HISTORY OF MARIST FOOTBALL

The 2014 season will mark Marist's 50th season of playing football. Marist's team was known as the Vikings in its club days before jumping to varsity status at the Division III level, and then to Division I-AA (Football Championship Subdivision).

CLUB

Marist began play in the 1965 season. The Vikings had a record of 3-3, with Bob Finn serving as the club's President. The team advanced to the national club title games in 1970 and 1972, and had a record of 59-31-3 in 13 years as a club, all of which occurred with Head Coach Ron Levine.

DIVISION III

Marist elevated the program to varsity status for the 1978 season, competing at the Division III level. The Red Foxes' head coach for their first 11 varsity seasons was Mike Malet, who guided the program to its first winning varsity season in 1985 at 6-3.

Rick Pardy took over as head coach in 1989. In his second season, he led the Red Foxes to their first varsity conference championship, as they went undefeated in ACFC play and finished 7-2-1 overall. Pardy went 18-11-1 (.613) in his three seasons as head coach.

Pardy's offensive coordinator in his final season was Jim Parady, whose first season as head coach was the Red Foxes' last in Division III (1992).

DIVISION I-AA/FCS

Marist earned its first conference championship in Division I in 1994, the school's first as a member of the MAAC Football League. The Red Foxes finished with at least a .500 overall record in each of their first eight seasons (1993-2000) competing in Division I.

In its final two years as a member of the MAAC Football League, Marist earned co-championships in 2006 and 2007.

The Red Foxes played the 2008 season as an FCS independent, and joined the Pioneer Football League in the 2009 season. That year, Marist set a program record by reeling off a six-game winning streak. In 2013, Marist set a varsity record with eight wins en route to winning a share of the PFL championship for the first time.

MARIST IN THE PROS

In 2013, Michael Rios became the first Marist football player to sign an NFL contract when he joined the Arizona Cardinals on a rookie free-agent deal.

In 2014, Terrence Fede became the first Marist football player to be drafted by an NFL team when he was chosen by the Miami Dolphins with the 234th overall pick in the seventh round. Fede became the first Red Fox to appear in an NFL game.

On Sept. 20, 2015, the first NFL game with Marist graduates on each team took place when Miami (with Fede) faced Jacksonville (with Jason Myers).

In 2018, Myers became the first Marist football player selected to the NFL Pro Bowl, as he represented the New York Jets.

TOUCHDOWN!

J.J. Allen, Adam Hansen, Jovan Rhodes and Obozua Ehikioya, all running backs, are the only players in varsity history to score four touchdowns in a game. Allen did it three times in the 1998 season, while Rhodes got his against Siena in 1994. Ehikioya, the 2004 MAAC Offensive Rookie of the Year, found the end zone four times in the Red Foxes' 41-35 win at La Salle in 2004. Hansen also accomplished the feat against Saint Peter's in a 35-18 victory in 2006.

DEE-FENSE!

In 1997, Marist broke a pair of Division I-AA records on the defensive side of the ball. The Red Foxes allowed just 39.8 rushing yards per game while holding their opponents to just 1.2 yards per carry en route to being the top-rated defense in the nation. Prior to the team's season finale against Siena, the Marist defense was featured in a segment on ESPN GameDay.

CLUB FOOTBALL HISTORY

Ron Levine, Robert Finn, Mike Malet. Those are just a few of the names that over 40 years ago were instrumental in bringing football to the Hudson Valley. The Marist "Vikings," as they were called then, were one of the most powerful club programs in the country. The Vikings competed in the Eastern Collegiate Club Football League with the likes of Iona, Fairfield, Westchester, Norwalk and New Haven. The team finished the 1970 and 1972 seasons with undefeated regular-season records.

Finn, a student at the time, initiated the club program and can be considered the "founding father" of Marist football. Levine served as the first head coach for the program and built the program from the ground level. In 1978, after 13 seasons of numerous All-American selections and conference crowns, the program moved to the Division III level. Malet, who came to the program as a defensive line coach from Cortland State, was given the charge as the first varsity mentor, holding that position for 11 seasons.

RON LEVINE

Ron Levine served as the first head coach of the Marist football team, as he directed the squad in its 13 years of club football from 1965-77. Under Levine's leadership, the Marist "Vikings" were known as one of the most powerful teams of its era at the club level, competing in the Eastern Collegiate Club Football League. Levine then served as offensive coordinator under Mike Malet when the team achieved varsity status.

Marist under Levine:

Seasons: 13 (1965-1977)

MIKE MALET

Mike Malet began his association with the Marist football program in 1970, as he served as a defensive line coach under Ron Levine. Malet took over as head coach in 1978, the first season the Red Foxes competed as a varsity program. In addition to his 11 years as the head football coach, Malet also served as the head men's lacrosse coach and would go on to become an Assistant Athletics Director at Marist.

Marist under Malet:

RICK PARDY

In 1989, Rick Parady became the youngest head coach in college football when he took over the Marist program at the age of 27. Parady led the Red Foxes to the 1990 Atlantic Collegiate Football Conference Championship, as the team accumulated a 7-2-1 mark with a perfect 5-0 record in conference play. He returned to Marist to serve as defensive coordinator under Jim Parady from 1998-2000.

RED FOXES

WHY THE RED FOXES

A 1961 meeting marked both the birth of the Marist College basketball team and the adoption of 'Red Foxes' as the official nickname and mascot. Athletic Director Brother William Murphy, decided to organize a varsity basketball team to play scheduled games against other schools and thought a nickname and logo would be appropriate.

While glancing at a sports catalog, Br. Murphy noticed a reynard, more commonly known as a red fox, on the cover of the book. He decided this furry little creature, indigenous to the Hudson Valley, was to become the mascot and logo of all Marist College teams.

The reynard comes from a great medieval cycle of stories that originated in the Low Countries, northern France and western Germany. The rarity of the word prompted Br. Murphy to choose the general term 'Red Foxes.'

THE COLLEGE SEAL

The circular monogram represents the official seal of Marist College. The date 1929 marks the year in which Marist College received its first charter as an accredited Academic Institution. The large 'M' in the center is the traditional symbol of the Marist brothers. The 12 stars, which appear about the 'M', are a scriptural symbol of the Blessed Virgin, to whom the Marist Brothers are devoted. The Latin inscription within the seal "Orare et Laborare," may be translated "to pray and to work," the original motto of the college.

THE COAT OF ARMS

The emblem pictured is the Marist College Coat of Arms. On either side of the shield stands the official College mascot, the Red Fox, chosen for its keen intelligence and ingenuity. The red and white College colors are derived from the coloration for the fox. The Red Fox is also pictured in the College ring.

In the left quadrant of the shield appears the traditional Marist bell, originally used to regulate the lives of the brothers. The Indian seen in the right-hand quadrant of the shield is taken from the seal of the town of Poughkeepsie (from the Mohegan word 'apo-keep-sinck', a safe, pleasant harbor. The lower half represents the liberal arts. The nucleus of the atom stands for the sciences, while the open book and crossed quills represents the humanities. Atop the shield is the official Marist Brothers emblem. At the bottom is a scroll with the Latin words 'Cum Optimis Litigare', which translated, means 'To strive with the best.'

Marist College Fight Song

Lyrics and Music by Art Himmelberger

*(Shout) — M-A-R — I-S-T,
MARIST, COLLEGE to victory!*

(music interlude)

1st Verse:

*Marist, College, Let the bells ring.
Honor, Glory, Your Praises We Sing.
We're here with banners fly-ing!
Our shouts of victory cry-ing!
Rah! – Rah! – Rah!*

*Alma, Mater, We love you dear.
Conquering, Heroes,
We're here to cheer.*

*We have no fear for Marist College,
We'll fight on to Victory.*

2nd Verse: (Fun Words)

*Marist, Foxes, We're on the run.
Up hill, down hill, having much fun.*

*We lure our every foe,
Into the Red Fox hole.
Rah! – Rah! – Rah!*

*Scratch them, tear them, rip them a part.
Offense, Defense — right from the start,*

*We have no fear for our Red Foxes,
They'll fight on to Victory.*
