The following is a look at the 17 wrestlers who have been enshrined in the Northwestern Athletic Hall of Fame.

ART KRAFT 1990

Art Kraft won the 1960 NCAA championship at 157 pounds and was a two-time All-American in a time when only the top-four finishers at each weight class were deemed All-Americans. Following his wrestling career, Kraft was a high school coach. He started as the wrestling coach at Triton College in the mid-1960s and stayed for almost 20 years. There, Kraft was named Coach of the Year three times; he also coached a national championship team and many individual champions.

MARK MASSERY 1991

In 1973, Mark Massery captured the NCAA championship at 126 pounds after claiming his second career Big Ten championship earlier that year. Massery twice reached NCAA All-American status.

He continued his wrestling career after college by competing in several international meets and preparing for the 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal. He won the Amateur Athletic Union title in 1975 at Bloomington, Ind., and also earned the World Cup championship in 1975. As the country's top 125-pounder, Massery represented the United States in the 1975 Pan American Games in Mexico City where he placed third and the '75 World Championships in Minsk, U.S.S.R. where he finished fourth.

“The Northwestern campus environment in the early 1970’s had an incredible mixture of personal and cultural styles and values that is hard to match. I think that’s still true today, which makes NU such a great place to be a student-athlete.”

—MARK MASSERY '73

RORY WEBER 2001

Rory Weber concluded his illustrious Wildcat wrestling career with an all-time record of 58-8. That .881 winning percentage presently ranks third all-time at Northwestern. He garnered All-America honors three years (1960-62) in the heavyweight division, making him one of the Wildcats' most decorated wrestlers. Weber captured the Big Ten title in 1960 and was the squad's Stuteville Award (most points) recipient in 1961.

JACK GRIFFIN 2002

In 1990, Jack Griffin became Northwestern's first individual NCAA champion since 1973 and helped NU to a fourth-place team finish. A two-time All-American and four-time finalist at the Big Ten Championships, Griffin is NU's all-time leader in wins with 159 and lost only one dual-meet match in his entire career.

Following his wrestling career at NU, Griffin was named an alternate for the 1992 Olympic team and served six seasons as an assistant coach for the Wildcats under Tim Cysewski.

“My Northwestern experience was second to none. It had everything I had hoped for: great teammates, an awesome coaching staff, a plan in place to not only excel in collegiate wrestling but the classroom and in life. I am not where I am today without the Northwestern experience and all the people who gave me the resources to succeed.”

KEN KRAFT

It would be hard to match the dedication and service that Ken Kraft has provided Northwestern University. After compiling a 38-7-2 record on the wrestling mat, Kraft became Northwestern's head wrestling coach in 1957, a position he held until 1979. At the time of his induction, he was the program's winningest coach. Following the conclusion of his coaching career, Kraft was named an associate athletic director and he served in an administrative capacity for 24 years. As an athlete, he won the 167-pound Big Ten championship his senior year.

Perhaps his most significant contribution to the wrestling program was the founding of the Midlands Championships, the nation's top amateur wrestling event, which has been held every year since 1966 between Christmas and New Year's Day at NU's Welsh-Ryan Arena. For his contributions to Northwestern, and specifically the wrestling program, a new wrestling facility was built, which bears his name, the "Ken Kraft Wrestling Complex."

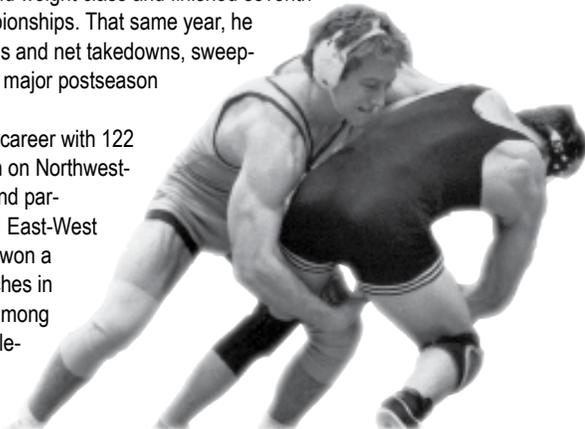

A founding member of the United States Wrestling Federation and its president from 1972-76, Kraft was inducted into the National Wrestling Hall of Fame in 1997.

MIKE FUNK

Northwestern's first four-time All-American, Mike Funk also was named NU's Male Athlete of the Year for 1990-91. In 1991, he won the Big Ten championship in the 190-pound weight class and finished seventh at the NCAA Championships. That same year, he led NU in points, falls and net takedowns, sweeping the team's three major postseason awards.

Funk finished his career with 122 wins—good for sixth on Northwestern's all-time list—and participated in the 1991 East-West All-Star meet. Funk won a career-best 35 matches in 1990, which ranks among NU's top-10 for single-season victories.

MIKE FUNK

"What can I say? Northwestern was the place for me and continues to be. We have an approach to athletics that makes sense for our institution. I am entering my 57th year as a member of the Purple Pride. Who could have predicted that when I took that one-year job in the spring of 1957? Go 'Cats."

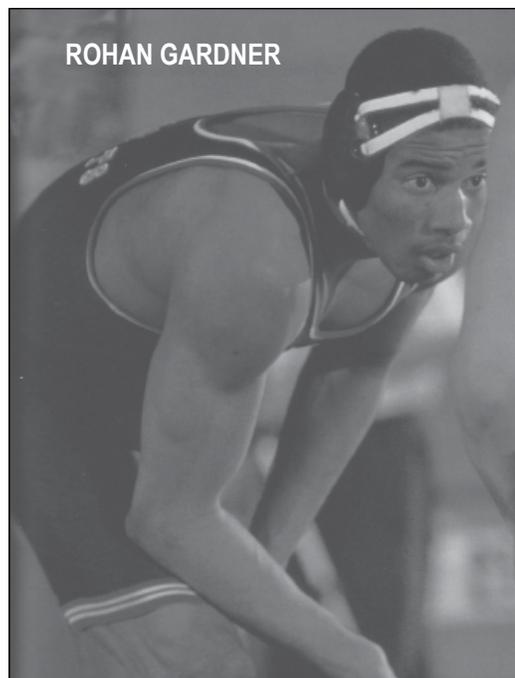

—KEN KRAFT '57

ROHAN GARDNER

2006

Rohan Gardner began his career at Northwestern as a walk-on student-athlete and left as a two-time All-American. He capped a stellar career with a scholarship and a 108-29 overall record.

A 1996 National Wrestling Coaches Association All-Academic first-team member, Gardner won the 1996 Big Ten crown at 177 pounds, edging Michigan State's Erich Harvey, 9-8. He went on to finish third at the 1996 NCAA Championships. In 1995, he won a career-most 30 matches (30-5) and placed fifth at the NCAA Championships. He was the Wildcats' Stuteville (point leader) and Lupton (net takedowns) Award recipient in 1995 and 1996 and won the Jack Riley Fall Trophy in 1994.

ROHAN GARDNER

"It was truly an honor to be inducted into Northwestern's Hall of Fame because as a former walk-on, I never expected to be recognized along with that caliber of athletes already inducted in the Hall of Fame. The challenges I face in my day-to-day life are nothing compared to what I endured during my last two years at Northwestern. The experiences I had while a student and wrestler at Northwestern are unparalleled in the impact they had on my development into the person I am today."

—ROHAN GARDNER '95, M.S. '96

WILDCAT ALMANAC

DUSTIN FOX

2013

Dustin Fox posted a 109-29 overall record for the Wildcats, including a 29-1 mark as a senior in 2008, culminating with an NCAA heavyweight championship. In the title bout, Fox defeated Ohio State's J.D. Bergman in a dramatic 4-2 victory that went to extra time. He finished his NU career as the 2008 NCAA heavyweight champion, a two-time All-American and four-time NCAA qualifier. In the 2008 NCAA Championships match, Fox sustained a cut to his head, which continued to bleed throughout the match. After trainers continued to fix the cut, his headgear broke and Fox also fought off a blow to the nose, which left it broken and bloody. In true grit fashion, Fox defeated Bergman with a takedown in the match's second sudden victory.

Fox came to Northwestern after wrestling at Galion High School in Galion, Ohio. He qualified for the NCAA championships each of his four seasons with the Wildcats and was named an All-American during his junior and senior seasons. He finished third in the country as a junior in 2007 and won a Big Ten heavyweight championship. With the win, Fox continued a Wildcats streak as a Northwestern wrestler would take home a Big Ten championship each year for five consecutive seasons from 2005 to 2009. It marked the first time the school has accomplished the feat since 1928 to 1933. He became the Wildcats seventh different wrestler to win an NCAA championship. During his time with NU, the 'Cats finished fifth in the Big Ten championships in 2006 and recorded some of the school's top finishes in the NCAA championships. Northwestern finished fourth in 2007, 13th in 2006 and 2008 and 14th in 2005.

"Northwestern provided more than a platform to excel in sports at the national collegiate level. It instilled, in my teammates and I, a culture of athletic and academic intensity that propels us to success in our lives today. For me, the biggest accomplishment is that current and future team members are able to draw strength from this legacy of achievement and continue to nourish this culture at NU wrestling."

JAKE HERBERT

Jake Herbert, the most decorated wrestler in program history, concluded his Northwestern career with a 135-4 overall record, achieving the fifth-best four-year winning percentage of any NCAA wrestler since the 1974-75 season and securing the best winning percentage in Northwestern history. He ended his time on the collegiate mat with a 66-match winning streak.

Herbert won two national championships to become Northwestern's first two-time national champion since 1931-32, won the 2009 Hodge Trophy as the nation's top collegiate wrestler and became Northwestern's second-ever winner of the Big Ten's Jesse Owens Male Athlete of the Year Award. He was the Wildcats' first-ever three-time Midlands champion and was named the 2009 Big Ten Wrestler of the Year.

One of three four-time All-Americans to ever wrestle for Northwestern, Herbert dominated from the very beginning, posting a 33-3 record and finishing 3rd at the NCAA Championships during his freshman season. He continued to only get better from there, going 36-1 in 2006 for his first of three Big Ten Championships. He was a perfect 32-0 in 2007, took an Olympic redshirt year away from the program in 2008 and came back in 2009 to have one of the best seasons ever. Herbert was 34-0 in 2009 and did not allow a takedown all season, while earning bonus points in 27 of his 34 decisions.

After his Northwestern career, Herbert went on to claim a silver medal at the 2009 World Championships and gold at the 2011 Pan American Games before representing the United States at the 2012 Olympics in London.

BIG TEN MALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR

Each year, the Big Ten Conference honors just one male athlete with the prestigious Jesse Owens Award, presented to the top male performer in the league from any sport. The 2009 award went to NU's Jake Herbert (pictured above with Northwestern Combe Family Vice President for Athletics & Recreation, Jim Phillips) following his undefeated senior season during which he won his second NCAA title and the Hodge Trophy as college wrestling's most dominant performer. He is the second Wildcat ever to win the award (joining Luke Donald, men's golf, 1999).

2009

DAN HODGE TROPHY
MOST DOMINANT COLLEGE WRESTLER

Jake Herbert was the 2009 recipient of the Dan Hodge Trophy, presented annually to the nation's most dominant college wrestler. It is named for the undefeated, three-time NCAA champion from Oklahoma in the mid 1950s. Hodge has the highest pinning percentage in collegiate history, and was known for his dominating style of wrestling. The award is co-sponsored by W.I.N. Magazine and the Dan Gable International Wrestling Institute and Museum in Waterloo, Iowa. Herbert became the fourth representative from the Big Ten Conference to win the award, first presented in 1995.

2020

PERFECT SEASON
HODGE TROPHY FINALIST

Ryan Deakin finished the 2019-20 season undefeated with a perfect 21-0 record and became the second Northwestern wrestler ever to be named a finalist for the Hodge Trophy, ultimately placing third. The Broomfield, Colo. native Deakin finished the shortened season as the undisputed No. 1 wrestler at 157 lbs and captured his first-ever Big Ten title while being named Northwestern's Big Ten Male Athlete of the Year nominee.
