

A group of female volleyball players in light blue jerseys are celebrating on a wooden court. They have their arms raised in the air, some with open mouths as if shouting or cheering. The players are wearing white knee pads and black socks. The background is a blurred indoor sports arena.

COACH CRAWFORD

Chuck Crawford enters his seventh season at the Blue Raider volleyball program's helm for the 2023 season. Crawford, who has extensive experience in premiere collegiate volleyball, is the 11th head coach in program history. He is also currently serving on the AVCA All-American Committee for the South Region.

In the 2022 season, Coach Crawford led the Blue Raiders to their first winning season since 2013 and their fourth consecutive appearance in the Conference USA Tournament. Offensively, the Blue Raiders put on one of the program's best seasons ever. At the end of the season, MTSU was ranked 12th in the country with a team mark of 1.90 aces per set which ranks first for the program in the 25-point era. The team's 203 total aces also ranks first in the new scoring era, 32 aces ahead of the next best season. On the block the Blue Raiders were no slouches, recording a total of 68 solo blocks, just one away from tying the 25-point era team record. Senior Kayla Henley was recognized with Second Team All-Conference USA honors after becoming one of the best right-side hitters in the country. Freshman Adri Rhoda racked up numerous honors throughout the season including six CUSA Freshman of the Week honors, Second Team All-Conference USA, and CUSA All-Freshman Team honors. Rhoda erased and tied many of the program's 25-point era records, including the single-season ace record (67), single-match ace record (9), single-match solo block record (3), and more. Rhoda ended the season ranked fourth in the nation for total aces and was sixth for aces per set, both ranks were first among all freshman in the nation and first among all players in Conference USA. Junior Taylor Eisert had her best season yet, earning two CUSA Setter of the Week honors and one TSWA Volleyball Player of the Week honor to go along with her CUSA All-Academic nod. Eisert set the program's 25-pt era record for team hitting percentage at .532 and the highest single-match team hitting percentage of CUSA teams this season in a sweep over Miami (OH). Graduate student Kaylee Oscarson received the CUSA Fall Spirit of Service honor for her contributions to community service while excelling academically and athletically. In total, the Blue Raiders earned nine all-tournament honors throughout the preseason on their way to the second-best preseason record (11-3) in the program's 46-year history.

During a year that was riddled with Covid-19 and injuries, Coach Crawford sent the Blue Raiders to the National Invitational Volleyball Championship tournament for the first time in program history during the 2021 season. The Blue Raiders made it to the semifinals in Conference USA for the first time ever after sweeping North Texas in the opening round of the CUSA Tournament. The team took advantage of playing on their home court in 2021, ending the season with a .833 home win percentage, the highest mark the Blue Raiders have had since 2009. Crawford oversaw one of his best statistical seasons from a team standpoint, averaging 11.2 assists/set, 1.6 service aces/set, and 13.9 digs/set - each ranked second during his first five seasons with the Blue Raiders. CUSA Libero of the Year, Marley Banton, would take home the first superlative for the Blue Raiders since 2010 to go along with her All-Conference Second Team selection. Samira Lawson Body was named to the CUSA All-Academic Team, All-Conference Second Team, and is the first Blue Raider to be named CoSIDA All-District First Team since 2007. Taylor Eisert became the fastest Blue Raider to reach to 1,000-career assist milestone during the 25-point rally scoring era, doing so in 27 matches.

Under Crawford in the 2020-21 season, the Blue Raiders clinched a berth in the CUSA Tournament for the second straight season. The Blue Raiders would significantly improve the stat category in CUSA play, finishing fourth in hitting percentage, eighth in opponent hitting percentage, and sixth in kills. The team would also rank 156 in RPI, which is a team-high in the last seven years. Under Crawford's tutelage, Amelia Van Der Werff was selected to the CUSA Volleyball All-Freshman team. She is the third player in program history to be named to the CUSA All-Freshman team. Also, Samira Lawson Body was named to the CUSA All-Academic team. The team would notch another program high 3.78 Team GPA (ranking in the top 20 percent of Division I women's programs), leading to their fourth consecutive AVCA team academic award. Also under Crawford's tutelage, Amalie Jorgensen was named to the Danish Senior National Team. Jorgensen plays pro volleyball in Belgium. Dora Peonia currently plays in the Italian A2 League.

In the 2019 season, the Blue Raiders increased their overall win total by six and conference record by four. Crawford also led the team to its first Conference USA Tournament appearance since 2013. The Blue Raiders continued to grow as the team recorded the highest number of kills (1,425), digs (1,669), and assists (1,334) the program has seen in the past five seasons. Crawford aided in mentoring seniors Taylor Hammill and Brienna Tankesley to their second Conference USA All-Academic Team selection. Dora Peonia earned a spot on the CUSA All-Conference Second Team. Crawford guided Kayla Henley to the program's first Conference USA All-Freshman Team honor. Taylor Hammill received the Conference USA Spirit of Service Award.

In the 2018 season, under Crawford's helm, Bailey Mason earned the program's first Conference USA All-Conference second team nomination. Likewise, Crawford aided in mentoring Brienna Tankesley to achieve her first CUSA All-Academic team nomination.

During his first season as head coach, the team earned a program-high team GPA of 3.689. Crawford significantly improved the team's serving, helping the squad achieve the most service aces (171) and service aces per set (1.64) in the Blue Raider 25-point era. The most improved player from the service line was Dora Peonia, who inked 44 aces to top the program charts in total service aces in a single season since 2007. Likewise, the team earned the first AVCA Academic Team Award in program history under Crawford's helm. Also, Taylor Hammill earned her first CUSA All-Academic team nomination.

Crawford came to Murfreesboro from Auburn, where he served as an assistant for three seasons. Crawford aided in picking the 2018 Auburn recruiting class, ranked the seventh-best incoming group in the nation, the best-rated recruiting class in Auburn history. Crawford coached an All-SEC selection and a pair of AVCA All-South Region honorable mentions at Auburn in 2015. Off the court, Crawford also mentored an SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, a CoSIDA Academic All-District in 2014 and 2015, and eight members of the SEC Academic Honor Roll.

Before Auburn, Crawford spent a season at Georgia Tech coaching the middle blockers while also serving as recruiting coordinator and director of camps.

Crawford went to Georgia Tech from his alma mater Miami (Ohio), where he served as an assistant for two years. With the RedHawks, he helped train three first-team All-MAC honorees and a CoSIDA Academic All-American. Crawford worked primarily with the hitters and oversaw the program's recruiting, grabbing a 'High Honorable Mention' by Prep Volleyball for his 2013 recruiting class.

Before joining the RedHawks, Crawford spent a year and a half as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Jacksonville University. At JU, Crawford recruited the 2012 Atlantic Sun Freshman Player of the Year, Sammie Strausbaugh.

He also spent a year as a volunteer assistant at Georgia Tech in 2009, helping the Yellow Jackets to an NCAA Tournament bid after a five-year postseason drought.

Crawford earned his Bachelor of Science degree in health and physical education from Miami University in 2001. He was a four-year member of the RedHawks club volleyball team and also played one year on the Redhawks baseball team.

Crawford is married and has five children. An avid rock and mountain climber, Crawford was in the Weather Channel TV series Epic Conditions, climbing the Nose of El Cap (3,300 feet) in Yosemite. He has also summited 14,400-foot Mount Rainer in Washington state and spent three years riding bulls in the Professional Rodeo Cowboy Association (PRCA).

Q&A WITH COACH CRAWFORD

What was your life like growing up?

I had a pretty colorful childhood, my father raised me by himself. It was late '70s, early '80s growing up and the economy was rough, so we were actually homeless... It was interesting to say the least, but my dad in the early to mid- '80s got a really good job as a welder. We moved from a one room motel to a one-bedroom apartment, then to another apartment and then into a house. It was wild... It was a different way to grow up, but things got better through middle school and high school. A lot of great lessons were taught then.

Towards the end of high school life was pretty stable. I worked hard and was able to go to Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, which is a pretty good academic school.

When I was there they were ranked the eighth toughest academic school in the nation and when I left they went up to third. During that time, I also worked with a family who had two sons with muscular dystrophy. My job was to one to two times a night, help them turn over or use the bathroom. Sometimes it would be multiple times an hour and then I'd have to get up and go to class. It was definitely an interesting childhood and into my younger adult years, but I wouldn't change any of it.

When did you get into coaching volleyball at the collegiate level?

I was a special education teacher and taught regular education health and I was sitting at my desk one day writing a practice plan and decided that I wanted to try to be a college coach. So, I put a two-year plan in place to prepare myself, and that two-year plan included surrounding myself with the right mentors and then to put it all into action. My dad moved from Ohio, was paying his mortgage, moved in with us, paid us rent and watched our oldest son for free just so I could quit my job and become a volunteer assistant... I've always been the type of person that was willing to pay the price no matter what it took. I've never been afraid of hard work, pain, loneliness or lack of money. If I set a goal I was going to accomplish it. I really wanted to be a college coach and I was going to do it, so I did.

What type of athletes do you like to recruit?

I love to recruit athletes that in some way reflect me, but not to the extreme. I love recruiting athletes that are tough, gritty, that aren't afraid to pay the price. I also really respect athletes that are humble. Without humility, the world has a really funny way of humbling you. Kids that understand what leadership is, but also understand that if you want something in life you're going to have to grind and work for it every day... I also want athletes that take their academics seriously. Volleyball for us is a terminal sport unless you go play professionally in Europe. It's a terminal sport after college. So, I want our athletes to focus on their academics as much as they do on the court.

What is most important to you in life?

My faith in God. There's religion, which is man-made and then there's faith, which is a choice we make as an individual. For me, it is my relationship with God and what Jesus Christ did for me as a Christian that is the most important thing in my life. After that it's my family of course, but without my faith I couldn't be a good husband, I couldn't be a good father and I couldn't be a good leader and mentor to our players.

COACH ORNER

Jenna Orner enters her seventh season on the Middle Tennessee volleyball staff in 2023 with a new role as Associate Head Coach. Orner has spent the last six seasons as an assistant coach and will continue her duties as recruiting coordinator. She is currently the Conference USA representative of the AVCA Assistant Coaches Committee.

In the 2022 season, Coach Orner helped lead the Blue Raiders to their first winning season since 2013 and their fourth consecutive appearance in the Conference USA Tournament. Offensively, the Blue Raiders put on one of the program's best seasons ever. At the end of the season, MTSU was ranked 12th in the country with a team mark of 1.90 aces per set which ranks first for the program in the 25-point era. The team's 203 total aces also ranks first in the new scoring era, 32 aces ahead of the next best season. On the block the Blue Raiders were no slouches, recording a total of 68 solo blocks, just one away from tying the 25-point era team record. Senior Kayla Henley was recognized with Second Team All-Conference USA honors after becoming one of the best right-side hitters in the country. Freshman Adri Rhoda racked up numerous honors throughout the season including six CUSA Freshman of the Week honors, Second Team All-Conference USA, and CUSA All-Freshman Team honors. Rhoda erased and tied many of the program's 25-point era records, including the single-season ace record (67), single-match ace record (9), single-match solo block record (3), and more. Rhoda ended the season ranked fourth in the nation for total aces and was sixth for aces per set, both ranks were first among all freshman in the nation and first among all players in Conference USA. Junior Taylor Eisert had her best season yet, earning two CUSA Setter of the Week honors and one TSWA Volleyball Player of the Week honor to go along with her CUSA All-Academic nod. Eisert set the program's 25-pt era record for team hitting percentage at .532 and the highest single-match team hitting percentage of CUSA teams this season in a sweep over Miami (OH). Graduate student Kaylee Oscarson received the CUSA Fall Spirit of Service honor for her contributions to community service while excelling academically and athletically. In total, the Blue Raiders earned nine all-tournament honors throughout the preseason on their way to the second-best preseason record (11-3) in the program's 46-year history.

During a year that was riddled with Covid-19 and injuries, Orner helped send the Blue Raiders to the National Invitational Volleyball Championship tournament for the first time in program history during the 2021 season. The Blue Raiders made it to the semifinals in Conference USA for the first time ever after sweeping North Texas in the opening round of the CUSA Tournament. The team took advantage of playing on their home court in 2021, ending the season with a .833 home win percentage, the highest mark the Blue Raiders have had since 2009. CUSA Libero of the Year, Marley Banton, would take home the first superlative for the Blue Raiders since 2010 to go along with her All-Conference Second Team selection. Samira Lawson Body was named to the CUSA All-Academic Team, All-Conference Second Team, and is the first Blue Raider to be named CoSIDA All-District First Team since 2007. Taylor Eisert became the fastest Blue Raider to reach to 1,000-career assist milestone during the 25-point rally scoring era, doing so in 27 matches. Orner helped Marley Banton become the 25-point era program leader, averaging 4.63 digs/set. Banton also dug up an all-time progra record of 39 digs in a win over Florida Atlantic (10/29/21).

In the 2020-21 season under the guidance of Orner the Blue Raiders clinched a berth in the CUSA Tournament for the second straight season. The Blue Raiders would significantly improve the stat category in CUSA play, finishing fourth in hitting percentage, eighth in opponent hitting percentage, and sixth in kills. Under Orner's tutelage, Amelia Van Der Werff was selected to the CUSA Volleyball All-Freshman team. She is the third player in program history to be named to the CUSA All-Freshman team. Also, Samira Lawson Body was named to the CUSA All-Academic team. Her selection marks the third consecutive year a Middle Tennessee player has received the honor. The team would notch another program high 3.78 Team GPA (ranking in the top 20 percent of Division I women's programs), leading to their fourth consecutive AVCA team academic award. Also under Orner's tutelage, Amalie Jorgensen was named to the Danish Senior National Team. Jorgensen plays pro volleyball in Belgium. Dora Peonia currently plays in the Italian A2 League.

The Blue Raiders continued to grow as a team in 2019, recording the highest number of kills (1,425), digs (1,669), and assists (1,334) the program has seen in the past five seasons. Orner aided in mentoring seniors Taylor Hammill and Brienna Tankesley to their second Conference USA All-Academic Team selection. Orner helped Dora Peonia earn a spot on the CUSA All-Conference Second Team, making her the fifth player in Blue Raider history to be named. Orner also helped guide Kayla Henley to the program's first Conference USA All-Freshman Team honor.

In 2018, Orner aided the team's back row to record the most digs (1,359) in the program's past four seasons. Under Orner's guidance, Bailey Mason earned the program's first Conference USA All-Conference second team nomination, marking the first time a Blue Raider has earned a CUSA conference postseason honor in three seasons. Likewise, 10 players were named to CUSA Commissioner's Honor Roll, and a team-high six players earned CUSA Commissioner's Academic Medal. Vonnie Covington received the SAEC Achievement Award.

During her first season as an assistant coach, Orner helped lead the team to the best service ace performance in school history in the 25-point era. In the 1st semester of being hired, the team earned a program-high team GPA of 3.689. Orner helped to significantly improve the team's serving, helping the squad achieve the most service aces (171) and service aces per set (1.64) in the Blue Raider 25-point era. The team would finish the season second in CUSA in aces. Orner helped guide the team to its first AVCA Academic Team Award in program history. Also, Taylor Hammill earned her first C-USA All-Academic team nomination.

2022 YEAR IN REVIEW

MIDDLE TENNESSEE VOLLEYBALL

2022 SEASON IN REVIEW

2022 Season Review

Middle Tennessee Volleyball started off the season 8-2 through ten matches, marking their best start through 10 matches since 2008 when the team went to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

The Blue Raiders defeated undefeated Boston College to mark the first win against a Power-5 team since 2014.

The Blue Raiders had four earn preseason All-Tournament honors, two All-Conference USA members and one All-Academic member.

ALL-CONFERENCE USA MEMBERS

Middle Tennessee earned two All-Conference honors for the second consecutive season. Kayla Henley and Adri Rhoda both were named to the Second Team on November 17, 2022.

Henley has tremendous growth this year, earning her All-Conference USA Second Team honors. Many saw this coming for the six-rotation right-side after being named Preseason All-Conference earlier this season. The three-time All-Tournament Team member from this preseason has seen single-season career highs in kills, hitting percentage, digs, digs per set, solo blocks, total blocks, and points.

Among right-side hitters in conference, Henley ranked first in total digs while also ranking second in hitting percentage and digs per set. The Little River, South Carolina native is second on the team in kills, kills per set, digs, digs per set, points, and points per set. Earlier this season, Henley set a career-high in kills with 21 on a .571 hitting percentage in a win over Belmont. She also saw a career-high in digs with 19 in the team's first Power Five win since 2014, against a Boston College team that was 10-0. Sticking to the defensive side, Kayla blocked a career-high six balls in their win over Nevada in the third match of the season.

Rhoda was a six-time C-USA Freshman of the Week honoree, which led all freshman and was one short of being tied for the most in conference history, and a two-time All-Tournament Team selection. Rhoda currently holds program records for single-match aces (tied), single-season aces, single-season aces per set, career aces per set, and single-match solo blocks (tied) in the 25-point era.

2,000 CAREER ASSISTS

Taylor Eisert has proved to be one of the best setters in Conference USA. Last season she became the fastest Blue Raider to reach the 1,000-career assists milestone. It took a total of 27 matches and was reached in a win over FIU on October 7, 2021.

This season was no different for Eisert. She reached 2,000 career assists, which would be the third in the 25-point era and ninth in program history on October 2, 2022 in a win over FIU.

Eisert has 2,353 career assists during the current rally-scoring era with only 65 matches played. In her three seasons at MTSU, Taylor is averaging 2.38 digs per set.

Among setters in conference, Eisert was third in total assists 948 and fourth in assists per set (9.48).

FRESHMAN YEAR STAR

Rhoda was a six-time C-USA Freshman of the Week honoree, which led all freshman and was one short of being tied for the most in conference history, and a two-time All-Tournament Team selection. Rhoda currently holds program records for single-match aces (tied), single-season aces, single-season aces per set, career aces per set, and single-match solo blocks (tied) in the 25-point era.

Among freshmen in conference, Rhoda led in kills, kills per set, service aces, aces per set, solo blocks, points, and points per set. She was also third in hitting percentage among freshman, and first among freshman hitters.

Rhoda finished the season ranked nationally No. 5 in aces and No. 4 in aces per set.
