MEDIA INFORMATION
The 2016 Oregon State football media guide is a source of information intended for the news media. Additional information is available upon request from the Oregon State Athletics Communications Office. News releases and photographs will be made available to accredited members of the media. The OSU Athletics Communications Office is located, adjacent to Reser Stadium and the Valley Football Center, on the second floor of Gill Coliseum in room 219.

MEDIA CREDENTIALS
Credentials to cover Oregon State home football games may be secured by contacting Steve Fenk, Associate Athletic Director/Communications at 541-737-7470 or steve.fenk@oregonstate.edu.

MEDIA PARKING
Limited media parking is available immediately behind the press box on the west side of the stadium (enter off Western Blvd.). Overflow parking is available approximately three blocks from the press box in the OSU Foundation lot.

PHOTOGRAPHY REGULATIONS
Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment. Photographers should proceed to the northeast corner of the stadium to obtain a vest per Pac-12 Conference rules. NCAA regulations forbid photographers from being between the 25-yard lines.

PRESS BOX
The fourth level of the Reser Stadium press box serves as the media center. Radio and television booths are located from approximately the 50-yard line to the left as you look onto the field. The remainder of the seating is for the print media. A photo deck runs nearly the length of the press box and is located off the fourth level. Lunch or dinner is served in the press box.

HISTORY OF OSU SIDS
There have been only six Sports Information Directors in Oregon State's history. Oregon State's current SID, Steve Fenk, joined the OSU staff in September of 1990 as the men's basketball SID. It was not until 2004 that he took over as the Interim Sports Information Director for the entire department. In 2006, Fenk received a permanent appointment as an Assistant Athletic Director for Communications.

A complete list of OSU Sports Information Directors follows:

Art Taafe	1924-37
Bud Forrester	1937-41
Irwin Harris	1942-51
John Eggers	1952-79
Hal Cowan	1976-2004
Steve Fenk	2004-present

POSTGAME WORK AREAS
Two working areas postgame are available for use – the press box at Reser Stadium or the media room in Gill Coliseum (located near the opponents' locker room). The usual statistical packets with quotes will be delivered to both areas.

INTERNET
Wireless internet access is available at all working areas of Reser Stadium and Gill Coliseum. Please see the OSU Communications staff for the access code.

PROFESSIONAL SCOUTS
Professional scouts are generally seated in the second row of the press box, behind the print media. Some seats have partially obstructed views.

PRACTICES
Practices are closed to the media and public with the exception of the last 20 minutes. Generally, player and coach interviews are conducted post-practice on Mondays-Thursdays for Saturday games. Video may be shot of the last 20 minutes of practice, please see the on-field Communications personnel for that day's schedule.

PAC-12 TELECONFERENCE
The Pac-12 Conference conducts a weekly press conference on Tuesday with all 12 head coaches. For the time and access information please contact the conference office at (925) 932-4411.

OSU HISTORY & TRADITIONS

THE FIGHT SONG
OSU our hats are off to you,
Beavers, Beavers, fighters thru and thru,
We'll cheer throughout the land,
We'll root for every plan,
That's made for old OSU.

Watch our team go tearing down the field;
Those of iron, their strength will never yield.
Hail! Hail! Hail! Hail!
Hail to old OSU
(OSU Fight! B-E-A-V-E-R-S)

NICKNAME — THE BEAVERS
In the early days of the institution, Oregon State University's athletic teams were known as the Aggies. When orange uniforms replaced the drab sweatshirt gray and tan jerseys, the teams were referred to as the Orangemen.

In 1916 the school yearbook was renamed "The Beaver" and the name Beaver became associated with the school. It is believed the press also had some influence in changing the name, particularly L.H. Gregory of The Oregonian newspaper. The name gained instant popularity among alumni and students.

The Beaver is the state's official animal.

THE MASCOT — BENNY
Benny Beaver was adopted as Oregon State University's mascot in 1952 after the school had a reported three previous mascots. The first mascot in 1893 was a coyote named Jimmie, owned by M.M.H. Kriebel. In 1909, a second mascot appeared on the scene. Dr. John Bell, a Corvallis pastor and former regent of Corvallis when the college was taken over by the state and became Oregon Agricultural College. In the early 1900s, "Doc Bell" was considered to be the varsity football squad's "mascot" because of his steadfast attendance and advising. In 1921 there was an attempt to make a live Beaver, "Bevo", into the school mascot, but with little success.

Benny Beaver, OSU's current mascot, was introduced to the student body by the school's rally squad on September 18, 1952, in an effort to pick up sagging school spirit.

"Benny Beaver, the rally squad's candidate for handsomest man in school, has never been on campus before," according to The Barometer (student paper), at the time.

"The animal stands six-feet tall, wears vivid orange knickerbockers, a black jersey, and his familiar orange and black rooters lid."

Adopted as the official mascot in 1952, Benny Beaver still fires up the crowds at OSU athletic events today.

Benny Beaver, while officially accepted as the school's mascot in 1952, actually can be traced back to the 1940-41 school year. A statue of a beaver named "Benny" appears in the school's yearbook, and later a Barometer sports columnist used the pen name "Benny Beaver."

TEAM COLORS — ORANGE & BLACK
Oregon State was known as Corvallis College until the mid 1890s and the school color was navy blue. A faculty committee appointed by school President John Bloss voted to replace blue with orange. Not long after, black was selected by the student body as a background color. A local tailor named J.H. Harris donated black uniforms for the baseball team in this time frame, and it is believed to be where the black color scheme began in athletics, although that is debatable. An article in the local Corvallis Gazette-Times in 1892 describes the use of orange and black in commencement ceremonies, nearly a year prior to orange becoming the official color.

While orange was originally the official color, over the years black has become more universally accepted as one of the official colors. Today, nearly all of OSU accepts orange and black as the official colors.

TELEVISION

PAC-12 TV PARTNERS — As a member of the Pac-12 Conference, Beaver games air regionally and nationally on ABC, ESPN, ESPN2, FOX and the family of Pac-12 Networks.

PAC-12 NETWORKS — The Pac-12 Networks launched August 15, 2012 and consists of one national and six regional networks devoted solely to the Pac-12. In addition to the hundreds of live televised Pac-12 sporting events, Pac-12 Networks subscribers have access to their carrier's TV Everywhere platform, providing access to all Pac-12 Networks programming on any device through their broadband service.

RADIO

GAME DAY — Beaver Sports Properties, a division of Learfield Sports, produces game-day radio broadcasts and special programming, syndicated on the Beaver Sports Radio Network. The 8-hour broadcasts consist of over 30 stations across Oregon and is anchored by the Portland flagship station NewsRadio 1190 KEX/Rip City Radio 620.

Mike Parker, the "voice of the Beavers", handles the play-by-play and is joined in the booth by former Beaver lineman and OSU Hall of Famer Jim Wilson. Ron Callan handles the pregame, postgame and sideline duties during the broadcasts.

Beaver Sports Network programming begins two hours before kickoff with the "Countdown to Kickoff Show" and signs off approximately two hours after each game following the popular "Beaver Wrap Up Show."

NewsRadio 1190 KEX, owned locally by iHeartRadio, is the home of the Beaver Sports Radio Network. Along with its extended football coverage, KEX or its sister station, Rip City Radio 620 AM, broadcast Beaver men's basketball and baseball games, and every Beaver Sports Talk (Wed. or Thurs.) from late August through early April. Oregon State enjoys the strongest comprehensive radio package in the Pac-12 Conference by offering the most total hours of play-by-play and auxiliary programming.

There are several options to complement local radio with football and men's basketball games available on XM Satellite Radio (official partner of the Pac-12 Conference), internet audio and video live streams via osubeavers.com.

TUNEIN — In addition, Oregon State Athletics offers radio broadcasts online via the TuneIn application. TuneIn enables people to discover, follow and listen to what's most important to them — from the Beavers, to news, to music, to talk. TuneIn provides listeners access to over 100,000 real radio stations and more than four million podcasts streaming from every continent.

BEAVER SPORTS TALK — In addition, Beaver stations also carry "Beaver Sports Talk" a weekly statewide call-in show every Wednesday (Tuesdays for weekday games) night from 6-7 p.m. featuring head coach Gary Andersen and Mike Parker. BST is live from Buffalo Wild Wings on Ninth Street in Corvallis and airs on most of the Beaver Sports Radio Network stations on www.osubeavers.com.

THE JOE BEAVER SHOW — Each weekday from Noon to 2 p.m. Mike Parker and Jon Warren host an OSU sports-themed show in the Greater Corvallis area on 1240 KEJO and is available worldwide on kejoam.com.

MIKE PARKER

Mike Parker is entering his 18th season calling OSU football, men's basketball and baseball action and has been behind the microphone for some of the school's crowning achievements on the athletic fields.

The "voice of the Beavers" is a 1982 graduate of the University of Oregon with a bachelor's degree in rhetoric and communications. His broadcasting career includes play-by-play for football, basketball and baseball for high school sports in Oregon, beginning in 1977. He was the voice of the Eugene Emeralds (1983-86) minor league baseball club and the Oregon women's basketball program (1983-87). He also was the play-by-play voice of the AAA Portland Beavers from 1987-92.

Parker hosted a show on all-sports KFXX Radio from 1990-95 before moving to KEX Radio as host of Sportsline and the Fifth Quarter program following Portland Trail Blazers games. Parker has been named the Oregon Sportscaster of the Year six times. Mike and his wife Missy have two daughters, Lydia and Ellie.

JIM WILSON

Jim Wilson is in his 13th year on the OSU football radio crew, and has also worked as a color analyst on OSU baseball broadcasts.

He is one of the top two-sport student-athletes in the history of the school, participating in baseball and football.

Wilson, a member of the OSU Sports Hall of Fame, still holds the school record for home runs in one season with 21 and for single season (.829) and career (.640) slugging percentage. He was the Pac-10 Conference's Northern Division MVP and third team All-American in 1982. Wilson was drafted by the Cleveland Indians in 1982 and played Major League Baseball with the Indians and Seattle Mariners, and in Japan. Wilson lettered in football as an offensive lineman in 1980 and '81.

Jim and his wife Lisa have been married for 25 years and have twin daughters, Esti and Evan.

RON CALLAN

Ron Callan has spent over 35 years in the broadcast media business, all in the Pacific Northwest, and is in his ninth year as a member of the Beaver broadcast team. Callan handles sideline duties as well as hosting the pre- and post-game shows. He has been named the Associated Press Sportscaster of the Year three times.

Callan spent seven seasons as the sideline reporter for the Seattle Seahawks' radio network after a 10-year stint hosting the Washington Huskies' postgame show on KIRO TV in Seattle.

The 1974 Linfield College graduate also has worked for KVDO TV in Salem, KTVB TV in Boise, KHQ TV in Spokane and Root Sports. Callan, a former opera singer, has three children – Cassie, Daniel and Lily.

STEVE PREECE

Steve Preece has been a mainstay with the Beavers both on the field as a quarterback on the famed 1967 "Giant Killers" team and in the booth as a color analyst for Beaver broadcasts. The 1969 OSU graduate played nine seasons in the NFL for the New Orleans Saints, Philadelphia Eagles, Denver Broncos, Los Angeles Rams and Seattle Seahawks. He played on four conference championship teams with the Rams.

Preece adds insight on network pre-game radio. He is married to Karen Renee Hammer. Preece has two sons, Travis and Nick, and a daughter Whitney and her husband Pete. He also has one grandson, Travis.

OSU HISTORY & TRADITIONS

THE FIGHT SONG

OSU our hats are off to you,
Beavers, Beavers, fighters thru and thru,
We'll cheer throughout the land,
We'll root for every plan,
That's made for old OSU.

Watch our team go tearing down the field;
Those of iron, their strength will never yield.
Hail! Hail! Hail! Hail!
Hail to old OSU
(OSU Fight! B-E-A-V-E-R-S)

NICKNAME — THE BEAVERS

In the early days of the institution, Oregon State University's athletic teams were known as the Aggies. When orange uniforms replaced the drab sweatshirt gray and tan jerseys, the teams were referred to as the Orangemen.

In 1916 the school yearbook was renamed "The Beaver" and the name Beaver became associated with the school. It is believed the press also had some influence in changing the name, particularly L.H. Gregory of The Oregonian newspaper. The name gained instant popularity among alumni and students.

The Beaver is the state's official animal.

THE MASCOT — BENNY

Benny Beaver was adopted as Oregon State University's mascot in 1952 after the school had a reported three previous mascots. The first mascot in 1893 was a coyote named Jimmie, owned by M.M.H. Kriebel. In 1909, a second mascot appeared on the scene. Dr. John Bell, a Corvallis pastor and former regent of Corvallis when the college was taken over by the state and became Oregon Agricultural College. In the early 1900s, "Doc Bell" was considered to be the varsity football squad's "mascot" because of his steadfast attendance and advising. In 1921 there was an attempt to make a live Beaver, "Bevo", into the school mascot, but with little success.

Benny Beaver, OSU's current mascot, was introduced to the student body by the school's rally squad on September 18, 1952, in an effort to pick up sagging school spirit.

"Benny Beaver, the rally squad's candidate for handsomest man in school, has never been on campus before," according to The Barometer (student paper), at the time.

"The animal stands six-feet tall, wears vivid orange knickerbockers, a black jersey, and his familiar orange and black rooters lid."

Adopted as the official mascot in 1952, Benny Beaver still fires up the crowds at OSU athletic events today.

Benny Beaver, while officially accepted as the school's mascot in 1952, actually can be traced back to the 1940-41 school year. A statue of a beaver named "Benny" appears in the school's yearbook, and later a Barometer sports columnist used the pen name "Benny Beaver."

TEAM COLORS — ORANGE & BLACK

Oregon State was known as Corvallis College until the mid 1890s and the school color was navy blue. A faculty committee appointed by school President John Bloss voted to replace blue with orange. Not long after, black was selected by the student body as a background color. A local tailor named J.H. Harris donated black uniforms for the baseball team in this time frame, and it is believed to be where the black color scheme began in athletics, although that is debatable. An article in the local Corvallis Gazette-Times in 1892 describes the use of orange and black in commencement ceremonies, nearly a year prior to orange becoming the official color.

While orange was originally the official color, over the years black has become more universally accepted as one of the official colors. Today, nearly all of OSU accepts orange and black as the official colors.

Brandon Arnold finding balance while stepping in for injured Justin Strong

By Gina Mizell
The Oregonian November 11, 2015

CORVALLIS — Brandon Arnold calls getting his first-career college start a "dream come true." But the Oregon State safety is also quick to note the challenges of playing that position in the Pac-12.

"If a play is made on you," Arnold said, "(if) they catch a long pass on you or you miss a tackle or someone scores on you, like coaches say, 'Always have amnesia. Go on to the next play.' That's the toughest thing."

Last week against UCLA, Arnold stepped in for Justin Strong (concussion), the Beavers' most consistent defensive back and arguably their most underrated overall performer on that side of the ball. Though Arnold had seen a fair amount of playing time in 2015 — his interception at Washington State serves as the biggest highlight — Saturday marked his first chance to take the game's first defensive snap.

And Arnold, a sophomore, had one of those "amnesia plays" early on, when Josh Rosen lofted a pass over Arnold's head and into the arms of Thomas Duarte for the Bruins' first touchdown.

"No matter what," Arnold said, "When something happens, you're always thinking about that. 'Is that gonna happen again on me?' You start just having random thoughts."

Arnold, who finished with six tackles against UCLA, will get another chance to strike that mental balance this week. With Strong officially ruled out for Saturday's contest at California, Arnold will next match up against future NFL quarterback Jared Goff and a talented crop of Golden Bears receivers.

"Hopefully it continues," Arnold said. "Keep doing the right thing on the field."

Bailey upbeat as he waits for opportunity

By Gary Horowitz
Statesman-Journal September 17, 2015

It would be easy for Jaylynn Bailey to get discouraged.

After all, the sophomore from South Salem High School is behind five players on the depth chart at tailback, and only senior Storm Barrs-Woods will be gone next season.

But Bailey remains upbeat. It's part of his nature.

"Things happen during the season," said Bailey, who is part of the scout team. "We have to keep as many guys ready as possible. You've just gotta keep working hard, that's what it comes down to."

Bailey transferred from Southern Oregon University after redshirting in 2013. He joined the OSU football program in March of 2014 in time for spring practice.

In the 2015 spring game, Bailey ran for 64 yards on six carries. He also was productive during preseason scrimmages.

Bailey hasn't played in a game yet, but he was in uniform for both games, which included a trip to Ann Arbor, Michigan, for a matchup in "The Big House," which is one of the cathedrals of college football.

"It was fun. 109,000 fans screaming, it was pretty cool," he said.

Bailey hopes to work into a role on special teams this season, and will remain ready if his number is called on offense.

"I love my teammates. I support 'em all," Bailey said. "We all work just as hard. We push each other. It's a group effort."

Devin Chappell (26) began the 2015 season as the team's top nickel back before moving to safety where he started five games. Chappell recorded a season-best 11 tackles against UCLA and finished the year seventh on the squad with 43 tackles.

Beavers nickel back makes leap from WOU to Pac-12

By Gary Horowitz
Statesman-Journal October 6, 2015

Oregon State nickel back Devin Chappell never doubted that he could play college football at the Division I level.

He was not discouraged after receiving zero Division I offers coming out of Thurston High School in Springfield, and never lost faith in his ability when major colleges didn't come calling after playing two years at Western Oregon.

Chappell transferred to OSU in the spring of 2014, redshirted last season due to NCAA transfer rules, and stayed the course when Gary Andersen replaced Mike Riley as coach in December.

Heading into Saturday's game at Arizona, Chappell is the starting nickel back, which is a hybrid position that requires a skill set to play cornerback, safety and linebacker.

"I thank God for being with me every step of the way on this journey," Chappell, a 6-foot-2, 200 pound junior said, "but most important coach Andersen and (his) staff believing in me and giving me an opportunity to show what I can do. Not discriminating against me because I'm a walk-on."

Make that former walk-on. Chappell was put on scholarship this summer during preseason practices.

Chappell was a two-time all-league selection as a cornerback and wide receiver in high school, but his dream of playing Division I football would have to wait. He could have gone the junior college route, but accepted the only scholarship offer that came his way from WOU.

Chappell broke into the starting lineup as a sophomore, and recorded 50 tackles and three interceptions.

But instead of remaining at WOU, Chappell took a chance on himself and walked on at OSU.

"I did not have one doubt in my mind and I'm not saying that with any cockiness," Chappell said. "I'm saying that with utmost confidence in myself. I knew I could play at this level."

Many walk-ons in Division I get lost in the shuffle, and if they play at all, it's on special teams.

Chappell has played in all four games thus far, was a starter against San Jose State, and has made six tackles, including 1½ for loss, and one quarterback hurry.

OSU (2-2, 0-1 Pac-12) will be seeing a steady dose of spread teams for the remainder of the conference schedule, beginning with Arizona (3-2, 0-2), and that likely translates into an expanded role for Chappell.

"This is a great opportunity for Devin to get in the limelight a little more," Andersen said.

Chappell's ability to make plays in space, from a variety of positions on the field, whether it's in coverage, run support, or on quarterback blitzes, makes him a valuable asset.

"He's smart. He's very instinctive," junior safety Cyril Noland-Lewis said.

And he's not overwhelmed playing against better competition in the Pac-12.

Chappell called the talent level different from WOU to the Pac-12 "a tremendous leap, but there are individuals that compete at this level that played Division II."

Tyrell Williams from Cascade High School in Turner and Chappell's former teammate at WOU, is a rookie wide receiver with the San Diego Chargers.

"We would go back and forth (in practice)," Chappell said. "That was a great competition battle."

Growing up in Southern California, Chappell was a USC fan. He became an Oregon fan when he moved with his family to Springfield at the age of 9, but there is no doubt where his heart is now.

"I'm a Beaver, a Beaver believer," Chappell said with a smile. "I love being here at Oregon State."

Seth Collins (4) started the first seven games of the year at quarterback before sitting out due to injury. He came back in the season finale against Oregon as a wide receiver scoring three touchdowns. Collins' playmaking ability as a wide receiver will be an added dimension in the 2016 offense.

Seth Collins to return to Oregon State as receiver

By Gina Mizell
The Oregonian April 11, 2016

CORVALLIS -- The Seth Collins saga has taken another turn.

And this time, it's a positive spin for Oregon State.

The sophomore who had announced he would transfer from OSU to Northern Illinois to play quarterback earlier this year will instead return to the Beavers as a receiver, the school announced Monday afternoon.

"I'm very humbled that my teammates and coaches have provided me the opportunity to rejoin the team," Collins said in a release. "Coach (Gary) Andersen did not always agree with the direction that I was headed during this process, but was always there to talk and support me as a person first.

"I've grown tremendously as a person since I arrived in Corvallis and I can't wait to put on the pads and represent Beaver Nation the best way possible."

Collins is still enrolled and on scholarship at OSU and had attended multiple spring practices this month. He will not participate in any of the remaining workouts this spring, Andersen said in a release, but "is back in the weight room completing the winter conditioning cycle." Collins had signed a financial aid agreement with Northern Illinois, which is non-binding.

"We have a plan that will take place over the next few months for Seth to earn his way back in the mainstream of our program," Andersen said. "He is fully prepared to accept the responsibility and make up for the time he has missed."

Attempts to reach Collins' family and Northern Illinois coach Rod Carey for comment were unsuccessful on Monday.

Collins adds an electrifying weapon to OSU's offense following an up-and-down true freshman season, where he often dazzled with his athleticism and fiery, competitive demeanor but was erratic with his arm. He started OSU's first six games at quarterback, completing 52.2 percent of his passes for 936 yards, six touchdowns and four interceptions while leading the team in rushing with 580 yards and eight scores.

By an Oct. 24 contest against Colorado, Collins was sharing time behind center with Nick Mitchell (who has since transferred to Division II's Dixie State), a tandem Andersen said the Beavers planned to maintain during the second half of the season. But a "freak" hyperextended knee Collins sustained while backpedaling before a practice forced him to miss the Beavers' next four games, an injury Andersen once indicated would cause Collins to miss the rest of the season.

Yet Collins returned for the Civil War in a multidimensional offensive role that saw him line up at receiver, running back and quarterback while tallying three rushing touchdowns and 45 passing yards. After the season, co-offensive coordinator Kevin McGiven said the Beavers planned to continue using Collins in that way in 2016, before the school announced in late January that he intended to transfer.

"It seems like the best formula, in terms of his talent," McGiven said in December, "is to be able move him around to different spots and make it a situation where the defense can't necessarily key in on where he's gonna be."

Northern Illinois may have offered Collins the chance to continue as a quarterback. But he also would have needed to sit out a year due to NCAA transfer rules, before competing for playing time at a non-Power 5 school. Additionally, Collins' sister, Devin, is a sprinter for OSU's track and field team, and Corvallis is closer to his hometown of El Cajon, Calif.

So Collins will re-join an OSU receiving corps that already returns starters Victor Bolden, Jordan Villamin and Hunter Jarmon, along with reserves Rahmel Dockery, Xavier Hawkins and Paul Lucas (who will also play running back). Junior college transfer Timmy Hernandez and early enrollee Trevon Bradford have joined the mix for spring practice, while freshman Tyson Penn will arrive for fall camp.

Currently competing to be OSU's starting quarterback in 2016, meanwhile, are Utah State transfer Darell Garretson, sophomore Marcus McMaryion and early enrollee Mason Moran. Junior college transfer Daniel Prieto will join the program this summer.

Collins has not even begun his sophomore season, and his college career has already featured a slew of twists and turns.

The latest leads him right back to Corvallis.

"The reason we do what we do is to build young men off and on the field, supporting them and preparing them for the future," Andersen said in a release. "Sometimes they do not always make decisions we agree with, but these can be times of growth for the individual.

"The return of Seth to our program is a decision supported by the leaders of this team, our coaching staff and myself … It's important to note that since arriving at Oregon State, he has been an excellent student and has had zero off-the-field issues."

At 6-1 and 232-pounds, Tim Cook (20) could be a 'big' factor in the Beavers' rushing game in 2016. Cook missed the 2015 season due to injury but will vie for playing time behind Ryan Nall.

Can't Stop Tim Cook

By Josh Worden
The Daily Barometer January 19, 2016

Bullet wounds, getting cut and injuries have only been bumps in road for Tim Cook

The bullet tore through Tim Cook's leg, missing his shin bone by millimeters and exiting cleanly through his calf. The victim of a robbery gone wrong, while at a junior college teammate's apartment in 2012, Cook was "in the wrong place at the wrong time."

Getting shot has been one of many afflictions for Cook, who now is a running back on Oregon State's football team.

He grew up in a rough area in Arkansas, failed to qualify academically coming out of high school and got cut from the football team at Butler Community College in Kansas. He played at Eastern Arizona College for two years and finally seemed close to his dream of playing Division-I football when he committed to OSU in May. Then, just before Cook had a chance to compete for a starting spot when fall camp opened, he sustained a season-ending injury in a weight room accident.

"You always have that thought in the back of your head, 'what if I do this again?'" he said. "But you've just got to overcome that. In life, you've got to overcome adversities."

The son of a Marine, Cook learned early in his life how to attack difficulties. It wasn't always easy, but Cook had a tight-knit family to help.

"Growing up in a minority area, I always had to work for everything. Things weren't given to me at all," he said. "(My father) developed the mentality in me of always working hard, being accountable, being reliable, pushing yourself to the limit. My mom always had my back about things. My whole family always supported me."

Cook was a standout prospect at White Hall High School in Arkansas, benching 350 pounds as a sophomore and bulking up to 6-foot-1, 227 pounds his senior year. He ran the 40-yard dash in 4.38 seconds twice in front of college scouts. He's fielded more than 20 scholarship offers, earning interest from Wisconsin, Louisville, Arkansas, California, Arizona, Ole Miss, Mississippi State, Colorado State, Iowa State, Louisiana Tech and more.

Though he was named the Southeast Arkansas Defensive Player of the Year in high school, Cook's grades prevented him from playing for the schools that desired his blend of size and speed. He detoured to Butler, where he redshirted his first year. Just days before the Junior College National Championship game in 2012, Cook was playing Madden with a teammate in an on-campus apartment when a man attempted to break and enter. Cook went down with a bullet to the leg, the thief was arrested and Cook had a night he would "never forget."

"On a scale of one to ten (of painfulness), it was probably like a four or five. I was more mad than I was hurting," Cook said. "I was like, 'how could I be in this situation?' But I couldn't control it. Life just puts you in situations and you're tested every day. You just have to overcome adversity. That's one thing that Butler taught me."

Cook didn't take long to bounce back — he was walking by the next day and was "limping around on it playing basketball two days later." He looked forward to his second year at Butler, but due to a conference rule limiting out-of-state players for each school, the Arkansas native had to compete for a roster spot. The battle came down to him and Lawrence Mattison, who happened to be committed to Oregon State at the time but needed to qualify academically at Butler before transferring. Mattison won the spot and Cook was cut from the roster. Cook thought about quitting football for good and moving back to Arkansas, but instead was "blessed with another opportunity" to revive his career by transferring to Eastern Arizona Community College.

"Whenever you get cut, it does something to you," Cook said. "The greatest have been cut. I remember hearing a story about Michael Jordan being cut in high school and it just fueled his fire. To be honest, I'm very fueled right now. I have a lot of hostility that I need to relieve in football pads."

Shortly after Cook transferred, Mattison quit the team at Butler and never ended up at OSU. Butler tried to contact Cook with their newly opened roster spot, but Cook had already found a new home in Arizona.

"I found it funny that the guy that they chose over me had committed to Oregon State and now I'm here at Oregon State," Cook said. "I don't know the story with (Mattison) but I wish him the best."

Cook's time in Arizona marked the turnaround of his career. He earned second-team all-conference honors in 2014 while playing all over the field: running back, defensive end, linebacker, returner and anywhere else the coaches put him. Most importantly, he graduated — the first of his family to do so — and was eligible to transfer to any school he wanted.

According to OSU running backs coach Telly Lockette, recruiting Cook was a "no brainer." Cook chose OSU because of the chance to earn immediate playing time, and he arrived in Corvallis ready to prove himself as a Pac-12 running back.

That all changed during a summer workout, when Cook tore his pectoral muscle while benching 410 pounds. Not only was 410 pounds not his maximum weight, he was able to hold the bar in place after he tore the muscle before getting help from his spotter.

"When he initially did it, he was so calm we thought it was a general (pectoral) strain," said Strength and Conditioning Coach Evan Simon, who was in the weight room at the time.

Yet, Cook's attitude while missing the season was not one of anger or frustration. Instead, he valued the chance to watch running back Storm Woods finish out his senior year.

"It gave me an opportunity to watch Storm as a veteran, just see how he handled the game," Cook said. "I took a lot of mental notes while being on the sideline cheering for my team."

"It kind've made him more hungry," added freshman tight end Noah Togiai on Cook's injury. "He always talked about how he's going to come back stronger."

Despite everything Cook's been through, he still has plenty ahead of him. After using a medical redshirt this year, Cook will be a fifth-year junior for the 2016 season.

"For most kids to go through all the traumatic stuff he's been through, they'd probably be depressed and be down," Lockette said. "But he's always energetic. He's always helping other players and encouraging them."

"He's showed flashes. He can be a great one."

Cook agrees, and he tattooed himself to prove it with a giant lion across his chest.

"People say they're lionhearted and don't necessarily act the part," he said. "I try to be a leader, I try to not be a follower. I'm not a follower."

Now, his goals are to graduate from OSU, which he expects to do in the fall, bring OSU to a new level after a 2-10 campaign last year and then move on to the NFL.

Every plan has a hitch, Cook knows, so he's looked into other options if the NFL doesn't work out. He'd like to use his sociology degree to become a police officer, stemming from his experience as a child.

"I grew up in an environment where things weren't necessarily great," he said. "I saw where cops were needed and where they were most appreciated. I feel like I could make a difference in people's lives and try to change some of the stereotypes for cops."

Right now, Cook is focused on finishing his rehab and being prepared for next season, when he expects his playing abilities to finally find the limelight.

"Everything should be good to go by spring time," he said. Then, he paused, disliking the ambiguity.

"Everything will be good to go by spring time," he added, with an emphasis on 'will.'

His confidence is valid. If he can handle being shot, getting cut from a junior college, sustaining an injury and still be where he is today, who is going to stop Tim Cook?

Treston Decoud has it covered for Oregon State

By Kerry Eggers
The Portland Tribune September 21, 2015

CORVALLIS -- If a feature film were to be made about Treston Decoud's future at Oregon State, it would be entitled "Seventeen months."

That's the amount of time the junior college transfer hopes to spend in Corvallis before he hits the big time.

"My coaches -- Coach (Derrick) Odum, Coach (Kalani) Sitake, Coach (Gary Andersen) -- they had a plan for me when they recruited me," says Decoud, who will be in the starting lineup at cornerback Friday night when the Beavers (2-1) face Stanford (2-1) at Reser Stadium in their Pac-12 opener.

"I have 17 months, and they broke it down. They said, 'You can play ball, do what you do, and you'll get an opportunity to feed your family.' "

Decoud isn't dreaming of being a short-order cook. He's hoping to follow a string of Oregon State cornerbacks who have made it to the NFL, including a pair -- Brandon Browner and Keenan Lewis -- who are playing for his home-state New Orleans Saints.

"I don't know them, but I know of them," says Decoud, a 6-3, 210-pound junior who hails from Covington, La. "They made it to where I want to be, so I look up to those guys.

"I'm not trying to follow in their footsteps. I want to make my own name. I'm just trying to put in work every day so I can get seen and get my opportunity."

Decoud will have to show he can excel at the Pac-12 level. He's off to a good start, pairing with senior Larry Scott as Oregon State's starting corners in the first three games of the Andersen era.

If Decoud has found a home, it has been a long time coming. He is at his fourth college in four years after stops at Chadron State, Nicholls State and NW Mississippi Community College.

"He has been around the block a little bit," says Odum, the Beavers' secondary coach who worked seven years under Portland native June Jones at Southern Methodist. "He has had a long road, but he has fit in here real well, and real fast."

Decoud, 22, says he had scholarship offers from such schools as Texas Tech, Southern Miss, Louisiana Tech, Grambling State and Florida International out of high school but didn't qualify academically. He wound up at Chadron (Neb.) State, a Division II school where entrance requirements are lower.

After his redshirt freshman season there, Decoud's mother, Chandrik Decoud, was diagnosed with breast cancer. Treston transferred to Nicholls State, an FBS school in Thibodaux, La., to be closer to his mother.

"I was worried about her," he says. "Nicholls was 45 minutes from home."

Decoud says he earned a starting spot during spring ball at Nicholls -- the same team that lost to Oregon State 77-3 in 2012 and 66-3 to Oregon in 2013 -- but was denied immediate eligibility due to a change in NCAA rules.

"I didn't want to sit out another season, so I went the juco route," Decoud says.

Decoud had a big season at Northwest Mississippi, ranking third nationally with six interceptions and earning first-team All-America honors. That drew the attention of such schools as Utah State, Louisiana-Lafayette, East Carolina and Toledo, but when Oregon State came calling, he jumped at the opportunity.

"I was trying to go somewhere where I could compete for a starting spot," Decoud says. "Coach Odum and Coach Andersen recruited me, and I'm glad they did. I wouldn't want to be nowhere else."

Decoud had to complete academic requirements at Northwest Mississippi and missed spring ball at OSU, arriving in June. He didn't take things for granted when August training camp began.

"The coaches expected me to start, but I was a little rusty," he says. "But I believed in my ability, and they believed in me, and we knew where we were going to go from there."

On his first play as a Beaver in the opener against Weber State, Decoud came across the field to swat away a bomb on a trick play by the Wildcats.

"Should have had an interception," Decoud says. "That's why every day after practice, I'm on the Jugs (ball machine), catching balls. I can't leave money out there no more. You got to have the mind-set as a DB -- that's your ball."

Decoud -- whose cousin, Thomas Decoud, played seven years in the NFL as a safety -- learned quickly that the pace of the game at the FBS level is much quicker than what he was accustomed to.

"It's a big difference," he says. "I had a great coaching staff at Northwest Mississippi, and I learned some technique at corner. But coming here, they teach you at another level. It takes awhile to pick it up.

"I'm still not the greatest at it, but I'm working every day to get better, and it's shown on the field. I'm starting to feel confidence and gain my swagger. I'm glad we started with three non-conference games. Now it's Pac-12, and I have some experience under my belt. I don't have to be nervous. I can just go out and play."

Decoud has the physical skills, including size and speed.

"I haven't run a 40 for time forever, but I can clock about a 4.45," he says. "I'm still trying to get more flexible so I can get even faster. That's why I love my coaches. They see something you lack, they want you to work on it."

His coaches like what they've seen so far.

"Treston has done a great job, coming in from JC and being pressed into action," Odum says. "He is getting more comfortable with the defense, which allows him to play a little faster. He is learning all the nuances of the coverages. He is real eager. He wants to master the position.

"He is a great kid, he really is. Extremely mature. He wants to be a professional, and he acts like it. He is working at his trade. He is very attentive. He wants to learn." Sitake, Oregon State's defensive coordinator, likes that Decoud hasn't been beaten very often in coverage.

"Whenever no one talks about the corners, it's a good sign, right?" Sitake says. "He has size and some speed and a knack for the ball, a lot like Larry.

"Treston lives for the moment on that field, and he's not afraid to make a mistake. He is aggressive, which we really like. Adversity will hit him, and he'll get over it. As a corner, you have to have short-term memory. He is perfect for that position. There are a lot of things he needs to work on, and he knows it."

Decoud says he is in a good place, and his mother is, too.

"She is doing great -- 100 percent free of cancer," he says. "Thank God she overcome that.

"And thank God I'm at Oregon State. I love it here. I'm trying to get better. It's Pac-12 -- big-time ball. I'm paying attention to what the coaches are telling me, working on my technique and getting ready for Stanford."

Darell Garretson (10) earned the starting nod at quarterback after Spring Ball. Garretson has 11 career starts, including a bowl win, under his belt from his days at Utah State in 2013 and '14.

Straw that stirs the drink

By Brooks Hatch
OSUBeavers.com March 30, 2016

Darell Garretson doesn't want to be the straw that stirs the drink.

Rather, Oregon State's redshirt junior quarterback envisions himself as a "calming presence," one who maintains his composure and keeps the Beavers headed in the right direction when things go south.

"The leadership part," the 6-foot, 196-pounder replied on Monday, when asked what he could add to help the Beavers improve in Year II of the Gary Andersen coaching era.

"Be a guy who everyone looks to as a calming presence. Instead of [having players say] 'Oh, we've got to hang on,' when we get into those tough situations, really calm guys down and get them to play within themselves, like we always do."

The Beavers opened spring practice on Monday morning with a three-hour workout at Prothro Field. But even before a play was called or a pass was thrown, it was obvious the Chandler, Ariz., native had made a huge impression on his teammates and coaching staff in the short time he's been in Corvallis since transferring from Utah State after the 2014 season.

"Darrell was taking charge," junior wide receiver Jordan Villamin said. "I expect the passing game to be a lot better.

"With the receivers getting older and understanding how to play, and having Darrell and the other quarterbacks throwing the ball, we will have a lot of success in the passing game."

The sociology major was one of five players selected as spring practice team captains by their teammates, a significant honor for a player who has yet to take a varsity snap. He joins veterans Victor Bolden, Devin Chappell, Sean Harlow and Dustin Stanton in that key leadership role.

"It means a lot," he said. "[It means] the guys think I'm a leader, and believe in me. That's a big part of it.

"I was obviously shocked. I was here for one season and an off-season you're voted a team captain … you take that personally, and realize what you are to your team. It was a nice piece of information to receive.

"It just happened, it was just one of those things, I wasn't trying" to fill a void. "It just kind of took care of itself."

Co-offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach Kevin McGiven, who coached Garretson at Utah State in 2013-14, said he has "one of those personalities guys take to."

"It's a unique situation with Darell, where I think he has a lot of innate leadership qualities. He's able to get on guys on the field and still be able to hang out with them afterwards without having any hard feelings.

"That takes a unique kind of guy. It's neat to see how the team has responded."

Fortunately for the Beavers, Garretson also has some chops on the playing field to complement his leadership abilities. In 12 games over his two seasons at Utah State, he completed 217 of 344 (.631) passing for 2,586 yards, with 18 touchdowns and 10 interceptions.

He won his first five starts as a true freshman. As a sophomore he led the Aggies to a victory at No. 18 BYU to earn Mountain West Conference Player of the Week honors before suffering a season-ending injury.

Garretson is also familiar with McGiven's offense. It's been tweaked somewhat since their days together in Logan, but the core concepts remain similar.

"Darrell already understands what I'm trying to teach," McGiven said. "There's already a connection in the meeting room; he understands what I'm looking for when I call things. There's not much of a learning curve."

Inexperience at quarterback cost the Beavers dearly in 2015.

McGiven anticipates significant improvement in 2016.

"Any time you have experience it's huge," he said. "It eliminates a lot of questions you have going into the first game. That [experience] showed up today from a leadership and execution standpoint."

Added Garretson:

"You can definitely tell guys are comfortable, know where to go, know where to line up, and aren't second-guessing themselves at all. Knowing what you're doing, you can play smarter play faster and prove what you've got."

He described Monday's opening practice as "a good time." He said it was also nice to be taking meaningful reps, precursors to actual action.

"You finally get too feel somewhat valuable to the team, instead of just running the scout team" he elaborated. "Obviously [running the scout team] is valuable too, but when you come from playing" it can be hard to stay motivated and focused when there is no chance of playing time.

"Today I feel like I belonged again, so that was nice. You're taking reps that count and that's the biggest part about it. Everything counts."

Darell Garretson 'business as usual' since being named Oregon State's starting quarterback

By Gina Mizell
The Oregonian June 6, 2016

CORVALLIS — Darell Garretson can't remember exactly how he first found out he had been named Oregon State's starting quarterback — because it might have been through Twitter. But he got the official word during his spring practice exit meeting with Beavers co-offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach Kevin McGiven.

"Obviously, you want to have the biggest smile," Garretson recently recalled. "But I tried to stay as business as possible, just shaking my head and everything.

"But, yeah, I was pretty fired up."

It's been about six weeks since Garretson was notified of his new title. But as he's moved through the offseason, he's tried to keep everything "business as usual."

"You've got to keep competing," Garretson said. "You have to keep setting the bar higher and higher and higher."

It's the latest step in a year that Garretson has called a "complete 180."

Last June, he decided to leave Utah State -- where he started 11 games over two seasons and threw for for 2,586 yards, 18 touchdowns and 10 interceptions -- and transfer to OSU as a walk-on. He spent the 2015 season redshirting and directing the scout team while sitting out due to NCAA transfer rules, as the Beavers toggled through freshmen Seth Collins, Nick Mitchell and Marcus McMaryion as the starter during a trying 2-10 season. He beat out McMaryion for the starting nod by the end of spring practice in April, before going through the Beavers' four-week strength and conditioning program leading up to the end of the spring term for the first time.

Head strength and conditioning coach Evan Simon called Garretson a leader during those workouts, not a surprise given Garretson was voted a spring practice captain by his teammates. Garretson also liked that OSU's quarter system allowed for those extra weeks in the weight room immediately following spring practice and before the rigorous summer program, noting that players on the semester system like Utah State's "can really lose a lot" when they go home for a month after finals.

Mechanically, Garretson wants to keep improving during the throwing sessions he will lead on his own throughout the summer. But his biggest goal is to help the Beavers "take care of things ourselves," spearheading a deeper understanding of the playbook and overall operation of the offense so they won't need to repeat plays when fall camp arrives. After all, the Beavers ranked 115th nationally in scoring offense (19 points per game), 111th in total offense (336.4 yards per game) and 116th in passing offense (159.1 yards per game) with Garretson on the sideline a season ago.

"All we need to do is run (every play) one time through the walk-thru, just to make sure everyone's there," Garretson envisions. "Once that's done, it's done, next play. The more plays we can get, the better it is."

Yet Garretson also plans to enjoy Oregon's beauty through outdoor adventures with his teammates to Three Pools and High Rocks Park. He discovered those gems last year, which he calls the "best summer of my life."

This summer might top that, though. Because now he's OSU's starting quarterback.

Will Hopkins settles in as starting left tackle

By Gina Mizell
The Oregonian November 6, 2015

CORVALLIS — Will Hopkins acknowledges he was a bit uncertain when he stepped on the field at Rice-Eccles Stadium last week.

Up until that point, the Oregon State offensive lineman had primarily only faced teammates in practice, before getting late game action against Colorado. Matching up against Utah's ferocious defensive line — the best unit the Beavers will face all season — as the starting left tackle would be quite different.

Yet Hopkins earned favorable reviews in his first-career start, a role he will now hold the rest of the season while veteran Sean Harlow recovers from ankle surgery.

"I didn't know what it would be like once we got into a hostile environment against guys that I don't know their moves and haven't been practicing against them for a while," Hopkins said. "...First couple plays, (I was) getting some butterflies out. But once I realized I could play with them, it wasn't too bad."

Still, it was quite the job for Hopkins, who recently recovered from mononucleosis. He lost nearly 30 pounds — including about 15 during a five-day stretch in mid-September — while ill. Though he felt like his cardio held up for the entire Utah game, he does still feel a bit weaker physically since he could not lift weights for several weeks.

Giving up that size means his technique must be flawless, Hopkins said. At 6-foot-7, he needs to consistently stay low in his stance. He's working to crisply drop his outside "kick" foot when he locks into pass protection, and keep his arm firm against a defender trying to rush off the edge.

"That's how the chart works — if you're down weight, you need to have perfect technique," Hopkins said. "If you're heavier, you should still have good technique, but sometimes you can get away with things here and there, whereas I don't have that luxury as much."

Hopkins already sat next to Harlow during film sessions, trying to absorb knowledge from the three-year starter. But now, Harlow can critique Hopkins' own game tape, as well as provide on-the-spot advice while rolling around the practice field on a scooter.

After all, the starting left tackle job belongs to Hopkins for the season's final month.

Beavers looking for Hunter Jarmon to take on bigger role

By Kevin Hampton
Corvallis Gazette-Times November 13, 2015

Hunter Jarmon raced past a teammate on a scissors route and got a step on Michigan's Jourdan Lewis.

The move gave Jarmon just enough space to make a leaning, leaping grab of Oregon State quarterback Seth Collins' throw in the back of the end zone.

The play was a perfect showcase for Jarmon.

"His body control is by far the best on the team," fellow receiver and teammate Victor Bolden said. "He's really smooth in his routes and his ability to catch the ball is probably one of the best on the team, too. He has great ball skills."

Jarmon is tied with Datrin Guyton for third on the team with 14 receptions for 157 yards and the touchdown.

Guyton, however, was dismissed from the team at the beginning of the week. The Beavers will now look to Jarmon to play an expanded role, starting with Saturday's 7:30 p.m. game at California.

He will be expected to help a group effort to move forward.

"It's not me necessarily stepping up, just the whole receiver corps," Jarmon said. "We lost one of our brothers, which is very sad, very disappointing. So we all have to step up as a unit."

Jarmon, a sophomore, started two games and played in all 12 games as a redshirt freshman last season. He played baseball for a brief time, but decided to focus on football.

He caught 20 passes, including five for 76 yards against San Diego State. He also had three games of three catches.

With a new offense and no Sean Mannion to throw the ball, the statistics have been a little harder to come by this season.

"I feel like I've been doing OK. I can do a lot better," Jarmon said. "Obviously, the receivers' numbers as well as my numbers are disappointing this year and kind of down from where we wanted them, so just trying these last three games to work as hard as we can to our part first and just get this offense going."

Jarmon has plenty of natural talent to work with. In addition to his knack for body control, he has the ability to finish the catch.

You won't see Jarmon dropping a pass too often.

"I have pretty strong hands, but it's just focusing on the ball (and) hand-eye coordination," he said. "Credit that to baseball. So just focusing on the ball is going to help that much more. But I feel I have pretty good hands."

He doesn't rest on those abilities. He spends quite a bit of time honing his skills.

He works a lot on polishing his route-running skills and knows that those small details make a big difference on the field.

"The top of curls, the top of comebacks. Just defining those routes so I can get that much more space," Jarmon said. "And really what I've been working on is releases because you can always work on releases."

Bolden called him "Old Faithful."

"He knows his role and when they call his number he goes out there and makes a play," Bolden said.

Hunter Jarmon (2) has eight career starts and is listed as the starter at one of the outside receiver spots entering the fall.

Beavers looking for more ways to get big plays out of Paul Lucas

By Kevin Hampton
Corvallis Gazette-Times April 19, 2016

Paul Lucas wasn't sure he was going to be able to get on the field for the Oregon State spring game.

A hamstring injury held up Lucas since the first week of spring practice and it was bothering him a bit before the game.

"The spring game I was warming up and it sort of tweaked me a little bit, but I didn't want to leave Trevon (Bradford) out to dry," Lucas said. "I knew how many people we were down, so I just had to give it my best."

With a thinned-down running back group as well as some receivers on the sideline, Lucas actually got a fair amount of touches.

The sophomore did not have a big breakaway play, but was steady and rushed for 30 yards on six carries and caught four passes for 40 yards.

"I wish we had him every day," OSU inside receivers coach Dave Baldwin said. "He showed a lot in the spring game, I was glad to see him come back and do those kind of things. That's his role for us, multiple positions, multiple motions and shifts, in the backfield and motioning out, trying to get mismatches with linebackers and a kid with great speed."

The plan going into the spring was to give Lucas more work at receiver.

Lucas' injury forced him to soak up as much information as possible from the sideline.

"I've just been taking mental reps as much as I can," he said. "I'll take reps at any position out there, outside receiver, inside receiver, I watch pretty much everything they do."

As Oregon State fans saw in the fall, the Beavers want to use Lucas in the backfield and out wide in order to take advantage of his speed.

Lucas showed flashes of his big play potential near the end of the season, rushing for 70 yards on 13 carries with a 33-yard gain at California and then a 76-yard run against Washington.

"He's a playmaker when the ball gets in his hands and he has the ability to take anything for 60, so he definitely puts pressure on any defensive coordinator and they have to scheme against him, so it definitely helps us and it opens up for everybody else," OSU receiver Victor Bolden said. "I think he's going to be a big asset to our offense."

Lucas played running back in high school, so learning receiver has been a bigger step.

He had two catches for eight yards in the fall.

"Fortunately, that's where we started with him last fall and he got a head start on it and the toughest thing was learning to get off jams and to then be able to get the depth on routes," Baldwin said.

"He's a very intelligent football player, he understands a lot. That's why we can do all the packages with him, but he still needs to work on jams and he still needs to work on depth on routes because you can get open at six yards, but you're supposed to be at 12, you're open at six and the quarterback's not ready to throw, so it's just getting depth to the route."

Bolden knows the importance of a player like Lucas to an offense.

Bolden came in with a similar football background, having played quite a bit of running back in high school and then adjusting to receiver in college, so he has taken Lucas under his wing a bit.

"He's doing a great job in both positions and he's picking up everything pretty well, so I don't really have to do much," Bolden said. "Just continue for him to develop in this offense and be successful when the season starts."

The hamstring is doing well and Lucas said the coaches are just letting him take it easy to make sure it doesn't get aggravated.

He'll be ready for the fall.

"They've got me with the running backs right now and doing a little bit of both, just motioning out the backfield and playing slot," Lucas said. "I can see myself just being a receiver, too. I want to develop my game so I can be any spot on the field and they just have to worry about where I am."

Beth Buglione

Paul Lucas (16) showed immense potential and fantastic speed in 2015. He'll likely be used in a 'playmaker' role as a running back and receiver in 2016.

Marcus McMaryion hoping offseason of work leads to Oregon State starting quarterback job

By Danny Moran
The Oregonian April 16, 2016

CORVALLIS – Last month after a late dinner at Local Boyz Hawaiian Cafe on the northern border of the Oregon State campus, Steve Calhoun wanted to see Marcus McMaryion put action to his words.

Calhoun, McMaryion's personal quarterback coach since high school, had heard a new level of confidence in his pupil's voice when discussing the Beavers' offensive scheme. So nearing 10 p.m., they made their way back onto campus for an impromptu training session at the team's indoor practice facility.

The workout lasted around one hour, as Orange County-based Calhoun put McMaryion through a series of drills that honed in on footwork. The steps matched the movements needed on quick throws in the spread offense, which had been a challenging adjustment last year for the once pro-style quarterback.

With each precise movement, Calhoun could tell that his student's comfort level had grown from the fall, when he floated up and down the quarterback depth chart among similarly inexperienced signal callers.

"It's hard to get comfortable and be confident in what you're doing when you're looking over your shoulder," Calhoun said. "If you prepare well, there's nothing that anyone that can throw at you that makes you uncomfortable."

McMaryion is now the only one of three active quarterbacks remaining from last year's team. Nick Mitchell transferred, as did Seth Collins before returning Monday to play wide receiver.

But little has changed on the competition front. McMaryion is in a battle with Utah State transfer Darell Garretson, who the Beavers voted as one of five captains for spring practice even though the junior has yet to play a down in orange and black.

While signs pointed to Garretson being named the starter, neither he, McMaryion nor freshman Mason Moran have leapt to the forefront. The Spring Game on Saturday will provide McMaryion with an ample chance to validate his offseason work and establish himself as a legitimate contender for that role heading into fall camp.

The last time OSU took the field, McMaryion made his first career start with butterflies in his stomach at Autzen Stadium. Playing in front of the loudest crowd he said he had ever heard, his jitters turned to calm during a second half rally in which the Beavers tallied 35 of their season-high 42 points.

Oregon State lost the Civil War 52-42 and McMaryion was far from perfect. But the offense's effort came within one point of matching the team's point total from the previous four games. It was a bright spot of a year that produced the program's fewest wins since 1996.

"It was good for me and I think just the offense as a whole as a momentum builder to set a standard for where we should be," McMaryion said. "There's no other excuses why we shouldn't be scoring 35, 40 points a game."

The confidence in the offense's ability has grown after a full season in the spread system that McMaryion once described as a 180-degree difference from the pro-style Mike Riley recruited him to run. When Riley left for Nebraska in December 2014, the old offense went with him.

When Calhoun met McMaryion, he was a high school underclassman still a long way from his varsity start. But the first thing that jumped out was McMaryion's ability to quickly process information, a skill that could benefit him now more than ever.

Calhoun also noticed a natural quietness. That characteristic fell on the other end of the spectrum from Lyle Moevao, an Oregon State quarterback from 2007-2009 who is now an assistant in charge of offensive quality control.

Moevao has become McMaryion's go-to sideline source after the conclusion of most on-field series. He has checked with the former OSU quarterback on his read progressions, peppered him with questions about defensive coverages and pocket presence.

Like McMaryion, Moevao met Calhoun before he ever suited up in Corvallis and trained with him throughout high school. Calhoun said he first recognized the demonstrative personality that distinguished Moevao from the more reserved Sean Canfield when the two batted for the starting spot.

Last season, a similar distinction in volume and personality could have been made between McMaryion and Garretson, who ran the scout team during his year of ineligibility but made an impact with his vocal nature.

This spring, tight end Noah Togiai has noticed a change in McMaryion's on-field demeanor as the offensive scheme has settled in the quarterback's mind.

"From day one of spring ball, he took the role of a leader a lot better," Togiai said. "Darell goes in, Darell's yelling, doing what he does. He comes off (the field) and it doesn't change when Marcus comes on. He's just as vocal as Darell."

Most indications are that McMaryion has grow into the system and his voice in recent months. It still may not be enough to win the job, but McMaryion has embraced the competition.

"It doesn't leave a lot of margin for error, which is good," he said. "You come to college and expect to play against the best and beat out the best."

Ryan Nall (34) has played tight end, H-back and running back since arriving at Oregon State in 2014. Last year, Nall had a pair of 100+ yard rushing performances including a breakout game of 174 yards at Oregon. He'll be expected to carry the load as the primary running back in 2016.

'War daddy' Ryan Nall emerges in loss to Colorado, sparking talk of youth movement

By Danny Moran
The Oregonian October 25, 2015

CORVALLIS – Gary Andersen arrived at Oregon State's postgame press conference Saturday night with every intention of brevity, in no mood to liberally dispense praise.

"Don't have a bunch to say," the Beavers coach said in his opening statement following a 17-13 loss against Colorado at Reser Stadium. "Probably not going to say too many good things, so it's better if I keep my mouth shut a little bit."

But only minutes later, when the topic turned to the performance of redshirt freshman running back Ryan Nall, the words flowed from Andersen as if a dam had burst.

"That's the guy," Andersen said. "I want that 'war daddy' everywhere I go. Those are the guys I want to recruit and those are the guys I wanted to surround myself with. He is tough. He's physical. He's unselfish. He's everything that a great football player stands for in my mind and he's a freshman. And that excites the hell out of me."

Nall turned in the best performance of his young career (20 carries for 122 yards and one touchdown). It was one of the Beavers' top individual outings in the midst of a rebuilding season in which the coaching staff gave each player a shirt that read, "Respect the Process."

Perhaps no player has embodied that mantra during the new staff's short tenure more than Nall, affectionately dubbed "Wrecking Nall" on social media during the game.

The 6-foot-2, 255-pound bulldozer expected to come into the season competing for time at tight end or H-back. As a senior in 2013 at Portland's Central Catholic High School, his work at running back earned him Class 6A offensive player of the year honors.

So when the Oregon State running back corps dealt with injuries during training camp, Nall adapted and moved back to his familiar position.

His career game was slow to emerge Saturday night. He scored from one yard out on his first carry to put the Beavers up 7-3 in the first quarter, but was stuffed for no gain on fourth and one in the second quarter.

Nall had eight carries for 40 yards in the first half, already career highs as he shared the rushing load with Chris Brown (4 for 33) and mobile quarterback Seth Collins (4 for 44).

Then the freshman found his groove during the Beavers' second drive of the third quarter, which he opened with consecutive runs of nine and 20 yards to put the Beavers into Colorado territory. When the offense went a different direction on its next three plays, Oregon State was forced to punt.

"Definitely as the game progressed I started to get my mojo a little bit," Nall said. "As I continued to get carries, I felt I read the holes correctly."

Nall tallied 82 yards on 12 carries in the second half, busting through Colorado tacklers like he was back in high school.

Earning significant playing time felt closer to reality as the week progressed, Nall said. He continued to get more reps in practice while senior starter Storm Barrs-Woods was limited during the week while dealing with an undisclosed injury.

Opportunities became even more readily available Saturday as the team's other running backs were picked off by injuries one by one.

Brown, who finished with five carries for 42 yards, left the game in the fourth quarter. Barrs-Woods suited up but took one carry for one yard and was not available for the rest of the game. Damien Haskins had one carry for zero yards and left with a hamstring injury.

These ailments came on top of a season-ending injury three weeks ago to true freshman Deltron Sands, who once preceded Nall on the depth chart.

Oregon State's fourth consecutive loss dropped the Beavers to 0-4 in the Pac-12. The defeat came against the only other team in the conference without a win in league play, a Colorado squad that had not won a Pac-12 game in its last 14 attempts.

Andersen said he did not expect the loss to demoralize his team. In making that assessment, he credited a group of "young bucks" who continued to emerge while entrenched in a season littered with valleys.

Those players were led by Nall on Saturday, leading the hyper-focused Andersen to shine a light toward the future.

"There's an exciting youth movement taking place that I really like and it's fun to watch," he said. "I'm proud of that kid.

"Get you 30-40 of those kids, you'll be rolling."

Ryan Nall leads new-look backfield for Beavers

By Kevin Hampton
Corvallis Gazette-Times April 6, 2016

CORVALLIS – Ryan Nall did not let the opportunity slip away.

With Storm Barrs-Woods unavailable for last year's Civil War football game, Nall got the start at running back for Oregon State. Nall slashed through the Oregon defense for 174 yards on 19 carries and outraced Ducks defenders on a 66-yard score, a performance that vaulted Nall to the top of the depth chart at running back as the Beavers get into spring practices.

"I'll call it a huge steppingstone in my career. It's kind of like the game that set me apart from the rest of the season," Nall said. "It kind of showed who I was, really, because most people thought I was just kind of a power back who would just get a few yards every carry and take a few guys to get down, but at the same time I can show some speed and it's a little bit deceiving. You wouldn't expect that."

Barrs-Woods is gone, as is Chris Brown, leaving Nall as one of the more experienced players returning at running back.

Despite his limited time in the backfield last season, it has been up to Nall, a sophomore out of Portland's Central Catholic High, to step into a leadership role.

"I'm one of the youngest guys in the running back group, but at the same time, I'm the one with experience, so I know what it's like to be out there on a third down and short or whatever," he said. "So I know what it takes to be able to get out there. I try to use my experience to help them out."

Junior Damien Haskins is back, and Paul Lucas will see some time in the backfield when he is not at wide receiver. Transfer Tim Cook is on the field for the first time since a shoulder injury forced him to sit out last fall.

Joining the team is junior college transfer Kyle White. Cook is a power back at6 feet 1 inch tall and 233 pounds with nice speed, and White has speed and some size at 6-0, 192.

White said the offensive scheme is fun but more complicated than those he has played in before coming to OSU, and he is glad to be in spring ball to get an early start.

"I like how they have all the powers, they have the zones, the motions. It's all new to me," White said. "Normally, all my offenses I've been in have been simple but strong because we've developed it. But I like how many different kinds of play styles there are here."

Kieran Yancy, Jaylynn Bailey and Marcus Greaves provide depth. Incoming freshman Artavis Pierce will join the team in the summer.

Running backs coach Telly Lockette said the Beavers need a strong group of at least four or five backs to get along in the Pac-12. Oregon State was ninth in the Pac-12 in rushing offense last year with 165.4 yards per league game.

Not only do the Beavers seem to have the numbers, but there is a good mix of abilities among the athletes.

"We wanted a diverse backfield because of what we want to do," Lockette said. "We want to run the ball. We've got some bigger backs, we've got some leaner backs and we've got some little scatbacks that can run with power. That's what we wanted."

Ryan Navarro (36) earned the starting job at long snapper last fall. He enters his senior season as the incumbent at the position.

Navarro takes unusual path to Division I

By Jesse Sowa
Corvallis Gazette-Times August 25, 2015

Ryan Navarro thought he was done with football after high school.

He didn't take his role as a longsnapper all that seriously. He wasn't the starter and played some special teams while at Vista Murrieta High, about 65 miles northeast of San Diego.

He took a year off after graduation and went to work, which he described as "not a fun experience."

One day, much to his surprise, he got a call from a coach at nearby Riverside City College asking if he wanted to join the team.

Navarro suddenly had motivation to get better, working on technique and hitting the weight room to improve his strength. He had the realization that football could take him somewhere.

Fast forward two years and he's the top snapper on Oregon State's depth chart.

"I thought, I'm not going to play football. Especially not DI football. Then here I am," Navarro said after a recent practice.

The Beavers brought in Navarro, a junior, to push redshirt freshman Connor Kelsey. He's done more than that, as Saturday he was named by head coach Gary Andersen as the favorite to take both short- and long-snapping duties to start the season.

"I think it's a coin flip, but right now I think Ryan's doing better," special teams coach Ilaisa Tuiaki said just a few days earlier. "He's got the slight edge in the punt game and Connor, just as of late, has the slight edge in the field goals."

Navarro knows he's in a tight competition and that he could lose his job with just one bad snap. He credited Kelsey for his skill and ability.

"He does it just like you're supposed to every time. He's real good," Navarro said "I didn't even know he's a freshman and he's very good. It's big-time football. I only have one job, so I should make it perfect every time."

Added Tuiaki: "I think you're going to get healthy competition doing that because they're both snapping well. It's not perfect yet, but they're both snapping well in short snap and long snap."

Crescent Valley High graduate Keegan Firth recently joined the team as a long-snapper. He's also expected to play linebacker.

Navarro said he initially taught himself how to snap because he didn't have the big money to attend a camp, as most longsnappers do in order to improve and catch the eye of a college coach.

When he started, as long as it felt comfortable and the ball got to where it was supposed to he was happy.

"Whatever didn't feel right I would look at film and see what I was doing wrong," he said. "Now it's just second nature, really."

Cyril Noland-Lewis (17) is a versatile athlete. Since arriving at OSU in 2012, he has played at safety, linebacker and now cornerback. In addition, he's been a fantastic special teams player on coverage units throughout his career.

Everyday Champion - Ricky Ortiz

By Brooks Hatch
OSUBeavers.com June 14, 2016

A dream that first took root in a Southern California middle school is blossoming on the Oregon State campus and in the bountiful soil in the Mexican state of Jalisco.

A dream that first took root in a Southern California middle school is blossoming on the Oregon State campus and in the bountiful soil in the Mexican state of Jalisco.

OSU senior football student-athlete Ricky Ortiz and lifelong friend Adrian Contreras had more on their minds than video games and sports as classmates at El Cerrito Middle School, a stone's throw from I-15 in the Inland Empire community of Corona, Calif.

They had a dream about buying some land and forming a partnership to sell avocados. Ortiz loved how they tasted, and both envisioned a day when avocados would be recognized as a high-demand "super fruit" as more consumers developed healthier eating habits.

"Adrian and I had business mindsets, ideas that not very many kids in middle school have," Ortiz, a 22-year-old agricultural sciences major, recalled in a recent interview at Strand Hall. "And we loved avocados."

Their brainstorming ultimately led to them forming a business partnership. They now own about 200,000 trees on 150 acres in Jalisco, adjacent to land already owned by Adrian's father. Adrian is running the farm; Ortiz will play one final season of college football and complete his schoolwork before going to work.

"Adrian and his dad will do the farming," Ortiz said. "I will be marketing the product, promoting our business internationally," to existing markets in the Western Hemisphere and to emerging ones in China, India, New Zealand and Europe.

Avocados have become increasingly popular as consumers recognize their many benefits. Sales in the United States increased by more than 20 percent in 2015, according to the Hass Avocado Board, a trade group located in Irvine, Calif.

In Great Britain, the café chain Pret a Manger's announced it had sliced up more than five million avocados in 2015. Global consumption has doubled over the past decade and annual sales have passed the $3 billion mark.

Why the dramatic increase in popularity?

"Avocados are a very versatile fruit," Ortiz said. "You can put them on your eggs, you can put them on a hamburger, you can put them in pasta, and in a variety of other things," such as smoothies and salads.

"They are incredibly nutritious. An avocado has high vitamin content. It is high in potassium, it lowers your cholesterol, it is loaded with fiber, and loaded with heart-healthy fatty acids."

Ortiz is as versatile as the fruit he champions.

Nick Porebski (31) arrived in Corvallis from Melbourne, Australia via Snow College. He secured the starting punter job in the fall and earned Pac-12 Honorable Mention in 2015.

Long road to college football

By Brooks Hatch
OSUBeavers.com September 29, 2015

In his native Australia, the expression "No worries!" is a common way of saying, "You're welcome."

Within the Oregon State football program, however, it's hoped that "No worries" will characterize the 2015 punting game under sophomore Nick Porebski, a happy-go-lucky transfer from Snow College who grew up playing Australian Rules Football in Melbourne.

A junior-college All-American in 2013, Porebski is a perfect successor to three-year starter Keith Kostol. The bearded 23-year-old averaged 45.3 yards per kick, with a long of 65 yards, and deadened 19 attempts inside the opponent's 20-yard line in his lone season with the Badgers last year. Through four games of his first Division I season he leads the Pac-12 with eight punts downed inside the 20-yard line.

Those are solid numbers for any kicker. But they're even more amazing when one remembers Porebski didn't punt seriously until he was 18 years old, following his retirement from the rugged world of Australian Rules Football.

"I was first exposed to football when I was 17 years old," he said in recalling his introduction to American football. "I received a letter from Prokick Australia, introducing punting to me.

"At that time I played Australian Rules Football and had no idea what punting was. But when I was 18, I hurt my shoulder [playing ARF] and decided to give Nathan Chapman, the guy who runs Prokick Australia, a call.

"I went down, tried out, trained for six months and that's when it all started."

According to its website [www.prokickaustralia.com], Prokick Australia was established in 2006 to help that country's aspiring kickers and punters transition to American football, and to help further their education or desire to play professionally in North America.

The program has produced All-Americans Scott Harding (Hawaii) and Tom Hornsey (Memphis); Ray Guy Award winners Hornsey and Tom Hackett (Utah), and honorable-mention All-Americans Hackett, Tim Gleeson (Rutgers) and Cameron Johnston (Ohio State).

Numerous other Prokick Australia graduates have also played at all levels in the United States. However, Porebski's path was different than most of his Aussie compatriots.

Porebski, a sociology major at OSU, didn't have the grades to enroll at a Division I school following his graduation from McKinnon Secondary School in Melbourne. So he headed off to Snow, a two-year school of about 4,000 students in Ephraim, Utah, a dot on the map (pop. 6,135) about 75 miles south of Provo on U.S. Highway 89.

Talk about culture shock.

"Coming from Melbourne, adjusting to Ephraim was very difficult at first," Porebski said. "Melbourne is a big city, about three times the size of Portland. There's a lot of people around and everything is always happening.

"To be shipped out to Ephraim where there are maybe 5,000 people in the town and the climate is a lot different, was pretty tough. It's at 5,000 feet of elevation and very hot and dry, which made it very hard for me to get used to breathing.

"It was a really hard decision to come to the United States. I was still playing Australian Rules Football, and could have continued to play. But I hurt my shoulder and was worried it wouldn't hold up.

"That's when I decided to come over to the U.S. and try a new sport out. Leaving my family was hard, but I think it was definitely worth it. Snow was my best opportunity to be on scholarship, get my schoolwork done and hopefully get a scholarship offer.

"It worked out pretty well."

Porebski also became an accomplished outdoorsman there and he plans to keep using his new-found skills while living in Oregon.

"I'd never hunted, fished or done anything like that before I came to America," he said. "I learned all that in Utah, and Oregon definitely is the perfect place for all that.

"So I'm looking forward to doing some 4-wheeling, and a bit of hunting and fishing. That's going to be a great time."

Porebski said he thought football was a "pretty crazy sport" when he first watched it on television. He didn't know the rules, nuances, terminology or schemes; he wasn't used to seeing a game played in straight lines, as Australian Rules Football is a 360-degree sport played on a round field.

"We go from every angle," he said. "And there's a lot of stopping and starting in American football, that's a ton different. But once I first started watching. I was kind of hooked."

Football – at least for a punter – is also far easier on the body.

"In Australian Rules Football you might have to run 12 miles in a game," he said. "Punters just come on the ground, kick maybe five or six times, then run back off.

"I like not having as much contact put on me. Australian Rules Football is very harsh on your body; you don't wear pads. Punters don't get tackled that often and don't have to make many hits, so you can wake up the next morning feeling nice and fresh and continue to punt.

"After growing up playing Australian Rules Football, if the opportunity does come for me to run or make a tackle I'm more than comfortable doing it," he said. "As for passing, if it's maybe 20-to-25 yards, that's my limit. I'm more comfortable running but if I had to throw I could."

Bright Ugwoegbu world traveler

By Brooks Hatch
OSUBeavers.com September 29, 2015

Bright Ugwoegbu (pronounced oog-way-boo) is a prototypical college linebacker when he's wearing his No. 47 uniform.

He's lean (6-foot-1, 217 pounds) and fit. A multisport athlete at Seven Lakes High School in Katy, Texas, he's athletic, runs well, loves to hit, and is making a strong case for a starting role in a position where opportunity abounds due to graduation and other circumstances.

"After having a good spring and being in the mix right now, my goal is to hopefully become a freshman All-American, to be a leader on the defense and contribute in any way that I can," he said, speaking while cooling off after a recent practice.

An all-district honoree and top-100 Houston Chronicle prospect following his senior year at Seven Lakes, he has a big future on the field and it would not be surprising to see him in the starting lineup with the Beavers host Weber State at 5 p.m. Sept. 4 in their 2015 opener on the Pac-12 Networks.

He separates himself from the pack when he steps off the field, though.

Already an accomplished musician, student and world citizen at just 19 years of age, Ugwoegbu constantly strives to surpass the lofty expectations instilled in him by his parents, the late Nigerian diplomat Bright Ugwoegbu and his wife, Grace.

"I have always been ambitious and goal-oriented, said Bright, who was born in London before moving to Nigeria as a 3-year-old and then to the Houston area at 9 years of age. "That comes from the way I was raised by my family, especially my dad," a founder of the People's Democratic Party in Nigeria's Imo State who passed away in May, 2014.

"He told me, 'If you want something, go get it. There is nothing you can't succeed in if you put your mind to it.' "

Bright played goalie and striker in soccer as a youth. After arriving in Texas, however, he discovered football and was immediately smitten.

"On my way to soccer one day I noticed a bunch of kids running around and hitting each other and just making a whole lot of noise," he recalled. "I looked over there and said, 'That looks like a lot of fun.'

"The main thing I liked about football was the vast amount of things I could do, with this frame, body size and athleticism. It was very interesting to me. From there I started trying to convince my parents to let me play."

His parents questioned if Bright had the physical attributes to withstand the pounding he would receive in football.

"My father always told me I had to get bigger and stronger to keep up with all those other kids who had played football since they were young," Bright said. "I just put my mind to it, worked hard at it every day, and here I am."

Serendipity played a role in his joining the Beavers. Seven Lakes coach Lydell Wilson has previously worked at nearby Lamar Consolidated High, where he coached James and Jacquizz Rodgers. He tipped off the Beavers and eventually former linebackers coach Trent Bray called with a scholarship offer.

Bright had no qualms about accepting the scholarship and adding Corvallis to his growing list of hometowns.

"I'm accustomed to change, I really like it," he said. "Moving wasn't a big deal. I preferred going away from home so I could build my own character and fend for myself."

Originally interested in mechanical engineering major, his desire to get in the best shape possible piqued an interest in kinesiology, his current field of study.

"I've always been a fit guy and always wanted to know how I can get myself stronger, fitter, faster," he said. "Kinesiology seemed like the field of study for me.

"It's been working so far. The workload is going to get harder as it goes on but that's just how life goes."

Music also plays a major role in his life. He played drums as a youth ("I loved the noise and watching kids go crazy on the drums," he said), then learned to read music in choir and taught himself to play the piano. He also plays the guitar, and breaks into song whenever possible.

"All types of music interest me," he said. "You can always catch me singing in the locker room; if I have my headphones on I'm singing."

Like almost everyone on the team, Bright hopes to play professionally after leaving OSU. But is long-range planning includes a full life after football, and remaining connected with the Beavers.

"I can see myself coming back to Oregon State and giving back to the school that's given me so much already," he said. "I love this community, I love the way coach Andersen has built this team.

"If he ever contacted me in 10 years to come back, even just to say some words to the players, I'd be here in an instant. I would love to come back and give back to the team any way possible."

Timmy Hernandez reunites with Gary Andersen, competes for playing time at receiver for Oregon State

By Gina Mizell
The Oregonian April 13, 2016

CORVALLIS — Nearly a decade ago, Timmy Hernandez ran around at Utah football games in face paint and a red wig to support his older brother, Brian, a receiver for the Utes.

Now he's the latest Hernandez receiver to play for a Gary Andersen staff, joining theOregon State Beavers during spring football after transferring from Pima Community College.

"It definitely helps to have a familiar face around," Hernandez said of Andersen. "He has a good reputation with my family."

Hernandez, who has three years of eligibility remaining at OSU, became the first player in the history of the Arizona Community College Athletic Conference to earn all-league honors on both offense and defense after tallying 53 catches for 849 yards and six touchdowns as a receiver and 45 tackles, two interceptions and a touchdown as a cornerback.

Former Beavers defensive coordinator Kalani Sitake was the coach to offer Hernandez a scholarship, before Andersen told Hernandez his position would be at receiver. Position coach Brent Brennan immediately liked Hernandez's innate physicality from his experience on defense. And Andersen has been aware of Hernandez's competitive nature for years, as he was Brian's primary recruiter.

"He'll bring a lot of energy and excitement to that room," Andersen said.

"At the end of the day, (he's) a guy that can hopefully line up to make big plays for us and be a very valuable weapon in the Pac-12."

Hernandez acknowledges he's needed to "adjust on the fly" since arriving at OSU.

The time demands — from meetings to practice to lengthy film sessions — are much greater at the Division I level than in junior college. He spent the winter quarter getting familiar with the Beavers' playbook while going through a rigorous conditioning program. On the first day of spring practice, incumbent starter Hunter Jarmon followed Hernandez around and explained each play. The speed of the game is much quicker, while the cornerbacks possess longer arms.

"They can be a yard and a half, two yards off," Hernandez said of those defensive bcks, "and then all of a sudden, they're on top of you."

Yet Hernandez has also gotten some extra time to establish chemistry with quarterback Darell Garretson, as both are from the Phoenix area and got together for throwing sessions during spring break last month.

"He's really consistent," Garretson said. "He's a guy that you can count on being there at the same spot when you need him.

"Me and him have been on a pretty good page."

Hernandez quietly grabbed four catches for 47 yards during last week's scrimmage in Hillsboro while working primarily with the second team. Next comes Saturday's spring game at Reser Stadium, as he works to crack a receiver rotation that returns all three starters for 2016.

Maybe then, Brian could be the one donning an orange wig and face paint to cheer on his younger brother.

Timmy Hernandez (18) showed great consistency throughout Spring Ball and appears to be in line to make an immediate impact for the Beavers in 2016.

The "Kee" to success is at Countryside: WR Kee Whetzel

By Lynden Ostrander
bigcountypreps.com June 11, 2015

CLEARWATER, Fla. - You probably know Countryside senior Kee Whetzel for his heart stopping blitzes, ruthless hits, breathtaking playmaking ability and sheer brilliance on the football field.

But there's always a backstory behind the great ones. Whetzel's story is no different.

While most kids first memories are of joy Whetzel's was of suffering.

"At four years old I vividly remember being in and out of foster homes in the projects with my brothers," Whetzel said. "I never knew my real dad and all my four of brothers had different dads. My mom also had severe drug problems. Life was tough to say the least."

But fate intervened and saved Whetzel from the wretches of despair. Whetzel found his guiding light.

"At age five Karla and Wayne Whetzel adopted me and my four brothers," Whetzel said. "Those two people were the best thing that ever happened to me. I don't know where we'd be in life without them."

To Whetzel, his first love wasn't a girl, it was the game of football. He'd been introduced to the game by watching Steelers games on television with his dad, Wayne. Whetzel started attending Bucs games in the sixth grade. He became enamored with the sport and envisioned himself out there someday.

Whetzel and the game of football were a divine match.

"The game came naturally to me, and I loved it," Whetzel said. "I became serious about becoming great in 9th grade. At the beginning of tenth grade, I got pulled up to varsity. That's when I knew I could play this game as my future. I saw football as a way out."

Whetzel morphed into a 6-foot-3, 170-pound long, athletic and versatile specimen. He towered most of the kids, was ripped from head to toe and physically looked the part. He was a naturally raw talent but needed some fine-tuning.

As is the case with most stars, there's always a driving force. That's where his mentor Mark Coriaty came in. Coriaty began training Whetzel and instilled in Whetzel that if he wanted to achieve his dream, he had to put in the work.

"When I first met Coriaty he told me if I wanted to play Div.1 and go to the NFL I had to get serious and outwork the competition," Whetzel said. "Since that day I can't remember the last time I've slept in. I'm up at 7:30 every day. We do ladders, beach runs on the soft sand, lift weights, cone drills, and rope drills. I wouldn't be where I'm at without his support."

The hard work paid off. Last year Whetzel emerged as a widely recognized force to be reckoned with. At the safety and linebacker positions he notched 59 tackles, 16 tackles for loss, 11 sacks, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. In the rivalry game against touted East Lake, a team undefeated vs. Pinellas County teams the past two seasons, Whetzel made his presence known.

Whetzel was the brightest star on display and tallied three tackles, two tackles for loss and two sacks. When star running back Dante Satcher went down with an injury, Whetzel picked up the team. In three games he racked up 341 rushing yards, 102 receiving yards, averaged 7 yards a carry with 3 TD's. He can simply do it all.

Just to build his stamina and stay in shape, Whetzel ran track and reached the region finals for the 330m hurdles, 110 hurdles, and the triple jump. He also plans to play basketball this season just for fun. He's arguably the most versatile football player and best all around athlete in the county. But coming into this season Whetzel had one goal on the mind.

"I told my trainer Coriaty I wanted to be a man amongst boys this year," Whetzel said.

Whetzel has sure proven that. In the spring game against Citrus Whetzel stood out and put Pinellas County on notice. Whetzel, nicknamed Optimus Prime, seemed the part. He was nearly unblockable off the edge with his 4.63 speed, dangling arms, and man strength. He tossed ball-carriers around like rag dolls and was a man possessed. By the end of the night, he tallied eight tackles, three sacks and four tackles for loss.

Offensively he was such a dynamic playmaker that the only thing that could stop him was the clock. He finished with 130 all-purpose yards and one TD. On a two-point conversion, he evaded four defenders like child's play and arched a strike for the score.

After the breathtaking performance colleges quickly took to offering. Whetzel racked up17 Div. 1 offers, the most notable from Indiana, USF, Iowa State, Louisville, Purdue, and Marshall. The senior's preseason goals don't appear to be lofty.

"I want to lead my team to the playoffs since we haven't been in two years," Whetzel said. "I want us to go perfect, be All-State and even an All-American."

But one touching life goal supersedes all others.

"My biological mom has never seen me physically play football," Whetzel said. "She's read clippings and seen videos since we're friends on Facebook, but never in person. When I turn 18 this December, she's allowed to see me. My dream is for her to be in the stands of the state championship. If that doesn't happen, I hope to one day play in front of her at the Div.1 level or in an NFL stadium someday."

With Whetzel's tough background, you'd never know it. He's a warm-hearted kid with a contagious smile and gregarious personality. The kid who enjoys endless trips to Disney World. The kid who retakes classes in the summer to ensure his Div. 1 goal isn't derailed. The type of kid who spends some his free time coaching his younger brother Josiah's junior Cougars football team.

But most importantly, the kid who's risen above his past and grateful for what he has.

"My past has motivated to be successful in life," Whetzel said. "My older brothers have been in and out of jail. I've seen the absolute worst. But I believe everything happens for a reason, and it's all part of God's plan. I live in a house with all four of my brothers and never had my own room. I share a room with my brother Deondre. But I actually enjoy it."

"I'm forever thankful and blessed to have my parents in my life. They've done everything for me, and I know I'm extremely fortunate. Since I've been adopted, one of my main life goals is to adopt kids of my own some day. I want to play at TCU and make the NFL so I can have my parents live with me in a big house and support my family through the game of football."

Whetzel plans to play out his season and make his final college decision close to or on National Signing Day in February.

Whetzel was forced to take the road less traveled in life but has blazed his own path toward a bright future.

No solo trek to college for Countryside's Kee Whetzel

By Bob Putnam
Tampa Times January 19, 2015

CLEARWATER, Fla. - In two weeks, Countryside High's Kee Whetzel will stand at a table in the school's media center to make his college selection. On a table will be baseball caps from his top three schools: Arizona, UCF and Maryland.

By the time Whetzel bends the visor on his favored cap, signifying his choice, he will have completed an unlikely journey from unknown prospect who started playing football just five years ago to one of the most coveted prospects in the country.

"It's been a whirlwind trying to find the right fit, the right home," he said.

Truth be told, Whetzel found one long before whittling down a short list of schools among his 15-plus offers.

Whetzel's childhood was rough. His mother put him and his five brothers up for adoption when he was 4.

"My mother did drugs; she had different boyfriends," he said. "We all have different fathers."

He bounced from foster home to foster home until he was adopted at age 5 by Wayne and Karla Whetzel. The couple first adopted Kee and his younger brother, Deondre.

"Their smiles were just infectious," Wayne said.

Three years later, the Whetzels adopted older brothers Brian and Trey.

"We kept praying about the situation and bringing them together," Wayne said. "We prayed so much, we kept adding to our family.

"It's been a blessing."

The Whetzels did not stop there. They adopted Josiah, the lone brother not biologically related to Kee and the rest.

Kee's other two brothers were adopted by another local family.

"We couldn't have children, so this is the route we took," said Wayne, who works for Walt Disney World and makes the commute to Orlando each week. Karla stays at home with the boys.

"We were all new to this as parents and had a family that kept growing. We're not rich by any means, but we had enough to make it work and provide as much love and support as possible."

Kee did not get involved in sports until the eighth grade, when he was encouraged by friends, including Countryside quarterback Trent Chmelik, to go out for football.

Kee played at the youth-league level for two years before becoming Countryside's junior varsity quarterback as a sophomore. Most recently he has played on both sides of the ball as a linebacker/receiver.

Kee also played basketball as a sophomore and junior mostly because Trey was on the team. He gave up the sport this year to concentrate on football.

The football offers from colleges started coming in last season. Interest continued to grow during a stellar senior season in which he had 58 catches for 1,078 yards and a school-record 12 touchdown receptions.

Last week he played in the Blue-Grey All-American Game in Jacksonville and had a 70-yard touchdown catch.

Now it's time to concentrate on which school to pick. He has had in-home visits with coaches from UCF and Maryland. For the next two weeks he's scheduling visits to his top schools.

"This is all setting up for a big day for me," Kee said. "It's going to be very emotional. I know my entire family will be there."

Wayne said that wherever Kee decides to go, he will be at as many games as possible, family in tow.

"You would think with all this attention, he would have a big head," Wayne said. "But that's not Kee. He's incredibly down to earth. I don't know anyone who dislikes him.

"We wouldn't miss any of his college games for the world. I'll be right there, yelling 'That's my boy.'"

Gary Andersen is one of the most respected football coaches in the country and enters his second season at the helm of the Oregon State football program in 2016. Andersen became the 28th coach in Beaver football history December 10, 2014 in what was widely considered a popular hire by then OSU Director of Athletics Bob De Carolis.

In his first year in Corvallis he aspired to change the culture of the football program. His leadership paid dividends immediately as the Beavers had 15 Pac-12 Conference All-Academic selections, a record since the league expanded to 12 institutions, and matched the most ever by OSU.

Andersen owns a career record of 51-48 overall on the field as a head coach that includes stops at OSU, where in his first season he inherited one of the youngest teams in the country, Wisconsin, Utah State and Southern Utah. He was a combined 30-9 in his two seasons at Wisconsin and his final year at Utah State, and came to OSU with four consecutive winning seasons overall. He also owns an 8-2 bowl-game record as an assistant or head coach, and was 2-0 in BCS bowls as an assistant.

Conference championships and bowl games stand out on Andersen's resume, as do his teams' academic success and community service endeavors. The last full Academic Progress Rate (APR) report for Wisconsin rated the Badgers in the top 10 in the country for the two seasons of Andersen's tenure, including nearly a perfect score in 2014.

Andersen led Wisconsin to a 10-3 record in '14, a West Division championship, and a berth in the Jan. 1 Outback Bowl. Running back Melvin Gordon, the country's leading rusher and scorer, earned Big Ten Offensive Player of the Year honors, won the Doak Walker Award as the nation's top running back and was a finalist for the Heisman Trophy. Wisconsin set numerous school records for offensive production during both of his seasons in Madison, including for rushing yards (4,482). His defense ended the year No. 4 in the country for fewest yards allowed with a 294.1 yards per game average and ranked No. 21 in total offense at 468.9 yards per contest.

Gordon was one of four Badgers to earn first-team all-league honors. Four more were second-team selections and six earned honorable mention; all five starting linemen and all four starting linebackers were honored. Also, 28 student-athletes earned Big Ten Conference all-academic honors.

Andersen had a spectacular debut at Wisconsin in 2013 after leaving Utah State, where he coached from 2009-12. He was a semifinalist for the Maxwell Coach of the Year Award after the Badgers went 9-4 overall and 6-2 in the Big Ten. Wisconsin ranked No. 22 by the Associated Press and No. 21 in the USA Today coaches poll. The Badgers ranked No. 7 nationally in total defense, No. 18 in total offense and No. 6 in scoring defense. It set school records for total offense (480.8 ypg), rushing yards (3,689) and yards-per-carry (6.62).

Senior linebacker Chris Borland earned first-team All-American honors; offensive lineman Ryan Groy was a third-team selection. Borland, Groy and wide receiver Jared Abbrederis earned first team Big Ten all-conference honors; 11 other Badgers earned second team or honorable mention accolades.

Borland was also the Nagurski-Woodson Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year; the Butkus-Fitzgerald Big Ten Linebacker of the Year; a finalist for the Chicago Tribune's Silver Football award, and was one of five Badgers selected in the 2014 NFL draft.

During his Wisconsin career, he was 5-0 against the Badgers' rivals of Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska.

Andersen came to Wisconsin from Utah State, where he completely revitalized a program that had won just six games in the three previous seasons. The Aggies were 4-8 in Andersen's first two years, improved to 7-6 in his third year and then won a school-record 11 games and the Western Athletic Conference title in 2012. It was their first outright league championship since 1936.

Utah State subsequently routed Toledo 41-15 in the Famous Idaho Potato Bowl for its first bowl victory since 1993. It was ranked No. 16 in the final AP poll, its first Top 25 appearance since 1972. Andersen was named WAC Coach of the Year and was a finalist for the Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year award.

The Aggies ranked eighth nationally in scoring defense and 25th in rushing offense (204.1 ypg). Running back Robert Turbin, now with the Indianapolis Colts, was the WAC Offensive Player of the Year and 17 Aggies earned all-WAC postseason honors.

USU succeeded academically as well, as 18 Aggies earned WAC all-academic honors in 2012 and in 2011. McCade Brady was named a 2012 CoSIDA Academic All-American and USU ranked ninth in the nation for academic performance by the Academic Bowl Championship Series.

A native of Salt Lake City and a 1986 graduate of the University of Utah with a degree in political science, Andersen was a junior-college All-American center at Ricks College in 1984, and a letterman at Utah in 1985 and 1986.

He began his coaching career in 1988 as the assistant head coach/offensive coordinator at Southeastern Louisiana. He then assisted at Ricks College (1989-92) and Idaho State (1992-94) before becoming the head coach at Park City (Utah) High School in 1994-95.

He returned to college in 1995-96 as Northern Arizona's assistant head coach before returning to his alma mater in 1997.

Andersen was an assistant at Utah from 1997-2000 and the Utes' assistant head coach from 2001-02. He then accepted his first head coaching job and led Southern Utah to a 4-7 record before returning again to Utah in 2004 as an assistant coach; the Utes went 12-0 and blasted Pittsburgh 35-7 in the Fiesta Bowl that season.

Andersen was promoted to assistant head coach/defensive coordinator in 2005. He was Utah's defensive coordinator under Meyer in 2008, when the Utes beat Alabama 31-17 in the Sugar Bowl. He was a finalist for the Broyles Award, given to the country's top assistant coach, after Utah ended the year No. 2 in the country with a 13-0 record.

Andersen and his wife, the former Stacey Lambert, have three sons, Keegan and twins Chasen and Hagen. Keegan played tight end at Utah State for his father and is currently the assistant director of football operations at OSU after serving as a graduate assistant at Wisconsin in 2014 and in a similar capacity at OSU last year. Both Chasen and Hagen attend Utah State where Chasen is a linebacker.

Gary Andersen's 'Culture Change' inspired by book about New Zealand rugby team

By Gina Mizell
The Oregonian April 25, 2016

CORVALLIS, Ore. — To occupy the long hours spent on planes during the winter's recruiting stretch run, Gary Andersen thumbed through a book called "Legacy."

The Oregon State coach is the first to acknowledge he's usually not much of a reader. And he honestly can't remember who first recommended the book by James Kerr that uses the legendary New Zealand rugby team, the All Blacks, to teach lessons about "the business of life."

Yet Andersen found himself sorting through the immediate aftermath of what he freely calls the most difficult season of his career, a 2-10 debut in Corvallis that included an 0-9 mark in Pac-12 play.

Now Andersen's copy of "Legacy" has folded pages and highlighted passages, following two complete read-throughs. A separate notebook is filled with buzzwords and motivational phrases that have manifested inside OSU's Valley Football Center in the form of dog tags and player-designed logos and rallying cries of positional pride.

So far, Andersen believes the book has delivered on its promised message. It's helped him create a plan, one the coach has simply called "Culture Change," that marks the next step in the Beavers' rebuild.

"Is it the answer to winning games? I'm not saying that," Andersen said. "But I think it's the answer to helping us grow as a team."

Andersen looks back at the days leading up to the Civil War — when the Beavers traveled to Autzen Stadium with fewer than 60 players, even though they were allowed to bring the full roster — as when the program hit "rock bottom" in 2015.
He frankly characterized the group as selfish and delusional in their daily habits and expectations. But he also looked in the mirror.

"I had to do everything I could to try to get this ship to start to rise," Andersen said. "That started to turn the crank for me, just saying, 'How are we gonna figure this out?'"

So he turned to "Legacy," a book Andersen asked wife Stacey to order a couple weeks prior. As a coach, Andersen already had great respect for the All Blacks' dominance as statistically the best sports team in history. But he had not been aware of the fallout about 10 years ago, after a poor showing in the 2003 World Cup sparked unprecedented losses and turmoil within the organization.

"I was 25 pages into it and I'm like, 'Oh my God, this is right where we are,'" Andersen recalled. "And it wasn't something that was made up. I knew the names in it. I could relate to some of the dudes and what they were going through.

"It was easy for me to keep going and believe in it."

The basic principles like leadership, accountability and unity that then-first-year All Blacks coach Graham Henry emphasized to rejuvenate the team's culture — and then, its on-field performance — resonated with Andersen.

So he started taking notes and folding pages and highlighting. Then he started typing out his own plan that he kept to himself over the holiday break. He first presented his ideas to the rest of the staff upon their return from winter break, then to the players during a meeting that lasted more than 90 minutes.

It was a departure from Andersen's usual approach when installing new philosophies.

"This was really one of the few times where it was like, I don't need anybody to stamp this," Andersen said. "This is what we're doing. If you don't like it, tough."

Andersen introduced phrases like "sweep the shed" to illustrate that no one is too big to clean the floor, carry a meal tray or respect a common area. Or "live in the hard" to zoom in on the year-round difficulty of playing in a loaded Pac-12 and balancing life as a student-athlete. He stressed limiting negativity and policing one another. He handed out dog tags with the message "leave your number in a better place."

Then, each position group was tasked with creating an identity, complete with an emblem and nickname. The quarterbacks, for instance, are the Elite Generals. The outside linebackers: Boundary Hunters. The offensive linemen: Team Punishment.

Those emblems are now proudly displayed in meeting rooms and on charts detailing the performance of each player and position group in winter conditioning sessions and spring practices. They complement additions to the practice helmets, where players have been collecting stickers to highlight accomplishments in football, the weight room and community service. Friendly trash talk and celebrations often now include the position group's mantra.

"Once you get that logo, you have to live by that logo," said Treston Decoud, whose cornerbacks group is called the "Jack Boys," a slang term for thieves that describes the secondary's desire to snatch the football out of the air and away from the opposing offense.

When Andersen glances up from the desk in his office, he can also see all the position-group emblems on a giant poster. But they all surround the Beavers logo, a reminder that each combines to benefit the entire team.

"Coach A does everything for a reason," cornerback Kendall Hill said. "There's a method behind his madness when he does something. You may not see it at that given moment in time, but it will reveal itself."

As spring practice winds down, Andersen knows this Culture Change is just beginning.

After all, identifying a change is needed and then constructing the plan to make that change are the easy steps. Sustaining that change is the challenge, particularly during the summer months.

Andersen also knows tricks like dog tags and player-designed logos won't magically fix last season's 2-10 mark or that the Beavers have lost 21 of their last 23 Pac-12 games dating back to the 2013 season.

Yet Andersen insists he loves his job and has "never been more driven." He believes in this next step, where OSU is rebuilding from within.

And just before walking off the practice field Thursday, Andersen again seamlessly slipped in another phrase from "Legacy."

"I'm gonna live in the hard, just like I ask them to," Andersen said. "And I'm gonna wake up tomorrow and grind another day."

2002-04: Graduate Assistant Strength and Conditioning Coach

Evan Simon is in his second season as the head football strength and conditioning coach at Oregon State. His duties include the development, implementation and monitoring of all strength and conditioning aspects of the Beavers' football program.

Simon arrived in Corvallis after two years as the head strength and conditioning coach at the University of Wisconsin. He helped the Badgers to New Year's Day appearances in the Capital One Bowl and Outback Bowl.

Prior to working in Madison, Simon was the director of strength and conditioning at Utah State University from August 2009-January 2013. The Aggies appeared in two Famous Idaho Potato Bowl games – USU hadn't played in a bowl game since 1997 prior to his arrival.

From January 2006-July 2009, Simon was the associate director of strength and conditioning at the University of Utah. He was part of staff that led Utah to a 13-0 season, a victory over Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, and a final national ranking of No. 2 following the 2008 season.

The native of Lexington Park, Md., also spent 15 months as the head strength and conditioning coach at Davidson College in North Carolina and over two years as a graduate assistant strength and conditioning coach at the University of Kentucky.

Simon has been a speaker at several national strength and conditioning conventions. He is a certified strength and conditioning specialist through the National Strength and Conditioning Association and a certified strength coach via the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association.

He is a 2002 graduate of Frostburg State in Maryland with a bachelor's degree in health and physical education, and holds a master's degree (2004) from Kentucky in exercise physiology.

He and his wife Linda have two daughters, Abbi and Robyn.

Evan Simon gives 'strength' new meaning in cancer battle

By Gina Mizell
The Oregonian June 13, 2016

Evan Simon stood inside Oregon State's Sports Performance Center in early March with a metal bar resting behind his shoulders, then bent and straightened his knees to squat 530 pounds.

Simon knew it would be months before he would accomplish that athletic feat again. Weaker muscles and smaller weight stacks would be a blow to the pride of any football strength and conditioning coach.

Yet pride was not Simon's chief concern. He had cancer in his thyroid, neck and chest. A lengthy surgery that would leave him struggling to breathe on the operating table was scheduled for the following day.

Three months later, the only sign of Simon's battle with the disease is the scar that starts where one shoulder meets the neck, extends down across his chest and trails to the other side of his body. He returned to work less than a month after surgery, guiding the Beavers through training sessions before the players' intense summer program begins later this month.

Inside the weight room, Simon preaches consistency, stressing that players must "always grade out at an 'A'" in the intangible qualities: effort, attitude, accountability.

And the Beavers can all look at how Simon has attacked his recovery as the prime example.

"For this situation, it was the same thing," Simon said. "I could control my rehab and mindset and personality and not waver off of who I naturally am.

"The hope is the people I'm around even forget I had this … if they couldn't see parts of the scar poking out from my T-shirt, they wouldn't know anything happened."

Simon, 37, had noticed the small bump just below the base of his neck on the left side of his body for years. He never thought much of it, because his collarbone is "floating," meaning it is not fully connected to the shoulder.

But while shaving his neckline one night in February, the bump looked "a lot bigger than it ever had."

On the way out of a meeting with OSU head physician Doug Aukerman the following day, Simon casually showed Aukerman the bump. Aukerman suggested an immediate ultrasound. Within about 10 days, a CT scan and biopsy confirmed Simon had cancer that had originated in his thyroid and spread to multiple spots in his neck and upper chest.

As Simon walked across the parking lot from the Samaritan Sports Medicine Center to the Valley Football Center, he first thought about what he would miss with daughters Abbi, 7, and Robyn, 2, "if this goes the wrong way." Then he thought of his wife, Linda, who beat tongue cancer when she was 21 while she and Evan were dating. Then, he thought about the Beavers.

He walked up to coach Gary Andersen's office and broke down in tears. A couple weeks later, Simon told the players, opting not to record their reaction in his brain "because I didn't want to look at them."

"To make Evan Simon cry is not easy," said Andersen, who has worked with Simon since they were both at Utah in the mid-2000s. "But in my office, he went from an emotional situation to bouncing back and (saying), 'Coach, I'll be fine.'

"Ever since then, he just kind of met it headfirst, never flinched, never took a back step."

On March 4, Simon arrived at OHSU for an eight-hour surgery that turned into a 13-hour procedure.

In hour 10, his body stopped receiving air from the breathing tube. His blood pressure spiked to 240/194. He had developed rhabdomyolysis, which occurs when muscle fibers die and are released into the bloodstream. The condition can cause kidney failure and he learned later his case may have stemmed from that intense workout the day before.

When Simon woke up from surgery, a nurse discovered a stray staple still in his ear. It was from where the surgery team had pulled up and secured the flesh from his neck and face.

"My first thought was I was happy to be awake and happy to be alive," Simon said. "That could have taken a very horrible turn, I guess."

After about a week in the hospital, Simon began radiation treatment at home. "No superpowers, unfortunately," he quipped. He experienced tough moments, like when he had needed to explain to daughter Abbi why he looked and felt worse after surgery when she asked, "Aren't doctors supposed to help people?"

But soon, Simon would move from his bed and go downstairs or for a short walk. Naturally, he orchestrated his own rehab program to build up the strength and range of motion to touch his hands straight above his head in less than four weeks, a feat doctors said normally takes at least three months. He typed up workout plans for the spring and summer and kept in regular touch with Andersen.

OSU staffers consistently chipped in, bringing over dinner every night, offering to watch or give rides to Abbi and Robyn or checking in with messages of support.

"When you have this lifestyle, you're not by family," Linda said. "They were our little family."

By late March, Simon was back on the practice field with the Beavers.

"When a coach is doing that," quarterback Darell Garretson said, "and his literal health — his life — is hanging in the balance, and the one thing he's trying to do is get back to us as quick as he can, that's love and you don't get that many places.

"He should be resting, trying to get his body better, but the one thing that's he's concerned about is being with us. If you don't want to buy in and do what he's talking about, then just get out of here."

Simon's next benchmark comes in August, when more bloodwork and scans will determine the next step in his treatment.

He's getting used to the fatigue and the periodic nerve pain in his face, neck, chest and back that feels like mini electric shocks. He'll probably never have feeling in his ears again. He and Linda joke that they're now twins, because they have similar scars thanks to their respective cancer surgeries.

Simon hopes his story inspires others to pay attention to their own bodies and to appreciate the simple pleasures like snuggling with children on the couch or watching when the sun peeks out through the clouds. He's thrilled to be back to his normal routine in the Sports Performance Center, directing the Beavers' offseason workouts and preaching the attitude and consistency necessary to push through adversity in both the weight room and in life.

The next step is getting his pre-surgery strength back.

Last week, he squatted 330 pounds.

By next March, he hopes to hit 500 pounds.

"This is kind of my own little year-long battle," he said.

Zach Nyborg was named the associate athletic director for football Dec. 22, 2014. He serves on the department's senior staff, manages and allocates all aspects of the football budget, and coordinates all support areas.

Nyborg came to OSU after one year at BYU as the assistant athletic director/ director of football operations. He was a member of the Cougars' senior leadership council and coordinated all aspects of the football program, including recruiting, team travel, game and weekly scheduling, roster management and player personnel among other duties. The Cougars went 8-5 in 2014 and participated in the inaugural Miami Beach Bowl.

From January 2013 thru May 2014 he was the director of football operations at the University of Wisconsin for then Badgers head coach Gary Andersen. While with Wisconsin he coordinated all aspects of the program, including recruiting, team travel, game and weekly scheduling, roster management and player personnel. Wisconsin went 9-4 in 2013 and appeared in the New Year's Day Capital One Bowl.

Nyborg began his professional career as an offensive and special teams administrative assistant at Utah State University for then Coach Andersen in 2010. He was the team's defensive administrative assistant in 2011 and in 2012 was promoted to offensive graduate assistant for quarterbacks, recruiting coordinator and assistant to the head coach. During his tenure, USU climbed into the top 25, won the WAC Championship, and played in the Famous Idaho Potato Bowl twice (2011 & '12); The Aggies hadn't appeared in a bowl game previous since 1993.

The Centerville, Utah native spent two seasons as an assistant coach at Timpview High School in Provo while earning a bachelor's degree from BYU in business management from the Marriott School of Management.

Nyborg was a three-sport athlete at Viewmont High School in Bountiful, Utah, lettering in football, basketball, and track & field. He earned all-region honors as a quarterback and was a team captain for one season. He was also a two-year captain for the track & field team and an academic all-state selection in basketball.

Jason Thomas has over 14 years of athletic experience, which includes four as a student-athlete and 10 as an athletics professional at the Division I intercollegiate level. He was appointed Oregon State's director of football operations and student services Dec. 22, 2014 and was promoted to assistant athletic director for student-athlete development and football leadership initiatives Dec. 2, 2015. His role includes acting as a liaison for student-athlete welfare and multiple aspects off the Everyday Champions program, including the Leadership Institute, personal development, diversity and inclusion. He also coordinates the Beyond Football Program.

As a student-athlete at Utah State University from 2001-05, Thomas was afforded the opportunity to gain first-hand experience of the rigorous academic and athletic demands placed on student-athletes. His involvement within Utah State's Student-Athlete Mentor program (SAMs), a peer mentor platform, allowed for the development of personal relationships with the coaching staff, campus and community leaders, and student-athletes.

Upon graduation, Thomas was hired at Utah State as a Graduate Intern within Student-Athlete Academic Services (SAAS). As a member of the SAAS staff, he initially served as the head study hall monitor. In this position, he facilitated the study hall program by supervising and monitoring student-athletes, as well as academic tutors and mentors. Upon the completion of his graduate studies, Thomas was moved into a full-time professional position within SAAS, where he served as the academic coordinator and sports counselor for women's basketball, men's and women's track and field, and men's and women's tennis. Within this role, Thomas was responsible for academic programming related to study hall and tutoring. He also created and implemented USU's initial academic mentoring program. Shortly after, Thomas was promoted to assistant director of Student-Athlete Academic Services. With this promotion came additional responsibilities and new sport counselor assignments; Thomas began overseeing football and women's basketball academic support, initial and continuing eligibility and recruiting. In addition, Thomas continued to assist in all other areas of the academic support unit. He was then promoted to an Assistant Athletics Director where he continued his duties as the assistant director of the unit and, in addition, served as a member of the athletics senior staff.

Thomas spent the 2014 season as the director of football operations at the University of Wisconsin, coordinating all aspects of team travel, managing the team's budget and supervising support staff and student employees.

He is a 2005 graduate of Utah State, graduating cum laude, with a bachelor's degree in human resource management and marketing. He earned his master's degree from USU in corporate wellness in 2008. He and his wife Dayna Barrett, a former Utah State track and field athlete, have two children – Ezekiel and Asher.

Vincent Guinta (pronounced GINT-uh) was named Oregon State's director of player personnel on Dec. 22, 2014. He oversees all aspects of the Beavers' recruiting process, which includes prospect identification, evaluations, marketing and social media, and campus visitations. Guinta's 15-plus years of major college football involvement, including in the Pac-12, Big Ten, Big 12 and Mountain West conferences, provides national experience to the Beavers' recruiting efforts.

In his first full recruiting cycle at Oregon State, Guinta helped the Beavers' coaching staff bring in the second-highest rated recruiting class in school history in 2016.

He spent the 2013 and '14 seasons as director of football recruiting at Wisconsin for then head coach Gary Andersen. While at Wisconsin, Guinta directed all facets of the recruiting process, and the 2014 class was ranked the highest in school history. In the 2014 season, 10 freshmen played in games for the No. 13 ranked Badgers, helping them to a 10-3 record and a New Year's Day Bowl victory over Auburn.

Guinta joined the Badgers from Fresno State, where he served as the coordinator of football operations in 2012. With the Bulldogs, Guinta was responsible for coordinating team schedules, travel and logistics while also monitoring the program's operating budget, coordinating the walk-on program and supervising recruiting activities.

Guinta spent four years in operations and personnel roles at Nebraska from 2004-08. He began as the Huskers' football operations intern and was promoted to assistant director of football operations and director of football personnel and recruiting prior after the 2005 season. During his tenure he was involved in the recruitment of 29 NFL players including All-Pros Ndamukong Suh and Carl Nicks. In 2005 The Tom Lemming Report rated Nebraska as the No. 1 ranked recruiting class in the nation, and during his tenure, Nebraska finished in the top 25 for recruiting four times. Guinta served under head coaches Bill Callahan, Tom Osborne (interim), and Bo Pelini.

Guinta stepped away from football after leaving Lincoln, working as a private business executive from 2008-12.

Before his time at Nebraska, Guinta was a defensive administrative assistant at Utah from 1999 to 2003. Prior to that position, he worked as the Utes' video coordinator from 1997-99. During his tenure Guinta worked under head coaches Ron McBride and Urban Meyer. Oregon State head coach Gary Andersen was the defensive line coach at Utah from 1997-2002.

Guinta is a native of Salt Lake City, Utah and holds a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Utah. Guinta and Emily Hardy-Smith were married in the summer of 2015.

Kayla Gross was appointed the Director of Beyond Football in January 2016.

Gross is responsible for developing the strategic vision and implementation of the Beyond Football program, an initiative that aims to empower, engage and prepare student-athletes for life after the game. Thanks to a generous gift from an OSU alumnus, the Beyond Football program connects student-athletes to campus and community resources, engages them in the community and provides them with professional skills and competencies required for post-graduation success.

Gross arrived at Oregon State after serving as the University of Wisconsin's athletic department's community relations coordinator since April 2012, responsible for the creation and oversight of the Badgers Give Back community outreach program. Gross played a predominant role in the creation of the department and led the growth of the program from one part-time student employee to its own department with operating budget, full-time employee and eight undergraduate interns in 18 months. Responsible for the outreach efforts of 23 varsity sports and more than 750 student-athletes, she drove a 344 percent increase in hours volunteered by student-athletes and a 447 percent increase in appearances.

Gross completed extensive research on sports community outreach during her time at Wisconsin. In 2015, she put her research to use while serving as a consultant for Helper Helper, LLC, a smartphone application that encourages student-athlete involvement by making opportunities accessible via smartphone. In that role she provided strategic insight on the role of a community relations coordinator, strategies for engaging student-athletes and tips for creating and sharing an outreach story.

A native of Howard Lake, Minn., Gross earned her bachelor's degree from the School of Journalism & Mass Communication at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. She currently serves on the university's Mental Health Initiative committee and is also a Special Olympics basketball coach.

BOWL CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

The Bowl Championship Series (BCS) is a type of "Super Alliance" that was designed in 1997 to match the two top-rated teams in a national championship and to create competitive match-ups in the four other BCS games. The BCS is composed of three variables that comprise a team's standing: the Harris poll, the ESPN/USA Today Coaches poll, and a series of five computer rankings.

2013 — SHERATON HAWAI'I BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. BOISE STATE

OREGON STATE	38
BOISE STATE	23

Aloha Stadium
Honolulu, Hawai'i • Dec. 24, 2013

Weather — 81 degrees; Wind 14 mph NE; 58% Humidity

HONOLULU, Hawai'i — Rashaad Reynolds returned two fumbles for touchdowns and the Oregon State offense racked up 454 yards to pace the Beavers to a 38-23 win over Boise State at the 2013 Sheraton Hawai'i Bowl.

The Beavers took the early lead taking a 31-6 advantage into halftime. That was due in large part to the Beavers' defense, which forced two fumbles. Both were returned by Reynolds, who, in his last collegiate game, collected 10 tackles amongst the two fumble returns.

The first fumble return came with OSU up 10-3 in the first quarter after a touchdown reception by Brandin Cooks and field goal by Trevor Romaine. Scott Crichton sacked Boise State quarterback Grant Hedrick, forcing a fumble, which enabled Reynolds to pick the ball up at the Broncos' 3-yard line and make it to the end zone with ease, upping the Beavers' lead to 17-3.

Reynolds scored the game's next touchdown, and in grand fashion, returning the Boise State fumble 70 yards. With the Broncos driving, cornerback Larry Scott forced a fumble from Troy Ware after a short pass. Reynolds picked it up and had a clear path to the end zone.

That momentum carried over to the Oregon State offense, which scored its next two – and final – touchdowns on the ground. The first came on a 9-yard carry from Terron Ward. It came with 2:46 left in the first half and sent OSU to the 25-point lead at the break.

A little more than seven minutes into the second half, the OSU offense picked up where it left off as Storm Woods carried the ball into the end zone from 5 yards out.

Woods stood out offensively for the Beavers, collecting 107 yards on the ground via 16 carries. He paced the Beavers' ground game, which totaled 195 yards overall.

Sean Mannion passed for 259 yards, with 60 going to Cooks, who reached that figure by way of eight catches. He finished the season with a Pac-12 Conference record 128 receptions as well as 1,730 yards, surpassing USC's Marqise Lee in both categories.

Mannion's 259 passing yards gave him 4,662 for the season, surpassing Washington's Cody Pickett for the most in a single-year by a Pac-12 quarterback. He also tossed 37 touchdowns in 2013, tied for the third-most with Andrew Luck.

2012 — VALERO ALAMO BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. TEXAS

TEXAS	31
OREGON STATE	27

Alamodome
San Antonio, Texas • Dec. 29, 2012

Weather — Indoors

(AP) - David Ash threw two fourth-quarter touchdown passes, the last a 36-yard strike to Marquise Goodwin with 2:24 left, to give Texas a 31-27 comeback victory over No. 15 Oregon State in the Alamo Bowl.

The Longhorns (9-4) never led before Goodwin scored his second touchdown on a deep post pattern, just a down after Texas converted a fourth-and-1 play to keep its chances alive.

Storm Woods ran for 118 yards and scored two touchdowns for Oregon State (9-4).

Ash was 21 of 33 for 241 yards. Ash sputtered until the fourth quarter, when he went 9 for 11 for 146 yards. Texas had no choice but to stick with the only backups two redshirt freshmen who haven't taken a snap all season.

Oregon State quarterback Cody Vaz was 15 of 28 for 194 yards. The Beavers had negative 4 yards in the fourth quarter as they were muffled by the Longhorns defense that was led by Alex Okafor, who finished with 4 1/2 sacks.

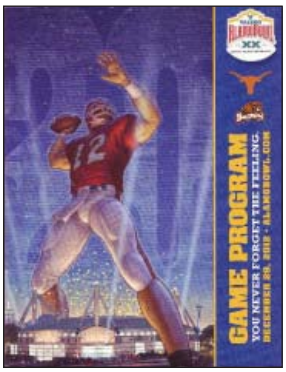

The Valero Alamo Bowl marked the Beavers' 16th bowl game and OSU is 10-6 all-time in them - 5-2 under head coach Mike Riley. The dean of Pac-12 Conference coaches engineered one of the top turnarounds in the nation in 2012, with the Beavers improving to a 9-4 mark after finishing the 2011 campaign at 3-9.

The six-win improvement tied Ohio State and Middle Tennessee for the best win improvements from last season.

Markus Wheaton ended his Oregon State career at the Alamo Bowl, catching three passes for 37 yards - he left as the program's all-time receptions leader with 227 and is sixth with 1,244 yards.

Another senior playing in his final game for the Beavers, Jordan Poyer, was tied for third on the team with five tackles, including a sack.

Linebacker Michael Doctor was the team leader with 11 tackles.

Oregon State found itself up 20-10 at halftime and 27-17 entering the fourth quarter but two late Texas touchdowns sealed the come-from-behind win for the Longhorns. Ash found Johnathan Gray from 15 yards out with 8:18 remaining and followed that up with a 36-yard touchdown pass to Marquise Goodwin with just 2:24 left in the game.

2009 — MAACO BOWL LAS VEGAS — OREGON STATE VS. BYU

BYU	44
OREGON STATE	20

Sam Boyd Stadium
Las Vegas, Nev. • Dec. 22, 2009

Weather — 51 degrees, Cloudy, W-37-44 (North)

(AP) - Max Hall threw for 192 yards and three touchdowns leading No. 15 BYU past No. 16 Oregon State 44-20 in the Las Vegas Bowl.

Hall gave the Cougars their third win in five straight bowl appearances in the Sin City and ended the Beavers' run of five consecutive bowl wins.

Hall threw a 25-yard touchdown pass to Luke Ashworth, a 17-yard scoring strike to Dennis Pitta and a 15-yard TD pass to Manase Tonga. He had 139 yards passing in the first half.

Tonga added an 18-yard rushing touchdown, and Harvey Unga finished with 76 yards rushing and a TD for BYU (11-2).

Oregon State (8-5) scored on 1-yard runs by quarterback Sean Canfield and Jacquizz Rodgers, and a 31-yard pass to Damola Adeniji from Ryan Katz. Adeniji led all receivers with seven receptions for 102 yards.

Canfield completed only four passes in the first half as the Beavers struggled to sustain drives. He finished 20 for 41 for 173 yards and an interception.

The normally dependable Rodgers fumbled for the first time in his college career in the first quarter, on his 621st touch, and Matt Bauman returned it 34 yards for the go-ahead score. Officials used replay to see whether Canfield's checkdown toss to Rodgers was a lateral or a forward pass, and upheld the touchdown.

Oregon State finished with three turnovers, including a fumble by Rodgers' brother James.

Winds gusted to 50 mph at Sam Boyd Stadium and temperatures fell to 30 degrees. The gusts were so strong that one of Oregon State's punts traveled untouched only 6 yards.

2008 — 75TH BRUT SUN BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. PITTSBURGH

OREGON STATE 3
PITTSBURGH 0

Sun Bowl
El Paso, Texas • Dec. 31, 2008

Weather — 48 degrees, Clear, W-9 (South-Southwest)

Three points, 20 punts and 10 sacks. Go ahead and say it was unsightly, but Oregon State coach Mike Riley saw nothing short of a masterpiece.

In the lowest-scoring major bowl game in a half-century, the Beavers shut down No. 20 Pittsburgh 3-0 in the Sun Bowl on Justin Kahut's 44-yard field goal.

"That's the game we were in," Riley said. "We played that game. We ended up winning it. Some people will call it ugly, but I can't."

The defensive struggle went on all day. Pitt kicker Connor Lee tried a 58-yard field goal in the closing minutes but the ball, helped by a steady wind, dropped just short of the crossbar.

"I had more confidence in a 58-yard field goal try than going for it on fourth-and-8," Pitt coach Dave Wannstedt said. "I wanted to give our team a chance. I really thought he could kick it."

Not since Air Force and TCU played to 0-0 standoff in the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 1, 1959, had a bowl produced so few points. It was also the lowest-scoring Sun Bowl since a scoreless tie in 1940 between Catholic and Arizona State.

"We were three downs and out way too much," Riley said. "We put a terrific burden on our defense and we put a lot of burden on the punt team. They came through. That's the game we were in and we played that game. We ended up winning it."

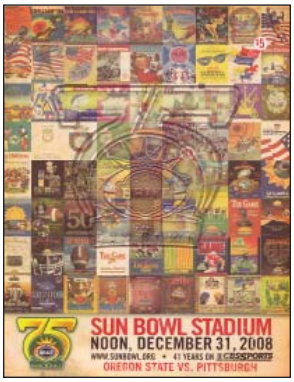

The Beavers (9-4) improved to 5-0 in bowls since Riley began his second stint as their coach in 2003. Kahut provided the only points with his kick shortly before halftime.

Riley liked the way his team rebounded from a 65-38 loss to rival Oregon that denied Oregon State a Rose Bowl berth.

"Guys sulked for a bit," Beavers' defensive end Victor Butler said. "But in the end you've got to get your head in the game. You've got to go play football because the other team wants to play and win just as much as you do."

Riley stood at the interview table and added: "That is well said."

Pitt (9-4), making its first bowl appearance since the 2004 season and the first under Wannstedt, led the Big East in scoring this season, averaging 29.3 points per game. The Panthers managed just 178 total yards.

"We couldn't get anything on offense started at all," standout tailback LeSean McCoy said. "We played horribly."

There was no sign of offense in El Paso, not with McCoy held to 85 yards rushing after averaging 116.9 yards per game this season. Quarterback Bill Stull was 7-for-24 for 52 yards with one interception.

"When you talk about our defense, that was a beautiful performance against a running back that some said was one of the best in the country," Riley said.

The Beavers also won without their spectacular brothers, tailback Jacquizz Rodgers and receiver James Rodgers, both out with shoulder injuries.

Reserve tailback Jeremy Francis had 76 yards rushing and Moevao was 21-for-42 for 193 yards passing with two interceptions. The Beavers finished with 273 total yards. The Panthers finally got a spark early in the fourth quarter when T.J. Porter returned a punt 36 yards to Oregon State's 42.

But three plays later, the big return was wasted because Butler, who had four sacks, stripped Stull and recovered the fumble.

Oregon State led 3-0 after Kahut connected on his field goal with 2:18 remaining before halftime. He later missed a 37-yard attempt midway through the third period.

The Beavers came up empty on the best touchdown opportunity by either team. Officials ruled tight end John Reese was out of bounds on an apparent 9-yard TD reception 10 seconds before the break.

"This is the game it turned out to be," Riley said. "It didn't have to be 3-0. we missed some red-zone opportunities."

The call was upheld after a replay review, and on the next play, Pitt linebacker Scott McKillop -- the Big East defensive player of the year -- intercepted Moevao's pass in the end zone.

2007 — EMERALD BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. MARYLAND

OREGON STATE 21
MARYLAND 14

AT&T Park
San Francisco, Calif. • Dec. 28, 2007

Weather — 47 degrees, Cloudy

The first meeting between the two programs in the sixth annual Emerald Bowl at AT&T Park proved to be entertaining, but both teams showed some rustiness after the long layoff from the regular season. The game was played in misty turning to rainy conditions as it progressed.

The Beaver defense, which had been fierce in the first quarter allowing just 16 points all season, was surprised as the Terrapins hit for two touchdowns. The Terps went 80 yards on the opening drive of the game culminating in Chris Turner's 9-yard pass to Isaiah Williams.

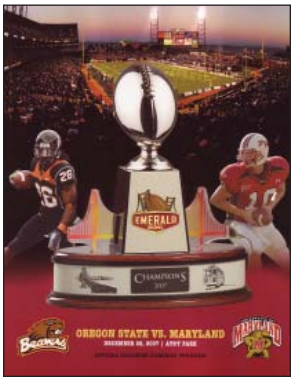

Oregon State answered on the following drive that saw starting quarterback Lyle Moevao being injured and forcing Sean Canfield, who had been out since Nov. 3 at USC, into the game. The lefty tied the score with a 14-yard pass to James Rodgers. Maryland would regain the lead when Turner hit Darrius Heyward-Bey for 63 yards — that was the last of the scoring for the ACC bunch.

Canfield worked the team down the field in the last two minutes of the half before Yvenson Bernard, who would earn offensive MVP of the game, scored from two yards out to tie the game at 14-14.

Neither team mounted much offense in the third quarter until Beaver punt returner Taylor Kavanaugh posted a 26-yard return to the Terps 36 to set up what proved to be the winning score. Bernard took a first down handoff and went 29 yards and two plays later approached the goal line only to fumble, but it was pounced on by Rodgers for the score.

Maryland had just two possessions in the fourth quarter and when the Beavers took over with 6:24 left in the game, it was one of the most memorable drives in school history. The drive didn't amount to any scoring, but OSU picked up six first downs in forcing Maryland to use its final two timeouts.

"I'm really proud of our football team for fighting through a strange game in a lot of ways," coach Mike Riley said. "I thought the defense got stronger and stronger as the game went on. … Offensively, I couldn't describe what the formula is — just getting the ball to Yvenson Bernard and James Rodgers as much as possible."

Bernard finished with 177 yards and linebacker Derrick Doggett earned defensive MVP honors with eight tackles, including a 14-yard sack.

Riley led OSU to its fourth consecutive bowl win — all under Riley's watch.

2006 — BRUT SUN BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. MISSOURI

OREGON STATE	39
MISSOURI	38

Sun Bowl
El Paso, Texas • Dec. 29, 2006

Weather — 48 degrees, Sunny

Oregon State wanted nothing to do with overtime.

Yvenson Bernard pushed into the end zone on a gutsy 2-point conversion run after Joe Newton caught a 14-yard touchdown pass with 22.1 seconds left, and No. 24 Oregon State beat Missouri 39-38 in the 73rd annual Sun Bowl. The win was OSU's third consecutive bowl victory.

The Beavers trailed by 14 points with 12:08 to go before rallying for their eighth victory in nine games. Bernard's 7-yard reception had cut the gap to seven with 6:02 to go.

Tony Temple had 194 yards, four short of the Sun Bowl record, on 20 carries with two touchdowns and Chase Daniel threw two touchdown passes for Missouri (8-5).

Senior quarterback Matt Moore threw four touchdown passes, a Sun Bowl record, and ran for a fifth for Oregon State. He was 5-for-7 for 55 yards on the winning drive, set up after Sammie Stroughter's 38-yard punt return to the Oregon State 46.

Bernard's conversion run came after Missouri called a timeout to freeze kicker Alexis Serna before the extra point. Instead, it gave the Beavers time to persuade coach Mike Riley to go for two - and the gamble paid off.

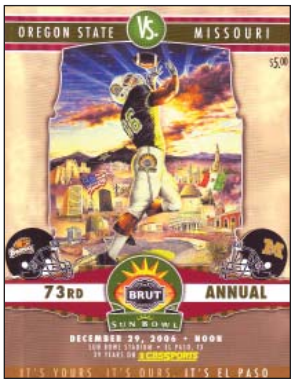

Missouri had seven plays of 29 yards or longer, including Danario Alexander's 74-yard touchdown catch and Temple's 65-yard run. Missouri responded after Oregon State scored on its opening drive of the second half for a 21-17 lead.

Tommie Saunders' 29-yard TD catch from tight end Chase Coffman off a lateral gave the lead back to Missouri and Temple's 65-yard untouched touchdown run seemingly put the Tigers in control at 31-21 with 5:58 in the third.

The victory was the latest in a series of nail-biters for Oregon State, which beat Hawai'i and Oregon by a combined five points in the last two regular-season games.

Moore was 31-for-54 for 356 yards and set a school record of 182 passes without an interception before getting picked off by Brandon Massey in the third quarter. Oregon State retained possession on the play after Massey fumbled.

The longest season in OSU history ended with the Beavers posting the second most victories ever for the program with 10. Oregon State ended the year No. 21 in the final Associated Press Poll, and No. 22 in the final USA Today Poll and Bowl Championship Series standings.

2004 — INSIGHT BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. NOTRE DAME

OREGON STATE 38
NOTRE DAME 21

Bank One Ballpark
Phoenix, Ariz. • Dec. 28, 2004

Weather — Indoors

PHOENIX, Ariz — For the second time since 2000 Oregon State and Notre Dame met in a bowl game in the Valley of the Sun. For the second time Oregon State made a statement with a 38-21 win over the Fighting Irish in the 16th annual Insight Bowl at Bank One Ballpark. The game was televised nationally by ESPN and featured an Insight Bowl attendance record of 45,917.

The Beavers, led by senior quarterback Derek Anderson, scored on two of their first three possessions and would eventually build a 21-0 lead midway through the second quarter. Notre Dame fought back to within 24-14 before Anderson put together arguably the best drive of his four-year career. The Scappoose native took OSU on a 90-yard, 12-play drive that concluded on a 1-yard touchdown pass to tight end Joe Newton, the last of two touchdown scores for the sophomore.

The win capped a rags to riches season for the Beavers and fourth-year head coach Mike Riley. OSU began the season 1-4, but rallied to win six of the final seven contests and end the year as one of the hottest teams in the nation.

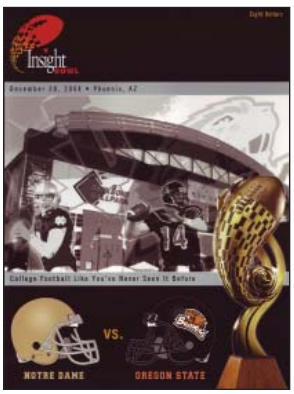

"It was a big game for us," Anderson said. "To bounce back from the start that we had in this season and finish like this, it's huge."

Anderson, the offensive MVP of the Insight Bowl, tied a bowl record with four touchdown passes and turned in the sixth best passing mark in the history of the event with 358 yards. He connected with eight different receivers and was responsible for all but 20 yards of the entire offensive output.

Oregon State's first score was set up by a 52-yard punt return by freshman Sammie Stroughter. The Beavers began the drive at the Irish 27. Four plays later Anderson connected with senior George Gillett for a 12-yard score.

A second freshman set up the Beavers for their next score as Derrick Doggett blocked D.J. Fitzpatrick's punt and recovered on the four-yard line. Anderson found Newton on the second play, after being sacked, to push the lead to 14-0.

The Beavers third score came as Anderson found reserve tight end Dan Haines for 11 yards. Notre Dame desperately responded to stay in the game late in the half, scoring with 56 seconds remaining, on a 13-yard pass from quarterback Brady Quinn to tight end Anthony Fasano.

The second half began with cornerback Aric Williams intercepting Quinn as the Irish were putting together a nice drive that could have closed the gap. Williams' interception led to an Alexis Serna 38-yard field goal to make the score 24-7.

Notre Dame did close the gap to 24-14 after Jerome Collins blocked Sam Paulescu's punt. The Irish's best drive of the game went 49 yards on six plays and was capped by a Darius Walker five-yard touchdown run.

The third quarter ended with OSU leading 24-14 and Notre Dame appeared to have momentum on its side, before Anderson's game breaking 90-yard drive.

Senior tailback Dwight Wright concluded the Beaver scoring on a 2-yard run with 3:19 remaining.

"This team has gained a lot of notoriety for Oregon State," Riley said after the game. "Big games against the two defending national champions (LSU and USC), we didn't win 'em but we certainly had opportunities.

"The big win against our arch rival (Oregon), a nice bowl win, beating all the Northwest schools. I think this team made its mark under some trying times."

For Oregon State it was its third bowl victory in its last four postseason appearances. Junior linebacker Trent Bray, who had a game-high 10 tackles, was named the defensive MVP and Newton earned the ESPN Capital One Player of the Game honor.

2003 — LAS VEGAS BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. NEW MEXICO

OREGON STATE 55
NEW MEXICO 14

Sam Boyd Stadium
Las Vegas, Nev. • Dec. 24, 2003

Weather — 58 degrees, Cloudy, Wind Calm

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Mike Riley made his bowl game debut as a head coach a successful one, as Oregon State dominated New Mexico, winning 55-14.

The Beavers' roster was dotted with student-athletes from Las Vegas, and the thought of returning home for a bowl game was exciting, judging from the team's performance.

The Beavers opened the game with the ball and went 83 yards in nine plays for the first score. Quarterback Derek Anderson threw a 34-yard strike to tailback Steven Jackson, one of the Las Vegas boys, for the first of Jackson's bowl game-record-tying five touchdowns. Kirk Yliniemi booted a 21-yard field goal on the next drive, giving OSU a 10-0 lead. New Mexico had no first downs at this point.

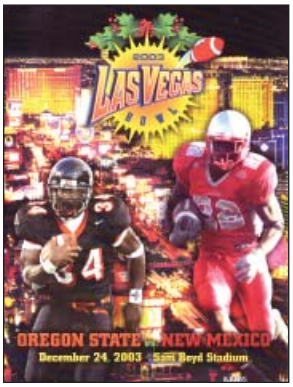

The Lobos used a Brand Ratcliff 40-yard kickoff return to set up their only score of the first three quarters. Quarterback Casey Kelly and Hank Baskett hooked up on a 27-yard pass to make the game 10-7, but that was about it for the Lobo offense for the half.

Oregon State ended the opening quarter with a 17-7 lead, as Anderson hit receiver Mike Hass for 42 yards on the final play of the opening stanza. The Beaver offense had already rolled up 204 yards and 10 first downs, while the Beaver defense had allowed just one first down.

The Beavers made it 24-7 midway through the second quarter on the first of four rushing touchdowns, this one a three-yard romp. Less than two minutes later, thanks to a UNM fumble, Jackson went 11 yards to make the score 31-7, the eventual halftime score.

The first half statistics were staggering. OSU had 17 first downs, UNM one. Total yardage was 308-35.

The Beaver defense once again stymied the Lobo offense on the first possession of the second half, and the Beaver offense extended the margin on its first drive. Jackson accounted for 48 of the 59 yards on the drive, including a six-yard score.

The teams traded punts for most of the remaining third quarter, before Yliniemi's 31-yard field goal made it 41-7 at the end of three.

Jackson added another one-yard score early in the fourth quarter to end his night and ultimately his OSU career — he announced after the game that he was forgoing his final year of college eligibility and entering the NFL Draft. Jackson ended the game with 149 yards rushing. Anderson also sat on the sideline for the rest of the game after passing for 322 yards and two touchdowns.

The teams traded touchdowns to end the game. Reserve quarterback Adam Rothenfluh finished the scoring with a 19-yard pass to Josh Hawkins.

The Beaver defense, led partly by Las Vegas natives Richard Seigler, Jonathan Pollard and Lawrence Turner, limited the Lobos to 127 yards of offense.

2002 — INSIGHT.COM BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH	38
OREGON STATE	13

Bank One Ballpark
Phoenix, Ariz. • Dec. 26, 2002

Weather — 46 degrees, Clear, Wind Calm

PHOENIX, Ariz. — What a difference a half makes.

After heading to the locker room following the first half tied 10-10 with the No. 24 ranked Pittsburgh Panthers, things fell apart for Oregon State in the second half. The Beavers wound up dropping a 38-13 decision to Pitt at the Insight Bowl before 40,533 fans at Bank One Ballpark.

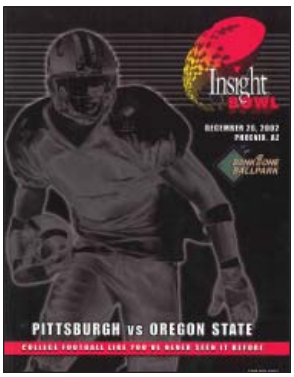

Despite the defeat, it was another very successful season for Oregon State. The Beavers made their third trip in four years to a bowl game and OSU finished the season with eight victories (8-5), which tied for the fourth most season wins in school history.

Pittsburgh opened the scoring by taking the opening kickoff and moving 69 yards in six plays to score when wide receiver Larry Fitzgerald made a diving finger tip reception of a 40-yard touchdown pass from Rod Rutherford with 11:50 left in the quarter. The Panther touchdown amounted to only the third offensive TD allowed by the Beavers' defense during the first quarter of play in the 2002 season.

Oregon State bounced right back with a quick touchdown of its own to quickly tie the contest. It took the Beavers less than two minutes to knot the score at 7-7. OSU moved 72 yards in only three plays. On a second-down play from the OSU 35-yard line, the Beavers' James Newson caught a quick pass from Derek Anderson and appeared to be tackled after about a 10-yard gain. Instead, Newson's knee did not go down and he broke free for a 65-yard TD run down the sideline to tie the game.

Neither team had a scoring threat again until the second quarter. On OSU's fourth possession of the game, the Beavers drove from their own 10 to Pitt's 32 where the drive stalled. Kirk Yliniemi then booted a 50-yard field goal to give OSU a 10-7 lead with 7:56 left in the half. For Yliniemi, the 50-yard field goal matched his career long successful kick.

It appeared OSU would take its 10-7 lead to the locker room, but a great play by Pitt's special teams of downing a punt on OSU's 3-yard line led to an eventual field goal. Unable to move away from the goal line, the Beavers' Carl Tobey punted from the end zone and Pitt got the ball at OSU's 32-yard line with 1:07 to play. Pitt reached OSU's 27-yard line and David Abdul booted a 45-yard field goal as time ran out in the first half.

Pitt's Tez Morris intercepted an Anderson pass during OSU's first possession of the second half and returned the pick 37 yards to the OSU 23-yard line to change the entire momentum of the game. It was the only interception thrown by Anderson. Three plays later Rutherford scored on a 1-yard run for a 17-10 Panther lead.

The backbreaker for OSU came later in the third quarter when the Panthers' Shawn Robinson returned a punt 66 yards for a touchdown to give Pitt a 24-10 lead with 3:26 remaining in the period.

The Beavers had a good chance to get back into the game on their next possession. OSU moved from its own 30 to the Pitt 7-yard line for first and goal. However, Anderson got sacked on first down (loss of 7 yards) and the Beavers were held to a 31-yard field goal by Yliniemi. The field goal by Yliniemi was his 15th consecutive successful boot of the season, which tied the OSU career record.

Pittsburgh added a pair of touchdowns in the fourth quarter when the Beavers gave the Panthers great field position as a result of failing on a fourth down attempt and a fumble.

One huge problem for OSU in the game was its inability to establish the run. Steven Jackson entered the game as the nation's No. 4 leading rusher and the Beavers' season record holder, but he finished the game with only 34 yards.

2001 ('00 SEASON) — FIESTA BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. NOTRE DAME

OREGON STATE 41
NOTRE DAME 9

Sun Devil Stadium
Tempe, Ariz. • Jan. 1, 2001

Weather — 63 degrees, Clear, W-5 (West)

TEMPE, Ariz — Oregon State played its best and most complete football game of the season in routing No. 10 Notre Dame 41-9 in the 30th annual Tostitos Fiesta Bowl in the Beavers' first-ever appearance in a BCS Bowl.

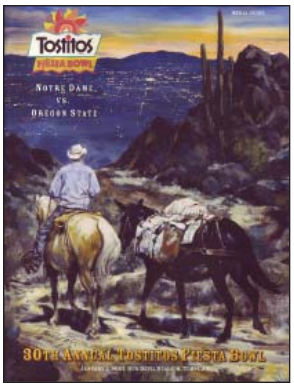

Oregon State totally dominated the Irish from the opening kickoff. The Beavers led only 12-3 at halftime and Notre Dame was fortunate the margin wasn't larger as OSU rolled up 278 yards in the first half, including 246 through the air, to 98 for the Irish.

The Beavers scored on three of their four possessions in the first half. On the one possession OSU did not score, the Beavers drove 83 yards in nine plays, only to be stopped on fourth down at the Notre Dame 1-yard line. Patrick McCall was thrown for a 4-yard loss on fourth down as OSU was attempting to stretch its 6-0 lead. As it was, the Beavers took only four plays to score on their next possession, which started at their 10-yard line. After a 14-yard pass to T.J. Houshmandzadeh and a 2-yard run by Ken Simonton, Jonathan Smith connected on a 74-yard TD pass to Chad Johnson boosting OSU's lead to 12-0.

Notre Dame had generated only eight yards in total offense on six offensive plays in the first quarter, a quarter dominated by the aggressive Beaver defense.

It took a major mistake by OSU for Notre Dame to avoid being shut out in the first half. The Beavers had the Irish pinned on their own 2-yard line facing a third down-and-31 situation. OSU forced an incomplete pass, but the Beavers' Calvin Carlyle was flagged for a late hit on the play and the 15-yard personal foul carried an automatic first down. The Irish took advantage of the break and marched to OSU's 12-yard line before kicking a 29-yard field goal as time expired in the first half.

The third quarter will be remembered forever by Beaver fans, as OSU pummeled Notre Dame with a 29-point blitzkrieg. It all started innocently enough as the Irish forced the Beavers to punt for the first time in the contest after holding OSU on the opening series. The floodgates opened after that. In the span of eight minutes the Beavers accounted for 29 points.

On Notre Dame's first possession of the second half, Darnell Robinson sacked Irish quarterback Matt LoVecchio on second down and forced a fumble in the process. Two plays later Smith connected on a 23-yard TD pass to Houshmandzadeh. Next came a bizarre punt return for a TD as Houshmandzadeh returned a Notre Dame punt from OSU's 27, was hit at the 50 and fumbled, only to have teammate Terrell Roberts field the ball in the air and race 45 yards for a TD.

Smith passed 4-yards to Johnson for another score and Simonton, who had 85 yards rushing on 18 carries, scored the final Beaver TD on a 4-yard run.

Smith was named the Offensive Player of the Game after completing 16 of 24 passes for 305 yards and 3 touchdowns. Robinson was named the Defensive Player of the Game after recording seven tackles, a sack, two tackles for loss, a pass breakup and a pass interception.

1999 — O'AHU BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. HAWAI'I

HAWAI'I 23
OREGON STATE 17

Aloha Stadium
Honolulu, Hawai'i • Dec. 24, 1999

Weather — 79 degrees, Fair, W-15-25 (South-Southwest)

HONOLULU, Hawai'i — Oregon State fans invaded the Islands in mass as the program made its first bowl appearance since January of 1965. The Beavers had the unenviable chore of playing the University of Hawai'i Rainbow Warriors in the O'ahu Bowl at UH's home field — Aloha Stadium.

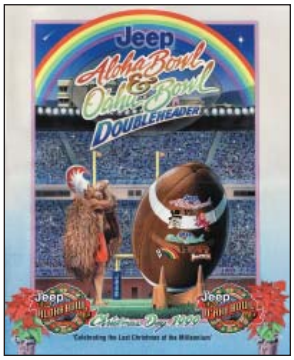

Oregon State looked like it was on its way to its first postseason victory since the 1962 Liberty Bowl, when it took its first possession 79 yards in 10 plays to score on Ken Simonton's 1-yard run with 8:23 left in the opening quarter. He rushed for 30 yards on OSU's first play from scrimmage and accounted for 40 yards on the first TD drive.

OSU got a big break late in the first period and didn't capitalize on the opportunity, which might have been one of the big plays of the game. OSU had to punt on its second possession and UH's Avion Weaver fumbled after a hit by Terrence Carroll, who also recovered the ball at the Hawaii 14-yard line. The Beavers were unable to move the ball and Ryan Cesca's 42-yard field goal sailed right, seemingly giving Hawai'i new confidence.

Hawai'i took advantage of OSU's only turnover of the game to get on the scoreboard. Jonathan Smith fumbled a snap from center at the Beavers' 24 yard line. The Rainbows were stopped at the 8-yard line and settled for a 26-yard field goal by Eric Hannum. Hawai'i tried an onside kick following the field goal, but the Beavers recovered for great field position at the Hawai'i 49.

Once again, Cesca missed on a field goal attempt from 31 yards out. The Warriors took over on their own 20 and put together their only long drive of the game, moving 80 yards in eight plays to score on a 9-yard pass from Dan Robinson to Channon Harris, putting Hawai'i up 10-7. OSU tied the contest on the final play of the first half, a 37-yard field goal by Cesca, following an interception by Calvin Carlyle.

Hawai'i scored 10 points in the third quarter and the Beavers were held scoreless as they could not sustain a drive. The Rainbows moved out to a 23-10 lead with 2:58 left in the game on a 35-yard field goal by Hannum and appeared to have the game locked up at that point. However, OSU's offense finally caught fire and Smith moved the Beavers 81 yards in 10 plays in only 1:31 elapsed time as Simonton scored on a 13-yard draw play to narrow the margin to 23-17.

Then, the biggest play of the game occurred following the Beaver touchdown. OSU executed an onside kick and Roddy Tompkins recovered at the Hawai'i 48. But, an official threw a flag indicating the Beavers had not lined up properly and voided the recovery. The next onside kick went out of bounds and Hawai'i was able to run out the remaining 1:27.

Simonton was named OSU's outstanding player of the game after rushing for 157 yards, scoring two touchdowns and accounting for 182 all-purpose yards.

1965 ('64 SEASON) — ROSE BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. MICHIGAN

MICHIGAN	34
OREGON STATE	7

Rose Bowl
Pasadena, Calif. • Jan. 1, 1965

Despite this visual evidence to the contrary, the Rose Bowl can be anything but a bed of roses. Oregon State found that out on January 1, 1965, losing to Michigan 34-7. The No. 8-ranked Beavers had gone into the game as 11-point underdogs to the No. 4-ranked Wolverines, but OSU did go into the game with some optimism.

Early on, Oregon State looked like it might pull off a stunner. After a scoreless first quarter, the Beavers took a 7-0 lead on a Doug McDougal 5-yard pass from Paul Brothers, but Michigan led 12-7 at halftime and the lead would grow.

Leading up to the game, there was controversy. When OSU and Oregon rejoined the Athletic Association of Western Universities for the 1964 season, schools didn't have time to juggle their schedules for a full round-robin slate of conference games. The Beavers and USC both finished with 3-1 records in league play, the selection of the Rose Bowl representative was left up to a vote of the conference's faculty athletic representatives; OSU had an 8-2 overall mark to USC's 7-3. The decision didn't sit well with many in and around Los Angeles and the Beavers took quite a bit of grief from the press and public during their visit.

Oregon State head coach Tommy Prothro left the school shortly after the game to become the head coach at UCLA.

1962 — LIBERTY BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. VILLANOVA

OREGON STATE 6
VILLANOVA 0

Philadelphia Stadium
Philadelphia, Pa. • Dec. 15, 1962

With the temperature 17 degrees at kickoff, only 17,048 fans made their way to the enormous arena on the south side to see the No. 17-ranked Beavers beat hometown Villanova 6-0. Wrote the late George Pasero of The Oregon Journal: "The Liberty Bowl was televised, of course, with an estimated audience of 27 million in saloons and living rooms a lot more comfortable than the 17,048 human ice cakes who attended."

Both teams switched from cleats to tennis shoes prior to the game due to frozen footing.

The only score came on Terry Baker's 99-yard run with 9:54 left in the first quarter, and Oregon State spent the rest of the afternoon holding off the Wildcats. OSU's undersized line was pushed around between the 20-yard lines and Villanova outgained the Beavers 309-299, but Oregon State came up with four fumbles and two interceptions.

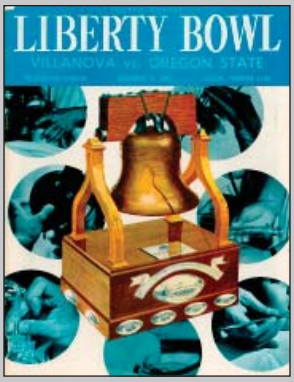

Baker wasn't all of Oregon State's offense, but it was close. He rushed for 137 yards and passed for 123. His performance clinched his Heisman Trophy.

1957 ('56 SEASON) — ROSE BOWL — OREGON STATE VS. IOWA

IOWA 35
OREGON STATE 19

Rose Bowl
Pasadena, Calif. • Jan. 1, 1957

Oregon State played in its second Rose Bowl game, but its first at the Rose Bowl. The Beavers' previous appearance was in 1942 in the only Rose Bowl not played in Southern California — the game was moved to Durham, N.C. because of World War II.

A crowd of 100,000 witnessed 10th-ranked Oregon State victimized by some early mistakes and the Beavers lost 35-19 to third-ranked Iowa. OSC head coach Tommy Prothro and the Beavers had already had one crack at Iowa, losing to the Hawkeyes 14-13 on Iowa's home field in early October; it was the first Rose Bowl to pair teams that had already played during the regular season. Wrote the late George Pasero of The Oregon Journal after talking to the Beavers after the game: "All the opinions ended up at the same place. OSC tackling was the worst of the season and no one seemed able to explain why."

Halfback Joe Francis rushed for 73 yards and passed for another 130 yards to lead Oregon State's offensive attack. Back Sterling Hammock had four receptions for 65 yards.

GAME NOTES

This game produced two important firsts. It was OSU's first-ever trip to the famous New Year's Day classic, and it remains the only Rose Bowl played outside Pasadena, which has prompted sports historians over the years to prefix the bowl's famous name with the word "displaced."

The reason was due to the blackout of the West Coast that had followed the attack on Pearl Harbor. The host stadium was Duke University's home field in Durham, N.C., with the undefeated Blue Devils picked as 3-1 favorites. Oregon State's victory came as a big surprise to Eastern and Southern sportswriters, with Sid Feder of the Associated Press writing, "Probably never in the quarter century history of the Tournament of Roses had such a completely overlooked betting underdog jumped up to beat the big fellows. Oregon State came East to the wonderment of most of Dixie as to why the Westerners were going to show up at all."

Beaver boss Lon Stiner, at 38 and the youngest head coach in Rose Bowl history, had prepared his team with a passing attack that dazzled the North Carolinians. Jack Gunether of UPI wrote, "The Beavers skipped and slammed and flicked passes with an ease and finesse which completely baffled the record crowd."

For Oregon State, the star was Dan Durdan, who passed and ran Oregon State College to victory. He was awarded Player of the Game honors and later inducted into the Rose Bowl Hall of Fame. Beaver greats Bob Dethman and George Zelick also added points. Duke blocking back Tommy Prothro also played magnificently.

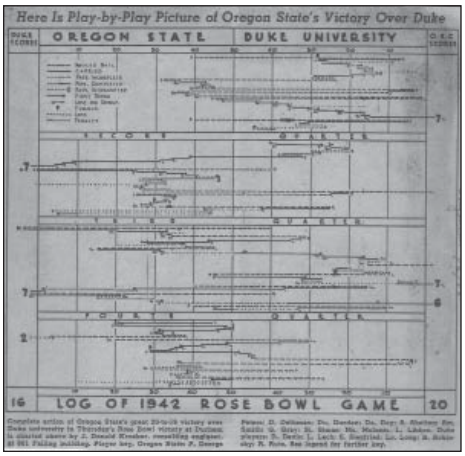

In one of the great ironies in the annals of college football, Prothro would one day become Oregon State head coach and take the Beavers to not one but two Rose Bowls. The football practice field at OSU bears his name. Returning home, the victorious Stiner and company were feted at a special Rose Bowl Banquet with Oregon Gov. Charles Sprague one of the principal speakers. In 1985, the entire squad was inducted into the State of Oregon Sports Hall of Fame. In 1988 they entered the OSU Athletic Hall of Fame. OSU fans at the time considered the game to be the greatest win in school history.

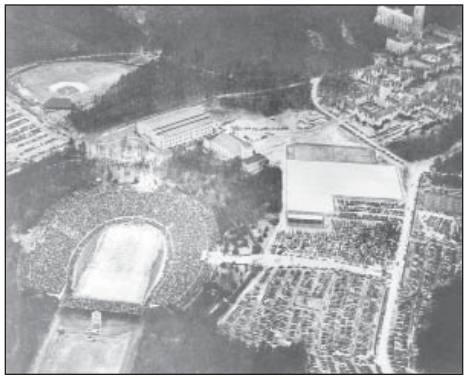

The winning score came in the third quarter when Gene Gray scored on a 68-yard pass from Bob Dethman.

GAME NOTES

HONOLULU, Hawai'i — Power generated by the Oregon State College Beavers overcame the tricky plays and passing attack of Hawaii's Rainbows and gave the boys from the Northwest a 39-6 victory in a Pineapple Bowl game that was finished under arc lights.

The Beaver victory climaxed an island invasion that started with Oregon State defeating the Healani town team on Christmas day.

The Beavers rolled up three touchdowns in the first period against Hawai'i, and added another in the third and two more in the fourth. Hawai'i scored in the second period. Showers late in the game handicapped Hawaii's passing attack.

Bob Olson, Morrie Kohler, Ken Dow and George Peters scored a touchdown by power drives in the first five minutes of play, with Olson passing to Peters for the final six yards. A few minutes later, Bob Dethman returned a Hawai'i punt 12 yards to the 29-yard line, from where Bob Dethman cracked center for 18 yards and Jim Kisselburgh ambled 11 yards through tackle to score.

Vic Kohler intercepted one of Roy Strohlin's passes in the same period, lateralled to John Tsoutsouvas who was down on the Oregon State 49. John Hackenbruck made 18 on an end-around. Kohler added five at the line, and then Joe Tomich passed to Hackenbruck in the end zone.

Hawai'i drove to Oregon State's 12-yard line early in the second quarter before the Beavers held, but Kisselburgh's kick was short and Hawai'i scored on two plays, with Strohlin passing from Oregon State's 47 to Cal Campbell on the 19 and then to Nolle Smith in the end zone. Oregon State battled down to the Hawai'i 1-yard line where Dow fumbled as the half ended.

OSU'S ALL-AMERICANS

HERM ABRAHAM • 1916

Herm Abraham, was Oregon State's first All-American in the sport. He led the Aggies to an upset at Michigan State in 1915. He earned All-American honors by the Newspaper Enterprise Association in 1916, after lettering three years.

TERRY BAKER • 1962

The Heisman Trophy winner was the nation's most heralded athlete after leading OSU to a 1962 Liberty Bowl victory over Villanova. Terry Baker was a unanimous first team All-American in 1962, and in addition was named the Sportsman of the Year by Sports Illustrated, Helms Foundation Award recipient, AP, UPI, and the Sporting News Player of the Year to name just a few. The two-time Oregon State team MVP played in the 1962 College All-Star Game. Baker also excelled in basketball where he helped the 1963 team to the Final Four. He was inducted into the State of Oregon Sports Hall of Fame in 1980. His number 11 is the only number retired at OSU. He is (as of June 2009) the only individual to win the Heisman Trophy and play in the Final Four. Baker was the first individual from the West Coast to win the Heisman. He was drafted first overall in 1963 by the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL.

Vern Burke

TED BATES • 1958

Ted Bates earned All-American acclaim as an offensive lineman in 1958, and was also named an All-Pacific Coast Conference and All-Coast selection. He played in the 1957 Rose Bowl and was the recipient of the 1958 Hayward Award for the top amateur athlete in the state. Bates played in the 1958 East-West Shrine and Hula Bowl games. He played four NFL seasons with the Chicago Cardinals. Bates was a 1996 inductee into the State of Oregon Sports Hall of Fame.

INOKE BRECKTERFIELD • 1997 & 1998

Inoke Breckterfield is one of Oregon State's top all-time defensive lineman. He concluded his career by being selected a third-team All-American in 1998. Breckterfield played in the Hula Bowl after being selected first team All-Pac-10. He won the conference's prestigious Morris Trophy, given to the league's top defensive lineman. The Honolulu native ended his career as the school's all-time leader for quarterback sacks with 19.5 and tackles-for-loss with 55.5. Breckterfield signed a free agent contract with Edmonton of the CFL following his collegiate career and later played for Winnipeg and Toronto.

STEVE BROWN • 1972

Steve Brown was a three-year varsity letterman from 1970-72. He earned All-American honors (1972) by nine organizations and publications, including seven first team selections, and he was a two-time All-Pac-8, two-time All-Coast and two-time team defensive MVP selection. Brown came to OSU as a fullback before moving to the defensive side as a freshman. He had a school record 186 tackles as a senior. As a junior he led the team with 134 tackles and had four interceptions against defending conference champion Stanford. He also had 22 tackles in that same '71 game vs. Stanford. At the conclusion of his OSU career he played in the East-West Shrine Game, Hula Bowl and Coaches All-American Bowl. Brown was the team captain of the West in the Shrine Game and co-captain of the North Squad in the Hula Bowl where he made 19 tackles and intercepted three passes. He also had 15 tackles and one interception in the Coaches All-American Bowl. He went on to play professionally for Calgary in 1973 and for the Portland Storm in 1974 before suffering a career-ending knee injury.

BRANDON BROWNER • 2003

Brandon Browner played just two seasons at Oregon State leaving after his sophomore year to pursue the NFL. Browner, a cornerback, was the second OSU player in the history of the program to declare himself eligible for the NFL Draft prior to the end of his college eligibility. He redshirted in 2002 before earning 2003 Freshman All-American honors. The 6-4 Sylmar, Calif., native was the 2003 Pac-10 Freshman of the Year.

VERN BURKE • 1962

Vern Burke is still considered one the best receivers ever to wear an Oregon State uniform. He caught 69 passes for 1,007 yards in 1962, both NCAA records at the time. At the time of his enshrinement into the OSU Sports Hall of Fame in 1991, he held records for the most passes caught in one game (12) and career receiving touchdowns (19). He was a consensus All-American in 1963 and played five years of professional football. Burke played in the 1963 East-West Shrine and Hula Bowl games. He was inducted into the State of Oregon Sports Hall of Fame in 1982.

SEAN CANFIELD • 2009

Sean Canfield capped his excellent career by becoming OSU's first ever Pac-10 Conference First Team quarterback and earning SI.com Honorable Mention All-American. He compiled a single season school record completion percentage of 67.9 (303-446) as a senior, resulting in 3,271 passing yards and 21 touchdowns. He led the league as a senior with a 251.6 yards per game passing average. For his career he threw for 5,970 yards and 38 touchdowns, both the fourth-highest total in school history at the time.

TERRENCE CARROLL • 1997

Terrence Carroll is one of the top safeties in the program's history and earned Sporting News Freshman All-America honors in 1997 as a redshirt. He started all 11 games for first-year head coach Mike Riley, making 63 tackles, two interceptions and blocking two kicks. He would go on to be a catalyst for the program that ended a 28-year losing streak and he went on to help the team win the 2001 Fiesta Bowl title as a senior. For his career he made 255 tackles and nine interceptions.

BRANDIN COOKS • 2013

Brandin Cooks established himself as one of the most explosive players in the nation in 2013. He was awarded the Biletnikoff Award following a record-setting season and became a consensus All-American earning recognition from the Sporting News, Associated Press, FWAA and Walter Camp Foundation among others. He was the first FWAA first teamer for OSU since 1968. Cooks set the Pac-12 single season record with 128 receptions as well as the conference's single season record with 1,730 receiving yards in 2013. In addition, he established OSU career record with 24 receiving touchdowns and single season with 16. Cooks was drafted by the New Orleans Saints in the first round of the 2014 NFL Draft.

Steve Coury

STEVE COURY • 1979

Steve Coury was by most accounts Oregon State's MVP in the decade of the 1970's. He was selected first team all-league in the Pac-10 and third team All-American by the AP as a senior in 1979. The offensive MVP also earned second team All-Coast. He played in the Blue-Gray Classic and East-West Shrine games. Coury set the record for career receiving yards (1,837) and receptions (135). He accounted for 142 receiving yards in a 1979 game. The four-year letterman went on to play at Ottawa in 1980 before embarking on a coaching career.

Michael Philipp was named to Freshman All-American teams by Phil Steele and CollegeFootballNews.com in 2010. Philipp started all 13 games at left tackle, the first true freshman to start on the offensive line since 1997.

GEORGE "GAP" POWELL • 1921

Gap Powell lettered in football and track from 1918-21. He was a two-time All-Coast selection in football and earned All-American honors in 1921. Powell was also the 1920 Pacific Coast Conference shot champion. He was inducted into the State of Oregon Hall of Fame in 1982.

Jordan Poyer

JORDAN POYER • 2012

Jordan Poyer is arguably the best cornerback to ever play for Oregon State after being lightly recruited to play football out of Astoria High School. He was a consensus All-America selection as a senior, the first at OSU since John Didion in 1967, named to the All-America First Team from Walter Camp, AFCA, Sporting News and CBSSports.com among others. Named to the All-Pac-12 Conference First Team as a senior and Second Team as a junior, he was a semi-finalist for the Bednarik Award (top defensive player) and Jim Thorpe Award (top cornerback) in 2012. He earned the Jim Thorpe Defensive Back of the Week and Walter Camp Co-Player of the Week after a three interception performance against Washington State. He ranked tied for second in the nation with seven interceptions as a senior and finished his career with 13 to tie for fourth in OSU history. He was selected in the seventh round of the 2013 NFL Draft by the Philadelphia Eagles.

JACQUIZZ RODGERS • 2008 & 2009

In 2008, Jacquizz Rodgers had what was arguably the greatest impact of a freshman in the history of the program. Despite missing nearly all of the last three games of the season due to injury, he became the first freshman to be named as the Pac-10 Offensive Player of the Year as well as the conference's Freshman of the Year. With 1,253 yards, "Quizz" set the Pac-10 mark for rushing yards by a freshman. He was named USA Today, Rivals.com and CollegeFootballNews.com Player of the Week after rushing for 186 yards and two touchdowns in a victory over then No. 1 USC. Surpassing the 100-yard plateau seven times, he was named Pac-10 Player of the Week on three occasions en route to being named the Rivals.com Freshman of the Year, College Football News All-Freshman Team, Football Writers Association Freshman All-American, CBS Sports.com Freshman of the Year and Sporting News National Freshman of the Year. The Associated Press and Rivals.com selected Quizz as a third team All-American. He finished his career as one of three players in history to achieve 3,000 yards rushing and 1,000 yards receiving in only three years, joining Ryan Benjamin of Pacific (1990-92) and Reggie Bush of USC (2003-05). He was taken in the fifth round of the 2011 NFL Draft by the Atlanta Falcons.

JAMES RODGERS • 2009

James Rodgers scored Honorable Mention All-America honors as a wide receiver and as an all-purpose player from SI.com in his junior season. He was named to the Pac-10 Conference's First Team as a junior as a wide receiver after making a school record 91 receptions. Rodgers set the school record in 2009 for all-purpose yards with 2,328 and set a single game record with 303 yards vs. Oregon. He was the first OSU player to achieve 1,000 yards rushing and 2,000 yards receiving.

JON SANDSTROM • 1967

Jon Sandstrom was a three-year starting defensive lineman from 1966-1968. He was a first team All-American as a junior (1967) and was a preseason All-American in 1968. Sandstrom earned first team All-Pac-8 as a senior and was named the team's MVP. He played in the College All-Star Game, Hula Bowl, Senior Bowl and Coaches All-America Bowl at the conclusion of his college career. Sandstrom was drafted in the third round in 1969 by the Atlanta Falcons and would also play for the CFL's Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

ROY SCHUENING • 2004 & 2007

Roy Schuening concluded his collegiate career as one of the best linemen in OSU history. Schuening started a school record 50 games, all consecutively, during his career. As a senior in 2007, Schuening receivied Pac-10 First Team honors and was named to the Pro Football Weekly All-America squad. He was an All-Pac-10 Honorable Mention selection in 2005 and '06, and was a Sporting News All-Freshman Team member in 2004. Schuening was taken in the fifth round of the 2008 NFL Draft by the St. Louis Rams.

EBERLE SCHULTZ • 1939

Eberle Schultz played both ways on the line, but earned most of his accolades for his play on the offensive side of the ball. He earned first team All-Coast honors in 1939 and helped Oregon State post a 9-1-1 mark that season. He was drafted by Philadelphia in the fourth round of the NFL Draft and played a total of six pro seasons, including stops in Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

ADOLPHE "ADE" SCHWAMMEL • 1933

Ade Schwammel lettered in football from 1931-33, earning first team All-American and All-Pacific Coast as a senior (1933). He was one of the key players in the now illegal "pyramid play." Schwammel played in the 1934 East-West Shrine Game. He won two professional titles in his six years with the Green Bay Packers.

Jacquizz Rodgers

Vic Sears

VIC SEARS • 1940

Vic Sears was an All-American lineman in 1940, becoming the second lineman in school history to earn such acclaim. He lettered three seasons and was drafted in the fourth round by the Pittsburgh Steelers at the conclusion of his college career. He never played for the Steelers, but played for Philadelphia for 10 years. Sears, who played in the 1941 East-West Shrine Game, was inducted into the State of Oregon Sports Hall of Fame in 1980.

RICHARD SEIGLER • 2000 & 2003

Richard Seigler is one of OSU's top linebackers in the history of the program. He earned recognition as a freshman in 2000 by being named to the Freshman All-American teams by the Sporting News and Football News. The four-year letterman was a 2004 fourth round NFL Draft selection of the San Francisco 49ers. The Las Vegas native was a two-time All-Pac-10 Conference selection (2002, '03) and was a co-team MVP after his senior year. Seigler played in the Fiesta, Insight and Las Vegas Bowls during his career, and at the conclusion of his OSU playing days competed in the East-West Shrine Game and was named All-America honorable mention by College Football News. Seigler left OSU fourth for career tackles with 356.

ALEXIS SERNA • 2005 & 2006

Alexis Serna earned All-America honors in 2005 by the American Football Coaches Association and was a second team member by the Associated Press and Walter Camp Foundation. Serna was honored with the Lou Groza Award, signifying the nation's premier kicker in 2005. During his stellar sophomore season Serna made 23 of 28 field goal attempts and all 32 extra point tries. He tied the OSU record by making 15 consecutive field goals during the 2005 season. He broke an OSU record and tied the Pac-10 record with a 6-for-6 performance at Washington, earning him Pac-10 Special Teams Player of the Week honors. Serna came to OSU originally as a walkon. He signed a contract to play for the CFL's Winnipeg Blue Bombers at the conclusion of his OSU career.

ISAAC SEUMALO • 2012

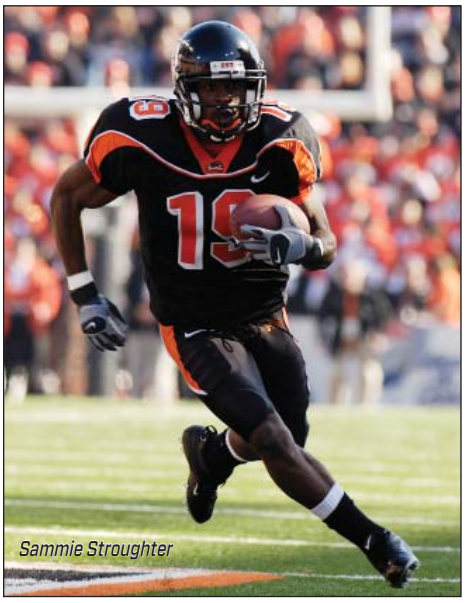

Isaac Seumalo was named to the Freshman All-America Team by Phil Steele, CBSSports.com and FoxSportsNext.com. He was named as the No. 6 Top Freshman by Athlon Sports. Thrust into the starting center role from the first day of fall camp, Isaac became the first freshman to start at center for OSU since 1978 and was one of only two true freshmen to start their season-openers at center in the nation. He was an All-Pac-12 Conference honorable mention selection.

KEN SIMONTON • 2000 & 2001

Ken Simonton lettered from 1998-2001 and is considered one of the school's best running backs ever. Simonton concluded his career with a school record 5,044 yards and at the time of his graduation was one of only six players in Pac-10 history to rush for 1,000-plus yards in three different seasons. His 5,044 yards ranked second most ever in the conference, trailing only USC's Charles White. When he left OSU, he held 11 school rushing marks. Simonton rushed for 100-plus yards 26 times during his 46-game OSU career, including three 200-yard plus marks. Simonton led OSU to the Fiesta and O'ahu Bowls, but he may be most remembered for scoring the winning touchdown in the 1998 triple-overtime victory over Oregon. Simonton's professional career included stops in Buffalo, San Francisco and Calgary.

SAMMIE STROUGHTER • 2006

Sammie Stroughter burst onto the scene in 2006 as a big play threat at wide receiver and as a punt returner after two seasons in the shadow of two-time All-American Mike Hass. Stroughter was named a third team All-American all-purpose player by the Associated Press following one of the best seasons by a wide receiver in Oregon State history. Stroughter converted 74 receptions into 1,293 yards including a 223-yard game at Washington. In addition, Stroughter returned three punts for touchdowns during the season to set a school record, including a memorable 70-yard return in one of the biggest upsets in OSU history over No. 3 USC. He was drafted by the NFL's Tampa Bay Buccaneers at the conclusion of his career at Oregon State.

Sammie Stroughter

JIM WALKER • 1977

Jim Walker earned Associated Press Honorable Mention honors as a center his senior season in 1977. He also was a member of the All-Pac-8 Conference and All-Coast second teams. The team captain also played in the Challenge Bowl in Seattle. He signed a free agent contract with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers following his senior year.

OZBURN WALKER • 1917

Ozburn Walker, along with Meier Newman, earned All-American honors from the Stars of 1917 after playing just one season for the Aggies.

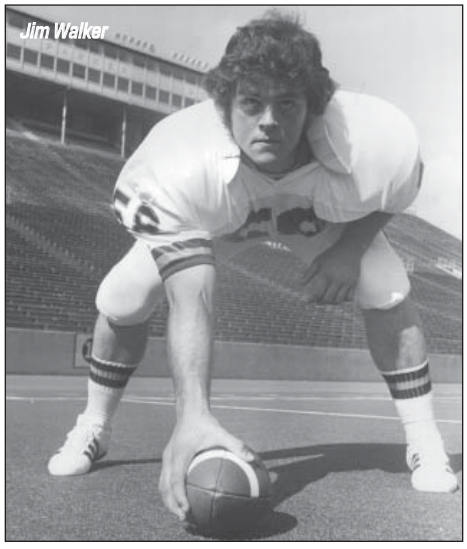

DENNIS WEATHERSBY • 2000, 2001 & 2002

Dennis Weathersby was arguably Oregon State's top cornerback in the history of the program. He lettered from 1999-2002 and helped the program compete in the Fiesta, O'ahu and Insight Bowls. Weathersby was a standout on the field and in the classroom. He earned first team District VIII All-Academic honors as a junior and senior. As a senior he was a semifinalist for the Jim Thorpe Award, given annually to the nation's premier defensive back, earned second team All-American by the Sporting News and third team All-American by Colllege Football News. He concluded his career by being selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game and was later a fourth round selection in the NFL Draft by the Cincinnati Bengals.

Markus Wheaton

MARKUS WHEATON • 2012

Markus Wheaton finished his career as one of the most prolific receivers in Oregon State history. As a senior he tied the single season school-record with 91 receptions en route to setting the school's career record with 227 catches. His 2,994 career receiving yards are third on OSU's all-time list, and 3,744 all-purpose yards are ninth at OSU. A Pac-12 Conference First Team selection as a senior and honorable mention as a junior, CBSSports.com honored Wheaton with Third Team All-America accolades. He was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the third round of the 2013 NFL Draft.

Jim Walker

Dennis Weathersby

JOHN WITTE • 1955 & 1956

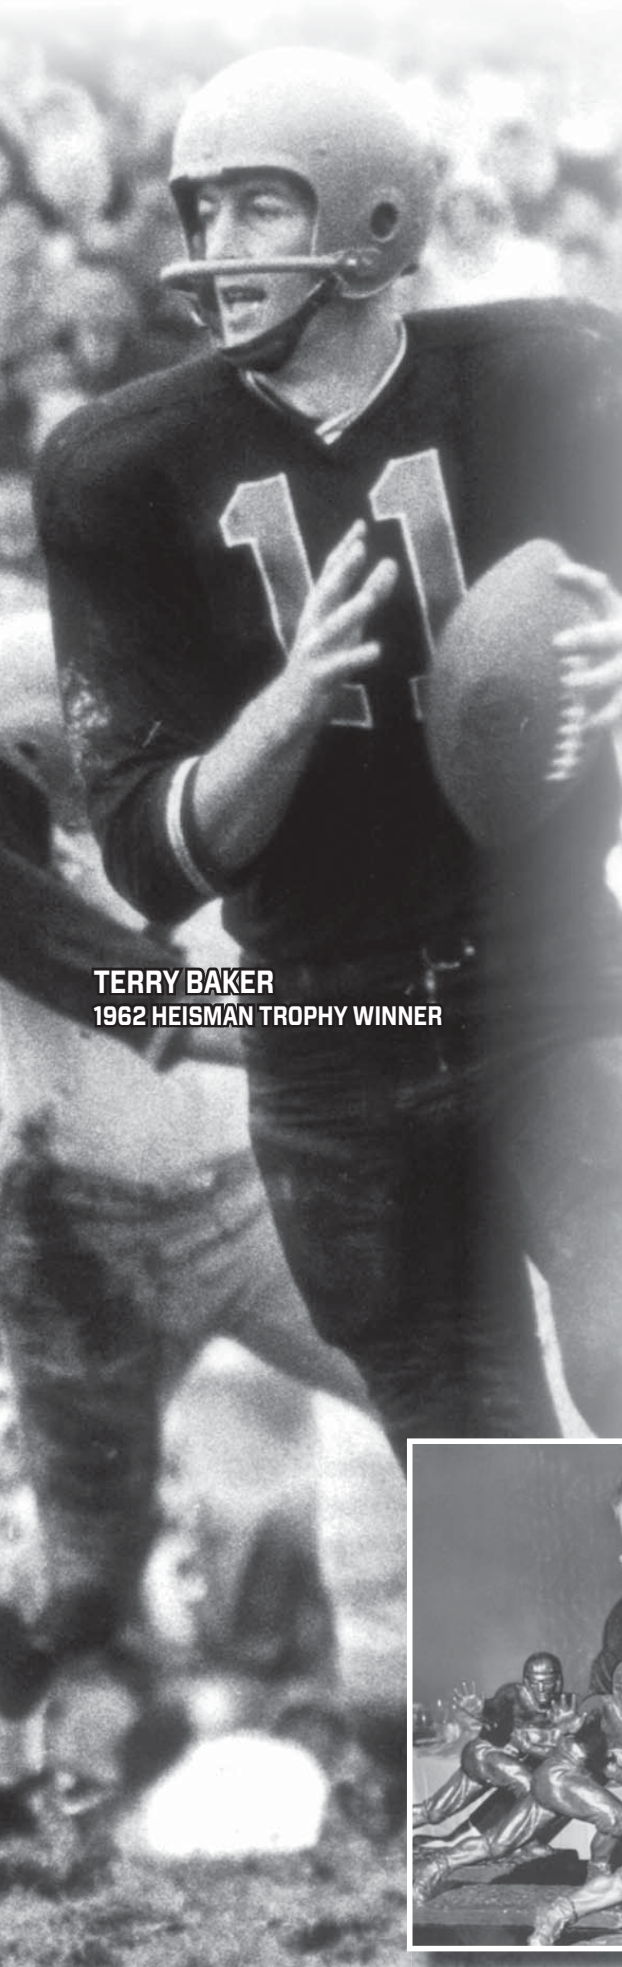

John Witte was a two-time All-American selection (1955-56), the only OSU player to ever achieve such status at the time of his playing career. He played in the 1957 Rose Bowl game against Iowa. He also was an outstanding wrestler, finishing second at the NCAA Championships as a freshman. He was inducted into the State of Oregon Sports Hall of Fame in 1983.

DYLAN WYNN • 2011

Dylan Wynn was named a Freshman All-American honorable mention by College Football News in 2011. Wynn started seven games at defensive end recording 5.5 tackles-for-loss. He set a school record with five fumble recoveries as a true freshman.

LEN YOUNCE • 1939

Len Younce received All-American honorable mention following the 1939 season. Younce, an offensive guard, along with linemate Eberle Schultz opened big holes for Jim Kisselburgh (All-American in 1940) as the Beavers finished the season 9-1-1. He was an 8th round draft choice of the New York Giants in 1941. He was inducted into the Oregon Sports Hall of Fame in 1980 and entered the OSU Athletic Hall of Fame in 1988.

BEYOND FOOTBALL

Setting our student-athletes up for success in life beyond the game

KAYLA GROSS
Director of Beyond Football

BEYOND FOOTBALL is a component of the Oregon State Football experience that aims to provide opportunities and a platform for the personal and professional development of our student-athletes. Focused around three central tenets—EMPOWER, ENGAGE and PREPARE — the program prepares the student-athletes by providing a diverse array of programming, seminars, classes and opportunities that align with the program's central mission: Setting our student-athletes up for success in life beyond the game.

The effectiveness of the program is based on its ability to increase metrics such as increase in team GPA, number of undergraduates employed after graduation and increase in number of hours volunteered. To ensure student-athletes are achieving these aims, the program employs a points metric to track student-athletes' off-field involvement. Student-athletes also meet regularly with a member of the Beyond Football staff to assess progress.

THREE CENTRAL TENETS

EMPOWER
Connecting the student-athletes to business professionals, thought leaders and community members and experiences that will expand his world view, way of thinking and network.

ENGAGE
Fostering an understanding of community and global needs and a culture of volunteerism and lifelong civic engagement.

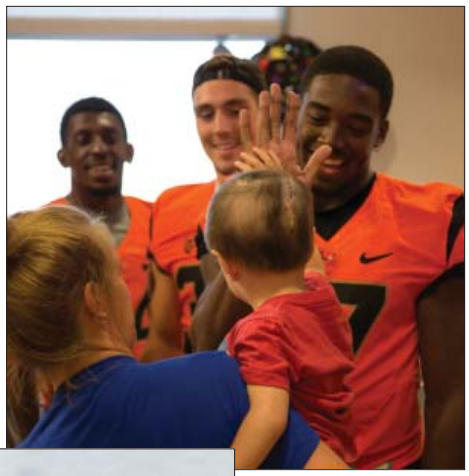

PREPARE
Identifying the student-athlete's unique interests, skills and passions and determining a professional direction and course for success.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Started in 2013 thanks to a generous gift from an Oregon State alumnus, the program has reached new heights under Head Coach Gary Andersen and Vice President/Director of Athletics Todd Stansbury. In alignment with Stansbury's emphasis on developing "Everyday Champions," – student-athletes that achieve success in the classroom and community are prepared to make an impact after graduation — Andersen added additional staff and reconfigured the program to better serve the student-athletes.

(above) Oregon State football student-athletes have made several visits to Randall Children's Hospital in Portland.

The Beavers make several visits to local schools in the area for events like Read Across America, and other literacy programs.

IN THE COMMUNITY

As part of the Beyond Football program, Oregon State football aims to foster an understanding of community and global needs and a culture of volunteerism and lifelong civic engagement. To achieve these aims, student-athletes are provided with weekly volunteer opportunities supporting a wide variety of non-profit, institutional and charitable efforts.

2015-16 Stats:

1,145 Hours of community service since Fall 2015

38 Charitable appearances since Fall 2015

49 Student-athletes volunteered more than 10 hours during the 2015-16 academic year

TOP TEN VOLUNTEERS:

1.	Will Hopkins	32 hours
2.	Ricky Ortiz	30 hours
3.	Ryan Nall	25.5 hours
4.	Cyril Noland-Lewis	24.5 hours
5.	Noke Tago	22 hours
6.	Nick Porebski	19.5 hours
7.	Hunter Jarmon	18.5 hours
8.	Jordan Choukair	18 hours
9.	Jaylynn Bailey	17.5 hours

In addition, the Beavers have been involved with several local Boy Scout/Cub Scout troops, Special Olympics, the Linn-Benton Food Share, senior centers, and the Boys & Girls Club.

If you are interested in involving the OSU football team in your non-profit or charitable effort, contact Kayla Gross, Director of Beyond Football, at kayla.gross@oregonstate.edu.

The home of the Oregon State University Beavers has had over $200 million in fiscal improvements completed since the 2005 season. The east side of the complex houses some of the finest amenities in all of college and NFL football, including the popular Club and Loge, and a new playing surface (FieldTurf) was installed prior to the 2012 season.

Over the last 10 years the capacity of the stadium has increased by 11,000 and now features some of the best viewing in all of college football.

The OSU student-body sits directly behind the Beavers' bench along the east sidelines, with passionate fans in other sections. One of the unique aspects of the stadium is that the seating is close to the field, giving OSU a distinct home field advantage.

That home field advantage has helped the Beavers score some of the program's biggest wins in recent seasons, including snapping USC's 27-game Pac-10 Conference win streak in 2006 and then defeating the No. 1 Trojans in 2008.

Reser Stadium was originally known as Parker Stadium until June 14, 1999. At that time Al and Pat Reser of Beaverton, Ore., made a personal seven-figure gift to OSU athletics.

The stadium, which is located on the south side of campus, was originally built in 1953 at a cost of $330,463.19 with a seating capacity of 28,000. Following the 1965 Rose Bowl, additional end zone bleacher seats were added to raise the capacity to 33,000. The stadium was expanded to 40,593 in 1967 with a new addition to the west side, including a new press box. Stadium capacity was reduced in 1990 as a result of the construction of the original Valley Football Center. In June of 1996, an enlarged Valley Football Center opened. The stadium's capacity is now 43,363.

Reser Stadium has become a shining monument for not only Athletics, but the entire University. "Beaver Nation" has embraced the upgrades to the facility that has become a source of pride for all of Oregon State University.

SAMARITAN SPORTS MEDICINE CENTER

Built: 2014

Size: 17,000 square feet

Amenities: The Samaritan Sports Medicine Center, opened in late 2014. The 17,000-square-foot center on the campus of Oregon State University is located between Reser Stadium and the Merritt Truax Indoor Center.

Clinic operations are led by Douglas Aukerman, MD, a sports medicine physician who serves as Director of Sports Medicine for Samaritan Health Services and Senior Associate Athletic Director for sports medicine at OSU.

The center provides diagnostic and treatment services, and serves as a site for student internships, training and research. Samaritan operates the facility on land leased from OSU.

"This project enhances the university's academic and research mission, particularly in the areas of athletic training and exercise and sports science," said Ed Ray, president of Oregon State University, at the dedication ceremony. "We are fortunate to have a comprehensive health care partner in our community that offers board-certified and fellowship-trained sports medicine specialists, as well as a broad complement of professional staff and support for training and research."

OREGON STATE UNIVERSITY

Oregon State is a leading public research university located in Corvallis, one of the safest, smartest, greenest small cities in the nation.

Founded in 1868, Oregon State is the state's Land Grant university and is one of only two universities in the U.S. to have Sea Grant, Space Grant and Sun Grant designations.

As Oregon's leading public research university, with $308.9 million in external funding in the 2015 fiscal year, Oregon State's impact reaches across the state and beyond.

With 11 colleges, 15 Agricultural Experiment Stations, 35 county Extension offices, the Hatfield Marine Science Center in Newport and OSU-Cascades in Bend, Oregon State has a presence in every one of Oregon's 36 counties, with a statewide economic footprint of $2.232 billion.

ACADEMICS

Oregon State University's outstanding faculty and academic programs consistently attract more high achieving students than any other school in Oregon. Oregon State offers more than 200 undergraduate and 100 graduate degree programs through its 11 colleges, the graduate school and the Honors College, one of only a handful of degree-granting honors programs in the U.S.

- The 2016 Fiske Guide to Colleges named Oregon State as one of 44 Best Buy Schools in the nation.
- The Princeton Review placed Oregon State in the top 125 colleges in the western U.S.
- Forbes ranked Oregon State as the number 4 best college town.
- U.S. News & World Report named Oregon State among the "Best Global Universities" (Top 2 percent in the world).
- U.S. News & World Report ranked Oregon State's Ecampus in the top 10 for online bachelor's degree programs.

Dr. Edward J. Ray became president of Oregon State University on July 31, 2003.

Under his leadership, OSU has completed and updated a visionary campus-wide strategic plan that has served as the framework for the university's development in profound and historic ways. Annual research awards and contracts have increased substantially and totaled nearly $285 million in fiscal year 2014.

President Ray partnered with the OSU Foundation to launch the university's first comprehensive fundraising campaign. The public phase launched in October 2007 with an initial goal of $625 million. By the end of the Campaign for OSU on December 31, 2014, its total reached $1.14 billion, including nearly $189 million for scholarships and fellowships, 79 newly endowed faculty positions, and funding for key scientific and learning facilities like the Lois Bates Acheson Veterinary Teaching Hospital, the Hallie Ford Center for Healthy Children and Families, The Linus Pauling Science Center, the International Living Learning Center, a renovated Furman Hall for the College of Education, the Graduate Studies Center at the OSU-Cascades Campus and four new cultural centers.

Mindful of OSU's commitment to the people of Oregon, Dr. Ray has overseen the expansion of dual-enrollment agreements to all 17 of the state's community colleges, making it easier for students to complete four-year degrees. He has also taken a leadership role in fostering a more seamless P-20 system, working with area school superintendents, community college leaders and university colleagues to strengthen institutional connections and enhance the student experience. Dr. Ray has also helped to usher in a new era of partnership and cooperation between Oregon's public universities. In Central Oregon, an effort to expand OSU-Cascades by fall 2015 to a robust four-year branch campus of Oregon State has begun, thanks to strong state and community support and financial investment.

In addition to his work at OSU, Dr. Ray's leadership extends to many organizations. He serves on boards of the American Council on Education and the Association of Public Land-grant Universities and chairs the Association of American Colleges and Universities. In recognition of his contributions to higher education, he received the 2013 CASE District VIII Leadership Award.

Dr. Ray was a member of the economics faculty at Ohio State from 1970-2003, serving as economics department chair from 1976 to 1992. He served as associate provost from May 1992 until May 1993, senior vice provost and chief information officer from 1993-1998, and executive vice president and provost from 1998-2003.

His research interests include the history of protectionism in the United States, the determinants of U.S. foreign direct investment and foreign direct investment in the United States, the structure of tariff and non-tariff trade barriers in the United States and abroad, and the adoption of Social Security. His work has been published in The American Economic Review, The Journal of Political Economy, The Quarterly Journal of Economics, The Review of Economic Studies, The Review of Economics and Statistics, and other leading journals. He has co-authored a principles text, and his book, "U. S. Protectionism and the World Debt Crisis," was published by Quorum Press in 1989.

Dr. Ray received his undergraduate degree in mathematics from Queens College (CUNY) in June 1966, graduating cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa. He earned his master's in economics from Stanford University in 1969 and his doctorate in economics also from Stanford in June 1971.

Dr. Ray's wife Beth passed away in March 2014. He has three children and three grandchildren.

Todd Stansbury was named vice president and director of athletics at Oregon State University June 18, 2015, rejoining the Pac-12 Conference institution after serving as the Beavers' executive associate athletic director from February 2003 to January 2012.

"Todd is committed to high-level athletics achievement by competing and winning championships the right way – the Oregon State way," OSU president Ed Ray said upon Stansbury's hiring. "He is very skilled at growing fan excitement and engagement, and will guide the success of our student-athletes in sports, academics and community."

During his previous tenure at Oregon State, Stansbury was part of the senior leadership team that led a renaissance of Oregon State athletics. The Beavers played in eight bowl games; the baseball team won two College World Series titles; and nearly every program advanced to postseason play while Stansbury was in Corvallis during his first stint. He was also instrumental in fundraising for the $150 million Reser Stadium expansion, the reintroduction of the women's track and field program, the renovation of Goss Stadium at Coleman Field, and the construction of the Sports Performance Center, the Beth Ray Student Success Center, the OSU Boathouse and the Whyte Track and Field Center.

While the 54-year-old Stansbury has led high-profile coaching searches, facility expansion and construction projects during his athletics career, he also has been instrumental as a leader of student-athlete growth on and off the field. He is part of a team that developed several key lifeskills career development initiatives at OSU. These include the Everyday Champions program which encompasses the Leadership Institute, Varsity OSU and the international service program Beavers Without Borders, among others.

Between his tenures at Oregon State, Stansbury served as the vice president and director of athletics at the University of Central Florida in Orlando from March 1, 2012 through June 18, 2015. He led the Knights to a successful transition from Conference USA to the American Athletic Conference where UCF won three titles in its initial year in the new league. Among those three championships was the football team's historic 12-1 season in 2013 that culminated in a No. 10 Associated Press final national ranking after defeating Baylor in the Fiesta Bowl. UCF also was the only Division I program in 2014-15 to win conference titles in football, volleyball, women's soccer and softball.

Academically, UCF teams combined for 15 consecutive terms with a department 3.00 GPA or higher with Stansbury at the helm. Under his leadership, the Knights boasted a 95 percent graduation rate, the top score among public institutions at the Division I level. In addition, he developed the Institute for Student-Athlete Leadership that included Knights Without Borders; resurrected the Varsity Knights program; and partnered with several local and national student-athlete leadership and achievement programs.

Stansbury's first role as a director of athletics came in July of 2000 when he was hired at East Tennessee State University. He initiated and implemented a program-wide strategic plan and reorganization while completing numerous infrastructure and capital projects, including the development of a state-of-the-art golf practice facility and the expansion of the athletic training facility into an out-patient rehabilitation center. In addition to numerous athletic accomplishments, ETSU was recognized by USA Today for increasing the graduation rates of its student-athletes while under his direction.

Stansbury began his professional career as a banker in the asset-based lending division of Citizens and Southern National Bank in Atlanta before returning to the Georgia Institute of Technology (Georgia Tech), his alma mater, as an academic counselor for football in 1988.

As the assistant athletic director for academics at Georgia Tech, he was responsible for the overall development and management of the educational support program for student-athletes. This platform was a major component of the Homer Rice Total Person Program, which was adopted nationally by the NCAA Foundation and Division I-A athletic directors as the NCAA Champs/Life Skills Program. Georgia Tech was consistently recognized nationally for its graduation rates while Stansbury served in this capacity.

In 1995 Stansbury left Georgia Tech to become the global coordinator for the Institute for International Sport. In this capacity he and his wife, Karen, spent 16 months traveling around the world promoting the 1997 World Scholar-Athlete Games and developing a global network of educators, sport organizations and government leaders.

Upon his return to the U.S. in 1996, Stansbury worked for Southern Network Services in Birmingham, Ala., as the manager of internet business services where he developed the business plan for the new internet services division.

He returned to intercollegiate athletics in 1997 at the University of Houston, serving as associate athletic director. His responsibilities included NCAA compliance and student-athlete support services. He also served as the primary liaison to the university's administrative units. Under his direction the student-athlete support program was transformed and recognized by USA Today for increasing graduation rates.

The Oakville, Ontario, native attended Georgia Tech on a football scholarship where he lettered as a linebacker and graduated with a B.S. in industrial management in 1984. He was a third round draft choice of the Saskatchewan Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League. He later completed a M.S. in sports administration at Georgia State University in 1993.

Married to the former Karen Hammond of Easley, S.C., the Stansburys' interest in the outdoors and travel has led to a number of adventures including trekking the Himalayas of Nepal, tracking the mountain gorilla in the Congo (Zaire) and sailing the Whitsunday Islands of Australia.

Stansbury is among the most experienced administrators in the NCAA. His work includes serving on numerous national and conference boards, including the Football Oversight Committee, the American Athletic Conference Finance Committee and several UCF boards.

With his leadership skills, wealth of experience and integrity, Oregon State athletics will continue to be a source of pride for Beaver Nation and be a competitor for conference and national championships while maintaining a strong emphasis on academic excellence.
