

THE TRADITION

Of the 31 varsity sports which thrive at the Naval Academy, none surpasses lacrosse's winning tradition that includes eight-consecutive National Championships among a total of 17 to date. Navy's rich and storied heritage owes its origin to former Johns Hopkins players Frank Breyer and Bill Hudgins who volunteered in to help organize and coach Navy's first collegiate team in 1908. Navy lacrosse owes its "Glory Years" largely to a Rutgers University graduate named Willis "Bildy" Bilderback whose record of nine National Championships in 14 years as head lacrosse coach is likely never to be matched. In addition to winning outright or sharing the collegiate national championship eight years in a row (1960-67), "Bildy's" 1965 team was the first college team in 42 years to win both the National Collegiate Championship and the National Open Championship.

More than 400 donors from the extended Navy lacrosse family composed of current and former players, coaches, trainers, equipment managers, team managers, and of course Navy lacrosse friends and parents around the globe made possible the Bilderback-Moore Navy Lacrosse Hall of Fame that opened in the summer of 2007. It honor heroes and champions who "carried a lacrosse stick" while they were Midshipmen, but it also signifies both the Naval Academy's and the alumni's commitment to support and extend Navy's winning lacrosse tradition. Fittingly named after two superb gentlemen who left their indelible legacy in both the sport and Navy's winning tradition, hundreds of heroes, champions, coaches and exceptional friends of Navy lacrosse have been enshrined. Included are two Medal of Honor recipients, 31 Navy Cross honorees, and 50 Silver Star winners among more than 400 former All-Americans in whose ranks are 11 National Lacrosse Hall of Fame inductees, 8 state Lacrosse Halls of Fame members, and 21 National Individual Award winners. Many more Navy Lacrosse alumni are recipients of Distinguished Flying Crosses, Bronze Stars and Purple Hearts. James Carrington, has special recognition in the Bilderback-Moore Lacrosse Hall of Fame as both a player and coach as he remains the only Midshipman since 1850 to receive All-America honors in three sports (lacrosse, football, and swimming). Of course, among the four National Coaches of The Year recognized in the Bilderback-Moore Hall of Fame are National Lacrosse Hall of Fame members William H. "Dinty" Moore for whom Jim Carrington played, and Bildy, for whom Jim coached.

Many Navy lacrosse players have "given back" to this sport in a variety of ways that have clearly helped make lacrosse America's fastest growing sport more than 100 years later! Among them are Ed Gibbons. Charlie Guy, the 1945 recipient of the Schmeisser Award, is one of nine Navy players to win the coveted award and also the former University of Virginia who led the Cavaliers to their first National Championship. More than 40 years after graduating from the Academy, Jimmy Lewis '66 is the only player in the history of college lacrosse to win the Turnbull Award three-straight years consecutively. Glen Miles was the 1986 recipient of the MacLaughlin Award, named after Lt. Don MacLaughlin '63, an All-American lacrosse player for the Midshipmen who was killed in action in Vietnam. Finally, the names Denny Wedekind '65 and Mickey Jarboe 2000 are synonymous with some of the all-time greatest goalkeepers in lacrosse history, as both are two-time Kelly Award winners.

The Finlayson Years

On April 4, 1908, Navy played its first scheduled lacrosse game against its arch in-state rival still to this day, Johns Hopkins. The Blue Jays handed Navy its first lacrosse defeat, and the team finished the season 1-2. However, it took Navy only two years with Blue Jay mentors coaching to turn the tables on Johns Hopkins, winning 7-6 in 1910. Head Coach George Finlayson, took the reins as Navy's extraordinary mentor from 1911-1935. He quickly brought Navy its first two undefeated seasons in 1912 and subsequently in 1914 (with a tie in each of those seasons).

The outbreak of WWI led to the cancellation of the latter part of the lacrosse season in 1917, but ironically, the beginning of WWI also marked the start of a saga unique in college annals. Coach Finlayson expanded the cornerstone of Navy's winning lacrosse tradition with seven undefeated seasons from 1917 through 1923 (one tie), a 40 game winning streak. In that seven-year span, Navy stood supreme among college lacrosse teams in the nation. In 1920, Navy surrendered just six goals in nine games, the launching of Navy's reputation for outstanding individual and team defense. The following year, Navy's defense was stout, giving up three goals in seven games and turning in five shutouts, while its powerful offense scored 84 goals.

Coach Finlayson piloted the Mids through two more unbeaten seasons, but in 1924, Navy's in-state rival Maryland handed the Mids their first defeat in eight years, 5-3. The highlight of the 1924 lacrosse season was Navy's first game against, and victory over, its top rival- Army. The Mids beat the Black Knights 5-0 at West Point, handing Army its only loss that season.

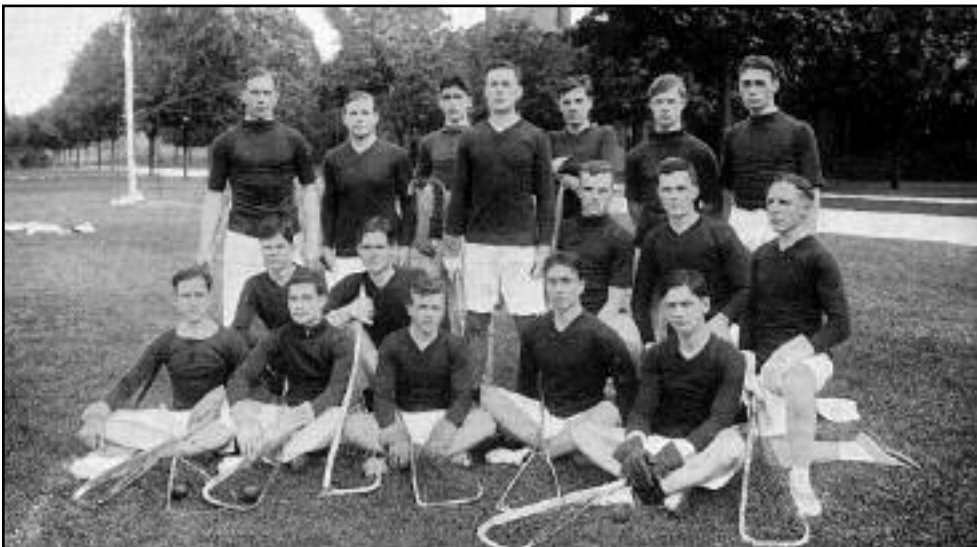

Finlayson's 1925 and '26 lacrosse teams dominated with back-to-back undefeated seasons. In just the second game played between Army and Navy, the Mids handed the Cadets their only loss, 3-2. Although low scoring, the 1925 game was described in a radio broadcast as "the most tense, the most thrilling, the most beautiful athletic contest ever seen on a field of sport."

By the end of the 1926 season, Coach Finlayson had eleven undefeated seasons (including three with one tie), but had not yet won a National Championship. In 1928, Navy shared its first National Championship with Johns Hopkins, Maryland and Rutgers, followed by its second in 1929 when Navy and Union College were both presented gold medals.

George Finlayson completed his Navy coaching career in 1935 with a remarkable 82.9 winning percentage (140-25-10) over 25 years, second only to Navy's Willis Bilderback who recorded an 83.0 winning percentage (131-26-2) between 1959-72. His record of 13 unbeaten seasons is unprecedented!

The Moore Years

Dinty Moore, a lacrosse icon, founder and coach of St. John's College lacrosse, succeeded Finlayson in 1936. Over the next 23 years, Moore added six national lacrosse championships and national coach of the year honors to his stellar resume. His 1938 squad registered a 7-0 slate to claim the Wingate Trophy which the USILA first awarded in 1936 to the collegiate national champion.

It took only four years for Moore's Mids to reach the top again, as his 1943 squad won the national title outright. R.J. Booze '44 established an Academy record for goals in a game with eight in a 20-6 victory over Drexel, a varsity record that has not been equaled in the years since. Navy won or shared the national title five times in the next dozen-year span from 1943 through 1954. In 1945, the Mids were forced to settle for a co-championship with arch rival Army after battling the Cadets to a 7-7 deadlock at the end of two overtime periods. Two-time All-American and team captain Charlie Guy became the first recipient of the Schmeisser Memorial Cup in 1945, awarded to the outstanding defenseman in the nation.

Navy responded the following season by reclaiming the Wingate Trophy outright, finishing the 1946 season 8-1. Hopkins was their only loss, but the Mids triumphed over Army 12-10. Stewart McLean became college lacrosse's first recipient of the Jack Turnbull Memorial Award in 1947, given to the most outstanding attackman in the nation.

James "Lee" Chambers was only a plebe on that '46 championship squad, but his contributions earned him First-Team All-American honors. Chambers was also named a First-Team All-American twice again before he graduated with numerous other awards including the Navy Sword for the most outstanding athlete in the graduating class. Captain of the '49 Midshipmen, Chambers led the squad through a perfect 11-0 season; however, Navy was forced to share the title that year with the Blue Jays. The 1949 recipient of the Turnbull Trophy, Chambers' 143 goals scored over four seasons still stands as a Navy record.

After a four year absence from the spotlight, Moore's 1954 squad made winning the national championship appear comparatively simple. The Mids opened the season with an 18-0 rout of Washington College, followed by a 21-2 thrashing of Harvard, and a 23-1 dumping of Penn State. Maryland fell to Navy 12-7, and that five goal spread was the closest any team would come to the Mids in a perfect 10-0 season. While the winning may have seemed easy on the field, the coaching took on a new angle—literally—during a mid-season contest with Duke. One of Dinty's own attackmen accidentally hit him on the sideline as players went out of bounds, breaking the coach's leg. Only after Navy had disposed of the Blue Devils, 17-3, was Moore carried to a hospital for treatment. He was confined to bed for three months, and permitted to use a wheelchair only once weekly. From that wheelchair, Dinty coached his '54 team to a national title over Army. Ten members of his team were accorded All-American honors, including first-team selection Stanley Swanson, another Navy defenseman awarded the Schmeisser Cup.

Moore had three undefeated squads during his career, with his teams losing only 10 games in his final five seasons. Dinty retired after the '58 campaign, taking with him an impressive 23-year record of 159 wins, 50 losses and two ties. He helped mold 146 All-Americans, while his teams were outright national champs four times and co-champs twice. He was Navy Lacrosse's ambassador and head coach who did it for the love of both the game and his players' work ethic.

The Bilderback Years

It was the "Glory Years" or "Decade of Dominance" in Navy lacrosse, an era never to be equaled. The 1960s belonged, undeniably, to Navy. Plebe coach for 12 years, Willis Bilderback, or Bilty, succeeded Moore in 1959. From 1960-1967, the Midshipmen won eight consecutive national championships, winning outright in '60, '62, '63, '64, '65, and '66, and sharing it in '61 with Army, while in '67, Navy stood alongside Hopkins and Maryland as the tri-champions. During that eight-year span, Navy produced a 79-8 (.908) record and a decade mark of 96-14-1 (.869). The Mids won 25-consecutive games beginning with a season-opening victory over Rutgers on March 28, 1964, and ending four games into the 1966 campaign season.

Coach Bilderback won his first national title in 1960, and coincidentally his last in 1970. This Decade of Dominance as many observers refer to it, had its underpinnings in team defense from goalies, close defensemen and waves of midfielders. His goal tenders received the Kelly Award four times as the best in the nation. His defensemen received the Schmeisser Cup as the nation's best five times. Some say he redefined the game by combining recruits with prior experience and superior stick skills gained in high and prep school with a surprisingly large number of so-called in-house recruits among Navy's highly-competitive and often nationally-ranked football teams. He was famous for virtually molding raw athletic talent in four years or less into All-American lacrosse players who hadn't played before entering the Naval Academy. This mix of players resulted in exceptionally hard-hitting teams of athletes who often won games over opponents possessing greater team stick skills, but less physical prowess.

While the late Don MacLaughlin starred at midfield on three of Bilty's national championship teams, no award existed in the 1960s for the best midfielder in the country. Today, the annual MacLaughlin Award is presented to the nation's top midfielder. MacLaughlin was killed in action while flying jets over Vietnam. The MacLaughlins personified the offensive star talent whom Bilty recruited from high school for attack and midfield. His scorers won the Turnbull award four times as the best attackmen in the U.S., and four of his team captains received the highest votes in '60, '62, '64, and '65 among First-Team All-American midfielders.

With All-American '59 team captain Ed Gibbons knocked out early in the season by a broken leg suffered in practice during a collision with All-American '60 team captain Dick Pariseau, Navy finished a modest 6-3 in 1959.

In just his second year, Bilty's 1960 squad finished with an unblemished 10-0 slate and reigned atop the lacrosse world for the first time since 1954. To add to Navy's delight, it also came at the expense of Army thanks largely to All-American and Navy Sword winner Karl Rippelmeyer. That year, Bilty received the Touchstone Award as the Div. I National Coach of the Year. As was the case in Bilty's first year as mentor, eight of his players received All-America honors, including midfielder Hank Chiles, who later became a four Star Admiral, the senior officer among all military career lacrosse alumni in more than half a century. It was only the beginning of a dynasty Bilderback built with Navy winning nine titles from 1960 through 1970.

In 1961, the Mids swept through their first nine opponents before the Black Knights of the Hudson handed Navy its first loss (10-8) in the season finale. As a result, the Mids and Black Knights stood together as Co-National Champions. All-American Tom Mitchell received the Turnbull Award as the nation's top attackman, leading the Mids to their second-consecutive title. Team captain Neil Reich led the defense and received First-Team All-America recognition.

From 1962 until the end of the '66 campaign, the Mids lost just three games while claiming five consecutive outright national championships. This record still stands in college lacrosse as the longest string of consecutive outright national titles won by a team.

The '62 squad turned in a 10-1 record, dawning Army again to claim the title. The '63 team extended Navy's dominance with an 8-1 season, and another sole national championship despite being upset 11-9 by Army at home in the season finale. Navy was once again the class of college lacrosse in '64 finishing 10-0. Team defense was still the cornerstone of Navy's play, as the Mids' closest game was a 9-4 win over Army at West Point. The debut of Jimmy Lewis, Navy's all-time greatest player, was felt by opponents as Army was the only team that season to hold the Mids under double figures. All-American and team captain Pete "The Shot" Taylor was the Mids' top-scoring midfielder in leading the Mids to the Wingate Trophy.

The following year was no different as the '65 season belonged to Navy from day one. The season finale was in front of an estimated 14,000 fans as Navy posted an 18-7 win over Army during June week and finished the season undefeated at 10-0. No opponent kept Navy from scoring in double figures all season, not even the perennial national open club champion Mount Washington Lacrosse Club. The Mounties had former collegiate All Americans three deep on their bench and even in their coaching ranks. Regardless, Navy won 11-10 to capture the first, and last, double national championship for a college team in 42 years. The '65 team also has the distinction of being the only team in the history of the game to have the nation's best goalkeeper, defenseman and attackman, while boasting the highest vote-getting All-American midfielder. When pressed by the media to name his greatest team, at the end of his coaching career, Bilty said it had to be '65, but he had so many great teams and players that ranking them isn't fair to all....

The remarkable "House of Winners" built by Bilty, had a gold medal gable roof of national champions. Navy's '60 and '70 teams were the left and right stanchions, while at the peak were two teams with incredible records. The '64 and '65 team finished with undefeated seasons, winning 22-consecutive games, outscoring their opponents during that period, 345-97. Supporting the pinnacle of the roof is the '65 team, Navy's all-time dominant college squad. The 1965 team's 11-goal victory over Army (18-7) remains the largest margin in 99 years of Navy lacrosse against the Black Knights.

A member of the Class of '66, Jimmy Lewis remains the only player in the history of lacrosse to win the Turnbull Award three-consecutive years as the best attackman in the country. His senior year began with Navy's 18-3 thrashing of Washington College and ended with a convincing 16-7 defeat of Army. Navy's 1966 national champion team left no room for doubt.

The talent that graced Navy's rosters during the golden age reads like a Who's Who in College Lacrosse. In addition to the marvelous Lewis at attack, Navy claimed the best defensemen in the nation from 1963-65. In '63, Mike Coughlin, and eventual National Hall of Famer, was awarded the Schmeisser Cup, with his classmate Jim Campbell claiming it in '64, followed by Pat Donnelly in '65. In addition, Navy boasted the best goalkeeper in the nation all three years with Dennis Wedekind winning the Kelly Award in both '63 and '65.

The '67 Midshipmen finished the year 7-1, tri-national champs with Johns Hopkins and Maryland and a program-record 11 players received All-America recognition. A year later, two-time First-Team All-American Carl Tamulevich became Navy's seventh recipient of the Schmeisser award, and would later be inducted in the National Lacrosse Hall of Fame. Team co-captains Mac Ogilvie, who shared the Kelly Award in '68, and John McIntosh, a two-time First-Team All-American midfielder, led the '68 team to a 5-2-1 record. Had Maryland's two-goal margin or the tie with Army have gone Navy's way, Bilty would have won his unbelievable ninth consecutive national championship.

The 1969 campaign was another "what if" season. Despite having six All-Americans, Navy stumbled in April, allowing Princeton an upset by two goals, but immediately recovered to beat powers Maryland, Virginia and Hopkins in the next three weeks. Army then denied the Mids a piece of the national title by handing Navy a season finale 14-4 loss.

The Mids surged again to the top of college lacrosse in 1970. All-American keeper Len Supko won the Kelly Award and anchored the Mids' team defense along with All-American Schmeisser Award winner Greg Murphy. All-American midfielder and team captain Harry MacLaughlin led the Mids on offense, and his team to Navy's ninth title under Bilderback in 11 years. Navy beat Virginia by four goals during the season but lost by two goals to Hopkins, finishing the year 8-1, and sharing the title with Virginia and Hopkins.

In 1971, Navy advanced to the semifinals of the inaugural NCAA Tournament. Six players received All-American honors and the team won 10 games, losing only to UVA during the regular season. After beating Maryland by five goals during the regular season, Navy lost to the Terps 10-7 on their field during the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

In Bilty's final year as head coach, his team earned another NCAA Tournament berth, but ended in a double overtime upset by Cortland State, 10-9. Four of his players were named to All American teams, just as 88 of his players had been in years before, with 32 of them receiving 1st team honors. In 1972, Bilty completed his 14th season, compiling the most amazing record in stick history. His teams fashioned a 131-26-2 record (.830).

Health reasons caused Bilderback to retire. "The greatest experience of my life has been coaching the midshipmen of the United States Naval Academy," Bilty said in a letter to the Athletic Director. "It is a way of life that is extremely difficult to end." Few coaches at any level of any sport have come close to or matched Bilty's national championship records, none is more respected and loved by his players.

The Szlasa Years

Although a storied era had ended with Bilty's retirement, the tradition of winning and excellence would be sustained. For the next decade, lacrosse at Navy would continue to produce winners, and at the head of it all was Dick Szlasa.

Over the next decade, Szlasa would direct the Midshipmen to 10-consecutive NCAA Tournament berths, a feat no other Navy lacrosse coach can boast.

Navy won six of its nine regular-season games in 1975 and advanced to the championship game, where a tough Terrapin team doused the Mids' hopes for a national title. The banner season did not go unrecognized, however, as Szlasa was the recipient of the Touchstone Award for Coach of the Year and John Lawlor won the Schmeisser Cup.

It was also about the time an attackman by the name of Jeff Long began to make his presence known. Long earned Third-Team All-America recognition in 1975 and recorded a school-record nine assists in a victory over Hofstra the following year, garnering second-team honors. But his best was yet to come.

Although Navy was defeated in the 1977 national semifinals, Long established himself as one of the greatest attackmen ever to play the game. Earning First-Team All-America honors as a senior, Long's name is splashed across the record pages for most assists in a game (nine), season (53) and career (149), while also standing as Navy's all-time career scoring leader with 233 points.

In 1978, Mike Buzzell appeared on the All-America team for the first time, registering a school-record 13 points in a single game. The following year he also grabbed the medal for most points in a season with 85.

Szlasa ended his tenure following the '82 season where he finished with an 85-44 record, along with a decade of memories of yet another great era in Navy lacrosse history.

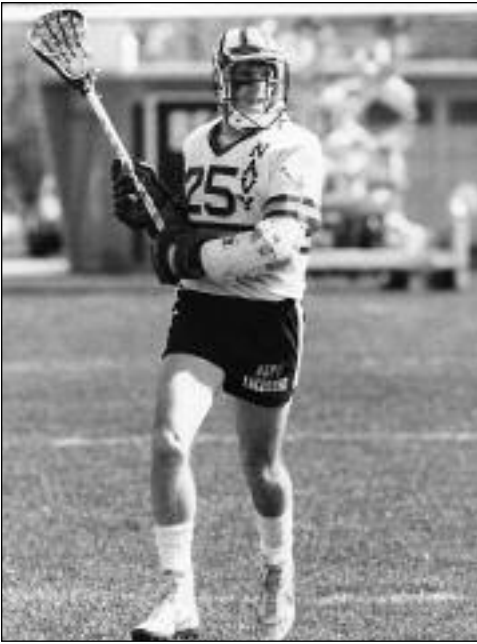

The Matthews Years

When Bryan Matthews accepted the position of head lacrosse coach at Navy, his record and reputation as a winner preceded him. After taking the reins in 1983, Matthews' early teams struggled amidst the competition, but soon returned to winning form. The '86 Mids darted out to a perfect season before dropping the final three games of the season. Navy received its first invitation to the NCAA Tournament since 1982, falling to Virginia by a 12-9 margin in the second round. But the Mids were back to stay, and Matthews earned the Touchstone Award for the second time in his career. Midfielder Glen Miles received the MacLaughlin Award as the nation's top midfielder while appearing on the All-America roster for the third consecutive year.

The '87 Midshipmen ended the season with a 9-4 mark and the most victories for a Navy squad since 1979. Johns Hopkins edged the Mids, 10-9, in the final regular-season game, but Navy was tournament-bound. Five Midshipmen were named to the All-America roster that year. Paul Basile set an NCAA Tournament record for assists in a playoff game with eight. Navy's national championship hopes were thwarted by Syracuse, who rolled past the Mids, 19-5, en route to claiming the title. The following year saw

Two-time First-Team All-American Mike Coughlin led the Mids to three-straight national titles in 1962, '63 and '64 with a combined 28-2 record. Coughlin was inducted into the National Hall of Fame in 2006.

Three-time All-American Glen Miles is Navy's only recipient of the MacLaughlin Award, named after Naval Academy graduate and two-time All-American Don MacLaughlin, who was killed in action in Vietnam.

Navy finish the regular season with a 7-4 record before downing Harvard in the first round of the tournament and again falling to Syracuse in the finals.

Navy's squad of 1989 advanced to the NCAA playoffs for the fourth-consecutive year. Named to the All-America first team was junior Brian Keith at midfield, the first Midshipmen to receive top honors since 1986. Among the regular-season victories was a 21-1 thrashing of Army to tie the largest margin of victory ever in an Army-Navy matchup. The Mids played host to Penn in the opening round of the tournament, earning a 21-11 victory and a trip to the Dome to once again face the top-ranked Orangemen. Although the result, a defeat, was the same for the third-straight year, Navy never gave up the fight. The Orangemen handled Navy in the end, 18-11, on their way to another title. Basile closed out his career as the Mids' third all-time career scoring leader. Navy made NCAA appearances from 1992-94 and six more Mids were named All-Americans under Matthews. The 1994 season would be the final season under Matthews' direction and Richie Meade became only the seventh head coach in the history of the sport at Navy.

The Meade Years

Meade's first year (1995) saw Navy go 6-6 as both the team and coach adjusted to a new system. Midfielder Andy Ross earned Honorable Mention All-America status in the process. In 1996, the Mids finished a disappointing 4-8, but hopes were not dashed as several young players gained valuable experience for the years to come. Once again, Ross was Navy's offensive catalyst and earned Honorable Mention All-America recognition for the second-straight year.

The 1997 and '98 campaigns turned in average results with 6-4 and 7-6 records respectively. A positive to the '98 campaign was the resurgence of Navy's dominance over Army. After losses in 1996 and '97, Navy claimed an 11-5 victory over its arch rival, sparking a current seven-year winning streak on the part of the Midshipmen.

In 1999, Navy broke through with a 7-7 campaign which included its first NCAA Tournament berth since 1994. The Mids followed up with a 9-4 season in 2000, including a 5-1 record as a member of the ECAC Lacrosse League, the first year in which Navy affiliated itself with a conference. During both campaigns, Navy was led by First-Team All-American and Kelly Award-winning goalie Mickey Jarboe. Jarboe proved that he was one of the best keepers ever to play for Navy. Chad Donnelly teamed up with Jarboe to create the cornerstone of a tremendous defense. Donnelly was a three-time All-American for the Mids at close defense.

The next two years were solid seasons for the Mids, turning in 8-5 records in 2001 and '02. But in 2003, Navy produced a 6-7 record, its first season posting a sub-.500 record since the '96 squad turned in a 4-8 mark.

Just a calendar year later, Meade and his staff put together a group of players which will undoubtedly be remembered in the record books for many years to come. The 2004 edition of Navy lacrosse produced seven All-Americans, the most since 1975, and made an appearance in the National Championship Game for just the second time in program history. Along the way, Navy captured its first win over a No. 1-ranked team, a 9-6 decision over Maryland, and tied the school record for consecutive wins with nine. Meade was the recipient of the Morris Touchstone Memorial Award, given to the nation's coach of the year, while sophomore Matt Russell earned the Kelly Award as the top goalkeeper in the country. Navy eclipsed nearly every expectation. The Mids, who finished the year ranked No. 2, weren't even ranked at the start of the 2004 campaign.

Despite being short-handed and banged up most of the 2005 campaign, the Midshipmen produced a 12-4 record, claimed their second-consecutive Patriot League Tournament title and made a return trip to the NCAA Tournament as the fifth seed. Navy defeated Delaware in the opening round of the postseason tournament, winning back-to-back first-round NCAA Tournament games for the first time since the 1987, '88 and '89 seasons.

Seven of Navy's last eight games of the season were against nationally-ranked opponents. The Mids posted a 4-3 record against the seven ranked foes that featured a pair of victories over arch rival Army. The Midshipmen also posted a 9-8 win over Maryland, their first win over the Terps in Annapolis since 1985. It also marked the first time since 1980 and '81 in which Navy has won back-to-back contests against Maryland. Nine Midshipmen were named to All-Patriot League teams, while six players garnered All-America honors.

In 2006, Navy fought its way back to the NCAA Tournament for a third-consecutive year routing 14th-ranked North Carolina, defeating arch rival and nationally-ranked Army twice and picking off fourth-ranked Maryland on its home field. Despite winning a share of its third-straight Patriot League regular-season crown, Navy was forced to defend its title on neutral territory where the Mids cruised past Lehigh and Army to win their third-consecutive Patriot League Tournament and earned the league's automatic bid to play Georgetown in the NCAA Tournament.

Eleven Midshipmen were named to All-Patriot League teams with seniors Jon Birsner and Matt Russell picking up Offensive Player and Goalkeeper of the Year awards, respectively. Additionally, five players garnered All-America recognition, including Billy Looney (Second Team) and Jordan DiNola (Honorable Mention) who will carry the torch in 2007.

And so the tradition of excellence continues. A tradition of excellence that began more than 100 years ago lives on. From that first game in 1908 to the last, a rich and storied history that thrives. A legacy that includes some of the greatest names ever to play or coach the game. An era of national championships that may never be matched. From modest beginnings to national domination, Navy lacrosse.

Richie Meade led the Mids back to the NCAA Championship Game in 2004, beating Penn, Cornell and Princeton en route to a finals matchup against Syracuse.

NAVY >> BILDERBACK-MOORE NAVY LACROSSE HALL OF FAME LACROSSE

Welcome to Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium, the premier college lacrosse facility in the country. When it comes to success, few schools can match the storied tradition the Naval Academy men's lacrosse team has experienced over the last 100 years. And it is here, in the Bilderback-Moore Navy Lacrosse Hall of Fame, where visitors have the opportunity to learn of the Mids' overwhelming accomplishments, as well as the heroics played out both on and off the field.

The people and events that have shaped the Navy lacrosse program are remembered in the newly-opened facility, along with the stories of some of the greatest teams ever to play the game. Additionally, two of the most successful coaches in the annals of the lacrosse record books, Willis Bilderback, the all-time winningest coach in college lacrosse, and Dinty Moore, are paid homage. Both Bilderback and Moore are brought to life by Richard Stravitz's four-foot sculptures depicting the two men, for whom the hall of fame is named, and their journeys as Navy's head coach.

While many programs can lay claim to having the greatest fan base in college lacrosse, it is the Naval Academy that has graduates covering all points of the United States and abroad. And it is here in this exhibit that we recognize the Navy faithful, the extended members of the Navy family and those who wear the Navy Blue and Gold proudly.

Whether you are a long-time Navy fan, a newcomer to the Navy family or simply a visitor, we trust that you will find this exhibit to be enlightening. We are pleased you are here and encourage you to return.

The Bilderback-Moore Navy Lacrosse Hall of Fame is divided into three rooms on the second floor of Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium — the Hall of Heroes and Champions, made possible by a leadership gift from Ed Gibbons, Class of '59; the Hall of Players and Coaches, made possible by a leadership gift from Charlie Guy, Class of '46; and the Hall of Championships, the focal point of the exhibit, which includes the James H.H. Carrington Room, made possible by a leadership gift from Nancy and Steve Crown.

- Upon entrance into the Bilderback-Moore Navy Lacrosse Hall of Fame, the visitor is treated to the James H.H. Carrington Room in the Hall of Championships. The room features replica trophies and write-ups about Navy's 17 National Championship teams, while an N-Star wall lists every Army-Navy lacrosse game and a painted and dated ball for each Navy victory.

- The focal points of the room are the four quadrants that are themed — Academy, Commitment, Legacy and Brotherhood. Displays associated with each theme tell a story about Navy lacrosse and the traits that separate and distinguish Navy from any other collegiate lacrosse program in the country.

Accompanying each quadrant is a large screen television with a short video that tells the story through the men who embody the spirit and have lived the life of a Navy lacrosse player and member of the Navy or Marine Corps.

- Some of the memorabilia includes a Navy jersey worn into space recently by former Navy lacrosse player Bob Curbeam; the letter sweaters of All-Americans and brothers Harry and the late Don MacLaughlin; an L.A. Riptide jersey, helmet and gloves signed by six former Navy lacrosse players who played for the MLL finalists in 2007; cards created by Willis Bilderback with plays drawn up on them; the Oxnard Trophy, Navy's version of the MVP trophy; and multiple examples of how the Stick Doctor, Tommy Adams, changed the world of lacrosse with his innovative equipment.

- The James H.H. Carrington Room honors Navy's only three-sport All-American, Jim Carrington, Class of '48, and features multiple artifacts, including his bathrobe with stars representing wins over Army in swimming, lacrosse and football, his letter sweater, the Naval Academy Athletic Association Sword for Men and a pair of binoculars awarded in lieu of the sword due to war time.

>> Hall of Champions and Heroes

- The Wall of Valor lists the names of former Navy lacrosse players whose honor and courage serve as a reminder that it is their contribution and service that provides us the freedoms we enjoy today. Along with the Wall of Valor is a short film that features former Navy lacrosse standouts who talk about their experience as a member of the Navy lacrosse team, as well as an officer in the Navy and Marine Corps.

- The Hall of Champions and Heroes also recognizes the 266 different men who have received All-America recognition over the last 100-plus years. Along with the names of the men who have received All-America kudos, hang the sticks of some of the memorable recipients, including three-time honoree Matt Russell, a member of the Class of 2006.

- Twenty-three men have been national award winners over the years, including two-time Kelly Award winner Dennis Wedekind, whose stick appears in the hall of fame.

- Navy's 11 National Hall of Fame members, along with three former Team USA standouts are also highlighted. Three-time All-American Andy Ross donated his Team USA jersey, gloves and helmet, while three-time Turnbull Award winner James Lewis is enshrined in the National Hall of Fame and recently gave his stick to the hall.

- On loan from US Lacrosse and displayed in the Hall of Champions and Heroes are the Schmeisser Award and the Kelly Award. Nine different Navy players have received the Schmeisser Award, while five Midshipmen keepers have won the Kelly Award, including two-time recipient Mickey Jarboe in 1999 and '00.

- A kiosk is located in the middle of the room that features a data base of all former Navy lacrosse players. Visitors can call up their favorite players and see their stats or view team photos and rosters by year.

- The bronze sculpture of Willis Bilderback is also housed in this section of the hall of fame.

>> Hall of Players and Coaches

- This section primarily highlights Navy lacrosse today and includes a benched area to sit and watch a short film about the rise of Navy's lacrosse program under the direction of head coach Richie Meade - a visually stimulating story about what it means to put a Navy lacrosse uniform on and represent the nation.
- As in the Hall of Champions and Heroes, a kiosk is available in this section that is dedicated to the current year's team, featuring a roster, player statistics and the team photo.
- Navy's success within the Patriot League is showcased, along with all four of the tournament trophies it has won since joining the conference in 2004.
- Memorabilia from Navy's coaches of yesterday and today are featured, including Dinty Moore's bathrobe decked out in stars representing wins over Army, Willis Bilderback's jacket he wore on the sidelines and Dick Szlasa's Morris Touchstone Memorial Award as the nation's coach of the year in 1975.
- The bronze sculpture of Dinty Moore is also housed in this section of the hall of fame.
- More than 40 different Navy lacrosse players have been recipients of Naval Academy Awards, including the Naval Academy Athletic Association's Sword for Men, the Thompson Trophy Cup and the Calvert Award. Their names are ensconced within the walls of the Hall of Players and Coaches.
- This is also the area in which Special Coaches and Friends of Navy Lacrosse are honored. Each year, a member of the Navy lacrosse family will be added to the list of winners for their contributions to the Navy lacrosse program.

>> The Bilderback-Moore Navy Lacrosse Hall of Fame

The Bilderback-Moore Navy Lacrosse Hall of Fame was made possible by a collaboration of former Navy lacrosse players, coaches and friends of the program whose private donations to the U.S. Naval Academy Foundation helped fund the project. Gallagher & Associates spearheaded the overall design and project management of the Bilderback-Moore Navy Lacrosse Hall of Fame, while 1220 headed up the fabrication, RMJ was responsible for the construction and GToo Media developed the interactive media and kiosks. Greg Murphy, a 1970 All-American who won the Schmeisser Cup the same year, served as the leader of the design committee.

Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium has emerged as the premier college lacrosse venue in the country and the home to Navy's men's and women's lacrosse programs. Though the 3 million-dollar facility opened its doors on Sept. 26, 1959, when Navy christened the stadium with a 29-2 win on the gridiron against William & Mary, the Navy lacrosse program would not play its first contest at the stadium until April 29, 1961. All-American George Tracy and attackman Patrick Fitzpatrick scored two goals apiece to lead the Midshipmen to a 9-7 victory over rival Maryland in Navy's debut at the two-year-old facility.

This spring marks the 47th season in which at least one Navy lacrosse game has been played at Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium. Having played a game a year at the stadium for 42 consecutive years, the Midshipmen stepped away from the hallowed ground in 2003 as the stadium underwent a 40 million-dollar face-lift. When Navy returned to the field in 2004, the Midshipmen called the state-of-the-art multi-use facility their home for all home lacrosse games.

Navy owns a 93-53 (.637) all-time record in games played at Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium. Since calling the stadium its permanent home in 2004, the Midshipmen have turned in a 25-6 (.806) record, including a flawless 11-0 mark in Patriot League affairs.

Among Navy's 39 NCAA Tournament contests over the last 37 years, 12 have been played in Annapolis, including nine at Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium. In those nine contests, the Mids have won eight, including each of their last two when they claimed victory over Penn (11-5) in 2004 and Delaware (9-7) in 2005.

Additionally, Navy served as a host of the 1996 NCAA Tournament First Round which featured wins by Towson over Loyola (16-11) and Johns Hopkins over Notre Dame (12-7). Along with Princeton, Navy played host to the 2007 NCAA Quarterfinals where top-seeded Duke defeated archrival North Carolina, 19-11, while Delaware earned the program's first trip to the Final Four by clipping UMBC, 10-6. Navy will play host to the 2008 Quarterfinals on May 17 and it has also been awarded the 2009 NCAA Quarterfinals.

Navy Lacrosse Fan Support

The support of Navy's athletics program spans all corners of the U.S. and abroad, however, the fanbase the Midshipmen lacrosse program has formed along the Eastern Seaboard is second to none. In fact, Navy has led the country in regular-season home attendance in each of the last four years, including last season when better than 33,000 fans came out to cheer on the Midshipmen in its six regular-season contests.

Six of the top-15 largest attended regular-season games of all-time have been played at Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium, including the April 24, 2004, contest that drew better than 18,000 fans to see top-ranked Johns Hopkins face No. 2 Navy. The 18,694 fans on hand were treated to one of the most competitive games of the season. At the time, it was the second-largest crowd in NCAA history to witness a regular-season Div. I men's lacrosse game and has since fallen to third.

Last March, 14,625 fans crowded into Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium to watch one of the most hotly-contested battles in Div. I, as Maryland took the Mids to double OT. It was the third-largest documented crowd to watch a Navy lacrosse game at the stadium.

In April of 2005, more than 14,000 fans witnessed the Mids' 9-8 victory over Maryland. By year's end, it was the largest crowd to watch a regular-season Div. I lacrosse game that season. Meanwhile, the week following the Navy-Maryland title, a crowd of 12,117 watched Navy beat archrival Army, 12-9, in the Star Game. It was the sixth-largest crowd in program history and it marked the first time in school history that Navy drew over 10,000 fans in back-to-back games. Additionally, it was the largest documented crowd to see an Army-Navy lacrosse game.

Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium Renovations

Privately funded by the U.S. Naval Academy Foundation and the Naval Academy Athletic Association (NAAA), the 40 million-dollar Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium renovation project began in the summer of 2002 and was completed in the fall of 2005. One of the most significant changes to the stadium came with the installation of a new synthetic field surface, FieldTurf, which allows the stadium to be used 365 days a year. The multi-purpose nature of Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium has allowed it to host a myriad of events, including the 2007 NCAA Men's Lacrosse Quarterfinals, the 2005 NCAA Women's Lacrosse Championship, the 2005 Women's Lacrosse World Cup and the Good Samaritan High School All-Star Football Game, as well as numerous high school and local youth events.

New components have included: two state-of-the-art video scoreboards, chair back seating, ADA seating platforms and access ramps, concession stands, end zone seating, luxury suites, additional sideline seating created by lowered the playing field to give the stadium a more intimate look and feel.

In 2004, a 12,000-square-foot, two-story banquet facility was constructed to host class reunion dinners and other Naval Academy functions. Located on the first floor, the N-Room houses plaques listing the names of USNA varsity letter winners and can seat 600 for a banquet or formal dinner. The banquet rooms are serviced by a full kitchen and bar areas with a fully-integrated audio and video system that features 10 large screen televisions and the ability to give business presentations on both levels of the banquet facility.

A completely renovated press tower was also unveiled prior to the 2004 season. The top level features booths for television play-by-play and coaches' video, along with tower suites. The fifth level is dedicated to the print media, while also housing radio and coaches' booths, along with scoreboard, public address and operations areas. A newly-constructed level, named the Flag Bridge, was erected under the old press area in the seating bowl. It has 71 permanent seats in front of additional stools, tables and chairs which allows for flexibility in hosting game day viewing or special events on non-game days.

Located on the second floor of the press tower is the newly-opened Bilderback-Moore Navy Lacrosse Hall of Fame. Visitors and fans alike have the opportunity to learn of the Mids' overwhelming accomplishments over the last 100 years, as well as the heroics played out both on and off the field. The people and events that have shaped the Navy lacrosse program are remembered in the exhibit, along with the stories of some of the greatest teams ever to play the game. The Bilderback-Moore Navy Lacrosse Hall of Fame is divided into three rooms on the second floor of Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium — the Hall of Heroes and Champions, made possible by a leadership gift from Ed Gibbons, Class of '59; the Hall of Players and Coaches, made possible by a leadership gift from Charlie Guy, Class of '46; and the Hall of Championships, the focal point of the exhibit, which includes the James H.H. Carrington Room, made possible by a leadership gift from Nancy and Steve Crown.

While the renovations made possible the necessary upgrades for the football and lacrosse programs, the memorial aspects of the original structure were preserved and enhanced during the renovations. More than 8,000 chair back memorial plates were removed, refurbished and reinstalled on the new seats. Hundreds of memorial plaques received the same treatment and are featured on the Memorial Plaque Wall in the North Memorial Plaza. Battle arches and class arches have been constructed to tell the illustrious story of the Naval Services. Each combination of battle arches contains a history lesson on the left arch and a description of the particular battle on the right. Each and every battle fought by either the Navy or Marine Corps is depicted through the use of color-coded battle streamers allowing visitors to chronologically view the story of the brave men and women who we honor for their service to our country.

The lacrosse players of today recognize the heroic and devoted service of those who have come before us. Their examples of honor, courage and selfless service are aspirations for our competitive spirit on the playing fields. It is their fighting spirit and devotion to the ideals of our Academy and committed service to our country that serve for a model for our future naval service. The following are Navy lacrosse players who have been awarded our nations highest awards for Bravery in Battle. We recognize their courage and contribution for giving us the freedom we now enjoy.

Medal of Honor

For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life, above and beyond the call of duty, in action involving actual conflict with an opposing armed force.

Edward Orrick McDonnell

Rank and organization:

Ensign, U.S. Navy. Born: 13 November 1891, Baltimore, Md. Accredited to: Maryland. G.O. No.: 177, 4 December 1915. Citation: For extraordinary heroism in battle, engagements of Vera Cruz, 21 and 22 April 1914. Posted on the roof of the Terminal Hotel and landing, Ens. McDonnell established a signal station there day and night, maintaining communication between troops and ships. At this exposed post he was continually under fire. One man was killed and three wounded at his side during the two day's fighting. He showed extraordinary heroism and striking courage and maintained his station in the highest degree of efficiency. All signals got through, largely due to his heroic devotion to duty.

Harold William Bauer

Rank and organization:

Lieutenant Colonel, U.S. Marine Corps. Born: 20 November 1908. Woodruff, Kan. Appointed from: Nebraska. Citation: For extraordinary heroism and conspicuous courage as Squadron Commander of Marine Fighting Squadron 212 in the South Pacific Area during the period 10 May 14 November 1942. Volunteering to pilot a fighter plane in defense of our positions on Guadalcanal, Lt. Col. Bauer participated in two air battles against enemy bombers and fighters outnumbering our force more than 2 to 1, boldly engaged the enemy and destroyed 1 Japanese bomber in the engagement of 28 September and shot down four enemy fighter planes in flames on 3 October, leaving a fifth smoking badly. After successfully leading 26 planes on an over-water ferry flight of more than 600 miles on 16 October, Lt. Col. Bauer, while circling to land, sighted a squadron of enemy planes attacking the U.S.S. McFarland. Undaunted by the formidable opposition and with valor above and beyond the call of duty, he engaged the entire squadron and, although alone and his fuel supply nearly exhausted, fought with his plane so brilliantly that four of the Japanese planes were destroyed before he was forced down by lack of fuel. His intrepid fighting spirit and distinctive ability as a leader and an airman, exemplified in his splendid record of combat achievement, were vital factors in the successful operations in the South Pacific Area.

Navy Cross

For extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against an opposing armed force.

<< WILLIS BILDERBACK >>

1959-72 (14 years)

Record: 131-26-2 (.830)

• Made Navy a household name among the lacrosse community in the 60s — noted as the Golden Age.

• The winningest coach (pct) in NCAA history, winning 83.0 percent of his games.

• Recipient of the Morris Touchstone Memorial Award, the National Coach of the Year, in just his second year as Navy's head coach

• Led Navy to at least a share of nine National Championships between 1960-70, including eight in a row between 1960-67 ... his five outright titles between 1962-66 is a feat no other team has matched in the history of the sport.

• Molded attackman James Lewis into a three-time First-Team All-America selection and the only three-time recipient of the Jack Turnbull Memorial Award.

• Led the Mids to back-to-back NCAA Tournament appearances in 1971 and 72, the first two years the tournament we held.

<< DICK SZLASA >> 1973-82 (10 years) Record: 85-44 (.659)

• Guided Navy to school-record 10-consecutive NCAA Tournament berths ... the only coach in program history to lead the Mids to the NCAA Tournament every year he served as head coach.
 • Recipient of the Touchstone Award (Div. I Coach of the Year) in 1975.
 • Helped mold attackman Jeff Long into one of the greatest names in Navy lacrosse — Long holds Navy records in assists in a game, season and career, while standing as the Mids' all-time career scoring leader.
 • Led the Midshipmen to the 1975 National Championship Game, the program's first appearance.
