

OLE MISS MEN'S TENNIS RECORD BOOK

ALL-AMERICANS

JAMIE BOORAS 1988

A strong doubles player, Jamie Booras, nicknamed "Boom-Boom" for his powerful serve, became one of the school's first tennis All-Americans in 1988. He earned the honors in doubles as a freshman. He and Dave Randall reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA Doubles Championship in 1988 and were ranked in the top 10 in doubles for two years. In addition, Booras was named to the All-SEC Team in 1988.

Booras is currently in private business in Dallas, Texas.

DAVE RANDALL 1988

Dave Randall put Ole Miss tennis in the national spotlight with a combination of stellar play and outstanding sportsmanship. For this, in 1989, he received the Rafael Osuna Sportsmanship Award, the NCAA's yearly award presented to the most outstanding collegiate tennis player that demonstrates both great skill and exemplifies sportsmanship.

The Mississippi native was a two-time All-Southeastern Conference selection and an All-America honoree in doubles. He teamed with Jamie Booras to earn a top 10 ranking two years and reach the quarterfinals of the NCAA Doubles Championships in 1988. He, joined Booras as the first tennis All-Americans at the University.

He won three SEC titles in his career at Ole Miss: the 1988 #1 singles crown, the 1987 indoor #2 doubles and the 1986 #3 doubles. In addition, Randall earned Academic All-SEC honors in 1987 and 1988.

Randall is the Head Pro at River Hills Club in Jackson, Miss.

IVAN TREVINO 1992

Arguably one of the top collegiate doubles players of his time, Ivan Trevino teamed with Mike Knowles to finish No. 4 in the nation in the 1992 final doubles ranking. They were selected as Tennis Week's collegiate doubles team of the month for April, 1992. Also, they became the second doubles team in Rebel tennis history to earn a bid to the NCAA Championships, advancing to the third round.

In addition, Trevino earned All-SEC honors in doubles and was named to the All-SEC Academic team three years. In 1992, Trevino was the only player in the conference to be named to the All-SEC and Academic All-SEC teams.

While playing for the Rebels, Trevino earned a Bachelor's Degree in business and a Masters Degree in business administration.

Trevino is currently working at MCI, Inc., in Miami, Fla., directing operations in Latin America.

MIKE KNOWLES 1992

The success of the 1992 Rebels NCAA "Sweet Sixteen" team centered on its outstanding doubles play. The Rebels went 25-3 in doubles matches in dual match play and Mike Knowles had a lot to do with that. He teamed with Ivan Trevino that year to post an impressive season that earned them a trip to the NCAA Doubles Tournament and a final national ranking of No. 4. During April they were selected Tennis Week's collegiate doubles team of the month. He also was a member of the All-SEC team in doubles.

Knowles is an advertising executive in Dallas, Texas.

MOHAMED RIDAOUI 1992

Mohamed Ridaoui changed the Rebels 1992 season from the outset. He blasted into the national spotlight as he claimed the 1991 National Intercollegiate Clay Court Championships, earning the program's first ever Grand Slam victory. It was a remarkable accomplishment as he defeated the No. 1-ranked player in the country and defending champion Patricio Arnold of South Florida 6-1, 7-5 in the semifinals and No. 4 ranked Jose Luis Noriega of San Diego 6-4, 6-4 in the title match. Ridaoui represented the Rebels in all four collegiate grand slam events including the NCAA Championships. He was also selected to the All-SEC Team.

Ridaoui is a teaching professional and entrepreneur in New York.

JOAKIM APPELQVIST 1994

Joakim Appelqvist led the Rebels to the NCAA Region III Championship and was the first player to reach the NCAA Final Four in singles. He was also named an ITA Academic All-American as well as being selected to the SEC Academic honor roll and the GTE Academic All District VI At-Large team.

In addition to being an outstanding singles player, Appelqvist teamed with Ali Hamadeh to capture the Rolex Region III Doubles Championship and the SEC Doubles Championship. He earned All-SEC honors.

Appelqvist is the CEO for Tretorn Sports in Sweden.

MAHESH BHUPATHI

Mahesh Bhupathi blasted onto the scene as a freshman and left his mark on college tennis as one of the best singles and doubles players. He teamed with Ali Hamadeh to become the first Rebels to win an NCAA tennis title when they captured the nationally televised doubles championship in 1995. In addition to winning the NCAA Doubles Title, Bhupathi and Hamadeh became the first individuals in Mississippi history to be ranked No. 1 in the nation.

Bhupathi was the 1995 SEC Singles Champion, SEC Player-of-the-Year and finished ranked No. 3 in the nation.

In his first year, Bhupathi ended the season as the third-best freshman in college tennis and earned ITA/Tennis Match Magazine Rookie of the Year honors. He made the SEC All-Position Team as the No. 1 doubles team in the conference and earned All-SEC honors in singles, not only as a freshman but also as the only player who was not a senior.

In 18 years on the ATP Tour, Bhupathi earned almost seven million dollars in prize money and captured 52 doubles titles, including 12 grand slam titles.

In 1999 he and his partner Leander Paes won the French Open Doubles Championship and Wimbledon. They were the first doubles pair in the modern era to reach the finals of all four grand slams in a calendar year. The duo ended the year ranked No. 1 in the world doubles rankings.

In 2012, Bhupathi won the ATP Masters 1000 Paris with Rohan Bopanna, and was a finalist at the Barclays ATP World Tour Finals in London, his 5th year-end championship final showing. He captured his 12th grand slam title and eighth mixed doubles championship, teaming with Sania Mirza to win the French Open.

Bhupathi successfully started the IPTL which featured several of the top players in the world, including Roger Federer and Novak Djokovic.

For his accomplishments in collegiate tennis and on the world stage, Bhupathi was inducted into the ITA Collegiate Hall of Fame in May of 2010. In the fall of 2017, Bhupathi joined his NCAA Champion doubles partner, Hamadeh, in the Ole Miss M-Club Athletic Hall of Fame.

Thiemann became the 25th All-American in the history of the program in 2010 reaching the NCAA Singles Quarterfinals. He also participated in the NCAA Doubles Championship with his brother. Thiemann ended the year ranked No. 19 in the nation in singles and No. 24 in doubles. Thiemann earned All-SEC first team honors helping lead the Rebels to their ninth consecutive SEC West Championship and the SEC Tournament semifinals. He was named to the first ever SEC All-Tournament Team.

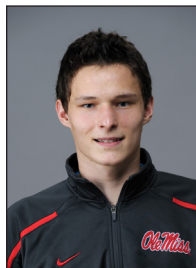

Playing No. 1 singles, Thiemann posted a 15-8 record including five top 25 wins. He teamed with his brother for a 10-1 record in the SEC at No. 1 doubles.

Thiemann was one of just five players in the nation to earn All-America honors and be named an ITA Scholar-Athlete.

In 2009, Thiemann helped lead the Rebels to the SEC regular season title and an undefeated league record. He went 3-0 to help lead the Rebels to their second consecutive SEC Tournament Championship. Thiemann was named the SEC Freshman of the Week twice as the Rebels won their eighth straight SEC West title.

Thiemann graduated from the University of Mississippi in 2012 with a degree in Managerial Finance. He earned an MBA in 2013 and a Masters in Accountancy in 2015.

He works as an assurance associate (alternative investments) at PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP in New York City.

JONAS LUTJEN

Jonas Lutjen became one of the top players in the country in 2013 and enjoyed an outstanding career for the Rebels. During his four years, Lutjen helped lead the Rebels to two SEC West titles and four NCAA appearances, including a Sweet Sixteen showing.

In 2013, Lutjen earned All-America honors for the second time in doubles and first time in singles. He was one of just nine players to earn the honor in both singles and doubles. The ITA Southern Region Senior of the Year teamed with Nik Scholtz to reach the NCAA Final Four in doubles and ended the year ranked No. 15 in singles and No. 4 in doubles. Lutjen was one of only six players in the nation to finish ranked top 20 in singles and top 10 in doubles. He helped lead the Rebels to their 10th SEC West title, their 20th consecutive NCAA appearance and a final national ranking of No. 10. Lutjen was one of three Rebels to earn All-SEC honors, making the first team. He posted a 31-11 overall record, 14-6 at No. 2 singles and teamed with Nik Scholtz for a 20-7 overall record, 15-3 at No. 1 doubles.

Lutjen became the 28th All-American in the history of the program in 2012. He ended the year ranked No. 44 in the nation in singles and No. 10 in doubles with Scholtz. He reached the singles semifinals at the SEC Indoor to start the spring and earned All-SEC honors for the first time in his career.

Lutjen helped lead the Rebels to their 19th straight NCAA appearance in 2012 and went 3-0 in singles and doubles to help lead the Rebels to the Sweet Sixteen for the 16th time. With a 24-13 overall record, 14-9 in dual matches, Lutjen finished 7-4 in the SEC at No. 3 singles. He teamed with Nik Scholtz for an 18-6 overall record, 8-3 at No. 1 doubles.

Off the court, Lutjen made the SEC Academic Honor Roll three times and graduated in 2013 with a degree in Marketing. He is currently coaching one of the top German female players.

NIK SCHOLTZ
2012, 2013, 2014, 2015

Nik Scholtz became the first four-time All-American in program history and the 39th all-time in men's tennis NCAA Division I history, capping a great career in 2015. He led the Rebels to their 22nd consecutive NCAA appearance and also became the first Rebel to be named to the All-SEC First Team all four years. Scholtz finished his career ranked No. 19 in singles and posted 11 nationally-ranked wins, including five against players in the final top 20.

Scholtz enjoyed an outstanding year in 2014, becoming the fourth Rebel to be named SEC Player of the Year and the first to be named SEC Freshman and Player of the Year in his career. He finished the year ranked No. 14 in singles, marking the third consecutive year to finish inside the top 20 in singles. Scholtz was named to the All-SEC first team for the third straight year and earned the No. 1 ranking in the ITA Southern Region. He helped lead the Rebels to their 21st consecutive NCAA appearance advance to the second round. Scholtz advanced to the round of 16 in singles at the NCAA Championships for the third time and finished the year with an overall record of 27-7, 15-1 at No. 1 singles. He posted a 9-1 record in the SEC.

In 2013, Scholtz earned All-America honors in both singles and doubles. He was one of just nine players to earn the honor in both singles and doubles, ending the year ranked No. 17 in the nation in singles and No. 4 in doubles. Scholtz was one of only six players in the nation to finish ranked top 20 in singles and top 10 in doubles. He helped lead the Rebels to a final national ranking of No. 10, their 20th consecutive NCAA appearance and 10th SEC West title, while earning All-SEC first team honors for the second year in a row. Scholtz teamed with Jonas Lutjen to reach the NCAA Final Four in doubles and was also seeded at the NCAA Singles Championship for the second year in a row. He posted a 20-9 overall singles, 12-6 at No. 1 and teamed with Lutjen for a 20-7 overall record, 15-3 at No. 1. Off the court, Scholtz made the SEC Academic Honor Roll and the Dean's Honor Roll.

Scholtz became the 26th All-American in the history of the program and the only freshman in the nation in 2012 to be named All-American in singles and doubles. Scholtz also became the second Rebel freshman to earn All-America honors.

In his first season, Scholtz was named the SEC Freshman of the Year, the ITA Southern Region Rookie of the Year and reached the NCAA Elite Eight in singles. He became the first Rebel to be named the league's top rookie. Scholtz ended the year as the second highest ranked freshman in the country at No. 14 in singles. He also ended the year at No. 10 in doubles with Jonas Lutjen.

Playing No. 1 singles and doubles, Scholtz was one of only two freshmen on the All-SEC first team. He helped lead the Rebels to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen for the 16th time. Scholtz posted a 21-9 overall record, 14-7 at No. 1 singles and teamed with Jonas Lutjen for an 18-6 record, 8-3 at No. 1 doubles. He led the Rebels to the SEC Tournament Semifinals for the 15th time in school history and was named to the SEC All-Tournament Team.

Scholtz graduated from the University of Mississippi in May of 2015 and is playing professional tennis. He has won a combined 25 singles and doubles titles.

Nik Scholtz became the first four-time All-American in Ole Miss men's tennis history.

CHRIS THIEMANN

Chris Thiemann became the 27th All-American in the history of the program, teaming with his brother, Marcel Thiemann, to advance to the NCAA Final Four in doubles. He ended the year ranked No. 11 nationally in doubles and helped lead the Rebels to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen for the 16th time. Teamed with his brother to clinch the doubles point against Michigan which proved huge in the Rebels' 4-2 win to advance to the Sweet Sixteen. Chris posted an 11-11 overall singles record and went 19-7 in doubles with his brother, Marcel, including 6-1 at No. 2 doubles. The duo captured the SEC Indoor Doubles Championship.

Off the court, Chris was named to the SEC Academic Honor Roll three times, an ITA Scholar-Athlete twice and a member of the University Honor Roll every semester. He graduated from the University of Mississippi in May of 2012 with a degree in Managerial Finance and earned his MBA in 2013. In May of 2015, Chris received his Masters in Accountancy and currently works as an assurance associate (alternative investments) at PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP in New York City.

OLE MISS TENNIS FACT

Jonas Lutjen and Nik Scholtz (above) were among a record four All-Americans for the Rebels in 2012. In fact, it marked the fourth time in six years for the Rebels to tie or lead for the most All-Americans in the nation. Even more impressive, the Rebels have the most All-Americans in the country since 2007 with 11.

GUSTAV HANSSON 2016

Gustav Hansson became the 29th All-American in the history of the program in 2016, while leading the Rebels to their 23rd straight NCAA appearance and clinching the team's first-round win. Hansson reached the NCAA round of 16 in singles and finished ranked No. 33 in the nation with a 27-11 record.

In 2017, Hansson earned All-SEC first team honors and finished the year ranked No. 22 in singles. He helped lead the Rebels to their 24th straight NCAA appearance.

After earning All-SEC second team honors as a freshman, Hansson made the All-SEC first team as a sophomore in 2016 and tied for the second best record in the league at 9-3. He became the fourth player in program history to earn All-SEC honors in each of his first two years. Hansson defeated 11 nationally-ranked players and clinched five wins on his way to earning the ITA Southern Region Player to Watch Award. Success didn't stop on the court for Hansson, as he was one of just eight players in Division I tennis to earn All-America honors and be named an ITA Scholar-Athlete.

YOUNGEST NCAA SINGLES CHAMPION IN HISTORY

DEVIN BRITTON

Devin Britton became the first Ole Miss player to win the NCAA Singles Championship, joining the Rebel duo of Mahesh Bhupathi and Ali Hamadeh (Doubles) as NCAA Champions in Ole Miss men's tennis history. In addition, Britton became the first American-born player to win the NCAA singles title since 2000. He is also the first freshman since 1996 to win the national title and first non-seeded player since 1997. He is the youngest of the three all-time freshmen to win the singles title which includes 19-year-old John McEnroe of Stanford in 1978. Britton defeated three seeded players en route to his national title.

MAHESH BHUPATHI

12-Time Grand Slam Champion

Mahesh Bhupathi, a former NCAA Doubles Champion at Ole Miss, has confirmed his place in tennis history.

Bhupathi was known as one of the top doubles players in the 1990s and 2000s. Since retiring from playing, Bhupathi has stayed busy with his newly created International Premier Tennis League (IPTL), which debuted in the fall of 2014 and featured 18-time grand slam winner Roger Federer, eight-time grand slam winner Novak Djokovic, Pete Sampras, Andre Aggasi, Serena Williams, Maria Sharapova, Tomas Berdych, Andy Murray, and many other top players.

Bhupathi served on the ATP Player Council from 2012-14, and in 2013, captured his 52nd career doubles title. It was his 17th year in a row winning a title. Bhupathi also reached the quarterfinals at Wimbledon.

In 2012, Bhupathi teamed with countryman Rohan Bopanna to compile a 34-22 match record. They closed the season strongly by reaching 3 finals in 4 tournaments including the Barclays ATP World Tour Finals in London, his 5th year-end championship final showing. Bhupathi also won his 12th grand slam title and eighth mixed doubles championship, teaming with Sania Mirza to win the French Open. It was the second grand slam title for the pair, who also won the 2009 Australian Open.

In 2011, Bhupathi teamed back up with countryman Leander Paes. The two made a successful return to the courts, winning their home country title in Chennai and falling just short of the one grand slam doubles title that eludes the pair, the Australian Open. On their way to the finals, Bhupathi won his 600th career match since turning pro in 1995. Only 16 other players in the Open Era have reached the milestone.

In 2009, Bhupathi paired with fellow Indian Sania Mirza to capture the Mixed Doubles Championship at the Australian Open for his 11th grand slam title.

He and fellow doubles partner, Mark Knowles, ended the year ranked No. 3 in the ATP Rankings. The duo teamed up to reach the finals at the Australian and U.S. Opens and won the title at Barcelona, after winning four titles in their first year together in 2008.

Bhupathi finished in the Top 30 individually in the Stanford ATP Doubles Rankings in 2007 for the seventh consecutive year and 11th overall as well as earning his 40th career doubles title.

Bhupathi teamed with Martina Hingis in 2006 to capture the Australian Open Mixed Doubles title, bringing his total to 10 career grand slams.

In 2005, he teamed with Mary Pierce to claim the mixed doubles title at Wimbledon and then won his fifth mixed doubles title when he and Daniela Hantuchova captured the U.S. Open Championships.

In 2004, Bhupathi finished the season ranked in the Top 10 (No. 5 in the ATP Doubles Race with Russia's Max Mirnyi and No. 7 individually) for the fourth consecutive year and sixth time in seven years. In addition, he won five doubles titles and more than 50 matches for the third year in a row. His five titles came with four different partners. Bhupathi earned a spot in the Tennis Masters Cup in Houston (with Mirnyi).

Bhupathi also teamed with Mirnyi to reach the quarterfinals at the 2004 Australian Open and the semifinals at the French Open. He also teamed up with former partner and fellow countryman, Leander Paes, to win the Master Series Toronto and reach the semifinals at the Olympics in Athens, Greece.

Bhupathi teamed with Mirnyi in 2003 to win five of an ATP-high nine finals and finished No. 2 in the ATP Team Race standings. The two reached the finals at Wimbledon.

In 2002, Bhupathi added two more grand slam titles to his impressive resume. He teamed with Russia's Elena Likhovtseva to win the Mixed Doubles title at Wimbledon and two months later, he and doubles partner Max Mirnyi won the U.S. Open Championship.

In 1999, Bhupathi and his partner, Leander Paes, became the first doubles duo in the modern era to reach the finals of all four grand slam events in a calendar year. The pair won the French Open Championships and one month later captured the most prestigious of the grand slams, Wimbledon.

In addition to winning two doubles grand slam titles in 1999, Bhupathi also captured the U.S. Open Mixed Doubles Championship.

After not playing together much in 2000 due to injuries, Bhupathi and Paes returned to the courts together in 2001 and captured their third grand slam title and second French Open Championship.

In 18 years on the tour, Bhupathi has won nearly seven million dollars in prize money and captured 52 doubles titles.

Bhupathi became the first player in the history of India to win an ATP Grand Slam title when he won the Mixed Doubles title at the French Open Championships in the summer of 1997.

While at Ole Miss, Bhupathi led the Rebels to the NCAA team finals. He became the first Rebel tennis player to win an NCAA title when he teamed with Ali Hamadeh to capture the Doubles Championship in 1995 and ended the year as the No. 1 doubles team in the nation. In addition, Bhupathi was an All-American, 1995 SEC Singles Champion and SEC Player of the Year.

Bhupathi credits his success to his college days at Ole Miss.

"Although I had good results in junior tennis, I was not ready for the pros physically and mentally," Bhupathi said. "I credit coach Chadwick for much of my success. I really enjoyed my time at Ole Miss and I still stay in touch with my former teammates."

In 2010, Bhupathi became the first Ole Miss player to be inducted into the ITA Collegiate Tennis Hall of Fame.

In the fall of 2017, Bhupathi was inducted into the Ole Miss M-Club Hall of Fame.

Mahesh Bhupathi and Rebel head coach Billy Chadwick at the 1997 U.S. Open.
