BOBCAT HISTORY

On Sept. 22, 1935, Athletics Director O.C. Bird announced Ohio University was organizing the first varsity swimming and diving team in school history. Bernard E. (Jerry) Hughes, the team's first coach, called for all interested male students to report to the small pool in the old Women's Gymnasium on Oct. 8 of that year.

(Dayna Green) in 1987 as well as the Swimmer of the Year (Gwynn Gordon). It began a streak of six straight Bobcats to claim the top swimmer honor. Overall, an Ohio swimmer has won the MAC Female Swimmer of the Year award 14 times since 1985 with Maureen Newlon (1991-92) and Kim van Selm (2000-01) winning the honor twice.

Eighteen candidates showed up that first day and 32 eventually joined the tryouts. Hughes introduced water polo to build stamina for his team and created a freshmen squad of 20 swimmers against which his varsity unit could train. By Dec. 10, there were 24 varsity squad members and 35 on the freshmen team.

Under the direction of head coach Scott Hammond, the Bobcat women won six straight MAC titles from 1989-95 and placed 11 members on the All-American list during that span.

Ohio hosted its first meet later that month, defeating Ohio Wesleyan 39-27. A 15-cent admission price was charged to help pay for new swim suits. Four swimmers - Ed Wright, George Echko, Joe Shafer and John Weber - became the first letterwinners for the Bobcat swimming and diving program following that 1935-36 season.

Under current head coach Greg Werner (2000, 2004 and 2008 MAC Coach of the Year), Ohio claimed the women's MAC Championship in 2000, 2001 and 2008. Recent individual honors for members of the Bobcat swimming and diving program include: Hollie Bonewit, All-American in 2000; Trisha Kessler, 2003 MAC Senior Swimmer of the Year; Shannon Kelly, MAC Swimmer of the Year in 2002 and MAC Senior Swimmer of the Year in 2004; Robert Krichbaum, three-time MAC Diver of the Year and Ashley Marion, 2009 MAC Swimmer of the Year.

The program took a huge step forward in 1950 with the completion of a new $430,000 Ohio University Natatorium. In 1951, head coach Oscar L. "Tommy" Thompson led the Bobcats to a 7-3 record in his first season at the helm. Led by freestyler Henry "Tad" Potter and diver John Botuchis, Ohio won the first-two Mid-American Conference championships in 1953 and 1954. Potter won six individual conference titles during his career and became the first All-American in the program's history in 1956.

In recent years under Werner, the program has remained very solid. Earning second-place finishes in 2007 and 2009, with a MAC Championship in 2008, the program continues to teach excellent student-athletes. Seven Bobcats were Academic All-Americans in 2009, eight events were won at the most recent MAC Championships, and one qualified for the NCAA Championships.

Head coach Fletcher Gilders, a 1956 Olympian and two-time NCAA champion diver while at Ohio State, guided Ohio to five more MAC titles (1965, 66, 69, 70, 71) during his tenure. Coaching until the early 1980s, he mentored Bobcat All-Americans Tom Boyce (1961), Bo Wallsten (1963), Neal Wade (1966, 1969), Dave Solomon (1969) and Ned Steele (1969, 1970).

According to Women's Intercollegiate Athletic (WICA) records, the Ohio women's swimming and diving program expanded substantially during the 1974-75 season with a 9-6 record in dual meets during its first full-scale season. The Bobcat women joined MAC competition in 1981 and by 1985 had their first MAC Swimmer of the Year (Lynda Flory).

Ohio claimed the MAC Diver of the Year
