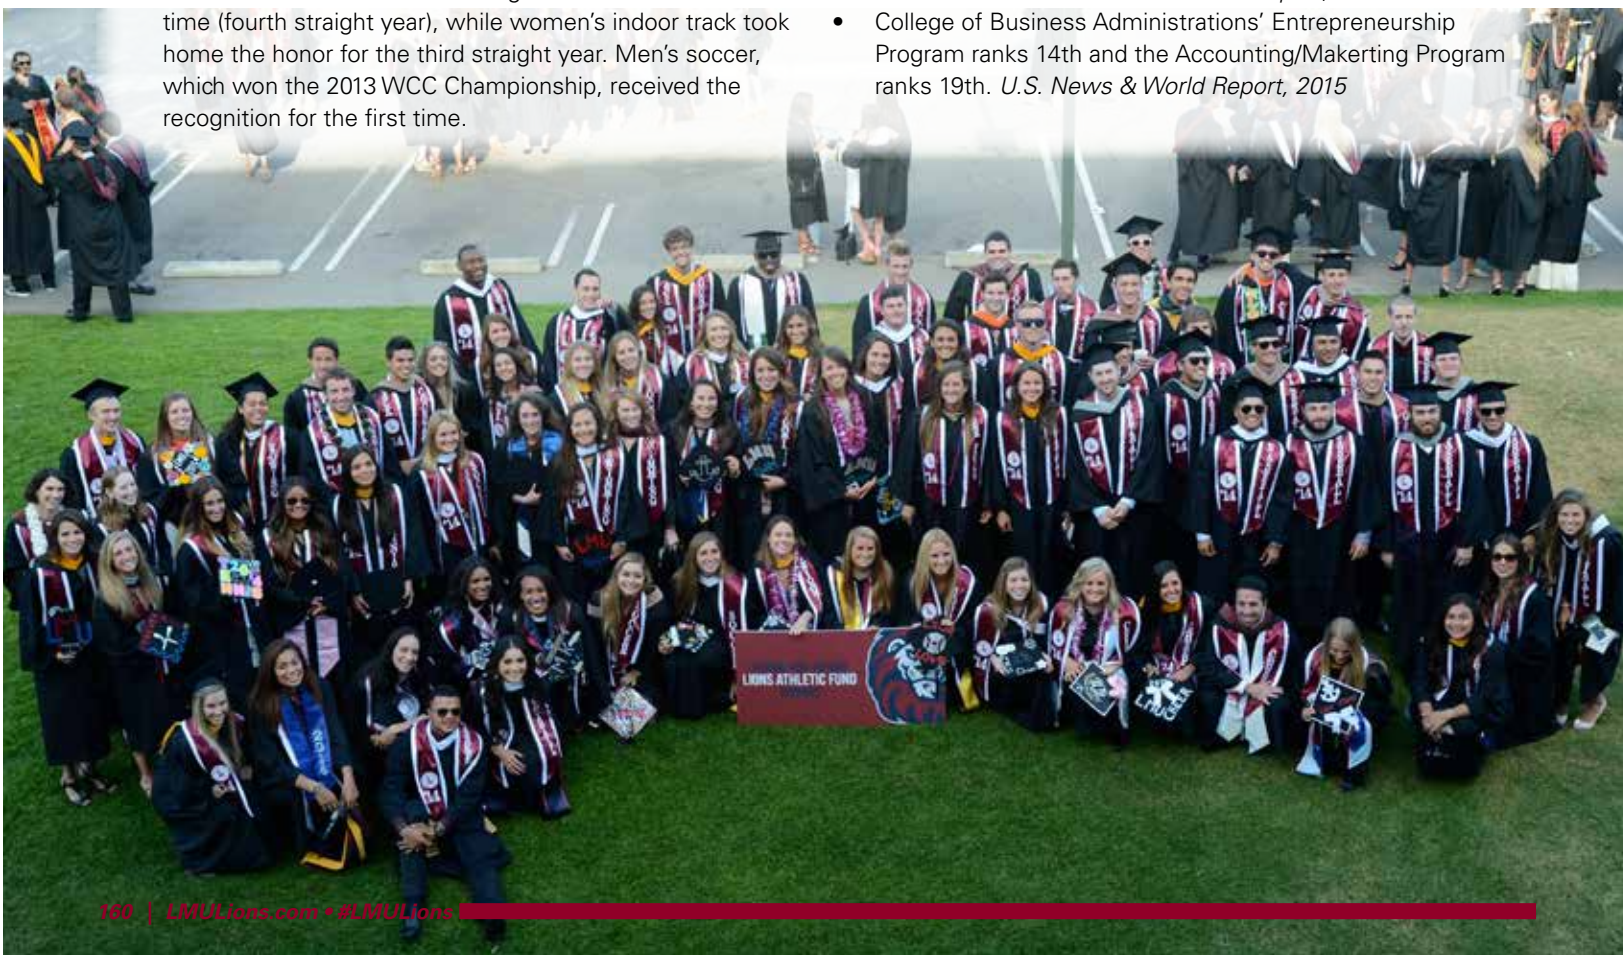

In the latest release by the NCAA, LMU's GSR (Graduation Success Rate) is one of the best, not only in the West Coast Conference, but in the nation. As a whole, the Lions posted a GSR of 91 and a Federal Graduation Rate of 71, which is higher than the national student-athlete rates and the graduation rate of the general student body.

The Rates:

LMU Student-Athlete GSR	91%
NCAA Student-Athlete GSR	82%
National Federal Student GSR	65%
LMU Student-Athlete Federal Rate	71%
All Student-Athlete Federal Rate	66%

Where the Lions Play

The athletics facilities at Loyola Marymount University have seen a little of everything in the almost 70 years while in its current Westchester location. From the 1984 Olympic games to LMU basketball to the World Cup and everything in between, the LMU athletics facilities have become home to the best and it continues to get better.

Thanks to continued commitment by the University, the Athletics Complex over a three-year period will show lots of growth. It started in the summer of 2008 when the University allocated office and meeting space to Lion Athletics within the Dorothy and Thomas E. Leavey Center on the Westchester campus. The Leavey Center is home to 15 of the Lions' 22 varsity programs in the newly remodeled and modern office complex and it continues today with the opening of the brand new Lions Athletic Center in April of 2011.

History of LMU Athletics

The Next 100...

The 2011-12 academic year and athletic season marked the 100th year of Loyola Marymount University. From the very beginning, LMU has established a history of champions. In the 1930s it was three straight ice hockey championships. In the 1940s the legendary Pete Newell played for the Lions and the rivalry with Pepperdine (1941) began. The 1950s saw Bob Boyd win the NCAA title in the 100-yard dash. The 1960s saw the Lions win their first basketball championship, and one of their first Olympians, rower Hugh Miller Foley (1964). In the 1970s, Loyola and Marymount colleges merged and saw women's sports begin their dominate history, including a pair of tennis championships (1977, 78). LMU then exploded in the 1980s with more individual national championships (Therese Kozlowki in cross country) and more Olympians (Paul Sunderland men's volleyball gold medal in 1984). The decade also included LMU's trip to the College World Series (1986) and two women's rowing Varsity Four National Titles (1981, 86). The 1990s started with one of the most memorable moments in sports history with the men's basketball run to the NCAA Elite Eight in the 1989-90 season. Women's volleyball became the first program to win three straight WCC titles (1994, 95, 96), thanks in part to Olympian and All-American Sarah Noriega. Baseball would end the 1990s with three straight titles, the final coming in 2000. Then came the past decade, as the Lions won more titles (22) than the previous 70 years combined. Leading the way were the men and women's water polo programs, winning a combined 15 titles, including five straight (2001-05) and eight in 10 years by women's water polo.

Loyola College was founded in 1911 as an outgrowth of St. Vincent's College, the first college in Los Angeles. In 1924 the College opened a new gym on the old St. Vincent's campus. A year later the Lions post the first season with double-digit wins in basketball, going 10-7 in the 1924-25 season. Coached by Harold "Bill" Hess, the Lions had wins over Woodbury Business College, Cal Tech and the Hollywood All-Stars. In the fall of 1925, George Casey became the third head coach of St. Vincent's, finishing his only year as coach 6-5. In 1926 the school played in its first overtime game, a 20-16 loss to Whittier. They win their first overtime game a year later, a 16-14 victory against California Christian College. Then in 1928, the then Loyola College moved to its current location on the Westchester bluff and two years later became Loyola University. Loyola Law School, located in downtown Los Angeles, was founded in 1920.

In the 1930s Loyola established its new campus on the bluff in Westchester while basketball greats Pete Newell and Phil Woolpert began their legendary careers as Lions. While Loyola discontinues the men's basketball program for four seasons during the great depression, it is hockey of all sports that emerges as Loyola's top program, thanks in large part to the use of its football players as hockey players. The first college hockey league started in 1927 and while increasing in popularity, it became part of the official athletic program of multiple southern California schools, thus the formation of the Southern California Intercollegiate Hockey League. USC dominated the league, winning 36 straight before Loyola, led by Head Coach Tom Lieb, snapped that streak on March 6 of 1932, beginning one of the fiercer rivalries of its day. Then in the 1934-35 season, the Lions knocked off USC in the prestigious Yosemite Tournament for the first time and then went on to defeat the Trojans for Loyola's first conference crown. As the league grew, the main attraction continued to be the games between Loyola and USC, "as the two teams were in a class by themselves." The 1935-36 season was the year college hockey really caught on. The final game between Loyola and USC for the Pacific Coast title was a double-overtime thriller in front of 4,000 fans. The Lions won their second PCHC championship in a row. The Lions would then win their third league title in a row in a three-game playoff in 1937, winning two games to one. With World War II on the horizon, Loyola would drop hockey in 1941 and college hockey in Southern California would slowly break apart. The end of the decade would see two Hall of Famers finish their careers on the hardwood. Both Pete Newell and Phil Woolpert suited up for the Lions. The two Loyola greats went on to become legends in the coaching profession, leading college teams to NCAA National Championships. Both are in the Basketball Hall of Fame.

1940s

In 1941, the Lions face in-town rival Pepperdine for the first time in the two program's histories. They faced each other twice in the 1940-41 season, with Loyola winning both, 30-18 and 43-23. In 1948-49, Loyola went on to its first 20-win season, posting a 22-14 record under coach Scotty McDonald. The Lions would see their longest winning streak at that time of 10 games. The season included the first game in Alumni Gymnasium, the Lions' home until the 1981-82 season when the Lions moved to Gersten Pavilion.

The 1950s started with one of the best football seasons in school history as the team, led by future NFL star Don Klosterman, finished the season 8-1, losing to Santa Clara 28-26 and missing out on a trip to the Orange Bowl. Klosterman would go on to earn All-America honors in 1952. A member of that team, Bob Boyd, former Loyola football and track great, captured the 1950 NCAA men's track championship in the 100-yard dash. He later played seven seasons as a tight end for the NFL's Los Angeles Rams, helping the team to the 1951 World Title. The Lions men's basketball team advanced to their first collegiate sponsored postseason tournament, competing for the NAIA National Championship. The Lions posted a 16-9 record and were selected to participate in the NAIA Tournament where they faced San Francisco State in the first round. With a 57-56 win, the Lions moved on to face Southwestern (KS) in the second round. Southwestern won, 83-79. Then in 1956, the Lions joined the California Basketball Association, which two years later formed the West Coast Athletic Conference. Loyola finished the CBA with a 9-5 record, second in the conference.

In 1960, Loyola men's basketball tied for first with a 9-3 record in the West Coast Athletic Conference. The title was shared with Santa Clara, who defeated the Lions in a playoff game to end the season. The Lions closed the regular season with eight straight wins. Then in 1961, LMU basketball had a record-breaking season for the Lions, earning their second 20-win season, finishing 20-7 overall and earning their first-ever out-right WCAC title with a 10-2 mark. Loyola started the season 3-4, but responded with 17 wins in their final 20 games, including a nine-game winning streak. It was the Lions' first trip to the NCAA tournament, a date in the Far West Regional at Portland. The Lions fell to Utah, 91-75 in the first round, and fell to the consolation bracket. Utah, who Loyola defeated in exhibition play 85-64 earlier in the season, went on to the Final Four. Loyola defeated USC, 69-67, to earn their 20th win of the season. It was head coach William Donovan's final year at the helm of the Lions. In his eight years as coach, he earned 107 wins, the most among all LMU coaches. In 1964 Hugh Miller Foley rowed in the 1964 Olympics. He was a member of the Rowing Eight with Coxswain Team that won the Gold Medal. In 1968, NBA coach Rick Adelman finished his three-year playing career with 1,425 points, averaging 18.8 points in his career at LMU. The 1960s ended with the final curtain call of the football team as they went on to win the 1969 National Club Football National championship with an 8-1 record.

The University merged with Marymount College to become Loyola Marymount University and in 1971 women's athletics begins to appear. The Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women is formed to plan, govern and promote the growing number of college tournaments for women athletes. That same year the five-player, full-court game and the 30-second shot clock is introduced to women's basketball. And then one year later, one of the most important pieces of legislation for women's athletics is put into place as Congress passes Title IX, setting into motion the Lions success to come in women's sports. Title IX officially went into effect on June 21, 1975. In 1973, Marv Wood's baseball squad brought LMU its first West Coast Conference Championship after a 13-game win streak allowed the Lions to clinch the title on the final weekend of the season over second place Santa Clara. USC knocked off the Lions and Cal State Los Angeles in the NCAA District 8 regionals and eventually won its fourth consecutive national championship. In 1976 the first full scholarship for a female is given and LMU adds its first varsity program in Women's Tennis as alum Jamie Sanchez begins the program with a 13-6 record. They went on to win a conference championship (AIAW), the first in women's programs at LMU. They went 10-0 and won the title in 1977 and 1978 as they combined for a record of 28-2 in conference play.

The decade started with men's basketball earning a bid to the NCAA West Regional, losing to Arizona State in the first round, 99-71.

Then in 1981, with the opportunity for women to compete at the collegiate level, LMU athletes waste no time in making their mark. Terese Kozlowski ran a time of 17:34.9 to win the 1981 AIAW Individual National Championship in cross country while women's volleyball begins as a varsity program at LMU with the NCAA hosting as a championship in 1981. The banner year continued as the Women's Rowing Varsity Four team won the 1980-81 National Championship and the brand new Gersten Pavilion opened as home to the Lions and went on to host events with the 1984 Summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles. The year prior to the Olympics, the NCAA takes over women's sports as the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) is dissolved. In women's tennis, the Lions finished 12th in the nation in their division as Debbie Delgado is the first recipient of All-American status.

Paul Sunderland, who played both volleyball and basketball at LMU, went on to earn All-America honors in volleyball at LMU and then played 10 years on the U.S. National Volleyball Team, earning U.S. Player of the Year honors three times (1978, 79, 82). He played in the 1978 and 1982 World Championships and then as a member of the 1984 U.S. Olympic Team, he helped the team to the Gold Medal.

Paul Westhead is hired as head coach of the men's basketball team, replacing Ed Goorjian, who coached from 1980-1985. In his first season, he leads the Lions back to the postseason for the first time since 1980. In 1985, US International and LMU begin a four-year series that would result in the highest-scoring games in NCAA history. After defeating USIU 84-65 in January of 1985, the "track meets" would begin. In Westhead's first season in 1985-86, the Lions would defeat USIU 151-107.

The 1986 LMU baseball team had the best season in program history. It was also one of the best overall seasons of all time for LMU Athletics. Following a 1985 season in which the Lions did not have a winning record at 27-28, the program performed one of the best turnarounds in LMU athletics history. They finished the season with a program-best 50 wins and wrapped up the season at 50-15, a 23-game improvement from the previous year. LMU produced a 13-game winning streak from March 21 through April 11, and won 20 of 21 games in the middle of the season. With the winning streak came the nation's top ranking by the ESPN/Collegiate Baseball National Poll. The Lions never looked back, finishing tied with Pepperdine for first place in the West Coast Athletic Conference at 19-5, setting up a one-game playoff to determine the conference's automatic bid to the NCAA Regional. Played at Jackie Robinson Stadium on the campus of UCLA, the Lions defeated the Waves 14-9 to earn the bid to the NCAA West Regional. LMU would reel off its next four games, fighting through four separate elimination games to earn a bid to the school's first appearance in the College World Series. On May 30, the Lions opened up their first World Series trip with a 4-3 win over perennial power LSU, to earn a two-day rest and play in the winner's bracket. The Lions played the University of Arizona on June 2 and lost a heartbreaker 7-5 to drop to the elimination bracket to face Oklahoma State. The Cowboys were too much for the Lions, as they went on to an 11-5 win. Tim Layana was a member of the 1990 World Series Champion Cincinnati Reds. The Lions would return to the postseason in 1987, 1988 and 1989.

Concluding the 1985-86 season, men's basketball found themselves in the NIT for the first time in school history. Traveling to Berkeley, Calif., to face the Bears in the first round, the Lions would begin a successful end to the 1980s decade that made a habit of winning in the postseason. The Lions defeated Cal 80-75 to advance in a post-season tournament. LMU would fall to Wyoming 99-90 to end Westhead's first season at 19-11 and 10-4 in the WCAC (second).

Also in 1986, the women's volleyball team won the WCC and advanced to the NCAAAs, where they topped UCLA in first round action before falling to Stanford in the second round. The Lions finished the 1986 season 24-8 and 10-2 in WCC play in their final season under Coach Nancy Fortner.

One year later, the Hank Gathers and Bo Kimble era of Lions' basketball began with a 114-78 win over Tennessee Tech. The season would finish as the Lions' best in winning percentage, finishing with a 28-4 mark and a perfect 14-0 in the WCAC. The 1987-88 season would include a 25-game winning streak, the best in school history. The fast-break offense began to take hold, as the Lions scored in triple figures in all but nine of their 32 games. The Lions would clinch their first WCAC regular season championship since the '60s and their first Tournament Championship with a 104-96 win over Santa Clara in the WCAC Championship game. LMU advances to the NCAA tournament, and earns its first win in the "Big Dance," a 119-115 win over Wyoming, who two years earlier knocked the Lions out of the NIT. Playing in the West Sub-Regional in Salt Lake City, Utah, LMU would be a surprise opponent in the second round against power North Carolina. The Tar Heels would dismiss the Lions 123-97.

The Lions earned their second consecutive WCC Tournament Championship in 1989 with another win over Santa Clara, 75-70. The Lions finished 20-11 on the season, following a 120-101 loss to Arkansas in the first round of the NCAA tournament in the Midwest Region held at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

The 1980s would conclude with another national title as the women's rowing varsity four took home their second national championship.

The 1990s started the way the 80s ended, fast. In addition to their 28 games scoring in triple digits, men's basketball earned its third straight WCC title and trip to the NCAA tournament. In finishing 26-6, the Lions advanced further than any team in school history by reaching the Elite Eight in the NCAA Championships. However, tragedy marked the Lions' Cinderella run. On March 4, 1990 in the second round of the WCC Tournament, the Lions took a 25-13 lead on Portland following All-American Hank Gathers' dunk on an alley-oop from Terrell Lowery. Gathers would collapse to the floor and would not regain consciousness. Gathers would be pronounced dead later that evening at Marina del Rey's Daniel Freeman Hospital. The WCC Tournament would be cancelled and the Lions would be named champion, earning the automatic bid to the NCAA tournament. A long shot and seeded No. 11 in the West Region, the Lions went on to beat New Mexico State, defending national champion Michigan and Alabama before falling to the eventual national champions, UNLV, 131-101. The run in the 1990 tournament will long be remembered, however, with the image of Gathers' teammate and longtime friend Bo Kimble shooting the first free throw left-handed - a switch from his normal right-handed shot. Kimble made every shot he took left-handed.

Months after basketball's historic run, baseball captured sole possession of the league title for the first time in 17 years, LMU breezed to its third consecutive postseason appearance. The Lions posted 45 wins, the second-highest total in school history. LMU representatives were honored with WCC Player of the Year, Newcomer of the Year and Coach of the Year accolades by the league.

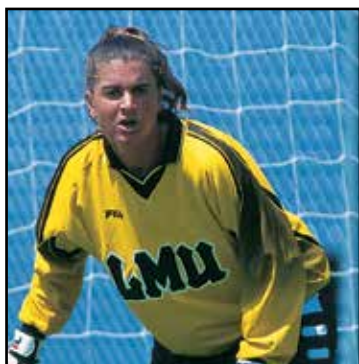

In the fall of 1991, Gina Eron becomes the first Lion to win the West Coast Conference individual title by running a time of 19:15 and men's crew wins the Light Weight Four Pacific Coast Championship. Two years later, women's volleyball accumulated a 23-7 overall record and finished second in the WCC (11-3). For the first time in program history, LMU entered the nation's top-25, ranked No. 24 in the AVCA Coaches' Poll and No. 22 by Volleyball Monthly. The glimpse of success in 1993 opened the door to the Lions dominating the WCC in women's volleyball for the next three seasons. In 1994, they garnered the first of three consecutive WCC Championships with a 19-10 overall mark and a 12-2 conference record, earning a NCAA tournament appearance. Head Coach Steve Stratos then led LMU to its second straight WCC title and NCAA tournament appearance in 1995 with a perfect 14-0 record, the first in school history.

A year later, Stratos and the West Coast Conference Champion Lions celebrated the most successful season in program history. The Lions had advanced to the NCAA's Sweet Sixteen and finished among the nation's top-10 in the final AVCA rankings. Dating back to the 1994 season, the Lions had racked up 31 straight WCC victories. LMU went a perfect 14-0 in WCC play for the second straight season in 1996, earning Stratos his third consecutive WCC Coach of the Year selection. He was the first coach in the history of the conference to earn the nod three straight years. He was also named the AVCA District Coach of the Year. Kim Blankinship joined Stratos in earning WCC accolades, as the Lions' senior was named the 1996 WCC Player of the Year. Tracy Holman and Sarah Noriega, along with Blankinship, were All-WCC first-team and AVCA All-District selections. The Lions finished the regular season 25-2 and earned a bye in the first round of the NCAAs. A second-round win over UC Santa Barbara sent the Lions to the Sweet Sixteen, where they faced a tough Washington State squad. Despite the efforts of NCAA Pacific Regional All-Tournament selections Blankinship (21 kills, 11 digs) and Noriega (30 kills, four blocks), the Lions fell 3-1. LMU finished the banner 1996 campaign with an overall record of 26-3, winning 16 of its final 17 matches and 26 of its last 28. The AVCA ranked the Lions ninth in the final 1996 poll, though LMU had climbed as high as sixth in the nation during the season.

In 1997, Sarah Noriega became the first player to earn AVCA All-America first-team honors as well as Volleyball Magazine All-America second-team accolades. She was the WCC Player of the Year in 1997 after being named an All-WCC first-team selection for the third consecutive season. Noriega was a three-time All-District VIII honoree, LMU's Female Athlete of the Year (1997-98), a participant at the U.S. Olympic Festival (1995), a World Games participant, and 2000 Olympian. In her final year as a Lion, Noriega was recognized as the AVCA National Player of the Week twice (Oct. 6 and Nov. 10). On November 7, 1997, Noriega set the NCAA record for most kills in a four-game match with 47 against San Diego, a mark which still stands today.

Second-year Head Coach Frank Cruz guided the Lions to their first WCC title in eight years in 1998. With the nation's 16th-best recruiting class, nearly all of which were freshmen. LMU edged rival Pepperdine by a half game for the conference crown earning the NCAA automatic bid to the West Regional at Stanford. Freshman Michael Schultz nearly no-hit Stanford in the first round (Stanford was ranked No. 2 in the nation) shutting out the Cardinal through the seventh inning. Schultz and freshman catcher Scott Walter were named WCC Pitcher and Player of the Year, the first time in WCC history freshmen from the same school garnered the awards. With their youth, the Lions would become the Lions' third team to claim titles in three straight years. They successfully defended their conference crown, defeating Pepperdine in a three-game series for the WCC Championship at Page Stadium. The victory helped LMU win back-to-back titles for the first time in program history. LHP Billy Traber led the team and the WCC with 135 strikeouts while earning first-team All-WCC honors. Anthony Angel also earned first-team honors, the only member of the squad to do so in two consecutive seasons.

The new century began with baseball's continued dominance as they had one of the most complete teams since the 1986 College World Series team. The Lions won their third straight WCC title and their eighth NCAA bid.

In 2000, women's volleyball continued their pursuit of excellence by starting the season on a seven-match winning streak which propelled them to a season-best No. 21 AVCA ranking (Sept. 4). Success of the program has carried over into individual honors as well. Among the program's top athletes and graduates, Stratos coached Loyola Marymount's two AVCA All-America first-team honorees, Sarah Noriega (1994-97) and Sarah McFarland (1997-00). As a member of the U.S. National Volleyball team that qualified for the 2000 Olympics in Sydney, Australia, Sarah Noriega became the third Lion to participate in the Olympic Games. Noriega became a key member of the U.S. National team in 1998. She was named team MVP for her efforts that season in 1999. As a member of the 2000 Olympic squad, Noriega finished the summer fourth on the team with 185 kills and a .393 kill percentage. Her serves wreaked havoc for opponents throughout the Summer Games as her 17 service aces ranked second best on the team.

In 2001, women's basketball earned the program's first postseason tournament bid with an invitation to the NIT, setting up future success for the team. In addition, Edit Pakay won the West Coast Conference championship with a time of 17:58 in women's cross country and women's water polo, who was in just their fourth year of competition at LMU, finished with the program's first 20-win season and its first-ever WWPAA title thanks to a 7-6 win over UC Davis in the championship game. The win set in motion the most successful stretch by any program in LMU history. The Lions would go on to win five straight titles - 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005 - reaching the NCAA National Championship game in 2004 thanks to a win over Stanford in the NCAA semifinals. It was the first time in program history that the Lions played in a national championship game at the NCAA Division I level.

That same year, men's soccer earned an at-large berth into the NCAA Tournament for the first time in program history. The Lions compiled a seven game winning streak during the season, including a 1-0 victory at #11 UCLA. It marked the program's first win over UCLA, who it would face again in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, falling in a heartbreaking 3-2 double-overtime decision. The Lions were ranked as high as #16 in the polls and finished the season with a 9-7-2 record.

Also making waves in 2001 was men's water polo as they won their first Western Water Polo Association Championship by defeating UC San Diego 4-2 in the final of the annual tournament. The Lions went on to the NCAA Men's Water Polo Championship at Stanford and lost to UCLA 7-5 in the semifinals. They defeated UMass 14-6 in the consolation final to finish third. The men were as dominant in the pool as the women, winning four titles in six years - 2001, 2003, 2004, 2005.

In 2002 the women's soccer team earned their first bid to the NCAA Tournament and women's tennis won the program's first West Coast Conference Championship by knocking off nine-time defending champion and rival Pepperdine. The conference crown gave the Lions the automatic bid to the NCAA tournament.

Also in 2002, men's soccer earned their second straight invitation to the NCAA Tournament after winning 14 games in the regular season, including a 2-0 win over #3 UCLA. LMU started the season with an 11-0-2 record, climbing to #7 in the national rankings. As a result of a strong regular season, LMU hosted its first ever post-season game, with the Lions picking up their first NCAA Tournament victory with a 1-0 win over Cal State Northridge. Andres Murriagui and Arturo Torres became the first All-Americans in program history and Jeff Kovar was named an Academic All-American. The Lions returned to the NAAs again in 2003 and 2004.

In 2004, women's basketball claimed the program's first West Coast Conference Championship, earning its first trip to the NCAA tournament. They finished the season 24-6 overall and 13-1 in the WCC action, winning the final 15 games of the regular season, including the WCC tournament. The WCC tournament champions lost to Baylor in the NCAA regional as Kate Murray was named WCC Player of the Year and WCC Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Adrienne Slaughter was the MVP of the WCC tournament while Head Coach Julie Wilhoit was WCC and Region 8 Coach of the Year.

After women's basketball reached a milestone in March of 2004, three months later, women's water polo added to LMU's history. The Lions earned a 5-4 win over second ranked Stanford in the semifinals of the 2004 NCAA Women's Water Polo Championship to advance to the national title game. It was the first time any LMU team in more than 90 years of intercollegiate sports played in a title game sponsored by the NCAA. The Lions went on to drop a heartbreaker to USC, 10-8, to finish second. The Lions advanced to the NCAA tournament thanks to their fourth straight WWPAA title, earning a 7-3 win at the Burns Recreation and Aquatics Center on the LMU campus on April 25. Devon Wright earned WWPAA Player of the Year honors while Head Coach John Loughran claimed his fourth straight Coach of the Year title. Teresa Guidi became the first women's water polo player to earn first-team All-American honors. That summer a pair of Lions participated in the Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia. Christine Robinson and Rachel Riddell both played for the Canadian Olympic team that season.

As 2004 continued, men's water polo earned back-to-back WWPAA titles thanks to a 6-3 win over Redlands in the WWPAA tournament held at Davis, CA. The Lions finished with the second most wins in program history at 21-11, defeating Princeton 6-5 to finish third in the NCAA Championships. Endre Rex-Kiss was named MVP of the WWPAA while also earning second-team All-America honors. They then became the fourth team in LMU history to earn three straight conference titles, defeating UC San Diego 7-6 at the Burns Center in the WWPAA Championships. The Lions fell to Stanford at the NCAA Championship in a heartbreaker, 7-6, but responded to defeat St. Francis in the third place game, 10-6. They finished the season 19-16 overall and Endre Rex-Kiss earned second-team All-America honors after finishing second in LMU history with 261 career goals.

In the spring of 2005, softball won the program's second PCSC title in three years and this time earned the conference's automatic bid to the NCAA tournament, the program's first trip to the postseason. Also that spring, women's water polo team set the record for wins, posting an impressive 30-7 overall record as they won their fifth straight Western Water Polo Association championship. No team in LMU history has won five straight conference titles. LMU would advance to their fifth straight NCAA Women's Water Polo Championship.

The 2005-2006 season saw LMU win its first-ever West Coast Conference Commissioner's Cup for best overall athletics program in the conference. Part of that season saw Laura Mickelson place fourth in the NCAA West Regional in the 5,000-meter to qualify for the NCAA Track Championships. She placed 22nd overall. Men's basketball, in the first season under Head Coach Rodney Tention, advanced to the program's first WCC Tournament Championship since 1989, with three players earning first-team All-WCC honors. The Lions finished the WCC season at 8-6, defeated Saint Mary's in the WCC Tournament Semifinals to advance to the WCC title game where they fell to fourth-ranked Gonzaga at the buzzer, the ninth game of the season decided on the final play or overtime. Senior Wes Wardrop and juniors Brandon Worthy and Matthew Knight all earned first-team All-WCC honors for leading the Lions to the WCC Basketball Championship game.

Further history was made in 2005-06 when men's golf won their first-ever West Coast Conference Championship. Freshman Brian Locke was the first Lion to win the individual championship as he was also named Freshman of the Year in the conference. The Lions would then place sixth in the NCAA West Regional to earn the program's first trip to the NCAA Championships as they placed among the top 30 programs in the country. Matching golf that spring was women's rowing with their first WCC Championship.

In the fall of 2006, women's soccer returned to the NCAA tournament for the second time in program history, led by WCC Defender of the Year Joslyn Slovek. Laura Mickelson was at it again as she won the individual WCC Cross Country Championship by more than a minute.

That year also marked the 30th year Anniversary for women's tennis, the longest running women's program in LMU history. Since championships were created by the NCAA in 1981-82 for women's programs, LMU women have won 24 of LMU's 46 conference titles and have earned 26 NCAA tournament bids.

An example of this success was seen from the softball program as it finished the 2007 season with a program best 47-18 record, claiming its third PCSC title. In addition, the Lions won their first and second ever NCAA Tournament games, knocking UC Santa Barbara and UCLA out of the Los Angeles Regional before falling to Hawaii in the Regional final. LMU destroyed the competition in the PCSC, winning the conference with an 18-2 record, 6.5 games ahead of second place. Christine Foley was named Player of the Year, Tiffany Pagano was named Pitcher of the Year, Melissa Dykema was named Freshman of the Year and Gary Ferrin was named the Coach of the Year.

Capping 2007 was women's water polo as the Lions won their sixth WWPFA Championship in seven years and finished the season ranked seventh in the nation. Senior Stacia Peterson is named WWPFA Player of the Year, Third-Team All-American and becomes just the seventh student-athlete overall and just the second female to earn CoSIDA Academic All-American honors.

In the fall of 2007, the LMU men's water polo team won their fifth WWPFA title in seven years despite the youngest roster in program history. The Lions defeated UC Davis 7-6 in the title game as freshmen Tibor Forai and Andy Stevens, along with junior Mark Milovic, earned All-America honors.

Also in the 2007-08 season, the women's swimming program overcame a huge deficit to claim its first Pacific Coast Swim Conference Championship. The Lions completed their first perfect season at 9-0 while Rebecca Plume, Alex Wike and Alicia Witter earned individual conference titles. All told, 11 swimmers earned All-PCSC honors in 2008.

Capping the year was Reid Priddy ('00) capturing the gold medal for Team USA at the 2008 Summer Olympics. He joins Paul Sunderland, who won gold in 1984, as gold medalists in men's volleyball.

In 2008-09, the water polo programs added to their tradition of titles as the men claimed the 2008 title and the women in 2009. It was the sixth for the men and seventh for the women, all coming in the last 10 years. For the women, senior Nicole Hughes earned second-team All-American honors and re-wrote the LMU record book. She set the record for goals in a game (8, twice), in a season (129) and a career (320). She was the first player to score more than a 100 goals in a season and 300 in a career.

The decade would come to close as the LMU men's water polo team added their seventh title in nine years, advancing to the NCAA tournament once again. Men's soccer would also return to form, earning an at-large bid to the NCAA tournament, hosting a first-round game against Sacramento State. It was the fifth NCAA appearance for the Lions.

The new decade would begin with the program that dominated the previous one. The LMU women's water polo team, under LMU alumnus Kyle Witt, would claim a pair of conference titles to start the decade, winning their eighth and ninth WWPFA titles in 2010 and 2012. In the 2014 season they changed leagues and earned a similar result, claiming the inaugural Golden Coast Conference Championship, defeating San Diego State in sudden death overtime, 10-9, at the Burns Aquatics Center. The women's water polo program has claimed more titles than any program in school history. LMU would take it a step further in 2010, defeating five-time defending champion UCLA in the NCAA tournament, 5-4. They went on to finish ranked fourth in the nation and finished with a 28-6 record, staking claim to one of the most successful seasons in program history. In the fall of 2010, men's water polo continued its dominance of the WWPFA, winning it for the fourth straight year and eighth in the last decade. Men's soccer would join them, winning a share of their first WCC title in 2010. Then in the fall of 2013, they would run away with the West Coast Conference, claiming their second league title and earning the automatic bid to the NCAA tournament. Cross country and track All-American Tara Erdmann finished her career in 2012 as one of the most decorated female athletes in LMU history. She won three individual WCC Cross Country Championships (2008, 2010, 2011), competed in six NCAA track championship races and claimed seven All-American honors. She started a tradition that has continued after her departure as Sheree Shea advanced to the 2014 NCAA Outdoor Track Championships and for the first time since the program was brought back, men's track had a representative at the NCAA Championships. Weston Strum finished 10th in the nation in the 5,000. In addition, Sam Fischer of the LMU softball team finished as LMU's triple-crown leader in career categories, and following graduation in 2012, she was chosen to play for the U.S. National Team. In the fall of 2012, women's volleyball earned a trip to their 11th NCAA tournament. Re-establishing itself as one of the most successful programs on campus, the volleyball team repeated the feat just two years later, reaching the NCAA Tournament in the fall of 2014.

Entering its 33rd season as the home of Lion baseball in 2015, George C. Page Stadium will also begin its second season played under the lights. Stadium lighting was installed in the summer of 2013 to Page Stadium and Sullivan Field (soccer), and the inaugural 2014 season featured 19 games under the lights. LMU is scheduled to play 23 night games in 2015. Boasting features such as the Mikos Blue Monster, Pride Park and the Lion's Cage down the line in right field, Page Stadium continues to stake its claim as one of college baseball's most unique ballparks.

Thanks to a gift from Paul Mikos '66, a wall containing a manual scoreboard was installed in left field in 2001, complete with out of town scores reminiscent of some of Major League Baseball's classic ballparks. The Mikos Blue Monster is a replica to Boston's Fenway Park's Green Monster. The Mikos Blue Monster stands 130-feet wide and 37-feet tall. Within the wall is one of only a handful of manual scoreboards in all of college baseball. The board itself isn't small, standing 18-feet tall and 46-feet wide. Complete with the LMU line score and other score updates, the scoreboard combines some old-time baseball charm with today's modern technology. The scoreboard has electronic balls, strikes and outs lights, along with electronic at-bat and hit/error identification. Every other component is tallied using 2-foot square aluminum scorecards slipped in behind the scoreboard manually.

Giving Page Stadium additional character is a five-foot indent connecting the Blue Monster with the existing outfield fencing, similar to the odd outfield shapes of the classic Fenway Park in Boston and Minute Maid Park in Houston.

The Lions, who have posted a 517-384-4 (.573) overall record in the park's 32 seasons, have claimed five conference titles while calling Page Stadium home. The first Page Stadium conference title came in 1986, when the Lions posted a 24-8 record at home. The best record came in 1988, when LMU was 30-5 at home (.857). In the years the Lions have won Conference Championships, they are 115-44 at Page (.723). When the WCC went to a Championship Tournament format from 1999-2009, four of the WCC Championships were played at Page Stadium, with the Lions winning two crowns over Pepperdine.

The stadium, built at the site of LMU's old baseball field, was completed at a cost of more than $250,000, with the Incentive Aid Foundation of Los Angeles providing the majority of the funding. Boasting grandstand seating for approximately 600 people, the facility features an ushered "VIP" section with nearly 200 theater-type seats located behind home plate. The remaining seats are aluminum with backrests and are located along the first base and third base lines. Field accommodations include spacious field-level dugouts and bullpens, a batting facility featuring multiple batting cages, windscreen around the perimeter of the field and grandstand. A picnic area, located down the first base line, was remodeled following the 2008 season.

The backstop has been modified to enhance spectator viewing of the action on the field. The press box, fully equipped to meet the needs of all media, is located behind the "VIP" seating. A convenient concession stand is located near the north entrance of the stadium.

In the summer of 2004, LMU constructed Pride Park, the stadium's entrance. The park, resembling a scaled-down baseball infield, recognizes alumni and friends of LMU baseball, and provides fans with a gathering point for athletic events at LMU.

LMU baseball's Lion's Cage was completed and opened for use before the start of the 2008 baseball season. The 8,000 square foot training den, which is located down the right field line at Page Stadium, features multiple hitting tunnels, pitching mounds, and a baseball lounge for players equipped with couches, a big-screen television, billiards table and shuffleboard. The cage serves as an all-purpose facility for those associated with LMU baseball.

Inside, the massive space is lined with turf and divided by batting cage nets that can be raised and lowered. The nets and portable pitching mounds allow all players the opportunity to train and practice whether rain or shine. The far side of the training den is used primarily as a players' lounge. The Plexiglass roll-up doors on both sides of the building offer the shade and convenience of hitting indoors, while at the same time allowing players to practice in the comfortable Southern California weather.

Page Stadium has been the site of filming for numerous commercials, television shows, and feature films. It served as the site for the baseball scenes in the hit movie "My Blue Heaven" starring Steve Martin. It is also home to many camps, clinics, Little League and prep All-Star games. The facility, which has been used for outdoor community cultural shows and events, is named in honor of George C. Page, President of the Incentive Aid Foundation. Assisting Mr. Page and the IAF in the stadium's completion was Maynard Kambak, father of LMU baseball alumnus Jeff Kambak.

LMU's historic first game in Page Stadium was played on March 19, 1983, with a 5-1 loss to Cal State Fullerton.

THE LION'S CAGE

CHAD & GINNI DREIER STRENGTH & CONDITIONING CENTER

DREIER CENTER STRENGTHENING CHAMPIONS

Opening in the Spring of 2011 was the Lions Athletic Center, and within its 16,000 square feet is the crown jewel of weight training facilities, the Chad and Ginni Dreier Strength & Conditioning Center. The new facility will be at the core of Building Champions at LMU.

Named in honor of the Chad and Ginni Dreier Family, the 4,000 square foot facility brings state-of-the-art equipment and space to train the more than 450 LMU student-athletes.

The Chad and Ginni Dreier Strength and Conditioning Center includes 12 power lift power racks, 58 pull-up bars, a full set of Iron Grip Dumbbells, brand new bars and bumper plates from Usaka Barbell, and Infinity Flooring with custom insets with logos.

THE LIONS ATHLETIC CENTER

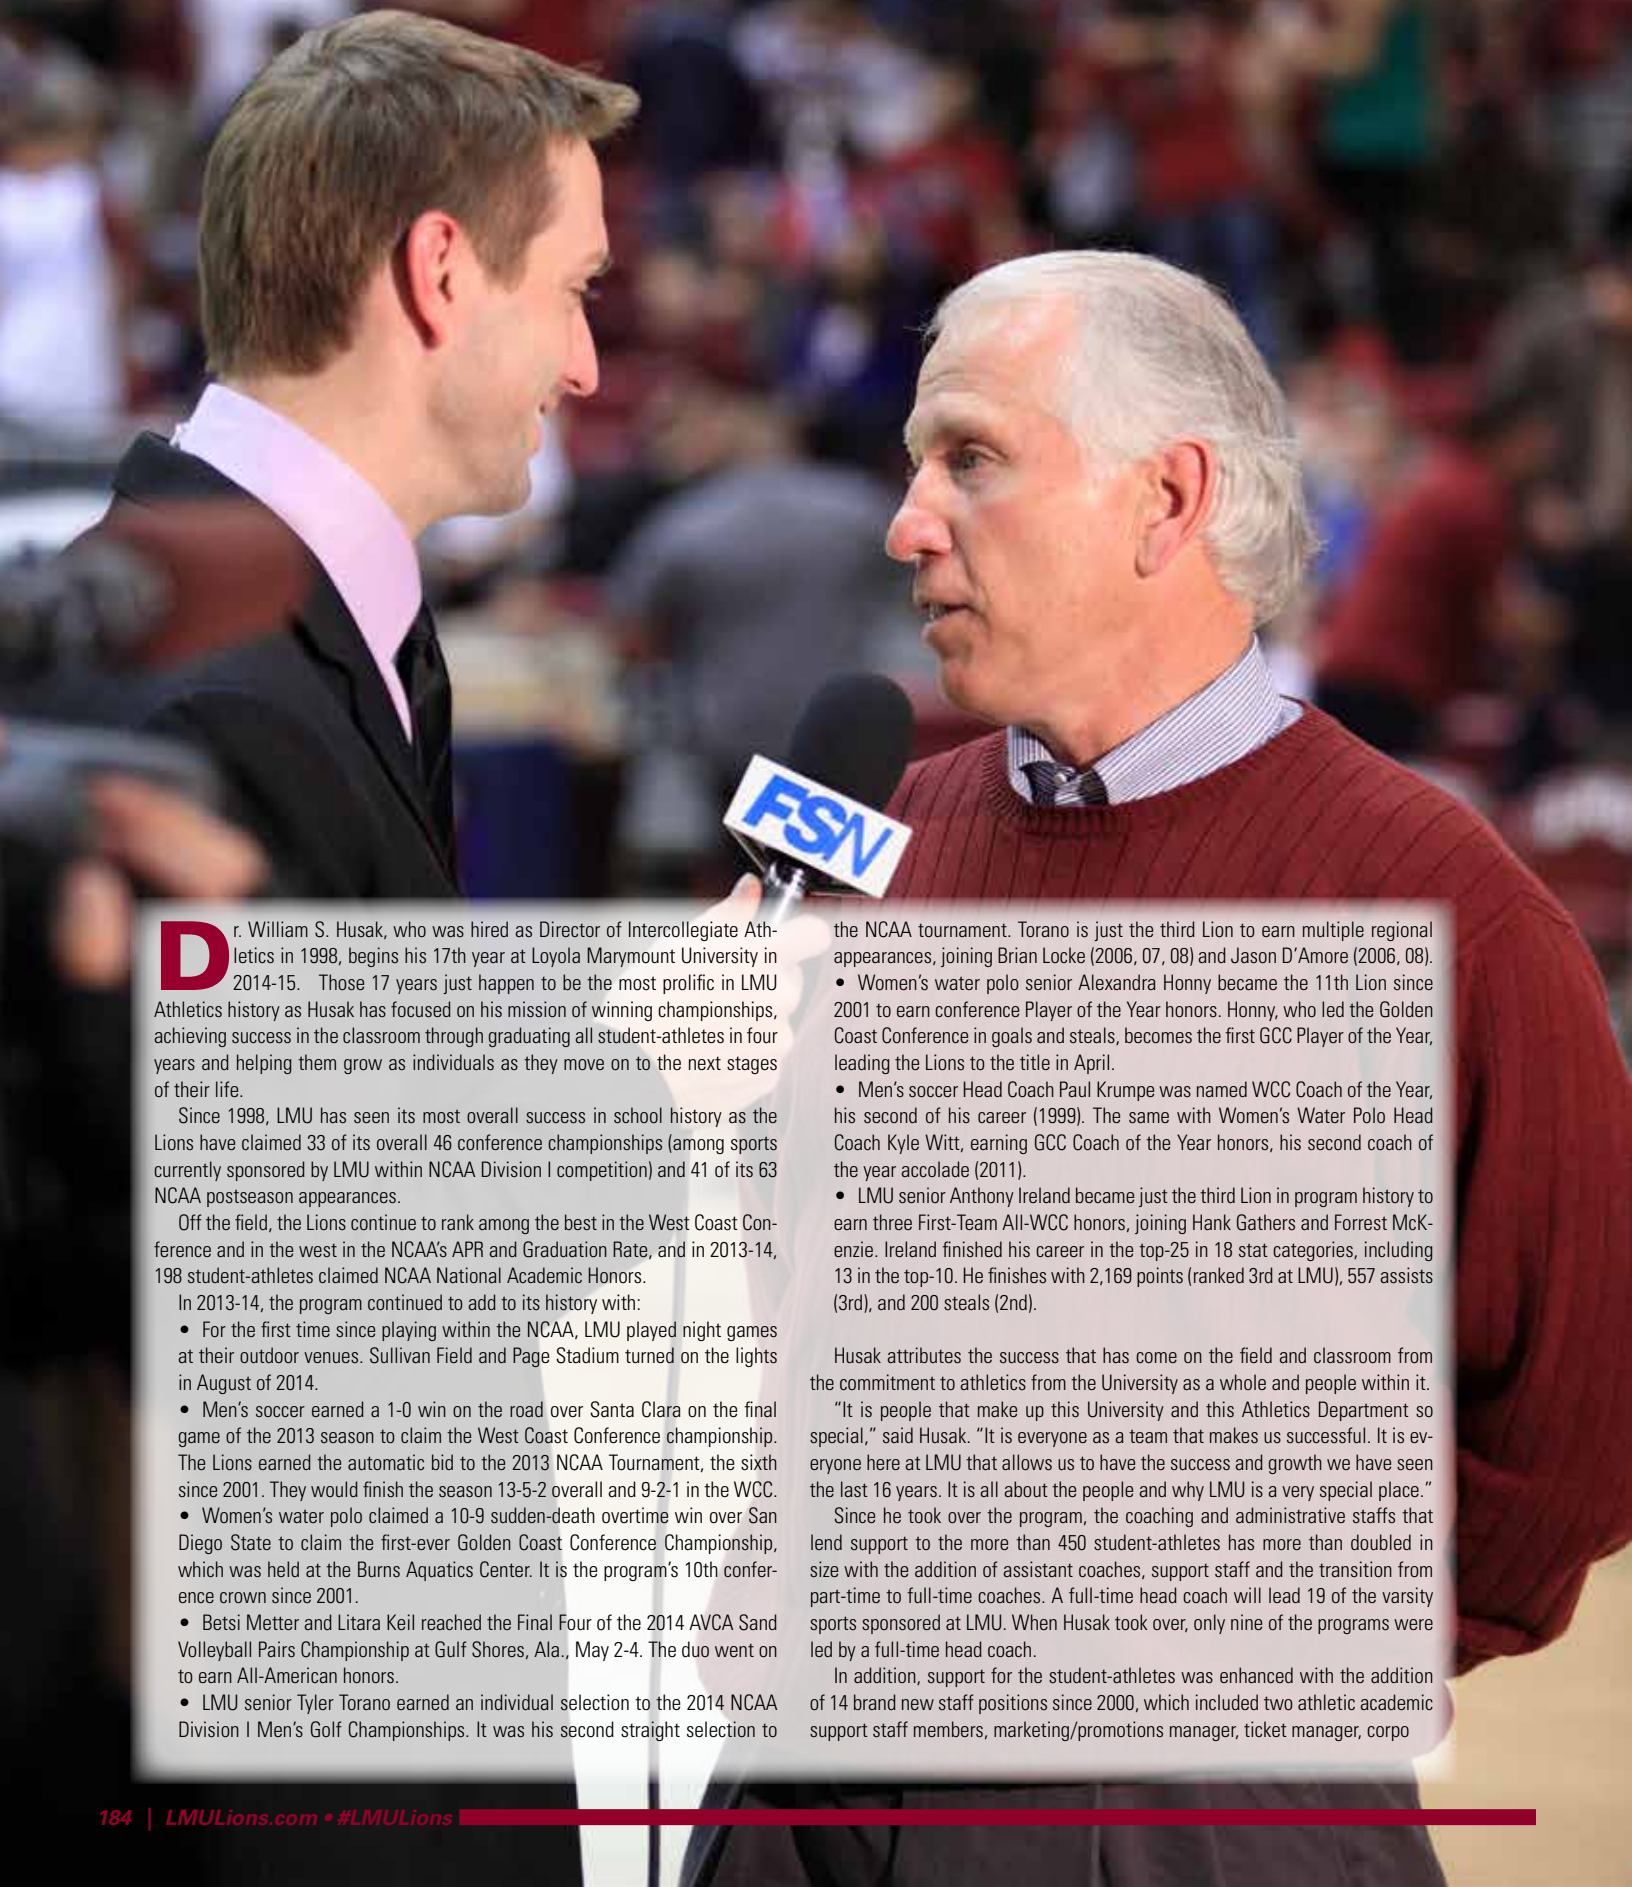

The newest addition to the family of facilities that are home to LMU Athletics is the Lions Athletic Center. The 16,000-square foot facility is located between Albert Gersten Pavilion and Sullivan Field, and brings much needed space to the more than 450 student-athletes who participate on one of the 22 varsity athletic teams at LMU. The main piece of the building is the new weight training facility. Named by the Chad and Ginni Dreier Family, the weight room is more than 4,000-square feet and is one of the top training facilities in the West Coast Conference. In addition to the weight room, there are locker room facilities for baseball, softball, women's soccer and men's soccer. Also within the building is a pair of executive conference rooms and office space for the strength and conditioning coaches and for the athletic facility operations staff. The ADG Fraternity has named the larger of the two conference rooms, which overlooks Sullivan Field. The building also houses the LMU Ticket Office, a new laundry room, and storage facilities.

DR. WILLIAM S. HUSAK

Dr. William S. Husak, who was hired as Director of Intercollegiate Athletics in 1998, begins his 17th year at Loyola Marymount University in 2014-15. Those 17 years just happen to be the most prolific in LMU Athletics history as Husak has focused on his mission of winning championships, achieving success in the classroom through graduating all student-athletes in four years and helping them grow as individuals as they move on to the next stages of their life.

Since 1998, LMU has seen its most overall success in school history as the Lions have claimed 33 of its overall 46 conference championships (among sports currently sponsored by LMU within NCAA Division I competition) and 41 of its 63 NCAA postseason appearances.

Off the field, the Lions continue to rank among the best in the West Coast Conference and in the west in the NCAA's APR and Graduation Rate, and in 2013-14, 198 student-athletes claimed NCAA National Academic Honors.

In 2013-14, the program continued to add to its history with:

- For the first time since playing within the NCAA, LMU played night games at their outdoor venues. Sullivan Field and Page Stadium turned on the lights in August of 2014.
- Men's soccer earned a 1-0 win on the road over Santa Clara on the final game of the 2013 season to claim the West Coast Conference championship. The Lions earned the automatic bid to the 2013 NCAA Tournament, the sixth since 2001. They would finish the season 13-5-2 overall and 9-2-1 in the WCC.
- Women's water polo claimed a 10-9 sudden-death overtime win over San Diego State to claim the first-ever Golden Coast Conference Championship, which was held at the Burns Aquatics Center. It is the program's 10th conference crown since 2001.
- Betsi Metter and Litara Keil reached the Final Four of the 2014 AVCA Sand Volleyball Pairs Championship at Gulf Shores, Ala., May 2-4. The duo went on to earn All-American honors.
- LMU senior Tyler Torano earned an individual selection to the 2014 NCAA Division I Men's Golf Championships. It was his second straight selection to the NCAA tournament. Torano is just the third Lion to earn multiple regional appearances, joining Brian Locke (2006, 07, 08) and Jason D'Amore (2006, 08).

- Women's water polo senior Alexandra Honny became the 11th Lion since 2001 to earn conference Player of the Year honors. Honny, who led the Golden Coast Conference in goals and steals, becomes the first GCC Player of the Year, leading the Lions to the title in April.
- Men's soccer Head Coach Paul Krumpke was named WCC Coach of the Year, his second of his career (1999). The same with Women's Water Polo Head Coach Kyle Witt, earning GCC Coach of the Year honors, his second coach of the year accolade (2011).
- LMU senior Anthony Ireland became just the third Lion in program history to earn three First-Team All-WCC honors, joining Hank Gathers and Forrest McKenzie. Ireland finished his career in the top-25 in 18 stat categories, including 13 in the top-10. He finishes with 2,169 points (ranked 3rd at LMU), 557 assists (3rd), and 200 steals (2nd).

Husak attributes the success that has come on the field and classroom from the commitment to athletics from the University as a whole and people within it.

"It is people that make up this University and this Athletics Department so special," said Husak. "It is everyone as a team that makes us successful. It is everyone here at LMU that allows us to have the success and growth we have seen the last 16 years. It is all about the people and why LMU is a very special place."

Since he took over the program, the coaching and administrative staffs that lend support to the more than 450 student-athletes has more than doubled in size with the addition of assistant coaches, support staff and the transition from part-time to full-time coaches. A full-time head coach will lead 19 of the varsity sports sponsored at LMU. When Husak took over, only nine of the programs were led by a full-time head coach.

In addition, support for the student-athletes was enhanced with the addition of 14 brand new staff positions since 2000, which included two athletic academic support staff members, marketing/promotions manager, ticket manager, corpo rate relations manager, three assistant athletic trainers, two strength and conditioning assistant coaches, a assistant compliance director and two media relations staff members.

The final major piece to LMU Athletics' growth and success has been through the University's commitment to facilities. Since he has taken over, $25 million has been put into athletic facilities. That list includes the brand new Lions' Athletic Center, the Leavey Center, the Burns Aquatics Center, Smith Field and the addition of lights to Page Stadium and Sullivan Field to name a few.

Lights installed in the summer of 2013 on Page Stadium and Sullivan Field gave LMU its first night game outside on campus in its NCAA Division I history.

The new Lions' Athletic Center includes the 6,000-square foot Chad and Ginni Dreier Strength and Conditioning Center, the new hub of activity of student-athletes. In addition, the Burns Center was used as host to the 2002 and 2006 NCAA Men's Water Polo Championships. It has been the only time LMU has hosted an NCAA championship.

As for the Leavey Center, it houses the offices and team suite areas of all sports except the aquatics programs, who are in the Burns Center. The University dedicated more than 7,000 square feet within the Center for the Athletics Department, giving the 21 programs top-of-the-line offices and work space.

Facility enhancements have also included the Thomas Higgins Short Game Center (golf), the Morris A. Pivaroff and George P. Kading Tournament Court (tennis), and the Jane Browne Bove Boathouse. LMU's existing facilities have also seen their share of growth, including new bleachers and scoreboard to Sullivan Field (soccer), Mikos Blue Monster and Pride Park to Page Stadium (baseball), and a new sound system, floor design and bleachers in Gersten Pavilion.

In addition, the lobby and restrooms within Gersten Pavilion are currently being renovated and plans for the next 18 months include new locker room suites in Gersten Pavilion, including new state-of-the-art areas for men's and women's basketball.

Husak comes from a long and accomplished background as an administrator, fundraiser and professor during a 19-year career at California State University, Long Beach. Between 1993-1998, he served as the Senior Associate Athletics Director and was mainly responsible for Athletics fundraising. While at CSULB between 1983 and 1997, Husak served as an assistant commissioner for the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA). Between 1986 and 1993 he served as chairman of CSULB's physical education department. As an associate professor of physical education at CSULB between 1979 and 1986, he established the university's Motor Behavior Laboratory.

A 1972 graduate of State University of New York (SUNY) at Cortland, Husak holds a master's degree and Ph.D. in Physical Education from Texas A&M University. He and his wife of 41 years, Tish, live in Long Beach and have three married sons and six grandchildren.

The West Coast Conference traces its beginnings to 1952, where the California Basketball Association was created to provide a venue for five San Francisco Bay Area schools to compete in basketball - including Saint Mary's College, the University of San Francisco, and Santa Clara University. The conference expanded to include Loyola Marymount University and Pepperdine University in 1955, becoming the West Coast Athletic Conference. In 1977, the University of Portland joined the WCAC (shortened to WCC in 1989). Then in 2011-12, BYU became the first full member to join the West Coast Conference since Gonzaga University and the University of San Diego began competing in the WCAC in 1979. More change came in 2013 when the University of the Pacific became the WCC's 10th member for the 2013-14 season.

The 2015 WCC Baseball Championships will return to Stockton's Banner Island Ballpark for the third straight season from May 21-24. The top four teams from the WCC will compete in the Championships.
