TOURNAMENT CHAIRMEN

Wayne Duke (1990-2004)

The first Tournament Chairman of the Southwest Maui Invitational, Wayne Duke, served in the position from 1990-2004 and was instrumental in helping the Tournament ascend to its position as the nation's premier early-season event.

Named to the Basketball Hall of Fame in 2010, Duke was the first employee hired by the NCAA in 1952, where he served under executive director Walter Byers for 11 years.

During his tenure, Duke was principally involved with the men's basketball championship. He then became commissioner of the Big Eight in 1963 and later served as commissioner of the Big Ten from 1971 to 1989.

In 18 years as commissioner of the Big Ten, Duke's tenure was marked by the theme "competitive equality through legislative equality". Noted among legislative changes in which he was prominently involved were the adoption of national (NCAA) limitations on numbers of athletic grants in football and basketball "designed to achieve equality, sanity and economy" and continued efforts to improve academic standards and graduation rates. Advancements in women's athletics and television agreements, among others, were hallmarks of Duke's contributions with the Big Ten.

Upon retirement from the Big Ten, Duke began his tenure as chairman of the Southwest Maui Invitational in 1990. Under his watch, the Tournament rose to prominence. Recruiting the nation's top teams, negotiating long-term partnerships with ESPN, identifying the country's best officials and re-energizing the Lahaina Civic Center are hallmarks Duke championed, and they still resonate as part of the Tournament's mission today. To recognize his profound impact, the Tournament trophy is named in his honor.

An Iowa native, Duke passed away in March 2017.

Dave Gavitt (2004-2009)

Assuming the role of Tournament Chairman in 2004, Dave Gavitt was one of college athletics' most influential administrators due to his leadership on the campus, conference, national and even international level.

Selected to the Naismith Memorial Hall of Fame in 2006, his administrative career began as athletic director at Providence from 1969-1979, where he built the Friar program from seven to 24 varsity sports. He was the founder of the Big East Conference in 1979, where he served as its commissioner until 1990. The Big East flourished under his guidance, offering championships in 19 different sports and quickly establishing itself as one of the premier conferences in the nation.

In addition to his achievements as a player, coach, athletic director, and conference commissioner, Gavitt made several contributions to the game of basketball. As a member of the NCAA Division I Basketball Committee and its chair from 1982-1984, his leadership led to the introduction of domed facilities for hosting the Final Four, the expansion of the tournament field to 64, and greatly increased television coverage on CBS.

He spearheaded the increasing involvement of the United States in international basketball, serving on the board of directors of our Olympic governing body since 1976, including four years as its president (1988-92). Gavitt was at the helm during the creation of the 1992 Dream Team.

Gavitt attended Dartmouth College, where he earned six letters in basketball and baseball for the Big Green. He led the program to two Ivy League titles and two NCAA Tournament appearances. Gavitt passed away in 2011.

Dave Odom (2009-present)

Dave Odom is the current Chairman of the Southwest Maui Invitational. He joined the Tournament in 2009 after more than 40 years of coaching, including head coaching stops at Wake Forest and South Carolina.

Named an ACC Legend in 2016, Odom led Wake Forest to two Sweet 16 appearances (1994, 1995) and an Elite Eight appearance in 1996. His basketball expertise groomed a handful of players to National Player of the Year, All-American and ACC Player of the Year honors, none more noteworthy than two-time NBA MVP Tim Duncan.

Odom began his college coaching career in 1976, when he served as an assistant at Wake Forest. Following a three-year run as head coach at East Carolina, Odom joined Virginia's coaching staff in 1982. It was during his first season when the No. 1 ranked Cavaliers were defeated by then-NAIA program Chaminade on Dec. 23, known as the greatest upset in college basketball history. This inspired what is known today as the Southwest Maui Invitational.

Odom won several awards during his time as a coach, including the National Coach of the Year (1995); ACC Coach of the Year (1991, 1994, 1995); SEC Coach of the Year (2004); and District Coach of the Year (1991, 1993, 1994). He currently serves on the NCAA Ethics Committee and is also involved in Operation Hardwood's Hoops for the Troops program, a three-day basketball tournament for U.S. service men and women stationed in the Middle East.

He is a member of numerous Halls of Fame, including at each of his alma maters – Goldsboro High School (1991) and Guilford College (1983) – along with Wake Forest (2009), North Carolina High School (2015) and North Carolina Sports (2009) Hall of Fame. He was also honored with the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame Lifetime Achievement Award in 2008.

Odom graduated from Guilford College in 1965, where he was a three-sport star (football, basketball and baseball), captain of the basketball team and voted the school's Most Outstanding Athlete during his senior year. He earned a Master's Degree in Physical Education from East Carolina University in 1969. He and his wife Lynn currently reside in Columbia, South Carolina.

LAHAINA CIVIC CENTER

A multipurpose sports and recreation facility for 362 days of the year, Maui's Lahaina Civic Center transforms into a mecca of college basketball for three days each November. It takes a passionate and dedicated staff to prepare the Lahaina Civic Center for three of the most exciting days on the college basketball calendar. During Thanksgiving week, the 52-year old venue morphs from a community civic center, where just weeks earlier a town meeting may have taken place, young children challenged each other in a game of HORSE or local basketball teams held practice, into a bucket list destination for college hoops fans around the world that annually plays host to college basketball's best.

Its 2,400 seats make it one of the most intimate and raucous environments for college basketball fans, coaches and players. Only 15 rows separate the 'nosebleeds' from the hardwood – there truly is not a bad seat in the house. The warm and friendly environment, combined with the excitement of the nation's top collegiate men's basketball programs going head to head, makes the Lahaina Civic Center one of the most unique venues in all of sports.

Over the years, the County of Maui has invested more than $1.6 million to make the venue an inviting atmosphere for fans, alumni and locals. Through the years, upgrades to the bleachers, scoreboards, lighting, and the addition of permanent air conditioning in 2003, have enhanced the experience for teams and fans alike. When wildfires devastated the town of Lahaina in August 2023 and moved the Tournament to the island of O'ahu, the Lahaina Civic Center stepped up to serve as a critical community hub for Maui's wildfire recovery efforts.

Since hosting its first Southwest Maui Invitational in 1987, the Lahaina Civic Center hardwood has showcased many of the game's legendary coaches, such as Mike Krzyzewski, Dean Smith, Roy Williams, Jim Boeheim and Jim Calhoun, as well as All-American players, like Danny Manning, Grant Hill, Steve Nash, Adam Morrison, James Harden and Zion Williamson.

The charm of the Lahaina Civic Center has been and will remain an integral part of the mystique that is the Southwest Maui Invitational. It is distinctly Maui, and represents the proud tradition and exciting future of college basketball's premier early-season tournament.

Southwest Maui Invitational Most Valuable Players

Throughout the history of the Southwest Maui Invitational, there have been 44 individuals and one entire team (Iowa, 1987) named the Dr. Sue Wesselkamper Most Valuable Player.

Dr. Sue Wesselkamper was the President of Chaminade University from 1995-2008. She helped raise the profile of the Honolulu-based university and respectability among institutions of learning worldwide. With her leadership, Dr. Sue helped turn a school that, while small in size, can compete academically and athletically with the best colleges in the nation. Dr. Sue was the Most Valuable Player for Chaminade University throughout her tenure there. Therefore, it is only appropriate to name this prestigious award in honor of her.
