THE OPENING TIP

- Longwood returns to Willett Hall for their home opener against UNCW, after starting the season on the road against James Madison University, and the University of Florida.
- The Rebecca Tillett Era enters its second season, as the first full recruiting class brings in seven newcomers that include four freshmen and three juniors.
- Longwood's women's basketball leadership council welcomes their second class. Four Lancers were chosen for the year-long curriculum: senior Dayna Rouse and juniors Mallory Odell and Tra'Dayja Smith and freshman Anne-Hamilton LeRoy.

LAST TIME OUT

- Longwood jumped out to a hot start early against the University of Florida, leading 19-11 after the first quarter. Dayna Rouse ignited the Lancer offense scoring nine points on 4-8 shooting in the quarter.
- The Gators overcame the deficit scoring 59 points in the final three quarters, 24 coming in the second quarter. Lavender Briggs finished with a double-double for the Gators, scoring a team-high 16 points and 10 rebounds
- Akila Smith, a Florida native, finished with ten points, four rebounds, tied a career-high in blocks with three, and one assist on her homecoming performance

BY THE NUMBERS

- The Lancers are in their 13th season in the Division I era and eighth season as a full member of the Big South Conference.
- Longwood enters its second season under the direction head coach Rebecca Tillett. She came to Longwood after spending the four seasons at the United States Naval Academy, helping the Midshipmen to back-to-back 20-win seasons.
- Longwood, through two games, has two Lancers averaging double-digit point totals. Dayna Rouse leads the offensive charge with 12.0 points per game, and Kyla McMakin is not far behind, averaging 11.5 points per game.
- Transfers, Tra'Dayja Smith, and Allyisah 'Cookie' Boothe bring a long-range threat to the Lancers offense. Smith boasts a clip of .600 from behind the three-point line, and Boothe leads the unit with four makes on the year. The duo has combined for 77% of Longwood's made three-point shots.
- Longwood returns six letter winners from the 2018-2019 team, headlined by All-Big South forward Dayna Rouse. Rouse finished last season averaging 14.4 points and 5.7 rebounds, while finishing 23rd in the nation and among the best in the Big South with a .565 field goal percentage.
- Longwood returns three starters off last season's team and five of its top seven scorers. In addition to returning Milou Vennema, who started five games and appeared in eighteen games for the Lancers, Jada Russell returns with eight games of experience for Longwood.
- Longwood welcomes the additions of seven newcomers to the program in Tillett's first full recruiting class. The quartet of Anne-Hamilton LeRoy, Kyla McMakin, Tayonna Robertson, and Adriana Shipp. A trio of juniors makes up the remaining of the recruiting class, including Allyisah 'Cookie' Boothe, Andrijana Reljic, and Tra'Dayja Smith.

Notes

- The Lancers seek their first victory against the Seahawks in what will be the fourth meeting between the two programs.
- Longwood traveled to Wilmington during the 2018-19 season, with UNCW scraping by with the victory, 35-33.
- Mallory Odell was a force in the paint in the previous matchup with ten rebounds and five points.

A WIN ON SUNDAY WOULD

- Be the fourth under the direction of head coach Rebecca Tillett.
- Mark the 591st win since 1970-71 season where Longwood began keeping records for women's basketball.
- Mark the 96th career win of Longwood's Division I era (2007-pres.)

SCOUTING THE GATORS

- Florida opened its 2019-20 campaign on the road to Grambling State Tuesday with a 72-65 victory.
- Kiara Smith and Zada Williams led the Gators offense in the win over Grambling State with 16 points apiece.
- Using size to their advantage with three players 6-4 or taller, the Gators totaled 44 rebounds, with 19 coming off the offensive glass.
- Florida recorded 19 assists in their season opener, passing their previous seasons best of 17.

LONGWOOD KICKS OFF 100TH SEASON OF ATHLETICS

- One-hundred years ago, the Longwood women's basketball team began a new chapter in the story of the institution.
- In 1920 the 11-woman squad played the first-ever intercollegiate games in school history when they battled Harrisonburg Normal School, which would eventually evolve into James Madison University.
- The Lancer women will serve as flagbearers for a months-long celebration that will recognize some of the most prominent student-athletes, coaches, supporters and moments in Longwood's vast athletics history.

ROUSE MAKES HISTORY

- Junior forward Dayna Rouse was named All-Big South second team to become the program's first-ever player to earn All-Big South first or second team honors.
- Rouse earned that honor on the strength of a breakout junior season in which she finished 23rd in the nation in field goal percentage and among the Big South's top five in scoring (14.4 ppg.), free throw percentage (.839) and blocks per game (1.4).
- She joined All-Big South honorable mention honorees Raven Williams and Autumn Childress in earning all-conference accolades.
- Rouse's field-goal percentage placed her first in Longwood's Division I era and third all time in program history.

LANCERS IN THE CLASSROOM

- Longwood surpassed a 3.00 team grade point average both semesters last season, logging a 3.26 in the fall and a 3.01 in the spring.
- Leading that charge was Longwood's 2019 co-valedictorian Kate Spradlin, a four-year member of the team who maintained a perfect academic resume through her time at Longwood as a business administration major. Spradlin shared that honor with her twin sister, Kellen, and former men's soccer player, Zach Morgan.
- Along with Spradlin, three other Lancers — Kristina Antonenko, Stephanie Guihon and Mallory Odell — were each named to the President's list in the fall for achieving perfect 4.0 GPAs, while Guihon and Spradlin both repeated that feat in the spring as well.
- Along with Longwood's two President's List selections in the spring, Antonenko and Odell both made the Dean's List along with Ciarah Bennett and Ashlee Jones.

DEVELOPING CITIZEN LEADERS

- Among second-year head coach Rebecca Tillett's initiatives in her second season at Longwood was the installation of the Longwood women's basketball leadership council.
- The program includes a rigorous application and interview process, at the end of which Tillett and her staff selects participants who they feel at the most prepared and will most benefit from the program.
- Year two of the program saw four Lancers chosen for the year-long curriculum: senior Dayna Rouse and juniors Mallory Odell and Tra'Dayja Smith and freshman Anne Leroy
- Those four players were hand-picked by the coaching staff after going through a unique application process that simulated a job interview that included putting together a resume and cover letter while also going through the interview stage with Tillett and the remainder of the Longwood coaching staff.
- Tillett's idea for the program came from the book "The Team Captain's Leadership Manual" by Jeff Janson.

GETTING IT DONE ON THE HARDWOOD & ON THE DIAMOND

- For the second straight year, Longwood forward Mallory Odell competed as a two-sport athlete with the Lancer women's basketball and Big South champion Longwood softball team.
- A native of Richmond, Va., Odell was recruited to Longwood to play for both programs after a standout high school career in both sports at Deep Run High School.
- Odell started 21 games and averaged 6.7 points and 7.0 rebounds per game for the Lancers on the hardwood in the winter and then joined the Longwood softball team in March. Two months later, she hoisted the Big South Championship trophy with the softball team after the Lancers secured their fifth conference title in the past seven seasons.
- Odell is a corner infielder for the Lancer softball program

LONGWOOD'S DAUNTING 2019-2020 SCHEDULE

- Six of Longwood's nine non-conference opponents finished with winning records in 2018-19, including reigning CAA champion James Madison (25-5), MEAC regular-season runner-up Maryland Eastern Shore (17-14), MEAC tournament runner-up Norfolk State (17-15) and CAA third-place finisher UNCW (18-12).
- The Lancers will face foes from seven different conferences, including the Southeastern Conference (SEC), American Athletic Conference (AAC), Colonial Athletic Association (CAA), Ivy League, Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC) and Southern Conference (So-Con).
- Of Longwood's 29 games, 15 will take place on the road with non-conference trips to James Madison, Florida, Wofford (Nov. 20), Norfolk State (Dec. 5) and Maryland Eastern Shore (Dec. 19).

DUKE ALUM KA'LIA JOHNSON BOLSTERS COACHING STAFF

- Ka'lia Johnson, the Chester Virginia native and former Blue Devils' captain and ACC Tournament Champion bring a wealth of collegiate and professional experience to the Longwood coaching staff.
- Johnson spent the previous season with VCU, serving as the video coordinator for a team that won 24 games and advanced to the second round of the WNIT.
- Before joining VCU, Johnson spent two seasons with UNCG as a graduate manager breaking down and analyzing film, while coordinating community outreach events.
- Prior to joining the coaching ranks, Johnson competed professionally in the Czech Republic and Switzerland. Johnson earned ZBL Player of the Week four times, while leading the league with 10.5 rebounds, and 19.5 points per game.
- While at Duke Johnson helped the Blue Devils to four consecutive 20-win seasons, back-to-back appearances in the NCAA Elite Eight (2012,2013), and a 2013 ACC Championship. Johnson finished her career with three ACC Academic Honor Roll selections.

DOUBLE DOWN

- Forward Mallory Odell finished her junior campaign among the Big South's top rebounder's, leading Longwood and ranking eighth in the conference with 7.0 boards per game.
- Odell led Longwood in rebounding a team-high 13 times with seven games of double-digit rebounds.
- Odell finished with a double-double in two of Longwood's first four games and finished with four on the year.

The Joan Perry Brock Center: Longwood Basketball's New Home

Longwood basketball reached new heights in 2018-19. Now thanks to the largest gift in Longwood University's 180-year history, the Lancers will continue to climb for years to come.

With a $15 million gift from philanthropist Joan Brock '64, Longwood announced Wednesday plans to build a new university convocation center that includes the new home of Longwood men's and women's basketball. The Joan Perry Brock Center will be located along Brock Commons near Willett Hall, the current home of the Lancers, with a projected opening by the spring of 2022.

Brock's $15 million gift is the largest in history for Longwood University and ushers both Longwood basketball programs into the next phase of their Division I growth while also spearheading the construction of a venue with immeasurable potential for the university and Farmville community. The facility will be designed in Longwood's traditional architectural style and will serve as a host for speakers, concerts and shows in addition to Longwood basketball games.

Design schemes for the Joan Perry Brock Center show a planned basketball capacity of 2,500 to 3,000 seats, increasing the Lancers' current capacity of 1,807 in Willett Hall but purposefully maintaining the intimate feel and energy of Longwood's current home.

"The Joan Perry Brock Center will be a jewel in the crown of Brock Commons, and it means the world that Longwood students will be walking to these great university events, concerts and basketball games right in the very heart of campus," said President W. Taylor Reveley IV. "This building will have real character, inside and out."

At its planned opening in 2022, the Joan Perry Brock Center will elevate Longwood into the top tier of its peer basketball venues in the Big South, joining 2019 Big South regular season Campbell and 2018 champion UNC Asheville with the newest arenas in the conference. The Brock Center will be the Big South's first newly constructed arena since UNC Asheville's Kimmel Arena opened in 2011 and High Point's Quebein Arena, which is scheduled to open in 2021.

"We could not be more excited about the Joan Perry Brock Center and the new future home of Longwood basketball," men's basketball head coach Griff Aldrich said. "The 'JPB' is certainly a game-changer for our program as it will provide Longwood with a state-of-the-art venue in which to play basketball games. This new facility significantly elevates our program as it allows us to provide our student-athletes and fans with a premier arena in which to compete. We are so grateful to Mrs. Brock for her generosity, which will impact not only our basketball program and Longwood University, but also our broader community."

"So many people are drawn to Longwood because of both the sense of community and the steadfast commitment to grow this university," women's basketball head coach Rebecca Tillett said. "Joan Brock's generous gift will impact generations of students. In addition it will elevate every aspect of our women's basketball program, including immediately aiding our efforts to attract high-quality student-athletes. It will also positively influence and empower every woman who chooses this program."

"Joan Brock once said, 'You just give back. It's the American way,'" Tillett continued. "Generously giving to Longwood is certainly the 'Brock Way,' and our program will be forever grateful."

The news follows a breakthrough 2018-19 season for the Longwood men's program under Aldrich, during which the Lancers won the second most games of the Division I era and earned a bid to the College Basketball Invitational, the first postseason tournament in the school's D-I history. Meanwhile, the Longwood women also turned the page to a new chapter under Tillett, who this year turned junior Dayna Rouse into an All-Big South forward and has assembled a foundation-building recruiting class in her first full recruiting cycle.

"This is truly a transformative day for Longwood University, Longwood athletics and the future of our men's and women's basketball programs," said Interim Athletics Director Michelle Meadows. "The Joan Perry Brock Center takes us to a championship level in our ability to recruit and compete, while providing our students, fans and community a venue they can be proud of and a place to share and display their collective Longwood spirit for years to come. We wish to extend our deepest thanks to Mrs. Brock for her belief and investment in Longwood's future."

The Brock Center will take the mantle of Longwood's home court from Willett Hall, which has played host to nearly 1,000 Longwood basketball games since it first opened in 1980. The historic arena is in its fourth decade as Longwood's home, during which it has been the backdrop for eight NCAA Tournament teams, nearly 600 wins and the 2016 Vice Presidential Debate. Willett Hall's historic resume continued into the 2018-19 season as well when the men's team defeated Southern Miss 90-68 in the first round of the College Basketball Invitational, securing the program's first postseason win of the Division I era in the final home game of the year.

The name of the Jerome Kersey Court, dedicated in December of 2016 in honor of the late NBA star and Longwood's most accomplished basketball alumna, will transfer to the Brock Center.

"Willett Hall has been a fantastic home to our basketball programs for four decades now, and there is a palpable history within its walls," Meadows said. "It will continue to serve as our basketball home for the next several years while the Brock Center is constructed, and it will undoubtedly play host to many more historic moments."

"However, what has made Willett Hall such a special place over the years is the energy created by our teams and the environment sustained by our students, fans and the Longwood and Farmville communities. We have long been fortunate to have such a dedicated local fanbase, and the Joan Perry Brock Center will be just as much a boon to our fans and gameday atmosphere as it will be to our student-athletes, athletics programs and Longwood as a whole."

Along with Longwood's home court, the convocation center will also be designed as a future site to host major events in the Central Virginia region, including a possible future opportunity to host another national general election debate. Also part of the project will be the migration of the Longwood tennis courts to a new facility that will be constructed on the south end of campus.

Brock's $15 million gift toward the convocation center is the latest act in a decades-long philanthropic relationship that dates back to before the opening of Willett Hall. She and her late husband Macon are the namesakes and benefactors of numerous hallmarks of Longwood University, including Brock Commons and The Brock Experience.

That unifying potential of the Joan Perry Brock Center, to which Longwood basketball will contribute significantly, was the impetus of Brock's gift and will be at the heart of the project as it enters the design phase.

Now within the next half decade, the Joan Brock Center will proudly overlook Brock Commons, bringing Longwood students and faculty, fans and members of the Farmville community and beyond together to share in a common bond of Longwood spirit.

REBECCA TILLETT

Head Coach

Second Season

William & Mary, '99

Career Record: 3-29 (Second Season)

Longwood Record: 3-29 (Second Season)

Growing up in a family full of coaches and educators, Rebecca Nemerow Tillett was all but predestined to become one herself.

Now Tillett, who helped Navy post back-to-back 20-win seasons as associate head coach, is continuing her rapid ascent up the college coaching ranks by entering her second year as Longwood women's basketball head coach.

A highly successful high school coach in the Commonwealth of Virginia for nearly two decades, Tillett made the jump to the collegiate ranks first at IUP and later at Navy and enjoyed similar success not only on the court but also in the impact she made on the lives of her student-athletes.

Now Tillett is installing her unique brand of coaching success and program building to Longwood where she enters her second season with a roster that includes six veteran returners and seven newcomers, all of her own recruitment.

Among those returning Lancers in 2019-20 is senior forward Dayna Rouse, whom Tillett and her staff developed into one of the Big South's top players a year ago with the 6-0 Pittsburgh, Pa., native earning All-Big South second-team honors and finishing among the nation's top 25 in field goal percentage in 2018-19.

Rouse is once again the centerpiece of Tillett's second Longwood team but is surrounded by a deeper, more versatile and more talented squad. After inheriting a team with little depth on the perimeter, Tillett sought out to bring in a number of shooters and physical post players to bolster her 2019-20 roster, which along with Rouse features fellow returning seniors Khaila Hall and Jada Russell.

Tillett's appointment at Longwood followed her time at Navy, which she began as an assistant coach in 2014-15 under two-time Patriot League Coach of the Year Stefanie Pemper and became Pemper's right hand in short order. After just two seasons, Pemper promoted her to recruiting coordinator in 2016-17, and then to associate head coach in 2017-18.

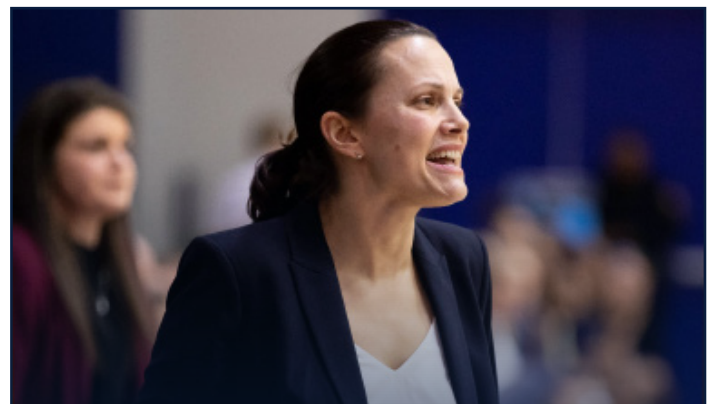

During her four years in Annapolis, Tillett helped the Midshipmen to an 81-47 record, including this past season when they set the program wins record at 25-8 and reached both the Patriot League Championship game and the Women's National Invitational Tournament (WNIT) for the second straight year. Navy went 46-26 in league play and back-to-back top-three finishes during her four-year stint, winning at least 10 league games in three of those years.

A three-year letterwinner, senior captain and 1999 graduate of William & Mary, Tillett was involved with all aspects of the program at Navy and specialized as the team's defensive coordinator. In that role she oversaw a unit that led the Patriot League in defensive scoring twice, posted the eighth-lowest opponent scoring average in the nation in 2017-18 and produced the 2016 Patriot League Defensive Player of the Year and a pair of All-Defensive Team honorees in 2017 and 2018.

And while Tillett's tenure at Navy was only her second coaching stop at the college level – the other being an 18-10 stint in one season as assistant coach alongside McConnell at Division II IUP in Indiana, Pa., in 2013-14 – her coaching career began 20 years ago when she stepped into the same profession as her father, Larry.

Tillett grew up in a Nemerow household with a father who coached two sports and a mother who taught and coached for more than 35 years. She is the oldest of four children, three of which went into the coaching profession themselves, and all in the commonwealth of Virginia. Larry coached basketball and soccer at Osbourn Park in Manassas. Her younger brother Daniel coaches basketball and soccer at Patriot High School in Nokesville. Nate coaches soccer at Battlefield High School

THE REBECCA TILLETT FILE

- Second season as head coach of the Longwood women's basketball program
- Spent four seasons at Navy, helping Midshipmen to back-to-back 20-win seasons and WNIT appearances
- Longtime high school head coach who amassed 166-72 record at Commonwealth schools Osbourn Park & Forest Park
- Began collegiate coaching career at Indiana University of Pennsylvania in 2013-14
- Three-year letterwinner at William & Mary, serving as team captain in her senior season in Haymarket. Her youngest brother Jonah almost escaped the family tradition until he became a Robotics coach at Piney Branch Elementary School in Bristow.

Rebecca was the first of those to transcend to the college level, and now she becomes the eighth head coach in the history of the Lancer program. It's a post Tillett has earned in short order in just five years at the college level, but one that she has prepared for with two decades worth of consistent coaching success since graduating from William & Mary in 1999.

Tillett spent the first 15 years of her career at the high school level, amassing a 166-72 overall record as a head coach while developing powerhouse programs at Osbourn Park High School in Manassas from 2001-07 and then at Forest Park High School in Woodbridge from 2007-13.

At Osbourn Park, she turned a program that had endured nine consecutive losing seasons prior to her arrival into a Cardinal District contender that tied the school record with 19 victories in 2007. In her four years as head coach – which followed two as the head junior varsity coach and varsity assistant – she led Osbourn Park to the Virginia regionals three times and posted a 44-33 record.

She parlayed her success at Osbourn Park into a run at Forest Park where she was named head coach of the Bruins in 2007. She went on to amass a 122-39 record in seven years, earning three Northwest Region Coach of the Year awards, three Cardinal District Coach of the Year awards and Prince William Coach of the Year recognition from both the Washington Post and the News & Messenger.

Forest Park experienced championship success under Tillett, winning the Northwest Region in 2008, 2009 and 2011 and the Cardinal District Championship those same years. The Bruins won the regular-season title four times and advanced to three state tournaments, making a run to the championship game in 2008.

Under Tillett, Forest Park sent players to Division I programs all over the Commonwealth and the surrounding region, including Virginia, George Washington, James Madison and George Mason.

As a high school coach, Tillett also held full-time teaching positions both at the high school and elementary school levels and remains a licensed teacher in Virginia. She is equally decorated in that role, earning recognition as the 2006 KidBiz3000 Teacher of the Year at Sudley Elementary and a SPARK Award Hero in Education honor in 2010 at Forest Park.

Tillett has also spent time as a scout for Women's National Basketball Association, working for the Atlanta Dream from 2010-13.

A native of Manassas, Va., Tillett earned her Bachelor of Science in kinesiology from William & Mary in 1999. She and her husband, Brett, have three children: Isabel, Jack and Maya.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT REBECCA TILLETT

"Rebecca will be terrific at Longwood because she knows how to be successful in every aspect of the job. She's a smart problem-solver, a great collaborator and a tough competitor. Her passion for basketball, for coaching, and for mentoring women is non-stop. She has endeared herself to our program and will do the same in Farmville."

-- Stefanie Pemper, Head Coach, Navy

"I am thrilled that Rebecca is being named the new women's basketball coach at Longwood. I have had the opportunity to know Rebecca and observe her work starting when we were both high school coaches in Virginia. Rebecca's passion, work ethic, and love for coaching has always stood out to me. She will provide strong leadership and an immediate vision to the women's basketball program. Rebecca has a tremendous drive and has proven to be a winner. Simply put, this is a great hire for Longwood women's basketball. I am excited to welcome her to the Big South Conference."

-- Mike McGuire, Head Coach, Radford

"Rebecca is an exceptional basketball coach but even a better person. She is an outstanding recruiter, a great X-and-O coach and she cares about her players both on and off the court. She is dedicated to improving players' skill sets while bringing them together in a manner that creates success. Longwood women's basketball team, alumni, fans, and campus community will love her passion and positive energy. I am thrilled that Rebecca has the opportunity to lead the Lancers."

-- Trina Patterson, Head Coach, UNCG

"Longwood University has itself a gem in coach Tillett. She's probably the best combination of teacher, tactician and developer of leaders that I've ever been around. The players at Longwood don't know it yet, but their lives are about to be impacted in such a positive way. They are going to enjoy the experience of playing for her but, more importantly, they are going to grow on and off the court. I just think that it won't be long before Longwood women's basketball is at the top of the Big South Conference under her leadership."

-- Tom McConnell, Head Coach, Indiana University of Pennsylvania

"Rebecca is an excellent choice to be the next women's basketball coach at Longwood. There is no question that she has been preparing her whole career for this position. Her dedication, knowledge and passion for the game of basketball will continue to drive to succeed. She will recruit well and her players will enjoy being mentored not only during their playing careers but throughout their lives. Rebecca has grown up in the game of basketball, it's what she does, it's in her blood. Longwood has hired not only an excellent coach but an even better human being. I'm thrilled for her and look forward to following the success of the Lancers in the coming seasons."

-- Colleen Sorem, Senior Associate Athletic Director/Internal Operations, University of Maryland

"We're ecstatic to announce Rebecca Tillett as head coach of our women's basketball program. It's obvious that she comes from a family of coaches, both in her coaching philosophy and the impressive resume she has built over the past two decades. She has grown up immersed in the profession in nearly every aspect of her life, so it's no surprise she has had sustained success at every step of her own coaching career. No matter the level of competition, coaches are first and foremost educators, and Rebecca has both the tangible and intangible traits that are universal among great coaches and teachers. When you combine her talents, her work ethic and her experience with her vision to develop Longwood's program around academics, relationships and a cohesive team-first mentality, you have the makings of an outstanding leader for Longwood basketball."

-- Troy Austin, Former Athletics Director, Longwood University
