 Adjusting the Sails: Strategies to Lead Your Department During a Storm of Disruption

- When a storm arises, a good sailor doesn't shake his fist at the wind, but adjusts the sails so the wind takes the ship where it needs to go. Most athletic departments feel the disruption from today's realities in college sports and government policy. In crises, some leaders get mad while others get busy. This session provides the path forward to not only face new hardships but to capitalize on them. It provides a strategy for change management and four principles leaders can practice to both respond to change and to lead the adjustments necessary to flourish. The session will be both practical and inspirational.
