Bobcat History

On Sept. 22, 1935, Athletics Director O.C. Bird announced Ohio University was organizing the first varsity swimming and diving team in school history. Bernard E. (Jerry) Hughes, the team's first coach, called for all interested male students to report to the small pool in the old Women's Gymnasium on Oct. 8 of that year.

Eighteen candidates showed up that first day and 32 eventually joined the tryouts. Hughes introduced water polo to build stamina for his team and created a freshmen squad of 20 swimmers against which his varsity unit could train. By Dec. 10, there were 24 varsity squad members and 35 on the freshmen team.

After a schedule was quickly put together, Bird presented the varsity team with old basketball warm-up suits to wear at competitions. Ohio lost its initial meet – on Jan. 10, 1936, at Ohio Wesleyan – by the score of 40-26. The first win came in dramatic fashion on Feb. 15. By winning the final event that day, the Bobcats defeated Akron 44-40 but lost to host Western Reserve 62-13.

Ohio hosted its first meet later that month, defeating Ohio Wesleyan 39-27. A 15-cent admission price was charged to help pay for new swim suits. Four swimmers – Ed Wright, George Echko, Joe Shafer and John Weber – became the first letterwinners for the Bobcat swimming and diving program following that 1935-36 season.

The program took a huge step forward in 1950 with the completion of a new $430,000 Ohio University Natatorium. In 1951, Head Coach Oscar L. "Tommy" Thompson led the Bobcats to a 7-3 record in his first season at the helm. Led by freestyler Henry "Tad" Potter and diver John Botuchis, Ohio won the first two Mid-American Conference championships in 1953 and 1954. Potter won six individual conference titles during his career and became the first All-American in the program's history in 1956.

Head Coach Fletcher Gilders, a 1956 Olympian and two-time NCAA champion diver while at Ohio State, guided Ohio to five more MAC titles

(1965, 66, 69, 70, 71) during his tenure. Coaching until the early 1980s, he mentored Bobcat All-Americans Tom Boyce (1961), Bo Wallsten (1963), Neal Wade (1966, 1969), Dave Solomon (1969) and Ned Steele (1969, 1970).

According to Women's Intercollegiate Athletic (WICA) records, the Ohio women's swimming and diving program expanded substantially during the 1974-75 season with a 9-6 record in dual meets during its first full-scale season. The Bobcat women joined MAC competition in 1981 and by 1985 had their first MAC Swimmer of the Year (Lynda Flory).

Ohio claimed the MAC Diver of the Year (Dayna Green) in 1987 as well as the Swimmer of the Year (Gwynn Gordon). It began a streak of six straight Bobcats to claim the top swimmer honor. Overall, an Ohio swimmer has won the MAC Female Swimmer of the Year award 14 times since 1985 with Maureen Newlon (1991-92) and Kim van Selm (2000-01) winning the honor twice.

Under the direction of head coach Scott Hammond, the Bobcat women won six straight MAC titles from 1989-95 and placed 11 members on the All-American list during that span.

Under current head coach Greg Werner (2000 and 2004 MAC Coach of the Year), Ohio claimed the women's MAC championships in 2000 and 2001. Recent individual honors for members of the Bobcat swimming and diving program include: Hollie Bonewit, All-American in 2000; Trisha Kessler, 2003 MAC Senior Swimmer of the Year; Shannon Kelly, MAC Swimmer of the Year in 2002 and MAC Senior Swimmer of the Year in 2004; and Robert Krichbaum, three-time MAC Diver of the Year.

Both the men and women teams finished third at the 2006 MAC Championship. The men set 70 personal-best records and the women won seven events and eight swimmers were crowned individual champions. The women set 44 personal best records and named five swimmers to the All-MAC first team.
