HEADLINES

- Temple is coming off a 91-67 loss to #1/1 North Carolina in its season opener at the Veterans Classic. It was the first time the Owls had faced a #1 team in their season opener, and the 17th time overall in program history.
- Senior Devin Coleman made a strong debut in his first start as an Owl, scoring a career and team-high 19 points including 16 in the first half. Coleman was named to the American Conference Weekly Honor Roll for his efforts.
- Senior guard Quenton DeCosey has scored 998 career points, needing just two more to become the 51st player in program history to score 1,000 points.
- Freshman Levan Shawn Alston, Jr., scored 12 points in his collegiate debut vs. #1/1 North Carolina, becoming the first true freshman to score in double figures in his Temple debut since Mark Tyndale in 2004.
- Temple is appearing in the Puerto Rico Tip-Off for a third time, having also participated in 2007-08 and 2011-12. The Owls are 3-3 overall in the tournament.
- For a second year in a row, Temple has been picked to finish sixth of 11 teams in the American Athletic Conference Preseason Poll. Last year, the Owls finished three spots higher in a tie for third.
- The Owls are coming off a 26-11 season that marked the best turnaround in NCAA Division I, as they won 17 more games than in the previous season.
- After barely missing out on an at-large NCAA Tournament berth in 2014-15, the Owls made a run through the NIT all the way to the semifinals at Madison Square Garden, where they fell 60-57 to Miami (FL).
- Head coach Fran Dunphy, now in his 10th season at Temple, was named the American Athletic Conference Coach of the Year in 2015.
- Temple returns three starters from last year's team, including senior forward Jaylen Bond who led the American Athletic Conference with 7.9 rebounds per game. Bond has been chosen as team captain by his teammates, and is the first solo captain in Dunphy's 10 seasons at Temple.
- Dunphy earned his 500th career win when Temple defeated Memphis in The American Tournament quarterfinals, and is now one of just 24 active NCAA Division I coaches with 500 victories.
- The Owls lost American Athletic Conference First Team selection Will Cummings to graduation after the 2014-15 season. Cummings ranked in the top 10 in the conference in scoring (14.8 ppg/3rd), assists (4.2 apg/5th), free throw percentage (.808/3rd), steals (1.9 spg/2nd), assist/turnover ratio (2.1/3rd) and minutes played (34.0/6th).
- Temple surpassed the 20-win mark for a seventh time in Dunphy's tenure in 2014-15.
- The Owls allowed 78.1 ppg in 2013-14 but held opponents to just 61.2 ppg last year. That improvement of 16.9 ppg ranked second among all Division I teams.

TEMPLE VS. MINNESOTA

- Temple and Minnesota are meeting for the sixth time, but the first in over 12 years. The series is tied 2-2, with Minnesota earning a third win in the 1997 NCAA Tournament that was later vacated due to NCAA sanctions.
- The Golden Gophers ousted the Owls from the 2003 NIT in the most recent meeting, winning the quarterfinal meeting 63-58 in OT on March 27, 2003 in Philadelphia.
- Minnesota has won two in a row against Temple, including the 76-57 NCAA Second Round victory on March 16, 1997 that was later vacated.
- The Owls' last win against Minnesota was on Dec. 28, 1971 at home by a score of 60-57.

LAST MEETING: MINNESOTA 63, TEMPLE 58 IN OT (MARCH 27, 2003 - NIT)

- Rick Rickert scored 15 points and had 13 rebounds as Minnesota advanced to the NIT semifinals with a 63-58 overtime win over Temple on March 27, 2003.
- The loss ended an improbable final six weeks for the Owls (18-16), who started the season by losing five in a row and 11 of 14, the worst beginning in program history. Temple ended the season by winning 11 of its last 14.
- Michael Bauer had 12 points and Maurice Hargrow and Kevin Burleson each scored 11 for Minnesota.
- Brian Polk scored 19 points, David Hawkins added 14 and Keith Butler had 10 rebounds for Temple, which was 18-of-67 (30 percent) from the field.
- Minnesota scored the first five points of overtime, with a follow layup by Michael Bauer making it 59-54 with 1:42 left. Temple closed to within three twice but the Gophers were 7-of-12 from the foul line in the extra period to seal the win.
- In the final minute of regulation, the Gophers, holding a one-point lead, lost the ball out of bounds with 34.6 seconds. Hawkins made one of two free throws to tie it with 13.9 seconds remaining and a last second 3-pointer by Ben Johnson was short.
- After the game was tied at 36, there were five lead changes, including an 8-0 run for Minnesota with a jumper by Rickert making it 54-50 with 1:03 left. Polk followed with a 3-pointer with 49.7 seconds left to pull the Owls within one.

TEMPLE MEN'S BASKETBALL

LAST TIME OUT: #1/1 NORTH CAROLINA 91, TEMPLE 67 (NOV. 13, 2015)

- After hanging with #1/1 North Carolina for much of the first half, Temple was unable to keep up down the stretch and lost 91-67 to the Tar Heels in the opening game of the 2015-16 season.
- The contest was part of the Veterans Classic hosted by the Naval Academy, and was played in front of a sold-out crowd of 5,710 at Alumni Hall.
- Senior Devin Coleman led three scorers in double figures for Temple, putting up a career-high 19 points including 16 in the first half. Freshman Levan Shawn Alston, Jr., scored 12 in his debut as an Owl, hitting 5-of-7 from the field including two treys. Senior Quenton DeCosey scored 11 points while senior Jaylen Bond led Temple with eight boards and junior Josh Brown dished six assists to lead all players.
- The Tar Heels got a game-high 25 points from Kennedy Meeks, who hit 10-of-14 from the floor and made it a double-double with a game-high 11 rebounds. Three others also hit double figures for UNC, with another double-double coming from Brice Johnson (16 points, 10 boards).
- The halftime score was 47-36 in favor of the Tar Heels, but was not indicative of a tough first half by the Owls and Coleman. UNC closed the half on a 13-2 run in the final two and a half minutes, making six of its final seven shots from the field.
- Coleman tied his career high in just the first half, scoring 16 points on 4-of-8 shooting from the field and 6-of-6 at the line. Two of his free throws were the first points of the game, and the Owls took a 7-2 lead in the opening three minutes.
- The Tar Heels took their first lead during a 9-0 run near the 14-minute mark and did not trail for the rest of the game. They led 32-28 before Coleman went on to score eight straight points for Temple including a pair of treys, with the second tying the game at 34-34 with 2:52 left in the period. The Owls' only points the rest of the way were two scored on Brown's first bucket of the game with 11 seconds left.
- Temple scored five of the first seven points to open the second half, with Coleman hitting his third three-pointer of the contest. It would be his last bucket, and the Owls had trouble coming up with an answer for UNC for much of the rest of the game.
- Freshman Trey Lowe was a bright spot for Temple near the midway point of the half, scoring eight points in a row including back-to-back three-pointers. Brown made another trey for Temple at 9:52 to cut the deficit to nine, but the Owls would get no closer the rest of the way.
- UNC built a 20-point lead with just under six minutes to go after an 11-0 run. Freshman Ernest Aflakpui stopped the run with his first career points, and Alston then hit back-to-back shots from behind the arc to pull Temple within 14, 78-64 at 4:21. Alston would be the only Owl to score from the field the rest of the way, hitting one more jumper as UNC closed the game on a 13-3 run.

500th Win for Dunphy

Temple head coach Fran Dunphy became the 24th active Division I men's basketball head coach to reach the 500-win mark with the Owls' 80-75 win over Memphis on March 13, 2015. He joined Hall of Fame Owl legend John Chaney as the only two coaches in Philadelphia Big 5 history to record 500 wins. Chaney compiled 516 in his 24 years patrolling the Temple sidelines (1982-2006).

DeCosey Close to 1,000

Temple senior guard Quenton DeCosey has scored 998 points as an Owl, needing just two more to become the 51st player in program history to reach the 1,000-point plateau. DeCosey was Temple's second-leading scorer last season with 12.3 points per game, and ranked second on the team with 51 three-pointers made.

November Mustache

Temple head coach Fran Dunphy is once again regrowing his famed mustache during the month of November to promote awareness of prostate cancer. This is the fifth year that Dunphy has participated in "Movember." Dunphy, who joined the Pennsylvania Iota Phi Kappa Theta Chapter at Temple in April, 2013, is participating in the fraternity's "Movember" drive.

Double-Digit Debut

With his 12 points against #1/1 North Carolina, Levan Shawn Alston, Jr., became the first true freshman to score in double figures in his Temple debut since Mark Tyndale tallied 19 points in an 80-78 home loss to Auburn on Nov. 19, 2004. Redshirt freshman Ramone Moore also scored in double figures with 11 points in 20 minutes in a 79-65 win over East Tennessee State at Charleston Classic on Nov. 14, 2008. Alston's father, Levan Alston, scored six points in 34 minutes off the bench in his first game as an Owl, a 65-54 win over USC at the Martin Luther King Classic in Memphis on November 27, 1994. A transfer from New Orleans, Alston was a junior at the time.

Summer Session

Freshman guards Levan Shawn Alston, Jr., and Trey Lowe are playing their first season at Temple together, but it is not the first time they have been teammates. The Owl duo played together on the AAU squad Team Final Basketball in the summer of 2014.

Jaylen Bond Named 2015-16 Temple Men's Basketball Team Captain

Senior forward Jaylen Bond, the leading returning rebounder in the American Athletic Conference, has been named the Temple men's basketball team captain for the 2015-16 season. Bond becomes the first solo team captain at Temple in Fran Dunphy's 10 seasons at the helm. The last Owl to be a solo captain was David Hawkins during his senior season in 2003-04.

"Jaylen was the consensus choice by a vote of his teammates," said Dunphy, the 2015 American Athletic Conference Coach of Year. "He is everything a coach wants in a captain. He is a hard worker, who leads by example, and most importantly he has earned the respect of his teammates."

Bond, a Philadelphia native (Plymouth-Whitemarsh HS), transferred to Temple prior to the 2013-14 season after playing his first two seasons at the University of Texas. After sitting out his first year at Temple, he averaged 7.6 points and 7.9 rebounds per game while starting 29 of 35 games played. The 6-8 forward was named second team all-Philadelphia Big 5 and honorable mention all-conference. He was second on the team and sixth in conference in steals (1.4 spg).

Liacouras Records

With its win over GW in the NIT Second Round on March 22, 2015, Temple set the record for wins in the Liacouras Center in a single season with 15, and the Owls surpassed the previous record by two with their win over Louisiana Tech in the NIT Quarterfinals. There were two previous seasons (2010-11 and 2012-13) in which the Owls had recorded 14 wins in the arena. The 2012-13 season marked the sixth straight 10-win season for the Owls at home and Temple is 92-21 (.814) at home since the start of the 2007-08 campaign. Above is a list of 10-win seasons in the building (Bold under Dunphy). Temple owns a 186-57 (.765) all-time record at the Liacouras Center.

Puerto Rico Tip-Off History

Temple is playing in the Puerto Rico Tip-Off this week for a third time in program history, having also participated in 2007-08 and 2011-12. The Owls are 3-3 all-time in the tournament. In 2007-08 the Owls narrowly lost to Providence (66-64) and the College of Charleston (79-76) before defeating Marist in OT (73-69). In 2011-12, Temple took down Western Michigan (69-55) and Wichita State (78-74 in OT) but lost to Purdue (85-77).

Regular Season Tournament History

The Owls are 89-68 (.567) overall in regular season tournament play heading into this week's Puerto Rico Tip-Off. Temple will be looking for its first in-season tournament championship since the 1998 Coaches vs. Cancer Classic. Since the Owls' first regular season tournament in 1956-57, they have earned 14 titles.

Alums Return to Fran Dunphy's Staff

Two Temple alums joined head coach Fran Dunphy's staff in the offseason, while a third was promoted within the staff. Chris Clark ('08), who helped lead the Owls to the first of six straight NCAA Tournaments under Dunphy, now serves as video coordinator for the team. Luis Guzman ('10), who played a significant role in three Atlantic 10 Champion teams and made four NCAA Tournament appearances with the Owls, joined the program as a graduate manager. Former basketball manager Raheem Mapp ('09), who has worked with the team in various capacities since 2006, was promoted to director of basketball operations after serving five years as the administrative/video coordinator for the team.

Mascot Double Trouble: Hooter and Stella

Temple Athletics has both a traditional and a live mascot cheering on its teams, as Hooter the Owl and Stella can both often be found on the sidelines. To honor Temple's beginning as a night school for ambitious young people, the nocturnal owl was adopted as its mascot. The owl represents wisdom and knowledge and is known for being perceptive, resourceful and courageous. Hooter the Owl is a part of Temple's Spirit Squad, making appearances games, alumni events and more. Each February, mascots from all over the city of Philadelphia come to Temple to celebrate Hooter's birthday at a home basketball game, which will take place this season on Saturday, Feb. 27 against UCF.

Stella, a great horned owl, began her career as Temple's live mascot in 2013. Though she's small—just 2 feet tall and only 3 pounds—Stella is a mighty predator, with an impressive 60-inch wingspan and talons capable of crushing prey with 28 pounds of force per square inch. She currently resides in the Elmwood Park Zoo in Norristown, Pa., where she also is a wildlife conservation teacher. Stella originally hails from Washington state. Her favorite foods include rodents, rabbits and snakes.

20/20 Vision

Temple recorded its 35th 20-win season in 2014-15. It marked the seventh time (in nine seasons) that head coach Fran Dunphy led the Owls to a 20-win campaign. From 2007-13 Temple recorded six straight 20-win seasons, tying the program record for consecutive 20-win seasons, set under Hall of Fame head coach John Chaney (1995-01). Chaney posted 15 20-win seasons (24 seasons) while fellow Hall of Fame coach Harry Litwack compiled eight (21 seasons).

Chairman of the Boards

Junior forward Jaylen Bond made an immediate impact in his first season at Temple after transferring to the school from Texas. The Philadelphia native led the American Athletic Conference with a 7.9 average. Temple forward Anthony Lee led The American in 2013-14 in rebounding (8.6 rpg). Prior to that, the last Temple player to lead a conference in rebounding was Duane Causwell, who averaged 8.9 boards during the 1988-89 season to top the Atlantic 10 Conference. Tim Perry was the only other Owl to lead the A-10 in rebounding, doing it twice (8.6 rpg in 1986-87; 9.5 rpg in 1985-86).

TEMPLE MEN'S BASKETBALL HEAD COACH FRAN DUNPHY

10TH SEASON • LA SALLE '70 503-272 Overall • 193-109 at Temple

One of 24 active NCAA Division I coaches with 500 victories, Fran Dunphy is in his 10th season at the helm of the Temple men's basketball program. One of the all-time winningest coaches in Philadelphia Big 5 history, Dunphy will become just the fifth coach to win 200 games at two different Division I programs while also taking both schools to six or more NCAA Tournaments. He will join Lou Henson (New Mexico, Illinois), Rick Pitino (Kentucky, Louisville), Eddie Sutton (Arkansas, Oklahoma State) and Roy Williams (Kansas, North Carolina) in this elite club.

A part of Big 5 Basketball for the last six decades, Dunphy starred at La Salle as a player (1967-70) and served on the Explorer staff as an assistant coach before embarking on a 17-year stint as the head coach of the Penn Quakers (1989-06). He became the first person to serve as the head men's basketball coach at two Philadelphia Big 5 institutions when he took over the reins of the Temple program from Hall of Fame coach John Chaney on April 10, 2006.

All he has done at Temple is win. He ranks fourth on the school's all-time coaching win list with a 193-109 record while guiding the Owls to six NCAA Tournaments, three conference titles and a trip to the 2015 NIT Semifinals in his nine years at the helm. His Temple teams have defeated six Top 10 teams in his tenure and have appeared in the Top 25 during 24 weeks.

Dunphy recorded his historic 500th coaching win in impeccable fashion last season by knocking off Memphis, 80-75, in the American Athletic Conference Quarterfinal round on March 13. His overall record stands at 503-272 which includes 16 20-win seasons, 15 NCAA Tournament appearances, 13 conference championships, eight Big 5 titles and one NIT trip.

Named Philadelphia Big 5 Coach of the Year in four of his nine seasons at Temple, Dunphy led his second Owl squad on a late-season run to the Atlantic 10 Championship. He guided the Cherry and White to a 21-13 overall mark in 2007-08, including a second place A-10 regular season finish with an 11-5 conference record. He followed that by directing his charges in 2008-09 to a 22-12 record, 11-5 in league play, and another conference championship.

The 2009-10 season is one that will go down as one of the best in Temple lore. Picked tied for fifth in the A-10 preseason poll, Dunphy motivated his charges to their first A-10 regular season title (9th overall) since 2002 with a 14-2 record. The 2010 A-10 and NABC District Coach of the Year brought the Owls back into the national spotlight with the program's first national ranking since 2001, with the team staying in the polls for 13 consecutive weeks. His Owls would go on to become just the second A-10 team to win three consecutive conference championships while also posting just the fifth perfect Philadelphia Big 5 season in the program's history.

The number one accomplishment achieved by the 2009-10 Temple team, that finished the season with a #12 ranking in the Associated Press poll, was its 29 victories (against six defeats), which ranks third in the school's history.

In 2010-11, Dunphy led the Owls to a 26-8 record, including another 14-2 mark in A-10 play, and a fourth straight trip to the NCAA Tournament. This time the Owls, the 7-seed in West Region, defeated 10th-seeded Penn State, 66-64, in the second round for the program's first NCAA win since 2001. The Cherry and White game second-seeded San Diego State all they could handle in the next game before falling to the #5/6-ranked Aztecs, 71-64, in double-overtime.

It was a great season for Temple as the Owls were ranked among the nation's Top 25 for eight weeks during the season, climbing as high as #19 in the January 10 Associated Press poll. The Owls also overcame mid-February injuries to two starters, closing the season with seven wins in their final 10 games. The only losses in that stretch came to NCAA Sweet 16 participants Duke, Richmond and San Diego State.

In 2011-12, despite losing projected starter Scootie Randall for the season and center Micheal Eric for 13 games, Dunphy guided his charges to a 24-8 mark and the program's first outright A10 regular season title since 1989-90. The Owls finished 13-3 in league play and Dunphy earned his second A10 Coach of the Year honor for his efforts. Temple defeated #3/3 Duke to mark its fourth straight season with a win over a Top 10 opponent, and later cracked the national polls for the third straight year.

Temple, which also shared the Big 5 title, earned an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament for the second straight season, and was the fifth-seed in the NCAA Midwest Region.

In 2012-13, Dunphy again guided the Owls to another 20-plus win campaign with the Cherry and White becoming one of eight teams to compete in the last six straight NCAA Tournaments. Temple also knocked off a Top 10 team, this time #3/3 Syracuse, 83-79, at Madison Square Garden (12/22/12) to extend its current nation's best record to five straight seasons of defeating a Top 10 foe while being unranked at the time.

Temple would finish the campaign with a 24-10 record, advancing to the third round of the NCAA Tournament before narrowly falling to top-ranked Indiana, 58-52. The Owls capped their final season in the Atlantic 10 Conference with a thrilling 84-76 win over #19/21 VCU on CBS to finish tied for third in the league with an 11-5 record.

The program struggled in 2013-14, its first season in the American Athletic Conference. In a classic rebuilding year, the Owls posted a 9-22 record. The Cherry and White did continue its streak of wins over a nationally-ranked program to seven with a 71-64 upset over #23 SMU.

In 2014-15, Dunphy led his team to the best turnaround among all Division I teams, posting 17 more wins than the previous season to finish at 26-11 overall and 13-5 in the conference. A signature win over #10 Kansas was among the total as the Owls posted a 77-52 victory over the Jayhawks at the Wells Fargo Center (12/22).

The Owls finished the regular season 23-10, but were surprisingly left out of the NCAA Tournament. As the #1 overall seed in the NIT, Dunphy, in his time coaching in the tournament, guided Temple to wins over Bucknell, George Washington and Louisiana Tech to reach the semifinals, before falling to Miami at Madison Square Garden. Dunphy was named American Athletic Conference Coach of the Year, marking his third conference coach of the year honor (A-10: 2010, 2012). He also joined Chaney (516) as one of only two coaches to win 500 or more games at Big 5 schools.

One of the most respected coaches in the nation, Dunphy has coached eight Conference Players of the Year, three Conference Rookies of the Year, five perfect Conference seasons and 53 All-Conference honorees.

Prior to joining Penn's coaching staff, Dunphy served as an assistant under Speedy Morris at his alma mater, La Salle University (1985-86 through 1987-88). The Philadelphia native's coaching career began at the United States Military Academy (1971-72), where he served as an assistant under head coach Dan Dougherty. In 1975, he became head coach of his high school alma mater, Malvern Prep. He remained there until becoming Lefty Ervin's assistant at La Salle University (1979-80).

The following year, Dunphy joined current Maryland head coach Gary Williams' staff at American University. He served as an assistant two seasons under Williams, and the final three years under Ed Tapscott, the former head coach of the NBA's Washington Wizards (2008-09). He returned to La Salle in 1985, serving one more season under Ervin and assisting Morris for two seasons. He left La Salle to become Tom Schneider's assistant at Penn in 1988.

In 1989, Dunphy was named the 16th head coach at Penn. He would compile a 310-163 overall record in his 17-year career. His Quaker teams won an unprecedented 48 straight Ivy League games and four league titles from 1992 through 1996. His 1993-94 team posted a 25-3 record and earned a Number 25 ranking in the CNN/USA Today Coaches' Poll, the program's first such ranking since the 1978-79 campaign. That year also included a 90-80 first round upset of sixth-seed Nebraska in the NCAA Tournament.

In his last eight seasons at Penn, Dunphy guided the Quakers to six Ivy League titles and a 93-19 league record. From 1999-2001, he led Penn to 25 straight league wins, including a perfect 14-0 mark in 1999-2000. In 2001-02, Dunphy's Quakers posted a 25-7 record and won the school's first outright city-series title with a perfect 4-0 mark since 1973-74.

A full-time educator on and off the court, Dunphy is in his eighth year teaching in Temple's prestigious Fox School of Business. He is team-teaching an honors course with Dr. Lynne Anderson, entitled, Management, Theory & Practice: From the Locker Room to the Board Room. He previously had served as a lecturer in the Wharton Executive Education program and in the management department of the Wharton School.

Dunphy is one of the leaders in the local Coaches vs. Cancer campaign and was named to the National Council of Coaches vs. Cancer. He was also honored as the 2002 National Coaches vs. Cancer Coach of the Year for his service and tireless dedication to those in need. On September 23, 2008, he joined four other coaches to speak to legislators on Capitol Hill on the need for more funding for cancer research.

The Owl mentor also devotes time to Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Greater Philadelphia's Board of Directors, and his Penn and Temple teams have participated in the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program each year. He is also a member of the Philadelphia CYO Hall of Fame.

A 1970 La Salle graduate with a degree in marketing, Dunphy was an outstanding player under Explorers' head coach Tom Gola. As a junior, he helped the Explorers to a 23-1 record. He served as a co-captain his senior year when he averaged 18.6 ppg and led the team in assists, while also being named the MVP of the annual Quaker City Basketball Tournament. In 1979, he earned a Master's degree in counseling and human relations from Villanova University.

Dunphy and his wife, Ree, reside in Villanova, Pa., with their son, J.P.

Mr. Big Five

Temple head coach Fran Dunphy is synonymous with the Philadelphia Big 5. Dunphy, who lived his first 10 years in Southwest Philadelphia before moving to nearby Drexel Hill, Pa., starred at La Salle from 1967 through 1970. He would later serve as an assistant at his alma mater (1979-80; 1985-88) before taking the assistant coaching job at Penn for the 1988-89 season. After one season he would take over as the Quakers head coach, compiling a 310-163 record in 17 seasons. He is now in his 10th season at Temple. He received a master's degree in counseling from Villanova, and currently resides in Villanova, Pa.

A Man For All Causes

Dunphy has been a major contributor of his time and energy to the American Cancer Society through Coaches vs. Cancer. He has spearheaded the local efforts of the six Division I coaches that have led to raising over $1 million to benefit the American Cancer Society. Named the Coaches vs. Cancer National Coach of the Year for his efforts, Dunphy has helped to steer events in the area such as the Coaches vs. Cancer Golf Outing; the Coaches vs. Cancer Basketball; coordinated open practices with the six area teams and holding a March Madness Breakfast to raise awareness for the cause. He was honored in 2008 as a local hero by Bank of America for his role with Coaches vs. Cancer.

Another cause that Dunphy champions is Big Brothers/Big Sisters. The Owl coach devotes his time to Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Greater Philadelphia by serving on the organization's Board of Trustees. His Penn teams participated in Big Brothers/Big Sisters programs each year during his tenure at the school. His Temple teams have been actively participating in the program the past three seasons.

Dunphy is also a member of the Philadelphia CYO Hall of Fame.

Temple coach Fran Dunphy entered the season ranked 25th among active NCAA Division I coaches in wins with 477, needing just 23 victories this season to join an elite group (85 all-time, 21 active) of coaches with 500 wins while coaching at least a decade at the Division I level. Dunphy reached the 500-win mark when the Owls beat Memphis in the American Tournament quarterfinals, and is now the 24th active Division I coach to record 500 career wins.

Alani Moore and Quinton Rose Sign National Letters of Intent

Temple head basketball coach Fran Dunphy announced Nov. 11 the signing of two highly-touted recruits, Alani Moore and Quinton Rose, to National Letters of Intent.

"We are excited to welcome Alani and Quinton to the Temple Basketball family," said Dunphy. "These are not only talented young men on the court, but outstanding citizens who will be a great fit as teammates. They will play a big part in helping the program continue its storied history of success."

Moore, a 5-10, 150-pound point guard, will play at Friendship Collegiate Academy (Washington, D.C.) this season after starring at Montrose Christian in 2014-15. The Hyattsville, Md., native averaged 17.4 points per game for Montrose as junior to earn first team All-Met honors.

Rose, a 6-6, 175-pound guard out of Bishop Kearney in Rochester, N.Y., averaged 15.4 points, seven rebounds and seven assists during the 2014-15 season. The three-year varsity performer earned a spot on the 15-player Democrat and Chronicle All-Greater Rochester Team in 2015.

Giant Killers

When Temple defeated #3/3 Syracuse on Dec. 12, 2012 (83-79), it marked the fifth straight season in which the unranked Owls had taken down a Top 10 opponent. That feat did not occur during the 2013-14 season, but Temple has now achieved it in six of the last eight seasons after a 77-52 defeat of #10/10 Kansas on Dec. 22. The win vs. the Jayhawks came two years to the day after the Syracuse win.

The Kansas win gave the Owls a victory over a Top 25 team for an eighth season in a row, and was the sixth win over a Top 10 team for head coach Fran Dunphy.

On Dec. 13, 2008, Dionte Christmas scored 35 points to lead the Owls to an 88-72 win over #8/8 Tennessee. On Dec. 13, 2009, Juan Fernandez delivered a career-high 33 points in a 75-65 win over #3/3 Villanova. On Dec. 9, 2010, Ramone Moore exploded for a career-high 30 points in a 68-65 win over #9/10 Georgetown. On Jan. 4, 2012, it was Khalif Wyatt scoring 22 points to propel the Owls to a 78-73 win over #3/5 Duke. Wyatt did it again with a career-high 33 points in the win over the Orange in 2012.

Temple had three opportunities to keep the streak alive last season (Feb. 1 vs. #9/9 Villanova, Feb. 14 vs. #13/8 Louisville and Feb. 27 vs. #7/4 Louisville) but the Owls were unable to come out with a win in any of the three.

Big 5 History

The Owls earned a share of their 27th Big 5 title in 2012-13, with that total (21 shared, six outright) leading the Big 5. Temple's 132-92 record in city series games ranks second, and the Owls have won four Big 5 titles in head coach Fran Dunphy's eight seasons. Temple finished 2-2 in Big 5 play last season with wins over Penn and La Salle, a narrow, 58-56 loss to Saint Joseph's and finally a loss to #7/7 Villanova. The Wildcats earned the Big 5 title in 2014-15 with a perfect 4-0 record.

For Three

Temple has made at least one three-pointer in 641 consecutive games. The last time the Owls did not make a three-pointer in a game was February 1, 1996. Temple missed all 16 three-point attempts that day in dropping a 59-35 decision to #1 UMass at McGonigle Hall.

On the Radio

For the 15th straight year Temple men's basketball will be broadcast live on 1210 AM WPHT. All the Owls' games will be carried on the radio with Harry Donahue handling play-by-play and John Baum providing color commentary.

Hometown Hero

Redshirt sophomore Daniel Dingle returned to his high school, St. Raymond's, Jan. 25 to have his Temple jersey hung in the gym. Dingle is one of 36 former St. Raymond's players to go on and play at NCAA Division I schools and his jersey joins his brother's, Dana Dingle, who starred at UMass from 1992-96.

DIVISION I IMPROVEMENTS IN OPPONENT POINTS PER GAME

Temple's defense, which allowed 78.1 points per game in 2013-14, held opponents to just 61.2 points per game in 2014-15. That differential of 16.9 ppg ranked second among all teams in NCAA Division I.

Training Techniques

Temple head coach Fran Dunphy employed some unique training methods this off-season to make sure his team was mentally and physically ready for the upcoming season. The Owls worked out at the Joe Hand Boxing Gym in Philadelphia for four sessions in July. The team even was counseled by World Champion Bernard Hopkins, who trains at the gym. The Owls then had cross-fit and spinning training workouts in the summer to improve their cardiovascular fitness before embarking on hour-long yoga sessions the last three weeks to work on their mental approach.

Trio of Tens

Temple posted its 10th win before January 1 for a third time under head coach Fran Dunphy last season and just the fifth time in program history. Besides the 2014-15 season, Dunphy's 2012-13 Owls, which finished 24-10, and 2009-10 squad (29-6) also accomplished the feat. Both of those teams advanced to the NCAA Tournament. Hall of Fame coaches John Chaney (1986-87 team, 32-4, NCAA) and Harry Litwack (1965-66, 21-7, NIT) each accomplished the feat once.

Flipping the Stats

At the conclusion of the 2013-14 season, Temple was last in The American in scoring defense and field goal percentage defense, as well as eighth among 10 teams in three-point field goal percentage defense. The Owls' offseason work on the defensive end was obvious last season, as Temple ranked third, fourth or fifth among 11 teams in all three categories. Only seven of the Owls' 36 opponents scored over 70 points, with 19 others scoring 60 points or less.

Handle With Care

Temple proved adept at taking care of the ball last season, and the Owls led the conference and ranked eighth among all Division I teams in fewest turnovers at 9.5 per game. Temple topped The American in turnover margin (+2.8) and assist/turnover ratio (1.3), with senior guard Will Cummings ranking third individually in assist/turnover ratio at 2.1. The Owls committed fewer than 10 turnovers in 20 of their 37 games including 13 of the last 17.

Bright Lights

At least 29 national television games highlight Temple's 2015-16 schedule. Temple will appear on ESPN entities a total of at least 21 times during the course of the season.

Record-Setting Defense

Temple's stifling defense held Tulane to a Liacouras Center record-low eight points in the first half of a 55-37 win on Jan. 31. It was the lowest scoring total in a half for any team ever in the building. Tulane's 37 points matched the lowest total for an opponent in the Fran Dunphy era, with the Owls also achieving that feat against American in the 2014-15 season opener. For the program, it marked the first time since the 1993-94 season that Temple had held two opponents to under 40 points in the same season.

Going Overtime

Temple is 56-47 overall in overtime contests and has won 14 of its last 18 overtime tilts. Prior to the 2013-14 season's Dec. 7 OT loss vs. Texas, the Owls had won five straight OT games dating back to a double overtime loss to San Diego State (71-64) in the third round of the 2011 NCAA Tournament. TU had won 12 straight single OT games dating back to a 73-69 win over Marist (11/18/08).

The Owls won their only overtime game of the 2014-15 season, a 57-53 decision at defending NCAA champion UConn in the American Athletic Conference opener on Dec. 31.

Practice Palace

Temple's $10 million basketball practice facility was completed in January, 2012, and the Donald and Nancy Resnick Court was officially dedicated on October 5. Part of the $48 million renovation to Pearson and McGonigle Halls, the new state-of-the-art facility, features separate courts for the Owls' men's and women's basketball teams.

A Dynamic Duo

Temple has two Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame coaches. The first inductee was Harry Litwack, who coached the Owls from 1952 to 1973 and registered 373 wins. Litwack was inducted on April 26, 1976. John Chaney, who retired March 12, 2006 after 24 seasons and 516 wins at Temple, was inducted on October 5, 2001. Temple is only one of nine universities who have two coaches in the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame. The center jump circle at the Liacouras Center is jointly named in honor of these two coaching legends.
