It's Penn, Please

The first time you mention us on-air or in your columns, please use our full name—the University of Pennsylvania. After that, we ask that you refer to us simply as Penn. We would ask that you refrain from calling us Pennsylvania or UPenn at any time. Thanks for your cooperation!

Back in #IvyMadness!

The Quakers are back in #IvyMadness! It's the third straight year Penn is appearing in the Ivy League Tournament and the sixth time in the last seven seasons. It only missed the tourney once, in 2022.

Penn is looking for its first Ivy League Tournament title since 2017, which was also its last NCAA appearance.

Penn won the inaugural event in 2017 at The Palestra; after winning the regular season, they were the top seed and beat #4 Brown (71-60) and #2 Princeton (57-48) to earn the league's NCAA Tournament bid.

The Quakers also made the final as a second seed in both 2018 and 2019, losing to top-seeded Princeton both times (63-34 in 2018 at The Palestra and 65-54 in 2019 at Yale).

This is the third straight year Penn has been the fourth seed; last year the Quakers fell to top-seeded Princeton, 59-54 at Columbia's Levien Gymnasium.

The Columbia Series

Friday marks the first time Penn is meeting Columbia in #IvyMadness, since the ILT began back in 2016-17.

This will be 78th all-time meeting between Penn and Columbia, with the Quakers leading the series 52-25.

Columbia has won seven of the last 10 meetings including five straight and seven of the last eight.

The Lions are currently on their longest win streak (five) in the all-time series.

Major Awards and All-Ivy Honors

Penn was well-represented when the Ivy League office unveiled its slate of major award winners and All-Ivy selections on Tuesday afternoon.

Freshman forward Katie Collins was unanimously named Ivy Rookie of the Year by all eight Ancient Eight coaches, while Stina Almqvist was named first-team All-Ivy and Mataya Gayle earned honorable mention All-Ivy laurels.

Collins is the Quakers' second consecutive Rookie of the Year award winner (Gayle in 2023-24), the seventh in the Mike McLaughlin era, and the eighth overall.

Four-Seed History

Since the first iteration of the Ivy Tournament in 2017, No. 4 seeds are 0-6 in the semifinal round.

Harvard in 2022 and Penn in 2024 were the closest to overtaking the top seed in the opening round, the Crimson falling to Princeton 72-67 and the Quakers dropping a 59-54 decision to the Tigers last year.

This is the third straight year Penn is the four seed after falling to Princeton the previous two seasons.

That being said, Columbia is the first team other than Princeton or Penn to be the No. 1 seed in #IvyMadness. The Quakers had the top spot in 2017, the Tigers with the top spot the rest of the way.

Last Time Against Columbia

Penn had a 16-15 lead following the first quarter, but a 24-0 scoring run bridging the second and third stanzas was enough for Columbia to come away with a 79-54 victory in New York City.

Simone Sawyer led the Quakers with a team-high tying 14 points on 6-of-12 shooting, along with a season-high six steals. Gayle also scored 14 points, adding six rebounds and three assists over 40 minutes. Sarah Miller led the bench with eight points on a pair of three-pointers and Penn was a perfect 7-for-7 from the free-throw line.

Miss Nine Time!

Before eventually being named Ivy Rookie of the Year, Collins was named Rookie of the Week nine times this season and five straight weeks heading into the final weekend of the regular season.

She finishes the year tied with Harvard's Allison Feaster (1995) and Princeton's Niveen Rasheed (2010) and Bella Alarie (2017) for the second-most Rookie awards won by an Ivy in a single season.

The record of 10 is set by Penn Athletics Hall of Famer Diana Caramanico (1998), Dartmouth's Elise Morrison (2004), and Harvard's Temi Fagbenle (2013).

All seven of the names mentioned above—including Collins—went on to be named Rookie of the Year. Guess you could consider this year to be a successful one for the frosh!

Last Time Out

Penn fell to Princeton, 67-53, in the final game of the regular season Saturday at The Palestra on Senior Day.

Before the contest, the Quakers honored Almqvist, Lizzy Groetsch, and manager Mabel Moosbrugger with a pre-game ceremony.

Never getting closer than seven points late in the third quarter, the Tigers led for almost the entirety of the contest and pulled away in the fourth for the win. Almqvist recorded her seventh double-double of the season with 18 points and 10 rebounds, while Gayle had 13 points, four boards, and five assists. Penn was near-perfect from the free throw line, making 17 of 18. The Quakers turned the ball over 16 times—including 14 in the first half—which led to 10 Princeton points.

Statistical Leaders

Penn is ranked highly—both as a team and individually—among both Ivy and NCAA DI statistical categories.

As a team, the Quakers rank second in the Ivy, 50th in NCAA in assist/turnover ratio (1.12) and are also highly ranked in three-point percentage defense (28.1; 3rd, 45th), fewest turnovers per game (12.9; 2nd, 33rd), and fewest fouls per game (14.3; 3rd, 43rd).

Individually, Almqvist is putting together quite the senior season, ranked 35th in the nation in minutes per game at 36.0, 64th in points per game (17.7) and 65th in total free throws (122). With 45 blocks and averaging 1.7 per game this year, Collins is tops in the Ancient Eight in both categories, ranked 74th nationally in blocks, 57th in average. Additionally, Gayle is third in the Ivy, 84th nationally in assists per game average (4.3).

Welcome to the 250 Club!

McLaughlin became just the fifth coach in Ivy League history to record 250 career wins with a school after the Quakers took down the Explorers in the Big 5 Classic, 74-63.

McLaughlin continues to stretch out his lead as Penn's all-time wins leader, surpassing Lois Ashley's mark of 128 wins in 12 seasons with his 129th win at Dartmouth on March 3, 2017. The head man currently sits with a record of 252-167 at Penn.

In addition, McLaughlin earned the 650th win of his career last season against Harvard; that ranks him eighth among active Division I coaches.

Magic Number: 60

The statistic that may most indicate a Penn win or loss? 60 points. Penn has won 161 of its last 176 regular season games when scoring at least 60 points in regulation. Over the last eight seasons under McLaughlin, the Quakers are 171-19 when reaching that number. In comparison overall, the Quakers are just 50-142 (.288) when they've scored less than 60 points under McLaughlin. The trend continues defensively. Over the last 11 seasons, the Red and Blue are 55-107 (.347) when allowing 60 points or more. But when holding opponents under that number, the Quakers hold a healthy winning record of 190-36 (.836).

Collins Unanimously Named Ivy Rookie of the Year; Almqvist, Gayle Earn All-Ivy

PHILADELPHIA – The University of Pennsylvania women's basketball team was well-represented when the Ivy League major awards and All-Ivy selections were announced Tuesday afternoon.

Katie Collins was unanimously named Ivy Rookie of the Year—the second consecutive year Penn has won the honor—while Stina Almqvist (first team) and Mataya Gayle (honorable mention) earned All-Ivy honors.

Almqvist was also named the Quakers' Academic All-Ivy representative for her outstanding work in the classroom and on the field.

Collins is the first Ivy League player to win the award unanimously since Penn alum Eleah Parker in 2017-18 and the 13th player overall.

Collins is the seventh player in the Mike McLaughlin era—and the eighth Penn player overall—to be named Rookie of the Year. Diana Caramanico (1997-98), Alyssa Baron (2010-11), Sydney Stipanovich (2013-14), Michelle Nwokedi (2014-15), Parker, Kayla Padilla (2019-20), and Gayle (2023-24) all won the award before Collins.

Collins had a tremendous first season wearing the Red and Blue. She averaged 10.0 points and 7.3 rebounds per game while starting all 27 games. Collins led the Ivy League in blocks per game (1.7) and blocks (45). She was fourth in rebounding and third overall in total boards (197). Collins was also ranked in the top 10 in steals at 1.5 per game. Her blocks per game average is good for 56th in the nation. Collins had six double-doubles—ranked second on the team—and had a season-high 21 points vs. Yale on Feb. 21.

In addition, Collins was named Ivy League Rookie of the Week nine times, the second-most in both Ivy and Penn history. She brought home the award in five straight weeks from Feb. 3 to March 3.

Almqvist is the 23rd player in program history to be named first-team All-Ivy and the 38th honor overall. It's the second time she has earned All-Ivy laurels, taking home second-team honors in 2023-24.

She put together a signature season in 2024-25, averaging 17.7 points and 7.7 rebounds while making a start in all 27 games. Almquist scored 20 points 11 times during the year and reached double digits in 24 of her 27 appearances.

She scored a career-high 28 points with 10 rebounds at Benedictine Mesa (Ariz.) on Dec. 31 and on Feb. 15 vs. Brown. Almquist recorded her 1,000th career point, becoming the 26th player in program history to reach the milestone.

Almqvist ranked first among Ancient Eight players in minutes per game (36.0) and free throws (122). She was third in scoring and third in rebounding.

Gayle followed up her Rookie of the Year season in 2023-24 with a solid honorable mention All-Ivy campaign. She finished second on the team in scoring (12.3 ppg) and led the team in assists (4.3 apg) and was third in the Ivy League. Gayle tied for fourth in minutes per game (33.4) with teammate Collins.

She scored a season-high 26 points in a win over Yale on Feb. 14. She tallied a career-high nine assists on three occasions.

A four-time Philadelphia Big 5 Coach of the Year, McLaughlin has a career record of 665-235 (.744) and has posted 20 or more wins in 21 of his 28 seasons as a head coach including six 30-win seasons. The Philadelphia native has won 14 conference titles, is a 20-time Conference Coach of the Year and won his 600th game as a head coach during the 2019-20 season.

Now in his 16th season at the helm of Penn women's basketball, Mike McLaughlin has firmly established himself as one of the most respected and esteemed coaches in both the Ivy League and country while solidifying the Quakers as a nationally renowned program. McLaughlin was hired as the eighth head coach in program history on April 24, 2009.

A four-time Philadelphia Big 5 Coach of the Year, McLaughlin has a career record of 650-223 (.745) and has posted 20 or more wins in 21 of his 28 seasons as a head coach, including six 30-win seasons. The Philadelphia native has won 14 conference titles, is a 20-time Conference Coach of the Year, won his 500th game as a head coach during the 2015-16 season and then his 600th during the 2019-20 campaign.

McLaughlin has built the Penn women's basketball program into an Ivy League powerhouse. The Quakers have won at least 20 games in seven consecutive seasons prior to 2021-22, have clinched four Ivy League championships and three NCAA Tournament berths in 2014, 2016, and 2017, while winning the program's first two Big 5 titles in 2014-15 and 2017-18. Penn has reached the postseason in nine of the last 10 seasons (a school record) and is in the midst of its most successful stretch of time in program history. Penn qualified for the 2020 Ivy League Tournament as the No. 2 seed before its cancellation due to the novel coronavirus COVID-19.

McLaughlin is the only coach in the Ivy League to lead his team to at least 20-wins in seven seasons of the last nine seasons.

Seven of McLaughlin's recruiting classes have produced the Big 5 or Ivy League Rookie of the Year. Prior to his tenure, only one Penn player had ever earned Big 5 Rookie of the Year accolades, but five have done so under his watch.

Prior to Penn, McLaughlin enjoyed unprecedented success at NCAA Division II member Holy Family University, where in 14 seasons as head coach of the women's basketball team he had a career equal to anyone who has coached the game. McLaughlin racked up an impressive record of 407 wins and 61 losses, a winning percentage of .870 which was the highest at any level of NCAA Basketball (men or women). Out of his 14 seasons as a head coach, McLaughlin was honored as the Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference (CACC) Coach of the Year 13 times.

McLaughlin's teams won at least 25 games in each of his 14 years as Holy Family's head coach. In six of those years (1998, 2000-03, 2008), the Tigers won 30 games, including a pair of 32-win seasons (1998 and 2008). Holy Family reached 29 wins three other times (1999, 2006, 2007).

McLaughlin was a two-year assistant on the women's staff at Holy Family before taking the reins as its third head coach in 1995-96.

In 2008-09, McLaughlin won his 400th game as a head coach faster than any other women's basketball coach in NCAA history, doing it in 459 games. The Division I record is held by Leon Barmore, who needed 463 games to reach the milestone at Louisiana Tech, while the Division III record is 464 games set by Nancy Fahey at Washington University (Mo.).

In the classroom at both Holy Family and Penn, every one of his four-year players have graduated. McLaughlin's Holy Family program was rated the best in Division II by the College Bound Student Athletes (CBSA) guide on two occasions.

A graduate of Holy Family, McLaughlin received his bachelor's degree in criminal justice. From his stellar playing career at Holy Family, he remains ninth all-time in scoring with 1,710 points and third with 755 assists. McLaughlin also remains the best three-point shooter to wear a Tiger uniform, connecting on 57.7 percent (161-of-279) of his attempts in his four seasons. He also holds the top two three-point shooting percentages for a season - in 1989 McLaughlin hit 59.3 percent of his shots, and in 1988 he was a 58.5-percent shooter.

McLaughlin also spent three seasons with the Washington Generals/Harlem Globetrotters, where he served as the Generals' team captain as he played in more than 50 countries throughout the world.
