The Nation's Oldest Collegiate Football Stadium

Just how old is Franklin Field? Consider that when the oldest ballpark in professional baseball, Fenway Park, opened in 1912, Franklin Field was already 17 years old. Wrigley Field didn't open until 1914. The next-oldest college stadium, Harvard Stadium, opened in 1904; the oldest stadium in pro football, Soldier Field, was first used in 1924—nearly three full decades after the opening of Franklin Field. Fans have been watching Penn Football from the corner of 33rd and Spruce since the Quakers defeated Swarthmore 40-0 in the stadium's first game on Oct. 1, 1895. Below is a brief list of the experiences enjoyed by the millions of fans who have passed through the Franklin Field gates:

Franklin Field By the Numbers (Entering 2011):

813 - Penn Football games have been played here
545 - all-time Penn wins opposed to 237 losses and 31 ties
116 - Penn Football seasons played here
23 - undefeated home seasons for the Quakers
15 - Ivy League title celebrations
13 - seasons as home to the Philadelphia Eagles (1958-70)
5 - home winning streaks of 16 or more games
2 - Hollywood movies filmed here (Invincible, Unbreakable)

Opened in 1895, Franklin Field is home of the first:

- Scoreboard (1895)
- Permanent collegiate horseshoe stadium (1903)
- Two-tiered football stadium in the nation (1925)
- Stadium capacity of more than 78,000 (1925)
- Neutral Army-Navy game (1899)
- College football radio broadcast (1922)
- College football telecast (1940)
- Episode of ABC's World Wide of Sports (1961)

1895
Site of the first stadium scoreboard

Stands are built at the stadium's current location at 33rd and Spruce Streets. The stadium is opened for the Penn Relays, and football plays its first game there on Oct. 1, 1895, a 40-0 win over Swarthmore.

1899
Site of first neutral Army-Navy game

Army defeated Navy by a score of 17-5 at Franklin Field on Dec. 2, 1899 in the first neutral-site game ever played between the two storied rivals.

1903
Site of the original horseshoe

In 1903, in response to inadequate seating for big games, wooden stands in the stadium were replaced by a brick horseshoe, seating 20,000 fans and making Franklin Field the first permanent horseshoe college stadium.

1922

ALSO HOME TO....

Over its 115-year history, Franklin Field, which was home to the NFL's Philadelphia Eagles from 1958-1970, has hosted football, track and field, field hockey, lacrosse, soccer, sprint football, baseball, rugby, cricket, commencements, concerts, Presidential speeches and drum corps competitions. It has hosted the NFL, CFL, USFL, Army-Navy games, and NCAA championships in men's and women's lacrosse and field hockey. More than 100,000 fans visit every April for the Penn Relays. It was the site of the Philadelphia Eagles' last NFL championship in 1960, Vince Lombardi's only NFL playoff loss, the first CFL game ever played on American soil, and it has hosted more Army-Navy games than any other existing stadium (18). Franklin Field has even been immortalized in film—scenes from the recent Hollywood blockbusters "Invincible" and "Unbreakable" were filmed there.

ROBERT J. LEFORT W'48 FOOTBALL OFFICE COMPLEX

In the summer of 2006, the Penn football offices underwent a major renovation thanks to a gift from Robert LeFort in honor of his father, Jack LeFort, W'48. The new office complex, located in historic Weightman Hall, gives improved working space to all of the program's coaches and support staff. In addition, a large lounge was created with views overlooking Franklin Field. Space was also created to showcase Penn's football history, including photo displays of each Ivy League championship team. The second phase, completed over the summer of 2007, created conference rooms and more offices to complete the state-of-the-art facility.

The University of Pennsylvania

One of America's finest universities, the University of Pennsylvania's greatness lies not in its longevity, but in its culture and achievements.

At Penn, you will find a historic Ivy League school with highly selective admissions and a history of innovation in interdisciplinary education and scholarship. However, you will also find a picturesque campus amidst a dynamic city and a world-class research institution.

Penn continues to carry on the principles and spirit of its founder, Benjamin Franklin—entrepreneurship, innovation, invention, outreach, and a pragmatic love of knowledge. Franklin's practical outlook has remained a driving force in the University's development.

Penn traces its origins to 1740, when a group of Philadelphians established a trust for the instruction of children in a charity school. In 1750, Benjamin Franklin combined this trust with his Public Academy of Philadelphia, founded the year before. This institution, chartered in 1755 as the "College, Academy and Charitable School of Philadelphia," became the first in the country to formally bear the name "University." Today, the Penn campus has 151 buildings on 269 acres of land in West Philadelphia and is the largest institution of higher learning in the city.

Penn is home to a diverse student body of more than 10,000 undergraduates, hailing from every state in the union and all around the globe. Admissions are among the most selective in the country, and Penn consistently ranks among the top 10 universities in the annual U.S. News & World Report survey. Another 10,000-plus students are enrolled in Penn's 12 graduate and professional schools, which are national leaders in their fields. The Wharton School is consistently one of the nation's top three business schools. The School of Nursing is one of the two best in the U.S. The School of Arts and Sciences, Graduate School of Education, Law School, School of Medicine and School of Veterinary Medicine all consistantly rank among the top-10 schools in their fields.

Amy Gutmann, Ph.D.
President

Now entering her eighth year at the West Philadelphia campus, Dr. Amy Gutmann became the eighth president of the University of Pennsylvania on July 1, 2004.

As President, she has created an all-grant, no-loan undergraduate financial aid policy and increased undergraduate financial aid by 78 percent; recruited eminent teacher-scholars who hold joint appointments between two schools; expanded Penn's campus while increasing its green space by 20 percent, and championed civic engagement domestically and globally, with Penn named a No. 1 "Good Neighbor" in 2009.

An eminent political scientist and philosopher, Dr. Gutmann is the Christopher H. Browne Distinguished Professor of Political Science in the School of Arts and Sciences with secondary faculty appointments in Philosophy, the Annenberg School for Communication, and the Graduate School of Education at Penn. She has authored and edited 15 books, published more than 100 articles, essays, and book chapters, and continues to teach and write on ethics and public policy, deliberative democracy, and education. She was named by President Barack Obama as chair of the Presidential Commission for the Study of Bioethical Issues in 2009, and is a member of the Global Colloquium of University Presidents, which advises the Secretary General of the United Nations on a range of issues, including the social responsibility of universities.

Prior to Penn, Dr. Gutmann served at Princeton University as Provost, Dean of the Faculty, the Laurance S. Rockefeller University Professor of Politics, and founding Director of the University Center for Human Values. Gutmann is a former President of the American Society of Political and Legal Philosophy, a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the W. E. B. ## Steve Bilsky W'71
Athletics Director

Now in his 18th year at his alma mater, Steve Bilsky has created a rich environment for student-athletes to thrive athletically and academically. During his tenure, 86 Penn teams have earned conference championships in 22 different sports. Penn has been honored with more than 339 Academic All-Ivy honorees, 33 Ivy League Players of the Year, and 113 All-Americans.

To support that success, Bilsky has made efforts to secure the best facilities and coaching for Penn. Since raising $800,000 in 1994, Penn Athletics has nearly quadrupled the athletic department's annual Weightman Fund. In addition, Penn Athletics has built or renovated nearly 20 facilities, most recently the state-of-the-art George A. Weiss Pavilion which was completed in 2010, and Penn Park which was completed in September.

In terms of personnel, the department has received specific donations to endow 10 head coaching positions as well as the Penn Relays directorship.

Bilsky has also raised Penn's profile nationally, as during his tenure the University has been the host institution for six NCAA Championship events.

In 1996, Bilsky formed the Penn Athletics Hall of Fame; a total of seven classes have been inducted, the latest in May 2010.

Before returning to Penn in 1994, Bilsky was executive director of the Department of Athletics and Recreation at George Washington University. Prior to that, he was assistant director of athletics at Penn (1979-83). His educational background includes a Master's degree in counseling psychology from the Oregon in 1975, and a bachelor's in economics from Penn's Wharton School in 1971.

A basketball standout, Bilsky was a three-time All-Ivy guard and captained a Penn team that was arguably the greatest in program history—in 1970-71, the Quakers went undefeated through the regular season and NCAA Tournament before falling in the Regional final. Bilsky is a member of the Philadelphia Big 5 Hall of Fame (1988), the Penn Athletic Hall of Fame (1998), and the Philadelphia Jewish Sports Hall of Fame (2002).

Bilsky's wife, Sue, is a 1975 graduate of the Penn College of Arts and Sciences and the Graduate School of Education. She also holds a Master's degree from Wharton. Their son, Jeff, and daughter, Katie, both recently graduated from Penn.

Penn Athletics Mission Statement

The University of Pennsylvania is dedicated to providing a wide array of athletic opportunities on both the intercollegiate and recreational levels, which will enhance and enrich the educational experience of our students, as well as provide recreational and fitness facilities and activities for the entire University community. Penn Athletics is committed to conducting a program that is consistent with the educational purposes of the University of Pennsylvania and the principles of the Ivy Group Agreement, ECAC and NCAA.

Penn Athletics supports a wide range of athletic opportunities in which student-athletes can participate, excel and achieve, both as individuals and on behalf of the institution. Penn Athletics also supports a program that is representative of the student body and serves the diverse interests of both male and female student-athletes, while fostering individual balance between the academic and athletic experience. We encourage the highest standards of competition for our intercollegiate teams that includes conducting our affairs within the moral and ethical principles of the University and the spirit of fair play.

Penn Athletics is also committed to presenting an environment for our coaching and administrative staff that provides for equitable opportunity in professional and personal growth. In addition, we focus our allocation of resources such that the priorities of the Athletic Department are fostered and encouraged to develop. We are also dedicated to the promotion of a shared experience with the University community, alumni and friends which help form the foundation of a lifelong relationship between the individual and the University.

Quaker Mascot
Penn's sports teams are nicknamed the Quakers after the religion adopted by William Penn, who established Pennsylvania as a Quaker province. Today, we see the Quaker at Penn football and basketball games. In the 1920s, a proposal was made to change the Quaker mascot to the Penguin, but the students found the animal was too weak as a representative.

Penn Songs
"The Red and the Blue" is probably the most well-known Penn song, and is sung at the end of many Penn events. It was written in 1896 and places the origins of Penn's colors as a combination of those of the best of her rivals. Arm motions accompany the song's refrain. Other popular songs include "Fight On, Pennsylvania!" and "Drink a Highball."

The Button
Created by Claes Oldenberg and installed in front of Van Pelt Library in 1981, the Button is 16 feet in diameter, weighs 5,000 pounds, and is cast in reinforced aluminum. Oldenberg once told the Philadelphia Inquirer that "the Split represents the Schuylkill. It divides the button into four parts — for William Penn's original Philadelphia squares."

Spring Fling
Since the 70s, Spring Fling has been the ultimate student festival at Penn. Beginning in 1972, with an attendance between ten and fifteen thousand, students descend onto the Quad, Hill Square, College Green, and Wynn Commons to dance, eat, party, and enjoy a day full of surprises. Each Spring Fling consists of a carnival with games and events, a concert hosting high-profile bands, and the Quad concerts, which showcase some of the hottest local bands and performers.

Hey Day
In 1916, Hey Day was established as a "Moving-Up" celebration - a formal day to mark the advancement of each class. In recent decades, Hey Day, which is unique to Penn, represents the official passage of the junior class to senior status and is characterized by thousands of marching students parading around campus sporting fake straw hats, red t-shirts and canes.

The Red and Blue

Come all ye loyal classmen now,
in hall and campus through,
Lift up your hearts and voices for the royal Red and Blue.
Fair Harvard has her crimson,
Old Yale her colors too.
But for dear Pennsylvania,
we wear the Red and Blue.

Chorus:
Hurrah! Hurrah! Pennsylvan-I-ah!
Hurrah for the Red and Blue!
Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah!
Hurrah for the Red and Blue!

Fight On!

Fight on, Pennsylvania!
Put the ball across that line.
Fight you Pennsylvanians!
There it goes across this time.
Red and blue we're with you
And we're cheering for your men.
So it's fight, fight, fight Pennsylvania
Fight on for Penn!

Toast Throwing
Toast throwing is one of the most unique sporting traditions in which crowds of Quakers fans perform as a sign of school pride. After the third quarter of home football games, fans unite in the singing of "Drink a Highball." As the last line is sung—"Here's a toast to dear old Penn"—the fans toss toasted bread to the sidelines. The act of throwing toast was adopted after alcohol was banned from the stadium in the 1970s. Students turned towards bread, and even bagels, so that they could continue to raise a "toast" to Penn.

2011 Coaches and Staff

In the case of the George A. Munger Head Coach of Football Al Bagnoli, the numbers don't lie. As the winningest active coach in the NCAA Football Championship Subdivision (FCS), the winningest coach in Ivy League history, the only Ivy coach to ever capture eight outright titles, the winningest coach in Penn's 134-year football history and one of just six coaches in FCS history to record 200 career wins, Bagnoli is clearly one of the living legends in his sport.

Entering his 20th season at the helm of the Quakers, Coach Bagnoli has now logged back-to-back undefeated Ivy League seasons three separate times—no other coach has ever accomplished the feat on even one occasion. With another 7-0 Ivy campaign in 2010, Bagnoli now lays claim to more outright Ivy titles than any other program has in its entire history.

Bagnoli currently stands at 217 career wins, which are oppossed by just 76 losses. His career winning percentage (74.1%) is tops among active FCS coaches. The Quakers captured the 200th career win in Bagnoli's illustrious career in the final week of the 2008 campaign. There have been only five other FCS coaches in NCAA history to have accomplished that feat. The Central Connecticut State alumnus has accumulated 131 of those wins at Penn (school record) and 97 (third all-time) against Ivy opponents. His .729 winning percentage against Ivy opposition is better than any other coach in the history of the league.

Last year, Bagnoli, who has had just one losing campaign in 19 years at Penn, guided the 2010 Quakers through some extraordinary adversity. Prior to the season, captain Owen Thomas and longtime coach Dan "Lake" Staffieri each passed away in April. Despite the turbulent offseason and a season of reminders, Bagnoli led the Quakers to nine wins in 10 games—their only loss coming late in the fourth quarter at No. 1 Villanova. In one of the most emotional season openers in team history, the Quakers rallied to top Lafayette, 19-14, claiming the program's 800th all-time win and becoming just the third school in FCS history to reach that mark. At Bucknell on Oct. 9, Bagnoli became the winningest coach in Penn history when he broke George Woodruff's 109-year-old school record with his 125th win along the Penn sideline. Six weeks later, the Quakers raised the trophy after a second straight undefeated Ivy campaign. Penn also finished the year ranked in the Top 25 for the second straight season with a finish of No. 16 in the coaches poll and No. 18 in the media poll.

The Bagnoli Era - The Early Years

Each season Bagnoli finishes at the helm of the Red and Blue is yet another season's worth of proof for historians that the Bagnoli Era could be the greatest in the program's 134 years. It could be argued that Munger or Woodruff turned in more successful reigns at the helm of the Red and Blue. However, its a tough argument when looking at the facts — eight outright Ivy League championships, 131 overall victories, 97 Ancient Eight wins and the FCS' longest-ever winning streak.

The story begins just two days into the calendar year 1992, when on a cold Philadelphia winter's day Bagnoli was introduced as the 21st head coach of the Red and Blue. His mission was to restore the pride of a program that, despite winning six Ivy banners in 10 seasons, had slipped with three consecutive losing campaigns.

Bagnoli did not disappoint the Penn faithful, immediately guiding the Quakers to a 7-3 overall record and a 5-2 third-place finish in the Ivy League, the Red and Blue's highest in four years. It was also the second-best turnaround in program history and a sign of things to come. One year later, in 1993, Penn returned to the top of the Ancient Eight for the first time in five years, as the second-year coach navigated Penn to just the ninth undefeated campaign in program history (10-0 overall and 7-0 Ivy), and first since 1986.

For an encore, Bagnoli led the Red and Blue to its second-straight perfect season (9-0 overall and 7-0 Ivy) in 1994, making him only the second coach in program history to accomplish that feat (George Woodruff was the first in 1894 and 1895). His back-to-back Ivy championships were Penn's first multiple titles since winning a record five-straight from 1982 to 1986.

Success Came Early and Often

When the smoke finally cleared from the Quakers' early ride under Bagnoli, they had posted a 24-game winning streak dating from Nov. 30, 1992 to Sept. 30, 1995, which still stands as an FCS record (Montana tied, but failed to break it in 2002). Ivy championship number three under Bagnoli came in 1998 and marked a trend of three-straight trips to Ithaca, N.Y., in which Penn returned with the Ivy trophy. Bagnoli clinched his fourth Ivy League crown after a convincing 45-15 victory over Cornell at Schoellkopf Field on Nov. 18, 2000. The win not only gave him his fourth Ancient Eight title, but also marked the eighth time in his 11 years at Penn that one of his teams won at least seven games in a season.

His fifth banner came in 2002 and signaled the Red and Blue's third championship in five years. Penn posted its third nine-win season under Bagnoli in the process. Penn's sixth Ivy title under Bagnoli and 13th overall capped a revisit to perfection, as the Quakers finished 10-0 in 2003 and 7-0 in the Ancient Eight for the second-straight season. The Class of 2004 ended its reign in West Philadelphia with a 26-2 Ivy mark and were unscathed at Franklin Field in 19 contests, the only class to leave Penn unbeaten in Franklin Field.

During His Watch

In addition to the team's success, Bagnoli's players have also reaped many benefits during his 19 years as head coach. Among the players to have put on the Red and Blue for Bagnoli, three have been drafted into the National Football League, 13 have signed NFL free agent contracts, five have been named Asa A. Bushnell Cup winners as the Ivy League's Most Valuable Player, two were tabbed as the Ancient Eight's Rookie of the Year, seven were named first-team All-America, four earned NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships, and 152 players have been All-Ivy League selections.

Keeping It In the Family

Bagnoli and his wife, Maryellen, reside in Mt. Laurel, N.J. Their oldest son, Jeff, graduated in 2003 from the College of Arts and Sciences at Penn, while youngest son Greg graduated from the College in the spring of 2005. Both lettered and served as captains for the sprint football team at Penn, and also played on the club ice hockey team. Jeff was a member of the Quakers' 2000 undefeated sprint football championship team, while both won a title on the club hockey team in 2002. Bagnoli's daughter, Amanda, graduated from the University in 2008 and was a member of the Quakers' cheerleading team.

Reading Into The Numbers

You only need to look at the dizzying numbers over Bagnoli's 29-year career to know why he stands apart from his peers.

His 97 Ivy League victories rank him first among active Ancient Eight head coaches and fourth all-time in League history.

He has never shared a title. Bagnoli has won eight outright Ivy League championships—most all-time—and the eight overall titles are second-most to Yale's Carm Cozza (10 from 1965-96).

The 2010 season did not just mark another championship year, but also another undefeated Ivy campaign for the Quakers under Bagnoli, his sixth at Penn (1993, 1994, 2002, 2003, 2009, 2010). It also marked the third occasion of back-to-back undefeated Ivy titles under Bagnoli. No other coach in Ivy history has ever led a team to back-to-back perfect seasons in League play on even one occasion.

Bagnoli broke a 109-year-old school record when he won his 125th game at Bucknell on Oct. 9, 2010 and passed legendary Hall of Fame coach George Woodruff (1892-1901) as the school's all-time winningest football coach. Only eight other Ivy League head coaches have recorded 100-plus wins at an Ancient Eight school; seven have been elected to the College Football Hall of Fame.

Penn's dominance under Bagnoli is no more evident than at Franklin Field, where the Red and Blue hold two winning streaks of 16 games or greater under the current head coach. The Quakers rattled off 16 victories at home from Oct. 17, 1992 to Oct. 21, 1995 and won 19 games in a row from Sept. 23, 2000 to Nov. 22, 2003. Bagnoli is 71-25 all-time at Franklin Field.

Penn set an NCAA record with an even more impressive streak that carried Bagnoli and the Quakers through nearly three seasons. The program won 24 consecutive games between 1993-95, winning back-to-back undefeated Ivy titles in 1993 and 1994.

He possesses a winning record against all seven Ivy League teams, and 16 of the 20 teams his Quakers have faced during his tenure. Another number that shouts for attention is 12 — where Penn finished in the I-AA polls after the 2003 season. The Quakers were ranked 16th after last season and 20th after the 2009 campaign.

Ray Priore
Defensive Coordinator/
Associate Head Coach
25th Season
Albany '85

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS
1988, 1993, 1994, 1998, 2000, 2002, 2003, 2009, 2010

With back-to-back titles in 2009 and 2010, Ray Priore has now been a part of nine Ivy League championships at Penn. He is the veteran of the Red and Blue coaching staff as he enters his 25th year on the Quakers sideline in 2011. The 2010 season marked his 13th season as Penn's defensive coordinator and secondaries coach, and his sixth as the associate head coach.

Throughout Priore's tenure, the defense has been a traditional strength for the Quakers and has been especially key during each of Penn's Ivy League championship seasons.

In 2010, for the third straight season, the Quakers led the Ivy League in scoring defense and rushing defense. Penn ranked No. 1 in the nation in rush defense and No. 2 in the country in scoring defense. Penn also led the Ivies in sacks and tackles for loss for the second straight year.

The year prior, Priore finished as runner-up for the 2009 National Coordinator of the Year award after guiding Penn's defense to the top of the FCS. How dominant were the Quakers?

* Penn finished the season ranked No. 1 in the nation in total defense, allowing just 217.6 points per game.

* The Quakers were tops in the country in scoring defense as the only team in the country that gave up less than 10 points per game.

* The 2009 season marked the fewest points allowed by a Penn defense in a 10-game season since 1927.

* Penn gave up no more than seven points in any of the last five games, and gave up a total of just 10 points in the fourth quarter.

* At home, Penn's defense gave up just two touchdowns all season and just 17 total points in five games (3.2 per game).

* During one stretch, Penn's defense held opponents scoreless for 183 minutes, 42 seconds—a span of more than 12 quarters without giving up a single point.

* The Quakers led the Ivy League in every major defensive category and were second in the FCS in rushing defense and pass efficiency defense. In all, Penn finished in the top 10 in the nation in eight defensive categories.

* Penn was the least penalized team in all of Division I.

* Penn led the nation in red zone defense. The opposition did not score on half of its possessions. In fact, on 22 attempts, opponents had almost as many turnovers (five) as touchdowns (seven).

Twenty-nine members of Priore's defense have been named first-team All-Ivy over the past eight seasons, including 12 members of the secondary. Most recently, linebacker Jake Lewko was recognized as the 2009 Co-Ivy League MVP and signed with the NFL's Tennessee Titans following the 2010 NFL Draft. In addition, four members of Priore's secondary have signed NFL free agent contracts and 33 members of Priore's secondaries have been named to the All-Ivy teams in the past eight seasons.

Priore resides in Mt. Laurel, N.J., with his daughter, Jenna.

Jon McLaughlin
Offensive Coordinator/
Offensive Line
Sixth Season
Alfred '91, Iowa '03

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS
2009, 2010

With 15 years of coaching experience under his belt, Jon McLaughlin enters his sixth season coaching Penn's offensive line and his third season as offensive coordinator.

In his first two seasons as offensive coordinator, Penn has yet to lose a league contest. In 2010, the Quakers led the league in rushing for the first time in 12 years and finished sixth in the FCS with 242.0 yards per game. For the first time since 2003, the Red and Blue also finished atop the Ivy League in total offense and scoring offense. The Quakers averaged 32.9 points per game against Ivy opponents.

In his first five seasons in West Philadelphia, McLaughlin's offensive line has finished atop the Ivy League in fewest sacks allowed four times—placing second on the other occasion. McLaughlin has coached a Penn lineman to first-team All-Ivy status in each of his four seasons, and has had one disciple reach the NFL.

In his first year at the helm of the Red and Blue's offense, Penn finished unbeaten in league play to earn the outright Ivy League title—all despite losing three starting quarterbacks to injury. By season's end, Penn's starting quarterback, running back, tight end and top wide receiver each earned All-Ivy recognition.

In 2008, the Quakers sported an All-Ivy first-teamer on the offensive line in Chris Kovalcik as the Quakers were second in the Ivy League in fewest sacks. A year earlier, only four other teams in the country allowed fewer sacks than McLaughlin's offensive line, while in 2006 he directed another dominant line that allowed just 10 sacks and aided a 1,000-yard rusher in Joe Sandberg. Three of its five members — Sean Estrada, Marko Grzan and Andrew Wietstock — earned All-Ivy recognition, and Estrada went on to sign a free agent contract with the San Francisco 49ers.

McLaughlin came to Philadelphia from the University of Iowa, where he spent six years. McLaughlin coached in five bowl games with the Hawkeyes, including four consecutive January bowls. He was heavily involved in several of Iowa's top-25 recruiting classes throughout his tenure.

During his time on the staff at Iowa, the Hawkeyes finished ranked in the top 10 three times. McLaughlin worked with six offensive linemen who were drafted into the NFL, three All-Americans, two Big Ten Linemen of the Year, and the 2003 Outland Trophy winner (Robert Gallery - second overall selection in the 2004 NFL draft).

McLaughlin coached at the high school level in 1991, serving as offensive and defensive line coach at Watkins Glen High School in Watkins Glen, N.Y. He was a four-year starter on the defensive line at Alfred University, earning his bachelor's degree in economics in 1991. McLaughlin also earned his master's degree in recreational sports management from Iowa in 2003.

Jim Schaefer
Defensive Line
20th Season
St. Lawrence '80

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS
1993, 1994, 1998, 2000, 2002, 2003, 2009, 2010

An eight-time Ivy League champion, Jim Schaefer has been a fixture on Al Bagnoli's coaching staffs for 30 seasons, first at Union College and now at Penn, where he is second on the Red and Blue coaching staff with 19 years of service.

In 2010, the Quakers finished with the best rushing defense in the nation and, for the second straight year, led the Ivy League in sacks. Schaefer's defensive line produced three All-Ivy honorees—Brandon Copeland was a first-team recipient, Drew Goldsmith was a second-team selection, and Brian Wing earned honorable mention status. Behind that group, the Red and Blue also led the Ivy League in total defense and scoring defense.

The 2009 season was one of Penn's best from the perspective of the defensive line. As part of the nation's No. 1 ranked defense, the Red and Blue finished atop the Ivy League and seventh in the country with 31 sacks. With much thanks to the front line, Penn also finished atop the Ancient Eight and second in the nation against the run. Joe Goniprow, who earned preseason All-America recognition, was a first-team All-Ivy selection.

Schaefer's squad contained opponents proficiently in 2008 as well, ranking fourth in the Ivy League in tackles for loss and pairing with the linebackers to form one of the top rushing defenses in the nation. Three of Schaefer's linemen received All-Ivy honors as Joe Rost and Goniprow were named second-team All-Ivy, while Guillermo Ruffolo collected Honorable-Mention All-Ivy honors.

Among Schaefer's charges have been a third-round NFL draft pick (Mitch Marrow - 1998) and 25 All-Ivy players. In 2007, two more lineman garnered the All-Ivy distinction in Naheem Harris (first team) and Tom Stone (honorable mention). In 2005, Schaefer mentored Jim Malizia into first-team honors and the Ivy League lead in sacks. The 2003 season saw All-Ivy honors bestowed on first-teamer Ryan Strahlendorff, second-teamer Michael Sangobowale and the 2000-2001 first-team brother combination of Ed and John Galan.

Schaefer joined Bagnoli at Union in 1981 and spent 10 seasons as a part-time assistant on his staff, where he worked with both the offensive and defensive lines, held the position of assistant dean of admissions and served as Union's head men's and women's ski coach (1981-91).

A 1980 graduate of St. Lawrence University (N.Y.) in history and economics, Schaefer was a three-year letterwinner on the offensive line. He has taken language and cultural classes at the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in Pine Ridge, S.D., and was also a counselor for Penn's National Youth Sports Program from 1993-95.

Schaefer and his wife, Yvonne, reside in Medford Lakes, N.J. with their three daughters: Marguerite, Katherine and Lorelei.

Larry Woods
Quarterbacks
20th Season
St. John's '82

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS
1988, 1994, 1998, 2000, 2002, 2003, 2009, 2010

In 2010, Larry Woods enters his 20th season at Penn and 17th as quarterbacks coach where he's earned eight Ivy title rings.

Penn has been blessed with some great talent at the quarterback position, but it is Woods' ability to teach, develop and prepare each of his signal-callers that has led to the Quakers' unprecedented success over the last 20 years.

In 2010, Woods guided two underclassmen to a combined 9-1 record as first-time starting signal-callers. Sophomore Billy Ragone was named a finalist for the Ivy League MVP award, earned two Ivy Offensive Player of the Week awards, and was named to the All-Ivy first team.

In 2009, for the second straight season, Penn was forced to use four different quarterbacks after losing three signal callers to injury. Despite the injuries, the Quakers won the 2009 Ivy League championship, finishing unbeaten in Ivy play. Three different Quaker quarterbacks started and won a game, while Kyle Olson went on to earn All-Ivy honors.

In 2008—despite the injuries— four different Quakers led the Red and Blue to victory from the QB spot as Penn remained in contention for the Ivy title until the final quarter of the final game.

Woods has coached the top-six passers in Penn's 134-year history. Of the nine 2,000-yard single-season passing performances in Penn history, eight have come under Woods. He has mentored a string of record-setting quarterbacks since 1995, most recently developing signal-caller Robert Irvin into a 3,000-yard career passer. Irvin finished his career as the ninth-best passer in school history.

Woods' success tutoring the Quakers' signal callers was never more evident than in the case of Mike Mitchell, as his prodigy was named the 2003 Ivy League Player of the Year. Mitchell passed for a Penn-record 26 touchdowns and the third-most yards in a season (2,470), leading the Quakers to their second-straight Ivy title and third in four years. Prior to that, Gavin Hoffman rewrote the Penn record books in three seasons, setting new marks for single-game, single-season and career records. Hoffman also became Woods' first NFL product, as the 2000 Ivy League Player of the Year signed a free agent contract with the Cincinnati Bengals in 2002. Mark DeRosa, currently a member of the San Francisco Giants Major League Baseball team, was an early star under Woods' tutelage, passing for 2,053 yards in 1995.

Woods earned his degree at St. John's in 1982. He arrived at Penn for his first stint as tight ends coach in 1988 before heading to Brown from 1990-93. Woods came back to Franklin Field for good in 1994, resuming his role as wide receivers coach before taking over quarterbacks in 1995.

Woods and his wife, Sally, reside in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Steven Downs
Running Backs
13th Season
Central State '95

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS
2000, 2002, 2003, 2009, 2010

Steven Downs enters his 13th season as the Quakers' running backs coach. Since he joined the Penn staff in 1999, at least one Quakers running back has received All-Ivy honors in each of his 12 seasons. That list includes five first-team distinctions and two former NFL players. In all, Penn has had an All-Ivy running back for each of the past 17 years.

The Quakers finished 2010 with the sixth-best rushing offense in the nation in 2010 and led the Ivy League in scoring behind 28 rushing touchdowns. Sophomore Brandon Colavita earned All-Ivy recognition as he finished second in the league in scoring with 12 touchdowns and fourth in rushing with 728 yards. His 5.8 yards per carry marked the second-best single-season performance in school history. Meanwhile, two-time All-Ivy fullback Luke DeLuca was named an All-American by Phil Steele.

When Michael DiMaggio was limited by an injury in 2009, Downs' freshman protege Lyle Marsh stepped up to the challenge. Marsh averaged 4.7 yards per carry—tied for the sixth-best season in the program's 134-year history. Marsh finished fifth in the league in rushing and earned second-team All-Ivy recognition.

Downs' running backs also had a productive 2008 season, scoring more than half of the touchdowns the Penn offense tallied. One of Downs' primary running backs, Michael DiMaggio carried on the All-Ivy tradition as he earned second team honors, while ranking third in the Ivy League in rushing.

Under Downs in 2007, running back Joe Sandberg returned to the All-Ivy first team after finishing second in the Ivy League in rushing. In 2006, Sandberg became the 11th player in Penn history to rush for over 1,000 yards in a season. The 2005 season featured the dual-threat combo of two-time All-Ivy selection Sam Mathews and Sandberg ran past Ancient Eight defenses. Mathews graduated from Penn as its fourth-leading rusher all-time with 2,505 yards.

Downs also coached first-team All-Ivy League backs in 2003 (Matthews) and 2001 (Kris Ryan). Ryan and Stephen Faulk (second-team All-Ivy in 2002) each signed NFL free agent contracts after graduation. Ryan graduated as the school's all-time leading rusher. Mathews' 1,266 yards in his Quaker debut in 2003 was the fourth-best season since the inception of the program in 1877.

Downs came to Penn in 1999 and served his first season as an offensive assistant before he took over running backs in 2000.

Downs was a three-year starter at Central State University and was a member of its 1995 NAIA Division I National Championship team. He played cornerback, free safety, both linebacker positions and also saw time on the special teams unit. In 1997, Downs had a tryout as a strong safety for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Downs and his wife, Dusty, reside in Berlin, N.J. with their daughter, Kyla, and their son, Steven Michael, Jr.

Rick Ulrich
Wide Receivers
11th Season
West Chester '85,
Albany '86

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS
1998, 2009, 2010

Rich Ulrich enters the sixth year of his second tenure at Penn as the wide receivers coach and special teams coordinator in 2011. He previously coached the Quakers from 1995-99 in the same capacity. Ulrich brought more than 20 years of coaching experience back to Penn, including stints at Albany, Princeton, Fordham, Army, Georgetown, Trinity and Ursinus.

In 2010, the Quakers led the Ivy League in total offense and scoring offense with much thanks to Ulrich's receiving corps. David Wurst and Matt Tuten each posted 20-plus receptions and more than 300 receiving yards as six different Quakers caught Penn's eight touchdown passes.

A year earlier, the Quakers were shuffling quarterbacks due to injuries, but the wide receiver position remained productively consistent. En route to the Ivy League title, Kyle Derham earned All-Ivy status as he led the team in catches, receiving yards and touchdown receptions. But it was the depth created at the position that resulted in Penn's success. Three Quakers caught 24 or more passes and seven different players had at least 10 receptions. There were also eight different members of the Red and Blue that had at least one touchdown catch.

Thanks to Ulrich, the Quakers had good balance at the wide receiver position in 2008. Three wideouts on the team finished the season with 20 or more catches. The year prior, Ulrich mentored Braden Lepisto to his second straight season with All-Ivy honors when he became the sixth Quaker with 50 receptions in a season.

Prior to rejoining the Red and Blue in the spring of 2006, Ulrich spent two seasons as the offensive coordinator at Ursinus and took his team's offense from last in the league to ranking in the top three in nearly every offensive category. He was the offensive coordinator at Georgetown in 2001 after spending four seasons at Penn, where he was a major part of the Quakers' NCAA Record 24-game winning streak.

Before coaching tight ends at Army (1994) and quarterbacks/receivers at Fordham (1993), Ulrich spent three seasons at Rocky Mountain College in Montana where he was first an offensive coordinator and later promoted to head coach. He was named Frontier Conference Coach of the Year in 1991 after leading his team to the conference championship.

Ulrich was running backs coach at Princeton from 1987-88 and was a graduate assistant coach at Albany in 1985-86. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in health/physical education from West Chester University, where he was a four-year letterwinner and a second-team All-Pennsylvania Conference running back.

Ulrich received his Master's of Science degree in general education from Albany in 1986. Ulrich and his wife, Mary, reside with their daughter, Alyson, in Ambler, Pa.

Jon Dupont
Cornerbacks
Sixth Season
St. Lawrence '02
Trinity '06

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS
2009, 2010

Jon Dupont enters his sixth season with the Quakers as the cornerbacks coach and assistant secondary coach.

In their first seasons under Dupont in 2010, former running backs Bradford Blackmon and Matt Hamscher each turned in All-Ivy performances as defensive backs. Blackmon started all 10 games as a cornerback, while Hamscher led the team in sacks. Meanwhile, two more of Dupont's disciples were selected as All-Ivy recipients—Josh Powers earned first-team status and Brian Levine claimed honorable mention recognition. The Quakers finished the year ranked No. 1 in the Ivy League in total defense, scoring defense and sacks.

In 2009, Dupont's secondary ranked tops in the Ivy League in passing defense (seventh in the nation) for the second straight year. In addition to leading the FCS in total defense and scoring defense, the Quakers also ranked first in the Ancient Eight in pass efficiency defense and turnover margin. The defensive backfield produced two first-team All-Ivy recipients in Jonathan Moore and Chris Wynn, while Kevin Gray added a second-team honor.

Dupont's secondary thrived in 2008 as well. The Quakers ranked first in pass defense in the Ivy League and 13th in the nation. Two of his cornerbacks, Wynn (first-team) and Britton Ertman (honorable mention), received All-Ivy honors. Wynn, who led the league in interceptions, was also named Third-Team All-America. In 2007, Wynn was second in the league in interceptions and a first-team All-Ivy selection.

Dupont had an immediate impact in his first season in 2006, as both of his starting cornerbacks, Greg Ambrogi and sophomore Tyson Maugle, were named honorable mention All-Ivy while ranking among the national leaders in passes defended.

Dupont came to Penn after coaching for two seasons at Trinity College (Conn.), where he assisted in coaching defensive backs and the defensive line. Under his tutelage, Trinity had the No. 1 ranked defense in all of Division III football. He also had a hand in recruiting athletes from New York, New Jersey and California.

Prior to Trinity, Dupont served two years as a defensive assistant coach at Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Dupont coached the defensive line in 2003 and the outside linebackers in 2002, while also serving as an assistant baseball coach at WPI both seasons.

Dupont was a four-year starter at linebacker and defensive back at St. Lawrence, earning All-Upstate Collegiate Athletic Association (UCAA) football honors in 2001. He was also a three-year starter on the St. Lawrence baseball squad, and in 2001-02, was the most valuable player of both the football and baseball teams. Dupont earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in economics from St. Lawrence in 2002 and received his Master's degree in economics at Trinity in the spring of 2006. He and his wife, Heather, reside in Drexel Hill, Pa., with their son, Bradley.

Mark Fabish
Tight Ends
Third Season
Penn C'97

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS
1993 and 1994 (player), 2009, 2010

Former Penn football standout Mark Fabish, C'97, begins his third season as the Quakers' tight ends coach in 2011.

After winning two Ivy titles as a player at Penn (1993, 1994), Fabish has helped guide the Quakers to two undefeated Ivy championships in two years along the Red and Blue sideline.

In 2010, tight end Luke Nawrocki earned honorable mention All-Ivy status for the second straight year. The tight ends were also a part of the sixth-best rushing offense in the nation in 2010 and combined with the offensive line to allow the fewest sacks in the Ivy League for the second year in a row.

In 2009, Nawrocki replaced the team's starting tight end halfway through the season and went on to earn honorable mention All-Ivy status despite starting just five games. He was sixth on the team in receptions and second in touchdowns as a sophomore.

Fabish returned to his alma mater after spending the 2008 season at the University of Rhode Island as a quarterbacks and wide receivers coach.

Prior to his time in the Ocean State, Fabish spent 10 years at Monmouth University, the last six as offensive coordinator.

The 2005 Hawks squad featured current Dallas Cowboys wide receiver Miles Austin, who became the third player in the history of the Northeast Conference to post 1,000 yards receiving in one season (20.5 yards per reception). Monmouth captured the second NEC title in school history and MU's first-ever I-AA Mid-Major National Championship in 2004.

Fabish spent two seasons as wide receivers coach and two more as quarterbacks coach prior to his appointment as offensive coordinator. He arrived at Monmouth following a tryout at the Atlanta Falcons mini-camp and a stint as special teams coordinator at Don Bosco Prep High School in Ramsey, N.J. in 1997.

Fabish enjoyed an illustrious playing career at Penn from 1993-96, helping the Quakers win two Ivy League titles (1993 and 1994) while helping string together an NCAA-record 24 consecutive victories from 1993-95. Penn did not lose a game until his junior season. The four-year letterwinner still holds the school records as the all-time leader in career punt return yardage. As the team's top receiver during his senior season in 1996, Fabish was named to the All-Ivy League team, and also received the Edgar Church Memorial Award, which is voted on by Penn letterwinners and granted to the player who contributed most to the team's success.

A native of Ho-Ho-Kus, N.J. and a graduate of Bergen Catholic High School, Fabish led the Crusaders to back-to-back undefeated state championship seasons in 1991 and 1992.

Fabish graduated from the Penn's College of Arts and Sciences in 1997 with a bachelor's degree in American Civilization.

Dave Wood
Linebackers
Second Season
Widener '91

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS
2010

Dave Wood enters his second season as the linebackers coach for the Quakers in 2011. He came to West Philadelphia with 19 years of coaching experience, including seven as the head coach at his alma mater, Widener University.

In his first season at Penn, both starting linebackers—Erik Rask and Zach Heller—earned first-team All-Ivy status as the Quakers boasted the best rush defense in the FCS and led the Ivies in total defense, scoring defense, sacks and tackles for loss.

As the head coach at Widener, Coach Wood led the Pride through one of the best stretches in program history. In 2007, they stormed to a league-record 17th MAC title and 12th trip to the NCAA Tournament with an undefeated conference mark and an 8-3 overall record. This came on the heels of back-to-back ECAC titles in 2005 and 2006, marking the first time the program won postseason championships in consecutive years. The first gave the program its first postseason title since 1981.

While a player at Widener, Wood was a two-time All-MAC honoree, receiving citations as a Division III All-American and Academic All-District player as a senior. He helped Widener to a No. 12 national ranking in 1990.

After graduation, Wood was an assistant coach for the squad working with the defensive backs, running backs, linebackers and special teams from 1991-1995. He spent 1996 as the running backs coach at Division I-AA Lehigh University before returning to Widener in 1997 as defensive coordinator.

In his role with the defense, the team was one of the best units in the country against the run. In 1998, the Pride led the nation in allowing just 31.4 yards per game. During that season, the defense shattered the school record with 73 sacks and ranked seventh nationally in total defense. Four different times that year, Widener held opponents to negative yards on the ground, including a school record minus-43 yards at Delaware Valley.

Throughout his tenure at Widener, Wood was continually involved within the community. He actively worked with the Delaware County Special Olympics and was honored in 2010 for his continued service and support of the Delaware County Hero Scholarship. In addition, his teams annually participated in the "Be the Match" Bone Marrow Testing program - the same program Penn has been a part of since 2007.

A three-year defensive starter for the squad, Wood graduated from Widener in 1991 with a Bachelor of Science degree in accounting and received a Master's of Taxation degree from the University in 1993.

A native of Yeadon, Pa., Wood was one of Delaware County's leading rushers with an average of 5.7 yards per carry at Penn Wood High School in 1986.

Wood resides in Garnet Valley, Pa., with his wife Deanna and their four children: David, Matthew, C.J., and Samantha.

PHILADELPHIA – Extending the nation's longest winning streak on one of the program's most emotional nights was not an easy task, but Penn found a way to push past Lafayette at Franklin Field, 19-14.

The night started with a 40-second moment of silence in honor of No. 40 Owen Thomas and Dan "Coach Lake" Staffieri who each passed away in April. The night ended with a victory, Penn's first in a season opener since 2006. Lafayette, which had won three straight in this series, fell to 0-2 on the year.

Much like the last three meetings between these schools, the game came down to the last play. Trailing by five, with four seconds remaining at the Penn 38-yard line, the Leopards used several laterals, and the Quaker fans held their collective breath. Ultimately, Vaughn Hebron went harmlessly out of bounds at the 15-yard line and the Quakers bounded onto the field in celebration.

The Penn defense, ranked No. 1 in the nation last season, picked up where it left off. Led by Jon Saelinger's three interceptions - one off the 70-year-old school record for interceptions in a game - the Red and Blue defense posted another shutout and have not allowed a touchdown in more than nine quarters of play. The Leopards scored two TDs, but one was off a blocked punt and the other an interception return for a touchdown.

The game started with a series of punts before Penn opened the scoring with a 43-yard field goal by Andrew Samson with 2:08 left in the first quarter.

On the Leopards' ensuing drive, they marched into Penn territory, only to have Saelinger pick off Marc Quilling's pass in the end zone. Lafayette's first big play came moments later when they forced the Quakers to punt and Ben Eaton broke through the line to block Scott Lopano's kick. The ball bounced away and Kyni Scott recovered it in the end zone for a touchdown. That marked the first time the Quakers had trailed in a game since Oct. 17, 2009.

The Leopards then added to their lead a minute and a half later on a 25-yard interception return for a touchdown by defensive end by Michael Phillips. Phillips anticipated a screen pass and made the athletic grab before he scampered 25 yards.

Penn put together a lengthy 14-play, 71-yard drive at the end of the half and Samson brought Penn back within eight when he connected on a 36-yard field goal.

Down 14-6 at the start of the second half, the Quakers offense came to life in the third quarter. Five minutes into the frame, the Red and Blue embarked on a nine-play 61-yard drive which culminated in Rangone's first career touchdown pass, a five-yard floater to the corner of the end zone which was hauled in by senior Matt Tuten. The ensuring extra point made it a one point game, 14-13.

On the next play from scrimmage, Saelinger picked off Quilling again, but the Quakers weren't able to capitalize. So Saelinger did it again. His third interception of the game came with 13:48 to go in the game and set up the game-winning drive. The Quakers started on their own 25-yard line and marched down the field. They were momentarily stalled on a fourth-and-one at the Lafayette 24, but instead of attempting the go-ahead field goal, sophomore quarterback Billy Ragone pushed his way across the marker for a first down. A few plays later, at the 12-yard line, sophomore running back Lyle Marsh bounced off multiple tacklers and made a last ditch dive into the end zone for the score. The two-point conversion was unsuccessful and the Quakers led 19-14 with just over six minutes left.

The Leopards tried to counter, but were stuffed on a fourth down attempt at the Penn 46 with 4:07 left. The Quakers tried to run out the clock but were forced to punt and on the ensuring Lafayette drive, Josh Powers intercepted the ball on the Lafayette 44-yard line. However, the game was still not over. A fumbled snap gave the Leopards back the ball but the defense held one final time for the victory, leading to the wild laterals on the game's final play.

Game 2 - No. 24/NR Penn at No. 1/2 Villanova

22 — 10

VILLANOVA, Pa. – With five minutes remaining, Penn led the No. 1 team in the nation. However, the No. 24 Quakers were unable to end a 99-year drought to Villanova as the Wildcats scored 13 points in the final 4:28 to top Penn, 22-10 at Villanova Stadium.

The Quakers held a 10-9 lead after an Andrew Samson field goal with 9:10 left in the game, but the Wildcats used a ten-play drive to take the lead back. On the next possession, Penn drove into Villanova territory, but an intercepted a pass went for a touchdown to put the game out of reach.

On a 16-play drive that carried over into the second quarter, the Quakers marched 80 yards down field to take the lead, 7-0, at the 11:37 mark in the second quarter. Quarterback Billy Ragone executed a key third-down-and-six with a 12-yard pass to senior Matt Tuten, putting the Red and Blue in the red zone. Later, sophomore Jeff Jack plowed through Villanova's line for 13 yards to the four, with Brandon Colavita capping the more than nine-minute possession with a two-yard rush.

Penn's defense then held the Wildcats to a three-and-out, but a bad snap on the Quakers' next offensive play sent the ball sailing into Villanova's end zone for a safety.

With the ball back in their hands and in great field position, the Wildcats went 42 yards on seven plays to take thier first lead of the day, 9-7, on Angelo Babbaro's one-yard rush with 6:20 left in the half. That score stuck until the fourth quarter.

Penn had a chance to take the lead on its first drive of the second half, but Andrew Samson's 35-yard field goal attempt drifted wide left.

Just prior to the end of the third quarter, senior Josh Powers kept the Quakers in the game. Faced with a third-and-16, Villanova cut it to fourth-and-one, but a roughing the kicker call on the punt gave the Wildcats another chance on the drive. So on the ninth play of the possesion, Aaron Ball scampered into the open field and had nothing but the end zone in front of him. However, Powers caught up to the senior running back and punched the ball from his grasps. The ball bounced forward to the one-yard line and senior Bradford Blackmon recovered the fumble and brought it back out to the 10 for Penn.

It surely is a game of inches. On the ensuing drive, Penn faced a fourth-and-inches from their own 38-yard line. The Quakers gambled and Ragone's quarterback sneak pushed the ball an inch past the mark needed. On the next play, Ragone's pass was almost intercepted for what would have been an easy touchdown for the Wildcats. Instead, Tuten hauled in the pass and scampered 31 yards down the sideline to the Villanova 31 yard-line. On third-and-five from the 26, Ragone connected with sophomore tight end Luke Nawrocki for 20 yards to set up first-and-goal. Three plays later, Samson connected on a 19-yard field goal to give Penn a 10-9 lead over the No. 1 team in the nation with 9:10 left.

The defending national champions immediately responded. With 4:29 on the clock, Villanova made it 15-10 on Chris Whitney's 21-yard pass to Norman White in the back corner of the end zone. The Wildcats started on their own 26 and took 10 plays and 4:34 to march down field. Looking to make it a seven point lead, Penn broke up 'Nova's two-pont conversion attempt.

Threatening on their next drive, Ragone completed two passes for 10 and 14 yards. However, the next passing attempt proved to be disastrous as Villanova's James Pitts picked off the pass at the Villanova 44 yard-line and ran it back for a touchdown, stretching the lead to 22-10 with 2:59 remaining.

Freshman Aaron Baily put Penn in good position to retaliate with his 46-yard kickoff return, but 'Nova's defense caused a turnover-on-downs after a fourth down-and-five from the Villanova 25.

PHILADELPHIA - Facing second-and-goal from the Dartmouth one-yard line in overtime, Billy Ragone called his own number, sneaking in for his fourth touchdown of the day to squeeze Penn past Dartmouth, 35-28 at Franklin Field.

Ragone's keeper gave Penn the lead, and the defense slammed the door on the Big Green on Dartmouth's overtime possesion, forcing three Connor Kempe incompletions -- including a failed fourth-and-four pass that ended the game.

The Quakers wasted no time getting on the board Saturday, scoring on its very first drive. Ragone finished an eight-play, 76-yard drive with a 14-yard scamper into the end zone.

Dartmouth answered right away with seven-play, 60-yard drive that covered just a little more than two minutes. Connor Kempe hit Michael Reilly for 36 yards along the Dartmouth sideline that set up first-and-goal. From there, Nick Schwieger ran it in for Dartmouth and tied it up.

Penn again went right down the field. This time the drive covered 68 yards, took 5:17 and ended in yet another rushing touchdown from Ragone. On third-and-goal from the six-yard line, Ragone found the corner of the end zone.

Dartmouth once again responded with a score of its own. The touchdown came when Kempe found John Gallagher, who made a nice catch in the left corner of the end zone.

After the teams shared punts, Penn went back up with another sustained drive. This time, with Ryan Becker under center. The freshman connected on four of five passes - two of which went to freshman wideout Connor Scott for 29 yards - to get the Quakers down to the Dartmouth four-yard line. From there, sophomore Brandon Colavita bullied his way into the end zone for a 21-14 Penn lead heading into the half.

Penn started with the ball in the second half and marched down the field again. Ragone led a 14-play, 80-yard drive that burned 7:31 off the clock. Ragone was 4-for-5 on the drive, while four different Quakers ran the ball on the drive for 41 yards. On third-and-goal from the two, Ragone rolled right and threw to an open DeLuca for a 14-point lead.

Seemingly with the game in hand, Dartmouth changed momentum and held it for the rest of regulation. First, Chase Womack intercepted Ragone and set up the Big Green at the Penn 20. Then four plays later, the Big Green faked a field goal and converted a first down to set up first-and-goal from the four-yard line. They scored on the very next play when Kempe connected with Gallagher in the end zone for the second time in the game. But Penn still led, 28-21 with 3:46 left in the third quarter.

The lead didn't last long. After a three-and-out, Dartmouth went 75 yards in just five plays and had tied the game before the third quarter was out. The drive was keyed by a 53-yard completion to Reilly that set up a first-and-goal. Kempe then connected with Reilly moments later for the touchdown.

With the game tied, each team had a chance to win in the closing minutes. Penn had a field goal blocked. Three plays later, on fourth-and-inches from its own 25, Dartmouth went for it, and made the first down. From there, the Big Green methodically moved the ball into Penn territory and had second-and-2 from the Quakers' 34-yard line. But an incomplete pass, a false start penalty and another incompletion forced them to punt in the waning seconds, leading to overtime.

LEWISBURG, Pa. - Head Coach Al Bagnoli broke a 109-year-old school record as Penn used a big second half to pull away from Bucknell, 31-10, at Christy Mathewson-Memorial Stadium in Lewisburg, Pa.

Leading 10-7 at the half, Penn scored 21 second half points to break open the game for its 11th straight in the month of October and its 11th straight against an unranked opponent to improve to 3-1 on the year. Bucknell dropped to 0-5.

Bagnoli won for the 125th time as the head coach of the Quakers to make him the all-time winningest coach in program history. George Woodruff has held the record since winning his 124th game in the Red and Blue in 1901.

Senior Bradford Blackmon got the Quakers off to a great start with a 45-yard return on the opening kickoff. Starting from the Bucknell 46-yard line, freshman Ryan Becker began the game at quarterback for the Quakers and promptly moved the Red and Blue into field-goal range. Senior Andrew Samson then tied the school record with his 61st field-goal attempt and knocked it through from 34 yards out for an early 3-0 lead.

On its first possession, Bucknell worked its way down to the Quakers' 25-yard line, but was stuffed on fourth-and-1. The teams shared punts the remainder of the quarter, but Penn threatend on the first drive of the second frame. The Quakers started at their own 23 and drove inside the Bucknell 15, but Samson's school record-setting field goal attempt was blocked.

On Penn's next chance with the ball, Becker's pass bounced off senior Ryan Murray's hands and into the waiting arms of Bucknell's Sean Rafferty at the Penn 25. Raffety returned the ball to the one-yard line and the Bison punched it in on the next play for a 7-3 lead with 2:34 to go in the first half.

Four plays later, Penn had the lead back. The Quakers trailed for all of 47 seconds. Blackmon returned the kickoff for 39 yards to the Bucknell 36, Becker connected with Murray for three yards, then senior Matt Tuten pulled in a 20-yard completion and freshman Conner Scott capped off the drive with an 11-yard touchdown reception. It was the first collegiate touchdown pass for Becker and the first collegiate touchdown catch for Scott.

Penn scored on its first two drives of the second half. Becker led the Quakers 71 yards in eight plays, converting two third-and-one situations - the second of which, sophomore Brandon Colavita took 13 yards to the end zone for a 17-7 lead at the 8:32 mark of the third quarter.

After a short Bucknell punt, senior quarterback Keiffer Garton - seeing his first action of the season - led Penn to its third touchdown of the day. It took the Red and Blue five plays to go 40 yards as Garton was 2-for-2 for 18 yards passing on the drive. Sophomore Jeff Jack put Penn up 24-7 with 4:03 left in the third with a 12-yard rushing touchdown - the first of his career.

The Quakers tacked on another seven points with 11:06 to go in the final quarter. Becker connected with freshman Ryan Mitchell on first-and-10 for 52 yards to set up first-and-goal. Two plays later, Colavita scampered in from four yards out for his first collegiate mulit-touchdown game.

Bucknell tacked on a 29-yard field goal midway through the fourth to cap the scoring.

PHILADELPHIA - No. 25 Penn scored on its opening drive Saturday afternoon and never looked back, gaining a 27-13 win over Columbia Saturday afternoon at Franklin Field. Sophomore running back Brandon Colavita rushed for 103 yards as the Quakers outgained the Lions 281-44 on the ground and passed just five times all afternoon. The win was the Quakers' 200th all-time in Ivy League play and the Lions remained winless at Franklin Field since 1995.

The game got off to a fast start. Penn opened with an 11-play, 75-yard drive that consumed 5:47 and ended with a Billy Ragone seven-yard touchdown scamper, while Columbia went 59 yards in 12 plays on its first drive and got three points when Luke Eddy knocked home a 34-yard field goal.

Penn's defense stiffened after that, however. In a critical play at the end of the first quarter, the Quaker defense turned momentum to the home team for the remainder of the half. Senior defensive lineman Brian Wing got to Columbia quarterback Sean Brackett and forced a fumble that Drew Goldsmith scooped up and ran 25 yards for a score. That put Penn up, 14-3 with 26 ticks left in the opening quarter.

The Lions had gained 70 total yards on their first two drives, but were held to just 22 the remainder of the half. On Penn's first drive of the second quarter, the Quakers faked a punt, but did not convert and Columbia took over at the Penn 39. The Lions went three-and-out and had to punt. Then, again, the defense came up big. A Colavita fumble gave the Lions the ball at the Penn 33, but four plays later, Columbia turned the ball over on downs.

The Penn offense responded with an 11-play, 71-yard drive in which Jeff Jack found paydirt on a 1-yard run on fourth down with two minutes left before the break. The Quakers were unable to convert the extra point due to a bad snap and led 20-3 heading into intermission.

Penn had 163 yards rushing in the opening half, while Columbia gained just 12 yards on 18 rushes. Penn's dominance on the offensive line forced them to throw the ball just once in the first 30 minutes, a 28-yard completion to tight end Luke Nawrocki during Penn's final scoring drive of the half.

Columbia scored the first points of the second half after being pinned on its own 3-yard line by a beautiful punt from sophomore Scott Lopano. The Lions used five plays to get to their 43, then hit paydirt when Brackett found tight end Andrew Kennedy along the right sideline. After catching the ball in tight coverage, he went around his defender and into the end zone for a 57-yard score.

Senior Bradford Blackmon took the ensuing kickoff back to Columbia's 41 and soon enough Penn's lead was back to 17 points. Colavita finished a six-play drive with an eight-yard rush up the middle with 3:37 left in the third quarter. During the drive, Ragone connected with Nawrocki on Penn's only other completion of the day for 17 yards to set up first-and-goal at the 10.

Columbia put more points on the board at the end of the third quarter when Luke Eddy easily made a 48-yard field goal with the wind at his back. The Lions then surprised the Quakers and popped an onside kick, but Penn sophomore defensive back Justyn Williams - surrounded by white jerseys - corralled the football to give the Quakers possession at Columbia's 45.

The Quakers melted the clock in the fourth quarter, holding the ball for nearly 10 minutes. Columbia went three-and-out on two occassions and had the ball in the waning minutes.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. - In a battle of Ivy unbeatens, No. 20/23 Penn extended its league winning streak to 11 games with a 27-20 win over Yale at the Yale Bowl.

On each team's first possession, both faced 4th-and-1 decisions deep in opposing territory. Yale decided to punt from the Penn 40-yard line, while the Quakers went for it, but failed, from the Yale 27-yard line.

The Bulldogs then took over and marched back into Penn territory with two passes of 29 and 25 yards. The Quakers stiffened at the 22-yard line and Yale settled for a 39-yard field goal at the 3:50 mark of the opening quarter.

Both teams punted once more before Penn's offense moved back into Yale territory. Freshman quarterback Ryan Becker entered for his first series of the afternoon and methodically worked Penn down the field. The Quakers took over from their own 13, and on the 12th play of the drive sophomore running back Jeff Jack hauled in a screen pass and dodged several defenders en route to the end zone. Senior Andrew Samson missed the extra point for the first time in his career to put an end to a school-record streak of 88 consecutive made point after attempts, but five minutes into the second quarter, Penn led by three.

Immediately thereafter, the Quakers used some trickery and executed perfectly a surprise onside kick. Sophomore Scott Lopano placed a one-bounce kick precisely into the hands of sophomore Dave Twamley, who was streaking down the Yale sideline. Penn got inside the Yale 40-yard line, but had to punt.

On Yale's ensuing punt, senior Bradford Blackmon raced 53 yards through the coverage, found the open field and scampered into the end zone for a 13-3 lead with 4:30 to go in the half.

Becker was picked off near midfield with 1:33 to play before intermission, but a stout Penn defensive effort and several Yale offensive penalties kept the Bulldogs out of field goal range, sending the Quakers into the half with a 10-point edge.

Penn extended that lead to 20-3 on the first drive of the second half. The Quakers took up nearly seven minutes with 14 plays, converting on all four third downs—the biggest of which came when Billy Ragone hooked up with senior Matt Tuten over the middle of the field for 14 yards to the Yale 28. A short while later, senior Luke DeLuca plunged in from a yard out.

Yale scored its first touchdown in 12 quarters against the Quakers to close the gap to 20-10 with 14:50 remaining in the game. The Bulldogs picked off Becker's deep pass into the end zone and returned it to the 18. Eight plays, two pass interference penalties and 82 yards later, Patrick Witt hit Allen Harris from two yards out in the back corner of the end zone.

On Yale's next possession, sophomore Brandon Copeland batted Witt's pass out of the air and intercepted it. He stumbled seven yards to the 11-yard line, and four plays later DeLuca was back in the end zone. On first-and-goal from the one, he pushed the line ahead to give Penn a 27-10 edge with 10:03 to play.

Yale tried to make it interesting in the final 90 seconds. Witt, who became the first quarterback in 30 games to throw for 300 yards against the Quakers (dating back to Oct. 13, 2007 against Columbia), threw for his second touchdown of the game with 1:22 left. Yale then recovered the onside kick, but had to settle for a field goal with 13 seconds remaining. The final onside kick attempt went harmlessly out of bounds and Penn escaped the Yale Bowl with a victory.

PHILADELPHIA - Sophomore quarterback Billy Ragone rushed for 151 yards and a score to push the University of Pennsylvania football team into sole possession of first place in the Ivy League with a 24-7 win over Brown in front of 14,854 Homecoming fans at Franklin Field.

Penn tied the sixth-longest streak in Ivy history with its 12th straight league win and improved to 6-1 overall and 4-0 in the Ivy League. Brown, meanwhile, lost its first league game of the year to leave Penn as the lone undefeated in Ivy play. The Bears are now 3-1 in league play and 4-3 overall.

Ragone accounted for half of a Penn rushing attack that gained 321 yards on the ground. Brown, which was held to just 87 yards on the ground, did throw for 258 yards, but were denied an offensive touchdown for the first time this season and the second straight year against the Quakers. Brown holds the active Ivy record of 144 consecutive games without being shut out. Penn is second all-time at 126 straight games without being shut out.

After a first quarter that was dominated by the defenses, Penn needed only 1:39 of the second quarter to get on the board. Ragone found daylight up the middle and broke from the pack before deking a Brown defensive back and finding the end zone. The run covered 54 yards, the longest of his career.

The lead lasted 14 seconds. Brown took the ensuing kickoff, the ball was handed to Mark Kachmer on a reverse on the return, and he went the distance down the left sideline to paydirt.

Penn responded with a more methodical drive that led to another touchdown. Ragone went 4-for-4 passing on the drive as Penn marched 65 yards on nine plays. Ragone converted a 3rd-and-4 from the Brown 9-yard line with an eight-yard completion to junior Luke Nawrocki. On the next play, senior fullback Luke DeLuca recorded his 12th career touchdown in the Red and Blue, taking it in from a yard out for a 14-7 advantage with 9:05 remaining in the half.

Just before the half, punter Scott Lopano pinned Brown deep in its own territory, and the Quakers defense held the Bears to a three-and-out. After the ensuing punt, which Penn took to midfield, Ragone scrambled for another lengthy run that covered 35 yards and got the ball to the Brown 15. From there, the Quakers needed two more plays to get into the end zone, Brandon Colavita doing the honors from one-yard away after senior David Wurst's 14-yard grab. Colavita's sixth rushing score of the year gave Penn a 21-7 lead going into the locker room.

After yet another Brown punt to open the second half, the Quakers were stopped on their own 32-yard line, but a roughing the punter penalty gave the Red and Blue new life and seven plays later they were at the Bears' 24-yard line. Settling for a field goal, senior Andrew Samson converted, but a false start penalty wiped the points off the board and pushed Penn back five yards. However, Samson had little trouble on his second attempt, knocking through a career-long 46-yard field goal.

On Brown's ensuing drive, the Bears converted a fourth down just inside Penn territory and another one four downs later they reached the Red and Blue 15-yard line. Three incomplete passes later, however, Brown's field goal attempt was blocked at the line by senior defensive lineman Brian Wing.

Penn looked poised to expand its lead on a nine-play, 82-yard drive, but just before the end of the third quarter, a fumble into the end zone from the 1-yard line ended the scoring opportunity and Brown took over.

Brown penetrated into Penn territory early in the fourth quarter and was forced into going for it on 4th-and-9 from the Penn 28. The pass was broken up by senior Drew Goldsmith, and the Bears never really threatened Penn's unblemished record again.

Game 8 - No. 18/19 Penn at Princeton

10 — 52

PRINCETON, N.J. - Four first quarter possessions. Four touchdowns. And the blowout was on—the largest margin of victory for Penn in the 102-game history between the schools. Penn put up 52 points on their arch rival—the most the Quakers have ever scored against Princeton - and senior Andrew Samson became Penn's all-time leading scorer in a 52-10 road win on a chilly Saturday afternoon in Princeton, N.J.

Penn, which finished with 600 yards of offense and 396 rushing yards, tied the third-longest Ivy winning streak in league history with its 13th straight. The 42-point win broke a 116-year-old mark when Penn won 47-6 on Nov. 10, 1894.

In front of a strong contingent of Penn faithful at Princeton Stadium, Princeton took the opening kickoff near midfield and moved into Penn territory. However, the Tigers missed short and left on a 46-yard field goal attempt and the Quakers took over from their own 29. Seven plays later, sophomore Billy Ragone connected with Matt Tuten for a seven-yard score in the near corner of the end zone for the early lead. A pattern ensued.

The Quakers forced a three-and-out and then marched down for another touchdown. This time it was Aaron Bailey taking a handoff and scampering around the corner from 10 yards out and diving into the end zone for his first career touchdown and a 14-0 lead. With the extra point, Samson set his first school record of the day with his 96th made point-after attempt of his career.

The Quakers again forced a three-and-out, and on their third possession Ragone found open field and scampered 12 yards untouched into the end zone with 3:59 left in the opening quarter. Just 1:33 later, following yet another Princeton three-and-out, the offense responded with another seven points. Sophomore Brandon Colavita found himself in the end zone for a 28-0 lead.

Samson tied the school record for career points with a 40-yard field goal at the 11:41 mark of the second quarter. It matched Jason Feinberg's 218 career points from 1997-2000 and gave the Quakers a 31-0 lead. Samson later became Penn's all-time leading scorer with an extra point in the third quarter.

That extra point didn't come until after Princeton added 10 points to close to within 31-10 at intermission. Princeton got on the board with a field goal of its own, a 41-yarder by Patrick Jacob with 7:41 to play in the half. Five minutes later, following a deflected interception deep in Penn's territory, Andrew Dixon hit Andrew Kerr from 13 yards out for Princeton's first touchdown against Penn on Powers Field since 2006.

Any semblance of Princeton momentum was crushed on the opening drive of the second half. The Quakers scored on the longest touchdown pass of Ragone's career, a 39-yard strike to a streaking David Wurst down the middle of the field.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Bailey capped a nine-play drive with his second touchdown run of the day. On an end around from the 16-yard line, Bailey found a hole and raced his way across the goal line for a 45-10 advantage.

Another three-and-out by the Tigers set up the final score of the day for Penn. DiMaggio took over as running back and rattled off back-to-back 16-yard runs to start the drive. Six plays later, Greg Schuster scored his first career touchdown with a 14-yard rush to paydirt. That gave Penn a 52-10 lead at the 7:46 mark in the fourth quarter.

Game 9 - Harvard at No. 18/19 Penn

PHILADELPHIA - After a slow start, Penn got rolling and could not be stopped at Franklin Field. The result was a dominating, 34-14 Senior Day win over Harvard that was every bit as impressive as the score would indicate.

With the win, Penn (8-1, 6-0 Ivy) clinched a share of its 15th Ivy League title and eighth under Head Coach Al Bagnoli.

The first quarter was dominated by the defenses. The best action came on Penn's first drive; the Quakers drove deep into Harvard territory, but went for it on fourth down from the 28-yard line and were unable to gain the first on a Ragone rush.

At the start of the second quarter a Penn punt hit a Harvard blocker inside the Crimson's 10-yard line and was recovered by the Quakers at the 9-yard line. Penn was unable to punch it in, but Andrew Samson nailed a 19-yard field goal and the Quakers up, 3-0 with 12:22 to play in the half.

Harvard attempted to tie it with 5:35 left, but David Mothander's 39-yard field goal was blocked by Erik Rask. Penn immediately made the Crimson pay, driving 61 yards for the score as Brandon Colavita ended the drive with a three-yard run to paydirt with 3:15 left before halftime. The big play on the drive was a 25-yard pass play to the left sideline from Ragone to Ryan Calvert. The Quakers took their 10-0 lead into the locker room.

Bradford Blackmon turned another near disaster into a big play early in the third quarter. A Harvard punt bounced deep in Penn's territory, and in the process of keeping it out of the end zone a Crimson player knocked it back in play. Blackmon was able to beat a Harvard player to the ball just at the line, scooped it up and raced along the right sideline nearly to the Penn 39. Colavita knocked off a big gain on the first play after that, and the tone was set for the six-play drive. Penn drove all the way to a touchdown, the score coming when Ragone found Jeff Jack on a short pass and Jack found all kinds of room to run it in along the right hash marks. The play covered 25 yards and gave Penn a 17-point edge with 10:08 to play in the third quarter.

On its next drive, Penn went deep downfield for Blackmon, who was unable to catch the ball but was rocked on the play by Harvard defensive back Jonathan Mason. Mason was called for a penalty and Penn got the ball on the Crimson 26-yard line. A few plays later, Samson knocked home a 45-yard field goal and Penn was up, 20-0.

Even though more than five minutes were left in the third, Harvard clearly understood the situation and went for it on fourth down in its own territory. Winters' pass was incomplete, though, and the Quakers took over on downs at the Crimson 38-yard line. The Quakers took seven plays to get the ball into the end zone. Ragone did the honors this time, following his blockers through the right side for a six-yard score that made it 27-0.

Harvard got on the board with 11:04 left in regulation. On fourth-and-7 at Penn's 31-yard line, Winters threw another jump ball—this time to the goal line along the right sideline—and Crimson receiver Mike Cook outleaped Williams before tiptoeing into the end zone to make the score 27-7.

Harvard attempted an onside kick after that, but the ball went out of bounds without anyone recovering and Penn got the ball at the Crimson 38. Just two plays later, Colavita raced untouched around left end for a 35-yard score that put the Quakers' lead back to 27.

Harvard drove and looked like it might score again, but Winters flipped a short pass through the middle and Matt Hamscher made a spectacular diving play to snare the interception at the Quaker 9-yard line. Harvard eventually added a late rushing touchdown, but Penn's 33 seniors finished their careers at Franklin Field with a championship celebration.

ITHACA, N.Y. - On the 40-yard line with the Ivy League trophy. Penn ended its tumultuous 2010 season with the ultimate prize for a fallen teammate. Shortly after claiming the 15th Ivy League championship in program history with a 31-7 win over Cornell at Schoellkopf Field Saturday afternoon, the Quakers paid the tribute to No. 40 Owen Thomas, who passed away in April.

Thomas—a senior captain-elect—and longtime coach Dan "Lake" Staffieri each passed away in April, and the 2010 Quakers dedicated the season to each of them. The Red and Blue finished unbeaten in Ivy League play for the second straight season, just the third time that has occurred in the 55-year history of the Ivy League (Penn accomplished the other two under head coach Al Bagnoli in 1993-94 and 2002-03). It also marked the school's 12th outright title, an Ivy record.

In the 117th meeting between the schools, No. 16 Penn (9-1, 7-0 Ivy) won its eighth straight overall and 15th league consecutive league game—the longest-active conference winning streak in the nation and the third-longest streak in the history of the Ivy League. Cornell surrendered the Trustees' Cup to the Quakers for the fourth straight year.

Cornell (2-8, 1-7 Ivy) fumbled on its first offensive play and junior linebacker Erik Rask scooped up the loose ball to give Penn possession inside the Cornell 20. Four plays later, the school's all-time leading scorer, senior Andrew Samson, connected on a 29-yard field goal for the early lead.

Later in the quarter, after the defense forced the Big Red to punt from their own end zone, freshman quarterback Ryan Becker took over the offense in Cornell territory. It took eight plays to go 47 yards for the score, with Becker converting a 3rd-and-5 from the Cornell 18 with a 10-yard pass to senior Blake Adams. Sophomore Brandon Colavita finished the drive with a two-yard score to give Penn a 10-0 lead with 2:43 left in the opening quarter.

After another Cornell punt, Penn took over at its own 20-yard line and proceeded to chew up six minutes of the clock en route to another score. Sophomore quarterback Billy Ragone ran for 17 yards on 3rd-and-5 from the Cornell 40 to extend the possession, while Becker went 4-for-5 with 40 yards passing on the drive. Colavita scored his second touchdown of the day with a five-yard rush on third down for a 17-0 advantage at the 9:29 mark of the second quarter.

Just before intermission, Brandon Copeland burst through Cornell's offensive line, sacked Jeff Mathews, and forced a fumble that senior Zach Heller fell on top of at the Cornell 22-yard line. Six plays later, Ragone floated a pass into the near corner of the end zone which was hauled in by tight end Ryan Murray for his first career touchdown catch. It gave the Quakers a 24-0 lead with 21 seconds left before the half.

Midway through the third quarter, Cornell put together its best offensive drive, reaching the Penn 2. But a pair of penalties pushed them back outside the 10, and on fourth-and-goal Mathews' pass was knocked down.

The Quakers promptly moved down the field for their fourth touchdown of the day and Colavita's career-high third rushing touchdown of the afternoon. The Red and Blue ran the ball on eight of the 10 plays, capped by Colavita's 26-yard score with 2:37 remaining in the third.

To cap the scoring, Cornell broke a 10-quarter scoreless streak against Penn with a five-yard touchdown pass with a little more than four minutes remaining in the game.

This was the final game for 32 Penn seniors who finished their careers with a 22-6 record in Ivy play—the most wins by a senior class since the 2005 class won 23 games.

Home of Champions

National Poll Champions

During the last 134 years, there have been nearly 30 selectors of national champions using polls, historical research and mathematical rating systems. Beginning in 1936, the Associated Press began the best-known and most widely circulated poll of sportswriters and broadcasters. Before 1936, national champions were determined by historical research and retroactive ratings and polls.

1959 Ivy League Champions
7-1-1, 6-1 Ivy

WE ARE THE CHAMPIONS!

The 2009 season marked the 50th anniversary of Penn's first ever Ancient Eight crown. The Red and Blue celebrated the Golden Anniversary by raising the program's 14th Ivy title on the very same field where the 1959 team raised the first. In 1959—the fourth year of the Ivy League's existence—four Quakers were named first-team All-Ivy as the Red and Blue's seven wins were the most since going 7-0-1 in 1947. Fred Doelling led Penn in scoring, interceptions, rushing and total offense.

So, it was only fitting that we would play Harvard for the outright championship in 1984. We had 38,000 fans at Franklin Field and won 38-7. ## 24 - The NCAA Record (1992-95)

Little did Head Coach Al Bagnoli and his players know that, when they walked out of the tunnel against Harvard on Nov. 14, 1992 at Franklin Field, something special was about to happen. The Quakers were in their first season under Bagnoli, posting a record of 5-3 in their first eight games of the campaign. The previous weekend in Princeton, the Red and Blue fell by a touchdown. It would be the last time they would lose a game over the next two and a half seasons. Penn defeated Harvard, 21-19c and so commenced the Quakers' record Division I-AA 24-game winning streak (which still stands today and was tied by Montana in 2002). During the streak, the Quakers snapped a four-year Ivy title drought and put together back-to-back championships for the first time since winning five straight from 1982-1986. In addition, the Red and Blue turned in the program's first perfect season since 1986 and first back-to-back perfect campaigns since 1904 and 1905.

20 - Breaking the Ivy Record Again

When trying to break a previous record, it sometimes adds incentive to know that you will be taking that record away from a long-standing conference or regional rival. That was not the case in 2004 when the Penn football program eclipsed the mark for consecutive Ivy wins (17) with 20-straight League wins. Why? Because Penn was already the record holder for its performance during the 1992-95 seasons. In fact, Penn holds the four-longest Ivy win streaks of all-time. The Quakers moved past their previous mark on Oct. 23 with a defensive masterpiece, defeating Yale, 17-7, and holding the Bulldogs to 87 yards of offense in six minutes, six seconds of possession during the second half. This record-breaking game was indicative of Penn's defense during the entire streak, as the Quakers allowed an Ancient Eight opponent to score more than two touchdowns on only five occasions. Of the 15 opponents to score less than two touchdowns, eight managed to cross the line only once, two mustered only field goals, and three were shut out completely.

Penn Football in the Hall of Fame

In 1996, the Penn Athletics Hall of Fame was established to preserve Penn's rich athletic history and tradition by honoring those people who helped create it. Seven heralded classes have been inducted since its establishment in 1996, and 32 of the total 166 distinguished members have played or coached Penn football.

The University of Pennsylvania football program has a long and distinguished line of alumni who have been enshrined in Halls of Fame. Forty-two men are members of at least one of three Halls of Fame; ten are members of two Halls; and one man, Chuck Bednarik, is a member of all three.

A further 18 Penn players, along with five coaches, belong to the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame, located in South Bend, Ind.

In addition, two men — Bednarik and Bert Bell — are members of both the Penn Athletics Hall of Fame and the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio. Bednarik is regarded as one of pro football's all-time greats, while Bell holds the distinction of being the first man inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

2 NFL Hall of Famers

23 College Football Hall of Famers

32 Penn Athletics Hall of Famers

The first man inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, De Benneville "Bert" Bell, played four seasons (1915-19) in the Red and Blue.

The Bednarik Award, named after former Quaker Chuck Bednarik, is given to the top collegiate defensive player each year. Bednarik played for Penn from 1945-48.

Francis "Reds" Bagnell

Penn (1996),
College (1977)

Bagnell was an All-America tailback who still appears in the record book. In 1950, he had one of the greatest individual games in Penn history against Dartmouth when he accounted for 490 yards of total offense (a record which still stands).

That year, he finished third in the Heisman Trophy voting. A West Philadelphia native, he won nine varsity letters in college, three each for football, basketball and baseball.

Bagnell later became an associate trustee at Penn. He also served as chairman of the Maxwell Football Club, and served a term as president of the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame, an organization into which he was inducted in 1977.

Chuck Bednarik

Penn (1996)
College (1969)
NFL (1967)

The last of football's iron men, Chuck Bednarik was a center and linebacker who played his entire career in Philadelphia for Penn and the Philadelphia Eagles.

Bednarik entered Penn at the age of 20 after having flown 30 combat missions over Germany in World War II. An All-America, Bednarik received the Maxwell Award, given to the player whom the Maxwell Club of Philadelphia considers the outstanding collegiate player in the nation. He was the first offensive lineman to receive the award.

He played for the Eagles, still on both sides of the ball, and was an eight-time all-pro selection.

Bednarik is a member of the Penn, College, and Pro Halls of Fame.

DeBenneville "Bert" Bell

Penn (2000),
NFL (1963)

Bell was one of the most influential men in professional football history. Penn's quarterback from 1915-19, Bell led the Quakers to the 1917 Rose Bowl. After graduation, Bell got into coaching, including stints at Penn and Temple, but eventually bought the Frankford Yellowjackets of the NFL. Bell moved the team to Franklin Field and renamed them the Philadelphia Eagles.

Bell's impact as an owner, and later NFL commissioner, was immense. He conceived the NFL draft, sudden-death overtime and televised night games; he raised salaries, increased attendance by 100 percent, and banned gambling.

In 1963, Bell was the first man inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Edward "Eddie" Bell, Sr.

Penn (1998)

One of the greatest defensive ends in Penn history, Bell was an All-America in 1951 and 1952. Along with fellow Hall of Famer Bob Evans, Bell was one of the first two African-Americans to play football at Penn.

Bell later played in the NFL with the Eagles and Jets. A talented multi-sport athlete, Bell also helped his team win the sprint medley Championship of America at the 1951 Penn Relays.

Bernard "Barney" Berlinger, Jr.

Penn (1996)

A football and track athlete, Berlinger captained the 1959 Penn team which captured the program's first Ivy League title. In 1958 he was the first Quaker to be selected first-team All-Ivy, repeating the feat in 1959 while leading the team in receiving both years. He also received Penn's Class of 1915 award.

His father, Bernard Sr., is also in the Penn Hall of Fame as a track athlete.

Eliot Berry

Penn (2000)

Berry was a rare three-sport athlete in the 1960's, excelling at football, squash and tennis. As Penn's kicker, he booted 27 career field goals and 141 total points. An All-Ivy selection in both football and squash, Berry went on to try out with the Pittsburgh Steelers and eventually signed with the Atlanta Falcons under coach Norm Van Brocklin.

Berry never played a pro football game, but continued to excel at squash, playing on the U.S. National Team and enjoying a successful professional career abroad.

J. Howard Berry

Penn (1998)

One of the early three-sport stars at Penn, Berry excelled in football, baseball and track at Penn from 1915 to 1917.

Berry played halfback, punter and placekicker for the Quakers and was outstanding at each.

After graduation, Berry played professional football with the Pottsville Maroons but was better known for his professional baseball career with the New York Giants, winning the World Series in 1921 and 1922.

George Brooke

College (1969)

George Brooke played seven years of college football, first as a fullback at Swarthmore in 1889-92 and then at the same position at Penn from 1893-95.

A two-time All-America selection, Brooke was a member of teams that won 38 of 41 games and two national championships. Besides being a powerful runner, Brooke was also the Quakers' kicker. He developed in his punting a long, low spiral that was hard for the receiver to return and easy for the ends to cover.

Donald Clune

Penn (1996)

Clune smashed virtually every receiving record in the books during his career from 1971-73. Still Penn's third-leading all-time receiver, Clune today holds the record for most yards in a game (284 vs. Harvard in 1971).

Clune holds four of the top 10 single-game receiving performances in Penn history. He actually had his best season as a sophomore, catching 40 passes for 891 yards and five touchdowns.

Upon graduation, Clune won the Class of 1915 award. In 1980, he was named to the Ivy League's Silver Anniversary team.

Richard "Cosmo" Comizio

Penn (2003)

Comizio enjoyed a career packed with virtually every award conceivable as a running back from 1984-86.

As a sophomore, Comizio ran for 596 yards, earning Ivy League Rookie of the Year honors; by the time he was a senior, he had racked up Penn's first-ever 1,000-yard season and was named the Ivy League MVP. He won an Ivy League title in every season he played, and after graduation earned the Class of 1915 award.

Fred Doelling

Penn (2003)

Doelling was a standout running back and punter who led Penn to its first Ivy League title in 1959. A versatile player, Doelling led Penn in rushing for three straight seasons, was an excellent defensive back, and at the time of his graduation held the program record with 33 punts for an average of 34.7 yards per punt. Doelling went on to sign with the Dallas Cowboys and was the last Penn player to play in the Chicago Tribune's annual all-star game pitting college seniors against the NFL champions.

Robert Evans

Penn (2005)

Robert "Bob" Evans, C'53, was a three-year letterwinner in football who served as that team's first African-American captain.

In an era when Penn competed against high-powered programs, Evans caught the sporting world's attention when he was named captain of the Quakers in 1952.

Evans also was a member of the Scholastic All-America team in 1948. At Penn, his standout performances earned him high praise from opponents, and he was named to Notre Dame's All-Opponent team.

Chris Flynn

Penn (1998)

Chris Flynn was possibly the most versatile and skilled athlete at Penn in the 1980s, earning All-Ivy honors and setting school records in both football and lacrosse, while leading his teams to five league championships.

Flynn made the All-Ivy League second team his sophomore and senior seasons, with first-team accolades coming his junior season. In his three years on the gridiron, the Quakers won two championships. In Flynn's senior year versus Dartmouth, he tied a Penn record with five touchdowns in one game. Flynn's average of 5.7 yards per carry over his career is still tops at Penn.

Charles Gelbert

College (1960)

Charlie Gelbert was a four-year starter for Penn. Walter Camp named him All-America end in 1894, 1895, 1896. Gelbert was recognized for his sharp blocking and tackling. In his last three seasons Pennsylvania went 12-0, 14-0, 14-1 and had a 34-game winning streak. In Gelbert's four varsity seasons Penn outscored its opponents 1,594 to 130. Jack Kofoed, writing in the Philadelphia Record in 1912, named Gelbert to his all-time All-America team.

T. Truxtun Hare

Penn (1998)
College (1951)

Hare is one of a just a few men to be a four-time All-American. Selected as an inaugural member of the College Football Hall of Fame in 1951, he has been named to numerous All-Time All-America teams.

Hare played every minute of every game at Penn, going 15-0 in 1897 and 47-5-2 in his career. Hare was also on the 1900 Olympic track team at Paris, placing second in the hammer throw and first in the tug of war.

Harvey Harman

College (1981)

Harman was president of the American Football Coaches Association and winner of the Amos Alonzo Stagg Award for outstanding service to the sport. He took his first coaching assignment at Haverford and later coached at Sewanee, Penn and Rutgers.

Harman went on to become the Executive Director of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. In that capacity, Harman became known as the goodwill ambassador for football.

John Heisman

College (1954)

John Heisman, for whom the coveted Heisman Trophy is named, was a master innovator of football. He originated the hidden-ball play, was the first to place his quarterback at safety on defense, invented the center snap, dreamed up the concept of the scoreboard, introduced the "hike" vocal signal for initiating a play, led the fight to reduce the game from halves to quarters, and was in the forefront of the move to legalize the pass in 1906.

Heisman played every line position while at Brown and Penn. He coached at Oberlin, Akron, Auburn, Clemson and Georgia Tech before coaching at Penn from 1920 to 1922, then coached at Washington & Jefferson and finally Rice. His overall career record stood at 185-70-17 when he retired in 1927.

Bill Hollenback

Penn (1996),
College (1951)

A hard-nosed running back, Hollenback played on national championship teams in 1904 and 1908, serving as captain in 1908. He started every game in 1906, 1907 and 1908, and was an All-America in 1906 and 1908.

He went on to coach at Penn State, Missouri, Syracuse and Pennsylvania Military, and was also an official.

Hollenback was famous for his toughness. He once played an entire game despite having a leg fracture, dislocations of both shoulders, shin splints and hip bruises.

Bryan Keys

Penn (2008)

A two-time All-American, including first-team honors his senior year. Set the school's single-season rushing record as a junior with 1,165 yards, then broke his own mark a year later with 1,302 yards. Obliterated the single-game standard for yards with 249 against Brown. Set six other records during his career. Finished his senior season fourth nationally in all-purpose yards per game, seventh in rushing yards per game, and seventh in points per game. When he graduated, was second among Ivy players in career yardage. Had 15 100-yard games. Helped Penn win a share of the 1988 Ivy title.

Bernie Lemonick

Penn (1996)

During his brilliant career for the Quakers Bernie Lemonick was regarded as one of the top linemen in the nation. Honored as an All-America after the 1950 season, he played in the East-West Shrine game, the Hula Bowl and on the NFL's College All-Star team against the Cleveland Browns. Lemonick returned to Penn and helped coach the team to its first Ivy League championship in 1959.

Jack McCloskey

Penn (2000)

A varsity letterwinner in football, basketball and baseball, McCloskey was a true all-around athlete. He was an All-America in football, was offered to play professional baseball for the Philadelphia Athletics and played professional basketball with the Philadelphia Warriors. He was a five-time member of the All-Star team and earned back-to-back Eastern League MVP honors in 1953 and 1954.

McCloskey returned to Penn in 1956, coaching the basketball program to its first Philadelphia Big 5 championship in 1963 and the first Ivy League Championship in 1966. He later built the Detroit Pistons team that won two NBA titles in 1989-90.

Josiah McCracken

Penn (2000)

McCracken played guard on the second-highest scoring team in Penn football history (443 points). The following year McCracken was named an All-America and finished his Penn football career with a record of 47-5-2.

In his sophomore year McCracken set a world record for the hammer throw and was an All-America selection for his efforts. He went on to participate in the 1900 Olympic Games in Paris. There, he won a silver medal in the shot put and followed that with a bronze medal in the hammer throw.

Ed McGinley

Penn (1996),
College (1979)

Ed McGinley was a tackle on what was considered the top defensive unit in the nation, one that allowed opponents only 31 points in 11 games. When selecting McGinley for his 1924 All-America team, Walter Camp said, "He has that greatest of assets - consistency. He has played no poor games. He is an ideal tackle for our team, possessed as he is of the necessary weight and power to fulfill the requirements of both modern attack and defense."

Upon graduation McGinley went on to play for the New York Giants.

Lee Mercer

Penn (1998),
College (1955)
Lee Mercer first made a reputation by breaking through enemy defenses as one of the program's outstanding running backs. Mercer was twice named All-America, in 1910 and 1912, and served as team captain for his two final seasons. He scored 30 touchdowns during his three-year varsity career, 15 in his senior season alone. These accomplishments all came without any secondary school football experience.

As a senior, Mercer was named to the United States Olympic Team and participated in the broad jump.

Jack Minds

College (1962)
Fullback Jack Minds was a master of the game. He operated at guard, tackle, end, halfback and fullback, and revolutionized the kicking game from 1894-97. He didn't think drop kicking was accurate enough so he decided to try something new. As a result, Minds converted the first kick from placement, a feat he often repeated during his illustrious career. Honored with three All-America selections by Walter Camp, Penn was 55-1 with two undefeated National Championship seasons with Minds in the line up.

Skip Minisi

Penn (1996),
College (1985)
Skip Minisi was an All-America halfback who rushed for 1,390 yards in his Penn career (1944-47). His 150 points scored is still the seventh highest career total in school history. He was described as a top wingback in the country and a polished all-around performer who was a good runner and blocker, and a devastating southpaw passer. Minisi went on to be the Giants' number one draft pick and later served as a college football official for more than 30 years.

George Munger

Penn (1996)
College (1976)
George Munger was a superb, relaxed athlete, an innovative coach, and a meticulous administrator. He played halfback from 1930-32 at Penn and starred on the track team. He went on to coach, and in his 16 years as Penn's head coach he compiled an 82-42-10 record and led teams to national rankings of No. 8 in 1945 and No. 7 in 1947. He served as vice-president of the National Football Foundation, vice-president of the Maxwell Club, president of the American Football Coaches Association and director of the Pop Warner League. He was also a member of the U.S. Olympic Equestrian Committee and the physical fitness committees under Presidents Roosevelt, Eisenhower and Kennedy.

On the gridiron, he was a member of the "Destiny Backfield" of 1936 ,and excelled as a ball carrier and a control kicker. In 1936, he was named to the All-United States team, a squad of 11 men who could play a full 60-minute game. Murray was also an outstanding guard for the basketball team, and was named a Helms Foundation All-American in 1937. After Penn, he played with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1939 and 1940.

Bob Odell

Penn (1996),
College (1992)

He made four All-America teams, won the Maxwell Trophy, and was runner-up to Angelo Bertelli for the Heisman Trophy. In his three playing seasons at Penn, the team record was 18-6-2 overall. He was captain his senior year and honored with the Class of 1915 Award. Odell went on to coach at Yale, Temple, Wisconsin, Bucknell, Penn and Williams.

Winchester Osgood

College (1970)
Winchester Osgood played halfback for four years at Cornell, 1888-89 and 1891-92, and for two at Penn, 1893-94. Cornell had a 28-8 record in his playing time; Penn went 24-3. In 1894 Penn went 12-0 and was National Champion. At Cornell, Osgood received a medal as the school's best all-around athlete. He ran the 440 and put the shot for the track team, was an accomplished gymnast, boxer, wrestler, tennis player, and set a record of 5:28 for the 2-mile bicycle race.

John Outland

College (2001)
In 1895, having never played football before, John Outland decided to try out for the team at the University of Kansas. He made it. He moved to Penn to study for a medical degree and lettered on the football team from 1897-99, earning captain status in 1898. In 1946 the Football Writers Association initiated the Outland Award, named for him, to honor the nation's best interior lineman.

David Pottruck

Penn (2000)
David Pottruck, former Penn wrestling coach Larry Lauchle said, was "a hard-nosed guy that kept pushing everyone. He put 120 percent into everything he did... and gave everything he had all the time." His effort clearly showed on the gridiron as he started in all 27 varsity games played and earned All-Ivy honors as a senior. In 1968 and 1969 he helped the wrestling team earn their first two Ivy League Championships.

Pottruck went on to win gold at the Maccabiah Olympic Games in Greco-Roman wrestling and served as honorary captain of 2000 USA Olympic Freestyle wrestling team. He is also a member of the Hall of Outstanding Americans of the National Wrestling Hall of Fame.

Frank Reagan

Penn (1996)
Frank Reagan still stands near the top of several categories in the Penn record book after more than 50 years. His 135 points scored is ninth all-time at Penn, and his 103 points scored as a senior is the second most in a single season. Reagan had one of the all-time great individual performances against Princeton on Oct. 19, 1940, rushing for 200 yards, scoring five TD's and 31 points in a 46-28 victory at Franklin Field. A captain of both the football and baseball teams, Reagan was awarded the Class of '15 Award.

Reagan went on to play with the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles in the NFL.

George Savitsky

Penn (1998),
College (1991)
George Savitsky was a four-time All-American from 1944-1947, the first man to achieve that feat since 1901. He played in the Shrine East-West Game as a freshman, sophomore and senior, and was named to the all-time Shrine team as he was the only player chosen for the game three times. In addition to football, he was a shot putter on the track team, and a member of the varsity wrestling team. Savitsky went on to play one year with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Hunter Scarlett

College (1970)
Hunter Scarlett led Penn to an 11-0-1 record and the National Championship in 1908, garnering All-America plaudits. The team out-scored its opponents 215-18 that season. He was a precision player, and teammate Bill Hollenback lavished praise upon him after the 1908 campaign: "He's one of college football's greatest ends. He's a superlative defensive end, quick to get down-field on punts, and an exceptional diagnostician."

John "Bull" Schweder

Penn (2003)
John "Bull" Schweder spent six years in the National Football League – one year with the Baltimore Colts (1950) and five with the Pittsburgh Steelers (1951-55). As a guard in his senior year at Penn, he was named First-Team All-America by the Associated Press and the International News Service. He was also awarded the Most Valuable Player award for that year by the Bakers Club. In 1949, Schweder played in the East-West Shrine Classic Game, making him one of only 24 Quakers to do so. He also played in the annual College All-Stars football game in Chicago, Ill. That same year, he was also named First-Team All-East.

Paul Scull

Penn (2003)
Paul Scull's single game record of 312 all-purpose yards is the oldest standing record in Penn football history. Set in 1928 against Cornell, Scull scored four touchdowns and seven after-touchdown points, passed for 229 yards, intercepted one pass and returned kickoffs for 75 yards. As a sophomore, Scull was elected by the Veteran Athletes' Association as the most valuable player in the East, and he was named a consensus First-Team All-America as a senior. Scull also earned the national dropkicker of the year title after making 23 of 25 point-after-touchdown kicks that year.

Andy Smith

College (1951)
An All-America fullback at Penn in 1904, Andy Smith was a master of the game. He began his coaching career at Penn, where he logged a record of 30-10-3. From there, Smith moved to Purdue and then to California where he began molding his legendary Golden Bears teams. His famous "Wonder Teams" went undefeated for an incredible five-season span, going 44-0-2 in that time. It all began with the 9-0-0 run in 1920. In 1921, the Bears won another nine games before Washington & Jefferson managed a scoreless tie in the Rose Bowl. It was 9-0-0 again in 1922, then 9-0-1 the next year, when Cal allowed only seven points all year long. The last of the Wonder Teams, the 1924 club, finished 8-0-2.

Vince Stevenson

College (1968)
A featherweight quarterback at 148 pounds, Vince Stevenson possessed an innovative flair for the game. It was this uncommon gift for pulling off the unexpected that enabled Stevenson to lead the Quakers to a perfect 12-0 record in 1904. Penn out scored its competition 222-4 that season and Stevenson merited Walter Camp All-America recognition. Fifty years after his graduation, Stevenson was still being named to All-Time Penn teams.

Robert Torrey

College (1971)
Robert Torrey, the Penn captain, helped lead the Quakers to an undefeated record in 1905. The team went 12-0-1, only tying Lafayette 6-6. When the Quakers went 12-0-0 the previous year, Swarthmore had been the only team to even score against them. For certain, the Penn teams in those early years at the turn of the 20th century were powerhouses in the blood-and-brawn days of gridiron pioneering. Torrey was among the best of the nation's linemen and won All-America laurels following the 1905 campaign.

Joe Valerio

Penn (2005)
In 1988, Joe Valerio lettered for the Quakers' team that went 9-1 and won the Ivy League championship. The next year, Valerio received first-team All-Ivy accolades; as a senior, Valerio was a team captain and held pre-season All-America titles. That year he added Penn's Bednarik (top lineman) and Munger (MVP) Awards, first-team All-Ivy honors, a first-team All-ECAC nod, and first-team All-America accolades to his list of achievements.

Valerio was selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game, and went to the Kansas City Chiefs in the second round of the NFL draft where he played for five seasons.

John Welsh

Penn (2008)
One of Penn's famed "Mungermen." In his third varsity game, picked off four passes against Princeton, a record that still stood at the time of his induction (68 years later). Finished sophomore season with nine picks, another record that was still intact at the time of his induction, and ended his career with 13. His Penn teams did not lose to any Ivy competition during his three years, outscoring its competition 595-206 with seven shutouts. Came back to coach after World War II. Organized the Varsity Football Club and served as its first president.

Charles Wharton

College (1963)
Charles Wharton was a guard on the Penn team that won national championships in 1894 and 1895. Wharton was a blocking dynamo, often taking out entire sides of an enemy line. During his career at Penn, the Quakers won 52 of 56 games, and the behemoth of a lineman twice garnered consensus All-America honors. Wharton went on to serve as a line coach at Penn as well as the school's director of field athletics.

Morton Wilner

Penn (2008)
Two-sport star at Penn. Captain and second baseman for the 1929 and 1930 baseball teams, leading Quakers to a combined 41-13 record (the 1929 team won 22 games, a record that lasted 45 years). A three-time all-league selection in leading Penn to three Quadrangular League championships. In football, honorable mention All-America quarterback his senior year. Led the Quakers to a combined 15-3 mark his last two years. Voted by his classmates for the Spoon Award. Later in life, served as an alumni trustee (1965-70), a term trustee (1970-78) and an emeritus trustee (1978-2000).

George Woodruff

College (1963)
As a four-year starter at Yale from 1885-88, George Woodruff invented the "running guard," and later pioneered the guards-back play, a forerunner to Henry Williams' tackle-back set. Woodruff also devised the idea of crashing ends on defense. In his playing days at Yale, they had a 38-1-1 record and outscored opponents 2262-27.

Woodruff went on to coach at Penn from 1892-1901, becoming one of the most distinguished coaches of his era. His teams had winning streaks of 34 and 31 games. From 1894-97 they went 55-1. The 1895 and 1897 teams were national champions. His 10-year record at Pennsylvania was 124-15-2, and his teams scored 1777 points to opponents' 88.
