• Marshall remains in second in the Pac-12 Conference for kills per set (4.06) and points per set (4.62).

Everyday Champions: SportUp

As part of the Everyday Champions program, Oregon State launched SportUp, college athletics' first start up incubator, during the 2015-16 academic year. With the help of the program, former student-athlete Maureen Tremblay has launched her own business – Revive, an app that tracks workouts for elite athletes to prevent injury.

Initiated in 2011, Beavers without Borders is a program that offers global service-learning experiences for student-athletes at Oregon State University.

The program has successfully completed six service projects including trips to Guatemala, Macedonia, Ethiopia, and most recently the Dominican Republic.

Throughout those trips, over 75 student-athletes were able to experience life in a distinct culture, learn about the impact of their work on a community and interact outside of the university context to maximize the intercultural experience.

"Celebrating the never ending tradition of Oregon State Athletics by continuing to honor its past, educate its present, and prepare for its future; while connecting all who have contributed to its legacy."

In the spirit of camaraderie, Oregon State University's Varsity OSU Association is dedicated to upholding the long tradition of athletic and academic excellence at Oregon State. Varsity OSU serves its membership by enhancing relationships among alumni letter-winners, current student-athletes, and current and former coaches and administrators.

MARK BARNARD

Head Coach • 1st Year

1st Year Overall

12th Year At Oregon State

University of Sydney, '91

Mark Barnard was named as Oregon State's head coach on June 27, 2016, after 11 seasons as an assistant coach and associate head coach with the Beavers.

Barnard, who has overseen the team's setters and offense during his tenure under former head coach Taras Liskevych, has mentored some of the top student-athletes in program history. Most recently, in 2014, Tayla Woods concluded her Oregon State career with 3,153 assists, which ranks fourth all-time. Woods was teammates for two seasons with Megan McBride, whose 2,605 career assists ranks seventh.

In 2014, the Beavers, under Liskevych and Barnard, advanced to their first ever Sweet 16, defeating UALR and Creighton en route. OSU was led offensively by Mary-Kate Marshall, who was named the Pac-12 Conference's Freshman of the Year.

A native of Sydney, Australia, Barnard helped mentor fellow Australian and All-American Rachel Rourke from 2006-09. She concluded her career with a program-best 1,920 kills. Rourke is the program's first and only back-to-back all-conference performer, doing so in 2008 and 2009.

Barnard oversaw the development of Camille Saxton, who finished her career in 2012 as one of the most prolific offensive players at Oregon State. She ended her career 11th in school history in kills and fifth in attacks. Saxton finished with 1,307 points, 12th all-time.

Barnard joined the Oregon State program on July 22, 2005 as an assistant coach under Liskevych. He was promoted to associate head coach in July 2008 after three seasons in Corvallis.

The past two offseasons, Barnard has been the head coach of the Australian Women's National Team. Nicknamed the "Volleyroos," the team entered 2014 ranked 100th in the world, and in one year under Barnard's tutelage, improved to 46th.

Barnard had international experience prior to his appointment as head coach. He was an assistant for the National Team from 1997-00, including the Sydney Olympics. During that time he also served as head coach of the women's national junior team (1999-2000) and women's national youth team (1997-99). In 2001, Barnard led the National Team of Australia to its first qualification to the World Championships in over 20 years. At its height, the Australian team was ranked No. 12 in the world.

Barnard, who broke into the profession at the high school level, coached at Westfields Sports High School from 1992-97. They won the National Championships in 1995-96 becoming the first school to ever achieve this honor. He also spent time coaching the National Junior Men's Team from 1994-97.

He was prolific as an athlete as well, playing on the 1984 Australian Junior Men's Team. He also competed on New South Wales Junior Teams from 1982 through 87, three times winning the National Championships and was an All-Australian 12 selection.

Barnard is a 1991 graduate of the University of Sydney with a degree in Education and Science. Mark and his wife, Louise, have two children, Isabella, and Alexander.
