Patricia Cage-Bibbs

Head Coach

No. Years with Aggies: 7

No. Years as Head Coach: 27

Alma Mater: Grambling State, 1972

MEAC Coach of the Year: 2008-09, 2009-10

Career Record: 500-293 (.631)

School Record: 129-87 (N.C. A&T), 127-83 (Hampton), 244-123(Grambling)

Championship Titles: 13 Regular-Season, 3 with N.C. A&T

Patricia Cage-Bibbs entered coaching to help her alma mater Grambling State University put its fledgling women's basketball program on secure ground. Twenty-seven years later she is partly responsible for helping the fledgling sport of women's basketball flourish.

More importantly, she helps it flourish at the historically black college and university level. Bibbs' commitment to being the best raises the level of competitiveness among her colleagues. Bibbs' excellence first made the Southwestern Athletic Conference better through parity and now the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference is benefiting.

While the MEAC's level of play has increased, the reason for bringing Bibbs to N.C. A&T had more to do with resurrecting a program that won 51 games from 1997-2005. As Bibbs enters her seventh season, she has led the Aggies to a 115-72 record overall and a 75-25 mark in the MEAC, as well as three MEAC regular season championship titles, a MEAC Tournament championship title, a NCAA Tournament appearance and two WNIT appearances.

She enters the 2011-12 season just 14 wins shy of 500 career victories. If she can reach that milestone this season, it would make her the first head coach to collect her 500th victory while coaching at a HBCU.

The 2010-11 season saw the Aggies with their fifth straight season with a winning record, and an over .500 finish in the MEAC. The Aggies lost to Howard in the MEAC Tournament, who finished second place.

The 2009-10 season was another historic year for the women's program. Bibbs led the Aggies to their third straight 20-win season as well as their third straight regular-season MEAC Championship. It was Bibbs' 13th career regular-season title. What followed has to be an example of Bibbs' resiliency as a head coach. She recovered the Aggies from a first-round loss in the MEAC Tournament to No. 8 seed S.C. State, to make an inspiring run through the Women's National Invitational Tournament. In a rout, N.C. A&T defeated Wake Forest at Wake Forest. It was the school's first-ever win over an ACC school. The Aggies followed up that win with a victory over UNC Charlotte on the road. The win made the Aggies the first historically black college or university to win two consecutive games in a postseason tournament. Despite losing to Miami to end the season in Coral Gables, Fla., the Aggies played a competitive game against the eventual WNIT runner-up.

More history was made under Bibbs during the 2008-2009 season. Bibbs' rebuilding efforts produced the fruit many Aggie fans were looking for when she led the Aggies to their first MEAC Tournament Championship in 15 years. She led the Aggies back to the top in a dominating manner as the Aggies average margin of victory in the MEAC tournament was 22.7 points. It was Bibbs' 10th conference championship. The Aggies went on to play Florida State in the NCAA tournament, marking Bibbs' seventh appearance. The 2008-09 season also saw Bibbs lead the Aggies to a school-best 26-7 record. She won her 10th conference coach of the year honor the same season. The MEAC head coaches voted Bibbs MEAC Coach of the Year for two consecutive seasons (2008 and 2009). Bibbs also broke the school record for wins in consecutive years. In three seasons from 2007-10, Bibbs led the Aggies to a 44-4 record in the MEAC.

History followed Bibbs in 2007-08 as well. She became the 38th active head women's basketball coach to capture 400 career wins. Bibbs' triumphs in the MEAC didn't stop there. During the 2007-08 season, Bibbs led the Aggies to a 25-8 overall record and a 15-1 record in the MEAC. Bibbs' success earned the Aggies women's basketball program its first postseason appearance in 14 seasons when the Aggies were awarded an automatic bid to the WNIT.

Bibbs took over the women's program at N.C. A&T in March of 2005, and immediately raised the expectations for a program that had not won the MEAC championship since the 1993-94 season. She won nine games her first season, and then nearly doubled that win total in her second season from 2006-2007 by leading the Aggies to a 17-13 record and a second-place finish in the conference with a 12-6 mark.

Before coming to N.C. A&T, Bibbs established Hampton University Women's Basketball as a MEAC power from 1997-2004, where she posted a 127-83 record as their Head Coach. Before coming to Hampton, Bibbs served as the head women's basketball coach at her alma mater Grambling State University in Grambling, La. for 13 seasons. With the Lady Tigers, she had a .665 winning percentage, totaling a 244-123 record.
