SETTING THE SCENE

The Merrimack College football team puts a wrap on the 2021 season Saturday afternoon at Duane Stadium when it welcomes in Bryant. In just its third season at the FCS level, the Warriors have a chance to notch their second year above .500 with a win against the visiting Bulldogs. Merrimack also went 6-5 in 2019 in its inaugural campaign at the FCS level.

LAST TIME OUT

The Warrior offense started to click in the second half, but it was too late in a 22-6 setback to Saint Francis last week in Pennsylvania. The Red Flash scored just one touchdown, but got four field goals in the first half to build a 19-0 lead at the break. Merrimack pushed through in the third quarter when Westin Elliott dropped in a 34-yard touchdown pass to Anthony Norcia in the corner of the end zone. The visitors threatened a couple more times in the fourth to cut the margin even more, but the Red Flash defense made the stop to secure the win. Defensively, Rodney Samson had another tremendous day with a team-leading 12 tackles.

SERIES HISTORY

In a longstanding rivalry, the Warriors and Bulldogs have met on 17 previous occasions entering Saturday. Bryant holds an 11-6 edge in the series, including both games with both sides at the FCS level, which includes a 14-7 win from Mar. 3 of this calendar year.

THE OPPONENT

Bryant has a chance to win the NEC regular season championship and the auto bid into the NCAA playoffs against the Warriors. The Bulldogs are 4-2 in league play with losses to Duquesne and Central Connecticut and victories over Sacred Heart, Saint Francis, Wagner and LIU. Freshman quarterback Zevi Eckhaus has led the offense with 2,075 yards through the air with 17 touchdowns and just three interceptions. David Zorrilla has been Eckhaus' top target with 44 receptions for 566 yards and two scores. On the other side of the ball, Ryan Saddler leads the team with 86 tackles, including six for a loss and one sack. Joe Andreessen tops the team with three interceptions.

CATCHING HISTORY

Jacari Carter has enjoyed a season that won't be forgotten for the Merrimack receiving corps and he's knocking on the door of history. The redshirt freshman has 81 catches in just 10 games for 642 yards and eight touchdowns. He is now just 12 catches shy of Cooper Kupp's FCS freshman record of 93 receptions that he set with Eastern Washington during the 2013 season before he started his NFL career. Due to Merrimack's current reclassification period to the FCS level, Carter's name would not take over Kupp's if the record is broken Saturday.

SENIOR SEND OFF

Merrimack is set to honor 15 seniors or graduate students that will depart the program after Saturday. Among those included on the list are Tyger Munn, Brett Raynor, Demetrius Wilson, Jason Labbe II, Patrick Gorman, Peter McCarthy, Shawn Page Jr., Jordan Agudosi, Jimmy Tamburro, Chauncy Cogell, Jamari Venter, Anthony Norcia, Elliott, Caleb Holden and Clay LeGault. The players will be honored with a ceremony at the conclusion of the game.

2021 MERRIMACK COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Head Coach Dan Curran

#GoMack

Dan Curran is entering his ninth season as head coach of the Merrimack College football program in 2021.

The eighth-year boss most recently oversaw the program's first two years at the NCAA Football Championship Subdivision level (FCS) as well as the Warriors' inaugural season in the Northeast Conference (NEC), guiding Merrimack to a 6-5 record that included victories over FCS programs Presbyterian, Delaware State and Long Island University. The latter marked Merrimack's first victory over a NEC opponent. Merrimack led the conference in sacks and ranked among the top three in scoring offense and defense in 2019. Individually, redshirt seniors Marquis Spence and Michael Mercuri were All-New England selections after superb debut seasons at the FCS level. Curran also saw student-athletes Cory Hagerman (Defensive Player of the Week), Spence (Co-Offensive Player of the Week) and Corey Resendes (Special Teams Player of the Week) claim NEC weekly honors.

On both sides of the ball, Merrimack proved itself at the FCS level. The Warriors ranked second in the NEC in both scoring offense (31.0 ppg) and scoring defense (21.5 ppg allowed). In total offense and total defense, the Warriors boasted top-three units as well. The team ranked third on both offense (368.3 yards per game) and defense (313.4 yards allowed). In terms of team records, the 2019 season saw Merrimack produce the fourth most rushing yards in season (1,788), score the sixth most points (341), kick the most field goals (10), produce the best kick return yardage average (25.03), collect the third most interceptions (16.0) and sacks (37.0) in school history.

Curran, who was the architect of Merrimack's high-octane offense for three seasons before assuming head coaching duties in 2013, has led the program to several marquee moments over the past six years, including the school's first victory over a Division I opponent when it defeated reigning Northeast Conference champion and Division I FCS Tournament participant Wagner (2013), as well as multiple wins over Northeast-10 Conference powers American International, Assumption, Bentley, LIU Post, New Haven and Southern Connecticut State.

In addition to the success on the field, the team has made its presence felt off the field, as well. Under Curran's guidance, the program was named the Community Service Award winner at the 2014, 2017 and 2018 LEAD Awards for its work with team IMPACT, Habitat for Humanity, Special Olympics, Lazarus House and Lawrence Literacy Night. The football team continues to rank among Merrimack's most active programs in terms of community service hours each academic year.

Under Curran's tutelage, the Warriors have received the four major Northeast-10 end-of-season awards, including two Offensive Players of the Year (Joe Clancy, 2013; Jere Brown, 2015); one Rookie of the Year (Christian Charter, 2018) and one Most Valuable Player (Isaiah Voegeli '13). Curran has also guided four All-Americans, nine all-super region selections; and 39 all-conference honorees, including 11 selections following the 2018 campaign. Those 11 honorees are the most for the program since the 2009 NE10 championship-winning squad also had 11, and trailed only the 2008 team for the program's single-season all-league record (16).

The 2018 season, which was Curran's sixth as head coach, was one that will be remembered for the historic moments made both on the field and off of it, as the campaign began with the announcement of Merrimack's accepting an invitation to join the Northeast Conference and the NCAA Division I Football Championship Subdivision (FCS) ranks beginning in 2019-20. On the field, Curran and his coaching staff might have put together their best effort yet, as the Warriors overcame several early season injuries and a front-loaded schedule that had them play three of the league's - and region's - top three teams all in the first month of the year.

Instead of wilting, the Warriors responded to that adversity with an incredible second-half run that nearly saw the team run the table from October onward, as Merrimack finished the 2018 season with a .500 record for the 14th time in program history. Merrimack went on to win four of the final five games of the season, with its lone loss coming by a single point. The Warriors won five wins in the NE10 and finished with a winning record in league play for the 12th time in school history, as well. Merrimack earned marquee victories on the road against Bentley, Stonehill and Saint Anselm while closing out its NE10 era with a dominant victory on Senior Day against Southern Connecticut State, which also followed a 14-0 shutout win over American International on Homecoming Weekend.

As the team came together during the second half of 2018, several individual student-athletes began to make their mark among the conference's elite; having 11 all-conference selections, the NE10 Rookie of the Year and an all-region honoree only affirmed that fact, as Merrimack will bring back eight of those individuals to begin the NEC era starting in the fall of 2019. Three graduating seniors -- Cody Demers '19, Jesse Jones '19 and Hunter Sallila '19 -- all were among those all-conference selections and were invited to attend the National Bowl, as well.

Curran's offense finished 2018 producing 244.9 passing yards and 377.1 total yards per game, ranking second and fourth in the league in both categories, respectively. Merrimack was also a top-four team in the NE10 in red zone scoring, converting over 80 percent of its tries. The Warriors eclipsed 100 yards rushing in all but one game, as well as 350 yards of total offense in five of those matches, including two games with 450-plus yards. Merrimack averaged nearly 20 first downs/game (4th/NE10) and converted on more than 44 percent of its third downs, the second-best conversion clip in the league.

In 2017, Curran guided arguably his youngest Merrimack team in his tenure, and while some may view that as a detriment, Curran and the coaching staff embraced that challenge head-on, as plenty of first-year and redshirt freshman Warriors would eventually ascend into key roles alongside long-time veterans.

The Warriors saw four players garner all-conference recognition for the second straight season at the end of the 2017 campaign, as Curran saw a first team all-league honor on defense and a second team all-league player on offense. Derrick Villard '18 graduated as one of Merrimack's most decorated rushers after a 1,000-yard, 10-touchdown senior season, while two-time captain Brian Carroll '18 left his mark as one of Merrimack's top safeties in school history.

Curran's offense ranked second in the league in yards per game (412.9) and rushing yards per game (144.6), as well as first downs per game in 2017. Merrimack was also the only team in the NE10 to produce a 2,000-yard passer and 1,000-yard rusher, as well.

In 2016, Curran and the coaching staff also produced four all-conference selections and an all-region pick, as Merrimack fought through a number of injuries to post three victories while playing every opponent tough as part of a challenging NE10 slate.

Class of 2017 graduate Josh Hill, in particular, had a standout year in 2016 by earning a spot on the NE10 All-Conference First Team and led the league in sacks (9.0) while ranking in the top-30 nationally in sacks per game. Hill was also a participant in the 2017 Tropical Bowl and was a member of the Don Hansen Gazette Super Region Third Team.

With the foundation for one of the top offensive units in the country already in place during his run as offensive coordinator, Curran's Warriors did not wait long to show the rest of the region - and country - that they would be a force to be reckoned with, as the first-year head coach led Merrimack to one of its most impressive victories in school history in a 42-41 upset win at Division I Wagner College to open the year.

That victory set the tone for one of Merrimack's best seasons in five years, as the Warriors recorded seven wins for the first time since 2009 and were in the thick of the Northeast-10 Conference race all the way down to the final weekend. Overall, Curran's first campaign as head coach ended with a 7-4 record that included a 5-4 mark in league play, as the Warriors finished in fourth place in the ultra-competitive NE-10.

With Curran at the helm in 2013, three Warriors earned All-America status, one earned Academic All-District, four earned All-Super Region, and a league-high 10 different student-athletes were named to the NE-10 All-Conference Team. Class of 2014 graduate Joe Clancy became the first 4,000-yard passer in league history in addition to throwing 48 touchdowns, a mark that ranked second in the country. He was also named a finalist for the Harlon Hill Trophy (Division II's equivalent of the Heisman trophy), and wrapped up his career with an invitation to the prestigious Medal of Honor All-Star Game.

As a team in 2013, Merrimack once again boasted the top offense in the Northeast-10 Conference and one of the best offenses in the country, averaging 489.4 yards of total offense per game and 39.1 points per game.

Curran became the fifth head coach of the Merrimack College football program in February of 2013 after spending the last three seasons as the Warriors' offensive coordinator, replacing John Perry, who had spent the five previous seasons as head coach.

Curran also gave Merrimack alums Isaiah Voegeli ('13), Shawn Loiseau ('12), Tony Johnson ('12) and James Suozzo ('11) guidance in their attempts to make the professional ranks as each player received a National Football League training camp offer following their senior seasons. Salva ('18) became the latest Warrior to garner interest from an NFL franchise and earn a rookie minicamp invite by the Washington Redskins in the spring of 2018, as well.

Curran came to Merrimack after playing eight years of professional football which included time spent with the Seattle Seahawks and New Orleans Saints of the National Football League as well as the New Orleans Voodoo and Georgia Force of the Arena Football League.

As a player in the Arena Football League, Curran earned First Team All-League Honors and was named to the All-Ironman Team after leading the league in rushing and becoming just the third player in league history at the time to rush for over 20 touchdowns in a season.

A graduate of the University of New Hampshire, Curran earned Atlantic-10 honors after rushing for over 1,000 yards and scoring 16 touchdowns in his senior season playing for head coach Sean McDonnell and offensive coordinator Chip Kelly. The former Chelmsford High graduate was the Boston Globe Player of the Year and received USA Today All America honorable mention in addition to being named the sixth-best player in New England by Super Prep Magazine after leading Chelmsford to a Super Bowl victory and its fourth consecutive Merrimack Valley Conference title.

Curran currently resides in Chelmsford, Massachusetts, with his wife, Megan, and their three children, Ty, Kaley and McKayla.
