• Morgan State men's basketball returns to Hill Field House on Saturday night for a key matchup against Maryland Eastern Shore. Tip-off is scheduled for 4:00 p.m. Fans who can't make it in person can stream all the action live on ESPN+. The Bears head into the contest riding a 5-game winning streak after an 89-80 MEAC road victory over Coppin State last Saturday. UMES, meanwhile, will look to rebound from a 63-54 road loss at S.C. State on Feb. 5.

• Saturday's contest will also serve as Morgan State's celebration of National Girls & Women in Sports Day, recognizing the achievements, impact, and continued growth of girls and women in athletics.

• Senior guard Alfred Worrell Jr. appeared in 32 games as a junior at Southern Mississippi last season, averaging 6.5 points and 1.6 rebounds. Now a key piece for the Bears, he enters Saturday's matchup as the team's leading scorer at 17.2 points per game, shooting 40 percent from the field and 38 percent from beyond the arc. Worrell heads into the contest fresh off a game-high 24-point performance at Coppin State, and being named MEAC Player of the Week (Feb. 2).

• Rob Lawson has emerged as a major spark off the bench to open the 2025-26 season. The senior guard led the Bears with a game-high 20 points, adding five rebounds and four assists in 29 minutes at Georgetown on Nov. 11. He followed that effort with another 20-point outing against Central Penn at Hill Field House. He's averaging 13.5 points per game while shooting 39 percent from the field.

• Graduate guard Elijah Davis transferred from Bowie State, where he started in every game (30) and averaged 10 points, 3.3 rebounds, 5 assists, 1.9 steals, and 31.8 minutes. He also played for Mississippi Valley State (2021-22), Walter State C.C. (2022-23), and Incarnate Word (2023-24). He's averaging 13.2 points, 5.6 assists, and 2.9 rebounds and is shooting 47 percent from the floor.

• Graduate guard Walter Peggs Jr. was a BOXTOROW DII HBCU All-America First Team selection as a standout at Spring Hill College. He became the program's leading scorer in the Division-II era, with 1,137 career points. Peggs is currently averaging 8.4 points and 1.9 rebounds.

MINUTES AND POINTS

Speaking of minutes and points, the Bears distribute them more broadly and evenly than just about any team in the conference.

- Morgan State's squad is playing with eight players averaging at least 10 minutes per game.
- Graduate student guard Elijah Davis (33.4 mpg), senior Rob Lawson (32.2 mpg), and senior Christian Meeks (29.0 mpg) are currently leading the Bears in minutes played.

IMPACTFUL BENCH PLAY DRIVING BEARS

Morgan State's bench has delivered consistent, high-level production throughout the season, with several reserves stepping up in key moments.

- Rob Lawson, Christian Oliver, Walter Peggs Jr., Alfred Worrell Jr., and Matar Wade have all contributed to what is arguably one of the deepest teams Head Coach Kevin Broadus has fielded at Morgan State.
- The Bears have had at least one double-figure scorer off the bench in 14 of 22 games, including five performances of 20-plus points.
- Morgan State is averaging 27.7 bench points per game – accounting for 37% of the team's scoring – while allowing 28.4 bench points to opponents.
- MSU posted a dominant 59-10 bench scoring advantage against Virginia-Lynchburg on Jan. 20, 2026, at Hill Field House.
- The Bears' most recent game in which the bench was outscored came in an 89-80 win at Coppin State, where the Eagles held a 50-31 advantage.

THREE'S COMPANY

- Morgan has made at least one three-point field goal in 114 consecutive games, dating all the way back to Nov. 7, 2022.
- The last time a Bears team did not make a three-pointer was March 16, 2022, when Morgan went 0-for-10 in a 70-65 loss at Youngstown State in the opening round of The Basketball Classic at Beeghly Center.
- The Bears' streak of hitting at least two three-pointers in 37 consecutive games came to an end after a 1-for-17 performance at Cal on Dec. 19, 2025...they bounced back in their next game at San Francisco (Dec. 21, 2025) where they shot 9-for-24... they have hit at least three three-pointers in their last 10 games.
- The Bears connected on a season-high 16 three-pointers against Penn State Brandywine on Dec. 30, paced by Alfred Worrell Jr., who tied the Morgan State single-game record with eight made threes on 8-for-11 shooting from beyond the arc.
- Last season, Morgan shot .340 (148-435) from three-point range and made 10+ three-pointers twice (1-1 record), including a season-high 11 three-pointers on Dec. 4 against Cheney.
- In 2023-24, the Bears shot .293 (148-505) from three-point range.

PAINT PROTECTORS

Morgan has seven players listed on the roster which are 6-8 or taller. Graduate student center Dallas James leads the way as the tallest Bear at 7-foot-1, followed by senior forward Christian Oliver standing at 6-feet-10 each.

PAINT PRESENCE

- Morgan has opened the 2025-26 season averaging 28.7 points in the paint, including a season-high 74 points against Virginia-Lynchburg (Jan. 20, 2026).
- Last season, the Bears averaged 38.7 points in the paint per game (1,237 total).
- The Bears scored 50+ points in the paint four times (3-1 record), 60+ points two times (2-0 record) and 70+ points once (1-0 record) - a season-high 72 points on Dec. 1 vs. Central Penn.

STRENGTH IN NUMBERS:

The Bears believe there's a strength in numbers. Not the number of points scored, but the number of players who are a threat to score.

- Morgan State's balanced offensive attack features five players averaging 6 or more points so far this season.
- The Bears top three scorers are Alfred Worrell Jr. (17.2 ppg), Rob Lawson (13.5 ppg), and Elijah Davis (13.2 ppg).
- After losing Kameron Hobbs (16.5 ppg) and Will Thomas (14 ppg), two of the top players in the league, the Bears had to take a different approach heading in the 2025-26 season.
- The versatility that Coach Broadus has definitely looks like a strength in numbers. Everybody's got to be ready to contribute – from the first player to the last player on the bench.

BEAR CHAOS

So far this season, the Bears defensive pressure has forced 274 turnovers and has 78 blocked shots.

- Last season, the Bears forced 430 turnovers and ranked No. 5 in the conference in turnover margin (-0.06).
- Morgan also led the MEAC with 149 blocked shots (4.7 per game), showcasing one of the league's most disruptive defensive units.

DISHING DIMES

Elijah Davis, a standout player hailing from Severn, Maryland, has quickly established himself as a premier playmaker in the MEAC.

- Davis has been a consistent force in distributing the ball, recording 100 assists.
- He currently ranks No. 2 in the MEAC in assists, averaging 5.6 per game, just ahead of teammate Rob Lawson, who sits No. 3 at 4.3 assists per contest. Davis isn't just piling up numbers—he's orchestrating the offense and consistently creating scoring opportunities, making him a pivotal asset to the Bears' attack.

CATCH US IF YOU CAN

- The Bears are currently averaging 12.1 points per game from fastbreaks.
- In 2024-25, one of the best transition teams in the nation was Morgan State.
- The Bears ranked No. 9 in the NCAA based on their efficiency in scoring off fast breaks.
- Averaging 15.3 points per game from fastbreaks, they capitalized on opponents' mistakes and turned defensive plays into offensive opportunities.

OVERSEAS BEARS

MSU PRO HOOPS UPDATE

Several former Morgan State men's basketball standouts are making an impact early in their professional seasons abroad, turning in strong performances across Europe.

• Malik Miller - Netherlands

Malik Miller, a 6-foot-4 guard and 2023 Bears alum, is in the midst of his first professional season with Groningen in the Netherlands. Miller delivered a standout performance last Wednesday, leading Donar Groningen to an 89-81 victory over eighth-ranked Kapfenberg Bulls in European North Basketball League (ENBL) action. Miller was named the game's Most Valuable Player after pouring in a game-high 27 points while adding eight rebounds, three assists, and three steals in 34 minutes of play.

• Troy Baxter Jr. | Al Shamal (Qatar)

Troy Baxter Jr., a 6-foot-9 power forward and 2021 Morgan State alumnus, turned in a strong individual performance for Al Shamal despite an 83-92 loss to league-leading Al Rayyan in Qatar league action. In a tightly contested matchup, Baxter Jr. led all scorers with 25 points while adding four assists and shooting a perfect 5-for-5 from the free-throw line in a full 40 minutes of action. Through 15 games, the veteran forward is averaging 16.3 points, 5.5 rebounds, 1.5 assists, and 1.4 blocks per game.

• Lewis Djonkam | Targu Jiu (Romania)

Lewis Djonkam turned in a solid effort, but it was not enough to secure a road victory for Targu Jiu. Djonkam, a 6-foot-9 forward and 2023 Morgan State graduate now playing professionally in Romania, recorded 13 points and eight rebounds in 22 minutes as Targu Jiu fell 89-78 to fifth-ranked Valcea. In 16 appearances this season, the 28-year-old is averaging 11.6 points, 6.0 rebounds, and 1.1 steals per game.

• Phil Carr | UniFacisa Paraiba (Brazil)

Former Morgan State standout Phil Carr continues to contribute to winning basketball in Brazil. Carr, a 6-foot-9 forward and 2018 Bears alumnus, helped UniFacisa Paraiba secure a 71-66 victory over 17th-ranked Fortaleza in Brazilian Novo Basquete Brasil (NBB) action, extending the club's winning streak to four games. Now in his first season with the club, Carr has provided steady frontcourt depth and versatility, averaging 6.7 points, 6.3 rebounds, and 1.2 assists per game through nine appearances.

• Myles Douglas | Zubry Bialystok (Poland)

Former Morgan State standout Myles Douglas delivered another strong performance, but it was not enough to lift Zubry Bialystok to a victory. Douglas, a 6-foot-8 forward and 2022 Morgan State graduate now playing professionally in Poland, recorded eight points, seven rebounds, and three blocks in 29 minutes as Zubry Bialystok suffered a heartbreaking 67-66 loss to 11th-ranked Leszno in Polish 1 Liga (second division) action. Through six games this season, he is averaging a team-high 15.7 points and 5.0 rebounds per contest.

• 7-1 center Dallas James currently has 12 blocks in 20 games this season.

• Elijah Davis dished out a season-high 10 assists against N.C. Central on Jan. 12.

• Christian Meeks collected his first career double-double when he posted 17 points and 13 rebounds against Virginia-Lynchburg (Jan. 20, 2026).

• Marland Harris recorded a season-high 14 rebounds with six blocked shots at Norfolk State on Jan. 26.

WORRELL HEATING UP

• One of the hottest players in the Northeast right now is senior guard Alfred Worrell Jr., who was recently named MEAC Player of the Week (Feb. 2).

• The Washington, D.C. native powered Morgan State to two big wins this past week with back-to-back standout performances. Worrell erupted for 33 points at Norfolk State, sealing the dramatic 79-78 victory with a clutch pull-up jumper in the closing moments.

• He followed that up with a game-high 24 points at Coppin State, shooting an efficient 9-for-12 from the field and 9-for-11 at the free-throw line as the Bears won 89-80 in Baltimore's East vs. West rivalry.

The scoring outbursts marked Worrell's ninth 20+ point performance of the season.

• Behind his leadership, Morgan State has now won five straight games, including four consecutive MEAC road victories – the program's longest conference road win streak since the 2009-10 season, when the Bears won seven in a row.

DEFENSIVE ANCHOR

• Marland Harris has recently emerged as a defensive stopper for the Bears and was named MEAC Defensive Player of the Week (Feb. 2).

• The 6-foot-9 forward dominated on the defensive end this past week, totaling 19 rebounds and nine blocked shots over two games. He controlled the glass at Norfolk State, where he pulled down a career-high 14 rebounds and recorded a season-high six blocks. He followed that performance with five rebounds and three more rejections at Coppin State.

• He currently leads the MEAC in blocked shots (26).

• Harris' presence in the paint has been a major factor in Morgan State's surge, as the Bears have now won five straight games, including four consecutive MEAC road victories – the program's longest conference road win streak since the 2009-10 season, when Morgan State won seven in a row.

MORGAN STATE BASKETBALL SEASON PREVIEW

Broadus assembles a mix of young and old for the upcoming season.

As tempting as it is to complicate the game, there's really two major ways for a basketball team to improve, whether it's game to game, month to month, or year to year.

One is to make more shots. The other is to get more stops.

Morgan State coach Kevin Broadus thinks the Bears will do both this winter.

"We have some big wings that are skilled that are coming," says Broadus, who enters his seventh season at Morgan State. "Hopefully they can pick up the system. Another thing we changed is we tried to get better shooters. We have not particularly shot the ball well over the last few years. I think we have better shooters and better defenders."

» BACKCOURT

Christian Meeks (6-6, 215, Jr., Guard)

Alfred Worrell Jr. (6-4, 210, Sr., Guard)

Elijah Davis (6-1, 175, Gr., Guard)

Rob Lawson (5-11, 175, Sr., Guard)

David Bumpass (6-4, 180, Fr., Guard)

Breon Barnett (6-1, 175, Fr., Guard)

Walter Peggs Jr. (6-4, 195, Gr., Guard)

Outside shooting could very well be a bellwether for the Bears. They averaged just 4.6 made three-pointers per game last season, ahead of only three Division I teams.

According to KenPom.com, Morgan State led the country in the share of its points that came on two-pointers in games against Division I opponents, at 62.5 percent.

It was a team built to do damage in the paint and from the mid-range, and only one player (leading scorer Kameron Hobbs) even attempted 60 threes on the season. But the top five scorers from that group have departed, leaving Broadus with an entirely new canvas to work with.

After a 14-18 season that included the Bears' third consecutive 7-7 finish in Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC) play, Broadus believes there's enough in place to take a jump toward the top of the league.

THE BACKCOURT

To this point in his career, senior Rob Lawson (7.4 ppg) has enjoyed the luxury of leaning on older players in the backcourt as he's developed in the Bears' system.

Now, he's Morgan State's only starter from last season still in the fold, and Broadus clearly needs him to be a dynamic figure after the departures of Hobbs, Winston Tabbs, and Will Thomas.

"He's right where he should be," Broadus says. "Fourth year, going into his senior year as a point guard. I think he has to take it upon himself to be better on defense. He knows the system, he knows where he's supposed to be, what he's supposed to do, and where the other guys are supposed to be. He knows that. Now he has to defend better.

» Senior point guard Rob Lawson saw action in 31 games and shot 38 percent from the field and ranked among the league leaders in assists (2.4 apg).

The rest of the backcourt is filled with newcomers, though with varying degrees of experience. From the Division I ranks, Morgan State added Alfred Worrell Jr. from Southern Mississippi, where he averaged 6.5 points last season. The Washington, D.C., native is a big, fast guard, a change of pace for a program that's featured plenty of smaller perimeter options in recent seasons.

A pair of former Division II players should make an impact as graduate students. Walter Peggs Jr. averaged 26.0 points and shot 42.1 percent from three at Spring Hill College, and Broadus raves about his "old-style game" and how well it translates to the Bears' system.

Elijah Davis averaged 10.0 points and 5.0 assists last year at Bowie State, but he does have some Division I experience from stints at Mississippi Valley State and Incarnate Word. A high-IQ point guard, Davis should have the ball in his hands plenty.

Morgan State will also try to develop two freshman guards: David Bumpass from D.C. and Breon Barnett from the Atlanta area.

THE FRONTCOURT

This could be a breakout season for junior Trent Edwards (3.8 ppg, 2.3 rpg), who logged more minutes last season than any of the Bears' holdovers in the post.

"He was in the gym every day this summer," Broadus says. "He stayed. He never went home. He put the time and the work in. It's carrying over. He's really, really doing a lot."

Marland Harris (4.4 ppg, 3.5 rpg) was limited to 14 games last season because of a shoulder injury, and his athleticism gives him a chance to be a major part of the frontcourt rotation. Broadus is hopeful sophomore Matar Wade (1.5 ppg, 1.8 rpg) can take a jump in his second season. He's most likely to have an impact on the defensive end, but if his game can mature a bit, he would be a valuable two-way asset.

Jayden Socka (6-9, 260, RSr., Forward)

Eugene Alvin (6-7, 225, Jr., Forward)

Dallas James (7-1, 240, Gr., Center)

Morgan State is plenty familiar with 7-footer Dallas James, a graduate student who played at South Carolina State before transferring to Indiana. James, the son of 11-year NBA veteran Jerome James, redshirted last season with the Hoosiers, and the combination of his size and basketball IQ should change the complexion of the Bears' defense.

make an immediate difference. The 6-6 Christian Meeks (16.1 ppg, 8.3 rpg at Waubonsee CC in Illinois) is the classic intangibles guy who does a lot of things well and projects to be one of the Bears' top rebounders.

Manok Lual averaged 5.8 points in five games at Division II Frostburg State » Trent Edwards saw action in 26 games and averaged 3.8 ppg, 3.1 rpg and had 27 blocked shots as a sophomore during the 2024-25 season.

before getting injured last season, but his style of play reminds Broadus of Troy Baxter Jr., a first team all-MEAC pick in 2020-21.

Also in the mix is Eugene Alvin (8.9 ppg at Florida Southwestern College), who shot 41.7 percent from three at the junior college level last season.

A wild card this season is Christian Oliver, who missed last season with a health issue but averaged 5.5 points and 3.5 rebounds while starting 10 games for the Bears in 2023-24

THE SCHEDULE

Morgan State opens the season Nov. 3 at Georgetown, a school Broadus served as an assistant coach in two separate stints. It will be the Bears' first game against the Hoyas since Dec. 10, 2001. Other high-major opponents include DePaul (Dec. 9) and California (Dec. 19), the latter part of a three-game West Coast swing just before Christmas.

The home opener is Nov. 6 against Central Pennsylvania College, one of seven nonconference games to be played at Hill Field House. Longwood, which advanced to the NCAA tournament by winning the Big South's automatic berth last season, pays a visit on Dec. 6.

Morgan State opens MEAC play at Maryland-Eastern Shore on Jan. 3, with its first league home game Jan. 10 against South Carolina State. The Bears close the regular season with a four-game homestand capped by a visit from Coppin State on March 5.

Broadus hopes this team can grow steadily throughout that slate and ultimately peak in time for the March 11-14 MEAC tournament in Norfolk, Va.

"It's a slow process, but guys are buying in now and working hard, and that's a plus," Broadus says. "You don't always get that. Guys think they're better than what they are, and don't want to work hard and want to save it. These guys have been dialed in and focused and they've been focused on themselves and each other, and it's been really good so far."
