

Oklahoma State 2021 Signing Class

Cowboy Football Adds 23 Players in 2021 Class

STILLWATER – Oklahoma State football coach Mike Gundy has announced the signing of 23 players to the 2021 signing class, which is ranked as the third-highest class in the Big 12 according to ESPN.

The group includes 12 defensive players and 11 offensive players. The two most well-represented states are Texas with nine players and Oklahoma with eight players, but six states are represented in total. There are 18 high school players in the class, as well as three junior college transfers and two FBS transfers.

Of the 11 offensive players, four are wide receivers, four are offensive linemen, two are running backs and one will play Cowboy Back. The defensive side of the ball features five cornerbacks, three defensive linemen, two linebackers and two safeties.

A total of six players earned a four-star designation from ESPN, including safety Kendal Daniels from Beggs, Oklahoma, twin wide receivers Bryson Green and Blaine Green out of Allen, Texas, defensive end Collin Oliver from Edmond Santa Fe, defensive tackle Aden Kelley from Thomas, Oklahoma and linebacker Donovan Stephens from Del City.

A majority of the class is enrolled for the spring semester as 12 were mid-year enrollees.
