NEWS AND NOTES

WE'RE BACK!

After opting out of the 2020-2021 season, Bethune-Cookman women's basketball returns in full force eager to make a return to the NCAA tournament with a new coaching staff and in a new conference -- the Southwestern Athletic Conference.

WHAT'S NEW

Bethune-Cookman takes to the road for its first Southwestern Athletic Conference road games this weekend, facing Mississippi Valley State and Arkansas Pine-Bluff.

The Wildcats (2-11 overall, 0-3 SWAC) are still looking for their first road victory of the season after seven non-conference setbacks as well as their first league win. B-CU is also trying to snap a six-game losing streak.

The third quarter has not been kind to the Wildcats in the past two games...B-CU was outscored 44-9 in its two games last weekend against Grambling State and Southern. B-CU led by one against Grambling State and only trailed Southern by one after the respective halftimes.

BLENDING

Five returning players from 2020 are on the roster, including two who played in the 2019 NCAA tournament -- Camary Harris and Tania White. Three players -- Morgan Beacham, Tatum Hayes and Imani Reid -- joined Harris and White on the 2020 team that won 15 games in a row en route to a Mid-Eastern Athletic

A NEW HOME

After 40 years in the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference, the Wildcats made the move to the Southwestern Athletic Conference this year. B-CU was picked to finish eighth in the 12 team league in the preseason poll.
