THE STORY

The closing half of conference play begins for Northeastern State, as they look to make up ground in pursuit of a chance to play basketball beyond Mar. 2.

Four games behind the MIAA's cut-line, one of the two teams residing at the bottom of the current league bracket is Wednesday's matchup in Missouri Southern.

The Lions have played around .500 in conference play in their second campaign with Sam McMahon leading the way, as they have a group of five scoring options that average at least 9.7 points per game.

Saturday, the team makes their final road trip before mid-February when they meet former MSSU head coach Jeff Boschee and the Pittsburg State Gorillas. Having won three straight against PSU, NSU will seek to continue their recent stretch of winning both at home and on the road against their weekend foe.

The Gorillas have another big-time scoring option that the RiverHawks will need to look to hold in check in Max Alexander (18.1 PPG), though he has not scored at or above that average in five games. Jeremy Shaw has been solid with 18.3 PPG in eight games since rejoining the lineup in mid-December.

For NSU, the offense will seek a rebound after being held to under 50 points across both games at home the previous week.

One of the team's bright spots from the last week, though, was one of the team's starters in Keon Edwards. Edwards provided nearly a third of their scoring against LU on Saturday with a season-high 16 points and will look to keep the momentum going to finish the month.

TEAM STORYLINES

- » Four different RiverHawks reached double figures in last week's two-game slate.
- » Jaxon Jones ranks inside the top 15 in DII Men's Basketball in both assists (93) and APG (5.5).
- » NSU faced a combined -29 rebounding margin last week against Central Missouri and Lincoln.
- » The RiverHawks took care of the basketball last week, with just 17 turnovers over two matchups.
- » Northeastern State ranks 12th in DII basketball in fouls per game (13.8).

Ja Havens is NSU's eleventh head men's basketball coach and played at Northeastern State for two seasons (1996-98) under NSU Hall of Fame head coaches Ken Hayes and Larry Gipson. After one year away from NSU, he returned as a graduate assistant under Gipson. They won two straight Lone Star Conference North Division championships and advanced to the regional semifinals of the NCAA Division II tournament. He has been a member of teams that have gone to nine NCAA Division II Tournaments and two NCAA Division I Tournaments.

The RiverHawks made an 11-win improvement in Havens' second season and qualified for the MIAA Tournament, where they won their first postseason game since 2013. Northeastern State would have one of its most attended seasons, finishing in the top 25 nationally in NCAA Division II attendance.

In his first season at the helm of the NSU program, it was a season unlike no other for Havens and his staff with the RiverHawks going to multiple COVID-pauses and a limited roster. NSU played six games in nine days to end the season and swept rivals Central Oklahoma.

Havens came to NSU from East Central University (Ada, Okla.) where he was head coach for seven seasons, carrying a record of 131-74, and was the fastest coach in ECU history to win 100 contests. Havens led the Tigers to back-to-back Great American Conference (GAC) Regular Season Championships (2016 and 2017) and won the 2017 GAC Tournament. He also took the Tigers to their first NCAA Division II Central Regional during that 2017 season.

At East Central, Havens posted a winning record in each of his seven-seasons and never missed the postseason, with 14 players named All-GAC, and one named as Player of the Year. Havens posted three straight 20+ win seasons at ECU and won 25, a program-best in 2017.

Under Havens, ECU earned honors in the classroom, claiming the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) Team Academic Excellence Award three times (2018, 2019, and 2020).

Before arriving in Ada, Havens spent eight years as the assistant basketball coach at Drury University, which claimed the 2013 NCAA Division II National Championship. He helped the Panthers to five Great Lakes Valley Conference West Division Championships and two tournament championships. Drury had great success in the NCAA, advancing to the NCAA Division II Tournament six times and going 173-68 in the eight years he spent with the program.

Prior to moving to Drury, he spent four seasons at the University of Tulsa as an assistant coach and director of basketball operations. The Golden Hurricane earned two Western Athletic Conference championships during his tenure and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Division I Tournament.

Havens started his coaching career at St. Gregory's in 1998 and helped the team improve from a six-win season in 1997-98 to 14 in 1998-99.

Havens' father Jerry is a member of Oklahoma Coaches Association Hall of Fame, Oklahoma Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame and National High School Coaches Association Hall of Fame. His brother Jon is the head men's basketball coach at Richland College (Texas) and was an assistant coach at NSU.

Havens grew up in Stillwater, Okla. and graduated high school in Lewisville, Texas.

Havens' wife Angie is an occupational therapist and also played women's basketball at Northeastern State. The couple has three sons: Trey, Trent, and Ty and one daughter, Tatum.
