Stan Johnson
Head Coach

Loyola Marymount University named Stan Johnson as its new men's basketball head coach on March 20, 2020.

In Johnson's third season at LMU, he did something that no other coach in West Coast Conference history has ever done. Johnson's Lions beat Gonzaga, Saint Mary's, and BYU all in the same season, with two of those wins coming with the Zags and Gaels holding top-15 rankings. The Lions earned the highest ranked win in program history on Jan. 19, 2023, by defeating the sixth-ranked Gonzaga Bulldogs in Spokane and ending GU's 75-game home win streak, run of 93 straight wins over unranked teams, and 25 consecutive wins over the Lions. Johnson's Lions beat their second nationally ranked team on Feb. 9, 2023, as LMU defended home court and beat 15th-ranked Saint Mary's at Gersten Pavilion becoming the first LMU basketball team with multiple wins over top-15 programs and multiple wins over ranked teams for the first time in over a decade. In total, LMU beat four NCAA Tournament teams in 2022-23, with LMU defeating both Nevada and Grand Canyon in consecutive games in the non-conference. The Lions also won the Jamaica Classic in November of 2022 with wins over Georgetown and Wake Forest in Montego Bay.

LMU won 19 games in Johnson's third year, the third-most since 1990. By the numbers, 2022-23 saw achievements that few LMU team had done in over three decades. The Lions won 10 non-conference games for just the third time since 1988 and won nine WCC contests for the second time since 1991. The success in conference play resulted in a fourth-place finish and LMU's first double-bye into the WCC Tournament in 11 seasons. Johnson is the first LMU coach with a third and fourth place finish on his resume since 1992.

Under Johnson's tutelage, Cam Shelton was named to the All-WCC First Team after leading the WCC in overall scoring at 21.23 ppg and scoring in conference games at 23.31 ppg. Shelton had the most 30-point games in the WCC in 2022-23 and became the first LMU player since Terrell Lowery in 1992 to score 40-points in a game. Shelton was WCC Player of the Week three times, named as a Lou Henson Award National Player of the Year finalist, and was named the Lou Henson Award National Player of the Week after leading LMU to the win over Gonzaga in Spokane.

Keli Leaupepe was named to the WCC Honorable Mention Team, and both of Johnson's captains, Shelton and Leaupepe, were named to the WCC All-Academic Team. The Lions set another new program-record team GPA in Winter of 2022 and had four players make the Dean's List that semester.

In 2024-25, Johnson led LMU to two separate win streaks of five games apiece. The Lions closed out non-conference play with five wins in a row and then, for the first time since 1991, won five consecutive wins in conference play. Johnson became the first head coach at LMU to have three winning seasons in a five-year span since Paul Westhead in 1990.

For the second time in the last three years, the LMU Men's Basketball team left foreign soil as MTE Champions. The Lions followed their 2022 Jamaica Classic title with a second in-season tournament title during his tenure leading the Lions. The Lions defeated Belmont in the opening game of the tournament and then overcame a 10-point deficit with less than six minutes to play in the second half to clinch the Championship.

Following the season, Jevon Porter and Caleb Stone-Carrawell were named to the All-WCC Honorable Mention team. For the fourth consecutive, LMU men's basketball had two players selected to the West Coast Conference's All-Academic Team. Rick Issanza and Alex Merkviladze have been voted to the league's All-Academic team with Lamaj Lewis earning Honorable Mention recognition.

The 2020-21 season saw meteoric growths across the board for LMU men's basketball. The Lions finished in the top three of the West Coast Conference standings for the first time since 2005-06. In his first season as head coach, Stan Johnson guided his team through the COVID-19 pandemic and posted a winning record in the WCC for the first time since 2011-12.

LMU has posted a top-100 ranking in the NCAA's NET, college basketball's comprehensive metric that takes into account record, quality opponents faced, and game location, among others. LMU's 95 ranking is the highest NET (or RPI at that time) since the Elite Eight season of 1990.

Four Lions received All-WCC recognition this season, including Eli Scott's selection as a First Team All-Conference selection, Jalin Anderson being named to the All-Freshman team, and Dameane Douglas and Keli Leaupepe each receiving honorable mention team selections. As a team, the Lions posted the most 20+ point wins since 1990-91.

Off the court, Johnson's team recorded a program-record GPA in his first semester as head coach (Fall 2020).

Johnson coached five seasons at Marquette University and was promoted to as-

LMU THE COACHES

"Stan Johnson is a great hire for LMU. I know Stan's work well as he did a tremendous job at Marquette.

The Lions have a tremendous person and ccoach, and I know he will be missed at MU. Welcome to LA Stan, I am looking forward to watching you work."

Steve Wojciechowski
- Former Head Coach - Marquette

sociate head coach in June of 2017 after helping guide the Golden Eagles to a NCAA tournament trip in 2016-17. Marquette also made a run to the NIT quarterfinals in 2017-18 and returned to the NCAAs in 2018-19.

Johnson arrived in Milwaukee after working the previous two seasons at Arizona State and was on the opposing bench in a pair of matchups against the Golden Eagles. The Sun Devils, who went 16-1 at home, participated in the NCAA tournament in 2013-14 in his first campaign with the program and earned a spot in the National Invitation Tournament in 2014-15.

Johnson also spent two seasons (2011-13) at Drake University after a three-year stint at the University of Utah, which advanced to the NCAA tournament in 2009.

During his two seasons at Drake, he helped coach Ben Simons and Joey King to Missouri Valley Conference honors with Simons earning All-MVC second-team honors each of the final two seasons and King earning all-freshman honors in 2012-13.

In Johnson's first season with the Bulldogs in 2011-12 he helped guide Drake to its second-highest conference finish (tied for third) since 1986, and a victory in the postseason for the first time since 1975. Two Bulldogs were named second-team All-Missouri Valley Conference (Simons and Rayvonte Rice), and Simons was named captain of the MVC's Most Improved Team.

During his three-year stay at Utah, Johnson was part of a staff that coached the Utes in 2008-09 to a 24-10 record, a share of the Mountain West Conference Championship and the postseason conference tournament title. Utah finished the season ranked No. 25 in the AP poll and earned a No. 5 seed in the Midwest Region, at the time the highest seed ever given to a Mountain West team.

Johnson came to Utah after a one-year stint as an assistant coach at Cal State Northridge in 2007-08. The Matadors finished 20-10 overall and earned a share of their first Big West Conference regular season championship with Johnson on the staff.

Prior to his year at Cal State Northridge, Johnson spent three seasons (2004-07) on the bench at Southwest Baptist University in Bolivar, Mo. The Bearcats were 50-30 in that period, with three-consecutive winning seasons for the first time in school history. The 2005-06 squad posted a 27-5 record, including a school-record 14 wins in a row to open the season. Southwest Baptist captured the Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association title that year and made a trip to the NCAA Division II tournament, finishing No. 6 in the national rankings.

Johnson started his coaching career at Bemidji (Minn.) State University in 2003-04. In his lone season at Bemidji, Johnson helped coach the Beavers to a 20-10 mark and their first-ever 20-win season. Bemidji State was 14-2 in conference play that season, earning a berth to the NCAA Division II tournament and leading the nation in 3-pointers per game, with 11.7.

As a player, Johnson was a three-year letterman at Southern Utah University. He was a team captain and starter in 2000- 01 and helped lead the Thunderbirds to the Mid-Continent Conference (now Summit League) title and a berth in the NCAA tournament, where they dropped a close 68-65 decision to No. 3 seed Boston College. Johnson was a three-time member of the Mid-Continent Conference All-Academic Team and earned a bachelor's degree in communication from SUU in 2003.

Johnson played his senior season of college basketball at Bemidji State (2002-03), where he served as a team captain and earned honorable mention all-conference accolades. He averaged 13.5 points and distributed a team-high 114 assists during his one season with the Beavers.

Johnson is a graduate of Taylorsville (Utah) High School. He and his wife Brittany have three children, Brooklynn, Myles and Braylon.

"Stan's made me better in more ways than just as a basketball player. He's made me a better man. He had belief in me even when I didn't have it in myself and he is that way with all the players he recruits. He believes in them when they might not see it in themselves.

I know he's going to be successful in his endeavors and I'm looking forward to him bringing a competitive and winning attitude, along with professionalism and class, that can't be matched. He's going to be a great head coach."

Inside LMU

LEARN. LEAD. SERVE.

Maybe it is that we're the only Catholic University in Los Angeles and one of the world's renowned Jesuit institutions, a group that includes 28 universities in the United States and over 100 schools worldwide.

Or, maybe, it's that Loyola Marymount University has been called a Hidden Gem by the Washington Post and ranked among the Best in the West by U.S. News & World Report.

Or that our serene campus, overlooking Marina del Rey and the Pacific Ocean, offers one of the most exhilarating academic locations anywhere.

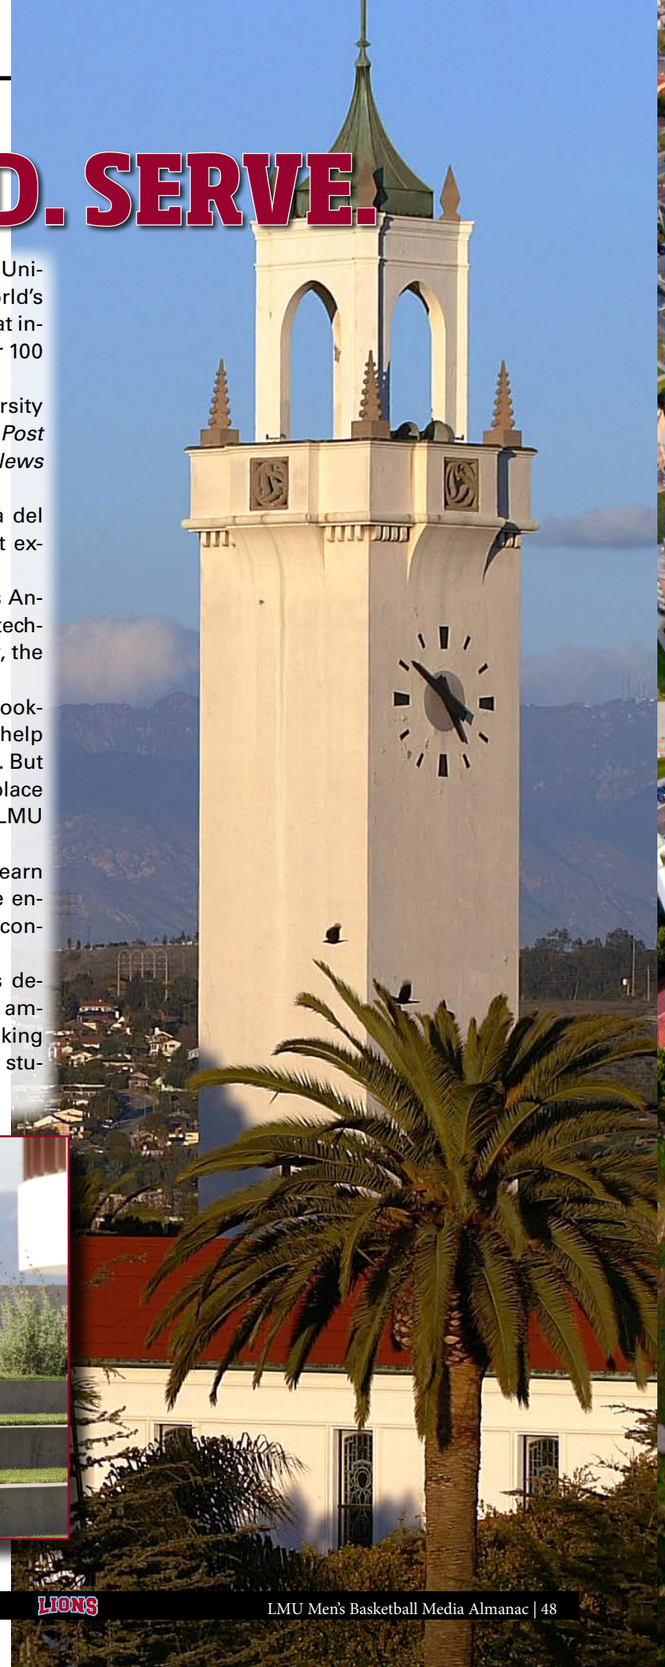

Or that our seven colleges, all connected to Los Angeles, enable students to make current contacts in technology, business, politics, art, music, and naturally, the entertainment industry.

Yet there's something more to consider. If you're looking for a place to acquire facts and skills that will help you get along in the world, you have many choices. But if you're looking for a place where there is more, a place that strives for the education of the whole person, LMU may be the place for you.

At LMU, we inspire you to take ideas apart and learn how they fit together. You'll test your limits, forge enduring friendships, promote justice and become a contributing citizen of the world.

Our curriculum is broad and deep. Our pace is demanding. Our expectations are high. Our plans are ambitious. And for over 100 years, we have been looking for curious, accomplished, enterprising, visionary students to learn, lead and serve.

A PROMISING FUTURE

The Chronicle of Higher Education notes that at Jesuit institutions, this precept "translates into a large amount of individual attention from faculty members and accessibility to high-level administrators, including the president." At LMU, students don't simply benefit from cura personalis; they practice it, too, carrying out the Jesuit ideal of "men and women for others." The Marymount sisters contribute a history of educating women and teaching through the arts, with a deliberately international perspective that encourages respect for all cultures. LMU brings these gifts together in seven colleges:

- Business Administration
- Communications and Fine Arts
- Film and Television
- Liberal Arts
- Science and Engineering
- School of Education
- Loyola Law School

A SOLID FOUNDATION

UNIVERSITY MISSION AND IDENTITY

Loyola Marymount's Mission and Goals Statement, approved by the Board of Trustees in 1990, succinctly states in its preamble the university's three-fold mission:

* The encouragement of learning
* The education of the whole person
* The service of faith & promotion of justice

These often quoted phrases are at the heart of the campus community's communal self-understanding. When unpacked, they tell us much about LMU's identity as a Catholic, Jesuit/Marymount university.

DEVELOPING THE WHOLE PERSON

LMU is about the whole person, and when it comes to providing friends and mentors to be a part of that mission, you won't find a university surpassing LMU. The campus population comes from all 50 states and 70 countries. Better still, LMU offers the opportunity for students to hone their skills and help them find like-minded colleagues for life. More than 3,200 students live in 19 residence halls and apartments on campus. There are over 140 active clubs and organizations, and a Greek community with 15 local chapters. Our students volunteer more than 175,000 service hours a year with 350 community organizations.

THE LION EXPERIENCE
A HELPING HAND

Loyola Marymount University is dedicated to the education and development of the whole person, the pursuit of academic excellence, advancement of scholarship, the service of faith, and the promotion of justice. As a Catholic institution, the University takes its fundamental inspiration from the Jesuit and Marymount traditions of its founding religious orders. Loyola Marymount University seeks to foster in each member of its community respect for the dignity of the individual, a devotion to intellectual and spiritual life, an appreciation for diversity, and a thirst for justice in all endeavors. Loyola Marymount University strives to send forth "men and women for others," to lead and to serve.

Students who choose LMU for higher learning receive a world-class education on a campus known for its athletic excellence. The LMU Athletics Department is committed to assisting student-athletes achieve their full potential both academically and athletically.

The Student-Athlete Services staff supports all student-athletes in their academic and personal development. The staff provides guidance to each LMU student-athlete in their transition from high school student to college student-athlete.

According to the 2024 NCAA GSR, the LMU Athletics Department posted a rate of 95 percent for all student-athletes who exhausted their eligibility. This year marks the 11th straight time in the 18-year history of the metric that LMU has reached or exceeded 90 percent, and the 15th straight year the campus has posted a mark of 88 percent or higher and fifth consecutive year maintaining 95 percent.

GERSTEN PAVILION

Home of the Lions.

Gersten Pavilion, which enters its 45th year as the host of LMU's indoor athletic events in 2025-26, is the centerpiece of the LMU athletic complex. Opening in 1981, Gersten Pavilion has become one of the toughest places to play in the West Coast Conference and one of the more historic athletic facilities in Southern California. While hosting men's and women's basketball and volleyball, the Pavilion has seen its share of memorable moments in the history of collegiate athletics.

One of the more memorable moments came as the Lions posted a 16-game winning streak that spanned three seasons from Feb. 25, 1987 through Nov. 28, 1988. In that span, the Lions posted a 14-0 mark at home in the 1987-88 season.

The Pavilion has also hosted the highest-scoring basketball game in NCAA Division I history when Loyola Marymount defeated U.S. International 181-150 on Jan. 31, 1989. In addition, it served as host to the WCC Tournament in 1990 and 1997.

The Pavilion opened its doors on Jan. 15, 1981 with a men's basketball 83-68 loss to Santa Clara. The Lions' first win came eight days later with a 66-62 victory against St. Mary's.

To this day, the Pavilion keeps bringing them in, as the 2005-06 season saw the third-largest crowd in school history when 4,482 saw the Lions take on fifth-ranked Gonzaga in a game televised by ABC. It was the first trip to the campus for the network as the Lions fell to a career-best performance by the future No. 3 pick in the NBA draft. Three years later, eighth-ranked Notre Dame came to LMU, where a record 4,534 fans saw the Lions' upset bid fall short in the final seconds. Then in 2009-10, LMU defeated its highest ranked opponent in Gersten Pavilion (and highest overall since 1961), knocking of No.9 Gonzaga. In 2011-12, the Lions defeated another ranked opponent, this time previously-unbeaten and No. 23 Saint Louis.

In 2011-12, Gersten Pavilion saw more people go through its doors for a single basketball season in its 30-plus years. A total of 49,597 fans watched the games, the most ever in a single season.

In posting the best home record since the Elite Eight season, LMU racked up 12 home wins in both 2011-12 and 2018-19, the most ever at Gersten Pavilion.

In the shortened 2020-21 season, LMU posted an 8-3 record at home, including going unbeaten in non-conference games with a 5-0 record.

In LMU's 19-win season in 2022-23, the Lions posted a 13-3 record at home including knocking off 15th-ranked Saint Mary's in overtime leading to a student driven court storm.

NO BETTER PLACE TO BE...

STRENGTHENING CHAMPIONS

DREIER CENTER

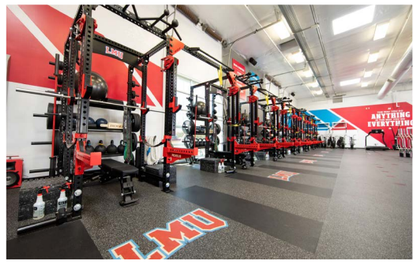

Opening in the Spring of 2011 was the Lions Athletic Center, and within its 16,000 square feet is the crown jewel of weight training facilities, the Chad and Ginni Dreier Strength & Conditioning Center. The new facility will be at the core of Building Champions at LMU.

Named in honor of the Chad and Ginni Dreier Family, the 4,000 square foot facility brings state-of-the-art equipment and space to train the more than 450 LMU student-athletes.

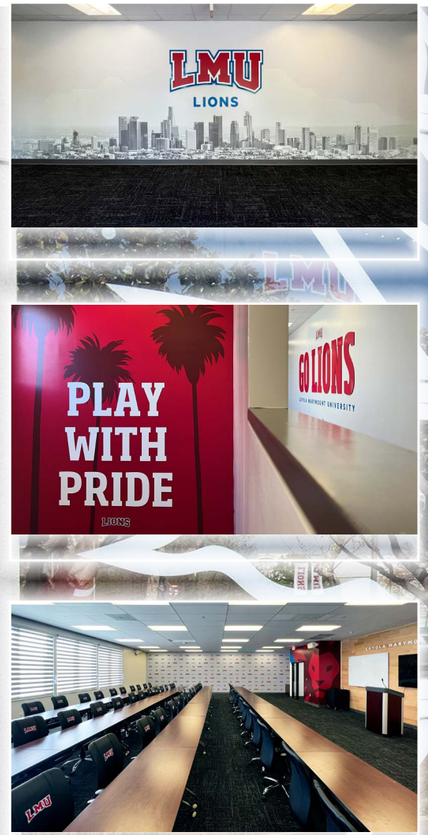

The Chad and Ginni Dreier Strength and Conditioning Center includes 12 power lift power racks, 58 pull-up bars, a full set of Iron Grip Dumbbells, brand new bars and bumper plates from Usaka Barbell, and Infinity Flooring with custom insets with logos.

THE LIONS ATHLETIC CENTER

The newest addition to the family of facilities that are home to LMU Athletics is the Lions Athletic Center. The 16,000-square foot facility is located between Albert Gersten Pavilion and Sullivan Field, and brings much needed space to the more than 400 student-athletes who participate on one of the 22 varsity athletic teams at LMU. The main piece of the building is the new weight training facility. Named by the Chad and Ginni Dreier Family, the weight room is more than 4,000-square feet and is one of the top training facilities in the West Coast Conference. In addition to the weight room, there are locker room facilities for baseball, softball, women's soccer and men's soccer. Also within the building is a pair of executive conference rooms and office space for the strength and conditioning coaches and for the athletic facility operations staff. The ADG Fraternity has named the larger of the two conference rooms, which overlooks Sullivan Field. The building also houses the LMU Ticket Office, a new laundry room, and storage facilities.

LMU BASKETBALL

2025-26

History

LMU BASKETBALL HISTORY

LMU's basketball history is one that began in 1906 when Loyola Marymount University was then known as St. Vincent's College. LMU and former Lions have been at the center of some of college basketball's brightest moments. From the championship teams and the magical run of 1990, to the lineage of coaching greats that have worn the LMU Crimson and LMU Blue uniform of the Lions, LMU's basketball history is a rich one.

The 2025-26 season is the 113th year of basketball at the institution and the history is a rich one. Included in the previous 112 years is a team that was voted on by ESPN as one of its top sports moments in the last 30 years - the 1989-90 LMU men's basketball team - and they will forever be one of college basketball's historic mile markers.

This season marks the 36th anniversary of one of the more significant moments in college basketball history and the team that is possibly the most talked about in LMU history - the 1989-90 Elite Eight team that made its historic run after the tragic death of Hank Gathers. The team that still holds many NCAA offensive records (including 122.4 points per game), went on to the 1990 Elite Eight despite the dealing with the death of Hank Gathers. Not only was he the top rebounder and scorer from the year before, he was the Lions' leader and one of college basketball's most charismatic players of the era.

The 1989-90 Lions would not have been set to capture the nation's heart if it wasn't for the teams and individuals before it.

There was the Lions' first conference champions in 1961, which included some of the West Coast Conference's top players of all-time in Ed Bento (1959-62) and Jerry Grote (1959-62). That team led to some of LMU's earliest stars in Jim Haderlein (1968-71), one of the greatest rebounders in WCC history with 1,143 career rebounds, and Luther Philyaw (1972-76), one of LMU's elite scorers with over 1,500 points.

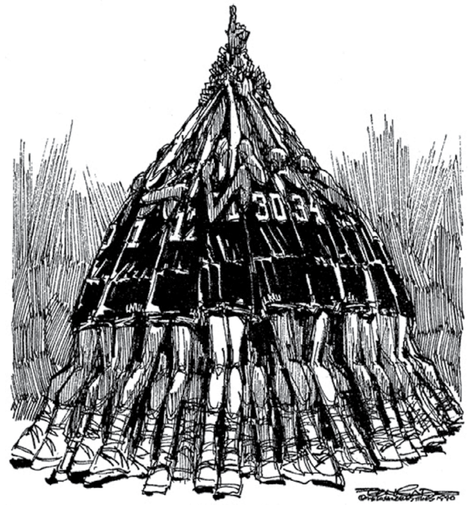

There were the head-turning offenses of the 1980s and early 1990s that produced Gathers, Bo Kimble (1987-90), Jeff Fryer (1987-90), Corey Gaines (1986-88), Terrell Lowery (1988-92), Forrest McKenzie (1981-86), Keith Smith (1982-86) and Mike Yoest (1984-88), many of whom are in the top-10 all-time in career scoring at LMU.

There were the stars of the 1960s, 1970s and earlier that went on to make a name not just as players, but coaching legends.

Pete Newell, perhaps one of the all-time legendary coaches in collegiate basketball history, was a Lion from 1936-39. Serving as a mentor to many of the all-time coaching greats, including Bobby Knight, Newell's teaching of the game of basketball was second to none.

Newell led the University of San Francisco to the 1949 NIT championship before moving to the University of California. At Cal, he led the Bears to the 1957 NCAA championship with a 25-4 record. In six seasons at Cal he posted a record of 119-44 (.730) and finished with a career record of 234-123 in 14 seasons as a head coach.

He added to his legend when he led the U.S. Olympic Basketball Team to the 1960 Olympic gold medal. He also served as a general manager for the Los Angeles Lakers and San Diego Rockets. His annual Big Man's camp at Gersten Pavilion, attended by pro and amateur basketball players, became an institution in the basketball ranks.

The gathering.

Newell, who is a member of the Basketball Hall of Fame and was inducted into the FIBA Basketball Hall of Fame in 2009, is just one of many former Lions to make an impressive mark in the coaching ranks, one that continues today.

Joining Newell as a coach to win a national title from LMU was Phil Woolpert, who played on the same team as Newell. Woolpert led San Francisco to possibly one of the greatest two-year runs in college basketball. He led the Dons to back-to-back NCAA titles in 1955 and 1956, coaching basketball greats Bill Russell and K.C. Jones. In that span they won 60 consecutive games, the second most in NCAA history. He, too, is in the basketball hall of fame.

Others who starred at LMU from its foundation through the 1980s that went onto the coaching ranks were Rick Adelman (1965-68), Clete Adelman (1963-66), John Arndt (1947-50), Richard Baker (1953-56), David Benaderet (1954-57), Bill Donovan (1946-50), Mike Dunlap (1978-80) and Gene Pingatore (1955-58), just to name a few.

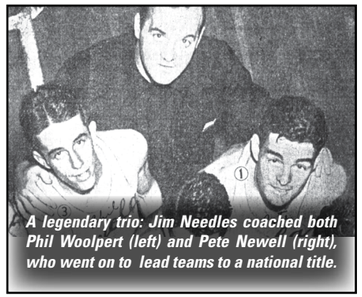

Stars of recent history have gone on to the world of coaching as well, including Jim Williamson (1993-97), who finished third all-time with 506 career assists, Wyking Jones (1991-95), who played 106 games in his LMU career and finished with 1,076 points and 493 rebounds, and Jared Dubois (2008-12) who became the 32nd player in school history with 1,000+ points following a decorated freshman season.

In the growing reach of basketball around the world, the recent history has also produced many players who have gone on to play professional basketball, not only in the NBA but all over the globe.

Kimble, Gaines and Peter Cornell (1996-98) have been the most recent to play in the NBA. Gaines started with the Seattle Supersonics, Kimble with the Clippers and Cornell with the Lakers. Most recently, Drew Viney (2009-12), Ashley Hamilton (2009-13), Anthony Ireland (2010-14), and Caleb Stone-Carrawell (2024-25) participated in the NBA summer league.

Overseas, more than four dozen players have go on to play professionally in the last three decades. Those include Chris Ayer (2002-06), Sherman Gay (2000-04), Matthew Knight (2003-07), Damian Martin (2003-07), Vernon Teel (2009-11), Adom Jacko (2015-16) Brandon Brown (2015-17), Steven Haney, Jr. (2014-18), James Batemon (2017-19), Petr Herman (2014-19), Mattias Markusson (2016-21), Eli Scott (2017-22), Ivan Alipiev (2018-22), Keli Leaupepe (2019-24), Cam Shelton, Viney, Hamilton, and Ireland.

Ayer has claimed multiple awards, including a championship while playing in Japan. Knight was named one of the top players in Australia and he, along with Martin, were a part of the Australian national team. Gay has been one of the more successful professional players in LMU history, becoming one of France's elite players since he graduated in 2004. He was recently named MVP of the league and has also won championships. In his rookie season in Latvia, Batemon was named All-League First Team and All-Import Team in 2020.

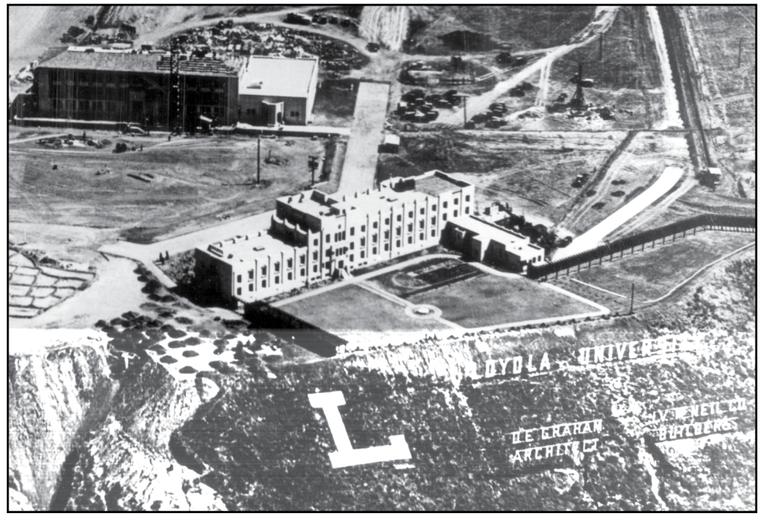

A legendary trio: Jim Needles coached both Phil Woolpert (left) and Pete Newell (right), who went on to lead teams to a national title.

After starting a #ANewStandard in 2020, LMU looks to #RaiseTheStandard under Head Coach Stan Johnson. The Lions became the first school in WCC history to defeat Gonzaga, Saint Mary's, and BYU all in the same season in 2022-23.

Coach Johnson also proved to have success overseas with the Lions. LMU won two MTEs in a three-year span. The Lions beat Georgetwon and Wake Forest to win the 2022 Jamaica Classic and then two years later took home the trophy in the 2024 Cancun Challenge with wins over Belmont and Wyoming.

LMU BASKETBALL TIMELINE

« The beginning of the original Loyola University in 1928.

1906
Then known as St. Vincent's College, the school first played basketball in 1906, and possibly finished 5-0.

1911
The University was founded in 1911 as an outgrowth of St. Vincent's College, the first college in Los Angeles.

1922
Faced first nationally ranked opponent in Larry Semon, the No. 4 ranked AAU team.

1923
Rev. Thomas J. Flaherty is currently known as the first head coach of the St. Vincent's program. He finished his first season 6-6 and coached only one year.

1924
Opened a new gym on the old St. Vincent's campus. Harold "Bill" Hess was introduced as head coach and finished his only campaign 10-7.

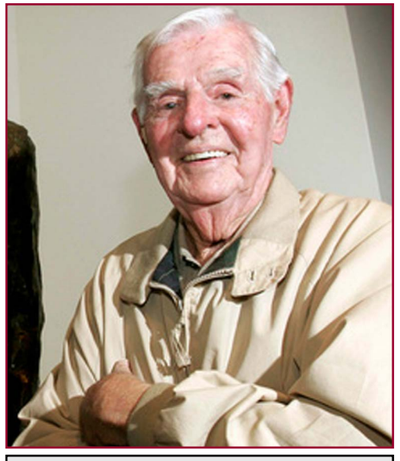

1925
The Lions post first season with double-digit wins, going 10-7 in the 1924-25 season. Coached by Harold "Bill" Hess, the Lions had wins over Woodbury Business College, Cal Tech and the Hollywood All-Stars. In the fall of '25 George Casey became the third head coach of St. Vincent's, finishing his only year as coach 6-5.

1926
The University plays in first overtime game, a 20-16 loss to Whittier. First year coach, John Richlie, the fourth in as many years for the Lions, finishes 7-5. He coaches three years and finishes 20-21.

1927
Wins first overtime game, a 16-14 victory against California Christian College.

1928
The then Loyola College moved to its current location on the Westchester bluff and two years later became Loyola University.

1929
Joseph Donahue takes over the program and goes 7-9 before the program is discontinued.

« Hall of Famer Pete Newell was a Lion.

1930s
Loyola discontinues the men's basketball program for four seasons during the great depression.... The Lions return to the court and post a 4-11 record in their first season back in 1934. William Sargent takes on the coaching duties for two years and finished 8-15...In 1938, team wins first postseason tournament, the El Paso Southwestern AAU Basketball Tournament. The Lions defeated the 7-Up Bottling Company in the first round 61-39 and Texas Mines 50-33 in the second round. In the semifinals, Loyola defeated Stephen Foster 52-30 and Straton Oilers 47-42 in the championship. In the last part of the decade, both Pete Newell and Phil Woolpert suited up for the Lions. The two Loyola greats went on to become legends in the coaching profession, leading college teams to NCAA National Championships.

1940
Showing that Loyola was in the entertainment capital of the world in Los Angeles, the Lions would face the AAU national champions twice, a team from 20th Century Fox. The entertainment giant lost twice to Loyola, 36-32 in overtime and 38-33. This marked the final year of coach James Needles, who took over in the 1936-37 season and set the record for wins in a season with a 19-7 record. Bernie Bradley took over the program for the next two years and finished with a winning record at 27-16 (.638).

1941
The Lions face in-town rival Pepperdine for the first time in the two program's histories. They faced each other twice in the 1940-41 season, with Loyola winning both, 30-18 and 43-23.

1942
Loyola enters the season without a head coach and finishes 3-13. Thomas Korn takes over in 1943 prior to the temporary cancellation of the sport. The bright spot of the 1941-42 campaign is a 40-34 win over UCLA, the only one in school history.

1944
The University would once again suspend men's basketball from play, giving the program a three year hiatus from the hardwood during World War 2.

1946
The Lions returned once again to play, posting a 12-15 record in the 1946-47 season under coach Scotty McDonald.

1948-1949
Loyola went on to its first 20-win season, posting a 22-14 record under coach Scotty

McDonald. The Lions would see their longest winning streak at that time of 10 games. The season included the first game in Alumni Gymnasium, the Lions' home until the 1981-82 season when the Lions moved to Gersten Pavilion.

1952
Scotty McDonald wraps up his six-year career at Loyola with an 83-90 record. Edwin Powell guides the team to a 14-14 record in 1952-53 for his only season at the helm.

1955
The Lions advanced to their first collegiate sponsored postseason tournament, competing for the NAIA National Championship. The Lions posted a 16-9 record and were selected to participate in the NAIA Tournament where they faced San Francisco State in the first round. With a 57-56 win, the Lions moved on to face Southwestern (KS) in the second round. Southwestern won, 83-79.

1956
The Lions joined the California Basketball Association, which two years later formed the West Coast Athletic Conference. Loyola finished the CBA with a 9-5 record, second in the conference.

1960
Loyola earned its first conference championship with a 9-3 record in the West Coast Athletic Conference. The title was shared with Santa Clara, who defeated the Lions in a playoff game to end the season. The Lions closed the regular season with eight straight wins to clinch a share of the title.

1961
It was a record breaking season for the Lions, earning their second 20-win season, finishing 20-7 overall and earning their first-ever out-right WCAC title with a 10-2 mark. Loyola started the season 3-4, but responded with 17 wins in their final 20 games, including a nine-game winning streak. It was the Lions' first trip to the NCAA tournament, a date in the Far West Regional at Portland. The Lions fell to Utah, 91-75 in the first round, and fell to the consolation bracket. Utah, who Loyola defeated in exhibition play 85-64 earlier in the season, went on to the Final Four. Loyola defeated USC, 69-67, to earn their 20th win of the season. It was head coach William Donovan's final year at the helm of the Lions. In his eight years as coach, he earned 107 wins, the most among all LMU coaches. John Arndt takes over for Donovan for the next seven seasons.

1964
The Lions reach the century mark for the first time in school history with a 100-70 win over St. Mary's on Dec. 28.

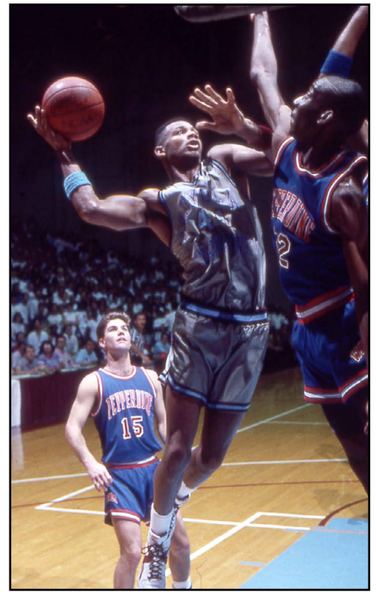

1968
Following John Arndt's 91 wins, the seven-year head coach concludes with a 19-6 record, 11-3 in the conference. Richard Baker takes over for the next five seasons. In the same year, NBA coach Rick Adelman finished his three-year playing career with 1,425 points, averaging 18.8 points in his career at LMU.

1973
The University merged with Marymount College to become Loyola Marymount University. Loyola Law School, located in downtown Los Angeles, was founded in 1920. The Lions entered the merger with a new head coach (Dave Benaderet), and as "LMU," the Lions finished 13-14 and fourth (6-8) in the WCAC.

1980
The Lions received a bid to the NCAA West Regional, losing to Arizona State in the first round, 99-71. LMU would later have to forfeit that season due to an ineligible player.

1985
Paul Westhead is hired as head coach of the men's basketball team, replacing Ed Goorjian, who coached from 1980-1985. In his first season, he leads the Lions back to the postseason for the first time since 1980. In 1985, US International and LMU begin a four-year series that would result in the highest-scoring games in NCAA history. After defeating USIU 84-65 in January of 1985, the "track meets" would begin. In Westhead's first season in 1985-86, the Lions would defeat USIU 151-107.

1986
Concluding the 1985-86 season, the Lions found themselves in the NIT for the first time in school history. Traveling to Berkeley, Calif., to face the Bears in the first round, the Lions would begin a successful end to the 1980s decade that made a habit of winning in the postseason. The Lions defeated Cal, 80-75, to advance in a postseason tournament. LMU would fall to Wyoming, » Hank Gathers' career began in 1987 and set in motion a record-setting three years in LMU basketball.

99-90, to end Westhead's first season at 19-11 and 10-4 in the WCAC (second).

1987
LMU began the Hank Gathers and Bo Kimble era of Lions' basketball with a 114-78 win over Tennessee Tech. The season would finish as the Lions' best in winning percentage, finishing with a 28-4 mark (87.5%) and a perfect 14-0 in the WCAC. The 1987-88 season would include a 25-game winning streak, the best in school history. The fast-break offense began to take hold, as the Lions scored in triple figures in all but nine of their 32 games.

1988
The Lions would clinch their first WCAC regular season championship since the '60s and their first Tournament Championship with a 104-96 win over Santa Clara in the WCAC Championship game. LMU advances to the NCAA tournament, and earns its first win in the "Big Dance," a 119-115 win over Wyoming, who two years earlier knocked the Lions out of the NIT. Playing in the West Sub-Regional in Salt Lake City, Utah, LMU would be a surprise opponent in the second round against power North Carolina. The Tar Heels would dismiss the Lions, 123-97.

The Lions earned their second consecutive WCAC Tournament Championship with another win over Santa Clara, 75-70. The Lions finished 20-11 on the season, following a 120-101 loss to Arkansas in the first round of the NCAA tournament in the Midwest Region held at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis. Earlier in the year, LMU and US International hooked up for the first of their record breaking contests. The Lions set the NCAA scoring record with a 181-150 win. The 181 points would stand for two years as the NCAA's scoring mark. The two teams set four records in that game, three of which still stand - combined points (331), points by a losing team (150), and combined field goals (130). The teams met twice that season. In their earlier meeting, which LMU won 152-137, the teams attempted a combined 245 field goals, an NCAA record.

» The Lions' third ever "Big Dance" appearance featured a win against Wyoming and a tough task in the second round against UNC. The Tar Heels won 123-97 in Salt Lake City, Utah.

It was a season to remember in 1989-90. In addition to their 28 games scoring in triple digits, the Lions led the nation in points per game at 122.4. LMU also earned its third straight WCC title and trip to the NCAA tournament. In finishing 26-6, the Lions advanced further than any team in school history by reaching the Elite Eight in the NCAA Championships. However, tragedy marked the Lions' Cinderella run. On March 4, 1990 in the second round of the WCC Tournament, the Lions took a 25-13 lead on Portland following All-American Hank Gathers' dunk on an alley-oop from Terrell Lowery. Gathers would collapse to the floor and would not regain consciousness. Gathers would be pronounced dead later that evening at Marina del Rey's Daniel Freeman Hospital. The WCC Tournament would be cancelled and the Lions would be named champion, earning the automatic bid to the NCAA tournament. A long shot and seeded No. 11 in the West Region, the Lions were not expected to accomplish one of the greatest runs in NCAA history. Playing on the emotion of the past week's events, the Lions would upset New Mexico State 111-92 in Long Beach in the first round of the NCAA tournament. Once again, the Lions accomplished the unexpected against defending national champion Michigan. In the highest-scoring game in NCAA tournament history, the Lions defeated Michigan 149-115 in a game that saw Jeff Fryer set the tournament record with 11 three-pointers. The Lions would move to the Sweet 16 and defeat Alabama in a role reversal for the Lions, winning 62-60, half of the team's regular season average. The Lions would fall to the eventual national champions, UNLV, 131-101. The run in the 1990 tournament will long be remembered, however, with the image of Gathers' teammate and longtime friend Bo Kimble shooting the first free throw left-handed - a switch from his normal right-handed shot. Kimble made every shot he took left-handed.

1991

A year following the Lions' record breaking year, in which the Lions set some of the NCAA's highest marks in scoring, LMU set a record that might never be touched in yet another "track meet" against US International. The Lions scored a NCAA record 186 points in their 46-point win, breaking the record of 181 they set two seasons earlier. USI's Kevin Bradshaw set the scoring record against a Division I opponent with 72 points.

1995

Finished the season in eighth place. However, the Lions managed to stage another great upset, rising up to beat WCC regular-season champ and eventual NCAA tournament participant, Santa Clara, in convincing fashion.

1997

In Head Coach John Olive's final season, the Lions finished conference play last at 3-11 heading into the WCC Tournament. Facing top seed Santa Clara, the Lions pulled off a major upset, defeating the Broncos 70-61 to advance to the semifinals, eventually losing to St. Mary's, 80-62. Jim Williamson, a four-year letterwinner for the Lions, reached the 1,000-point plateau at LMU. He finished his career with 1,247 points. Olive would be replaced by Charles Bradley, who would coach for three seasons.

» Freshman Wes Wardrop was a main reason Gonzaga had 19 turnovers in the Lions' 80-74 win.

Steve Aggers was hired as the Lions' 22nd head coach. The Lions head into the new season with only two players who played in WCC contests from the prior year. Aggers comes to LMU after becoming Eastern Washington University's all-time winningest coach in the Big Sky Conference, leading the Eagles to the 1999-2000 conference title.

2003

The Lions defeated 26th-ranked Gonzaga at Gersten Pavilion, 80-74. The win ended the Zags nine-game win streak on the season, their 22-game win streak against WCC opponents and a 16-game stint against LMU. The Lions finished the game with a 29-24 edge in rebounding, the first time in 13 games Gonzaga had been outrebounded by a conference opponent. Freshman Wes Wardrop had four steals against WCC Player of the Year Blake Stepp, forcing him into eight turnovers on the night.

2005

The Lions inducted the 1990 LMU men's basketball team into the LMU Athletics' Hall of Fame on January 28 and they were honored at halftime of the Lions' game against rival Pepperdine on January 29. The game had double meaning as the Lions knocked off their rival in front of the fifth-largest crowd in LMU history, 4,032. That mark did not last long as the Lions set the new fifth-highest mark two weeks later with 4,337 against No. 14 Gonzaga. In April, the Lions hired the 23rd head coach in program history, Rodney Tention. The eight-year assistant from Arizona was a part of 10 straight postseason appearances as an assistant.

In the first season under Head Coach Rodney Tention, the Lions earned its highest finish since 1996 and 1992 in the West Coast Conference at second place, advanced to the program's first WCC Tournament Championship since 1989, had three players earn first-team All-WCC honors (the first time since 1990), and finished with two players selected to the WCC All-Tournament team (first time since 1995). The Lions finished the WCC season at 8-6, defeated Saint Mary's in the WCC Tournament Semifinals to advance to the WCC title game where they fell to fourth-ranked Gonzaga at the buzzer, the ninth game of the season decided on the final play or overtime, the sixth resulting in a setback. Senior Wes Wardrop and juniors Brandon Worthy and Matthew Knight all earned first-team All-WCC honors.

» Ashley Hamilton was a big reason why the Lions knocked off their first ranked opponent in the history of Gersten Pavilion, and their first top-10 opponent since 1960 - #9 Gonzaga on Feb. 18, 2010.

2008-09

Following a 5-26 season and an eighth place finish in the WCC at 2-12, Rodney Tention stepped down as head coach and in April the Lions hired Bill Bayno as the program's 24th head coach. The former UNLV head coach spent five seasons with the Portland Trail Blazers before returning to college coaching with the Lions. On Jan. 12, Athletics Director Dr. William Husak announced that Bayno, who took a leave of absence on Nov. 24, officially resigned from the position of head coach. Husak also announced that Max Good, who had been serving as acting head coach during Bayno's leave, signed a multiple-year deal to coach the Lions.

What a difference a year, and some stability, makes. On the 20th Anniversary of the 1989-90 men's basketball team and their run to the Elite Eight, the Lions finish 18-16, go 7-7 in the WCC and advance to the postseason (the CIT tournament) for the first time since 1990. The 2009-10 season saw the Lions post their second best turn-around in school history with 15 more wins than a year ago; second-best turnaround in the nation in 2009-10; posted the longest win streak since the 1995-96 season (6 games); defeated their first ranked opponent (#9 Gonzaga) since 1990, and first ranked-win at Gersten Pavilion; defeated a top-10 team for the second time in school history (the last being in 1960); defeated Notre Dame and USC on the road; and had three players earn postseason All-WCC honors, just the 10th time since 1956 three or more Lions have claimed WCC honors (Drew Viney, Vernon Teel and Ashley Hamilton).

2011-12

Celebrating LMU's Centennial, the LMU men's basketball team went on to honor LMU's 100th year with its best season since the Elite Eight season of 1989-90. LMU finished the 2011-12 season at 21-13 overall after going 11-5 (4th) in the WCC. It was the first 20-win season, the most conference wins, first postseason win, first team to earn consecutive postseason wins, most home wins (12), and best road record (9-4) since that Elite Eight season. Drew Viney and Anthony Ireland were named first-team All-WCC, while Head Coach Max Good was named WCC Coach of the Year. In addition, Ireland earned second-team NABC All-District honors. With the two home wins in the CIT, the Lions finished with 12 victories at Gersten Pavilion on the season, the second-most (1986, 1990, 1996) since the building opened in 1981-82. Included in the win total were three ranked wins, including at No. 18 UCLA, No. 23 Saint Louis and at No. 16 Saint Mary's. The win over the Gaels on the road improved them to 7-1 on the road in WCC play as they would finish 9-4 overall away from home. They played in four overtime games in a season for the first time since 1994-95, winning all four. It is the first time in program history the Lions have won four overtime games in a single season.

In a season of near misses, the Lions got hot at the right time. The Lions won three straight games at the 2013 WCC Championships to advance to the semifinals for the second time in four years. BYU excluded, only LMU, Gonzaga and Saint Mary's have gone to the quarterfinals and beyond in each of the last four WCC tournaments. Anthony Ireland finished second in the WCC and 14th nationally with 20.2 ppg in 2012-13. He finished with 688 points, seventh all-time at LMU and just the 15th time someone has scored at least 600 points in a single season in LMU history. Ireland is the first Lion to earn back-to-back first-team All-WCC honors since 2007 and is just the second junior to do it all-time. The 2012-13 season saw men's basketball claim the most WCC All-Academic Selections (Ashley Hamilton, Ayodeji Egbeyemi, Taylor Walker) in program history.

» Anthony Ireland celebrates hitting a three-pointer at the halftime buzzer in the win at No. 18 UCLA. It would start the Lions' 21-win campaign.

2013-14

Anthony Ireland finished his career third all-time in LMU history in points with 2,169. He becomes just the third Lion in LMU history to earn first-team All-WCC honors in his final three season (Gathers/McKenzie). When he finished his career, he finished in the top-10 in 13 statistical categories, including points, third in assists (557) and second in steals (200).

2014-15

On March 12, 2014, Loyola Marymount University Athletics Director Dr. William Husak named Mike Dunlap, a 1980 graduate of LMU, as the 26th head coach of the men's basketball program.

2015-16

Ball handling was the best in program history in Head Coach Mike Dunlap's second season. The Lions led the league in turnover margin at +2.7, ranking first in the WCC in creating 14.1 turnovers a game while turning the ball over just 11.35 times per game, fourth in the WCC. The Lions' turnover average of 11.35 was the lowest ever, and the assist-to-turnover ratio of 1.37 was the best ever. The previous marks happen to be the last time Dunlap was with the program. Three of the other five lowest turnover seasons came between 1980-85 when Dunlap was a coach for the Lions. The previous record for assist-to-turnover ratio was 1.35 in 1986-87. Other records included freshman Munis Tutu posting the best individual assist-to-turnover ratio at 2.69 per game while junior Adom Jacko, who turned pro following the season, set the record with an 11-for-12 shooting performance against BYU. The 91.6 percent shooting in a game equalled the record set by two others.

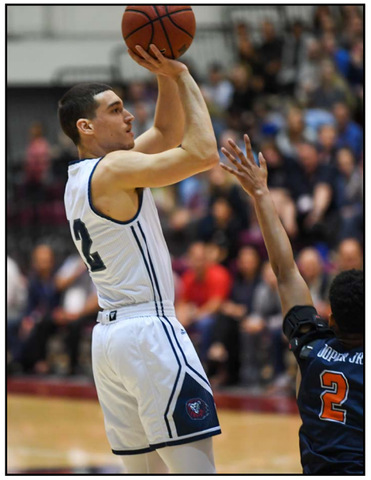

2016-17

On the season, the Cardiac Lions had 13 games decided in the last 10 seconds of the contest. LMU played 18 games decided by eight points or less, going 9-9 in those contests. LMU was 4-3 in one-point games, and 6-5 in one-posession games. Senior production was key. LMU graduated five, all of whom finished in the top six in scoring for the Lions, and the senior class acounted for 62.5 percent of the team's scoring. On January 7th, LMU beat Santa Clara, 66-56, to earn the program's 1000th career win.

Loyola Marymount went 11-20 overall and 5-13 in conference, and ended the season with two-straight conference wins, and a win over Portland in the WCC Championships, before ultimately falling to the eventual tournament Champions, Gonzaga.

Steven Haney, Jr., LMU's lone senior put on a show in his final college game. In the PCH Cup against Pepperdine on Feb. 10, Haney scored a career-high 31 points, became the third play in program history to surpass the 200 made three mark, and hit a season-high six threes in the win. His 201 career three-pointers made are most all-time by any three-year player.

» Steven Haney, Jr. scored a career-high 31 points, became the third play in program history to surpass the 200 made three mark, and hit a season-high six threes in the PCH Cup win on Feb. 10.

James Batemon and Haney became the first Lions hit the 30-point mark since the 2015-16 season. Next to Haney's 31 points, Batemon scored LMU's next 11 high point marks including a pair of 30 point outings.

LMU was the only West Coast Conference team to have two players with at least six double-double games. Both Mattias Markusson and Eli Scott had six games of double-doubles this season, moving them both to a tie for 24th on LMU's career-list. Batemon recorded the lone points/assists double-double, and the first for the Lions since Dec. 2016, with his 13 point and 10 assist game in the PCH Cup win over Pepperdine. Scott, Markusson, and Batemon's 12-combined double-doubles are the most in the program since the 15 in 2010-11.

Scott put together one of the best freshman seasons the program has ever seen. In his rookie campaign, Scott broke the LMU freshman rebounding record with 225 and recorded the third-highest scoring mark of any freshman Lion with his 392 points.

As a team, LMU boasted the fourth-best offense in the West Coast Conference, scoring 71.8 points per game and averaging 14.2 assists over the span of their 31 games played.

Throughout the majority of the season, the Lions led the conference in steals. LMU averaged 7.0 steals per game, with the next closest conference school coming in at 6.4 steals per game. Junior Jeffery McClendon accounted for 2.06 steals per game to not only lead the conference, but rank in the top-25 nationally in that category. James Batemon swiped 1.2 steals per game, good for seventh-most in the league.

The Lions also led the conference in offensive rebounds per game, averaging just over 12 per outing. LMU's 12.1 offensive boards per contest ranked 42nd of 351 NCAA Division I teams. Of the available rebounds while the Lions had possession of the ball, a league-high 34.7 percent were grabbed by LMU to extend possessions.

Three Lions sit atop the WCC's top-13 in offensive rebounds. Eli Scott was a couple tenths in percentage points off the conference lead and his 2.9 per game ranks second, Markusson ranks sixth at 2.2 offensive rebounds per game, and Zafir Williams accounted for 1.6 per game in his freshman season. Scott also landed 11th in the league with 4.5 defensive rebounds per game.

Individually, three of the WCC's top 15 scorers played on Coach Mike Dunlap's squad. Batemon averaged 17.8 points per game to lead all newcomers in the conference and rank fourth overall. Haney ranked 13th with his 12.9 points per game and Scott rounded out the top-15 with his 12.6 ppg.

Scott also finished the season as the conference's freshman leader in rebounding. His 7.3 boards per game rank sixth overall in the WCC. In his sophomore year, Markusson made the jump to 6.3 rpg, good for ninth-best in the WCC.

Markusson broke the program record this season with an astonishing 62.1 percent shooting from the field, the second-best mark in the conference. Batemon shot the 14th-best percentage in the WCC, at 47.6 percent.

Batemon was also the only WCC player to finish in the top-five in both scoring and assists. His 4.7 assists per game were fourth best in the conference this season. His 1.6 assist-to-turnover ratio was the ninth-best in the league. Scott also cracked the top-15 in assists, with his 2.3 dimes per game ranking 14th in the league.

At the charity stripe, James Batemon led the team and finished seventh in the league after shooting an impressive 80.1 percent from the line. Haney's mark of 77.3 percent from the free throw line was 13th-best in the WCC.

The two also shared top percentage honors from long range. Haney was ninth-best in the WCC from three with his 41.3 percent mark and Batemon rounded out the top-15 with his 39.1 percent from distance. No West Coast Conference player made more 3-pointers per game than Steven Haney's 2.8 per contest, which tied him for 74th in Division I this season.

Markusson's ability to protect the rim resulted in a top-five blocks mark in the conference at 1.1 blocks per game.

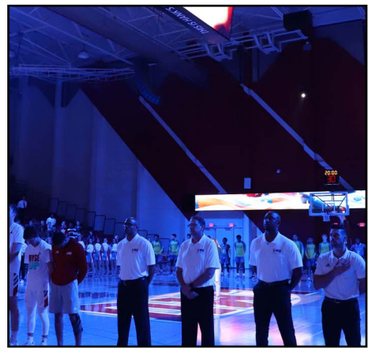

No matter the deficit, Loyola Marymount has proved that they are never out of the game. LMU has outscored opponents in the second half 14 times this season, including seven times in conference play and in the second half of the opening round of the WCC Tournament against Portland, coming back from 15 down. All three games of LMU's end-of-the-season win streak came when trailing at the half.

2018-19

It was the 9th of August, eight months before Monday's NCAA National Championship game, that the Loyola Marymount University men's basketball team boarded a plane to Melbourne, Australia. The trip brought the players and staff together to start practicing, playing, learning, and communicating at an earlier point of the year than in previous seasons.

The Lions went 3-1 in Australia, beating the Aspiring Stars All-Star team, Dandenong Rangers, and Cairns Taipans, with the only loss coming to the NBL Reigning Champions Melbourne United. The trip was capped off with a memorable day at the Great Barrier Reef. LMU came from behind to beat both the All-Stars and Rangers in Australia, setting up a trend for the start of the season.

The first marquee win of the regular season came on the road at Las Vegas. In UNLV's season-opener, the Lions erased a nine-point second half deficit, and limited the Rebels to 50 points, to build early momentum heading into the Jamaica Classic. The defense would be active all season, and finish the year at the top of the conference and 13thin NCAA Division I with LMU limiting opponents to 62.5 points per game.

» After winning the 2018 Jamaica Classic, LMU started the season 8-0 and 11-1, both program records, en route to a 22 win season, the third-most in program history.

The Lions garnered national attention following their 5-0 start and a sweep at the 2018 Jamaica Classic. In the first game of the tournament, James Batemon tied the program record by going 13-for-13 at the free throw line, as part of his game-high 27 points, to erase another halftime deficit and defeat Georgetown for the first time in program history.

Two nights later, the Lions earned the tournament's Montego Bay Division Title with a nine-point win over South Florida. Batemon's play earned the senior MVP honors, as well as both WCC Player of the Week and Madness National Men's Basketball Player of the Week recognitions.

As a team, the Lions were receiving votes in the AP Poll (Nov. 19, 2018) and ranked 10thin the NCAA's initial net rankings (Nov. 26, 2018).

LMU returned to Hank's House to win three-straight home games and set a new program-record with an overall 8-0 start to a season. The Lions finished both the calendar year and non-conference play at 12-2, surpassing the 2017-18 total win mark of 11. This included a commanding performance at Portland State highlighted by Dameane Douglas' full-court buzzer-beater heading into halftime and James Batemon's coast-to-coast game winning layup to tie his career-high with 30 points and give LMU their best-ever one-loss start to a season at 11-1.

LMU entered conference action with double-digit wins for the first time since the 1987-88 WCAC Champion team won 10 of their 13 out-of-league games to open the season. The 12 games won prior to conference action is the most in the team's history since joining a league in 1955-56, 63 seasons ago.

Head Coach Mike Dunlap won his 400th career NCAA game with a 76-64 win over Portland on Jan. 5. The win moved the Lions to 8-0 at home to open the season.

LMU closed out the West Coast Conference season with three consecutive wins to finish 8-8 and jump up to the fifth-seed for the WCC Tournament. The three-game win streak to close out the regular season was sparked by Batemon's milestone mark of eclipsing 1,000 points in his two year career in the win over Pacific. He is the 35thLion to score 1,000 or more points in a career.

The ensuing game, which began with a pregame recognition of LMU's three-member senior class, finished with a remarkable second half that brought the Lions from 20 points down to victory. In that Senior Night win, Batemon, Petr Herman, and McClendon combined for over 50 percent of the team's scoring in what at the time seemed like their final opportunity to play in front of the home fans.

With the calendar flipped to March, LMU knew that they could finish anywhere between fifth and eiht in the WCC race depending on the results on the league's final day of action. The Lions traveled to San Francisco for their lone matchup of the season against the 20+ win Dons, and clinched the fifth-seed with the win, while also hitting the 20-win plateau of their own for just the second time since 1990.

Despite a second-round exit from the WCC Championships, LMU had reached .500 in conference play for the first time under Coach Dunlap and felt a 20-11 record heading into Selection Sunday justified a postseason berth.

The Lions were rewarded for their strong season with an invitation to the College Basketball Invitational (CBI), but would have to start the tournament on the road. LMU played their defensive brand of basketball, moving to 12-0 when limiting opponents to fewer than 60 points. Mattias Markusson converted a three-point play on the final LMU possession to secure the 56-55 and advance the Lions to the second round of the CBI.

» James Batemon led the Lions back to the postseason in a season in which he surpassed the 1,000 point milestone and earned First Team All-WCC Season.

The next opponent in the tournament came out of the Ivy League, as Brown made the cross-country trip to Gersten Pavilion. In that game, the Lions matched their season-high with a dozen steals to take the quarterfinal leg of the Roman CBI, 81-63. Offensively, LMU made 30 field goals, the most against a Division I opponent this year.

Steals were a calling card all season for the LMU defense. James Batemon led the WCC with 54 steals, and both Joe Quintana (48) and Jeffery McClendon (44) finished in the conference's top eight. As a team, the 250 total steals and 7.4 steals per game ranked second in the conference only to Gonzaga.

The CBI semifinals were hosted by University of South Florida, which meant it was LMU's turn for a quick turnaround and cross-country flight. The Lions and Bulls were tied at the half, but a USF run early in the second half proved to be the difference in the outcome, marking the end to LMU's 22-win season. In program history, only the 1987-88 and 1989-90 finished the year with more wins that this season's Lions.

2020-21

"We have a tremendous opportunity to do something special."

When Stan Johnson was hired on Mar. 20, 2020 to be LMU's 27th Head Men's Basketball Coach, he made the above statement on his vision for the program.

Flash forward, and a full year since his hire has passed, and it is clear that the foundation for his vision has been laid.

As word spread about LMU's hire, some of the most respected minds in the game today came out in support of Johnson.

"Stan Johnson is a great hire for LMU," said Doc Rivers. "I know Stan's work well as he did a tremendous job at Marquette. The Lions have a tremendous person and coach. Welcome to LA Stan, I am looking forward to watching you work."

"You hit a home run in all facets," said Doug Collins. "Stan is a man of the greatest integrity. Faith and family are his priorities, and his team is part of the family to him. I've been blessed to watch him work on the court and in the film room. He is passionate and it resonates with his team. He is a wonderful teacher who has been with some wonderful coaches through his years served as an assistant. Stan has been with some wonderful coaches through the years as an assistant, and he is ready and excited to lead this program."

Those, along with NBA superstars Donovan Mitchell and Dwyane Wade, were just a few of the dozens of dozens of quotes of praise and support that came out as the news of Johnson's hire hit the nation.

Unable to be around his team in person or even initially able come onto campus due to the pandemic, Johnson went to work from his home in Milwaukee, and put him plane in place and prepped his family for the move to Los Angeles.

Public facing, Johnson was doing interviews with the LA Times and local television in Los Angeles, and talking hoops with the national voices of the sport including Jeff Goodman, Andy Katz, Doug Gottlieb, Matt Norlander, and more.

Behind closed doors, Johnson was recruiting. He was recruiting both the players that will wear the jersey for him, but also his team of assistant coaches and staff.

Less than a month into the job, and without having a chance to interview his candidates in person, Johnson announced that David Carter, Allen Edwards, Greg Youncofski, and Ricky Muench would help lead the team on his inaugural staff.

"I couldn't be more excited about the staff we've been able to assemble here at LMU," said Johnson. "This group reflects everything that is important to me as it pertains to building a Championship level program. I wanted a staff that was strong in five specific areas and I wasn't going to settle for anything other than that. We have a group that will recruit, develop, coach, and connect at a very high level. I also wanted people who had strong NCAA Tournament and Championship level experience. Each and every one of these guys check specific boxes that are important to this program and will help take our current and future players to a place they can't take themselves. I can't wait to get started with this group."

The collective resumes of Carter, Edwards, and Youncofski speak for itself:

32 Postseason Berths
27 Conference Championship Teams
158 Division I Head Coaching Wins

With the staff in place, the first order of business was to finalize the roster, and there was no bigger target than 7-3 center Mattias Markusson.

The Swedish big man had choices aplenty on where he wanted to spend his final season playing college basketball. As a graduate student following his year hiatus from the game, Markusson was being courted by several of the country's best programs in need of immediate service from the center that has improved in each of his first three seasons with the Lions.

"On day one of accepting this job, my number one recruit was Mattias," said Johnson. "My approach was to take nothing for granted and to recruit him as if he was never at Loyola Marymount University. In doing so, I have not only grown to respect him as a player, but more importantly I've come to love him as a person."

The result paid dividends for LMU. Markusson tied for ninth in the WCC with 6.00 rebounds per game and ninth in both blocked shots and free throw percentage. Over his four-year career, Markusson has grabbed 568 total rebounds, which ranks 19th all-time. His 93 blocks are sixth all-time in an LMU career, and Markusson finished best all-time with a .599 career field goal percentage.

Along with Markusson, Johnson's April 15 signing day brought in a pair of experienced graduate transfers and a freshman with high hopes to contribute in the future. Kodye Pugh of Stanford and Quentin Jackson, Jr. from Temple committed to join the team as transfers, and guard Mayoum Mayoum signed his National Letter of Intent to join the Lions.

In late June, Johnson announced that two former Lions would be returning to the team in graduate assistant roles. Shamar Johnson and Erik Johansson were the final piece of the puzzle on the staff side, but the Lions would add one more piece prior to the season, a true freshman point guard in Jalin Anderson. The July 24thsigning would be a crucial one as Anderson would make an immediate impact on the court for the Lions on his way to a WCC All-Freshman Team season.

With the team constructed, the players and staff met regular on video and phone calls until the final week of August, when the Lions were cleared to hit the court.

Due to county guidelines, the team was unable to be inside for workouts. That meant adapting and utilizing the outdoor space for weight training and creating a makeshift practice court on LMU's tennis courts. Battling the sun, outdoor conditions, and distancing requirements did not stop the Lions from getting better and preparing for the season.

Johnson's team took a page from LMU's tournament teams of the past and even used the local beaches as outdoor workout space. Conditioning and strengthening on the sand, just like Hank and Bo would do.

Then, with two months out from the start of the competition, the Lions were cleared to enter Gersten Pavilion and get indoor practices in to kick it into the next gear for the start of the season. LMU took to the indoor court for the first time as a group and built on their outdoor summer sessions.

The week that LMU was permitted indoors to train, there was one other off-court accomplishment that the team hit. All eligible players completed the steps to be registered to vote in the upcoming November presidential election.

While most of the focus was on 2020-21, Johnson signed three future Lions in November for the 2021-22 season. Los Angeles County based high school seniors, David Elliott IV, Lamaj Lewis, and James Nobles Jr., made up CBS Sports 247Sports' nationally ranked recruiting class.

As the calendar changed to November, the team experienced a special treat to kick off game-month. NBA Hall of Famer Jerry West spoke to the team ahead of the new season and gave insight from a life in and around the game of basketball.

After months and months of preparing and waiting for the day to arrive, November 25 was finally here. The Lions opened the Stan Johnson era with a home game against his alma mater, Southern Utah. In what would be the first of many come-from-behind wins on the year, Jalin Anderson beat the buzzer to break a tie score and clinch the first-career win for Johnson to open the season. Anderson's baseline jumper would be seen by the nation on SportsCenter that night. Anderson finished the season second all-time among freshman with his 3.5 assists per game. Throughout the season, Anderson ranked 10th in assists and assist-to-turnover ratio in the WCC.

LMU wasted no time to play two of the five nationally-televised games of the season as the team took off for Minneapolis on Thanksgiving morning. With an opportunity to play Minnesota twice, the Lions showed the type of growth the team would be making all season long, playing to the wire in the second game of the trip. The nation also tuned in to Keli Leaupepe's mullet, making the Australian a viral star. Leaupepe's play backed up his hair, as the league named the sophomore All-WCC Honorable Mention. Leaupepe finished fourth in the WCC in offensive rebounds at 1.95 per game and isxth in free throw percentage at 80.6 percent.

Upon returning home from the Land of 10,000 Lakes, LMU won its first game by 20 or more points of the season. The Lions would win three such games on the year, the most since 1991-99.

LMU went undefeated at home in the non-conference, including knocking off eventual NCAA Tournament team UC Santa Barbara on Dec. 12 to start a three-game win streak.

The Lions were rolling, until they were forced to stop. The team experienced a required pause on the season due to the COVID-19 virus. While others may have used this as downtime, the Lions put in the plan that would allow them to stay sharp and active, both mentally and physically. The team closed out the semester from their rooms, and earned a program-record GPA with Dameane Douglas and Anthony Yu making the Dean's List.

Through a variety of in-room exercises and workouts combined with an opportunity to study film and take a look at the mental side of the game, the team would come out of the pause ready to perform.

And that is exactly what they did. With less than two full days of practice, the Lions jumped out in the first conference game of the season to topple San Francisco. LMU benefitted from one of the seven double-doubles on the year for First Team All-WCC and Second Team All-District Performer Eli Scott. The senior's 21 career double-doubles are sixth all-time in program history.

Two games later, the Lions extended the home win streak to seven game and picked up a win in the only overtime game of the season to defeat San Diego, but played a full week's schedule with five games over a ten-day span.

During that stretch, LMU learned that Dameane Douglas would be out for the remainder of the season. Douglas averaged 13.5 points and 6.2 rebounds in 12 games before his injury sidelined him for the remainder and was still recognized by the league's head coaches on the All-WCC Honorable Mention Team.

Needing a win, LMU traveled to Portland in search of the first victory away from The Bluff. LMU put together a complete game to defeat the Pilots by 25 points, the largest conference win since 1990-91.

Again, with momentum on the team's side coming off the first road win of the season and looking for three-straight away games coming, the Lions went on a mid-season team pause.

So, again, the team went to work while others would have just shut it down for two weeks. The team got better mentally and physically and prepared for a return to the court.

And, again, the Lions came out of it hungry. LMU came back from the quarantine period and closed out Pacific on a 31-13 run to top the Tigers.

Then, the three nights later, Eli Scott took over. At Santa Clara, Scott scored 37 points, with 22 coming in the second half, to defeat the Broncos and erase a late deficit. This game was one of the reasons why Scott averaged the most points in conference games in the WCC at over 20 points per game. Scott also finished this season second in overall rebounding in the conference at over 8.0 boards per game and ninth in assists at 3.6 per game.

The road trip continued with a challenge, playing at San Francisco with only six players. With a limited roster due to injury, the Lions grinded out a victory, outscoring the Dons by 13 in the second half and closing the game on a 7-0 run, to win four straight WCC games for the first time since 2011-12. Parker Dortch went 4-for-4 from the field in the game and closed out the game with a key charge as LMU was down to just five players.

Winners of four in a row, LMU headed back to Los Angeles for what would turn into the final home game of the season. The conference had updated the final week of the schedule changing LMU's final scheduled game to a road contest. This meant that LMU's three seniors would have one final game inside Gersten Pavilion.

Prior to the nationally-televised game against BYU, Eli Scott, Mattias Markusson, and Parker Dortch were recognized and honored with video tributes of their highlights and special messages from their families. Despite the loss, Scott was named WCC Player of the Week following the weekend. Scott surpassed 700 career rebounds that week, and finished his season ranked seventh all-time in program history with 716. Earlier in the season he became the only Lion with at least 1,000 points, 600 rebounds, and 300 assists.

With third place in the league on the line, and a chance to snap an eight-year skid in Malibu, the Lions opened the final week of the season with an opportunity in the PCH Cup. The Lions traveled up the coast on that Thursday afternoon and became the first LMU team to defeat Pepperdine on the road since 2012, and in doing so clinched a winning record in conference for the first time since that same 2011-12 season. With the win, clinched a top-three record in the WCC for the first time since 2005-06.

After closing the regular season at the nation's top-ranked team Gonzaga, LMU prepared for the WCC Championships in Las Vegas. With a first-round bye earned, LMU would play the winner of the San Diego vs. San Francisco game on the second night of the tournament. Tied at the half, LMU pulled out the win in the second half, yet again, as four different players scored in double-digits for the Lions.

The Lions advanced to the quarterfinals against Saint Mary's on the Saturday night of the tournament. Despite a battle to tie the score late in the second half, LMU did not have one last comeback in the cards.

Stan Johnson because the first coach to lead the Lions to a tournament win in his first season since 2006, and his season has recognized with recognition as a finalist for the Ben Jobe Award and Joe. B. Hall Award.

In his closing press conference, Johnson commented on his team. He said, "I've never been prouder of a group. Our guys were incredible this season."

2022-23

The history book continued to be written throughout the 2022-23 campaign as LMU accomplished things that the programs had not seen in decades.

The Lions returned to the top-4 in the WCC standings for the second time in three years under Head Coach Stan Johnson. The return to the top four in the WCC meant a double-bye in the conference tournament for the first time in 11 seasons, and meant that Johnson became the first LMU Coach with a third place and fourth place

WCC finish or better since Jay Hillock in 1991 and 1992. The Lions went 9-7 in conference play which is only the second time since 1991 that LMU has finished with nine or more wins in WCC play.

The wins came in all ways as LMU finished their third 19-win Season since 1990. It started by defending home court. The Lions earned their best home record since 1987-88 at 13-3.

LMU won its first trophy under Coach Johnson after sweeping the competition at the 2022 Jamaica Classic. The Lions opened the tournament with a second-half comeback over Georgetown and followed that up with another thrilling late comeback over Wake Forest. LMU became the first team to win the Jamaica Classic twice and are now 4-0 all-time in Montego Bay. The Lions are 2-0 in matchups against the Hoyas, with both wins coming in this tournament. The win over the Demon Deacons was the first over an ACC school since 1966 when LMU defeated NC State. It also marked the first consecutive win over power conference opponents since the 1990 Elite Eight run with the wins over Michigan and Arkansas.

The Lions earned marquee non-conference wins along the way before switching into WCC action. This season was the third time with 10 wins in non-conference since 1988 and the third time since 1996 with seven or more wins through 10 games of the season.

The resume continued to build as LMU earned their first win over Nevada since 1995 and earning their first road win of the season against a Grand Canyon team that had won 17 of their last 18 home games prior to hosting the Lions.

LMU opened conference play with 15 made three pointers and a 20-point road win at Portland.

The Lions matched their best record in the month of January since the turn of the calendar in 1990 with a 5-2 mark. LMU's first win of 2023 came against BYU at Gersten Pavilion. The defense held the Cougars to 59 points. The following week, the LMU offense scored 98 points to defeat San Diego, the most in a conference game since 2016.

Then came the memorable trip up to Spokane. The Lions earned their highest ranked win in program history by defeating #6 Gonzaga on the road. It was LMU's first win over a top-10 opponent since beating then 9th-ranked Gonzaga in 2010. The win was heard around the country as the Zags snapped their home winning streak at 75 games.

LMU flipped a 10-point deficit into a 19-point win with 63.0% second half shooting and holding the Pilots to 32.1 percent shooting in the second half.

On February 9th, #15 Saint Mary's were defeated in Los Angeles making 2022-23 the first season with multiple wins over ranked teams since 2011-12 and the first season with multiple wins over top-15 teams. LMU became the first team (and likely only) team in WCC history to beat Gonzaga, Saint Mary's, and BYU in the same season. Topping the Gaels was the highest-ranked home win since 2010 and the first home win against a ranked team since 2011 (beat #23 Saint Louis)

On Senior Day, Cam Shelton becomes the first LMU player since 1992 to score 40 points in a game as the Lions needed every bit of it to defeat Pacific by two in the final home game of the year.

The Lions closed out the regular season wtih a sweep of Pepperdine by winning in Malibu. LMU had not beaten Pepperdine twice in the same season since 2012 until this year and secured LMU's first four-seed or better into the WCC Tournament since 2012.

Over the course of the season, the Lions hit 2nd-most threes made in program history (289), the 2nd-most threes attempted in program history (792), the 6th-best three-point field goal percentage in program history (.365), and the 6th-best three-point defense in program history (.336).

2023-24

Injuries were the story line for the Lions in Coach Stan Johnson's fourth season at LMU. The Lions brought in seven new players into the program, but were hardly ever able to get everybody healthy at the same time. There were stretches during conference play where LMU only had six players dressed and active.

Despite the injuries and continuity challenges, LMU won 12 games on the year, including a buzzer-beater in the final game of the Cayman Islands Classic to beat FIU, a 20-point win over UTEP, and a gritty win in Las Vegas over UNLV.

In conference play, the Lions swept Pacific, and added wins against Pepperdine, Portland, and San Diego.

2024-25

Playing in Mexico, LMU defeated Belmont and Wyoming to win the 2024 Cancun Challenge, the team's second Multi-Team Event championship in three years under Head Coach Stan Johnson. In the opening win over Belmont, LMU put together a complete game to crush the 8-time NCAA Tournament participants. The Lions grabbed a season-high 44 rebounds and held the Bruins to a tough shooting night from both the field (36.5 percent) and from three (31.0 percent). The 2024 Cancun Challenge Riviera Division championship was not decided until the final minutes of play against Wyoming. The Lions led by 13 at halftime, trailed by 10 in the second half, and closed the game on a 19-6 run over the final 5:31 to win the MTE, 73-70. The Lions benefitted from an 18-3 advantage on fast break points and finished shooting 49.1 percent from the field. LMU also tied a season-best mark shooting 81.8 percent (9-for- 11) from the free throw line. With their performances, Jevon Porter was named Riviera Division MVP and Will Johnston was named to the All-Tournament Team.gritty win in Las Vegas over UNLV.

In conference play, the Lions swept Pacific, and added wins against Pepperdine, Portland, and San Diego.

THE ELITE EIGHT RUN OF 1989-90

The numbers the 1989-90 LMU Lions put up were staggering. Here are just a few of the mind-numbing figures the Lions put up that season.

122.4 Number of points averaged per game in 1989-90, still an NCAA Division-I record.

28 The number of games the Lions had over 100 points, also an NCAA record.

12 Consecutive games scored over 100 points, tied with UNLV for the NCAA record.

1,131 Points Bo Kimble scored to lead the nation, ranked 5th all-time in NCAA history.

28 The number of times LMU is listed in the NCAA record book for team single-game scoring out of 64 total listings.

157 The number of points the Lions scored to set the WCC record in 157-115 win over USF (2/5/90).

149 The number of points the Lions scored to set the NCAA tournament record in 149-115 win over Michigan (3/18/90).

11 The number of NCAA tournament records the Lions set in just the one game against Michigan (3/18/90)

Before Sunday's West Regional final, all of Nevada Las Vegas' starters approached Loyola Coach Paul Westhead, wished him luck and acknowledged his team's special journey through the NCAA tournament. After the game, players from both sides embraced at halfcourt. But for the 40 minutes in between of playing time, UNLV handed the Lions their most lopsided defeat of the season, ending their emotional quest with a 131-101 victory to advance to the Final Four in Denver... While UNLV continues on to Denver, the Lions returned to Los Angeles with their second-best record ever at 26-6. They can look back on their own final four--their three tournament victories preceding Sunday's loss after Gathers' death, a period during which they received national attention... "Today was the way the last three should have been, proof the last three were unexplainable," Westhead said. "They were examples of the human spirit rising above occasions. But we're not angels, and we can't always rise above. I'm not devastated. When we entered this tournament I made the decision this wasn't for winning or losing, but to play hard for Hank. We were playing basketball on another level. It wasn't on the level of wins and losses. To play hard and care and do quality things, that's enough."... "I think we'll be remembered as a team that had heart and showed its love for Hank Gathers and basketball," Kimble said. Sunday, in a 30-point loss, that seemed enough.
-- Los Angeles Times, Alan Drooz, Mar. 26, 1990

We also follow it to pour our hearts out to Loyola Marymount, which showed us that the emotion of losing a cherished comrade is high-octane stuff, capable of revving up an offense that seemed already to be moving as fast as it possibly could.
-- Sports Illustrated, Alexander Wolff, Mar. 26, 1990

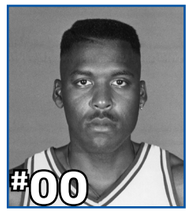

More than 14,000 people rose to their feet to salute Bo Kimble and the Loyola Marymount University basketball team. Only this time, the crowd was honoring a team that lost by 30 points in the NCAA Tournament West Regional Finals. The Lions, who became America's Team because of their inspired play following the death of teammate Hank Gathers on March 4, could not overcome powerful Nevada-Las Vegas, which scored a 131-101 victory.
-- South Bay Daily Breeze, Chris Long, Mar. 26, 1990

They just could not find that special magic they had against Michigan when they made 55 percent of their shots. This time they shot only 37 percent. This time they did not scramble and get to the critical loose balls. This time they did not bounce into the lane for long rebounds. This time they did not catch players who broke their press.

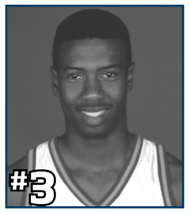

He [Bo Kimble] was asked how he would like this Loyola Marymount University team to be remembered. "As a team that had heart, character, and a lot of pride" he said. "As a team that showed their love for Hank Gathers and basketball by participating in the NCAA Tournament."
-- South Bay Daily Breeze, Mike Waldner, Mar. 26, 1990

What might have been the most intriguing 21 days in postseason college basketball history came to an abrupt end 16 years ago in Oakland… It involved the death of a star player during a game days before the NCAA Tournament began, a style that set the NCAA record for scoring and mesmerized everyone who witnessed it, a series of emotional NCAA Tournament upsets, a right-handed player who led the nation in scoring and shot some of his postseason free throws left-handed in honor of his deceased friend, a coach who quoted Shakespeare to his players, and, ultimately, a loss to a team that would win the national championship. It was 1990. It was Loyola Marymount. It was almost beyond belief."
-- San Francisco Chronicle, Jake Curtis, March 22, 2006

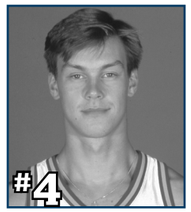

To this day, it remains beyond belief for former Los Angeles Times writer Alan Drooz and so many others. "I will never forget how much an impact this team - which saw so many personalities come together and bond as one - had on so many people all over the country," said Drooz, who covered the Lions daily for the paper. "I wrote an opinion piece about five years ago on Hank, and for weeks I got comments from people all over the nation. It truly is remarkable how people really connected with this team. I will never, ever forget one individual from that team. It was special."

Gathers often called himself the "strongest man", and his strength lived in his teammates after his passing. It continues to live 30 years later as each night the Lions play in Hank's House. So in the words of the late Fr. Higgins, "This is Hank's House." May it bind us Lions together, forever.

44 HANK GATHERS

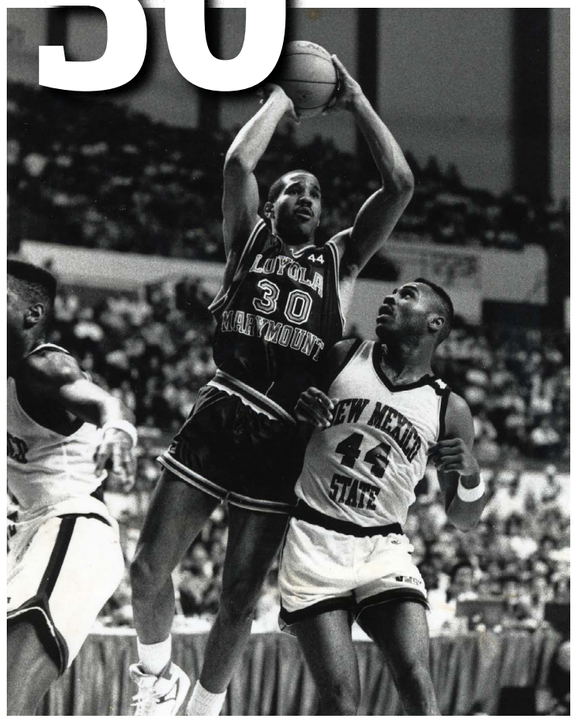

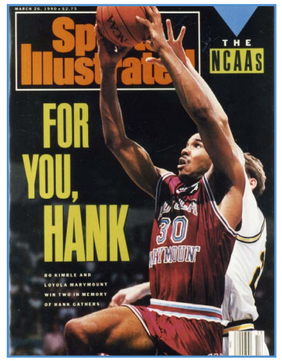

One of the most prolific players in NCAA history, Hank Gathers' jersey, No. 44, was retired on Feb. 19, 2000. Forever will Gathers' athletic prowess be remembered by basketball fans who watched as he helped execute one of the highest scoring offensive systems in NCAA history. With talents that kept the nation glued to the newspapers and televisions in both 1988-89 and 1989-90, Gathers led the nation his junior year in both scoring (32.7 ppg) and rebounding (13.7 rpg). With those credentials, Gathers became only the second player in history to lead the NCAA in both categories in the same season. The leading scorer in school history with 2,480 points, Gathers remains the career leader in scoring average at LMU with 28.0 per game. His career rebounding average of 11.1 per game ranks fourth on the all-time list at LMU. Ranking in the top-10 in six other categories, he also ranks among the school's top-10 in the single-season record books in 11 separate categories. Guiding the Lions to two West Coast Conference Championships and two NCAA tournament appearances, Gathers gained many accolades before his career came to an abrupt end. Gathers died on March 4, 1990 after he collapsed on the court during the first half of LMU's semifinal game against Portland in the WCC Tournament in Gersten Pavilion. Today that same Pavilion is known as Hank's House.

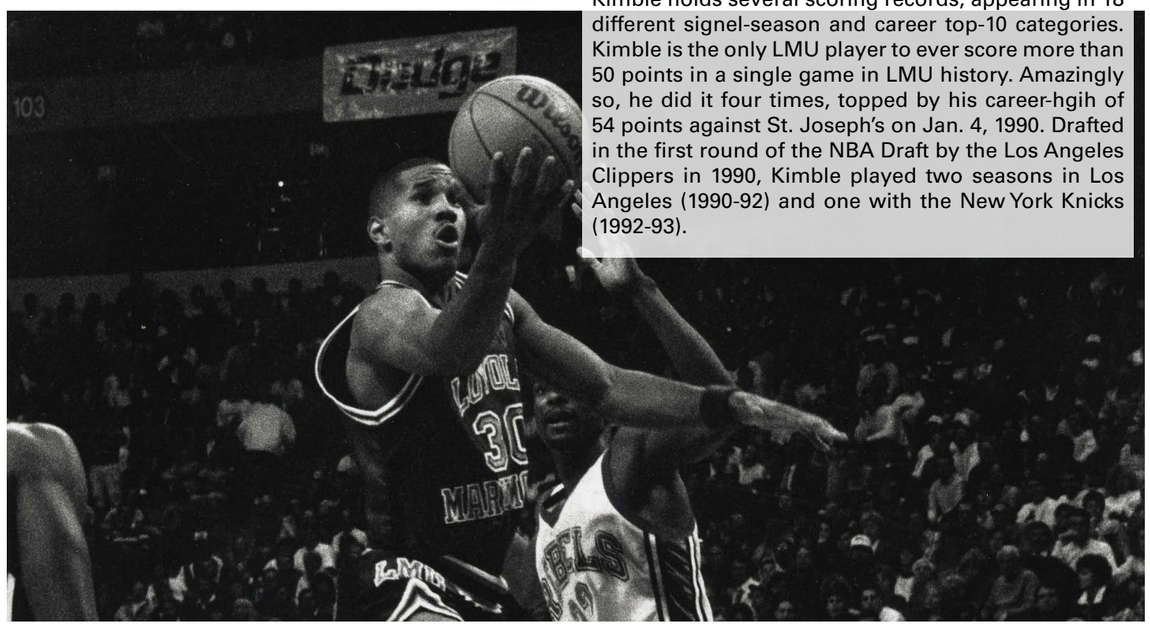

30 BO KIMBLE

A Scoring Machine... these words probably best describe one of the greatest players to ever wear a uniform at Loyola Marymount University. Because of his achievements on the court, Bo Kimble had his jersey, No. 30, officially retired in the 1999-2000 season on Feb. 19. A key in the successfull execution of Paul Westhead's high scoring offenses, Kimble will always be remembered as one of the soliders who led the Lions to the Elite Eight of the NCAA tournament in 1990. Following the death of his close friend and teammate, Hank Gathers, his left-handed free throws in the NCAA tournament warmed the hearts and minds of college basketball fans all over the nation. His tremendous talent enabled him to lead the nation in scoring as a senior, averaging 35.3 points per game. Ranking first all-time in a single season and sixth in NCAA history with 1,131 points in 1990, Kimble completed his career with a combined total of 2,010 points, a mark that ranks fifth in the LMU record books. His career scoring average of 26.4 points per game ranks second all-time at LMU. Kimble holds several scoring records, appearing in 18 different signel-season and career top-10 categories. Kimble is the only LMU player to ever score more than 50 points in a single game in LMU history. Amazingly so, he did it four times, topped by his career-hgih of 54 points against St. Joseph's on Jan. 4, 1990. Drafted in the first round of the NBA Draft by the Los Angeles Clippers in 1990, Kimble played two seasons in Los Angeles (1990-92) and one with the New York Knicks (1992-93).

1,000-POINT SCORERS

1. Hank Gathers • 1987-90 • 2,490 points

Hank Gathers was only the second player in NCAA history to lead the country in scoring and rebounding in the same season. He finished his junior season with an unheard of 32.7 points per game and 13.7 rebounds per game. Wichita State's Xavier McDaniel was the first to do the feat in the 1984-85 season. Since the 1989-90 season, only Kurt Thomas of Texas Chrisitian has matched the feat, leading the nation in both categories in 1995. When transferring from USC in 1987, Gathers put up numbers in three years that many dominant four-year starters do not achieve. Gathers was a finalist for the John Wooden Player of the Year Award in his senior season. In addition, he was a second-team All-America selection by the USBWA and NABC, a third-team All-America selection by the AP and an honorable mention by the UPI and Sporting News. He was voted as the West Coast Conference Player of the Decade for the 1980s. Gathers holds nine scoring records at LMU, including career points (2,490), career scoring average (28.0), field goals made in a game (24), season (419) and career (1,037), field goals attempted in a game (37), career field goal percentage (.590), free throws attempted in a season (315) and a career (745), and rebounds in a game (29). The No. 44 jersey worn by Gathers was retired in 2000.

5. Bo Kimble • 1987-90 • 2,010 points

In his breakout senior season, Bo Kimble averaged 35.3 points per game for the high-octane Lions in 1989-90, leading the nation in that category. The senior carried the Lions in the 1990 NCAA tournament, averaging 35.8 points per game in the four contests the Lions played in the tournament. In the first round against New Mexico State, Kimble went for 45 points and grabbed 18 rebounds. Both marks set school postseason records. In the second round, Kimble scored 37 against defending champion Michigan, helping the Lions to set an NCAA tournament record with a 149-115 win. In the final two games, he scored 19 in a 62-60 win over Alabama and 42 in a 131-101 loss to UNLV. Kimble was one of the most decorated players in LMU history his final season. He was named as a second-team All-American, All-NCAA West Regional Team, NCAA Scoring Champion, WCC Player of the Year, WCC Player of the month in three consecutive months (Dec., Jan, and Feb.), six time WCC Player of the Week, ESPN Player of the Week on Jan. 9 and was named Sports Illustrated Player of the Week on Jan. 9. The No. 30 worn by Kimble was retired in 2000.

26. Vernon Teel • 2008-11 • 1,140 points

Vernon Teel became the 30th player in school history to reach the 1,000-point milestone. He finished his career in the top-30 in 10 career categories. He finished 21st in career points average (14.3), sixth in free throws made (377), fifth in free throws attempted (554), eighth in assists (353), ninth in assist average (4.4), t-23rd in blocks (38), 24th in block average (0.5), t-12th in steals (136) and tied for 13th in double-doubles (11). He was a two-time All-WCC selection, winning first-team honors as a junior in 2010 and then honorable mention honors in 2011. As a sophomore he played in just 16 games due to a knee injury suffered. He still managed to score 234 points in those games.

28. Elton Mashack • 1997-2001 • 1,115 points

Elton Mashack became the first player in a decade to score both 1,000 points and grab 500 rebounds in his LMU career. Mashack would finish a stellar four-year career earning two all-conference honors (sophomore and senior seasons). Mashack became the 26th player in LMU history to score 1,000 points in his career with a 19-point performance against Santa Clara on Jan. 13, 2001. His two free throws with 28 seconds left earned him his 1,000-point. His final season also saw him climb up the double-double list, earning three double-doubles his senior year to move his career total to 14, tied with Terrell Lowery for 8th place on the all-time charts.

29. Steve Smith • 1971-73 • 1,109 points

In only two seasons, Steve Smith was one of the Lions' most prolific scorers in school history. He scored 1,109 points in only 51 games to finish with a 21.7 points per game average. He is only one of eight players to have back-to-back seasons scoring more than 500 points. In an era where the scoring was lower across the nation, Smith scored more than 35 percent of the Lions' points in his two seasons. To put it in to perspective, the Lions' all-time leading scorer, Hank Gathers, in 1988-89 averaged 32.7 points per game, less than 27 percent of the Lions' 122 points per game average.

30. Bob Burns • 1963-66 • 1,095 points

In averaging double figures during his three years at Loyola University, Bob Burns needed his highest scoring total in his senior season to reach the 1,000-point mark. Despite being second on the team behind Rick Adelman in scoring, Burns put up record numbers to reach 1,095 in his career. His senior season efforts earned him honorable mention all-conference honors.

31. James Batemon • 2017-19 • 1,091 points

James Batemon made an immediate impact on the program in his two seasons after transferring to LMU from an All-American career at North Dakota College of Science. As a junior, Batemon ranked fourth in the WCC in scoring, and led all newcomers to the conference, with a 17.8 ppg average in his All-WCC Second Team season and WCC All-Tournament Team. In his senior campaign, Batemon tied the program record by starting and playing all 34 games, finishing with the third-most minutes played in a season in school history at 1201. His senior year was filled with accolades after leading the West Coast Conference with 54 steals as he was named to the All-WCC First Team, Lou Henson Award Watch List, and Jamaica Classic Montego Bay Division MVP. Finished his career tied for 13th at 17.0 career ppg, 15th in career free throws made (323), 16th in career assists (261), and third in career minutes averaged (25.2).

32. Wyking Jones • 1991-95 • 1,076 points

Wyking Jones had one of the greatest junior seasons in Lions' history, scoring 19.7 points per game, averaging 8 rebounds per game and gathering 27 blocks and 19 steals. His junior season earned him first-team all-conference honors, along with LMU Student-Athlete of the Year honors. He was the conference's second leading scorer in 1993-94. His senior season could not match his record junior season, despite 368 points on the year and honorable mention all-conference honors. Jones returned to the WCC in the summer of 2001, joining rival Pepperdine as an assistant coach.

33. Charles Brown • 2001-2005 • 1,075 points

Charles Brown became the 27th player in LMU history to reach the 1,000 club with a pair of free throws at the end of a 63-46 win over Pepperdine in front of the sixth largest crowd in LMU history. As one of the most balanced players in LMU history, Brown has his name throughout the record book. He ranks fourth in free throw percentage at 83.7 percent, hitting 90.1 percent his senior season to rank second all-time for a single campaign. He also ranks sixth with 403 assists, third with 181 steals and seventh with 119 three-pointers. He became just the fifth player in LMU history to earn 1,000 career points and 400 career assists.

34. Brad Dean • 1972-75 • 1,069 points

In his first season of play with the Lions' varsity program as a sophomore, Brad Dean broke into the Lions' starting lineup and finished with 11.4 points per game. His 20 points against West Texas State in the 1972-73 season led the team and was a sign of things to come for the 6-5 forward. His junior campaign earned him a spot as an honorable mention on the All-WCAC team. Dean and Luther Philyaw led the Lions with 12.6 points per game. Dean saved his best for last, scoring 16.7 points per game, reaching the 1,000-point mark with five games to play in the 1974-75 season. He claimed second team all-conference honors in his senior year.

35. David Benaderet • 1954-57 • 1,067 points

Dave Benaderet became one of Bill Donovan's all-time leading players, averaging 14.4 points a game. His junior season was his finest, earning second-team all-conference honors in the first year of the West Coast Athletic Conference. He played during an era when freshman couldn't play at the varsity level. If he scored his average, he would have finished in the top 15 all-time in scoring. He is one of 11 players on the 1,000-point and 500-rebound list.

37. John Arndt • 1947-50 • 1,028 points

John Arndt and fellow 1,000-point scorer Bill Donovan formed one of the all-time greatest tandems in LMU history. Arndt followed Donovan and became his assistant for eight years. Arndt took over for Donovan and won 91 games in seven seasons. Arndt's 15.7 points per game was his career best in 1949-50. Arndt was the second player in Loyola history to reach 1,000 points in a career.

38. Jerry Grote • 1959-62 • 1,011 points

Jerry Grote had a tough act to follow his senior season, after earning WCAC MVP honors in 1960-61. As a senior, Grote played in 22 games and was able to reach the 1,000-point mark in his final game. He actually averaged more points his senior season, earning second-team All-WCAC honors. Grote helped the Lions to their first conference championship in his freshman season, scoring 14.2 points per game.

500-REBOUND CLUB

1. Jim Haderlein • 1968-71 • 1,161 rebounds

Jim Haderlein was ahead of his time in shattering LMU's career rebounding mark that was set in 1962 by Ed Bento. In celebrating the 30th anniversary of the record setting season (his final season was in 1971), Haderlein is the only player to average double-figure rebounds in each of his seasons at Loyola. Haderlein set the record in his first game of his senior season, and used the rest of that 15 rebounds-a-game season to pad his record. Hank Gathers, who sits at second all-time, led the entire nation in rebounds as a junior in 1988-89 with 13.7 per game. Haderlein's best season was also as a junior, averaging 17 per game (a school record). He is the only Lion to break the 1,000 mark in rebounds in his career. Haderlein, who is also on the 1,000-point list at LMU, was the Lions' first true threat on all ends of the court. He was truly ahead of his day, not being matched until the Paul Westhead days so famous in LMU history.

4. Mark Armstrong • 1984-88 • 825 rebounds

Prior to the arrival of Hank Gathers, Mark Armstrong was the Lions' go-to guy under the basket. He led the Lions with nine rebounds per game his junior season and was second behind Gathers his final season with 8.1 per game. Armstrong sat second all-time on the rebound list for three seasons before Gathers moved into second in the 1989-90 season. His senior season resulted in his best rebounding effort, going for 258 rebounds for an 8.1 per game average. He led the team in rebounds in 11 games, including a career-high 19 against San Francisco.

17. Elton Mashack • 1997-2001 • 626 rebounds

Elton Mashack became the first player in a decade to score both 1,000 points and grab 500 rebounds in his LMU career. Despite suffering through several coaching changes and probably some of the tougher circumstances than any of the other 10 members of the 1,000-500 club, Mashack would finish a stellar four-year career earning two All-Conference honors (sophomore and senior seasons). Mashack became the 22nd person in LMU history to earn 500 rebounds in his career with the Lions. His best season came as a junior, grabbing more than seven rebounds per game.

20. Robert Cox • 1953-55 • 609 rebounds

Robert Cox was another two-year star for the Lions. He averaged over 10 rebounds in each of his two seasons, having his best season with 11.4 per game in 1953-54. As Hotopp was the last to repeat as rebound champ, Cox was the first. He also led the team in scoring in both of his seasons, becoming the first player to lead the team in both categories in consecutive seasons. He was one of the first to dominate the record books, setting seven records in his first season and another two his final year.

21. Dick Schiendler • 1962-65 • 565 rebounds

Dick Schiendler was the first of a very elite list in leading the team in rebounds in three consecutive seasons. He was later joined by Jim Haderlein, Greg Hunter and Hank Gathers. Schiendler was dominant in his first year as a sophomore, grabbing 7.2 boards and putting in 13.8 points per game. He dropped nearly an entire rebound his junior season, but still led the team. His senior year, like so many other Lions, was his best. He led the team in scoring and rebounding for the third straight year. He is one of only two players to pull the triple-double, leading the team in both rebounding and scoring in three straight seasons. Jim Haderlein was the other.

22. Ken Peterson • 1964-67 • 559 rebounds

Ken Peterson was a dominant rebounder in his three seasons at Loyola. However, despite averaging 7.7 boards over three seasons, he never led the team. However, he became one of the best in the history of the program because of his consistency. He earned honorable mention honors in the conference his final season, ranking third in both rebounds (6.3) and points (12.3).

24. Dick Sebek • 1965-68 • 539 rebounds

Playing with future NBA coach Rick Adelman, Dick Sebek managed to put up impressive numbers in his three-year career at Loyola. He finished his senior season as a second-team all-conference selection. That season he finished with 209 rebounds for an 8.4 average, which was third on the squad. He was also third that season in scoring, averaging 14.3 per game. At 6-5, Sebek anchored a squad that was one of the best in the league in rebounding. His best year under the basket came in 1966-67 as he averaged nine boards a game. He finished leading the team in the category and finished second to Adelman in scoring with a 13.2 average. Despite only playing in 12 games his first season at the varsity level, Sebek managed an 8.0 average.

26. John Kurtz • 1950-53 • 520 rebounds

John Kurtz was a quiet leader for the Lions' basketball team, finishing with an 11.3 average under the boards over the span of three seasons. Finishing second behind Cal Garvin in rebounding his senior season, Kurtz also finished No. 2 in scoring with a 10.1 average. He finished each of his three years scoring in double digits. His 12.8 points and 13.8 rebounds led the team his junior season, as he set six Loyola records. The record-breaking season included points in a game (35), most rebounds in a season and rebound average.

28. David Benaderet • 1954-57 • 512 rebounds

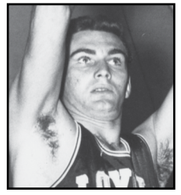

The 1950s and '60s produced some of Loyola's most dominant rebounders. David Benaderet was one of the more consistent players under the basket, averaging 6.2, 7.2 and 7.3 rebounds a game in each of his three seasons at Loyola. Benaderet helped the Lions to a 16-9 season in his first year at the varsity level, finishing third on the team in scoring and fourth in rebounds. His fast start transcended into his junior season, as he finished as a second-team all-conference selection and third on the team in rebounds and first in scoring. His final season in 1956-57 saw him finish second on the team with 7.3 boards per game.

500-ASSIST CLUB

1. Terrell Lowery • 1988-92 • 689 assists

As a sophomore in the Lions' record run in the NCAA Championships in 1990, Terrell Lowery averaged 14.5 points for the high-scoring Lions. In his final two seasons, he led the Lions in scoring, finishing his four-year career averaging 18.5 points. In addition, he led the team in steals in 1991 and 1992 and in assists in 1991. The 283 assists that season is a school record. Lowery's breakout game came in 1990, scoring 48 points against Idaho State on Dec. 1, 1990. Lowery scored more than 40 points six times in his career. His durable career allowed him to play in a school record 119 games, putting him at the top 10 of most record categories. He was an Honorable Mention All-American in his junior and senior seasons and was the conference leader in scoring, assists and steals his junior season. One of LMU's all-time basketball leaders, Lowery was drafted by the Texas Rangers of Major League Baseball.

4. Jim Williamson • 1993-97 • 506 assists

The 5-10 guard from Torrance, Calif., was one of the latest players in LMU history to reach the 1,000 plateau. A two-time All-WCC selection, Williamson was second in the conference in scoring with 16.4 points per game and assists with 5.0 per game in his senior season. Williamson also was a buzzer-beater. In his four years, Williamson knocked down three shots at the buzzer to give the Lions wins. He was the last player to earn WCC Player of the Week honors twice in the same season. Williamson did it his junior season. His first season at LMU earned him Freshman of the Year honors in the WCC. Williamson graduated in 1997 and is currently the head coach of Loyola High School in LA.

1990 • WCC Champions

The Lions went on to accomplish what many thought was not possible as LMU would reach the Elite Eight, despite the tragic death of leader Hank Gathers. Led by the nation's leading scorer Bo Kimble, the Lions would defeat New Mexico State, defending champion Michigan, and Alabama before falling to UNLV in the West Regional Final.

LMU POSTSEASON HISTORY

Below: LMU defeated defending national champions Michigan, 149-115, to advance to the NCAA Regionals in 1990

BIGGEST GAMES

Loyola 30, Pepperdine 18
1940-41 Season - Date Unknown

LMU and Pepperdine have faced each other 131 times in their basketball histories, the most matchups of any opponent for the Lions. Loyola's 30-18 victory in the 1940-41 season is the first recorded game between the two universities who sit no more than 15 miles apart from another down Highway One on the Pacific Coast. Pete Newell and Phil Woolpert, both of whom won national championships as coaches, played for the Lions.

Loyola 57, CCNY 56
1948-49 Season - Date Unknown

CCNY was the NCAA and NIT champions the previous season. Later that season, CCNY was victim to a point shaving scandal. Led by legendary coach, Nat Holman, CCNY defeated the best team of the Pacific Coast Conference, Stanford 67-57 prior to their meeting with the Lions. Loyola staged one of the biggest upsets of that era, defeating CCNY by a point. Many questioned how legit the win was for the Lions.

Loyola 73, San Francisco 57
1953-54 Season - Date Unknown

Led by Bill Russell, the Dons were about to embark on one of the NCAA's most memorable basketball runs the following season. Between the 1954-55 and 1955-56 seasons, USF would win two consecutive titles, win 59 straight, including a 29-0 campaign in 1955-56, and win 61 of 62 games over two-plus seasons. Loyola's 73-57 win would be rare over the next four years, as USF would win 10 straight. During the stretch, Russell would grab a USF record 35 rebounds on March 4, 1955.

Fresno St. 92, Loyola 90 (5OT)
1956-57 Season - Date Unknown

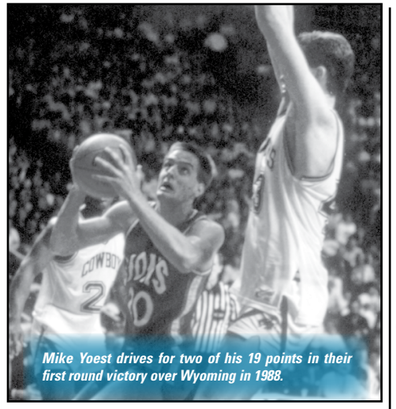

In the longest game in Loyola basketball history, Fresno State outlasted the Lions 92-90 in five overtimes, two short of the NCAA record of seven set 25 years later. The Lions were led by Garnette Brown, a first-team All-West Coast Athletic Conference selection. Brown averaged 20 points a game in the 1956-57 season.

Loyola 69, USC 67
March 18, 1961
NCAA West Regional • Portland, OR

The Lions defeated the Pac-10 Champions, 69-67 in the consolation game of the NCAA Championships. After losing to Utah in the first game of the Regional, the Lions upset USC in their first appearance in the NCAA tournament.

LMU 100, Bemidji State 74
Dec. 4, 1985 - Gersten Pavilion
Los Angeles, CA

On Nov. 23, 1985, the Paul Westhead era at LMU officially began with a 92-72 win over Azusa Pacific. It took about two weeks for the run-and-gun system to take effect, as the Lions earned their first 100-point contest with Westhead at the helm. Forrest McKenzie scored 29 to lead the Lions and center Darryl Carter earned a double-double with 13 points and 11 rebounds.

Mike Yoest drives for two of his 19 points in their first round victory over Wyoming in 1988.

LMU 80, California 75
March 13, 1986
NIT First Round • Berkeley, CA

The Lions made their first NCAA postseason appearance since 1980 in the NIT to face the Cal Bears, who were led by future NBA all-star Kevin Johnson. In front of 6,600 in Berkeley, the Lions under first year head coach Paul Westhead capped a record turnaround with an 80-75 win in the NIT. After going 11-16 and 3-9 in the WCC in 1984-85, the Lions made a drastic change, finishing the season 19-11, 10-4 in the WCC. After the California win in the NIT, the Lions lost to Wyoming four days later, 99-90.

LMU 114, Tennessee Tech 78
Nov. 18, 1987
Saint John's Tourney • New York City, NY

The Hank Gathers and Bo Kimble era officially began in the bright lights of New York City. In a season that would see the Lions finish conference play 14-0, win their first conference title in over 25 years and earn a bid to the NCAA tournament, the Lions started their 28-4 campaign with a 114-78 win over Tennessee Tech. However, it was senior Corey Gaines who stole the spotlight, scoring 25 points.

LMU 104, Santa Clara 96
March 7, 1988
WCC Championship • Santa Clara, CA

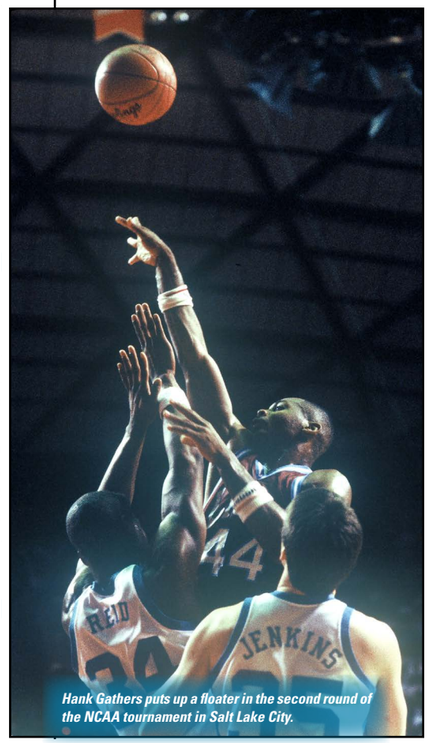

LMU set a tourney scoring record and won the title on Santa Clara's home court, winning the school's first WCC title since the 1960-61 season. Hank Gathers, who was voted the Tournament's MVP, had 24 points in the win.

LMU 119, Wyoming 115
March 17, 1988
NCAA First Round • Salt Lake City, UT

The Lions' first appearance in the NCAA tournament (since the championship was moved from the NIT to the NCAA) was a memorable one. Using 29 points by Bo Kimble and 12 rebounds by Hank Gathers, the Lions won their first ever NCAA tournament game with a 119-115 win over the Cowboys in Salt Lake City, Utah. The Lions would face the University of North Carolina two days later in the second round, losing 123-97. The Tar Heels would advance to the Elite Eight.

LMU 181, USIU 150
Jan. 31, 1989 - Gersten Pavilion
Los Angeles, CA

LMU and USIU began a string of track-meet basketball in the late '80s and early '90s, setting their first of many records in LMU's 181-150 win. The win set the national record for combined points with 331. Hank Gathers put up monster numbers, scoring 41 and gathering 29 rebounds. The 130 field goals by both teams is still an NCAA record. Three weeks prior at USIU, the Lions defeated US International 162-144 on Jan. 7, setting the record for combined field-goal attempts at 245.

Hank Gathers puts up a floater in the second round of the NCAA tournament in Salt Lake City.

Bo Kimble drives in the WCAC Championship with Santa Clara, one of many showdowns between the two rivals in the late 1980s.

LMU 75, Santa Clara 70 (OT)
March 6, 1989
WCAC Championship • San Francisco, CA

In the final years of the 1980s, Santa Clara and LMU began to take over the West Coast Conference, claiming the conference title from 1988-1990. It was a battle to the end, as LMU claimed their second straight WCAC Tournament title with a 75-70 win in overtime. Hank Gathers claimed his second straight MVP honor with a 30-point, 16-rebound performance in the final.

LMU 117, Oregon State 113
Dec. 19, 1989 - at Oregon State

In the 1989-90 season, the Lions played some of the best teams of the decade, including UNLV, Oklahoma, and Oregon State. The Beavers were led by a future NBA all-star by the name of Gary Payton. In a game that was a typical track meet of that day, Bo Kimble and Gary Payton put on a shooting clinic. Kimble went on to finish the game with 53 points, a school record that Kimble would break himself three weeks later with 54 points against St. Joseph's. Payton finished the game with 48.

LMU 99, St. Joseph's 96
Jan. 4, 1990 - Alumni Memorial Fieldhouse • Philadelphia, PA

In the middle of the Lions' historic run in the 1989-90 season, Bo Kimble broke out for a 54-point performance, setting the school record for points in a game, including the game-winning basket from halfcourt at the buzzer. He set the record twice before with 51 points against UC Santa Barbara two weeks prior on Dec. 9 and then again 10 days later with 53 against Oregon State. On Feb. 4, he would hit the half-century mark again with 50 against San Francisco. He would finish with 1,131 points that season, leading the nation. The win against St. Joseph's propelled the Lions to an eight-game win streak.

LSU 148, LMU 141 (OT)
Feb. 3, 1990 - Maravich Assembly Center
Baton Rouge, LA

Scheduled in the middle of West Coast Conference play, the Lions traveled to LSU to face a Tiger team that featured Shaquille O'Neal and Chris Jackson. Down 72-58 at halftime, the Lions stormed back to tie the game at 134 at the end of regulation. Hank Gathers would finish the game with 48 points and 13 rebounds. The freshman O'Neal would finish with 20 points, 24 rebounds and 12 blocks for the triple-double. The game, televised nationally on CBS would begin the national buzz for the Lions' fast-paced rise to the elite teams in the 1989-90 season.

LMU 111, New Mexico St. 92
March 16, 1990 - NCAA Tournament First Round - Long Beach, CA

In the memory of their fallen teammate Hank Gathers, the Lions entered the NCAA tournament with emotional baggage most teams don't even think about carrying into the biggest games, not to mention the "Big Dance." However, the nation's leading scorer, Bo Kimble, took over after a jittery half that showed the emotional exhaustion suffered by the Lions in a 46-46 deadlock at halftime. Kimble finished the game with 45 points and 18 rebounds to upset New Mexico State in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

LMU 149, Michigan 115
March 18, 1990 - NCAA Tournament Second Round - Long Beach, CA

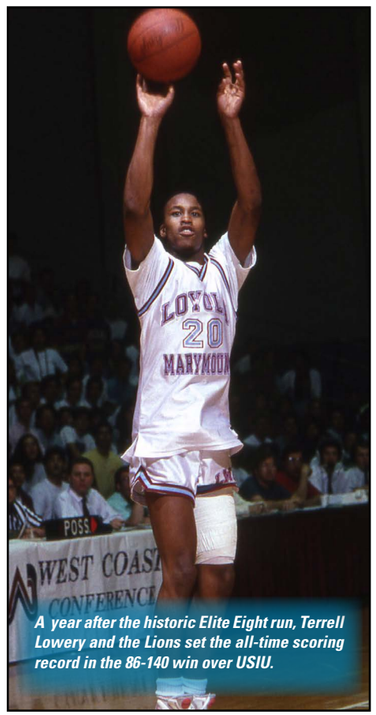

No one thought LMU had a prayer against the defending national champions in the University of Michigan. However, the Lions, according to many newspaper and magazine headlines, "Gather-ed" themselves to shock the world in a 149-115 victory putting the Lions into the Sweet 16. "LMU played as if possessed, stunning Michigan with a record scoring barrage in the NCAA tournament's wild and woolly opening week," claimed Sports Illustrated. As was a trademark under coach Paul Westhead, the Lions' 149 points set an NCAA Championship record for points in a game. The combined 264 points is also a national record. In the game, Jeff Fryer set national records with 11 three-point field goals in 22 attempts to finish the game with 41 points. Bo Kimble continued his hot hand, scoring 37.

LMU 62, Alabama 60
March 23, 1990
NCAA West Regional • Oakland, CA

It was a completely different pace of game than the Lions were used to in the 1989-1990 season. It was only the fourth game all season the Lions were held under 100 points, as the Crimson Tide used a ball control-defense oriented plan of attack to slow LMU down. LMU showed it could play a defensive game, taking a 62-60 win to advance to the Elite Eight of the NCAA tournament. The 122 combined points was less than what the Jeff Fryer led the Lions in the historic win over Michigan in round two of the 1990 NCAA tournament.

A year after the historic Elite Eight run, Terrell Lowery and the Lions set the all-time scoring record in the 86-140 win over USIU.

Yes, the score is correct. And the dust from that game has yet to settle and might never. The 186 points by the Lions is an NCAA record, as is the 72 points scored against a Division I opponent by USI's Keith Bradshaw. All but one player on the Lions' 10-man roster scored in double figures, Bradshaw was 23 of 59 from the field and the next leading scorer for USIU had 20 points.

LMU 80, #26 Gonzaga 74
Feb. 8, 2003 - Gersten Pavilion
Los Angeles, CA

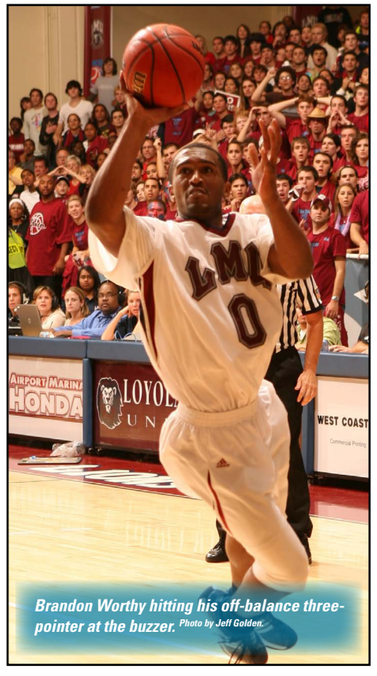

The Lions defeated 26th-ranked Gonzaga at Gersten Pavilion 80-74. The win ended the Zags nine-game win streak on the season, their 22-game win streak against WCC opponents and a 16-game stint against LMU. The Lions finished the game with a 29-24 edge in rebounding, the first time in 13 games Gonzaga had been outrebounded by a conference opponent. Freshman Wes Wardrop had four steals against WCC Player of the Year Blake Stepp, forcing him into eight turnovers on the night.

LMU 66, Saint Mary's 63
Mar. 5, 2006 - WCC Semifinal
Spokane, WA

It was 17 years to the day since the men's basketball team last made noise in the West Coast Conference Men's Basketball Tournament. There must be something about the day as they repeated history under first year Head Coach Rodney Tention. For the first time since March 5, 1989, the Lions advanced to the championship game of the WCC tournament thanks to 66-63 win over Saint Mary's College, advancing to the tournament title game for the first time in 17 years. The Lions big three of first-team All-WCC performers Brandon Worthy (19), Wes Wardrop (13) and Matthew Knight (16) combined to score 48 of the Lions 66 to avenge the 82-70 setback the Lions suffered to the Gaels to end the regular season. Knight added 15 rebounds, tied for the third highest rebound total in a WCC tournament game with Sherman Gay (2003), as the Lions dominated the Gaels on the glass 45-29. In addition, with a free throw with 12 seconds remaining, Worthy reached 1,000 points in his career at LMU.

of 3,570 at Gersten Pavilion during homecoming. Worthy led the Lions with 28 points as the Lions erased a 17-point second half deficit for the win. The shot would go on to be the top play on ESPN. The performance by Worthy could be summed up like this - after putting up a career-high 28 points with eighth rebounds, two assists and two steals in 37 minutes while both calves were cramping - a young boy clad in New Mexico State gear asked the fifth-year senior for an autograph telling him he had a new fan. New Mexico State had one more shot at the win but Worthy blocked Justin Hawkins three-pointer at the buzzer. A fitting close to the game Worthy played.

LMU 87, Notre Dame 85
Dec. 12, 2009 - Purcell Pavilion
Notre Dame, IN

Sophomore Jarred DuBois took a perfect pass from junior Larry Davis with eight seconds remaining to lift LMU (4-7) to an 87-85 win over Notre Dame (9-2) at Purcell Pavilion Saturday night in Notre Dame, Ind. The Lions picked up road wins in both the Pacific-10 (USC on Nov. 21) and the Big East, and earn their first win over a current member from the Big East since 1988. Down by one, 85-84, the Lions' defense forced a five-second call with 19 seconds remaining. After a timeout, the Lions rotated the ball and Davis drove the lane, dishing off to DuBois on the left wing. With a defender charging, DuBois buried his fourth three-pointer of the game for the win. Notre Dame entered the contest with just one loss on the year and had not lost a non-conference game at home in five seasons. Notre Dame went on to advance to the NCAA tournament that season.

LMU 74, #9 Gonzaga 66
Feb. 18, 2010 - Gersten Pavilion
Los Angeles, CA

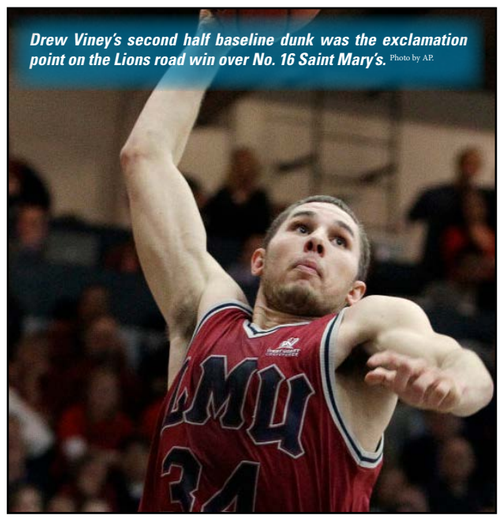

Considered one of the biggest wins in program history and the biggest at Gersten Pavilion, the Lions earned a 74-66 win over West Coast Conference leader and top-10 Gonzaga in front of 3,770 at Gersten Pavilion on Feb. 18. Gonzaga entered the game ranked 13th by the Associated Press and 9th by the ESPN/USA Today Coaches' Poll. It was the first win over a ranked opponent since March 23, 1990 when the Lions beat No. 23 Alabama 62-60 in the NCAA West Regional. It snapped a 35-game skid against ranked teams for the Lions. It was also the first ever win over a ranked opponent at Gersten Pavilion and the highest ranked team to fall to the Lions since 1961. In the first meeting against Gonzaga on Jan. 23, the Lions played without Ashley Hamilton, Jarred DuBois and Larry Davis. In the win, all three were among five players in double figures, as the trio combined for 39 points. Hamilton led all scorers with 17 points, adding six rebounds and three blocks. Drew Viney added 16 points and 10 rebounds for his fourth double-double of the season. Davis added 12, Kevin Young 11 and DuBois 10. Defense was the key as the Lions erased a 10-point first-half deficit by holding the Zags to just 34.4 percent shooting in the game and just 25.9 percent in the second half. The Lions shot 46.6 percent for the game, hitting 6-for-12 from the three-point line. It was the Bulldogs lowest shooting percentage since Duke on Dec. 19 when they shot 27.8 percent.

LMU 69, #17 UCLA 58
Nov. 11, 2011 - Sports Arena
Los Angeles, CA

LMU decided to get the 2011-12 Centennial Season off to a rousing start, going to the LA Sports Arena and defeating 17th-ranked UCLA 69-58 in front of 5,382 fans on 11-11-11. Nearly 700 of the fans were in Crimson and Navy and the Lions walked off the court to chants of "LMU, LMU". It was a tremendous start for the Lions, who defeat a ranked opponent for the second time in three tries and come away with a win over the Bruins for just the third time in 18 tries, erasing a gap of 70 years. The Lions last won over the Bruins in 1941. Junior Ashley Hamilton and sophomore Anthony Ireland provided a one-two punch for the Lions as they went for 23 and 21 points, respectively. They led a shooting spree from long range, as the Lions hit 10-for-15 from the three-point line (66.7 percent). The Lions led by as many as eight in the first half, but the Bruins went on a 10-0 run to take a 33-32 lead as the half looked to come to a close. The Lions forced a turnover and took over with five seconds and Ireland hit a bank shot at the buzzer for the lead, 34-33, at the break. The Lions would hit the first two buckets of the second half, a jumper by Jarred DuBois and a dunk by Hamilton. The Bruins would fight back and would take a 42-41 lead on a jumper by Travis Wear with just under 14 minutes to play. The lead wouldn't last long. Led by Ireland and Hamilton, the Lions went on a 12-0 run to take a 53-42 lead with 12 minutes to play. The lead would never go below five the rest of the way.

LMU 75, #16 Saint Mary's 60
Feb. 15, 2012 - McKeon Pavilion
Moraga, CA

The road warriors came through again, as LMU defeated 16th-ranked Saint Mary's, 75-60, at McKeon Pavilion, improving to 7-1 on the road in West Coast Conference action and giving the Gaels their first loss at home in 17 tries. Drew Viney led the Lions with 17 points, followed by Anthony Ireland with 16, Jarred DuBois with 15 and Ashley Hamilton with 11. Rob Jones led all scorers with 25 points and 15 rebounds, but it wasn't enough down the stretch. LMU held the Gaels to its second lowest shooting effort in conference play at just 38.6 percent, limiting them to 21.4 percent from three, its lowest in conference play and second lowest on the season. The Lions defeat their third ranked opponent on the season and finished 7-1 on the road in the WCC, second only to the 1988 team who went 7-0. LMU held Saint Mary's to just 1-for-13 from the three-point line, including 0-for-5 from Clint Steindl, in the second half. He hit 4-for-6 from three in the first half for all 12 of his points. The Lions finished hitting 47.2 percent, including a 7-for-15 clip (46.7 percent) from three. The Lions led by five at the half, 34-29, but saw leading scorer Matthew Dellavedova score four straight points as the Gaels took a 35-34 lead. It would be their last, as Dellavedova was held to just 10 on the night. LMU rattled off six straight points - a jumper by Hamilton, a lay-in by Viney and a jumper by C.J. Blackwell - to take a 40-35 lead with 14:34 to play.

LMU 65, Georgetown 52
Nov. 16, 2018 - Jamaica Classic
Montego Bay, Jamaica

En route to a 22-win season, the third most in program history, the Lions played their first international regular-season Multi-Team Event (MTE) with the Jamaica Classic in November. With both teams entering the game undefeated on the young season, LMU opened the tournament against a Georgetown side coached by Hall of Famer Patrick Ewing. The Hoyas took the advantage early, leading 26-21 at halftime after the Lions started the game 1-for-11. LMU opened the second half with a 12-0 run, and never surrendered the lead again. Once Erik Johansson hit the half's opening three, James Batemon personally outscored Georgetown 10-2 to give LMU a 36-28 lead with just over 15 to play. Batemon finished with a game-high 27. The Lions would win the tournament title and break the school record with an 8-0 record to start the season.

LMU 68, San Francisco 63
Feb. 18, 2021 - Sobrato Center
San Francisco, CA

Playing only six players, the LMU men's basketball team earned a critical road win and defeated University of San Francisco for the second time in the 2020-21 season. The Lions shot 61.9 percent (13-for-21) in the second half to come-from-behind and defeat the Dons, 68-63. The Lions closed the game on a 7-0 run to complete the comeback, all from the free throw line, including an offensive rebound by Eli Scott to earn two additional foul shots. LMU hit 13-for-16 free throws in the second half and finished the game at 18-for-25. The last time LMU had four conference wins in a row prior to this game was in 2011-12 and 1990-91 before that. The Lions finsihed third in the WCC for the first time since 2005-06 and earned their first winning record in the WCC since 2011-12.

LMU 76, SMU 70
Nov. 22, 2021 - Jacksonville Classic
Jacksonville, FL

LMU men's basketball flipped a 17-point deficit into a six-point win to finish 1-1 in the Jacksonville Classic by Fabletics. The Mustangs held two 17-point leads in the game, once ahead 24-7 with 12:17 to play in the first half and again leading 27-10 with 11:53 to play in the opening half. The Lions shot 50 percent or better in each half and outscored Southern Methodist University by 13 in the second half to earn the win.

LMU 84, Georgetown 66
Nov. 18, 2022 - Jamaica Classic
Montego Bay, Jamaica

The LMU men's basketball team flipped the script on the opening game of the 2022 Jamaica Classic. The Lions outscored Georgetown by 28 points in the second half to erase a double-digit halftime deficit and defeat the Hoyas in the opening round game. With the win, LMU advanced to the Championship Game against fellow winners Wake Forest. The Lions made nine threes in the second half on 18 attempts. LMU's bench scored three times as many points than the Georgetown bench, outscoring the Hoyas 30-8 in non-starter points. All nine players to get in the game hit at least two field goals.

LMU 84, Wake Forest 66 (OT)
Nov. 20, 2022 - Jamaica Classic
Montego Bay, Jamaica

LMU used an improbable 8-0 run over the final 1:20 of regulation to force overtime and eventually defeat Wake Forest in the Championship Game of the 2022 Jamaica Classic, 77-75. With LMU still down by eight freshman Chance Stephens hit a three with 1:20 on the clock. Keli Leaupepe cut it to a three-point game with his layup at 36 seconds Wake Forest missed both free throws to make it a two-possession game. Leaupepe grabbed the rebound and the Lions pushed forward with a chance to tie. With 1.6 seconds remaining in the game, Cam Shelton buried the tying three to even the score at 65-all. The Lions defended the last possession and forced overtime. The run extended to 10-0 as Shelton hit the first shot of overtime, capitalizing on a steal and breakaway started by Justin Ahrens. After Wake Forest tied the game from the free throw line, Ahrens hit his first of two overtime threes to put the Lions ahead. The Demon Deacons took the lead back and led by two. After Wake Forest turned the ball over with 30 seconds to play, Stephens finished his career night with the go-ahead three with 12 seconds remaining. On the other end, Leaupepe grabbed the attempted go-ahead shot and went to the line to seal it for the Lions. Stephens made 7-of-10 threes for a career-high 23 points. Shelton hit the 20-points mark with the last three of regulation and the first basket of overtime. Ahrens hit three threes and a layup for his 11 points. Leaupepe finished with a near double-double grabbing 10 rebounds to go along with his nine points. LMU is the first program in tournament history to win the event twice, following the 2018 win with this year's championship. This is LMU's first win over an ACC school since 1966 when the Lions defeated North Carolina State at home. This was the first-ever meeting between LMU and Wake Forest.

LMU 69, Grand Canyon 65
Dec. 7, 2022 - GCU Arena
Phoenix, AZ

In front of the energetic GCU Havoc student section, LMU men's basketball earned a road win, defeating Grand Canyon, 69-65. The Lions held a double-digit lead, then used a second half comeback to earn the team's first road win of the year and GCU's first home loss of the season. The LMU defense held GCU to 27 percent (6-for-22) shooting from three and did not allow a field goal in the final 4:52 of the game.

LMU 68, #6 Gonzaga 67
Jan. 19, 2023 - McCarthey Center
Spokane, WA

MU men's basketball ended several Gonzaga streaks on that Thursday night in Spokane with a 68-67 win over the nation's sixth-ranked team. With a chance to take the lead, the ball stayed in Cam Shelton's hands the entire final possession as the senior drove past Drew Timme to hit a shot with 14.7 showing and putting the Lions on top, 68-67. With the Lions needing one final stop, the defense came up with a block on Timme at the rim and withstood a last second heave towards the basket to secure victory. Shelton led the Lions with 27 points including hitting the game-winner down the stretch. The Lions beat Gonzaga for the first time since 2010. The Lions had not won in Spokane since 1991. The LMU bench outscored the bench for the Bulldogs, 24-14. The Last time the Lions beat a top-10 opponent was 1961. The Zags saw several of their team streaks come to an end. Gonzaga had won 93 games in a row against unranked team. Gonzaga had won 75 in a row inside McCarthey Athletic Center, which was the nation's longest active home winning streak. Gonzaga had won 25 in a row overall over LMU.

Cam Shelton ended #6 Gonzaga's 75-game home win streak with a game-winning layup.

LMU 78, #15 Saint Mary's 74 (OT)
Feb. 9, 2023 - Gersten Pavilion
Los Angeles, CA

The LMU students stormed the court after the LMU men's basketball team handed the 15th-ranked team their first conference loss, 78-74, in overtime. Cam Shelton scored all of his LMU career-high 31 points in the second half and overtime. Saint Mary's opened the game with the first 16 points, before the Lions came back to erase the 16-0 deficit with a 23-6 run of their own. Shelton put the team on his back down the stretch, including scoring LMU's last 11 points to bring the Lions within two with 20 seconds to play after converting an and-1. The Gaels knocked down both free throws on the other end of the court to push ahead 62-58 with 20 seconds on the clock. Justin Ahrens shot a quick three to make it a one-point game with 14 to play. Saint Mary's split free throws on the other end of the court and Shelton made yet another play to tie the game with a driving layup with 2 seconds left. The Gaels missed the halfcourt heave and the game reset tied at 63-all. Shelton scored the first six LMU points of overtime, and Alex Merkviladze tied the game at 71-71 with 1:35 to play. Merkviladze finished second on the team with 15 points on 6-for-10 shooting. After earning a defensive stop, it was the senior captain who made yet another play. Shelton converted a three-point play with less than a minute to play to give LMU their largest lead of the game to that point. The Lions held Saint Mary's to 42 percent (27-for-65) from the field and 32 percent (7-for-22) from three in the win, including limiting SMC to just 1-for-10 from three in the second half.

Nov. 26, 2024 - Cancun Challenge
Cancun, Mexico

In the opening win of the 2024 Cancun Challenge over Belmont, LMU put together a complete game to crush the 8-time NCAA Tournament participants. The Lions grabbed a season-high 44 rebounds and held the Bruins to a tough shooting night from both the field (36.5 percent) and from three (31.0 percent).

LMU 73, Wyoming 70
Nov. 27, 2024 - Cancun Challenge
Cancun, Mexico

The 2024 Cancun Challenge Riviera Division championship was not decided until the final minutes of play against Wyoming. The Lions led by 13 at halftime, trailed by 10 in the second half, and closed the game on a 19-6 run over the final 5:31 to win the MTE, 73-70. The Lions benefitted from an 18-3 advantage on fast break points and finished shooting 49.1 percent from the field. LMU also tied a season-best mark shooting 81.8 percent (9-for- 11) from the free throw line. With their performances, Jevon Porter was named Riviera Division MVP and Will Johnston was named to the All-Tournament Team.

TEAM/OPPONENT RECORDS

Eurskine Robinson and his record 36 straight free throws helped the 2002 Lions sit No. 2 in the nation in free throw percentage at 77.7.

Shaquille O'Neal set the record for blocks in a game against the Lions in the classic overtime battle in 1990.

Terrell Lowery	Gonzaga, 2/16/91	41	10	9
Jevon Porter	Prairie View A&M, 12/14/24	11	12	9

» Eli Scott and Mattias Markusson (left) each recorded six double-doubles in 2017-18. Scott's six in his first year are tied with Gabe Levin for second-most all-time for any LMU freshman.

» On Dec. 7, 2019, Eli Scott muscled his way to the rim with 13 minutes remaining in the game to pick up his 11th point of the night, and more monumental, LMU's first-ever triple-double. Scott, who had 11 assists and nine rebounds in the first half, finished with 21 points on 7-for-9 shooting, 13 rebounds, and 13 assists against Grambling State to do something no other Lion has done.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Craig Pintens

In the fall of 2025, Craig Pintens will start his eighth full academic year as the Athletic Director at Loyola Marymount University. Pintens was officially named to this position in June 2018, bringing extensive leadership experience from programs that have won national championships.

Since taking on the role, Pintens has revitalized LMU Athletics during one of its most successful eras ever by hiring eleven of the fourteen current head coaches, reorganizing the senior management team, upgrading facilities, and reaching record-breaking fundraising achievements.

Athletic Success

The Lions have consistently ranked in the top twenty of the Learfield Directors' Cup Final Standings among Division I-AAA schools during every recorded year, demonstrating a focus on national success. In the most recent year, the Lions had the best finish in the Director's Cup, finishing 7th in Division I-AAA and 90th overall in Division I.

Since 2018, LMU Athletics has participated in seventeen NCAA postseasons with eight different teams. Notably, the beach volleyball team has reached the NCAA Quarterfinals five consecutive years, from 2021 to 2025, with an appearance in the national championship match in 2025. In the fall of 2023, the men's soccer team reached their first-ever NCAA Quarterfinals. The Lions have secured fifteen regular-season titles and, in 2022-2023, LMU earned the WCC Male All-Sports Award for the first time, showcasing their dominance across various sports.

Director's Cup Standings Under Pintens

2018-2019: 18th in Division I-AAA; 155th overall
2019-2020: N/A (COVID-19)
2020-2021: 17th in Division I-AAA; 140th overall
2021-2022: 9th in Division I-AAA; 117th overall
2022-2023: 17th in Division I-AAA; 131st overall
2024-2024: 15th in Division I-AAA; 115th overall
2024-2025: 7th in Division I-AAA; 94th overall

Academic Success

The athletic department's current cumulative GPA is 3.384, with each team maintaining a cumulative GPA of at least 3.00. The GPA of Lions' student-athletes currently exceeds that of the entire student body. Additionally, the graduation success rate (GSR) stands at 95 percent, five points higher than the national average.

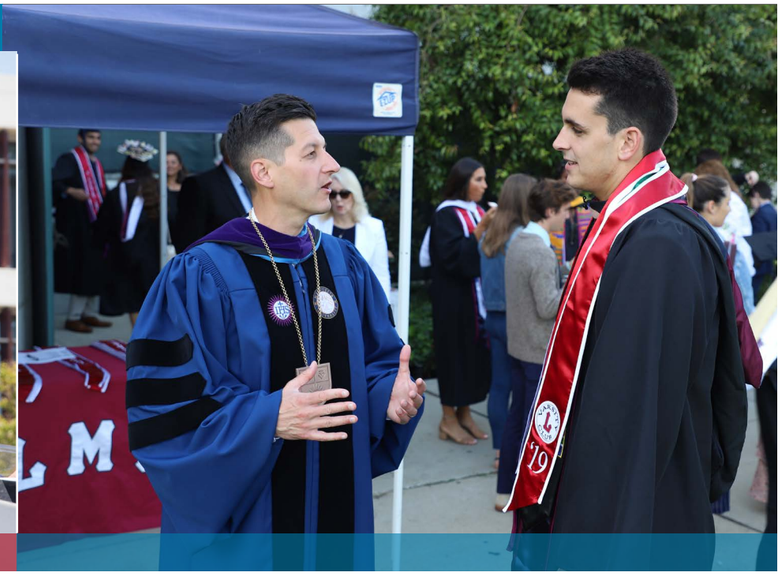

Record Fundraising

Fundraising has reached new heights, with the three highest years on record in FY21, FY22, and FY23, each surpassing the $4.8 million mark. The record peak was in FY22, with over $5.82 million raised. Records were also set for the total number of donors, with the highest in Pintens' first year, FY19.

LMU Athletics has excelled on the annual Day of Giving, raising over $600,000 in consecutive years, with a record of $658,288 in FY22—a 76.9 percent increase from the previous year, driven by 1,680 donations. Since Pintens' arrival, athletics has led the Day of Giving efforts in six of the past seven years.

LMU is a leader among Division I-AAA schools in NIL, being at the forefront of change, by being the first in the space to adapt and establish a collective and becoming one of the first schools to establish a General Manager position for NIL.

Hiring and Retaining Coaches

Pintens has hired 10 of the 14 head coaches currently at LMU. During Pintens' tenure, head coaches have been recognized thirteen times as Conference Coach of the Year. In March 2020, he appointed Stan Johnson as LMU's new men's basketball coach, which has put LMU on its best trajectory since the historic 1989-90 season. In his first season as head coach, Johnson led his team through the COVID-19 pandemic and posted a winning record in the WCC for the first time since the 2011-12 season. LMU's 95 ranking in Johnson's first year is the highest NET (or RPI at that time) since the Elite Eight season of 1990. Johnson followed that with a fourth-place finish and the second-best NET/RPI ever in his third season (2022-23). Five different coaches whom Pintens has hired have earned Conference Coach of the Year honors.

Enhanced Facilities

LMU Athletics' facilities are continually improving. Construction began in spring 2024 on a significant renovation of Gersten Pavilion, which will feature an expanded Academic Success Center, film rooms, a training table, and new office spaces for the basketball teams. The Gersten Pavilion has undergone multiple upgrades, including enhanced locker rooms, training areas, a redesigned floor, improved lighting, modern seating, a new lobby entrance, a spirit shop, and a complete rebranding. Additionally, Page Stadium (baseball), Smith Field (softball), Sullivan Field (soccer), Aquatics, Tennis, the Chad and Ginni Dreier weight room, the training room, the Lions Athletic Center, and the Burns Back Court Practice Gym have all been fully renovated and rebranded.

Additionally, lighting has been installed at Smith Field and the Aquatics facility. In spring 2023, LMU opened its first new competition venue since 2006, featuring a four-court beach volleyball facility adjacent to the Burns Recreation Center.

Before LMU

Pintens joined LMU after spending seven years as the senior associate athletic director at the University of Oregon. During his tenure there, he played a key role in elevating Oregon's athletic programs to notable success, culminating in 17 national championships. He enhanced the fan experience, streamlined strategic planning, and improved athletics operations, promotions, and fundraising, all while overseeing the marketing and communications departments. Before his time at Oregon, Pintens gained experience at Louisiana State University, Marquette University, and the University of Texas-Pan American. As the Assistant Athletic Director of Marketing at LSU, Pintens developed strategic ticket sales initiatives that resulted in record-breaking ticket sales and attendance rates, along with a social media strategy that established a prominent presence in college athletics.

At Marquette, he set attendance and revenue records for both the men's and women's basketball teams, ranking in the top ten nationally for men's basketball attendance. At the University of Texas-Pan American, he oversaw sales, promotions, and game-day operations, successfully securing the university's first Spanish radio broadcast deal.

Pintens is a talented public speaker who has spoken at conferences across the country. He has earned over 40 awards from the National Association of Collegiate Marketing Administrators for his work in season ticket campaigns, advertising, ticket sales, new media, video, and corporate sponsorship.

Pintens is also a member of the Wisconsin Bar. He earned his Juris Doctor from Marquette University Law School and graduated cum laude with a Bachelor of Business Administration in marketing from the University of Wisconsin, Whitewater.

Family

Pintens is married to Jill, and they have four children: Kaitlin (LMU '26), Jackson, Tate, and Avery.

The Next 100...

The 2011-12 academic year and athletic season marked the 100th year of Loyola Marymount University. From the very beginning, LMU has established a history of champions. In the 1930s it was three straight ice hockey championships. In the 1940s the legendary Pete Newell played for the Lions and the rivalry with Pepperdine (1941) began. The 1950s saw Bob Boyd win the NCAA title in the 100-yard dash. The 1960s saw the Lions win their first basketball championship, and one of their first Olympians, rower Hugh Miller Foley (1964). In the 1970s, Loyola and Marymount colleges merged and saw women's sports begin their dominate history, including a pair of tennis championships (1977, 78). LMU then exploded in the 1980s with more individual national champions (Therese Kozlowki in cross country) and more Olympians (Paul Sunderland men's volleyball gold medal in 1984). The decade also included LMU's trip to the College World Series (1986) and two women's rowing Varsity Four National Titles (1981, 86). The 1990s started with one of the most memorable moments in sports history with the men's basketball run to the NCAA Elite Eight in the 1989-90 season. Women's volleyball became the first program to win three straight WCC titles (1994, 95, 96), thanks in part to Olympian and All-American Sarah Noriega. Baseball would end the 1990s with three straight titles, the final coming in 2000. Then came the past decade, as the Lions won more titles (22) than the previous 70 years combined. Leading the way were the men and women's water polo programs, winning a combined 15 titles, including five straight (2001-05) and eight in 10 years by women's water polo.

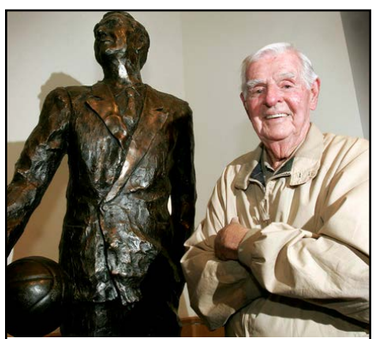

1910-1930

Loyola College was founded in 1911 as an outgrowth of St. Vincent's College, the first college in Los Angeles. In 1924 the College opened a new gym on the old St. Vincent's campus. A year later the Lions post the first season with double-digit wins in basketball, going 10-7 in the 1924-25 season. Coached by Harold "Bill" Hess, the Lions had wins over Woodbury Business College, Cal Tech and the Hollywood All-Stars. In the fall of 1925, George Casey became the third head coach of St. Vincent's, finishing his only year as coach 6-5. In 1926 the school played in its first overtime game, a 20-16 loss to Whittier. They win their first overtime game a year later, a 16-14 victory against California Christian College. Then in 1928, the then Loyola College moved to its current location on the Westchester bluff and two years later became Loyola University. Loyola Law School, located in downtown Los Angeles, was founded in 1920.

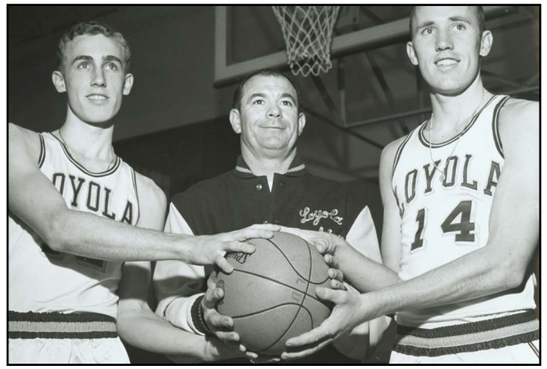

1930s

In the 1930s Loyola established its new campus on the bluff in Westchester while basketball greats Pete Newell and Phil Woolpert began their legendary careers as Lions. While Loyola discontinues the men's basketball program for four seasons during the great depression, it is hockey of all sports that emerges as Loyola's top program, thanks in large part to the use of its football players as hockey players. The first college hockey league started in 1927 and while increasing in popularity, it became part of the official athletic program of multiple southern California schools, thus the formation of the Southern California Intercollegiate Hockey League. USC dominated the league, winning 36 straight before Loyola, led by Head Coach Tom Lieb, snapped that streak on March 6 of 1932, beginning one of the fiercer rivalries of its day. Then in the 1934-35 season, the Lions knocked off USC in the prestigious Yosemite Tournament for the first time and then went on to defeat the Trojans for Loyola's first conference crown. As the league grew, the main attraction continued to be the games between Loyola and USC, "as the two teams were in a class by themselves." The 1935-36 season was the year college hockey really caught on. The final game between Loyola and USC for the Pacific Coast title was a double-overtime thriller in front of 4,000 fans. The Lions won their second PCHC championship in a row. The Lions would then win their third league title in a row in a three-game playoff in 1937, winning two games to one. With World War II on the horizon, Loyola would drop hockey in 1941 and college hockey in Southern California would slowly break apart. The end of the decade would see two Hall of Famers finish their careers on the hardwood. Both Pete Newell and Phil Woolpert suited up for the Lions. The two Loyola greats went on to become legends in the coaching profession, leading college teams to NCAA National Championships. Both are in the Basketball Hall of Fame.

1940s

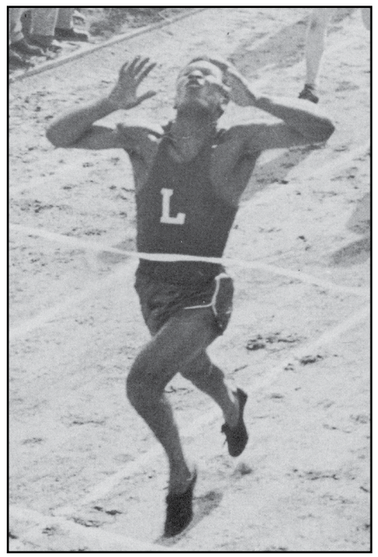

In 1941, the Lions face in-town rival Pepperdine for the first time in the two program's histories. They faced each other twice in the 1940-41 season, with Loyola winning both, 30-18 and 43-23. In 1948-49, Loyola went on to its first 20-win season, posting a 22-14 record under coach Scotty McDonald. The Lions would see their longest winning streak at that time of 10 games. The season included the first game in Alumni Gymnasium, the Lions' home until the 1981-82 season when the Lions moved to Gersten Pavilion.

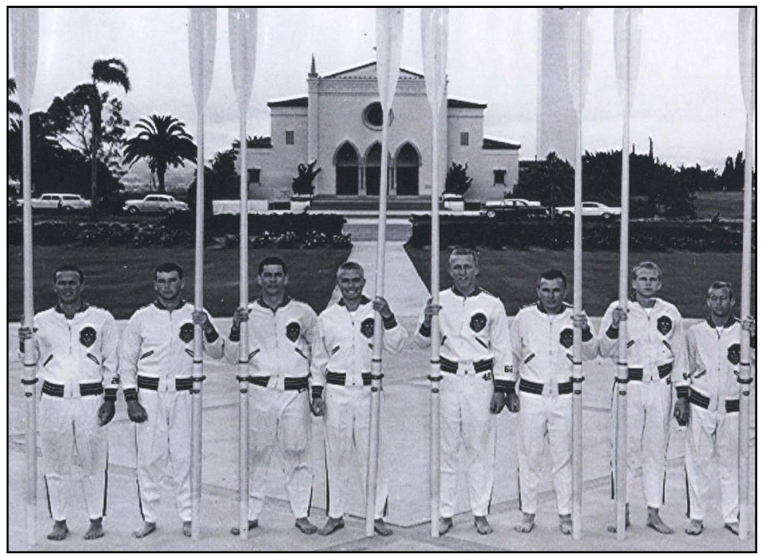

1950s

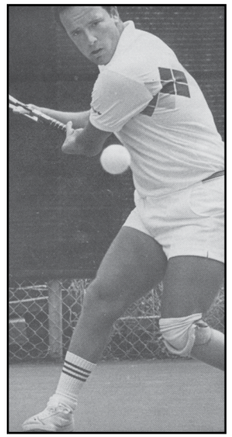

The 1950s started with one of the best football seasons in school history as the team, led by future NFL star Don Klosterman, finished the season 8-1, losing to Santa Clara 28-26 and missing out on a trip to the Orange Bowl. Klosterman would go on to earn All-America honors in 1952. A member of that team, Bob Boyd, former Loyola football and track great, captured the 1950 NCAA men's track championship in the 100-yard dash. He later played seven seasons as a tight end for the NFL's Los Angeles Rams, helping the team to the 1951 World Title. The Lions men's basketball team advanced to their first collegiate sponsored postseason tournament, competing for the NAIA National Championship. The Lions posted a 16-9 record and were selected to participate in the NAIA Tournament where they faced San Francisco State in the first round. With a 57-56 win, the Lions moved on to face Southwestern (KS) in the second round. Southwestern won, 83-79. Then in 1956, the Lions joined the California Basketball Association, which two years later formed the West Coast Athletic Conference. Loyola finished the CBA with a 9-5 record, second in the conference.

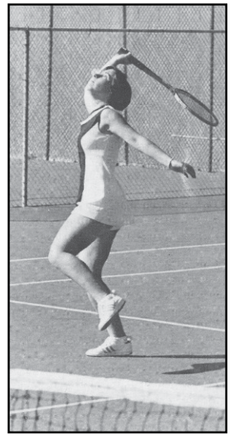

1960s

In 1960, Loyola men's basketball tied for first with a 9-3 record in the West Coast Athletic Conference. The title was shared with Santa Clara, who defeated the Lions in a playoff game to end the season. The Lions closed the regular season with eight straight wins. Then in 1961, LMU basketball had a record-breaking season for the Lions, earning their second 20-win season, finishing 20-7 overall and earning their first-ever out-right WCAC title with a 10-2 mark. Loyola started the season 3-4, but responded with 17 wins in their final 20 games, including a nine-game winning streak. It was the Lions' first trip to the NCAA tournament, a date in the Far West Regional at Portland. The Lions fell to Utah, 91-75 in the first round, and fell to the consolation bracket. Utah, who Loyola defeated in exhibition play 85-64 earlier in the season, went on to the Final Four. Loyola defeated USC, 69-67, to earn their 20th win of the season. It was head coach William Donovan's final year at the helm of the Lions. In his eight years as coach, he earned 107 wins, the most among all LMU coaches. In 1964 Hugh Miller Foley rowed in the 1964 Olympics. He was a member of the Rowing Eight with Coxswain Team that won the Gold Medal. In 1968, NBA coach Rick Adelman finished his three-year playing career with 1,425 points, averaging 18.8 points in his career at LMU. The 1960s ended with the final curtain call of the football team as they went on to win the 1969 National Club Football National championship with an 8-1 record.

1970s

The University merged with Marymount College to become Loyola Marymount University and in 1971 women's athletics begins to appear. The Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women is formed to plan, govern and promote the growing number of college tournaments for women athletes. That same year the five-player, full-court game and the 30-second shot clock is introduced to women's basketball. And then one year later, one of the most important pieces of legislation for women's athletics is put into place as Congress passes Title IX, setting into motion the Lions success to come in women's sports. Title IX officially went into effect on June 21, 1975. In 1973, Marv Wood's baseball squad brought LMU its first West Coast Conference Championship after a 13-game win streak allowed the Lions to clinch the title on the final weekend of the season over second place Santa Clara. USC knocked off the Lions and Cal State Los Angeles in the NCAA District 8 regionals and eventually won its fourth consecutive national championship. In 1976 the first full scholarship for a female is given and LMU adds its first varsity program in Women's Tennis as alum Jamie Sanchez begins the program with a 13-6 record. They went on to win a conference championship (AIAW), the first in women's programs at LMU. They went 10-0 and won the title in 1977 and 1978 as they combined for a record of 28-2 in conference play.

1980s

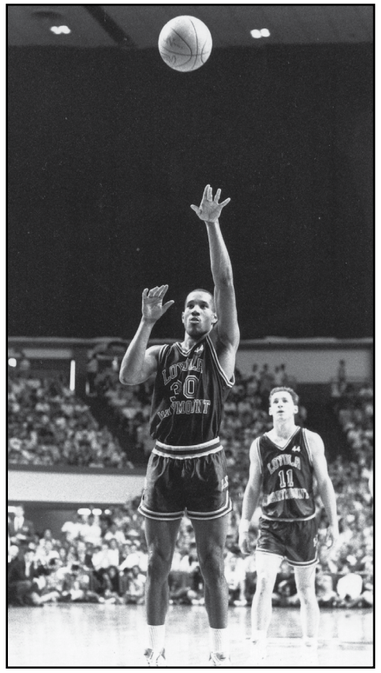

The decade started with men's basketball earning a bid to the NCAA West Regional, losing to Arizona State in the first round, 99-71.

Then in 1981, with the opportunity for women to compete at the collegiate level, LMU athletes waste no time in making their mark. Terese Kozlowski ran a time of 17:34.9 to win the 1981 AIAW Individual National Championship in cross country while women's volleyball begins as a varsity program at LMU with the NCAA hosting as a championship in 1981. The banner year continued as the Women's Rowing Varsity Four team won the 1980-81 National Championship and the brand new Gersten Pavilion opened as home to the Lions and went on to host events with the 1984 Summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles. The year prior to the Olympics, the NCAA takes over women's sports as the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) is dissolved. In women's tennis, the Lions finished 12th in the nation in their division as Debbie Delgado is the first recipient of All-American status.

Paul Sunderland, who played both volleyball and basketball at LMU, went on to earn All-America honors in volleyball at LMU and then played 10 years on the U.S. National Volleyball Team, earning U.S. Player of the Year honors three times (1978, 79, 82). He played in the 1978 and 1982 World Championships and then as a member of the 1984 U.S. Olympic Team, he helped the team to the Gold Medal.

Paul Westhead is hired as head coach of the men's basketball team, replacing Ed Goorjian, who coached from 1980-1985. In his first season, he leads the Lions back to the postseason for the first time since 1980. In 1985, US International and LMU begin a four-year series that would result in the highest-scoring games in NCAA history. After defeating USIU 84-65 in January of 1985, the "track meets" would begin. In Westhead's first season in 1985-86, the Lions would defeat USIU 151-107.

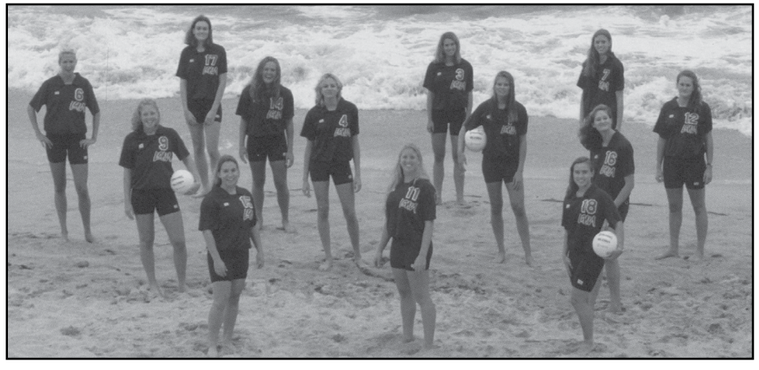

The 1986 LMU baseball team had the best season in program history. It was also one of the best overall seasons of all time for LMU Athletics. Following a 1985 season in which the Lions did not have a winning record at 27-28, the program performed one of the best turnarounds in LMU athletics history. They finished the season with a program-best 50 wins and wrapped up the season at 50-15, a 23-game improvement from the previous year. LMU produced a 13-game winning streak from March 21 through April 11, and won 20 of 21 games in the middle of the season. With the winning streak came the nation's top ranking by the ESPN/Collegiate Baseball National Poll. The Lions never looked back, finishing tied with Pepperdine for first place in the West Coast Athletic Conference at 19-5, setting up a one-game playoff to determine the conference's automatic bid to the NCAA Regional. Played at Jackie Robinson Stadium on the campus of UCLA, the Lions defeated the Waves 14-9 to earn the bid to the NCAA West Regional. LMU would reel off its next four games, fighting through four separate elimination games to earn a bid to the school's first appearance in the College World Series. On May 30, the Lions opened up their first World Series trip with a 4-3 win over perennial power LSU, to earn a two-day rest and play in the winner's bracket. The Lions played the University of Arizona on June 2 and lost a heartbreaker 7-5 to drop to the elimination bracket to face Oklahoma State. The Cowboys were too much for the Lions, as they went on to an 11-5 win. Tim Layana was a member of the 1990 World Series Champion Cincinnati Reds. The Lions would return to the postseason in 1987, 1988 and 1989.

Concluding the 1985-86 season, men's basketball found themselves in the NIT for the first time in school history. Traveling to Berkeley, Calif., to face the Bears in the first round, the Lions would begin a successful end to the 1980s decade that made a habit of winning in the postseason. The Lions defeated Cal 80-75 to advance in a post-season tournament. LMU would fall to Wyoming 99-90 to end Westhead's first season at 19-11 and 10-4 in the WCAC (second).

Also in 1986, the women's volleyball team won the WCC and advanced to the NCAAs, where they topped UCLA in first round action before falling to Stanford in the second round. The Lions finished the 1986 season 24-8 and 10-2 in WCC play in their final season under Coach Nancy Fortner.

One year later, the Hank Gathers and Bo Kimble era of Lions' basketball began with a 114-78 win over Tennessee Tech. The season would finish as the Lions' best in winning percentage, finishing with a 28-4 mark and a perfect 14-0 in the WCAC. The 1987-88 season would include a 25-game winning streak, the best in school history. The fast-break offense began to take hold, as the Lions scored in triple figures in all but nine of their 32 games. The Lions would clinch their first WCAC regular season championship since the '60s and their first Tournament Championship with a 104-96 win over Santa Clara in the WCAC Championship game. LMU advances to the NCAA tournament, and earns its first win in the "Big Dance," a 119-115 win over Wyoming, who two years earlier knocked the Lions out of the NIT. Playing in the West Sub-Regional in Salt Lake City, Utah, LMU would be a surprise opponent in the second round against power North Carolina. The Tar Heels would dismiss the Lions 123-97.

The Lions earned their second consecutive WCAC Tournament Championship in 1989 with another win over Santa Clara, 75-70. The Lions finished 20-11 on the season, following a 120-101 loss to Arkansas in the first round of the NCAA tournament in the Midwest Region held at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

The 1980s would conclude with another national title as the women's rowing varsity four took home their second national championship.

The 1990s started the way the 80s ended, fast. In addition to their 28 games scoring in triple digits, men's basketball earned its third straight WCC title and trip to the NCAA tournament. In finishing 26-6, the Lions advanced further than any team in school history by reaching the Elite Eight in the NCAA Championships. However, tragedy marked the Lions' Cinderella run. On March 4, 1990 in the second round of the WCC Tournament, the Lions took a 25-13 lead on Portland following All-American Hank Gathers' dunk on an alley-oop from Terrell Lowery. Gathers would collapse to the floor and would not regain consciousness. Gathers would be pronounced dead later that evening at Marina del Rey's Daniel Freeman Hospital. The WCC Tournament would be cancelled and the Lions would be named champion, earning the automatic bid to the NCAA tournament. A long shot and seeded No. 11 in the West Region, the Lions went on to beat New Mexico State, defending national champion Michigan and Alabama before falling to the eventual national champions, UNLV, 131-101. The run in the 1990 tournament will long be remembered, however, with the image of Gathers' teammate and longtime friend Bo Kimble shooting the first free throw left-handed - a switch from his normal right-handed shot. Kimble made every shot he took left-handed.

Months after basketball's historic run, baseball captured sole possession of the league title for the first time in 17 years, LMU breezed to its third consecutive postseason appearance. The Lions posted 45 wins, the second-highest total in school history. LMU representatives were honored with WCC Player of the Year, Newcomer of the Year and Coach of the Year accolades by the league.

In the fall of 1991, Gina Eron becomes the first Lion to win the West Coast Conference individual title by running a time of 19:15 and men's crew wins the Light Weight Four Pacific Coast Championship. Two years later, women's volleyball accumulated a 23-7 overall record and finished second in the WCC (11-3). For the first time in program history, LMU entered the nation's top-25, ranked No. 24 in the AVCA Coaches' Poll and No. 22 by Volleyball Monthly. The glimpse of success in 1993 opened the door to the Lions dominating the WCC in women's volleyball for the next three seasons. In 1994, they garnered the first of three consecutive WCC Championships with a 19-10 overall mark and a 12-2 conference record, earning a NCAA tournament appearance. Head Coach Steve Stratos then led LMU to its second straight WCC title and NCAA tournament appearance in 1995 with a perfect 14-0 record, the first in school history.

A year later, Stratos and the West Coast Conference Champion Lions celebrated the most successful season in program history. The Lions had advanced to the NCAA's Sweet Sixteen and finished among the nation's top-10 in the final AVCA rankings. Dating back to the 1994 season, the Lions had racked up 31 straight WCC victories. LMU went a perfect 14-0 in WCC play for the second straight season in 1996, earning Stratos his third consecutive WCC Coach of the Year selection. He was the first coach in the history of the conference to earn the nod three straight years. He was also named the AVCA District Coach of the Year. Kim Blankinship joined Stratos in earning WCC accolades, as the Lions' senior was named the 1996 WCC Player of the Year. Tracy Holman and Sarah Noriega, along with Blankinship, were All-WCC first-team and AVCA All-District selections. The Lions finished the regular season 25-2 and earned a bye in the first round of the NCAAs. A second-round win over UC Santa Barbara sent the Lions to the Sweet Sixteen, where they faced a tough Washington State squad. Despite the efforts of NCAA Pacific Regional All-Tournament selections Blankinship (21 kills, 11 digs) and Noriega (30 kills, four blocks), the Lions fell 3-1. LMU finished the banner 1996 campaign with an overall record of 26-3, winning 16 of its final 17 matches and 26 of its last 28. The AVCA ranked the Lions ninth in the final 1996 poll, though LMU had climbed as high as sixth in the nation during the season.

In 1997, Sarah Noriega became the first player to earn AVCA All-America first-team honors as well as Volleyball Magazine All-America second-team accolades. She was the WCC Player of the Year in 1997 after being named an All-WCC first-team selection for the third consecutive season. Noriega was a three-time All-District VIII honoree, LMU's Female Athlete of the Year (1997-98), a participant at the U.S. Olympic Festival (1995), a World Games participant, and 2000 Olympian. In her final year as a Lion, Noriega was recognized as the AVCA National Player of the Week twice (Oct. 6 and Nov. 10). On November 7, 1997, Noriega set the NCAA record for most kills in a four-game match with 47 against San Diego, a mark which still stands today.

Second-year Head Coach Frank Cruz guided the Lions to their first WCC title in eight years in 1998. With the nation's 16th-best recruiting class, nearly all of which were freshmen. LMU edged rival Pepperdine by a half game for the conference crown earning the NCAA automatic bid to the West Regional at Stanford. Freshman Michael Schultz nearly no-hit Stanford in the first round (Stanford was ranked No. 2 in the nation) shutting out the Cardinal through the seventh inning. Schultz and freshman catcher Scott Walter were named WCC Pitcher and Player of the Year, the first time in WCC history freshmen from the same school garnered the awards. With their youth, the Lions would become the Lions' third team to claim titles in three straight years. They successfully defended their conference crown, defeating Pepperdine in a three-game series for the WCC Championship at Page Stadium. The victory helped LMU win back-to-back titles for the first time in program history. LHP Billy Traber led the team and the WCC with 135 strikeouts while earning first-team All-WCC honors. Anthony Angel also earned first-team honors, the only member of the squad to do so in two consecutive seasons.

The new century began with baseball's continued dominance as they had one of the most complete teams since the 1986 College World Series team. The Lions won their third straight WCC title and their eighth NCAA bid.

In 2000, women's volleyball continued their pursuit of excellence by starting the season on a seven-match winning streak which propelled them to a season-best No. 21 AVCA ranking (Sept. 4). Success of the program has carried over into individual honors as well. Among the program's top athletes and graduates, Stratos coached Loyola Marymount's two AVCA All-America first-team honorees, Sarah Noriega (1994-97) and Sarah McFarland (1997-00). As a member of the U.S. National Volleyball team that qualified for the 2000 Olympics in Sydney, Australia, Sarah Noriega became the third Lion to participate in the Olympic Games. Noriega became a key member of the U.S. National team in 1998. She was named team MVP for her efforts that season in 1999. As a member of the 2000 Olympic squad, Noriega finished the summer fourth on the team with 185 kills and a .393 kill percentage. Her serves wreaked havoc for opponents throughout the Summer Games as her 17 service aces ranked second best on the team.

In 2001, women's basketball earned the program's first postseason tournament bid with an invitation to the NIT, setting up future success for the team. In addition, Edit Pakay won the West Coast Conference championship with a time of 17:58 in women's cross country and women's water polo, who was in just their fourth year of competition at LMU, finished with the program's first 20-win season and its first-ever WWPA title thanks to a 7-6 win over UC Davis in the championship game. The win set in motion the most successful stretch by any program in LMU history. The Lions would go on to win five straight titles - 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005 - reaching the NCAA National Championship game in 2004 thanks to a win over Stanford in the NCAA semifinals. It was the first time in program history that the Lions played in a national championship game at the NCAA Division I level.

That same year, men's soccer earned an at-large berth into the NCAA Tournament for the first time in program history. The Lions compiled a seven game winning streak during the season, including a 1-0 victory at #11 UCLA. It marked the program's first win over UCLA, who it would face again in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, falling in a heartbreaking 3-2 double-overtime decision. The Lions were ranked as high as #16 in the polls and finished the season with a 9-7-2 record.

Also making waves in 2001 was men's water polo as they won their first Western Water Polo Association Championship by defeating UC San Diego 4-2 in the final of the annual tournament. The Lions went on to the NCAA Men's Water Polo Championship at Stanford and lost to UCLA 7-5 in the semifinals. They defeated UMass 14-6 in the consolation final to finish third. The men were as dominant in the pool as the women, winning four titles in six years - 2001, 2003, 2004, 2005.

In 2002 the women's soccer team earned their first bid to the NCAA Tournament and women's tennis won the program's first West Coast Conference Championship by knocking off nine-time defending champion and rival Pepperdine. The conference crown gave the Lions the automatic bid to the NCAA tournament.

Also in 2002, men's soccer earned their second straight invitation to the NCAA Tournament after winning 14 games in the regular season, including a 2-0 win over #3 UCLA. LMU started the season with an 11-0-2 record, climbing to #7 in the national rankings. As a result of a strong regular season, LMU hosted its first ever postseason game, with the Lions picking up their first NCAA Tournament victory with a 1-0 win over Cal State Northridge. Andres Murriagui and Arturo Torres became the first All-Americans in program history and Jeff Kovar was named an Academic All-American. The Lions returned to the NCAAs again in 2003 and 2004.

In 2004, women's basketball claimed the program's first West Coast Conference Championship, earning its first trip to the NCAA tournament. They finished the season 24-6 overall and 13-1 in the WCC action, winning the final 15 games of the regular season, including the WCC tournament. The WCC tournament champions lost to Baylor in the NCAA regional as Kate Murray was named WCC Player of the Year and WCC Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Adrianne Slaughter was the MVP of the WCC tournament while Head Coach Julie Wilhoit was WCC and Region 8 Coach of the Year.

After women's basketball reached a milestone in March of 2004, three months later, women's water polo added to LMU's history. The Lions earned a 5-4 win over second ranked Stanford in the semifinals of the 2004 NCAA Women's Water Polo Championship to advance to the national title game. It was the first time any LMU team in more than 90 years of intercollegiate sports played in a title game sponsored by the NCAA. The Lions went on to drop a heartbreaker to USC, 10-8, to finish second. The Lions advanced to the NCAA tournament thanks to their fourth straight WWPA title, earning a 7-3 win at the Burns Recreation and Aquatics Center on the LMU campus on April 25. Devon Wright earned WWPA Player of the Year honors while Head Coach John Loughran claimed his fourth straight Coach of the Year title. Teresa Guidi became the first women's water polo player to earn first-team All-American honors. That summer a pair of Lions participated in the Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia. Christine Robinson and Rachel Riddell both played for the Canadian Olympic team that season.

As 2004 continued, men's water polo earned back-to-back WWPA titles thanks to a 6-3 win over Redlands in the WWPA tournament held at Davis, CA. The Lions finished with the second most wins in program history at 21-11, defeating Princeton 6-5 to finish third in the NCAA Championships. Endre Rex-Kiss was named MVP of the WWPA while also earning second-team All-America honors. They then became the fourth team in LMU history to earn three straight conference titles, defeating UC San Diego 7-6 at the Burns Center in the WWPA Championships. The Lions fell to Stanford at the NCAA Championship in a heartbreaker, 7-6, but responded to defeat St. Francis in the third place game, 10-6. They finished the season 19-16 overall and Endre Rex-Kiss earned second-team All-America honors after finishing second in LMU history with 261 career goals.

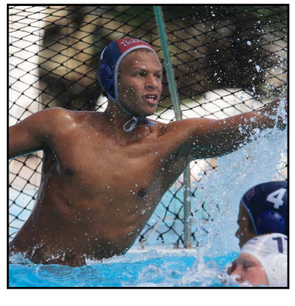

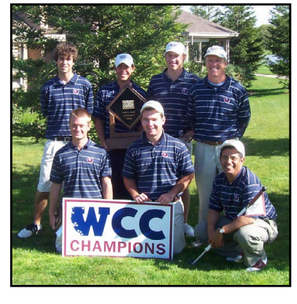

In the spring of 2005, softball won the program's second PCSC title in three years and this time earned the conference's automatic bid to the NCAA tournament, the program's first trip to the postseason. Also that spring, women's water polo team set the record for wins, posting an impressive 30-7 overall record as they won their fifth straight Western Water Polo Association championship. No team in LMU history has won five straight conference titles. LMU would advance to their fifth straight NCAA Women's Water Polo Championship.

The 2005-2006 season saw LMU win its first-ever West Coast Conference Commissioner's Cup for best overall athletics program in the conference. Part of that season saw Laura Mickelson place fourth in the NCAA West Regional in the 5,000-meter to qualify for the NCAA Track Championships. She placed 22nd overall. Men's basketball, in the first season under Head Coach Rodney Tention, advanced to the program's first WCC Tournament Championship since 1989, with three players earning first-team All-WCC honors. The Lions finished the WCC season at 8-6, defeated Saint Mary's in the WCC Tournament Semifinals to advance to the WCC title game where they fell to fourth-ranked Gonzaga at the buzzer, the ninth game of the season decided on the final play or overtime. Senior Wes Wardrop and juniors Brandon Worthy and Matthew Knight all earned first-team All-WCC honors for leading the Lions to the WCC Basketball Championship game.

Further history was made in 2005-06 when men's golf won their first-ever West Coast Conference Championship. Freshman Brian Locke was the first Lion to win the individual championship as he was also named Freshman of the Year in the conference. The Lions would then place sixth in the NCAA West Regional to earn the program's first trip to the NCAA Championships as they placed among the top 30 programs in the country. Matching golf that spring was women's rowing with their first WCC Championship.

In the fall of 2006, women's soccer returned to the NCAA tournament for the second time in program history, led by WCC Defender of the Year Joslyn Slovek. Laura Mickelson was at it again as she won the individual WCC Cross Country Championship by more than a minute.

That year also marked the 30th year Anniversary for women's tennis, the longest running women's program in LMU history. Since championships were created by the NCAA in 1981-82 for women's programs, LMU women have won 24 of LMU's 46 conference titles and have earned 26 NCAA tournament bids.

An example of this success was seen from the softball program as it finished the 2007 season with a program best 47-18 record, claiming its third PCSC title. In addition, the Lions won their first and second ever NCAA Tournament games, knocking UC Santa Barbara and UCLA out of the Los Angeles Regional before falling to Hawaii in the Regional final. LMU destroyed the competition in the PCSC, winning the conference with an 18-2 record, 6.5 games ahead of second place. Christine Foley was named Player of the Year, Tiffany Pagano was named Pitcher of the Year, Melissa Dykema was named Freshman of the Year and Gary Ferrin was named the Coach of the Year.

Capping 2007 was women's water polo as the Lions won their sixth WWPA Championship in seven years and finished the season ranked seventh in the nation. Senior Stacia Peterson is named WWPA Player of the Year, Third-Team All-American and becomes just the seventh student-athlete overall and just the second female to earn CoSIDA Academic All-American honors.

In the fall of 2007, the LMU men's water polo team won their fifth WWPA title in seven years despite the youngest roster in program history. The Lions defeated UC Davis 7-6 in the title game as freshmen Tibor Forai and Andy Stevens, along with junior Mark Milovic, earned All-America honors.

Also in the 2007-08 season, the women's swimming program overcame a huge deficit to claim its first Pacific Coast Swim Conference Championship. The Lions completed their first perfect season at 9-0 while Rebecca Plume, Alex Wike and Alicia Witter earned individual conference titles. All told, 11 swimmers earned All-PCSC honors in 2008.

Capping the year was Reid Priddy ('00) capturing the gold medal for Team USA at the 2008 Summer Olympics. He joins Paul Sunderland, who won gold in 1984, as gold medalists in men's volleyball.

In 2008-09, the water polo programs added to their tradition of titles as the men claimed the 2008 title and the women in 2009. It was the sixth for the men and seventh for the women, all coming in the last 10 years. For the women, senior Nicole Hughes earned second-team All-American honors and re-wrote the LMU record book. She set the record for goals in a game (8, twice), in a season (129) and a career (320). She was the first player to score more than a 100 goals in a season and 300 in a career.

The decade would come to close as the LMU men's water polo team added their seventh title in nine years, advancing to the NCAA tournament once again. Men's soccer would also return to form, earning an at-large bid to the NCAA tournament, hosting a first-round game against Sacramento State. It was the fifth NCAA appearance for the Lions.

The new decade would begin with the program that dominated the previous one. The LMU women's water polo team, under LMU alumnus Kyle Witt, would claim a pair of conference titles to start the decade, winning their eighth and ninth WWPA titles in 2010 and 2012.

In the 2014 season they changed leagues and earned a similar result, claiming the inaugural Golden Coast Conference Championship, defeating San Diego State in sudden death overtime, 10-9, at the Burns Aquatics Center. They would repeat in 2015, using defense to beat host Pacific and No. 1 seed San Diego State. The women's water polo program has claimed more titles than any program in school history. In 2010, defeating five-time defending champion UCLA in the NCAA tournament, 5-4. They went on to finish ranked fourth in the nation and finished with a 28-6 record, staking claim to one of the most successful seasons in program history. In the fall of 2010, men's water polo continued its dominance of the WWPA, winning it for the fourth straight year and eighth in the last decade.

Men's soccer would join them, winning a share of their first WCC title in 2010. Then in the fall of 2013, they would run away with the West Coast Conference, claiming their second league title and earning the automatic bid to the NCAA tournament.

Cross country and track All-American Tara Erdmann finished her career in 2012 as one of the most decorated female athletes in LMU history. She won three individual WCC Cross Country Championships (2008, 2010, 2011), competed in six NCAA track championship races and claimed seven All-American honors. She started a tradition that has continued after her departure as Sheree Shea advanced to the 2014 NCAA Outdoor Track Championships and for the first time since the program was brought back, men's track had a representative at the NCAA Championships. Weston Strum finished 10th in the nation in the 5,000. In addition, Sam Fischer of the LMU softball team finished as LMU's triple-crown leader in career categories, and following graduation in 2012, she was chosen to play for the U.S. National Team.

In the fall of 2012, women's volleyball earned a trip to their 11th NCAA tournament. They would add number 12 in 2014 thanks to the best start in program history, starting the seaosn 12-0. The 2014-15 season would also include LMU senior Betsi Metter and freshman Sarah Sponcil reaching the AVCA National Championship, falling in the title match to finish as national runners-up. The duo went on to earn AVCA All-America status. LMU junior golfer Connor Campbell earned an individual bid to the 2015 NCAA Division I Men's Golf Championships. The Lions have had an individual go to each of the last three NCAA tournaments, with Tyler Torano representing the Lions in 2013 and 2014. LMU has been a part of six NCAA tournaments since 2006, advancing the NCAA Championships that season.

The 2015-16 season started in grand style as women's soccer finished the regular season 13-5-1, a perfect 10-0 at home, and finished tied for second in the WCC at 7-2. The Lions would earn their third trip to the NCAA tourmament as Michelle Myers was named WCC Coach of the Year. LMU opened the NCAA tournament with a pair of 1-0 shutout victories over Cal and Minnesota, respectively, before eventually having the season come to a close at fourth-ranked West Virginia. The Lions finished the year nationally-ranked at No. 23 in the country.

Women's soccer was not the only Sweet 16 participant in the fall of 2016. Following a 13-5 record in WCC play, women's volleyball earned an at-large bid into the NCAA Tournament for the third time in four years. Led by AVCA honorable mention All-American Sarah Sponcil, the Lions won their first two tournament games, highlighted by a sweep of No. 6 Stanford to earn the program's second trip to the Sweet 16.

On the men's side, senior goalkeeper Paul Blanchette was named West Coast Conference Goalkeeper of the Year with his school-record eight shutouts on the season. Blanchette sits alone atop the LMU record book with 19 career clean sheets.

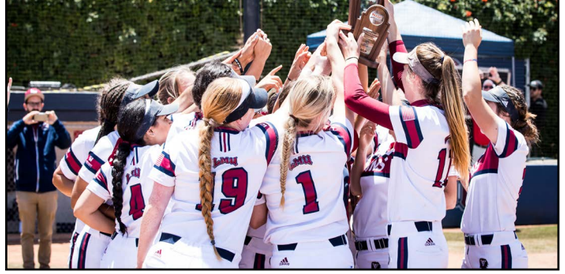

Cory Abbott dealt the first perfect game in LMU and West Coast Conference history on Saturday March 25, 2017 in a 2-0 victory over BYU. The right-hander struck out a career- high 13 hitters and used 106 pitches to dispatch of the Cougars. The perfect game was the first at the Division I level this year, and was the 26th since 1957. LMU had three players drafted in the 2017 Major League Baseball Draft, with Cory Abbott being selected in the second round by the Chicago Cubs with the 67th overall pick. The second-round selection is the highest for LMU since 2000.

Off the diamond, the 2016-17 season also saw Paul Westhead added to the West Coast Conference's Hall of Honor, Danielle Shanahan represent LMU tack and field at the NCAA Championship in 5,000 meters after finishing 4th overall at the NCAA West Region Preliminary, and a trio of women's athletes, soccer's Sarina Bolden (U.S. Under-23 Women's National Team training camp), volleyball's Sarah Sponcil (U.S. Women's National Team Open Tryouts), and basketball's Leslie Lopez-Wood (USA Women's All-Star basketball team in China for the Four Nations International BasketballTournament) being invited to represent the USA.

The 2017-18 school year featured one of the most impressive springs in some time, culminating with LMU softball winning the Postseason NISC Championship on home soil at Smith Field. LMU only lost one contest out of its four NISC games, including a three-game sweep in the championship round. Junior pitcher Hannah Bandimere was named the NISC Championship MVP while teammates Maddie Flores, Molly Grumbo and Delanie Wisz were selected to the All-Tournament Team for the championship round.

Both the men's and women's tennis teams finished their seasons ranked #55 in the final ITA team rankings, both program highs. In addition to the team ranking, LMU women's tennis also featured Veronica Miroshnichenko at #36 in singles, and Miroshnichenko/Eva Marie Voracek at #22 in doubles. Miroshnichenko's decorated season included becoming the first-ever All- American in LMU women's tennis history, taking home West Coast Conference Co-Freshman of the Year and earned a spot on the All-WCC first team as a singles player.

Four Lions earned NCAA Individaul postseason berths. Riley Elmes was selected as an at-large to compete in the 2018 NCAA Men's Golf Championships, Danielle Shanahan qualified for the NCAA Division I Cross Country Championships after finishing 12th at the NCAA West Regional, running a school record time of 19:48.5, and seniors Jack Polerecky and Maddi Vorgitch qualified for the NCAA Division I Track & Field Preliminary Round.

In the first school year under newly-hired Athletic Director Craig Pintens, LMU sent two teams to the NCAA postseason in 2018-19, earned two WCC Titles, and saw both basketball programs make the postseason in the same year for the first time.

Women's volleyball set the tone in the fall with their 14th NCAA Tournament Berth. After defeating #1-ranked BYU on the final day of the season to give the Cougars their only loss of the regular season, the Lions defeated Duke in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament before falling to eventual national champion Stanford in the round of 32.

LMU baseball swept their way through the WCC Tournament to earn the automatic bid into the postseason. The Lions, fueled by a win over #1-ranked UCLA, made the NCAA regional final, before dropping the decisive final game.

Beach volleyball won the WCC Tournament Champion by beating Pepperdine for the first time in school history, in two matches on decision day. The Lions finished ranked 10th in the final national poll.

Men's basketball won 22 games for just the third time in program history to return to the postseason and make a CBI semifinals run. LMU's program-record 8-0 start included a tournament title in the 2018 Jamaica Classic. Women's basketball won 18 games and played in the WNIT for the first time in 15 years.

Other Lions to set new all-time marks included the #43 women's tennis team, #32 men's tennis doubles, and #60 men's singles player Lucas Moenter.

Individually, Koby Pederson became the first male cross country runner to qualify for the NCAA Championships, while Riley Elmes earned his second-consecutive invite into the NCAA Regional Men's Golf Championships. Volleyball's Tess Reid, men's water polo's Blazo Mitrovic, and women's water polo's Hana Vilanova, Morgan Molloy, and Marialena Seletopoulou all received All-American honors. Women's soccer's Emma Tyrnauer recieved the WCC's Postgraduate Scholarship award.

On the coaching side, softball's Sami Strinz-Ward and beach volleyball's John Mayer were eached named WCC Coach of the Year for their respective sports, while men's basketball's Mike Dunlap earned his 400th career NCAA Victory and baseball's Jason Gill earned his 300th career victory in an LMU uniform.

The men's soccer team kicked off the 2019-20 school year with a return to the NCAA Tournament for the seventh time under Head Coach Paul Krumpe, and earned a home game.

2020s

The spring was a season unlike any other before, as teams were forced to hault competion and suspend their seasons in the wake of the Coronavirus. The COVID-19 impact carried into the fall of 2020 postponing those seasons. Three first-time head coaches, baseball's Nathan Choate, rowing's Karl Huhta, and women's soccer's Jenny Bindon, had to put the start of their careers on hold, while coaches for all teams pivoted plans.

LMU did need to fill the men's basketball head coaching vacancy, and did so by hiring Stan Johnson to lead the Lions, starting "A New STANdard" in LMU basketball.

With fall sports postponed, the first action back on the Bluff was basketball. LMU's men's and women's battled strict COVID-19 testing protocols, game cancelations, and arenas with no crowds to make it to the finish line and complete the season at the WCC Championships in Las Vegas in March 2021.

The spring featured overlapping competition between fall and spring sports on campus ultimately leading to limited fans returning for baseball and softball games.

Despite the challenges, beach volleyball won the WCC Championship, played their way into the NCAA Final Four, and finsihed #3 in the AVCA Final Rankings. Men's Soccer won the WCC Championship for the first time since 2013 and returned to the NCAA Tournament, finishing with the highest ranking in program history at #7 in the final United Soccer Coaches poll. Men's golf recorded back-to-back team tournament wins and three consecutive tournament wins before breaking the single season scoring average. Gavin Cohen and Riley Lewis were both selected as individuals for the NCAA Golf Regional Championships. Men's Basketball posted its first winning record in the WCC since 2011-12.

The spring of 2022 led the Lions to the school's top finish in the Director's Cup as three women's teams earned postseason berths to cap an historic year.

Softball claimed a WCC title for the first time in program history after defeating BYU in the regular season series and raising the conference trophy on the last day of the regular season. Beach Volleyball swept their way to another WCC crown and earned a return trip to the NCAA Championships where the Lions won three matches in Gulf Shores for the first time in program history. Women's tennis played their way to the program's first-ever at-large selection to the NCAA Championships after posting an 18-2 record in the regular season.

LMU experienced overall success in the 2022-23 school year. The Lions received the most points in the WCC men's all-sports standings, which combined with the second-most points in the women's all-sports standings, placed LMU second overall in the 2022-23 Commissioner's Cup Standings. The WCC Commissioner's Cup is an all-sports award presented at the end of each academic year to the league's top performing school in conference play and is based on a point system, reflecting the finish of each team in conference play.

Additionally, Noel Caliskan was named the WCC Male Mike Gilleran Scholar-Athlete of the Year after he concluded his four seasons with the LMU men's soccer program. Caliskan became a first-round draft pick for the Portland Timbers of MLS.

The school year started with LMU returning to the postseason for the 15th time in women's volleyball.

Men's basketball then carried the baton over the winter, wracking up the accomplishments. LMU became the first and only team in WCC history to defeat Gonzaga, Saint Mary's, and BYU all in the same season. Led by the WCC's leading scorer, Cam Shelton, LMU won 19 games in 2022-23, returned to the top four in the conference, and won

Led by the WCC's leading scorer, Cam Shelton, LMU won 19 games in 2022-23, returned to the top four in the conference, and won against two top-15 opponents for the first time in the wins over the #6 Zags and #15 Gaels.

Prior to the start of conference play, men's basketball LMU used an improbable 8-0 run over the final 1:20 of regulation to force overtime and eventually defeat Wake Forest in the Championship game of the 2022 Jamaica Classic, 77-75. Big shot after big shot came when the Lions needed it most. Chance Stephens hit seven threes in the title game to win Tournament MVP. LMU made it to the title game after putting together a second half comeback to defeat Georgetown in the opening game of the tournament.

LMU's run of spring season success continued in 2023. The Lions won conference championships in baseball, softball, and beach volleyball - with all three teams being led by the WCC Coach of the Year Recipients in Nathan Choate (Baseball), Tairia Flowers (Softball), and John Mayer (Beach Volleyball). Both softball and beach volleyball returned to the NCAA Tournament in consecutive years.

On the golf course, Riley Lewis followed up his WCC co-championship with a win in the NCAA Regionals to become the first individual Lion to advance to the NCAA Championship.

2023-24 saw a record year competitively, marked by some truly exceptional achievements. LMU finished with our best-ever finish in the Director's Cup, finishing 115th nationally. The men's soccer team embarked on a magical run, advancing all the way to the Elite Eight for the first time in history. The beach volleyball team continued its national dominance, securing its fifth straight WCC championship and reaching the national quarterfinals for the fourth consecutive year. Men's golf team etched their name in the history books, making their first appearance in an NCAA Regional since 2006 as an at-large participant.

In addition to the WCC championship won by beach volleyball, men's water polo team won the inaugural WCC regular-season championship in the fall, and our women's water polo team won the regular-season Golden Coast Conference (GCC) championship in the spring. Women's Water Polo finished the year with a school-best 27-3 record, losing in the GCC championship match in overtime.

In the spring, LMU also broke ground on the renovation of Gersten Pavilion, with the primary focus on the expanded Academic Success Center. In addition, there will be expanded basketball office suites, film rooms, and training tables. Thanks to your generosity, we will continue to seek out facility enhancements.

Three teams won conference championships and made the NCAA Tournament in 2024-25. Women's Volleyball returned to the postseason for the 16th time after winning their first West Coast Conference Title since 1996. The Lions advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament after defeating Washington in five sets in the opening round to earn 50 points in the Directors' Cup Standings. LMU posted a perfect 13-0 record at home and went 16-2 in the West Coast Conference, including sweeps of San Diego, Pepperdine, and Washington State.

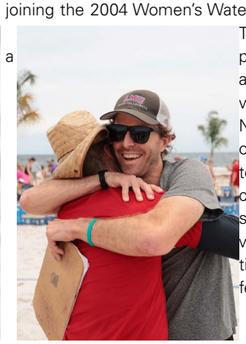

The LMU Women's Water Polo team returned to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since the 2012 season. After completing a second-consecutive undefeated Golden Coast Conference regular season, the Lions hosted the 2025 GCC Tournament as the top seed. LMU won three games in three days at Burns Aquatics Center to claim the program's first GCC Tournament title since 2015. GCC Coach of the Year Ikaika Aki has now won 16 consecutive GCC regular season games and has not lost in conference play since his first season as Head Coach. In total, Aki has posted an incredible 20-1 record in conference, winning over 95 percent of his league games.

LMU Beach Volleyball finished the 2025 season as National Finalists, the furthest the program has ever gone. The Lions entered the championship day coming off a quarterfinal win over USC and a semifinal win over UCLA to earn a spot in the National Championship Match against 2-seed TCU. LMU took the Horned Frogs to the final court, in the sport's biggest stage. Despite losing in a tiebreaker set of the clinching court, the Lions are just the second program in school history to play in a National Championship Game, joining the 2004 Women's Water Polo program.

The 38 wins are program record and John Mayer was named National Coach of the Year. The team also became the first in school history to win six consecutive WCC conference titles.

THE WCC

The West Coast Conference traces its beginnings to 1952, where the California Basketball Association was created to provide a venue for five San Francisco Bay Area schools to compete in basketball - including Saint Mary's College, the University of San Francisco, and Santa Clara University. The conference expanded to include Loyola Marymount University and Pepperdine University in 1955, becoming the West Coast Athletic Conference. In 1977, the University of Portland joined the WCAC (shortened to WCC in 1989). The University of the Pacific became a WCC member for the 2013-14 season. The league will welcome two new members for the 2024-25 and 2025-26 seasons with the additions of Oregon State and Washington State from the Pac-12. In 2025-26, Seattle joined as a full WCC member. Beginning in 2026-27, UC San Diego will join the conference.

The 2026 WCC Basketball Championships will return to Las Vegas for its 18th year. LMU season ticket holders have priority access to purchase WCC Basketball Championships tickets, which can be purchased with your LMU season ticket. Tickets will be in hot demand, and the Conference is anticipating no public sale as all tickets will be purchased through the school allotments. So act now and get your tickets to the 39th Annual WCC Championships, played at the Orleans Arena!

GAMEDAY BASICS

For working media, the press row phone number for Gersten Pavilion is (310) 258-8733... Men's basketball contact is Matthew Lerman, Assistant Director of Media Relations... Seating is provided courtside (space can be limited and is dictated based on credential requests)... Media room is available with hard-wired ethernet connection and is staffed throughout the game (see below)... a wireless connection is also available throughout building, see staff at the game for assistance and log-in information... stats are provided throughout the game, with printed copies provided at each timeout, halftime and postgame... LMU is also supported by Statbroadcast's StatMonitor for instant live access of official stats on any laptop. Postgame will occur outside locker rooms (see below for more).

INTERVIEW SESSIONS

• Non-game

All interviews must be arranged through the Athletic Media Relations Office. To arrange an interview with a coach or player during the week or non-game days, please contact Matthew Lerman, Assistant Athletic Director - Communications at (310) 338-7768 at LEAST 24 HOURS PRIOR to the desired interview time. Interviews will not be permitted during practice or prior to a game on gameday.

• Postgame Interviews:

Home Games - Following a 10-minute "cooling off" period, Coach Johnson will be available for a postgame press conference in the LAC Conference Room A. The LMU locker room is CLOSED. To request player(s) for postgame, please see Matthew Lerman with list of players prior to the final media time-out. Opponent Interviews - Contact the visiting SID to arrange interviews.

Road Games - The LMU locker room is CLOSED. Coach Johnson will meet with the media following the 10-minute cool off period. Requested players will be brought outside the locker room to answer any questions.

GAMEDAY MEDIA CREDENTIALS

Press/photo credentials and access to restricted media areas of Gersten Pavilion will be limited to working media only. Requests for press/photo credentials should be made in writing on the media institution's letterhead or through institution's email address. Credentials are not guaranteed. Requests for single game credentials must be made 48 hours prior to the start of the desired game. Seating on courtside (press row) of Gersten Pavilion will be given on a first-come, first-served basis, with priority given to Season Credential holders. All requests for credentials should be emailed to Matthew Lerman, Director of Communications

MEDIA WILL CALL

Press credentials will be left at Media Will Call, which will open two hours prior to tip-off. Media Will Call is inside the administration office entrance of Gersten Pavilion (across from Burns Center Ticket Office and next to elevator).

NBA SCOUTS

Scouting passes for the NBA teams and scouting services may be obtained via email through the Athletic Communications Office at least one week prior to the game. Requests can be emailed to matthew.lerman@lmu.edu. Press row seats are not guaranteed and are on a first-come, first-served basis. Parking pass will not be issued (please see parking section).

WEB POLICY

Other than the official website of each participating institution, the West Coast Conference (WCC) and contractual rights-fee paying media, representatives credentialed to an LMU athletics event shall not post any game footage, statistics, game updates, or game information on any website (other than that of institutional websites, WCC website or contractual rights-fee paying media website) for 30 minutes following the conclusion of the contest.

CREDENTIAL POLICIES

A working credential ("Credential") is issued as a courtesy to an accredited agency for the sole purpose of providing stadium or venue access to an individual representative of the Agency (the "Bearer") who has a legitimate working function in connection with the event for which this credential is issued. Any unauthorized use of this Credential or violation of its terms subjects the Bearer to ejection from the Event stadium or venue(s) and revocation of the Credential. This Credential is non-transferable and may be revoked at any time without cause. The Credential authorizes the use by the Agency, solely for news and editorial coverage of the Event, of any descriptions, accounts, photographs, films, audio or video recordings, or drawings of the Event. Any other use or attempted use by the Bearer or the Agency is expressly prohibited, unless the Agency has obtained the advance written permission of Loyola Marymount University Athletics for such other use. The Bearer shall not use more than three (3) minutes of video highlights from the Event, and such usage shall be limited to a regularly scheduled television newscast aired by the Agency within a seven (7) day period following the Event. Bearer assumes all risk of harm while covering this Event. The Agency and the Bearer agree to indemnify and hold harmless Loyola Marymount University from and against any and all claims arising out of any acts or omissions of the Bearer. Acceptance of the credential constitutes agreement by the Bearer and the Agency to abide by the foregoing conditions. For complete credential and access policies and procedures, visit the GameDay Central section on LMULions.com.

RADIO RIGHTS

The KXLU 88.9 FM is the official broadcaster of LMU basketball. Space will be provided for the official radio station of the visiting team and will be limited to three press row spaces. LMU Sports Network/KXLU and the visiting team's official radio station are the only institutions who are permitted to broadcast live while game is in progress. Phone lines and an ISDN line are provided to the official radio station of the visiting institution at no cost. To access long distance, a calling card or collect call must be used.

TELEVISION RIGHTS

The West Coast Conference and LMU have an exclusive national rights contract with the ESPN family of networks. Games may be carried in the West Coast Conference region and all requests for broadcast rights must be approved three weeks in advance and requested six weeks prior to the desired game. For visiting teams wishing to broadcast a game not-contracted by LMU to the visiting team's market and not in the Los Angeles area, please contact Matthew Lerman for more information.
